

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2019-12-05

A packed show again tonight with varying pieces many of which have confirmed previous shows, the usual news and views around the world, confirming sub intel, confirming intel, and a plethora of varied op-eds that are again confirming, mindboggling, pondering, painful lessons, esoteric and inspiring depending on your own mindset and where you are at. I want to say thanks to Jimi Brent and Tina for inviting me onto their show again on Sunday, always a good show on there, they are a rarity amongst the corrupt alt media who deny this show air space and people knowledge as it exposes their own roles in the factions game, and lets play distort, wait games and distraction laced with heavy amounts of bs'ery, so thanks again to Jimi and Tina for having us on.

SUB INTEL These next two pieces are the dont look over there, but look over here plan in operation, brought to you courtesy of the clown corporation. Is it a cohen cidence that Lisa Page met MI6, Hillary was hob nobbing with extended royals group in the UK just before Trump arrived, then this happens. connect the dots. A police officer shot and killed a man wearing a fake bomb on London Bridge on Friday, after several people were stabbed in what the police called a terrorist incident, which paralyzed one of the busiest arteries through the city. The chaotic clash, in a country where shootings are rare, involved several officers and civilians, and sent scores of people fleeing from the bridge and areas near it on both sides of the River Thames. It also revived memories of recent terrorist attacks in London, including one on the same bridge in 2017 that killed eight people. "It has been declared a terrorist incident," said Neil Basu, assistant commissioner of the Metropolitan Police. Video posted on social media showed a crowd surrounding a man whom they appeared to be wrestling with and holding to the ground as police officers arrived. One man can be seen carrying a large knife away from the area as at least three police officers respond with their guns drawn. The police pulled the other people away from the man on the ground, and then an officer appeared to fire at least one shot, hitting the man and prompting screams from bystanders. "Due to reports that the suspect may have had an explosive device, specialist officers also attended the scene," Mr. Basu said. "However, I can confirm at this time, we believe a device strapped to the body of the suspect is a hoax explosive device." The man died at the scene, he said. Funny he should say that as dead man was seen moving a blanket on the video. John McManus, a BBC reporter who was crossing the bridge at the time of the incident, told the news outlet that he had seen a group of men involved in a fight with another man on the bridge. The police then arrived, and "a number of shots were fired at this man." Witnesses reported this and that, who were the witness, where they MI5 or 6 who just happened to be walking on that bridge at that exact same time, as the BBC media reporter? Just walking past him was a politician who just happened to be drafting a British patriot act, saw the incident and wrote 3000 pages out whilst on the bridge created a bill and was passed in parliament that afternoon, bill was called RFF Act known as repeat false flags act. All because the jackasses never got their carrots. For further questions on this incident given how certain agencies operate in prisons, one must look closely at this information released after the event. The attacker, Usman Khan, which translates as US man priest, cohen-cidence? was released from prison about a year ago, agreeing to wear an electronic tag as part of his bail conditions, according to a report in the Times. The Ministry of Justice learned of the man's identity soon after the attack and ordered a review of his case. Can you say Manchurian candidate? Then the plot thickens as the person who died has named as Jack Merritt, just happened to have appeared on the BBC previously, in his role as, a prison reformer - oh my, isn't it strange how life throws up these strange cohen-cidences - not.

At least three people were stabbed in an attack on a busy shopping street in The Hague, officials say. Police said they were still searching for a suspect and no arrests had been made after the attack at about 19:45 local time (18:45 GMT). Images and videos on social media showed dozens of Black Friday shoppers running away from the scene. The condition of those injured, the motive for the attack and who was behind it remain unclear. The incident happened at the Hudson's Bay store in the city's Grote Marktstraat or main market square area. Police have urged the public to contact them if they witnessed the attack. Officials have also requested that anyone with images or footage of the stab attack send it to police. An initial description of the suspect suggested police were looking for a man aged between 45 to 50 wearing a grey tracksuit. However, in a later update, police said that description was wrong without providing further details. Why were they about to announce another profile that looked and acted like a Muslim?

Rohina Hussein had no idea someone could steal a house, but the first small clue that the home she owned for nearly a decade was no longer hers was a piece of junk mail that most of us ignore. The Springfield mother said she initially tossed the mortgage refinancing offers that began arriving over the summer in the trash, but one detail bugged her: The letters were addressed to another woman. Curious, Hussein said she finally opened one. "You bought a new house, congratulations," read the letter addressed to Masooda Persia Hashimi. "I was like, 'Wow, this doesn't seem right,' " Hussein said. "I don't know this person at all. She never lived in my house even before I moved in." In the frantic hours that followed, Hussein discovered the total stranger was now the legal owner of the brick Colonial worth about $525,000 that forms the center of her life with her husband and daughter. Hussein, who owns a home health-care business, was the victim of a lesser-known crime alternately called house stealing or deed theft that has seen an uptick in some areas in recent years. Scammers gain control of a deed to a home and then attempt to resell the property or to open a line of credit on it. The results can be disastrous. Unsuspecting homeowners can be foreclosed upon or even find strangers living in an unoccupied property or vacation home that has been sold out from under them. "Oftentimes, the [scammers] will offer a stolen home at an attractive price just below the market rate for an area so it is snapped up quickly,” said Cynthia Blair, the former president of the American Land Title Association. “They get a cash purchaser . . . and [the scammers] are off into the sunset with the money.” Given the lengthy and bureaucratic paperwork involved in almost any public engagement these days, it beggars belief as to how this can all happen with the amount of red tape flying around. But also shows and supports what I have said, all jobs have to be retrained to few know what they are actually doing in their positions of employment, if they had known this incident would not happen, unless of course it is a deliberate act to target certain people?

Given recent legislative actions in New York, as well as proposed new ones, to remove any exemptions to vaccines and mandate that all children must be vaccinated, the idea of New York becoming a vaccine police state is no longer a theory or warning. It is happening in full public view, thanks to what one lawmaker refers to as “the corruption in Albany.” A new proposed bill in New York would mandate the HPV Gardasil vaccine as a requirement for school attendance, both private and public, including daycare. Parents who no longer can enroll their children in schools, whether public or private, due to the loss of religious and medical exemptions to vaccines, are apparently turning to homeschool education as their only option left to educate their children. But a lawmaker from Warsaw, Assemblyman David DiPietro, has stated that lawmakers are planning on outlawing homeschooling, because they want to be able to vaccinate the children in the schools, without parental approval or knowledge. One of the possible new state laws set to take effect in January would require kids born on or after Jan. 1, 2009 who are entering public schools or daycares to receive the HPV vaccine. Due to the possibility of the passing of this bill, it was said that many parents have turned to homeschooling — East Aurora has reportedly seen a 56 percent rise in homeschooling this year. However, DiPietro said, Albany is working with state education to “outlaw homeschooling.” “Even if it is unconstitutional, legislatures don’t care [about the legality of this],” the assemblyman said. “Corruption drips off the walls in Albany.” He estimated that if the vaccine bill – among many others – passes, New York could see half a million residents move out of state in 2021. As part of the legislation, DiPietro said that children could receive the mandated vaccinations without their parents’ knowledge or consent during the school day. He said that is has become a reality that a child could be kicked out of school without proper vaccinations. This is a multi pronged plan, 1 put fear into the people 2. make people sick or die 3. empty out New York 4. crush the homeschooling and 5. the real hidden hand but it is in the legislation, they will bring in the pedo and ritual sacrifice club known as the CPS to take the children. The total cost of the vaccine is between $390 to $510 per child, and with over 3 million children in the State of New York, the venture looks set to generate considerable profits for Merck. I thought it was the same vaccine? then why the difference in price? But the biggest thing about this is, where are the memes for fascism? This behavior is of a fascist dictatorship, please ignore the connections to Germany or whites, fascism was created by Zionists, not Germans. Where is the media, alt or otherwise outcry? Lets put this into clear and understandable perspective, they are forcing your child to inject known poisons into their bodies, against the child and their parents wishes, that is outright fascism. I remember arguing with Americans 12 years ago about the 4th Reich, and the gist was we are Americans and we won't fall for that like the Germans, erm hello wake up and smell the fascism, it is all around you, whilst people focus on the famous, tailgating parties, ball games you have psychopaths with material gain making policies in Gotham. Coming soon forced chips under the skin, don't believe me, tell that to the smokers who were banned from all public places, tell that to the parents being forced at the risk of child kidnapping to do something they don't wish for their children. Yet again it is New York, at which point do the populace here wake up and realize that is the most corrupted, demonic cess pit on this planet and do something about it? Home place of the Federal Reserve, The UN, Wall Street, Jewish, Italian and Irish Mafias, Ellis Island, Montauk, Long Island, Manhattan not to mention streets filled with litter and filth of gangs, drugs, forced prostitution, the birthplace of born in and born to, that is mentioned so many times in connections to criminality and heinous practice, it's not funny anymore. The American want walls on the Southern Border which is beneficial, and yet miss the giant elephants in the room in this country, the enemy is already within and no it's largely not in DC as alt media and MSM would have you believe, we need walls around New York and Langley, Virginia and the whole areas cleansed out and you solve over 80% of this countries issues, and that figure maybe low.

US President Donald Trump has accused his French counterpart Emmanuel Macron of being "nasty" for saying Nato was "brain dead". Mr Trump is in London for a summit marking the Western military alliance's 70th anniversary. The US president said Nato served a great purpose, and Mr Macron's remarks had been "very insulting". He also said he could see France "breaking off" from Nato, but did not explain why. However, at a joint press conference with Mr Macron later, Mr Trump struck a warmer tone, stressing that the two countries had "done a lot of good things together as partners". Not good rhetoric from Mr. Trump if that is his actual opinion, still too many Clowns In America agents dictating policy in this country, particularly abroad. NATO is a private Rothschild's army that gets many countries to pay for it, NATO is the modern white genocide army, replacing the Genghis Khans and Teutonic Knights of the past, pure and simple. Ask all the Slavic and Aryan regions they have attacked, and their whole purpose is to defend the world from nasty Russians, and provoke war with them under false pretences. America pays more into NATO than any other country, the same as we did with the UN until we pulled out or back, America and Canada need to withdraw altogether, this is a largely European based army, and the chances of either country getting attacked under Article 5 is slim to none.

The United States is weighing sending up to 14,000 more troops to the Middle East in the face of a perceived threat from Iran, 1. does anybody ask what Iran has done? 2. does anyone ask why a country 7243 miles away from America is a threat to America and how

3. why doesn't Israel send their people into that region seen as they are the ones that think Iran is a threat.
4. when are Americans going to ask why they keep sacrificing their sons and daughters
5. Iran has hardly broken any or maybe 0 UN resolutions when Israel has broken over half of all UN resolutions, seems to me we are looking at the wrong country as the problem.

INTEL The Rumor AGAIN is, the UK queen is abdicating in couple months, whilst under normal circumstances this would be a good thing, except those waiting in the wings to replace her are a thousand times worse. They are trying to get to sign off on all kinds of things in favor of the old system, to date she has resisted all attempts.

Russian top brass tired of waiting for the false promises, finally no longer believe Rothschild and RV...and they have told Rothschild their business was no longer welcome in Russia

The group spoken of in the alt media called The Alliance and how they are fighting the cabal, is pure folly as this piece from Kim will allay to. The Alliance spoken about taking out the "cabal" are two opponents in the higher stakes game of chess.

The "Alliance" is the House of the Black Sun modeled after Hitler's Alliance (which was their creation) Thule Society, Nazi Party, etc. again were their creation.

They are attempting a hostile take over for free, of the whole banking system using their arms and legs within the Military and the Agencies world wide. These same people also run the Order of the Assassins which is mostly called the Islamic Caliphate (Where Obama Hails From better known as Muslim Brotherhood or Langley 3).

Both Rothschild and the Black Sun consider each other an "enemy", however on this level they are "chosen opponents" of days old from Marduk, neither one will achieve their objective, as they were never meant to, it's the repeated old program of boogeyman and savior again. Marduk's objective was to get them to fight against each other to keep planetary Marshall law, and the ownership of "souls" to the "destroyer", a much more lethal force than the Draco ever were.

The only way to win the game is not to play. So is the "Alliance" fighting the Cabal? NO. They are fighting against Rothschild to install the Black Sun Empire. They too have a banking arm called the "black bankers" who have inserted themselves everywhere and work against Rothchild. Both are evil, the depopulation plan is run by the Black Sun, although Rothschild also has one as well, this is 2 covens battling for world domination.

Seems the clowns are on same level as the copy and paste voyeurs groups, as several meetings have taken place between people and a Kim here...except it wasn't Kim, Kim duplicates are running around trying to do deals on behalf of Kim, and yes yet again it is more CIA based fun and games.

The Fed tried to cash in on an emergency funding for the repo market on Tuesday and realized no such fund exists...well no shit sherlock, why oh why at this stage do they keep trying money plot after money plot and keep getting the same result - failed, is completely beyond normal or rational understanding. It's just anything to stay in the illusion of control, they own nothing except illusion. The Crown - gone, Rothschilds going or gone, inground resources - gone, Illuminati - gone, The Fed - gone, UN - rendered pathetic by dragging in a 16 year truant child to deliver their deluded messages. I could go on, you get the gist. Subsequently now another panic has set in, and the word is spreading fast around the banks.

The predicted banking meltdown that was averted in August is now rearing its head rapidly now, China the country forecasted on this show back in April is under the cosh big time now. Three banks collapsed a 4th on the way, with 500 others ready to crash. They are estimating, under estimating in my opinion losses of $1.7T, which is the equivalent of Australia's GDP. Meanwhile next door is Japan whose debt is now 240%+ their GDP which is the highest globally, America is no better in the first seven months of this year, U.S.-based companies announced 42,937 job cuts due to bankruptcy, up 40% from the same period last year and nearly 20% higher than all bankruptcy-related job losses last year, a report released Tuesday concluded. Despite record-low unemployment, bankruptcy filings have not claimed this many jobs since the Great Recession. "It is the highest seven-month total since 2009 when 50,258 cuts due to bankruptcy were announced," "In fact, it is higher than the annual totals for bankruptcy cuts every year since 2009." Eventually the whole of the old system will completely collapse and that will include all the so called families, elites and their minions. It will not be a pretty sight and will get very ugly, until they step down off their fake platforms and come and speak to the solution makers, The Trust, not with your we must stay in control attitude or keeping your entitled statuses either, you lost and you will come to us as equals or your demise will be even harsher.

Larry Page and Sergie Brin to step down from Alphabet Go ogle which is CIA based as we know, could well be indicative, heat being turned up.

OP-ED Was looking at the news and there was two items they thought was important for all to see, the first one was Stars on the beach and the latest pictures, are they in some way any different to other people on the beach? Why is this newsworthy? person in bikini runs on the sand, woo, how banal can you get. All of it is just reaffirming and brain entrapment that somehow these stars are better than you, they are not, largely just a bunch of fake talentless nobodies, who played the old system game at a cost of their soul in some cases and humanity. Remember star is just an anagram for rats.

The medias propensity to push absolute drivel whilst ignoring the global crisis's and atrocities reached a new nadir this week and proves this show correct again, take a bow the Telegraph for new levels of banal reporting. Palmerston, the Foreign Office cat, has returned to work after six months recovering from stress caused by civil servants constantly picking him up and overfeeding him. Those working in the department have been warned not to touch the cat unless approached, and to stop feeding him treats. In July, the cat was taken to the house of Sir Simon McDonald's Private Secretary in order to recover from stress; the mouser was overweight and had groomed all of the hair off his front legs. Sir Simon, a senior civil servant, is in charge of Palmerston's well-being and on Monday morning issued a strict letter to staff, warning them that if they do not change their behaviour towards the cat, he may be retired for good. So many people asking about the poor cats health so they made a statement, deary me, if only those people asked about the health of their fellow man as much as the bloody cat, do you not think we would have a much better world? The Bastet and Ra programming lives on it seems.

The issue of India came into stark reality again this week, with not a one off story, the reality is far from it, of another female not only raped, but tortured and set on fire, one day later another female met the same fate in the same town. Dr Priyanka Reddy was out and about, her work as a vet in the outskirts of Hyderabad, when her motorbike broke down and she fell prey to the evil eyes of men around her, despite India's gains on women's issues in recent years, this incident is far from uncommon. People hear lots stories of horrendous rapes and so called experts pontificating on smaller numbers, fewer jobs, lesser education, less convictions, open defecation, female feticide, etc., as reasons for such violations. You'll have television debates, possibly a candlelight march with sombre faces on along the capital's brightest thoroughfares, with the best expressions saved for news cameras which, with a little luck, could place you in the morning's edition. Yet none of them seek out or reflect on a basic question which India's Premier Modi asks his citizens, How could you possibly ask for an educated daughter-in-law when you snatch books from the hands of your own young daughters? The best examples of such a belief are apparently lost on a society, where women are not only seen as an object of sex, but also one over which to wield power and dominance. The evidence is out there, every living minute of your daily existence. You ride a bus and see women being groped with abandon, wolf whistles accompanying your daughter long after they have turned the corner, lewd remarks in cafes, etc. The sanctity of such obnoxious behaviour could come from men in the highest echelons of the society: Like a former Defence Minister who cautioned young girls against revealing dresses because "boys, after all, are boys." Boys are only boys if they are not taught right and are left to follow hereditary behavior patterns, begs the question does their religion teach them to treat women like shit? If not, why are they going against their gods with this type of behavior and evil practices? The Kali Ma lives on in that country, another example of the folly of following religion or their so called spiritual practices. The world is told religion makes you a better more rounded person with morals, are people blind? Given the majority of India is either religious or in spiritual based groups, why are atrocities going on there on a daily basis? 7000 die each day there, where are all the religious and spiritual people? and what are they doing to stop that? The people of India need to wake up like the Jewish people, as the religions you are following are death cults, there is no evidence your religions improves your lives one iota, but plenty of it in your face that it damages your peoples, but no Yahweh or Vishnu will come and save them they are told, where the hell are they? your peoples are dying in record numbers and your fake gods are doing what? Anyone can be a god, but there is only one Source.

Seen as we are on India I watched a few episodes of Ancient Aliens and those people on that show are not only puppets but dangerous. There are many people now seeking information about ET disclosure, and there has been some interesting shows with regards to archeology, but recent ones I saw left me alarmed. They spoke about Spanish Flu being an ET virus, which like the black plague was a deliberate attempt at mass extermination, of which there was several between 1914 and 1923, which we have covered in FRWL and some pieces on other shows, but news headline on the show was an Indian newspaper stating, wait for it that magic number that appears randomly on movies and other publications of, 6m, upon researching deaths in India it was nowhere near 6M, in fact all the articles I looked at, not one stated 6M, it was more like 10-15M. So why do we hear or see it so much? remember RDS filed a lawsuit on 3 alt media and claimed $6M, cohen-cidence? 6, 6, 6, this is memetics and brain entrainment, and all feel sorry for the Jewish people, so nobody criticizes the born in and born to people. The Russians lost millions more in that time period and no one says anything, Americans lost many also, so why is the focus here all on one foreign nations people, who died 75 years ago? it's only 18 years since our own national disaster and yet 6M get more coverage than those who perished in New York. The second part of that show was not only highlighting but proactively pushing Transhumanism, those people on Ancient Aliens haven't got a clue, wouldn't it be cool to have robots doing this and that, and technology doing everything they espoused, without asking the great question, and what happens next? Zero critical thinking skills, what happens next is another version of 1914-23 and mass genocide is what, infact the very program of producing robots like humans is to replace us, wake up, and buying Alexas and other similar gadgets is buying into that program, it looks, feels and hears like harmless fun, but the fun is at our expense. The final mention of that show is indicative of who runs that show, and given William Henry has took part in the alt media, he will know full well about the guy they brought onto that show to talk about ET disclosure, that guy was John Podesta or pedosta is more apt, seriously, what was that all about? PR for a pedo. Henry and the Greek guy who could do with a hair brush for xmas, needs to look closely at themselves for appearing on a show with Podesta.

After Nottinghamshire Police post – then later delete – a Facebook warning to women about walking alone late at night, but the PC brigade furies went ballistic over what is and was good, practical advice they branded it “condescending” and “sexist.” The speed with which the Notts Police force deleted its entirely sensible advice to women walking alone at night, after it was accused of “victim-blaming” is further proof that common sense is losing in the woke war. Before the Facebook post was taken down, it described a late night call from a woman who felt she was being followed by a man in a hoodie and called the police. While she arrived home safely, the police simply stated the obvious that women who walk alone especially at night are at risk of harassment or even physical assault. Nottingham Women’s Center chief executive Helen Voce was outraged, calling the well-intentioned advice “condescending” and “sexist” because it spoke about a late night “store-run,” and that was the police implying that women were always at the shops because, you know, they are buying groceries and make-up in their leading role as domestic organisers while their menfolk are hard at work on the 9 to 5. Rantings of a madwoman if you ask me, seriously awful lot of assumption in that rhetoric, and also victim hood based mentality. Heaven forbid a male is playing the traditional archetype of protecting the females these days, as it comes with a tirade of abuse, with a hefty dose of fake victim hood mentality, because they have been indoctrinated by half wit civil servants with all the intelligence of a Japanese kamikaze pilot. That area of the UK has a history of female based attacks, it has a very large population of students as it is one of the leading university and college centers, the latest local crime figures show a police force at full stretch with October statistics recording a whopping 3,044 violent incidents for the month, that’s nearly 10 a day, and the figures have been at that level or higher since the middle of last year. Worryingly, weapons offenses are also on the rise. They say the age of chivalry has died, the reality is it hasn't, it remains hidden because of over vocal females pushing a scripted narrative, designed to destroy the archetypes and anything or anyone showing any concern or care for another group.

Ayn Rand is a known and popular author who had her books distributed through American schools, they later went on to name an Institute after her, her most well known book was Atlas Shrugged. Described as the inventor of libertarianism, and controversial statements which often contradicted her own personal stances, which is suggestive of being a control subject imo. She had several affairs and in particular with one of the Rothschild's Phillippe, who it is stated that she composed that book Atlas Shrugged under his guidance, to those who have read that book it will come as no surprise. The book outlines the destruction of Earth as envisioned by the Illuminati. The master plan is There are six areas of society in which the Illuminati intends to rule: 1) Religious 2) Political 3)

Economic 4) Educational 5) Military 6) Social On August 1, 1972 Philippe Rothschild sent some papers to a meeting of the Council of 13 by State courier to San Antonio, Texas. Besides the usual pay-off notes and progress reports, the papers included a projected takeover plan. The main key points are:: 1. Federal gun law taking weapons away from citizens. 2 Presidential Martial Law Act — This allows the President in time of “National Emergency” to suspend the Constitution, Congress, and the economic system. The President, in essence, becomes dictator of America. 3 Anti-Hoarding Act — This makes it a felony to have more than 30-days supply of food, fuel or medicine stored up at one time. Plans for America: Make every person totally dependent of the government by: 1) Creating a pseudo-fuel shortage and food shortage. 2) Confiscate all guns. 3) Calling for “Helter Skelter” (All trucks, trains, planes, and ships, except Military, will stop. An army of some 200,000 white prisoners and motorcycle gang members will create mass insanity in the streets by bombing church buildings, raping, murdering, and other fear tactics.) 4) Declaring Martial Law. Activate the National Guard to keep order, after the public cries out for any kind of help. There will be one policeman to every 5 people. Once this “National Emergency” is declared, it will never be cancelled. I guess that didn't work out for you did it Rothschild's? utter parasite family, who seems to think it is their duty to harvest and destroy humans, remember they were the funders and buyers of the Jewish ran slave ships, they were also the funders for the rise of Cecil Rhodes and the De Boers in Africa. Ayn was from no ordinary family she was part of Russian bourgeois in St. Petersburg Russia, I guess they were not concerned of her alleged Russian background when she moved to New York in 1926, then onto Hollywood were she had a chance meeting with a director led her to a part in a movie, she later went onto writing for RKO and other top studios. As is all too common on our show names change, which I find an extraordinary National Security issue for a foreign national, particularly someone from Russia, maybe it's just me thinking that, who knows. Ayn Rand born Alisa Zino-vy-evna Rosenbaum born in St. Petersburg, Russia, died in New York, born to Jewish parents.

Incidentally or is it cohen cidentally you decide, Ayn Rand's mother's maiden name was Kaplan, and funny enough we have a Kaplan senator in New York of course, with the same name as Ayn mother Anna. Also what is eerily cohencidental is Ayn Rand first came to America to visit relatives in Chicago, Anna Kaplan arrived in America at aged 13 as an unaccompanied child refugee, after being sent here by her parents in Iran. Anna was then sent to a foster home in, Chicago. What parents send their child to a foreign country on their own at aged 13? unless they are genetic based offspring from elite families. Her parents arrived later and like Ayn, she left Chicago and went to New York. Anna Kaplan is the first Iranian-American to be elected to either of New York state's legislative chambers, it's funny she is not the target of anti Iran in her political career or debates is it not, given the portal peoples propensity to blame all Middle East issues on Iran. Looking through her records promoting Iran is barely mentioned by her, reason why? Anna Kaplan was born in Iran and born to Jewish parents.

1871 US Treasury report brings some enlightening statements, they were requesting the Government pays a minimum of $50M per year off the principal never mind the interest payments per year, it shows you how far back the debt in this country goes. Civil and miscellaneous purposes $70M, War dept $36m, Navy dept $20M, Indians $7.5M, Pensions $34.5M, and Interest on public debt $125M Total revenue was $383M and $125M was debt interest plus $50M off the principal, so thats $175M out of $383M of revenue, roughly 45% of the revenue was being syphoned out by the Crown, Federal reserve and robber barons, I guess over time somethings never change. Another to take note of was Navy was separate to War dept, this is likely due to Navy connections with SSp, which exists to this day, and no ET's and SSp did not start with Roswell in 1947, you know how they announce things years after it happened or was introduced, and for people asking for Disclosure now, it was given to you in 1947. Treasury that year recommended not building hospitals with bricks and stone, but to put up tents instead, called pavilions. Treasury staff also complaining about pay, higher up ones received $3-5K a year, but some unknown New York agency responsible for the money were receiving $50k a year. During this period the Treasury warned of declining ocean trade being passed to foreign merchants and shipbuilders, yes that was deliberate, people have to understand United States was not America the country, but a European based corporation. The United States was formed in a congress in Vienna Austria which was a powerhouse back then, and was formed in 1815. In 1860 ocean trade foreign commerce by American ships was 71%, by 1864 it was down to 46%, 4 years later 44% and by 1871 was now down to 38% a fall of 33% in 11 years. War dept was complaining of army desertions, following their idea to garner troop support and morale was to reduce their pay from $16 a month to $13, I guess they never got any smarter near a 140 years later, or pay has improved much either for risking your life for a globalist elite.

Is the federal reserve part of the government? 87% Yes and 13% No, Is income tax voluntary? 3% Yes and 97% No Does America have a currency? 95% Yes and 5% No Is your birth certificate traded on the stock exchange? 5% Yes and 95% No Do you believe that History taught is True? 50% Yes and Partly 37% and 13% No Do your income taxes go the American Government? 97% Yes and 3% No Should human traffickers and Pedophiles be punished? 100% yes Would you trade your current income tax plus sales tax for a flat 10% sales tax? 63% Yes and 37% No Do you believe that vaccines are safe and necessary? 64% Yes and 21% Some of them and 15% No Survey says?> Oh dear is my answer to that, a staggering lack of understanding or knowledge, their world just gets more stupid by the year it seems.

In 1960 the birth rate average globally was 5 children not per family but per woman, by 2017 it was down to 2.4 globally over 50% drop in live births, in 1960 global population was 3B now they are saying it is 7.5B So, according to their statistics every woman in the world is having just over 50% less children since 1960, and yet the world's population has increased in the same time period 150% by 4.5B increase does that make any sense? Me thinks the world is populated by bots, synths and clones or they lie about the population rate or both.

People often judge against others, why do we do that? who created that competition? the government? the cabal? the police? NO we did, why do we do that to ourselves? No matter who you are or what your status, someone will always be better looking, have a better home, better car or more money than you, and apart from the money title all the rest are in the eye of the beholder. The comparisons field where money is concerned, can be thought of in terms of marketing, how all people must buy or have the latest gadget or newer upgraded models of cars, computers, tv's or phones, but all of them is to create and extenuate the debt based cycle, the old adage what goes up, must come down, and they all do. Are own bizarre behavior patterns were we know stuff, but still ignore it, is far more prevalent than people realize, but I will give a few examples. 1. Government - we know now that most of them are corrupt and do not operate for the benefit of the people, we know this and yet we still vote. 2. most people know the news lies and yet we still watch it 3. this next one starts with a question, would you take $3-5000 out of a bank and go into the middle of the street and just throw it away? all would say no, but most people know that when you buy a new car and drive it off the lot, it has just lost $3-5K in value, why do we do it? Does anyone ask why driving off a car lot and it loses so much value, perhaps the car was overpriced by $3-5K to begin with? We do it because we don't think enough of our own situations, we don't analyze things enough and the biggest problem is don't future think enough, which brings in number 4, why do people buy homes in a boom? I must buy now as prices are going up, they do and what happens next? the same as what happens after every created boom, it goes bust, and that home you paid $350K is now worth $190k, we all know it happens and yet so many repeat the same mistakes. So, why do we put these unnecessary comparisons upon ourselves? Why can't we be comfortable in our own skin? Why is the focus on what we haven't got, than what we have?

Here is a peak into the hidden world of espionage amongst the so called famous peoples group, and how things really operate behind the scenes. With her long blonde hair, catwalk figure and dazzling smile, it's easy to believe that Stella Penn Pechanac could have been one of the victims of disgraced Hollywood mogul Harvey Weinstein, I guess that belongs in eye of the beholder category as none of those applied by her picture. Indeed, that's exactly what she told New York Magazine writer Ben Wallace when she introduced herself as 'Anna' with another terrible story about the influential producer, however, with his journalist's instinct, Wallace smelled a rat. When they met for coffee, 'Anna' confided she had had an affair with Weinstein that had ended badly, but there was something about her story that didn't quite ring true, as she seemed far more concerned, in fact, with asking questions about other Weinstein victims than her own story. Call it paranoia, but Wallace had a sneaking suspicion she was recording him. However, Rose McGowan, the actress who first accused Weinstein of rape, was rather more easily fooled. Stella's plausible manner and hard-to-place European accent convinced the actress that she was Diana Filip, an executive from London asset management firm Reuben Capital Partners, who wanted to invite McGowan to speak at a gala dinner. Whether McGowan was in California or New York, Diana always seemed to be conveniently nearby, they met for long walks, drinks and girls' nights out, McGowan even told her 'there was no one else in the world she could trust', but it was all a con. Just like Anna, Diana was merely a cover dreamed up by Stella, as she was a spy working for the infamous Mossad-linked Israeli intelligence company Black Cube. An extraordinary contract, dated July 11, 2017, between the mogul's lawyers and the British arm of the Israeli firm show that Weinstein had tasked Black Cube with two primary objectives: to 'provide intelligence which will help the Client's efforts to completely stop the publication of a new, negative article in a leading NY newspaper', and to 'obtain additional content of a book which is currently being written, and which includes harmful negative information on and about the Client'. To achieve this, Black Cube promised a dedicated team, as part of the operation, codenamed Parachute, the organisation introduced Stella to Weinstein. her main objective was to befriend McGowan, obtain a draft of her memoir and discredit it, and she was tasked with finding out about and blocking other allegations about Weinstein – just like the stories Ben Wallace was working on. Hmm the British arm of the Israeli firm comment shows the interconnectivity of the former 5 eyes groups covered in FRWL 7. If that seems unlikely, consider that Black Cube was set up by former Israeli intelligence officers in 2010 and is known for – and trades on – its links with the feared Mossad intelligence service, the campaign certainly seems to have been successful, after several high-profile cases against Weinstein, including those by actress Ashley Judd and Hollywood producer Lucia Evans, have been struck out. Weinstein's legal team, led by Donna Rotunno, nicknamed the Bulldog, are confident of getting their client off when his trial on five counts of sexual assault and rape begins on January 6. She was not the only one in the Black Cube cast of actors, Briton Seth Freedman, a one-time Guardian journalist and a former equities broker, who spent time in the Israel Defence Forces, told The Mail on Sunday that he, too, was tasked with 'finding out who was talking to the press'. In March 2018, Black Cube and Cambridge Analytica each denied a Cambridge Analytica ex-employee Christopher Wylie's statement that the company had hired Black Cube's services. Cambridge Analytica were involved in the scandal last year with the revelations that, the data of as many as 87 million Facebook users and their friends may have been misused by Cambridge Analytica, has been called a game changer in the world of data protection, as regulators seek to raise awareness about how to secure information. On 5 April 2019 the Senate Intelligence Committee sent a letter to Walter Soriano the owner of USG Security Limited based in Britain and Israel for his communication with Paul Manafort, Michael Flynn, Psy-Group, Wikistrat, and Black Cube, Orbis Business Intelligence (a firm co-founded by Christopher Steele). Christopher Steele was the one who wrote the Russian collusion document after Hillary as head of the Blue Dragon group had instructed him to do, to dig dirt on Trump before the election. In response, the company denied any connection and stated that “neither they nor anyone acting on their behalf has ever had any communication or collaboration with Walter Soriano or anyone on his behalf. Oh the irony of a sideshow group whilst still operating behind the veil of Mossad, calls themselves the Black Cube. This group of so called private intelligence, is operating on the same lines as Open Source man Robert David Steele, because if people think for one second that guy operates outside of the CIA, you are clearly not as awake as you thought, all these private security groups are subsidiaries of the 5 eyes and Echelon system, they set them up to get around the very few rules that protects the people, and allows them carte blanche to operate with impunity and zero oversight. Of course we covered the Black cube in FRWL 8 it's satanic and off world connections to the Sirius star system, along with it's connections with the holy Islamic site at the Mecca, Israelis picking Muslim names for their corporation, well I never.

An interesting chat developed on the page based on a headline that Catholics believe they must drink blood to maintain eternal life. This is down to the Catholic mass where they tell you, you are drinking the blood and eating the flesh of Christ. People dismiss it as not literal, but do it anyway, as it appears official man or women must always be right in what they are telling you, same applies to a cop, doctor, nurse or politician, we have this mindwiped thinking that they know best for us, yet when you ask them questions they don't have a clue of their own jobs, never mind anyone else's, the reality is no, they don't know what is best for us, because if they did, this world would have been ran much better than it has. So, Catholic will cite that those words are being taken too literally by critiques of the church, and it is a valid debate they put forth, some would go further and say that the church would never do that, they are messengers of god, but anyone can put on a cloak and wear a fish hat, that does not mean to say they are messengers of god, you just assumed they were. Where are their credentials or proof they are men or messengers of god? there is none is why, but nobody or too few asks these questions, and that is how they get away with it. The real issue with these words whilst not literal, the real issue is memetics and implied consent, because those words are spell casts, like most of the scriptures, why would a so called holy book contain such words to begin with? throw in death, rape, incest, fears, plagues, pestilence, slaughter and it looks more like a Hollywood movie script to me, holy book maybe the correct term as once people ask critical questions of it, the whole narrative falls apart like a Swiss Cheese book.

People are losing friends, loved ones, either by death or falling out, people losing jobs, homes are a very regular occurrence now in all your lives. It brings great pain, sadness and can send you spinning out of balance, if careful self observance is not adhered to. Back in May 2015 whilst still on Cosmic Voice I started giving out some future warnings for listeners to absorb, it was a chance for the listeners to get ahead of the game, like most predictions people tend to ignore them until a much later date, a case of leave everything that is essential until the last minute, but some took it on board. There were several predictions that year, as I warned shadow and inner work was essential in the coming period of time, you had to get the self ready for what was to come, that is not a selfish act as it actually helps others in your circle whilst you are doing it. Given we had the much later warning of we are processing and dealing with, several previous generations of our ancestors at the same time, the value of that work cannot be garnered by or priced by money, it's cathartic work, the great purging of the self of all the traumas, shame, guilt, tragedies, abuse of this and previous lifetimes. I think at this point our regular listeners will realize that prediction was not only correct, but an essential to embrace. I went on to state these next few years would get ugly as this process was under way, people may ask why it would get ugly, and the reason is people hold onto the negative frequencies far longer than their positive frequencies or experiences. People passing judgments to and fro were none are or were required, people talking in riddles and doublespeak, reactionary snap judgement comments and statements will all come to the fore, reactions out of context and not conducive to the interaction are all signs of inner turmoil, and I clear sign of those who have far more work to do and than they perceive to the case. Later that year I hinted on the two worlds, pushed as a theory to get people to think, whilst being beware myself it was not a theory at all, it was an event of sorts about to unfold on a larger scale. A separation of sorts whilst also being a merging of the two worlds for people to see, this puzzled many at the beginning, but then it began to unfold and people began to see it on many levels. It was not just a sight event it was a frequency based event, in essence another purging of sorts, like the shadow and inner work it began to sort out those who wanted to progress, in and of themselves, and the ones content to let things slide. It followed quickly with our piece the masks of illusion, each and everyone of us has worn with cunning and vehement protection. The masks present a fake version of ourselves, as we judge ourselves far too harshly and think others do it to us also, from overview it looks a ridiculous concept, why are we all judging each other, in most cases harshly, competing with each other on almost every conceivable piece of matter, whereby what ensues then is, we all wear thicker and thicker masks to cover up our perceived weakness or lack thereof. Insecurity in and of your own vessel is a most damaging aspect of humanity, that leads to inferiority complex, Stockholm Syndrome, Limitation programs, unbalanced Ego, Dissociative identity disorder, which used to be known as multiple personality disorder which largely got people sent to Mental Institutions, and yet aren't the masks we wear, playing the role of a split personality? What the majority of people were presenting themselves as, is and was fake, largely enhanced by the ultimate in fakery, the so called famous people off the movies, screens, music and sports stadiums, none of those people operate in reality land, they were created and crafted into a program of no escape, well there was an escape, but it never ended well for them. People acted like they were rich, yes they were rich via the credit card debt system, which essentially created the modern day middle class, that was an illusion, you were middle class by debt only in most cases. People exhibited bravado and external strengths via the now well memed six pack, yet were as weak as piss internally, frightened of their own shadows, traumas and lack of internal fortitude, all too content to put on a front to the public, yet destroying themselves internally. We lie to ourselves in this mode consistently, does anyone stop to think of the sheer stupidity of doing that, there is enough liars externally without adding it internally, but most of the lies are due to covering up shortfalls within ourselves, the masks were worn tightly on all people, but you were warned they would be falling away 3-4 years ago, they did and they have. The consequences of that is ugly, watching so many people change character, and too realizing few were as nice as they portrayed themselves to be, this is why I warned it would get ugly, it is and it has. Many people who won't face their own shadows are now being forced into doing so, all had the opportunity to get ahead of that in THI, many did and many did not, they are now having their own issues displayed publically for all to see. The shadow aspects of the self have to be integrated to become you, but you have to process it or it will repeat in this current time/space, there is no hiding anymore, despite peoples ridiculous attempts to convince themselves otherwise. Out will come envy, bitterness, anger, selfish, greedy, the comparative mindset will go into overdrive as they flail about trying to justify and lessen their own actions, their lies will be replaced by other lies in the vain attempt to keep their own illusions going, it won't work and will become a source of amusement and frustration to those, who have done their work. Spiritual based envy will rise exponentially, as the ones who did their work shine and stand out like beacons, accusations of being smug will increase against you, those doing that just dropped the S and became mug, which was created by the self, as you and only you failed to listen to or heed the several warnings given to you, you also missed the call that echoed all across the Universe. Those that have done their work, have to work hard to protect that work and themselves, you will and have been tested severely in this coming phase, do not feel guilty for others not waking up, do not feel guilty for those who haven't done their shadow and inner work, they had just the same opportunity as you, you took it, they never. The world is now entering an increased phase where stupidity and rage will be even more prevalent, hold your ground, do not let those people throw you off track, the wait club, which is a spell cast, have waited too long for others to do things for them, like I said back in November 2017, it is too late for them to catch up, many didn't like that statement, I didn't either. The speed at which events are now taking place and since then, few can argue with it now, no matter how sad it is, they had the same opportunity as you, they chose to ignore it. Unlike several other things in this world were we are denied certain things or access to, this was accessible by everyone, there is zero excuses to be had in that undertaking. This gist is soul progression is never achieved by ignoring issues, ignoring leads to standing still at best, and on a linear timeline, that means going backwards, the unsanity of doing that because you can't face the self, looks even more bizarre from an overview point of view. So why did so many fall by the wayside, lives drifting away, because humanity has become lazy, more in terms of mindset than physical, although that is diminishing by the day with people having a penchant for technology, which ultimately leads to that technology replacing them, many wont believe that statement, fine but I promise you it will not change the inevitable as so many sleep walk into transhumanism, until it happens and then people complain, who allowed this they will cry, you did is my answer. Lazy minds are not conducive to soul development, lazy people who insist everyone else must do things to improve their lives, is not conducive also, the same applies to shadow and inner work, only you can do it, as only you knows what your shadows and traumas are. My other prediction back in 2015 and 2020 vision is now on the horizon, people will "see" more and no I don't mean we will all have better eyesight, seeing is not always done with eyes. The world around us is collapsing on all levels at a record pace now, you have two choices, fear it and panic or embrace it and prepare yourselves, the old world is leaving, this next decade will see it collapse completely, and a new one can be born, and that new world is all down to you, if you have to ask what can I do? you are clearly not ready for the next phase, and I will repeat again so it sinks in, that new world is all down to you.
