

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2020-05-21

Welcome to the most talked about show on the internet, many hate it including clowns and many love it, but one thing is they can't ignore it and our memberships, subscriptions and donations just keep on rising and pleasing to see more and more getting on board with our vision for our future.

I want to thank from my heart The Peoples Club, the Directors and Thomas Williams for helping my friend (and THI-Nevada member) Robert Patula, get a specially made wheelchair so he can once again experience going outside, feeling the sun on his face, hearing the trees rustle in the breeze and... I think we may have to get him a roll bar and helmet because this thing goes 18 miles per hour!!! HA!! That is what the TPC is all about and that is what we will continue to do.

President Donald Trump accused Facebook Inc, Twitter Inc and Alphabet Inc's Google of being controlled by the "Radical Left" and said that his administration is working to remedy what he called an "illegal situation." In a tweet that also mentions the Facebook-owned Instagram, the U.S. president commented on a clip by conservative blogger Michelle Malkin lambasting the so-called deplatforming of conservative voices by technology companies. Trump didn't elaborate on potential measures targeting the tech giants.

The US state department's inspector general, Steve Linick, has become the latest senior official to be fired by US President Donald Trump. Mr Trump said Mr Linick no longer had his full confidence and that he would be removed in 30 days. Mr Linick had begun investigating Secretary of State Mike Pompeo for suspected abuse of office, reports say. Not long after Mr Linick's dismissal was announced, the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said Mr Linick had opened an investigation into Secretary of State Mike Pompeo. "This firing is the outrageous act of a president trying to protect one of his most loyal supporters, the secretary of state, from accountability," Eliot Engel, a Democrat, said in a statement. "I have learned that the Office of the Inspector General had opened an investigation into Secretary Pompeo. Mr Linick's firing amid such a probe strongly suggests that this is an unlawful act of retaliation."

Anne Elizabeth Goodwin Sacoolas is a CIA officer. She was named by Sky News as the driver involved in a crash in the UK which killed a 19 year old motorcyclist. The US State Department claimed that she had diplomatic immunity, but the UK FCO did not accept this. She fled to US on a USAF plane and the US government denied an extradition request without a legal justification. Interpol issued a red notice for her in May 2020. On 24 April 2020, Craig Murray wrote: "Beyond any doubt, it would have been Dominic Raab's personal decision to grant a fake diplomatic immunity to Anne Sacoolas and permit her to leave the country. Anne Sacoolas was reportedly driving on the right-hand side of the road when her SUV collided head on with the motorbike of Harry Dunn. Mystery still surrounds the exact circumstances of how the Sacoolas family were able to flee in the days after the crash, but the US government claim they notified the Foreign Office that they were leaving. She claimed diplomatic immunity, which the UK/FCO denied, then fled the country aboard a US Air Force aircraft. The US government denied an extradition request. The US State Department stated that "The driver was the spouse of an accredited diplomat to the United Kingdom", although Craig Murray noted that since "there is no Jonathan Sacoolas on the official Diplomatic list. Neither Sacoolas nor his wife has any right to claim diplomatic immunity under the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations". Interpol issued a Red Notice for Sacoolas in May 2020, 9 months after the death of Harry Dunn.

The scientist who created Florida's COVID-19 data portal wasn't just removed from her position on May 5, she was fired on Monday by the Department of Health, she said, for refusing to manipulate data. Rebekah Jones said in an email to FLORIDA TODAY that she single-handedly created two applications in two languages, four dashboards, six unique maps with layers of data functionality for 32 variables covering a half a million lines of data. Her objective was to create a way for Floridians and researchers to see what the COVID-19 situation was in real time. Then, she was dismissed, why? because she wouldn't manipulate the data. "I worked on it alone, sixteen hours a day for two months, most of which I was never paid for, and now that this has happened I'll probably never get paid for," she wrote in an email, confirming that she had not just been reassigned on May 5, but fired from her job as Geographic Information Systems manager for the Florida Department of Health. After FLORIDA TODAY first reported Jones' removal from her position in charge of the Florida COVID-19 Data and Surveillance Dashboard she created, she confirmed, as reported by CBS-12 in West Palm Beach that she was fired because she was ordered to censor some data, but refused to "manually change data to drum up support for the plan to reopen."

A federal judge on Monday allowed a federal lawsuit accusing President Donald Trump, his three eldest children and his company of collaborating with a fraudulent marketing scheme to prey on investors to proceed, denying the Trumps' request for a stay. The lawsuit, originally filed in October 2018 and amended a few months later, alleges that in exchange for "secret" payments, Trump and three of his adult children used his former reality TV show "The Celebrity Apprentice" and other promotional events as vehicles to boost ACN Opportunity, a telecommunications marketing company linked to a nonprofit that used Trump's brand to appeal to teens. The lawsuit also accuses the Trumps of having profited off the poor and vulnerable, as people looking "to enrich themselves by systematically defrauding economically marginalized people looking to invest in their educations, start their own small business, and pursue the American dream." Four anonymous plaintiffs brought the suit, including what court papers describe as a hospice caregiver, a self-employed man who was once homeless and a food delivery driver. The Trumps "deliberately misled" consumers about the likely success of their investments, the suit claims, and engaged in "a pattern of racketeering activity." The suit is being funded by the nonprofit Tesseract Research Center, which has ties to Democratic candidates. A group ran by Morris Pearl, who also currently serves as Chair of the Patriotic Millionaires, a group of hundreds of high-net-worth Americans who are committed to making all Americans, including themselves, better off by building a more prosperous, stable, and inclusive nation. Millionaires means many don't have anything, so how is that anyway more inclusive, more illusion again. Mr Pearl born in but not certain whether born to, although his previous role suggests more likely, he was former managing director at? Black Rock which is Black Sun, the plot thickens.

SUB INTEL At an April 23 press conference, Gov. Andrew Cuomo sounded indignant when a reporter asked if anyone had objected to New York's policy of forcing nursing homes to admit recently discharged COVID-19 patients. "They don't have the right to object," Cuomo answered before the reporter finished his question. "That is the rule, and that is the regulation, and they have to comply with it." New York isn't the only state to adopt a policy ordering long-term care facilities to admit COVID-19-infected patients discharged from hospitals. New Jersey, Massachusetts, and California—three states also hit particularly hard by the novel coronavirus—passed similar policies to free up hospital beds to make room for sicker patients. The practice is coming under increased scrutiny by health experts and family members of deceased patients who say the orders needlessly put the most susceptible populations at risk. "The whole thing has just been handled awfully ... by everybody in regard to nursing homes," said Kathleen Cole, a nurse who recently lost her 89-year-old mother who lived at Ferncliff Nursing Home in Rhinebeck, New York. "It's like a slaughterhouse at these places." Cole, who shared her story with the Bucks County Courier Times, told the paper her mother, Dolores McGoldrick, became infected with COVID-19 on April 2 after Ferncliff re-admitted a resident who had been discharged in late March. Two weeks later her mother, a former school teacher, was dead. McGoldrick is one of nearly five thousand COVID-19 victims who died in New York nursing homes, according to new figures from The New York Times. New York's high nursing home death toll is not an outlier. California recently released data showing that some 40 percent of California's COVID-19 fatalities have come from eldercare homes. In Pennsylvania, nursing homes account for 65 percent of COVID-19 deaths. Both states, like New York, had orders in place that required nursing homes to admit recently released COVID-19 patients. When you are getting $13K per Covid patient and $39K for people on ventilators the fact whether they die or not, matters little to money oriented people or states. The evil, sick and incompetent way this country and others have handled this fake pandemic should shake every citizen to the core, the fact it is only the few that are in any way horrified is exactly why these issues exist to begin with, no one takes any responsibility or is accountable.

A group of international fraudsters appears to have mounted an immense, sophisticated attack on U.S. unemployment systems, creating a network that has already siphoned millions of dollars in payments that were intended to avert an economic collapse, according to federal authorities. The attackers have used detailed information about U.S. citizens, such as social security numbers that may have been obtained from cyber hacks of years past, to file claims on behalf of people who have not been laid off, officials said. The attack has exploited state unemployment systems at a time when they are straining to process a crush of claims from an employment crisis unmatched since the Great Depression. Investigators from the U.S. Secret Service said they had information suggesting that the scheme was coming from a well-organized Nigerian fraud ring and could result in "potential losses in the hundreds of millions of dollars." Roy Dotson, a special agent who specializes in financial fraud at the Secret Service, said in an interview investigators were still working to pinpoint who was involved and exactly where they were. This is latest news piece of distraction to justify not getting payments out due to lack of funding.

Facebook will pay a multi-million dollar penalty for making "false" privacy claims in Canada. The C$9m ($6.5m; £5.3m) fine is part of a settlement over the company's handling of users' personal information between August 2012 and June 2018. Canada's independent Competition Bureau said the tech firm improperly shared data with third-party developers. Facebook says it "did not agree" with the finding but wants to resolve the matter. On Tuesday, Canada's Competition Bureau announced the tech giant will pay the penalty after concluding "the company made false or misleading claims about the privacy of Canadians' personal information on Facebook and [messaging app] Messenger". The competition watchdog said it found that Facebook's privacy claims were not consistent with the way it shared personal data of users with some third-party developers. Yes think CIA, NSA and GCHQ plus the plethora of computer tech companies owned by the same groups in Silicon Valley and Palo Alto. A Facebook spokesperson told Reuters that "although we do not agree with the Commissioner's conclusions, we are resolving this matter by entering into a consent agreement and not contesting the conclusions for the purposes of this agreement". Facebook told Reuters, of course they would as Reuters is ran by the CIA. The social media giant has also agreed to not make any false or misleading representations about the disclosure of personal information as part of the settlement. The tech firm has faced criticism in recent years over its handling of fake news during 2016 elections, as well as the improper sharing of user data in the Cambridge Analytica scandal. Facebook was found to have allowed Cambridge Analytica, a British political consulting firm, to access to the data of millions of users. Cambridge Analytica are not a consulting firm they are a data mining firm for the above named companies and agencies. The data was acquired via a quiz hosted on the social media platform, which invited users to find out their personality type. Those quizzes are all profiling of you for their AI database, which they then sell off to marketing groups, and we have warned about them several times. As was common with apps and games at that time, it was designed to harvest not only the user data of the person taking part in the quiz, but also the data of their friends. The data of an estimated 87 million Facebook users was shared worldwide. Clowns in Panic proven correct again.

The Knights Templar, the medieval Christian military order accused of heresy and sexual misconduct, will soon be partly rehabilitated when the Vatican publishes trial documents it had closely guarded for 700 years. The seal of the Vatican secret archives is shown on a replica document in which Pope Clement V absolved the Knights Templar of charges of heresy, in Rome October 9, 2007. A reproduction of the Latin-language minutes of trials against the Knights Templar in 1308, lost until its rediscovery in 2001, is being published by the Vatican Secret Archives at the end October. The documents, a book and parchments, costs 5,900 euros and its 799 numbered copies are destined for top libraries and medieval scholars. The Templars, whose full name was “Poor Fellow-Soldiers of Christ and of the Temple of Solomon”, were founded in 1119 by knights sworn to protecting Christian pilgrims visiting the Holy Land after the Crusaders captured Jerusalem in 1099. They amassed enormous wealth and helped finance wars of some European monarchs. Legends of their hidden treasures, secret rituals and power have figured over the years in films and bestsellers such as “The Da Vinci Code”. The Knights have also been portrayed as guardians of the legendary Holy Grail, the cup used by Christ at the Last Supper before his crucifixion. That was a recent announcement by the Vatican, can confirms further much of which was in FRWL series, The Templars, whose full name was “Poor Fellow-Soldiers of Christ and of the Temple of Solomon”, oh dear I rest my case.

China is proposing to introduce a new security law in Hong Kong that could ban sedition, secession and subversion. The move is likely to provoke strong opposition internationally and in Hong Kong, which was last year rocked by months of pro-democracy protests. China's delayed National People's Congress, its legislature, will debate the issue when it opens on Friday. Chinese media said the move defended national security, but opponents said it could be the "end of Hong Kong". Demonstrators in Hong Kong have repeatedly protested against what they see as a gradual erosion of the territory's autonomy by the communist lead government in Beijing.

The wealthy have taken flight. They've left their urban dwellings behind, escaping to smaller communities that offer them the luxury of more space and access to nature as they ride out the pandemic. Some have taken refuge in their second homes, where they're part-time residents in the summer, while others rented vacation homes. And while they tend to favor some of the most traditionally popular hot spots for the rich and famous, these locales spread far and wide. New York City residents have headed upstate to the mountains and out to the Hamptons. They, along with other east coast urbanites, have also infiltrated coastal New England, flocking to some of Massachusetts' most elite enclaves and Maine's islands. Out west, the wealthy are sheltering at ski resorts, from Idaho to Wyoming. But it's not just the US witnessing the flight of the wealthy — the UK, too, is seeing its Londoners and other city residents heading to their second homes in the countryside. No matter the location, the problem remains the same: Local residents aren't happy about the influx of people, concerned that their more rural communities won't be able to manage a coronavirus outbreak with medical supply shortages, less access to food and groceries, and stretched hospitals. Detroit wasteland

INTEL Statement attributed to Lt. Col. Mike Andrews, Department of Defense spokesman: "Today the Department of Defense and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, announce a $138 million contract with ApiJect Systems America for "Project Jumpstart" and "RAPID USA," which together will dramatically expand U.S. production capability for domestically manufactured, medical-grade injection devices starting by October 2020. Spearheaded by the DOD's Joint Acquisition Task Force (JATF), in coordination with the HHS Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response, the contract will support "Jumpstart" to create a U.S.-based, high-speed supply chain for prefilled syringes beginning later this year by using well-established Blow-Fill-Seal (BFS) aseptic plastics manufacturing technology, suitable for combatting COVID-19 when a safe and proven vaccine becomes available. By immediately upgrading a sufficient number of existing domestic BFS facilities with installations of filling-line and technical improvements, "Jumpstart" will enable the manufacture of more than 100 million prefilled syringes for distribution across the United States by year-end 2020. The contract also enables ApiJect Systems America to accelerate the launch of RAPID USA manufactured in new and permanent U.S.-based BFS facilities with the ultimate production goal of over 500 million prefilled syringes (doses) in 2021. This effort will be executed initially in Connecticut, South Carolina and Illinois, with potential expansion to other U.S.-based locations. RAPID will provide increased lifesaving capability against future national health emergencies that require population-scale vaccine administration on an urgent basis. RAPID's permanent fill-finish production capability will help significantly decrease the United States' dependence on offshore supply chains and its reliance on older technologies with much longer production lead times. These supplies can be used if a successful SARS-COV-2 vaccine is oral or intranasal rather than injectable." This was taken from the website of ApiJect and may give us more pointers as to their intentions. Whether health officials are running a scheduled vaccination program or an urgent pandemic response campaign, they can make better decisions if they know when and where each injection occurs. With an optional RFID/NFC tag on each BFS prefilled syringe, ApiJect will make this possible. Before giving an injection, the healthcare worker will be able to launch a free mobile app and "tap" the prefilled syringe on their phone, capturing the NFC tag's unique serial number, GPS location and date/time. The app then uploads the data to a government-selected cloud database. Aggregated injection data provides health administrators an evolving real-time "injection map." oh dear I will repeat that section again so people grasp what they are saying and if people think it will be optional, you are not as awake as you think. Every year, some 14 million children around the world do not receive needed vaccinations. In addition, some 1.3 million people die annually from infections acquired when health workers improperly reuse syringes. 1.3M die each year from medical people misuse? where is the lockdown for that? where is the global exposure of that? but it gets worse. Yet another 20 million people per year contract HIV, HepB and other blood-borne diseases in this same way. So now we are up to 21.3M per year die or get some incurable diseases because of injections, yet vaccines are safe they tell us? seriously and they expect us to believe this shit? Lets put this into perspective shall we as 21.3M is the equivalent of New York, Los Angeles, Chicgo, Houston, Phoenix, Philadelphia, San Antonio and Riverside CA all residents dying each and every year. Fortunately, BFS prefilled syringes will enable national health ministries worldwide to cover more of their citizens on the same budget – all while improving safety by eliminating syringe reuse and cross-contamination of vials.

The U.S. government is moving faster than expected to stretch out the time over which it will pay down its record deficit, strategists say. As part of that plan, the Treasury is bringing back the 20-year bond, last issued in 1986. It will debut in a $20 billion auction at 1 p.m. ET Wednesday. The U.S. government considered paying down its record debt by issuing 50-year and 100-year bonds, but Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin said during Congressional testimony Tuesday that there wasn't demand for those type of securities. "We did get advice on a 20-year. We added the 20-year. That gives us the ability to extend the duration to raise a significant amount of funds," Mnuchin said. "It's my intention to expand our financing in 10-, 20- and 30-year bonds. What I'd like to do is lock in a significant amount of very low interest rates so that the money we are borrowing can be paid back and dealt with over a long period of time." What this reveals is 1. bonds are debt instruments, so they are paying it back with debt on debt 2. they are ignoring the debts were paid off 3. they are duping and appealing to foreign buyers 4. They have no interest in The Trust and 5. given they are selling off debt to foreign investors and they own parts of America until paid off, is this not a National Security incident of epic proportions?

The latest trick of the clowns is to flood America with more fake notes printed in 2017, likely be De La Rue with Mnuchin's name on them, this explains some more of the stimulus money. Of which the vast majority of people still haven't been paid out on those checks which is now going on for nearly 7 weeks. Where is the outrage? Reports of supernotes being issued in the UK, Australia and also South Africa was also brought to my attention.

Last week on the intel I was being asked about a special date and the hints were given it was all happening on the 17th, many members of our group and the other were celebrating the funding arriving as announced or hinted at by that group. I told people to exercise caution about jumping to conclusions and it all turned out to be a damp squib, and the it's all happening crew have to be seriously questioned as to why they would mislead their followers in that manner. I guess THI was correct again, not that our members needed validation of that.

OP-ED Lets have a riddle shall we and see where it goes to, oh no not another riddle Thomas, why not it's fun. So lets say we have some trouble makers in a certain THI group, with one of them with known links to a rogue group exposed by this host a number of years back. But then he has a friend also with links or Connections or is it connexions, which operates in said country, but the main head office of it is in Singapore of all places, and is also linked to another country and the same rogue group exposed by us previously. Then one of those people gave researchers like me clues of a certain posting to do with last unnamed country, and also kept promoting a certain show not too far from here, although host isn't in this country, and then you find that host is also linked with not only the unnamed country, but the very rogue organization we have outed previously. Common denominator in all 3 plus the host choose to pull apart what THI has done, because we exposed the group they are connected to, the name of the group is two shortened versions of 2 countries merged together, oops. But then I found another link of one persons reviews being both in New York and Singapore of what is the most hideous material I have ever witnessed, it is the equivalent of Hillary Clinton and Maria Abramovich writing a book about mutilation and spirit cooking combined, only psychopaths would write that and only clown circles would read it. Then you find one of the reviewers is not only linked to cesspit of clownery in Toronto Canada, but was also apart of unnamed country as well. Ya see some people appear to be random, but once you scratch beneath the surface reveals a nest of spiders and the hive mind tentacles. But it is another nest of alt media degenerates uncovered by me and THI and I will be expanding the search out on a wider scale now I have unearthed the nest, more will follow on this, which may well lead to a much bigger exposure.

I have criticized much on this show which has caused many issues, and some do not like it, yet fail to address or entertain the plethora of attacks and critiquing of our own group. Do I like criticizing? not particularly because actually I wish it was all different, but the criticism is what we need to hear not what we want to hear and here are the reasons why from the peoples perspective. I have criticized the all the colors of the world, why? look around you, not one color is looking after their own people, never mind others. Playing into the culture and traditions game, for example we are Americans and this is our way, erm your forgetting Americans largely came from other countries who have their own cultures, and also forgetting or not knowing it was the system that created the cultures and traditions. Culture is another divide and conquer program in it's raw form, if cultures were beneficial why are we all fighting? Then we have the big one I have criticized religion, all of them and unlike others who just make statements, I have provided substantial evidence to support and back that claim, if religions are beneficial, why are we all fighting over it? why is my god better than yours? why if religion is all moral and holy based with over 65% of the planet following it, is their so much anger, strife, violence and discord? There is not a single place on the planet in any sort of harmony, be it countries or the people within it, so clearly that program does not do what it says on the tin, and continuing to play to that tune will render the exact same results of chaos and discord. I have criticized all governments and recently Mr. Trump which has upset some, but I will ask all people of the world to state where and when their government actually did something that benefits their people? Yes you may throw up isolated examples, but largely what they push forward as good for the people, is some way weaponized against us in secret, I can spend the rest of the show highlighting examples of that, but lets just use one. Climate change, yeah the governments, some paid child prodigy and the UN are fighting to save the planet, forgetting it was them and their paymasters that destroyed it to begin with, with their outdated technology like oil. Truth is the UN is out of funds, so is the private Rothschild's army NATO, and they are planning to loot every country of it's wealth to pay for climate change. 2% GDP to pay for NATO and hand over all in ground assets to the UN to allegedly pay for climate change, it's not, it is to keep the same failed powerbrokers in funds and in charge. I have criticized many countries and people get so defensive of their country due to thinly disguised Fascism running under the term patriotism, but countries in their world don't exist, all are pawns in a giant game too few outside of THI know exists. Some have said recently that sounds arrogant, not if it is true it isn't, but that is a further example of peoples state of mind, for years I was told I had to stop playing down my role in things, then you point out a few things we have achieved and people then accuse you of being arrogant and self serving, which is it to be? Same applies to the proof that many in the alt media are all pushing onto one show and one host only, where is your proof they cry, are you blind is my response, I don't have to tell anyone listening to this show of the proof we have supplied in bucketloads, and yet isn't it curious these same people never ask anyone else for proof, it's banal thinking and shows inner turmoil being projected onto others. Then we come to the alt media criticism and outing of certain individuals, many of which were previously not believed when I first outed it or them, and one by one all came to be seen. I knew alt media was infected in early 2000's just not the depth of it, my first venture on a blog site lasted barely a few months as I started informing the members there was Israeli agitators and agents throughout the page on Disclose TV. Taught members how to spot them and they found out for themselves, members started calling them out and suddenly the owners of Disclose TV said we are going to upgrade the site and the blog to Disclose 2.0 and not to worry all will be invited back, except yours truly didn't as forecasted to other blog colleagues, oops. Most people don't think when they go on a page that it is being run by or heavily infiltrated by agents and agencies, and so don't spot it, I know there is and check it out first and see if they wish to play, then we engage or we don't. It was way more difficult back then despite there being lesser numbers involved in alt media, masks were firmly fixed and they could hide, but over the last few years, the masks dropped and frequencies can give them away and more easier to spot and navigate. What changed everything in relation to alt media unbeknown to many at the time, but put agents on alert was the Factions show in late 2015, it defined a clearer path than just calling them the cabal or the Illuminati. I began to warn of faction based alt media groups and entities as they became easier to spot, as their disclosures always left out their own particular faction, The Rothschilds clan and The Black Sun members were in all factions, so they always win, or so they thought. Over the past 5 years most of the regular Alt media have been found to be faction based, it is fairly easy to spot, I can write groundbreaking stuff all day every day and not one site will pick it up, David Wilcock writes please buy my book and I had a synchronicity today for the 33rd time, oh look another synchronicity as we speak, and it within hours is spread right through alt media by many sites. This is not about popularity folks, this is steering the narrative and promoting their paid agents and clowns. A further example and more in your face is Jordan Sather, funny no one questions him isn't it, but he goes from unknown talking MSM op-ed pieces on a board to over 100K listeners within a day, does that make sense? Randy Maugans has done the alt media for near 20 years but would have to do around 30-40 shows to generate the same numbers, Alan James also, yet Anna Von Reitz, Steele, Wilcock, Sather and Keenan when around write one piece and it is all over the internet, why? because they all work for a faction is why. George Webb admitted he is Mossad in his own report, Shane Bales stated in two shows he was a Rothschild, Simon Parkes admitted astral rape of his members, AVR admitted she was a Hapsburg and subsequently a Rothschild, and yet I and THI got the criticism for pointing them out? I outed Wilcock and Goode at the height of their alt media popularity back in 2014, and got terrible abuse even from our own members for doing that, and received no support inside the alt media for doing so. Yet 3 years later Randy Maugans does a piece on it and the whole of alt media then turned on Wilcock and Goode, why? because they were being pushed out of it and their books or videos no longer being bought, I did it because they were presenting a fake story to the public. I outed Robert David Steele 4 years ago and got accused of knocking out all the competition, and people should only listen to our show, yet how many people are just now seeing through the illusion Mr. Steele and his Orsini family backed partner, he of the fake stage name, Sacha Stone. I outed a number of the ET disclosures groups, and Part 1 & 2 of The events shows, reveals exactly why, majestic and CIA infiltrated all ET and UFO groups to change the narrative and produce bs, not one or two but all of them, it said so in their own documents. The answer is I didn't like outing any of them, I wished and wanted to be a part of a much larger alt media team, but they had infiltrated it to such extremes, I could no longer be quiet. One hopes the people who doubted me on those stances will now see the error of their ways, it is ok to question me or THI for learning purposes, but many of those questions were actually statements, over time people have seen virtually everyone I had to expose, eventually expose themselves and I was vindicated. Like I have said, it is not about being right, but doing the right thing when called upon to do so, and trust me there are 100's of things I have said on my show, where I genuinely wish I was wrong.

A word on the last show we did and seems many of you got so much out of it and also the Part 1. It was very impactful series to do, and it clarified and confirmed much of our show and it's narratives, which is even better. It was great to deliver that finally to the members, and it was the right time to do it. It triggered something's in a number of members, past lives, certain dream time remembrances and some traumas, and our show does that a lot, and some will see that as a negative but is it really? Some say our show is fairly negative and drags up certain emotions, the former is a matter of perspective, the latter is I stand guilty as charged. Yes all our shows are packed with triggers, it is designed that way, and some will argue why do you do that? Because we all have to start remembering who and what we are is why, you cannot do that without unearthing the hidden trauma layers that we all have. You cannot develop on a soul level running on the city of light pill and lets not remember traumas, and lets all think life is all so great and positive, when clearly it is not on an individual level, family level, group level, state level, country level or planetary level. Everyone to develop has to go through several stages of what is known as the dark night of the soul, you have to push through them as each one comes up, to then attain the real benefits of life, and the almost immediate effect of each person who does that, feels much lighter, why wouldn't everyone want that? Kudos for you all who have done that and I am glad our show played a small part in that, what is better the lighter feeling or the heavy burdens you carry around like a 50lb bag of concrete. I had my own dark night of the soul recently, and I am lighter than I have been for sometime, so what took place was actually beneficial to me and I feel and felt the heavy release that was and had weighed on me for sometime, it is invigorating. Going lalalala or singing Kumbaya will not make your own ills go away, never mind anyone or anything else's, as the EBE said we all fell for the illusion. The question for all is, do you wish to carry on in the illusion world or get into the reality world and fix it? Our show is not for all people, most don't wish to hear the truth, most don't wish to fix themselves, never mind others, but there are many other alt media shows to keep you trapped in the illusion and people can be my guest and go and join them. But there are many in our group who have gained massive benefits going through each show and each trigger that has changed their lives to varying degrees and that brings me great joy and also pride. My message to you is, keep it rolling But what those two show did is, show what we the people are up against, the levels of secrecy, corruption and in part pure evil of the lengths these type of people will go to have the illusion of control and keep it. This is what we have been fighting in the "hidden or behind the scenes war" and won heavily, some were critical of me mentioning that so often and complained about when is it going public, and I did warn people wouldn't like the public version. I warned in a show last December the fight is on and the war would be played out in the public arena hereonin, and it will get ugly, it did and it has, and so that warning was an opportunity for you all to prepare yourselves and be ready for all the potentials they could throw at us, many did and some didn't, these are largely the people who point fingers everywhere else except themselves. So the hidden elements in our society who remained in the shadows for so long, and was revealed heavily in our shows and yet rarely spoken about in other shows or in whisper, where finally pushed out into the light for all to have an opportunity to see, not all will as too many are possessed or stuck in the city of light world. So what we are seeing now is their fight back in the public war, it is very ugly and will likely get much more ugly and painful in the coming weeks, months and years, because without radical solutions which have been on the governments desk now for nearly 4 years, this and many other countries will not survive and many will take years to recover from this fake lockdown. But the bonus of that is, everyone gets to see now, who and what we have been fighting particularly since 2013 onwards, but some way before that also. Everyone gets to see the levels of controls against us, and who was and is involved in it. Since writing that I unearthed another document that covers that story and more I will edit it and add my input into it and a Part 3 will be available soon, imminent, tomorrow or two weeks.

The world revolves around the mask these days and will have greater implications going forward, more than perhaps many realize. The mask is symbolic of covering up the many ills of the world currently. The global job market cannot sustain the jobs before the pre arranged global shutdown, and the fall out of it all will never send job levels back to what it was previously. The job market was no longer self sustainable, for the clowns or us, the majority of jobs are actually non essential designed by plethora of departments most of which are unnecessary. Take for example the 17 intelligence agencies based in America, when we only need two, the rest were put there by the former controller so they can all be spied upon and spy on each other, fact, all of which the American people paid for and got zero or less in return. Recent figures being suggested is that 1/3 of American businesses will or have closed and will never be re-opening again. Which supports what this show has been saying all along, the jobs will just not be there once this fake re-planning of the world lockdown ends. With less jobs and less money for people to buy goods, more businesses will follow, of that you can guarantee. Is that doom and gloom? yes essentially but those are the facts, both Kim and I warned as far back as 2017 the financial crash of America was being orchestrated and how many outside of THI listened and took note? Where were all the financial experts warning of it? nowhere to be seen or heard, it's unfolding before their eyes and yet they can't see it? So how will people cope with no or less jobs, they will roll out the next stage of their problem, reaction and solution plan and in comes the Universal Basic Income or UBI, which might as well in overview stand for U Be Idiot, because that is the beginning of the end if the system hasn't changed and rolls that out. Many will happily go along with it as money is the new god, woo free money and we don't have to work, great and isn't it fantastic of how our government is looking after us, free money woo, lets all get drunk or smoke joints to celebrate, but only a few will stop and think, what is the catch? The Quantum system ran the scenario and found out that, with UBI only 5% would go to work, but 5% is not enough to sustain the necessary tasks for humanity, problem, reaction and solution then leaps to the next stage of their plan. Enter stage 3 then, well as not enough of you work we need robots to do all the work, with the goal of replacing us all work wise initially, then replacing us entirely with transhuman elements, 1/2 man and 1/2 machine, and no it is not the future they have all this technology now. To obtain UBI will require you to be vaccinated and ID chipped also, with no jobs and no money how will people be able to refuse? This sounds all very negative and doom and gloom Thomas I can hear people saying and thinking now, but how many other of our predictions on our show have come to fruition, so it is not doom and gloom it is a warning of making people aware of the situation. What is doom and gloom is, if you think this is all a hopeless and helpless situation, it's not, as we all have the ability to change it, one person at a time, the people always had all the power, we have criminally neglected and forgotten that. Masks makes you sick, because this illness is largely of a respiratory nature and so breathing in and out when restricted traps bacteria within the mask and throat, from which viruses proliferate, every doctor and nurse should know that as a fact. Yet so few speak up, although I am pleased a few have now, many of which has cost them their job, too few will sacrifice themselves for the greater good of the all, and that is the only thing holding back humanity now, our inability to support each other as a collective, once that is done with around 8-12% of the people, it is game over. But our illusion masks which are dropping now and exposing everyone, also made you sick, and then need for large doses of shadow and inner work to correct it, can people not see the similarities of it all. There have been other mask wearers in the past, bank robbers and then two Democratic led groups called Antifa and the KKK, one was eventually outlawed, interesting term that outlawed and kind of conflictory in it's concept, the other was allowed to wear masks. But there was another mask wearing organization that was popular for a bit, and that mask was outlawed as well, called Anonymous. So they outlaw Anonymous mask, and yet make the people Anonymous by making them wear the masks, how ironic is that? What people should have really seen through now, whether wearing masks or not is, how all Governments are completely incompetent, look at how they have left all the people in disaster zones like Michigan for a start, it's shameful, how the entire medical industry is not only criminal, but in many cases pure evil. How the media are psychopathic liars and quite frankly should be hung for treason, and how all official global bodies like WHO, FEMA, The UN, Red Cross and all other so called charitable entities are not only corrupt but not fit for the purpose. Militaries declared mute and incapable of helping the people, agencies so corrupt beyond all reason, the functions of society like law/legal/justice, the police, social services, hospitals and all other so called groups allegedly designed to look after or protect the public, are also no longer fit for the purpose either, all can and should see it now. Do we sit back and go oh my god were all going to die or stand up and fight back, it will not require as much to change the system as you think, because many are starting to see through the illusion and fighting back now and that pleases me no end.

There are times in life when you have to make choices of the path you are on, we have all had them and all will have more to come. Some at the time you thought wasn't right for you, but later turns out a blessing, and vice versa. As the leader of a group, business, club, country or family you have to make more choices than others, and many of those choices are not always Universally popular, but someone has to set the choices, guidelines and paths. But leaders are few and far between, some want it for the power and ego, some are natural leaders, some are reluctant leaders. But all have one thing in common, they all become the shooting gallery targets, when the slightest thing goes wrong. Leaders are essentially created by people as vehicle to unleash their own lack of skills, their own shadows and unaddressed inner work upon, and it resembles a shooting gallery for people frustrated within and of themselves. Like the American government, whichever decision Trump makes is wrong in the eyes of many, people make snap judgments because their life is not going too well, and the sad thing is and the core behind it is, that person themselves never did much to aid, help or support those decisions made by others. It is the same for Kim, endless questions of why she has done this or why hasn't she done that, neglecting the fact that nobody really knows what she does, how she does it or how this type of work at that level impacts your life. It is all too easy to say why hasn't Kim done this or that, and because of the nature of the work and much of it shrouded in secrecy, people often make snap decisions or judgments, but Kim did not get this work because she is unable to think for herself, yet some of the recent comments of what she should have done, was suggestive that she is unable to think of basic solutions, yet people wonder why others react against that level of thinking. The same applies in this group, only one member outside of the admins knows the depth of the work, shenanigans and day to day dealings we have to put up with. Very few are fully aware of the day to day attacks either, and people seem to think we are all there for their own benefit, 24/7. Forgetting the people who run this group all sacrifice their time for your benefit, it is a largely thankless task. Our group has far more flexibility than some peoples recent drama based antics would have you believe, riddled with their own judgments, never seek counsel or support to make a better decision or judgment, and would sooner go off and rant without knowing over 80% of what takes place behind the scenes. This applies in business also, no one knows the pressures people are under, and yet all will fire at one person for all the ills of not only the job, but their own family life or society ills, and for the latter and our recent global struggles due to the fake pandemic, of how quite a few people have gone off the rails and they throw the blame onto the nearest leader they find. Because someone has to take the blame for that persons ills, come on we have all done it, but in overview whether it's inside a business or judging a government what have you done to correct those ills? Most just pass judgment is that not the case, yet few come up with solutions and their own role in how poor our government is, in life and judgments more often than not, the problem is in the mirror, the problem is you and us, as too many of us dissolve our own responsibility, some may not like that statement but the reality is, it's true of us all. I spent near 7 hours on two calls yesterday that was delightful to hear the input of people and the joy to see of how they are getting involved and what they are doing. The first was our business team who engage each other of how to develop the TPC model and they are also preparing Part 3 of the TPC model which will be done by Alan of Circle of White Light, we added another to that team yesterday, so thanks to Alan, Mark, Liam, Lawrence and Emma for their work on that. Yesterday I advertised on mewe do any of the state groups have any small funding projects ready and two groups stepped up, and I ended up on the second call with THI-CA and unlike some other groups they heard the message loud and clear last week, grasped it and have been carrying on as normal, with renewed awareness of how to protect their group. In a world of snap judgments, armies of critiques and do nothings, it was pleasing to see a very nice tight knit group all with wonderful input and insight of how we all go forward together. So we discussed in length a few small projects and how they may start off small but expand into something larger, and we will have further discussions on that soon. I am pleased that other groups also received the announcement in the correct manner last week as well, but there will always be some who don't hear or listen properly and only wish to use it as a launch platform to blame someone else, ignorance is a choice these days. This is why we suggested revolving the leaders role so everyone gets an idea of what each role entails, I would love some of mine and our critiques to come and do our job for a day, few would last more than 1/2 a day, wells the fargo would be the most common saying I can tell you. As leaders all will have to make decisions they don't particularly like for the greater benefit of the all, and you will always have your critiques that is par for the course, but I wonder how many listening to this would tolerate your every word, decision, lifestyle, financial situation, love partner situations and general decision making under a microscope 24/7 with little to no time to think for yourselves as everyone expects or wants something from you, all day every day. Be honest now, how many of you would want to live that life? the answer is a resounding no, yet these are the same people who sit there just critiquing everything, yet wouldn't tolerate my role or Kim's role for a single hour. I have to make a lot of calls and have much demand on me for the plethora of roles and functions I do, do I make all calls or decisions correct? no, does anybody else make all calls or decisions correct? no again, so why do these people expect everyone else to be perfect, when they or nobody else is perfect either? It was fantastic to see how from the ones I have spoken to this past week of how THI-CA, AZ, NY and Oregon took last weeks decision in a sensible, rounded and adult manner, and pushed on with their ideas, plans and projects, whilst others took it as an opportunity to jump out at the first hurdle and dissolve their responsibility and place blame elsewhere for their decisions. But my focus is not on them, essentially taking the decision to close down THI state groups had to be made, there was no other choice due to the volume of issues, but the ones who are committed carried on as normal, and the ones who are not, didn't, so it became in essence a thinning of the herd between those who are committed and the ones who were playing at it. Thankfully most were and have shown they are committed and the pleases me no end. But sometimes people forget the old adage, is you can't please all of the people all of the time, I have to live by that mantra virtually every minute of my day, to the critiques, could you? We need more providing solutions and I many pleased many of you continue to do that, where everything is free, unlike some who have charged $80-200 for funds that don't exist yet, we at THI will continue to do things the right way, regardless of critics. As we wrap up the show with the final song, and in essence it all comes down to this of not only how did you, but have you, are you and are you even capable of it as well.
