

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2021-04-01

As we exit the March madness and into April it is now time for us all to turn the page.

April Fool was canceled today after it was decided there was enough tricksters, clownery, rank stupidity and covidioty for the previous 12 months without extending it to a special day, in their world every day is special, short bus type of special.

Phil Robertson says there's a good reason our enemies want to see American citizens disarmed: We ARE national security. I don't know fully who he is, but he is correct, hence the repeated program of multiple large to mass shootings in America, following a clown in the White House posing a bill of banning guns.

Here is the latest kicking of the can down the road, that is prominent throughout alt media, including one show not too far away from here, as they have produced nothing either and now asking for patience. The MyPillow CEO who is being sued by the voting-machine maker Dominion for $1.3 billion for his voter fraud allegations, launched into a long rant on voter fraud on Steve Bannon's War Room podcast, he claimed that Trump will be reinstated in August, saying the "election of 2020 is going bye-bye." Cue the Q people and the it's all happening crew having another wait club to wait for, now until August. I said it in the first week of March show this would happen, it is all so predictable. What exactly was achieved for the people in the 4 years previous? one has to ask, because I see no proof of any discernable changes.

More than half of adults age 30 or under are living with their parents. 1/3 of adults age 40 or under are living with their parents. This is just wrong, we are going back to the 1800's of everyone living under the same roof, they had no choice back then, now we do. The sheep are being corralled into one pen, you know what happens next don't you? they get sheared or slaughtered. Adult children is what not only the system wants, but needs. People relying on parents or their new parents the Government to fix and run their lives for them. There is a better way, but requires the people coming together, something that has far harder to achieve than say.

Last week I did a piece on the various governments, and none included assemblies. That is not a direct attack on Life Force but a warning to their members, to research what you are getting involved in. A received a few messages praising our research on that topic, and one stated they had warned Kim three times they were going down a wrong path. "I've given her 3 warnings about the misdirection of the structure of the LF assemblies, research showed that the de facto assemblies are not the assemblies able to take over a faulty gov't." Now before people think this is another attack of some perceived tribal war between the shows, it is not. This is to prevent people getting into trouble, the same as I warned the people to pay their taxes and get their drivers licenses, otherwise you can end up in jail, despite the facts favoring you doing that. The same applied to Heather Jarraf of OPPT, I warned her she was going down wrong path and why, she ignored it and went to jail. The point is, Kim and Tank are stating that the assemblies will be the new Government, but given the assemblies are not valid, it only takes one over officious jackass to perceive that as a coup to overthrow the Government, and all of you in the assemblies can go to jail, due to the ignorance, at this point willful ignorance of the leaders of that group. Request evidence proving those types of assemblies are valid. If I really wanted to go after Kim the person, I would have gone on Charlie Wards show when asked, I refused. This week I received an email to go on the Chris Rice show, and in his email he was clearly angling for me to dig the dirt on Kim. I have no intention of doing that, my interaction with Kim since last May has only been to question her business decisions on behalf of the Trust, unlike her I have engaged only a business level not personal. I warned last week she is in big trouble, particularly in light of who she engages with, it will not end well for her. I get some will say she deserves all she gets, but revenge or retribution is not my forte, because that is a lower vibrational frequency to engage. She was offered the olive branch 4 times, she snapped them into match sticks every time.

Tomorrow we will be having a zoom call to discuss certain matters now March is out of the way. 7.30PM EST. Links will be posted after the show on FB and Mewe and this is primarily for N. Americans listeners but others are welcome to participate. For those not on social media go to zoom, join call and type in this number 562 853 9533, it is open to 100 people as per our current package, but will record it also and may post it out after, should the need arise.

NEWS: Secret Service agents allegedly involved themselves in an incident in which, Joe Biden's daughter-in-law Hallie threw a gun belonging to her husband Hunter Biden in the trash outside a grocery store. The alleged involvement of the Secret Service in the incident would be inappropriate, given that the incident was investigated by Delaware police and the FBI, and because Joe Biden was not under Secret Service protection at the time, law enforcement officials told Politico. "U.S. Secret Service records confirm that the agency did not provide protection to any member of the Biden family in 2018, and that the Secret Service had no involvement in this alleged incident," the agency said in a statement. On October 23, 2018, Hallie Biden took a .38 revolver belonging to Hunter and placed it in the trash outside Janssen's Market in Wilmington, Del. After informing Hunter the same day, he told her to go back and retrieve the gun, however the gun was missing from the trash can when Hallie returned to get it. Hallie told the store manager, who passed the information along to Delaware police. More shenanigans involving that family, but as long as the masked man fulfills his duties to his string pullers, you can do whatever you want it seems.

President Joe Latex Biden on Monday called on all governors and mayors to maintain or reinstate mask-wearing orders, but he did not differentiate whether he meant PPE masks or full head and shoulder masks like he wears. Stating that because of “reckless behavior,” the corona virus was again spreading fast, threatening the progress the nation has made so far against the pandemic. This proves the vaccines doesn't work then, because if they have given out 126M vaccines and if they do work, the figures would go down, again they want the narrative both ways. Reminder of a quotes from May last year "the lockdowns will never end, until the people stop it themselves" it was right then, and moreso now.

Vaccines are working, the latest surge in Covid cases proves that. Take a bow for doublespeak and stupid non thinking statements, NBC's Erika Edwards and Denise Chow. Do these people actually think before making statements like that? staggering levels of idiocy or perhaps they are official covidiot. "The cases we are seeing are the younger groups that probably aren't eligible for vaccines just yet," Davis said. Yet before the vaccines were handed out, we were all told the younger people had slim chances of getting Covid, the statistics backed that up. Which was also the same reasoning given for the children to return to school remember. Yet since the techno jabs have been handed out, suddenly the youth are getting Covid, common sense tells you the jabs are giving people Covid then. The only other solution is, they didn't know what they were doing or talking about previously. This switcheroo in public information is reaching farcical levels now, with one group counteracting the other, which I suspect is all by design to confuse the public. I did say there are no experts did I not, this is another example.

President Joe Biden insisted again and again he would only hike taxes on individuals earning over $400,000. He never meant it. He's just hoping the middle class and the news media won't notice the tax hikes if he hides them well enough. During the campaign, Biden supported a $200 registration tax on new firearms and a drastic overhaul of retirement accounts, that would amount to a tax hike on folks earning over $80,250. Hiking the corporate tax rate is a perfect example. Congress and President Donald Trump, with the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, brought our corporate tax rate down to the globally competitive 21%, on par with the average of wealthy nations. Biden wants to increase it back to 28% and tack on a minimum 15% tax on the book income of large corporations, effectively disallowing many deductions. He works for the elements of the cabal who want to transfer the wealth, jobs and business all to the East, that is why he is pricing out American based companies, whilst lying to the people, backed by the gurning non speaker of the House, Pelosi. The Tax Foundation estimates that Biden's corporate tax hike would slash 159,000 jobs, and that an average 0.7% wage reduction would harm the bottom quintile of workers, who would see a 1.45% decrease in after-tax income. Prices would likely go up, and retirement accounts would be smaller than otherwise. The article said that's a middle-class tax hike. That is assuming we had a middle class to begin with, middle class is an illusion in America, as it is based on the amount of debt you accumulate not the amount you earn. Middle class America is working class people going into massive amounts of debts to have the appearance of being middle class, when in reality it was the debt class, it is the class of interest accumulating accounts that feeds the greed machine.

Goldman Sachs and Morgan Stanley have reportedly sold $19 billion worth of shares in Chinese tech and US media companies. Traders are now wondering what caused the unusually massive move and whether it will continue next week. Goldman Sachs alone liquidated $10.5 billion worth of stocks in block trades on Friday. The first batch, that included $6.6 billion worth of shares of Baidu, Tencent Music Entertainment Group and Vipshop Holdings, was sold before the market opened on Friday. Later that day, the bank reportedly managed the sale of $3.9 billion worth of shares in American media conglomerates ViacomCBS and Discovery, as well some other companies, such as Farfetch, iQiyi and GSX Techedu. Another US investment bank involved in the block trades, which are believed to have wiped $35 billion off affected firms' valuations in just one day, was Morgan Stanley. The investment bank offered two batches of shares worth $4 billion each on Friday. While block trades, when sellers are looking for buyers for large volumes of securities at a price sometimes negotiated privately between the two parties, are a common thing, the scale of Friday's moves raised eyebrows. I suspect something big is about to blow? stock market collapse, all very 1920's in the 2020's isn't it? Someone once said history repeats itself, unless we stop it.

Votes are currently being counted in Alabama to decide whether Amazon warehouse workers will form a union. But last night, a series of anti-union tweets were sent from accounts claiming to be staff. "What bothers me most about unions is there's no ability to opt out of dues," one user under the handle @AmazonFCDarla tweeted, despite a state law in Alabama which prevents this. "Amazon takes great care of me," she added. But then it emerged that these accounts were fake, 'Fake' accounts claiming to be Amazon workers have been praising their working conditions on Twitter. Twitter has now suspended many of the accounts, and Amazon has confirmed at least one is fake. Most of the accounts were made just a few days ago, often with only a few tweets, all related to Amazon. Two things arise from this, A: Amazon clearly haven't got any or enough workers who will support their stance, and B: this is further indication that these powerful companies will use any method to sway public opinion.

Here is more of the blatant racist overtones connected to all news media of how they report things. CNN has been blasted on Twitter for using the term "accident", while describing an attempted carjacking by two black teen girls that led to the death of the victim, an Uber Eats driver. The crime in question happened on Tuesday in Washington, DC and was filmed by an eyewitness. The graphic video shows a scuffle at a car, which then speeds away with the driver clinging to open door. The vehicle is seen crashing at a nearby intersection, turning on its side. The driver can be seen lying motionless several meters away by a fence, while two carjackers climb out of the car and are apprehended. The two girls, aged 13 and 15, were arrested and charged with felony murder and armed carjacking. This is systematic programming ongoing here, two black kids tasing and carjacking is deemed an accident. Now imagine if it was two white kids, the media would report it as follows: Two white supremacists kids from a Trump supporting neighborhood carjacked a defenceless driver and caused the car to crash, it is not ascertained whether they were wearing MAGA hats but they are suspected of doing so. See the difference, observe the difference and counteract this programmed rubbish no matter which color you are.

After a series of delays caused by sanctions imposed by Washington, construction of the controversial Nord Stream 2 gas pipeline will be completed before the end of year, according to the chairman of Russian energy giant Gazprom. Speaking to journalists in Berlin, Viktor Zubkov explained that construction is "90-92%" complete. Zubkov is Russia's former Prime Minister, having served two stints in 2007-2008 and 2012. "This year, unequivocally, it will be finished, it's a pity about the lost time, but that's the way it happened " he stated. His comments come just two days after US Secretary of State Antony Blinken told his German counterpart, Heiko Maas, that Washington would continue to oppose the construction of the pipeline. Berlin has shown no sign of bowing to American pressure. Nord Stream 2 will connect Germany directly to Russia via the Baltic Sea. It is aimed at protecting Berlin's energy security and making the process less reliant on third countries transiting gas, also lowering the price. Much of Europe's energy comes from Russia via Ukraine, and Kiev receives hefty fees for pipeline usage. Its completion has been delayed significantly by resistance from the United States. You want to know why? because the Bush Group was receiving royalties on every barrel through other pipelines including in and out of Russia. They were receiving $1 per barrel of oil that went through all pipelines, Russia cut that deal out and is negotiating other deals without American based harvesting tactics.

Already in trouble with Jordan, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu escalated tensions with his country's closest Arab ally on Friday, by unilaterally rejecting its request to increase water supply to the drought-hit kingdom. Netanyahu's decision – reportedly influenced by a souring of his personal relationship with Jordanian King Abdullah II – went against the security services recommendation, to avoid risking historic water-sharing agreements critical to peace in the region. According to the Haaretz newspaper, Netanyahu did not “respond positively even though professionals in water matters and defense establishment officials recommended acceding to the request.” In accordance with the 1994 peace agreement between the two neighbours, Israel routinely supplies the kingdom with water it pumps out of the Jordan river. There has also been a tacit understanding between the countries that Amman could ask for, and would be granted, additional amounts during dry seasons. The latest request, submitted earlier this month, was discussed last week by a bilateral joint committee. However, as Haaretz reported, "Netanyahu and the National Security Council delayed their answer, in a manner that attested to his intention of denying the request." "Israel routinely supplies the kingdom with water it pumps out of the Jordan river", how nice of them to offer that service, such benevolence and reverence they exhibit, neglecting the fact the water is on Jordanian territory, which funny enough is why it is called the Jordan river. This theft is all because of one book, and it's distorted and twisted lies to suit one group of people and one fake country, and millions of people have died because of, millions of people maimed because of it, and many countries and lands destroyed several because of it. It is a book of death, and we will never attain peace until people reject it in large numbers.

Ever since devices and apps offering full encryption became popular with consumers, governments around the world have attempted to pass laws forcing companies, to break encryption or build backdoors into their products. That way, law enforcement agencies would be able to collect data, including the contents of encrypted phones and chat apps that might be relevant for investigations. Those initiatives remained unsuccessful, and devices and apps that offer end-to-end encryption continue to provide strong protection to users. The Indian government has proposed a different tracking method that doesn't involve breaking the end-to-end encrypted texts. Officials want Facebook to tag each separate WhatsApp message, so that it can be traced back to the original sender in case a crime is committed. More word saladry to get around the system to spy, the CIA and their 5-9 eyes conglomerate break and access encryption all day every day. Why? because the CIA and NSA along with GCHQ created it that way, they only share with the governments details that suits their agendas.

There's a viral campaign for $1,000 custom 'Satan' sneakers. For a mere $1,018, some 666 "lucky" Americans will be able to buy "Satan shoes," a Devil-themed modification of Nike's 1997 Air Max sneakers, on March 29. The air bubble inside will be filled with red ink and "one drop of human blood," Launched in New York by a group called MSCHF and some rapper no one has heard of, which reveals it is a distraction story. It boggles the mind the lengths people will go to, to cause sensation. Anyway Nike have decided it is too much like their shoes and is now suing the company. Which has caused concern amongst purchasers, Joseph Rasch of Tennessee, who paid $1,080 for the trainers, says he is worried the conflict means his money will be lost. No, Mr. Rasch you lost your sanity for purchasing them in the first place, I am sure your children and grandchildren will be so proud of you buying Satanic shoes with human blood in, not!!

New York will soon introduce the Excelsior Pass, a card which proves you have taken a Covid-19 vaccine or have a recent negative test in order to enter events and businesses.

Which means you have achieved the Milgram cattle stamp number. “Similar to a mobile airline boarding pass, individuals will be able to either print out their pass or store it on their smart phones using the Excelsior Pass Wallet app,” the press release announcing the ‘passports’ read. From ze papers please to ze phones please. Businesses and venues will be able to scan a unique code for each passport, and see the Covid-19 history of the person in front of them. Which is a total invasion of privacy. The app will reportedly not show detailed medical history, but rather just a simple message that you are or are not vaccinated, or have or have not been recently tested. On the app it will say I have followed all orders or this person is a radical free thinker and dangerous to society. “An individual’s data is kept secure and confidential at all times,” the news release promises. Haha surely you jest. Madison Square Garden and the Times Union Center are already set to begin using the app in the coming days. On April 2, the app will then expand to smaller venues in the state. Governor Andrew Cuomo, who is facing a number of personal and professional controversies at the moment, celebrated the Excelsior Pass as the first of its kind. I wonder will Cuomo have an app with guilty or not guilty on it? Excelsior means fine wood shavings, used for stuffing, packing, fitting if you ask me, wood shaving for packing people with wooden heads. All this is a copy of the Israeli passport, and whilst some don't like the comment, is it any wonder why some people call New York, Jew York?

Sen. Ted Cruz, R-Texas, said Sunday cartel members are “renting” children in distressed countries in Central America and bringing them to the U.S. border, helping to fuel a humanitarian, health and national security crisis. In an interview Cruz lamented “we are seeing an instance of more and more young males arriving with kids.” “When those kids are DNA tested against those males, many of those males are not related to those kids,” he said. “What the cartels are doing is they understand the weakness and the loopholes in the Biden administration's policies and if a young adult male, possibly a criminal, possibly a gang member, if they want to come into the country, all they have to have is a kid.” According to Cruz, the cartel members are “renting kids, renting babies, renting little children.” “Many of those kids then are physically abused or sexually abused and they are seeing the kids then coming multiple times with multiple different adults,” he charged. “There's nothing humane about what Joe Biden and Kamala Harris are doing at the border,” Cruz added. “They are subjecting kids to horrific abuse. “They're endangering their lives in a pandemic by keeping them locked up in cages right on top of each other and then they're releasing illegal aliens in the United States that are testing positive for COVID at a rate 7 times higher than the U.S. population. This is a humanitarian crisis, it is a health crisis and it's a national security crisis.” It's a pity he didn't mention the rental and abuse of kids related to the DNC. Just as we forecasted would happen and backs up the warning I gave to the Southern Border States of what is taking place there. Those sites of which Biden is going to increase them by another 15K beds, costs the American taxpayers $775 per child per day. You will be intrigued to know these centers are not being ran by health authorities as large portions of them are ran by private contractors, which means the CIA in most cases, one of which it is speculated to be connected to a Life Force assembly.

Weeks after its own truth-finding commission uncovered at least 10,000 victims of clerical sex abuse going back 70 years, senior French bishops have agreed to award lump-sum payments to victims, to take “responsibility.” Citing the need to take responsibility “with regards to the past, the present and the future,” the French Catholic Church on Friday agreed to award an undisclosed amount as “financial contribution” to the thousands of victims of clerical sex abuse. The announcement was made at a video press conference after the annual spring meeting of the French bishops’ conference (CEF) in Lourdes ended Friday evening. Church officials said that they wanted to “recognize its responsibility to society by asking forgiveness for these crimes and shortcomings.” In recent weeks, the need for action had heightened after the Independent Commission on Sexual Abuse in the Church (CIASE) – a Church-funded investigatory body – estimated that French Catholic clergy could have abused at least 10,000 children and other vulnerable individuals since 1950. CIASE president Jean-Marc Sauvé had said at the time that it had already received 6,500 testimonies, concerning as many as 3,000 different victims. He expected the number to rise as more victims came forward, based on the number of calls to a hot-line set up for those who suffered and other witnesses. The Catholic church is an energy harvesting sex cult, that uses followers for their own gain, and it is high time that society in general saw it that way also. These are not messengers of god, they are disciples of death, evil and Satanic worshipping. The pleasing thing is the increase in these types of atrocities being outed now and brought into the light, for too long these demons have hidden in the dark. London’s Metropolitan Police has announced it has opened investigations into alleged sexual abuse cases in British schools, after more than 5,800 incidents were reported to online platform Everyone’s Invited. Officers have been reviewing anonymous testimonies posted on the website, which collected evidence about “misogyny, harassment, abuse and assault” in UK schools. To establish whether any of the victims could be “encouraged” to actually report the crime to law enforcement, the Met Police said in a statement on Friday. The Met added that it had already received some reports on “specific offenses” currently under investigation. Officers also contacted certain schools named in some of the anonymous testimonies to offer support to potential victims. On Friday, the department held some detailed meetings on the issue. The site’s founder told the BBC earlier, that the collected testimonies expose “a rape culture and the scale of violence against young people in the UK.” Rape, harassment sexual and otherwise, violence, drug abuse in our schools? and it takes an online blog to expose it? where are the teachers and headmasters or Principals in these incidents? One has to ask.

California is now making children worship Aztec gods of human sacrifice. Of course, the devil is in the details, such as making elementary school children invoke Aztec gods to empower them as “warriors” for social justice. Among them is the “revolutionary spirit” Huit-zilo-poch-tli, the deity of war and sun – and recipient of thousands of human sacrifices. Modern woke narratives paint the Aztecs as oppressed 'people of color' who fell victim to 'white oppressors' in the form of Spanish conquistadors, papering over inconvenient facts such as that the Aztecs slaughtered other Mesoamerican peoples to make towers of skulls. Ignoring the fact that a lot of those Hispanics from Spain, were actually Sephardic Jews. Four very separate stories and yet all four show the systematic target of abuse against the children. Thankfully more and more of this stuff is being outed, which is a good thing.

THE DISINFORMATION CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE PEOPLE: What an irony of what is playing out in Israel, they are banning people, forcing them into tests and vaccines, and they are expected to become the vaccine epicenter. Green passport is coming from Israel and being promoted in Europe, the people are turning on each other, over being vaccinated or not. The Jewish people that are not complying with the government are being segregated, persecuted and ostracized. The irony is given something myself and Randy Maugan spoke of at length around 5-6 years ago, when we spoke about synthetic people, the vaccine they are pushing is, synthetic.

Facebook, Twitter and Google have been urged by a US lawmaker to ban a dozen people who it is claimed are spreading the vast majority of disinformation about Covid vaccinations. Representative Mike Doyle made the call to remove their accounts during a US congressional session, on how the three firms were dealing with fake news. He challenged Mark Zuckerberg, Jack Dorsey and Sundar Pinchai to deplatform the dozen people immediately. None have responded to the call so far.

Facebook has frozen Venezuelan President Nicolás Maduro's page, after he claimed without evidence that a herbal remedy could cure Covid-19. He claimed without evidence, haha what an oxymoron that statement is coming from the BBC. Funny they said that about hydroxychloroquine and then the WHO backtracked on it. He claimed in January that a thyme herb solution could cure the disease. He will be unable to post for 30 days. The company said the leader had repeatedly violated its policies on corona virus disinformation. Mr Maduro is not the only world leader to face a pushback from social media companies over Covid. US President Donald Trump and Brazil's Jair Bolsonaro have also faced action over Covid posts. The common sense question is, if the criteria for banning is corona virus disinformation, when are they going to ban the media? the politicians? The CDC? The WHO? because every single one of those entities have backtracked in some way or other on their original information, which means they were spouting disinformation.

“Far-Right Extremists Move From ‘Stop the Steal’ to Stop the Vaccine” according to Neil MacFarquhar of the NY Times, trouble is people don't know what the farquhar he is talking about. He is the latest of truth deniers and army of Milgram experiment bots that will do and say anything to protect their masters system, or sell themselves out to get in the "in club" or collect pieces of paper with numbers on. Several references to Trump supporters all being raving lunatics, who believe in conspiracy theories, like vaccines are not safe. Without providing a single shred of evidence to counter the fact, but you see to these people facts don't matter, when an agenda is being pushed, it is what they are paid to do. Morals and what is right matters not to these people, as long as they get their 30 pieces of silver, they sold their souls out for. Mr. MacFarquhar went to great lengths to link these vaccine deniers to extremists group, all of which are now connected to Mr. Trump. Yet, Mr. MacFarquhar is oblivious as to who created those groups, or who funds or promotes them, again why let facts get in the way of an agenda. Article is replete with the latest round of word salad bs'ery called left and right, some are far or leaning, but no one is near or balanced it seems. In came the white supremacy angle, and some will ask why are whites writing against their own people, because A: some of these are not white, they are sub gray acting as whites, and B: people will do anything for fame and wealth. This next paragraph shows their utter desperation to spin the narrative, remember how important it was to listen to the CDC and their statistics, along with John Hopkins maths, well it seems now we shouldn't have been paying attention to CDC stats, as they are not useful in decision making anymore, check this out. "Numerous channels link to the government website called VAERS, for Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System, to energize followers. It had reported 2,216 deaths among people vaccinated for the three months before March 22, with 126 million doses administered. The Covid-19 vaccines in use, like most vaccinations, are considered overwhelmingly safe, but inevitably a small percentage of recipients suffer adverse reactions, some of them severe. The raw, incomplete VAERS statistics are meant for scientists and medical professionals, but are widely used among extremist groups to try to undermine confidence in the vaccine. The deaths have not been directly linked to the vaccinations." Time for some common sense questions again: " The deaths have not been directly linked to the vaccinations" - but all other deaths have been attributed to a disease, with no proof to support it. Why the differences in reporting? If vaccines worked why is the Covid Rates going up? Why are people vaccinated against Covid, actually getting Covid after the vaccination? surely you cannot have it both ways. " The raw, incomplete VAERS statistics are meant for scientists and medical professionals" What a statement that is, suggesting unless you are either of those professions you cannot comment, then please explain why politicians and even worse script readers who pass off as news people can comment on it, yet the average person can't? Please explain if it is only for scientists and medical professionals, why social media and clowns writing in newspapers denigrate people out of those two professions for pointing out facts and the truth, how does that work Mr. I dont give a Farquhar? He then goes onto citing the work of Melissa Ryan of Card Strategies, a company set up in 2019 to combat disinformation. Melissa Ryan ticks all the right boxes for clown level productions. I help people, policymakers, and institutions combat online toxicity and extremism. (AKA trolls, the so-called alt-right, disinformation, and fake news.) The irony for her is, the people who employ her are the trolls, the so called far right, the disinformation and fake news, they are called the CIA. She whilst being "white" also runs headlines against Trump, QAnons who ironically may have been created by the CIA, but that program backfired on them, and White supremacy headlines. But you dig a little below the surface and the bigger picture emerges. In her own words "Previously I was a digital strategist for Democratic campaigns and progressive causes. I worked with influencers and online communities to raise money, mobilize activists, drive online conversations and shape media narratives. My familiarity with this space gives me a unique insight into how trolls and extremists organize. Why? because she is one of them is why. She ran campaigns for Obama, Feingold and other prominent Democrats, which is why she has an adverse opinion on Trump, neglecting the fact that Trump was a Democrat prior to the election, along with snake in law Kushner. Writes articles about white hate and supremacy, with other headlines about white nationalists, far right and Neo Nazis, the archetypical agent for the Milgram experiment people and their control system. The classic race card shame program to drive people away from a narrative, just link or label any group racist, sexist and the milgram bots ran a mile from it. Yet there is an irony in her name when her first and last name are written together, like her website name, is that a coincidence? the last letter of her first name added to the 4 letters of her last name, spells aryan - funny that.

Marianna Spring is a specialist disinformation reporter working for the BBC, proactively countering conspiracy theories and the like on social media and elsewhere. Formerly she worked for the Moscow Times in 2015 and also a reporter for The Local in Paris. This multi linguistic person seems to get about and is suspiciously looking like not a reporter, but an MI6 agent. MI5 & 6 run the Government and media in the UK, so it is not a leap of judgment looking at her previous assignments to suspect her connections to the Intelligence Agencies. She has written numerous pieces on behalf of the establishment, in particular to do with the Covid scam. Is it a coincidence she was a student and wrote for a major Oxford University based paper called the Cherwell, Oxford being were the Astra Zeneca group in tandem with the University came from. Miss Spring having taken a job that denies the public their right to free speech, whilst it allows the government, news media free right to say whatever they please, is an example of the panic the old system now face. Employing no knowledge people to counteract our right to free speech. The news media regularly do and say blatant wrong words, slants and pieces on their shows and publications, remember the recent backtrack by NY Times about fake war stories? Should we the people demand that they be taken off air or their paper shut down? If not, then it applies both ways, or it should, but no the weak and pathetic old system players want everything their own way, like spoiled children. Miss Springs has received large amounts of flak for her reporting, and rightly so as long as people are not nasty or threatening, but I get why people do it, because these people and the system they protect are nasty and threatening to our very freedoms and a life of our own choice. Ms. Springs responded to the abuse by saying, I really love my job and public service is at the heart of my reporting – so I'll put up with this regardless! But social media sites must do more to curb abuse, especially since it risks spilling into the real world. Touche Ms. Springs, just because your too thick to see what is playing out, the abuse is happening globally 100K's of elderly dead because of wrong planning or deliberate actions, so it is already spilling out into the real world you stupid bint. It is because of the likes of you and Melissa Ryan's the global abuse of the people continues, and unlike millions of other people you kept your job and pay.

COVID PART 1: This is an add on to the Expose Part 7 show that reveals a bit more of the shadowy underworld. Biden announced that his Corona virus Task Force would be chaired by former Surgeon General Vivek Murthy, former Food and Drug Administration commissioner David Kessler and Yale University's Dr. Marcella Nunez-Smith. The three chairs would oversee ten other health professionals and experts in their field. In previous investigations we have revealed the ties between the Trump admin's Operation Warp Speed and Big Pharma, DARPA, and the Gates Foundation. These ties made it clear that the Trump admin was very much in partnership, with the likes of Gates Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation, institutions which maintain an exorbitant amount of influence and control on global health policy. An examination of the Biden Corona virus Task Force reveals that, these same institutions will continue to hold sway over the direction of the fight against COVID-19. Connections to the Gates Foundation, Rockefeller Foundation, Council on Foreign Relations, and the CIA. People new to this show will wonder why Bill Gates and the Foundation. The simple fact is, that Gates and his foundation have been able to gain influence and control of global health policies, by funding and partnering with nearly every global organization, involved in health in one fashion or another. This was apparent under Donald Trump's Operation Warp Speed and it is apparent with Biden's Task Force. For starters, at least six members of the 13 member Task Force have worked directly with Gates or the Gates Foundation, while at least 3 others have tangential connections to Gates. Several members also have connections to the Rockefeller Foundation, which is also infamous for shaping international health policy. Let's begin with the tangential connections. These might not be evidence of a strong relationship with the Gates Foundation or other organizations, but they do show the consistent presence of these institutions. We will progress through each task force member and show an increasing amount of worrisome relationships. Dr. Julie Morita is the Executive vice president of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, who helped lead Chicago's Department of Public Health for nearly 20 years, she has participated in events with the Gates Foundation. Dr. Celine Gounder is a clinical assistant professor at the NYU Grossman School of Medicine. While she was on faculty at Johns Hopkins, she was the Director of Delivery at Gates Foundation-funded Consortium to Respond Effectively to the AIDS/TB Epidemic. Gounder is currently a CNN Medical Analyst, and has appeared as an expert guest on CNN, MSNBC, Al Jazeera America, CBS, and the BBC. Ms. Loyce Pace is the Executive director and president of the Global Health Council, who previously served in leadership positions at the American Cancer Society. GHC is supported by the Gates Foundation and gives out the Gates Award, named after Bill Gates. As recently as September 2020, the Gates Foundation gifted $25,000 to the GHC. Dr. Eric Goosby is an infectious disease expert and professor of medicine at the University of California, San Francisco, School of Medicine. During the Clinton administration Goosby was the founding director of the largest federally funded HIV/AIDS program. Goosby was also part of a 25-member commission convened by the Rockefeller Foundation and Boston University, which focused on “how global decision-makers can better use burgeoning data on the wide range of factors influencing people’s health.” In 2012, he participated in a panel with Bill Gates as part of the International AIDS Conference. Goosby has served on the board of directors of the Clinton Foundation since 2013. Michael Osterholm is the Director of the Center for Infectious Disease Research and Policy at the University of Minnesota, and former science envoy for health security for the State Department. He also has connections to the Rockefeller Foundation. Osterholm was involved with the creation of the Rockefeller Foundation’s COVID-19 Testing Action Plan, along with Dr. Zeke Emanuel. In an op-ed in the New York Times, Osterholm described the Rockefeller plan: “Finally, the Rockefeller report calls on states to hire at least 100,000 people to perform the work of testing and contact tracing. This, too, most likely requires federal funding, and has the virtue of doubling as a jobs program during this period of extremely high unemployment.” Classic jackass and John Hopkins maths that, 100K jobs does not replace over the 20M jobs lost you idiot. Dr. Atul Gawande is Professor of surgery at Brigham and Women’s Hospital and at Harvard Medical School. Gawande served as a senior adviser in the Department of Health and Human Services in the Clinton administration. Dr. Gawande appears to maintain a close friendship with Bill Gates, as evidenced by an an interview on CNBC where the two men were interviewed, about their participation in a panel at the World Economic Forum in Davos. The WEF is behind the push for a Great Reset. Gawande also moderated an event at the United Nations featuring Bill Gates and German Chancellor Angela Merkel. Dr. Luciana Borio has served in senior leadership positions at the FDA, including Acting Chief Scientist. Some reports have claimed she “predicted” a pandemic was coming and the U.S. government was unprepared. In 2018, Borio told a symposium that “the threat of pandemic flu is our number-one health security concern.” Borio is also the Vice president of technical staff at In-Q-Tel, the CIA’s venture capital firm, and was formerly a biodefense specialist on the National Security Council. The NSC is well-known as a haven for intelligence agents, and government spokesman who advise the president. The

NSC was also involved in the creation of the Presidential “Disposition Matrix”, otherwise known as the Presidential Kill List. In August 2020, Borio joined the Council on Foreign Relations think tank. Borio was listed as a “stakeholder who participated in the R&D consultations” as part of The Neglected Dimension of Global Security: A Framework to Counter Infectious Disease Crises, a 2016 “consensus study report” funded by the Rockefeller Foundation, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, and the Wellcome Trust, among others. Each of these organizations have been extensively involved in the fight against COVID-19. Borio was involved in another book examining global health threats, which was also funded by the Rockefeller Foundation and Gates Foundation. Frankly, the constant presence of these two organizations is a clear example of how extensively the foundations influence and shape global health policies. We should note that Dr. David Kessler, Dr. Robert Rodriguez, and Dr. Eric Goosby, all have ties to the University of California, San Francisco. It has also been revealed of the UCSF’s role in the COVID-19 response, including working with Google on contact tracing apps and partnering with the Gates Foundation. Dr. Ezekiel Emanuel is an oncologist, and chair of the Department of Medical Ethics and Health Policy at the University of Pennsylvania. He is also the chair of the Department of Bioethics at The Clinical Center of the National Institutes of Health. Emanuel has long been the subject of controversy, as Republicans have sought to connect him to the promotion of the so-called “death panels”, medical boards which ration healthcare and in some cases, decide who receives life-saving care. While most of these claims seem overblown – Emanuel has opposed legalize euthanasia – he also wrote an essay called “Why I Hope To Die When I’m 75.” In the essay he argues that life after 75 is not worth living, and that U.S. health care should not prioritize treatment for those over 75. “Once I have lived to 75, my approach to my health care will completely change. I won’t actively end my life. But I won’t try to prolong it, either,” Emanuel wrote. Dr. “Zeke” Emanuel also sits on the Health Care Advisory Board of the Peterseon Center alongside Bill Gates. Gates also called Emanuel the “godfather of Obamacare” and recommended his book as summer reading. The two men appear to have a working relationship that goes back at least a decade. They have even appeared together on MSNBC. Emanuel has also worked with the Gates founded and funded GAVI Global Vaccine Alliance. In April, Emanuel told MSNBC that COVID-19 would be around for at least 18 months, and that the American public would “not be able to return to normalcy until a vaccine or effective medications.” He acknowledged that the American economy would be hit hard and people would have trouble finding work, but claimed “we have no choice” because without social distancing and masks “deaths could skyrocket into the hundreds of thousands, if not a million.” Additionally, in an op-ed piece to the NY Times he asked, “Why isn’t it mandatory to wear masks in public?” Coincidentally, Dr. Emanuel is also the brother of former Mayor of Chicago and former Chief of State during the Obama administration. Among other things, Rahm Emanuel is infamous for a 2008 interview where he stated, “You never want a serious crisis to go to waste, and what I mean by that is an opportunity to do things that you think you could not do before.”

Rahm Emanuel brought his famous quote back in March while speaking about COVID-19. "Never allow a crisis to go to waste," Emanuel said on ABC This Week. "Start planning for the future. This has to be the last pandemic that creates an economic depression. We're going to have more pandemics, but this has to be the last economic depression." Dr. Rick Bright was recently celebrated as a whistleblower who attempted to hold the Trump administration accountable during the COVID-19 battle. Bright is an immunologist and virologist who was removed as head of the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA) for criticizing Trump's handling of COVID-19. While speaking in front of Congress, Bright stated, "without clear planning and implementation of the steps that I and other experts have outlined, 2020 will be darkest winter in modern history," a phrase which Joe Biden repeating during the Presidential debates and again on Monday. The appointment of Bright to the Corona virus task force and Joe Biden's growing use of the term "Dark Winter" which is a reference to the simulated pandemic before Event 201. The presence of counter-terrorism experts, a Council on Foreign Relations fellow, an In-Q-Tel executive, connections to the Gates Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation are all signs that Joe Biden's Coronavirus Task Force will carry on the trends started under the Trump administration's Operation Warp Speed. A lot of Trump people may not like this piece, but the facts are the facts, and his role in this scam is now increasing by the day. He told you all last week to get the jab, despite knowing it was fake in it's original concept, and as Expose 7 revealed, was a deliberately released bio warfare weapon.

COVID PART 2: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Director Rochelle Walensky went off script at a briefing Monday, and made an emotional plea to Americans not to let up on public health measures amid fears of a fourth wave. What they're saying: "I'm going to reflect on the recurring feeling I have of impending doom," Walensky said, appearing to hold back tears, bad acting more like it, it is all fake. We do not have the luxury of inaction, for the health of our country, we must work together now to prevent a fourth surge. Even though a remarkable 72% of Americans 65 and older have received at least one dose of the vaccine, millions of Americans — particularly younger Americans with underlying conditions — remain vulnerable. See the subtle change of narrative again, particularly the younger Americans, having spent the last 10 months stating their chances of getting Covid was minimal. Walensky born to and graduate of John Hopkins - just saying. As for the 4th wave, that is justify the lockdowns continuing.

Jackass alert: Top US health officials say they're encouraged by the accelerating Covid-19 vaccinations. But not enough Americans are fully vaccinated yet to suppress the spread of the virus, and eased restrictions across the country coupled with spring break crowds could spell trouble, one expert said Wednesday. "What concerns me is the footage of what's happening in spring breakers, in people who are not continuing to implement prevention strategies while we get fully scaled up," US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Director Dr. Rochelle Walensky said during a White House Covid-19 briefing. But I thought they said the young ones were practically immune, yet again a change of narrative.

I must warn people further that this experimental jab, may not be fully felt immediately or even this year. This has the potential to be over a 4-5 year drip effect experiment. If they can do it over 5 years for pregnancies, they can do it in techno jabs. So, people will ask how does it trigger? I suspect the trigger is your mobile phones and or fitbits style gadgets, plus whatever else they release in the near future. Evidence to support this theory is beginning to mount and add up.

The vaccines are voluntary they say, so take your voluntary vaccines, but you will be banned from everything until you voluntarily take our mandatory vaccines.

New song for sheep you can stick your ethylene oxide up your nose, you can stick your ethylene oxide up your nose. Ethylene oxide which is in the PCR tests and also is a known carcinogen. PCR equals probing cranial regions I suspect, that is the central nerve system for the body and affects and effects all parts of our system.

USA deaths by the year. 2009 2.437M Population 306.771M, 2010 2.468M deaths, population 309.347M, 2011 2.515M deaths, population 311.719M, 2012 2.543M deaths, population 314.102M, 2013 2.597M deaths, population 316.427M, 2014 2.626M deaths, population 318.907M, 2015 2.713M deaths, population 321.418M, 2016 2.744M deaths, population 323.071M, 2017 2,813M deaths, population 325.147M, 2018 2.839M deaths, population 327.167M, 2019 2.794M deaths, population 328.239M, 2020 up to 11/22 2.533M, population 330.620M. The average for those 12 years was 2.635M, the 2020 deaths short of 5 weeks data was 2.533M and so unless 103K people died in the last 5 weeks of 2020, the death rate for the year of Covid in America is, actually less than last year with no pandemic. The actual death rate compared to population was steady at 0.8% except 2017 through 2019 it was 0.9%, yet 2020 the year of the pandemic it was back down again to 0.8%. And before any jackasses fiction checker or fake disinformation campaigners talk shit again about conspiracy theories and made up figures, those figures where from your own officially recognized go to body of, the CDC, you know the same group that was elevated by Dr. I dont give a Fauci. oops

May Kravitz, of New York City, thought she was recovering from COVID-19 after experiencing only mild symptoms of the infection for a few weeks in late February. It wasn't long, however, before she began to experience a new, unexpected symptom: persistent eye pain. "I actually cried about something, I was having a conversation with a dear friend of mine and I thought that I was having pain and headache from crying because usually that's what happens," Kravitz told ABC News. Kravitz became ill with COVID-19 around the same time as her friends, and she believes they caught it at the same dinner party. She said that eventually they all began to experience similar eye pain. The pain was severe enough that it prompted her to call Dr. Jeffrey Dello Russo, an optician surgeon in New York City. My eyeballs feel like they're about to explode, and I can't move my eyes up and down onto the sides," said Kravitz. Another new side effect of the jab?

After weeks of decline followed by a steady plateau, corona virus cases are rising again in the United States. Deaths are still decreasing, but the country averaged 61,545 cases last week, 11 percent more than the average two weeks earlier.

Covid cases in the U.S. are rising again, reversing course after months of decline and threatening another setback in the return to normality. The seven-day average of new cases jumped to 57,695 Wednesday, 9.5% above the prior week, marking the biggest increase since Jan. 12, according to Johns Hopkins University data. While that's a fraction of the mid-January peak, the change in direction is worrisome as states fling open their economies, variant cases multiply and the country races to vaccinate as many people as possible to stave off another wave. "We are not out of danger," said Ali Mokdad, a professor of health metrics sciences at the University of Washington's Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation, which produces influential Covid-19 projections. "We're slowing down, and in many places going in the wrong direction." Yet again those two stories reveals, if Covid has increased despite over 100M jabs, then the jabs don't work, and or some clown outfit is continuing to spray the biowarfare weapon over this country. They can't have it both ways.

EXPOSE Extinction Rebellion (XR) is a UK-based resistance movement that promotes direct action to try to prevent climate change and damage to the environment. Although it is explicitly non-violent, the UK police have termed it an "extremist" ideology and have tackled it under the Prevent (Preventing Violent Extremism) programme. A document published by the Guardian in 2020 shows that although acknowledging the movement as non-violent, the UK police have listed Extinction Rebellion as an "extremist" group under the PREVENT (Preventing Violent Extremism) programme. When asked about the document, Counter Terrorism Policing South East stated that "this document was produced at a local level to help our partners to spot the signs of vulnerability to radicalisation. By including Extinction Rebellion in this document, it gives the impression we consider them to be an extremist group, which they are not. We will review the guidance to make this clear." It all sounds so conflicted, on the face of it, it appears to be some new age style Green Peace movement, but actually is an example of faction wars as the next part will reveal. Worldwide groups: The UK group has inspired similar ones worldwide, including in Australia and Denmark. Support for Bolivia regime change: Claire Wordley, a conservation biologist and leading voice in Extinction Rebellion, is based in Berlin, she supported the CIA-planned 2019 coup in Bolivia. Donors: Large donors include the Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors (£120,000), The Children's Investment Fund (£151,562), Climate Emergency Fund (£84,000), Bertha Foundation (£25,000), Centre for Innovation in Voluntary Actions (£10,000), Good Move gGmbH (£20,053), Stichting European Climate Foundation, (£125,300), Furka Holding AG (£50,000). Environment activists my arse, more like groundwork for the elite Agenda 21 or 30 plan to me. There is way too many of these hidden organizations that resembles agency based private contractors groups to me. Vast quantities of our monies is funneled into these shells corporations, but at least they are being exposed now after remaining hidden for so long.

For anyone who has watched Designated Survivor season 1, it will reveal the hidden shenanigans that goes on in the world of politics. A seedy world of backstabbers, egotistical clowns and zero in the way over looking after the people, only serving themselves. It is what was left out of the narrative in that show that reveals the most, and likely who wrote that series, the CIA, barley a mention of them in 21 episodes. One of the most prominent ways to keep high profile in line is, the use of blackmail, and the most common form is the sexual angle. We will delve deeper into some of the tactics used and who is doing it. Sexual blackmail is a standard element of statecraft and organized crime. Individuals over which the deep states seek control, are either induced to voluntarily perform proscribed sexual acts, or rendered insensible through use of drugs and then framed. Scopolamine or substances similar in effect might be used. They then set it up to record whatever act is taking place with secret cameras, and once compromising recordings have been made, they are used to blackmail people, facilitating the covert subversion of public organizations by deep state operatives.

Official narrative: There is little discussion of sexual blackmail in the commercially-controlled media, because they to are under the blackmail threat is why. On the (presumably relatively rare) occasions when sexually compromising material is released featuring public figures, its source tends to go undiscussed, as does the reason for its release. The reason is faction fighting or a sacrificial lamb to protect higher ups. Connections to similar cases are rarely made and the topic of sexual blackmail is rarely if ever placed in context. Coverage instead remains firmly on the smaller picture, i.e. speculations about individuals' sexual proclivities. Revealingly, evidence which in other contexts might be considered actionable is often not deemed sufficient for prosecution, allowing for the story to be quickly dropped once it has had its desired effect. Just like the Epstein story, allegedly he died in August 2019 and yet curiously has never had a funeral, even more curious is, why the media no longer mentions it? Of course in the UK Prince Andrew went under the microscope, but in stepped fake Harry and Megan to provide a convenient and deliberately explosive story of their own, and Prince Andrew is now forgotten.

Research: In 1953 the CIA started Operation Midnight Climax, which covertly filmed unwitting people's sexual encounters with prostitutes, as part of its research into the effects of drugs such as LSD, and into clandestine recording technology. Well that does shock me, I never expected them to be involved in this type of sordid escapades, did that sound a bit too sarcastic? it was meant to.

Modus operandi: The first step in a sexual blackmail operation is to choose the target. These tend to be people with important decision making roles, predominantly male. Surveillance can reveal their sexual orientation, which is factored in when choosing suitable bait. Then the CIA send in their Mk Ultra Monarch agents to engage in whatever they wish to set up, and to bait the target.

Sexual sting operations: Blackmail is the use of compromising recordings is obtained, to control the subjects through threat of exposure. Sibel Edmonds alleged in 2017 that Jan Schakowsky had been set up for this type of blackmail, though she says she has not seen evidence that Schakowsky complied. This is to be distinguished from the obtaining of a recording in order to expose it, for example to induce a resignation, which is more properly described as a sexual sting operation.

Venues: In the past, effective recording required a prepared room equipped with microphones and hidden cameras to ensure reliable depiction of the sexual acts. UK groups had regular venues to carry out such operations, reportedly including Kincora Boys' Home, Elm Guest House and Dolphin Square. US venues are rumored to include Washington's "embassy row" and at least one of Jeffrey Epstein's private islands. Technological developments allow for easier gathering of blackmail material. It should also be known that, the CIA runs most of the top chain hotels in America, and also some motels as well, like Super 8. Kim and I attended a top hotel for a meeting last year, the CIA cleared out the whole hotel to house the meeting for two days. The very few staff were all agents, including the fake tourist photographer trying to take pictures of us, first in the trees until I waved at him, then behind walls and then curtains. Personally I found it amusing, the lengths they go to, but perhaps they need more training in stealth mode.

Drugs and peer pressure: Spooks and diplomats should be well aware of this tactic, as drugs such as alcohol, cocaine, benzodiazepines, aphrodisiacs or scopolamine may be administered to lower self-control and/or impair memory. Peer pressure from compromised individuals is another vital element, for example, who may induce colleagues to drinking with them at social functions.

Coordinated subversion: Where individuals are fully blackmailable, their decisions are controlled by whoever (they believe) holds the evidence of their entrapment. This provides a means whereby they can be induced, to set aside personal animosity and coordinate their efforts. Indeed, a public conflict between individuals (and so, groups) can work as a screen for covert collaboration. It stands to reason that this system of subversion is employed all over the world, and most heavily in western Europe and north America, where the white male is shaping the political processes. Interesting racial line thrown in there, " the white male is shaping the political processes", actually it is the sub gray males shaping the political processes.

Hierarchy: Institutions which vest decision making in a few senior individuals (i.e. hierarchies) are particularly vulnerable to subversion by blackmail, since only a few people need be compromised. Where advancement up the hierarchy is accompanied by increased privileges (e.g. a high salary), the compromised individuals and their compromisers, have a mutual self interest in their advancement up the hierarchy.

Evolution: There are many different taboos surround sexual activity, so various forms may have been used for blackmail since time immemorial. Methods have evolved along with changes in sexual taboos and recording technology. In the modern era, recording devices, particularly cameras have boosted its effectiveness. Copies of these recordings may or may not be given to the victims, and the threat of their exposure may or may not be made explicit.

Homosexuality: Homosexuality used to be taboo and/or illegal in many countries such as UK and USA. This is interesting when combined with the observation that certain institutions, (particularly all male boarding schools) might almost have been designed to promote it. Hmm. Some commentators have commented that various intelligence agencies have had (or still have?) a culture of homosexuality. J. Edgar Hoover, for example is widely suspected of being a homosexual and of having a 40 year 'marriage' to his deputy Clyde Tolson. Spooks are not widely noted for their habitual following of laws, so one explanation for this culture of sexual criminalization might be, the desire to use sexual blackmail to rein in members of these organizations. The legalization of homosexuality rendered obsolete an accumulated stock of recordings of homosexual sex. Later operations instead switched to "sex" with juveniles and/or rape of children. Both of which were largely staged events initially, I refuse to believe most of Congress were pedos when they enter politics, it makes no sense. But the sexual coercion by Intelligence agents, particularly the 5 eyes and high level Mossad operations, makes this practice far more common than it should be. Remember nearly all of the porn industry is ran by elite Jewish owners, it is the perfect trap.

Practitioners: J. Edgar Hoover became notorious for his use of blackmail and a 2012 biography claimed he had the largest collection of pornography in history (at the time, illegal), used in part for self-amusement, and in part for blackmail purposes. Hoover was reported to be "mostly interested in nudes of famous people". The FBI attempted sexual blackmail of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King. During the 1980s, the Franklin child prostitution ring was partly exposed.

Victims: The nature of this tactic makes it hard to assess the number of individuals involved, either as victims or in the business of entrapment. It seems a fair assumption that the majority of those who are entrapped, never reveal publicly that they have been subject to clandestine control. Often, only after people's death, does it emerge that they were being blackmailed.

Exposure: The late Mark Minnie coauthored a book about a paedophile network connected the South African deep state. Many have partially exposed Hollywood/VIPaedophile over the years, including Corey Feldman, Isaac Kappy and Tracy Twyman.

Cultural references: Sibel Edmonds has been subject to various legal structures intended to limit her public disclosure of information. The tactic of sexual blackmail features prominently in the plot of her roman a clef, The Lone Gladio. The seedy shadowy underworld tactics that runs rampant through all Governments, Military and positions of power on all levels. This is the reason why nothing ever changes, due to these clandestine Intelligence Agency operations who by coercion and deceit, practically run every Government on this planet. This is why I came up with a solution to this wide and deep ranging problem last year, for things to progress these tactics have to be exposed and stopped.

The next expose tonight is a peering into a group that spends all day and night peering into our lives, the NSA. The National Security Agency is a notoriously secretive US intelligence agency, nominally responsible for signals intelligence and information assurance. It became infamous in 2013 after the commercially-controlled media, gave prominence to Edward Snowden's revelations about its mass data collection programs. The Washington Post reported in 2018 that it has suffered from poor morale, and lost many of its most capable employees since 2015.

Official Narrative: The NSA promises on its website to "protect national security interests by adhering to the highest standards of behavior". Most people think protect national security interests is related to the country, it's not, it is related to protect the high level corruption that is ongoing in all Intelligence Agencies, as the last article revealed. Their website also states "Your Data: If You Have Nothing to Hide, You Have Nothing to Fear" Touche NSA, never mind hiding behind National Security, it should work both ways given the American people fund your salaries.

Problems: The NSA is so shrouded in secrecy that there is no way to know what it is doing, never mind to check its claim to "adhere to the highest standards of behavior". Yes highest standards of bad behavior by all accounts. For example, in 1964 the US Congress passed by a great majority a bill, giving the Director of the NSA the power to fire at will any employee without due cause, leading the Washington Post to write: "This is the very definition of arbitrariness. It means that an employee could be discharged and disgraced on the basis of, anonymous allegations without the slightest opportunity to defend himself." The NSA appears to be completely controlled by the US deep state. Rather than defending US citizens' data by publicizing flaws found in computer code, for example, it has long been using zero day exploits for its own purposes, and in 2014 was specifically authorized to do so by Barack Obama. The NSA has denied that it was aware of the Heartbleed bug, but other sources report that the agency used it regularly for years, and decided not to warn anyone else that their data was at risk.

Whistleblowers: The agency had several whistleblowers throughout the years, most were harassed for dissent or going public: Kirk Wiebe, William Binney, Mark Klein (working for AT&T), Thomas Drake, Russ Tice and Edward Snowden.

Activities: John Perkins wrote in Confessions Of An Economic Hitman that he was recruited by Einar Greve, NSA liaison. His book was so popular that in 2006 it prompted an official denial by the US State Department, which claimed that Perkins' claim was not credible because "the National Security Agency is a cryptological (codemaking and codebreaking) organization, not an economic organization." Little was known publicly about the NSA's activities at the time of this counterclaim, but subsequently, leaks and whistleblowers have shed more light on them.

"Cyberterrorism": The NSA is probably the most advanced and active group worldwide in the area of cyberterrorism, that is because they are a subsidiary of GCHQ in England. Bruce Schneier observes that "The National Security Agency is lying to us. We know that because data stolen from an NSA server was dumped on the Internet. The agency is hoarding information about security vulnerabilities in the products you use, because it wants to use it to hack others' computers." Exactly, and they do that because, the NSA and CIA invented encryption and installed back doors in all of them. They also created crypto-currency, you know the same currency alt media people are stating to get around the system, yeah right.

Stuxnet: Stuxnet was the first piece of malware proven to be an NSA production. The 2016 film Zero Days quotes an anonymous source that this was developed in concert with Unit 8200, and that if it had not been modified by Unit 8200 and released into Iran in this form, it might have never been detected. Stuxnet was also used by ISIS, which is Israeli Secret Intelligence Service on Fukushima Japan 2011. The 8200 Unit we have covered in the show. 8200 Unit, best known for its cyber offensives against other governments, and is advised by former top and current officials in both Israeli military intelligence and the CIA. The 8200 Unit is an Israeli Intelligence Corps unit responsible for collecting signal intelligence (SIGINT) and code decryption.

Other malware: The NSA created malware, some of which was published by the group Equation Brokers, and was compromising security of a lot of Microsoft Windows users.

"Cyberespionage": The NSA (or perhaps Unit 8200) is reckoned to be the world's leading developer of cyber espionage tools, a realization which has gained traction particularly since the Edward Snowden Affair. Documents released by Snowden have pointed the NSA's close collaboration with GCHQ. In 2015 multiple revelations gave insight on the NSA's cyber terrorism capabilities. In March 2015, Kaspersky Lab revealed details of the EquationDrug cyber espionage platform, which resembles a "mini operating system", due to the use of kernel-mode and user-mode components which interact with each other, via a custom message-passing interface. Over 100 plugins are suspected and the existence of Windows 9X modules suggests that it may well date back to the 1990s. Its connection to the NSA is currently somewhat tenuous - resting on text strings, timezone and filestamp data, though considering the platform's sophistication, no alternative teams of developers have been suggested.

Mass Surveillance: During the cold war, the NSA watch list included anti-war activists and civil rights leaders such as Martin Luther King and Whitney Young, as well as Senator Frank Church. That is because Frank Church exposed Operation Mockingbird done by the CIA is why. "The National Security Agency has for years controversially collected the call records of Americans from cell providers like AT&T and Verizon (which owns TechCrunch), despite the questionable legality."

Technological: The NSA's mass surveillance is facilitated by decades of work for using a variety of techniques, to insert backdoors and other weaknesses into security products and protocols. "I worked with the National Security Agency on the design of a secured version of the internet, but we used classified security technology at the time and I couldn't share that with my colleagues. If I could start over again, I would have introduced a lot more strong authentication and cryptography into the system."

Vint Cerf (7 Apr 2014): Vint Cerf wanted to make internet secure from the start, but secrecy prevented it. In 2004, a division of the NSA called the National Tactical Integration Office fitted a 62-foot diameter airship called the Hover Hammer with an eavesdropping device.

Death of UN-SG Dag Hammarskjöld: Susan Williams' book Who Killed Hammarskjöld? points to the existence of NSA radio intercepts of warplanes in the area in which, UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's plane crashed in Africa, which are still top secret after over 50 years. She suggests that this may be due to involvement in a shootdown by Jan van Risseghem.

Exposure: In 1971, Perry Fellwock, the first NSA whistleblower, stated that "there's a lot of corruption too. Quite a few people in NSA are into illegal activities of one kind or another. It's taken to be one of the fringe benefits of the job. You know, enhancing your pocketbook, practically everybody is into some kind of smuggling". Like I said earlier that is why they have the National Security act to protect them, not us.

Cancelled investigation by US DOJ: The US DOJ spent a over year looking at the possibility of indicting the NSA, after it was revealed that Richard Nixon had instructed the agency to spy on anti-war protestors. They concluded that such a prosecution would result in too many secrets being revealed in court, yes, they cited the National Security Act on that so as to not reveal any evidence. So they created FISA in an effort to prevent future US presidents from using the NSA for domestic political purposes. James Bamford states that this was ineffective because of the ease of subversion of the FISA process.

Edward Snowden Affair: Former NSA contractor Edward Snowden collected a series of documents which revealed wholesale, illegal, data collection by the NSA. Shunning anonymity, stating that he had done nothing wrong, but was acting in the interests of the US people and the NSA, Snowden began to release a long series of tranches of the documents through the commercially-controlled media. The NSA claimed on 2014-01-10 that they could not legally inform congress whether they were collecting data on them, since to do so would violate the law, yet again using the National Security Act to cover up. In February 2014, after legal challenges to their data collection program, the NSA suggested that it might be legally obligated to expand the data collection program, to avoid potential charges of destroying evidence.

Mass Surveillance: Following James Clapper's flat out lie to the US Congress about data collection, key NSA personnel have repeatedly lied about its mass surveillance programmes. First by denying their existence, and later by making wildly exaggerated claims about the effectiveness of such data collection in preventing "terrorism". In 2014, it was revealed that the NSA collects nearly all the telephone calls made in the Bahamas and Afghanistan.

Brian Patrick O'Callaghan: On Feb 16, 2014, a 36 year old, Brian Patrick O'Callaghan, chief of the NSA's Korea division - whose attorney also said he was involved in the high profile rescue of US Army POW Jessica Lynch - was charged with first degree murder and child abuse. Relationship with other intelligence agencies

GCHQ: The NSA has long had particularly close links with its British counterpart, GCHQ. In the early 1980s it was suggested that "the relationship between NSA and GCHQ is stronger than any between the NSA and any other American intelligence agency." This relationship does not prevent the NSA spying on the UK. They spy on each others countries to get around the country laws, is how it works. According to Howard Teicher, the former Middle East director of the US National Security Council, the NSA monitored Britain's Al-Yamamah arms deal with Saudi Arabia from its base at Menwith Hill in Yorkshire.

Japan: Japan allowed NSA to maintain at least three bases on its territory, and contributed more than half a billion dollars to help finance the NSA's facilities and operations. In return, NSA has kitted out Japanese spies with powerful surveillance tools and shared intelligence with them, although continuing to spy on Japanese officials itself.

There you have it, another deep dive and show of revealings of the hidden world, and some may feel things are getting worse, they are not, they are getting better, because now we know and now we are exposing their seedy games. This is called bringing it into the light, and if many start shining the light, the dark cannot handle too much light remember. We are just over a year now into the Day of the Svarog, a period of space the allows the light to see better the dance of the dark, expose them and remove them and their programs. A number of issues has evolved within State and Country groups, including one ongoing it seems. It matters not which group but I see patterns and the repeat pattern for the last 3 issues and some before is, one or two members make allegations or slander me. This is an observation test of how we react to things, and old programs runs deep of covering up errors made. What follows is not an adult based questioning of the allegations or why they were made, but a silence. But then 1 or more come to me with concerns and or in support of me, I address the issues to the group, and lo and behold the ones who supported me, not the people making rogue allegations are removed. The focus shifted from the person making bogus allegations to who is the leaker in the group. It is the classic sleight of hand, where the focus of wrong doing or errors of judgement is led away from a person or group, once that doesn't work, people look for a scapegoat for their own errors or wrongdoings. It will keep happen again, as the core issue was not addressed, until the group runs out of scapegoats. The old program made people terrified of making a mistake, so they end up doing nothing and seek the savior programs, we have to break that barrier down, it's ok to make a mistake, what's not ok is to cover up that mistake which then leads to several other choices none of which turn out right, why? because the original error was not corrected. The simplest and least energy used is to put your hand up and say, I made a mistake, just 4 words and yet why is it so difficult for so many people to do? Because people did question or support on my behalf, they are now removed from those group, is that really the best humanity has to offer in the way of solutions going forward? Attacking the whistleblower is a common theme in Alt Media, and not the actual information. Attacking the people who do the right thing, is not how humanity will move forward either. We have to learn to THInk differently, as the issues that followed the pattern was always replicated, with the same result, and the wrong result. We all make mistakes, but you never fix a mistake, by making another mistake to cover up the first one, it is a slippery slope. Something I am asking all members to think about, too often we get into the emotional attachment of the incident, and the desire to cover up that persons error, and it leads to more errors covering up the one error of judgement. Recently we have added a number of former Team Bubba members, they made a mistake and held their hands up, and I allowed them back in the group, because that is the adult way to address things. The issue is we must learn to nip issues in the bud at the first source, not spin wheels and narrative due to an oversight, because that is how your own life gets messed up or filled with pointless circular arguments and distractions. And we have to get away from attacking the whistleblower and dealing with who was the real problem. This is nothing to do with the individuals involved, this is an old program issue we all must address ourselves, it is part of the shadow/inner work. Something we all need to ponder on, deeply. We have to learn to protect each other and look after each other, and deal with those who wish to attack us as one.
