

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2021-08-05

Update on the village a sixth committed to land purchase contract by THI members has been done this week, as momentum on that project grows. Another member is moving to the town this week with a view to also joining the village maybe early next year, so that will be 7 groups of THI people in the town. I will be meeting more members soon at the village with the desire to move, and two other members are selling their homes and then moving to the village as well.

Right this to the shy, reticent and fear based members who have yet to step forward for the TPC Video Time to put yourself on a path of change of the self, and join in the TPC promo video presentation and make us all proud. It is not a professional glossy cheesy video, it will be done by grass roots people who are not professionals. I want to see some hands to add to the 9 members who have stepped up and requesting you join and fill in the time slots on a topic of your own choice. Remember we are ALL leaders, and to do that, ALL must step forward at key times. The fear and change piece at the end of Tuesday's show should be a reminder. Contact the TPC video group in the communal gatherings and ask for the details.

As Florida rebukes Biden and the Covid scam, many countries around the world now are dismissing it as a scandemic. A victory in a Canadian court proving that the Covid was a scam is another example I am hearing. A raft of lawsuits is being pursued which is a double edged sword, as yes it highlights things, but remember most of the lawyers are the shekel people, remember the saying we make money off both sides, which is why I don't particularly approve of it, and would sooner people formed their own court adjudication system under The Peoples Club banner, by all common or natural law groups joining as one. In Africa the Ghanaian President who read out a portion of our Expose show and informed many other African leaders of this was a planned event, the tide is now turning back on the clowns running this program on people. It was all about the shekels again, and the sooner the people realize that we can finally take steps to owning our own world in a shared and cooperative way.

Last week I covered a very sensitive subject with the revealing of female mistrust of each other, the fight to the death program, and the competitive and comparative streak that is plaguing all females in some form or other. It has been well received for both genders, but don't think males have gotten away with it also, as that comes later and will require female input into correcting the main issue for males is, the feminization of us. I attended the self help group and added more pointers to it and was well received and all were willing to work on themselves, not in comparison to others, and then help and or support others in their journey of unprogramming. If masks work, how did the Delta variant happen? In reality land the Delta variant increasing death, infection and harm numbers are a cover for the vaccine deaths. The vaccine deaths are the Delta variant.

NEWS Trade groups representing property owners late Wednesday sued to block a new federal eviction moratorium that President Joe Biden himself warned this week was on shaky legal ground. The Alabama and Georgia chapters of the National Association of Realtors filed a motion in federal court to vacate the ban that the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention ordered Tuesday. The same groups led a legal challenge against the prior federal eviction moratorium that expired Saturday, a lawsuit that prompted the Supreme Court to cast doubt on the CDC's authority. The real estate groups which have warned that their members are facing substantial financial losses from the moratorium, said in a legal filing that the CDC caved to a tidal wave of political pressure from outraged Democrats when it revived the eviction ban, despite clear warnings from judges who said the agency lacked the power to enforce it. The CDC appears to have acted in bad faith, the groups said. People have to ask why is the private corporation known as the CDC acting like a Government policy maker? The new legal challenge will fuel further chaos around the federal government's safety net for renters still struggling to pay bills during the pandemic. It will likely set off a race against time for policymakers to find ways to accelerate the release of $46.5 billion in rental aid, which was designed to backstop renters and make landlords whole but has faced severe state and local bottlenecks. When do people notice yet again that the bills for the people, take months or years to complete, yet aid to is ra el and corpirate bills are passed without debate?

Yet more evidence of the anti white rhetoric from the Hebrew Annunaki puppet leaders. The U.S. District Court for the Western District of Tennessee denied the Biden administration's request to stop a farmer's lawsuit against the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) loan forgiveness program based on race. The USDA filed a motion to place a hold on the legal proceedings, but the court determined that the burden to do so had not been met by the government. The Southeastern Legal Foundation (SLF) and Mountain States Legal Foundation (MSLF) are representing Rob Holman, a white farmer from Union City, Tenn., in his case against the USDA, which is only forgiving loans of farmers who are Hawaiian/Pacific Islanders, Hispanic, American Indian, black, or Native Alaskan. Holman's family has farmed his land for generations, and he had farm loans with the USDA that were ineligible for forgiveness because of his race, according to SLF. I do believe the loan forgiveness maybe part of the real NESARA program, that was only to do with farmers, not a countrywide hand out posited by CIA based alt media agents.

Amazon has predicted slower sales growth in the third quarter as a boost from the Covid pandemic subsides. Customers turned to Amazon and other online platforms during the Covid crisis, leading to record profits for the US giant. But Amazon's breakneck growth is beginning to level as customers start to return to bricks and mortar shops. Revenue climbed 27% to £113bn (£80bn) in its second quarter, but this missed analyst expectations. Amazon shares fell 5% in after-hours trade. Earlier in the Covid pandemic Amazon posted record profits, signed up more than 200 million customers to its Prime service, and recruited more than 500,000 workers to keep up with surging demand. But vaccine rollouts and easing of restrictions have led some consumers to venture out to stores, while also using click-and-collect services, in competition with the speedy delivery of online orders provided by Amazon and its peers. The sooner more people boycott this group the better for us all.

YouTube has barred Sky News Australia from uploading new content for a week, saying it had breached rules on spreading Covid-19 misinformation. It issued a "strike" under its three-strike policy, the last of which means permanent removal. YouTube did not point to specific items but said it opposed material that "could cause real-world harm". The TV channel's digital editor said the decision was a disturbing attack on the ability to think freely. Sky News Australia is owned by a subsidiary of Rupert Murdoch's News Corp and has 1.85 million YouTube subscribers. The ban could affect its revenue stream from Google. Smacks of faction fighting that for me, what child like behavior they exhibit.

A prominent Chinese billionaire has been sentenced to 18 years in prison, the latest in a string of punishments against outspoken corporate bosses. Sun Dawu runs one of the country's largest private agricultural businesses in the northern province of Hebei. Sun, 67, has in the past spoken out about human rights and politically sensitive topics. He was found guilty of picking quarrels and provoking trouble - a charge often used against activists. Picking quarrels and provoking trouble, which is basically just questioning things, is now determined in China as a jailable offense, deary me. Other charges against him include illegally occupying farmland, assembling a crowd to attack state agencies and obstructing government workers from performing their duties. He was also fined 3.11 million yuan ($478,697; £343,227). Sun's company is among China's biggest, with businesses ranging from meat processing and pet food to schools and hospitals. He was reportedly detained last year, along with 20 relatives and business associates, over a land dispute with a government-run farm. At the time, he said dozens of his employees were injured in an incident with police related to the dispute, according to an AFP report. Sun is said to be close to some prominent Chinese political dissidents and has in the past criticized the government's rural policies. He was one of the few people to openly accuse the government of covering up an African swine flu outbreak, which affected his farms in 2019, and later devastated much of the country's industry. He also was sentenced to prison in 2003, for illegal fundraising but the case was overturned after an outpouring of support from activists and the public. Sun reportedly denied many of the accusations against him in a pre-trial hearing, describing himself as an outstanding Communist party member. He did however reportedly admit to making mistakes, including posting messages online. "The way they're investigating me now is making those close to us suffer and those who hate us rejoice. I wish to take the charges upon myself, even if they're severe, in exchange for the release of others. We are people who have made contributions to society," he said. China has been cracking down on businesses and entrepreneurs in the country. Major technology companies including Alibaba, Didi and Tencent are being investigated for a range of regulatory issues. Nice to hear of a wealthy person speaking out against the system, but ultimately he paid a price for telling the truth, which is why more need to stand up for the truth.

A former US Roman Catholic cardinal has been charged with the sexual assault of a 16-year-old in the 1970s. Theodore McCarrick, who was defrocked by Pope Francis after an abuse inquiry in 2019, now faces indecent assault and battery charges in Massachusetts. He is the highest-ranking US Catholic official to face criminal sex abuse charges, the victim's attorney says. The former Washington DC archbishop has previously said he had "no recollection" of any alleged abuse. In the new lawsuit, Mr McCarrick is accused of groping and abusing the boy, who has not been named, for years. The man alleging the abuse told investigators that Mr McCarrick had been a family friend. He claimed one alleged incident took place during his brother's wedding reception at Wellesley College in Massachusetts in 1974. The victim said Mr McCarrick led him into a room and fondled him. Following the incident, the priest allegedly told the man to recite prayers to be redeemed of his "sins". In 2019, Mr McCarrick was defrocked after an investigation into decades of sexual abuse allegations against him. He became the most senior Catholic figure to be dismissed from the priesthood in modern times. The Vatican's 450-page report included testimonies and dozens of letters and transcripts from Vatican and US church archives. The report found that the late Pope John Paul II was told of Mr McCarrick's abuses, but chose to believe American bishops who instead concealed the information. Mr McCarrick was also accused of assaulting a teenager in New York in the early 1970s and forcing men to sleep with him at a beach house in New Jersey while they studied for the priesthood. He is among hundreds of members of the clergy accused of sexually abusing children over several decades. Mr McCarrick is expected to appear in court in Massachusetts next month. These people are sick and clearly now this is not isolated incidents but endemic to this Catholic cult, the sooner that church, its fake religion and pedophiles are shut down forever, the better humanity will be.

There are 42 million survivors of child sexual abuse in America. 3 million are children, which would fill 46 national football stadiums. 1 in 4 girls and 1 in 6 boys have been sexually abused before 18th birthday, 90% of children are sexually abused by someone they know and trust. There are over 747,000 registered sex offenders in America. Erin's law introduced in the States as been passed in 37 states with 11 more being introduced as of last year. The more it is publicised the less energy can be drawn from it, the hidden war fight goes on, the war for a free and un-abused children should live on within us all.

Just because it didn't happen to you or children, does not give you the right to ignore the plight of others.

A years long investigation by the Department of Justice (DOJ) inspector general revealed that numerous FBI employees had substantial media contacts prior to the 2016 presidential election, but it could not determine who leaked sensitive information to reporters. The 10-page report issued Thursday by Inspector General Michael Horowitz said that while FBI policies strictly limit the employees who are authorized to speak to the media, those rules "appeared to be widely ignored" in 2016. Yeah right and you expect us to believe that, I can tell you here and now who did it, Langley agents. Installed an running the FBI since 1950's. What this judgment shows the rest of the world is how incompetent the FBI is. You either tell the truth and show your competence, or lie and show your incompetence, you chose the latter.

Here is a letter written by Anna Von Reitz with regards to banking issues, which curiously these days the head banker of the world appears to neglect these days. Notice of Prior Established Default and Liability: This is Notice to the Bank of International Settlements, headquartered in Basel, Switzerland, it's Trustees, Board Members, Settlor, Assigns, and Accounts: you have previously been given Due Process and Notice and have been addressed both directly and via Agents to Principals regarding the liabilities you have promoted and accepted. It has come to our attention that you have once again changed the date for Basel III Compliance, and that this is creating a worldwide banking panic which is unnecessary and which will predictably result in chaos, economic losses, and massive loss of life for no sane reason. This is to remind you that you are already in cured Default, and that continued mismanagement and malevolent behavior will only increase your overall liability and the liability of all your partners, subsidiaries, franchises and agents. We must also remind you that any further breach of trust is a breach of fiduciary duty, which carries a penalty of 800 X the damages which are already published and set at $1,000,000,000.00 per life lost or maimed. You will return to the original agreed upon compliance date of January of 2023, or you will bear the additional fines, fees, and penalties, which will result in systemic liquidation of all member banks, plus civil and criminal prosecution in international courts. This liability is pre-established, cured, and non-negotiable. Job creation at private companies tumbled in July as fears mounted over the spreading Covid-19 delta variant, payroll processing firm ADP reported Wednesday. Employers added 330,000 positions for the month, a sharp deceleration from the downwardly revised 680,000 in June. It's also well below the 653,000 Dow Jones estimate. June's final total fell from the initial estimate of 692,000. As I warned 16 months ago, it will never return to what it was before the lockdown.

Chinese President Xi Jinping called on China's military leadership to strengthen its solidarity with the Communist Party, as he warned of potential armed conflict and security concerns at the country's border with Afghanistan. Xi on Friday said China should be prepared for military struggle, as the United States is set to withdraw from Afghanistan by September 11 of this year. Xi made the remarks about strengthening the country's military prowess ahead of the 94th anniversary of the People's Liberation Army (PLA) formation. Beijing officials have for months expressed concerns that the U.S. withdrawal from Afghanistan, is stirring up a Taliban resurgence and inviting regional instability. Xi and Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi this week said the U.S. pullout could provide Uyghur separatists with a base of terror operations in which they could conduct attacks against the CCP in the Western region of Xinjiang. And on China's eastern borders, British and American naval warships have stepped up their presence in the South China Sea and challenged Beijing's claim to the international trade waters. We must persist in strengthening the overall planning of war and make preparations for military struggle, the Chinese president added. Yet again the lead countries of the world continue to bang war drums around the world, based on child like rhetoric and their own agents creating unrest for financial gains. It is time the people themselves took charge in matters more, as I am certain we could do far better than military goons and jackass politicians.

President Biden's nominee to head the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) failed to disclose to the Senate a media appearance on Chinese state TV, which may have been used as propaganda by the communist state to cover up a mass stabbing of children. Biden's ATF nominee David Chipman appeared on a Chinese state-run media network, China Global Television Network (CGTN), previously known as CCTN, in December 2012 to discuss the government's response to the Sandy Hook Elementary School massacre, one of the deadliest shootings in U.S. history that killed 28 people and injured two. CGTN, which reaches 30 million households within the U.S., "is an arm of China's propaganda machine. It is controlled by the Communist Party and serves as part of what Mr. Xi has called Beijing's publicity front as described by the New York Times. In 2019, the Department of Justice (DOJ) required CGTN to register as a foreign agent under the Foreign Agents Registration Act, or FARA. Following the typical line of Democrats involving with the Chinese CPC, Feinstein, Pelosi, Kushner who was a Democrat prior to the Trump administration and many others, Chipman is the latest. Chipman studied at Johns Hopkins - check, worked for the fake Senator shooting Gabi Giffords to eliminate the public's right to bear arms - check,

Secretary of Defense Lloyd Austin is expected Friday to announce a mandatory vaccine policy for all active-duty forces in the U.S. military, Fox News has confirmed. The directive that all 1.3 million service members will be required to get shots in their arms comes just days after President Biden urged all federal employees to get vaccinated. In a speech last week, Biden said he was directing the Defense Department to examine how to make the COVID-19 vaccine mandatory. The Department of Justice was also asked by the president to look into the legality of mandating for the military a vaccine that has yet to be approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Take out the care workers, take out the hospital staff, take out the Military so the public have nothing left to defend or care for themselves? is the great question. All Military people need to quit en masse, show some real toughness and backbone and quit with the excuses of I am following orders, f the orders of psychopaths and perform your duty to serve and protect not the country, but the people. Enough of hiding behind people with badges of dishonor, your life and your families lives are on the line, act now and walk away, the public will support you.

A group out of Portugal called tamera.org that are doing similar to the TPC with a logo We work for a global system change, from war to peace, from exploitation to cooperation, from fear to trust. Research into holistic practices, freeing love and sexuality from fear, building social structures that help us move from fear to trust, and children learning and growing up in trust. Spirituality, Art and Healings, Ecology and cooperation with all beings, energy technology and more. All good stuff except perhaps the founder needs to rethink how this all unfolded and was implemented with this comment. There is the world that we create, and there is the world that has created us. These two worlds must come together, this is the goal of our journey. No their world that think they created us had to and has collapsed, we build a world of our own new creation.

Many times in our shows we have covered the atrocities, evil of those connected to the fake country known as Is ra el, but unlike other shows we have distinguished the difference between the average Jewish person and these Jewish holocaust running and shekel grabbing el-ites. The Jewish people are victims in all of this, blinded by the fake books the Torah and Talmud and I'm pleased to hear many are ditching their books of mind control. So this is a good news story out of Israel and an Israeli person. Israeli kindergarten teacher and mother-of-three Idit Harel Segal wanted to do something meaningful for her 50th birthday. Rather than receiving a present, she chose to give one. In memory of her late grandfather, Segal decided to donate a kidney. The life-saving gift Segal offered not only aligns with her Jewish faith, but was her way of extending an olive branch as well, because the kidney recipient was a 3-year-old Palestinian boy from the Gaza Strip. Although there are strict restrictions in place limiting the number of entry permits, the Jerusalem-based, nongovernmental organization Matnat Chaim was able to arrange for the surgical procedure on humanitarian grounds. To move the little boy to the head of the donor list in Gaza, his father also agreed to donate a kidney to an Israeli patient, a 25-year-old mother of two. With all the pieces in place, the surgery was scheduled for June 16, 2021, but before it took place, Segal wanted to make sure the little boy would know just how much giving this particular gift meant to her when he grew older, so she sent him a letter. You don't know me, you don't understand my language and I don't understand yours, but soon we'll be very close because my kidney will be in your body, she wrote. I hope with all my heart that this surgery will succeed and you will live a long and healthy and meaningful life. A refreshing caring and sharing story and this is what all people need to do is, learn to care and share more in all aspects of life. That way all people gain a common connection and trust, that has been eroded by the old control system. Without wishing in any way to discredit that story, I found it interesting her name in capital letters Idit Harel Segal is IHS, which is on the religious plates, pictures and texts and said to be related to Jesus, except IHS is actually Isis Horus and Set, perhaps that gives people a pointer to the entity known as Jesus?

You have to give the BBC credit this week for trying to play the mirrored deflect card, as they desperately fail to see their own irony in their postings. With 15m people in England alone living with a long-term condition, and numbers rising, it's no surprise the chronically ill community has exploded online in the last few years. Celebrities like Lady Gaga, Selena Gomez and Lena Dunham are opening up about their conditions, no they are not, they are playing attention seeking whores as that is their modus operandi, energy vampires. But chronic illness influencers are attracting huge social media followings. But as visibility has grown, so have accusations of fakery. A new BBC documentary, Sickness & Lies, explores whether the accusers are right, are some influencers faking illnesses for fame, money and attention? Journalist Octavia Woodward, who is disabled herself, meets both accusers and their targets, and discovers a new condition, Munchausens by Internet, describing people who fake illnesses online - with sometimes fatal results. Given the BBC has covered actors acting sick in hospitals several times over the past 16 months, pretending to be dire ill and have Covid, it is ironic they do this piece now. Perhaps there should be a new disease called Munchausens by the MSM.

Tuesday's show kicked up and in many emotions, triggers and the odd head exploding variety. It reveals much more on a deeper level and when you are ready you will get more and more out of that show. Odd comments and an occasional cryptic reference are not designed to trick you, it is for the benefit of those who have learned and understood more, they will get it. But the ideology behind my show is, we all learn together no matter what levels of learning you are all at, and so the cryptic and odd comments are for those that have got the message more, eventually all will catch up to it. Who would have thought geometric shapes, time, space, celestial objects, egg timers, frequency waves, genetic seeding, strange dreams and event, 2 Dimensional aspects and viewing, organic and inorganic, word magic, disappearing Earth's, humanity reSET's and patterns repeating would generate such an interesting show? To the majority of people those topics in and of themselves are avoided like the plague, classed as uninteresting and not essential, but put them in a context that does interest people, then the learning unfolds and you forget the individual uninteresting categories. This is how our charter school teaching should be, find the common interest and the children will learn subjects that they would normally avoid. As you can "see" again, it is all about the repeating patterns, which is a common meme for this show, and many of the memes now have much more importance than when first told. You will "see", two worlds, find the patterns, PANIC people are now in control, Hebrew Annunaki, Clowns and many more are now all making much more sense to you all. That is a positive for you all to recognize, of how far you have all come, and now I see many of you connecting your own dots, making connections between the various old world controllers and much more. We too often mention stuff we haven't or can't do, not what we can do or have done, what we lost and not what we gained. That is a change of mindset we must all master going forward, it is essential for the development of the new world and way, cast out the limitations and negative aspects, and celebrate you and your positive aspects and actions. It is ok you know to praise the self, it has an effect internally, far more than any external gratifications you receive, most of which are not genuine or as intended.

I just mentioned the word clowns a now common meme in THI that has spread in some way through the alt media. The obvious reason for calling the failed controllers and elites clown is, it is a demeaning and amusing way of calling those types of people, or not people out. But there is another reason behind that term, and some are thinking oh no here he goes again, he is ruining the clowns now, he ruined everything we thought was sacred. Well, the clowns needed to be labelled in such a way and needed ruining, for they are a program in the aptly named spellcast and binding term called the 3 ring circus. Clowns often turn up to family celebrations and also it is the symbol of McDonalds and their aptly but disgustingly named kiddies meals, after the FRWL plus 7 show you have come to understand how they put it all in our faces, for their own amusement. To those new here is what the Jewish el-ites do in McDonalds. There is pounds and pounds of meat that we grind up in a sausage and a hamburger, and that's why we make those the most popular things. Sausage for breakfast and a hamburger for lunch, and so all the goyim out there are eating their children. Now you understand the real meaning of kids meals. The name of the clown at McDonald's is Ronald, but Ronald has a hidden meaning, it means to rule with counsel. Counsel means private, guarded thoughts or opinions, not no more they are not. To some children they will like the clown, but many others are terrified, which then separates those children out from the non frightened children, and they can become a lifetime target. Why? well it is two fold, the children terrified are because they have visited the circus realm in dream time, the authorities then know who can travel or not, this then allows them to target certain children and generate more fear, and harvest the energy. It is dream time adrenochrome in essence. For those that don't know, there is many realms to visit on your nightly travels, depending on your level of soul development. The first two realms is the wolf realm and then the circus realm. The circus all brightly colored to attract the children, and once in there it becomes a nightmare, of scary clowns, hall of mirrors which is a maze and trap you ended up going round and round in circles trying to escape, ghost trains in the dark, some may see animals but they are not our variety of animals. On a side note advertisers have worked out they sell more items if the packaging is brightly colored, which in overview the brightly colored packages were designed for children, that maybe indicative of where many of our species are at. The clowns played a key role in the circus realm, and that is why many children are terrified of them. I said played as I understand and in one case know, the wolf and circus realm collapsed around 3/4 years ago, and so that adrelin and fear based program will no longer plague our children. Have they told us about this program before and we missed it? yes, it was in the Steven Spielberg (Jewish el-ite) and not a cohen cidence series, the series was called Taken. It was all about children and adults being taken by ET's, but the precursor to the abduction was a circus van and a clown driver who came to collect the children. All in your face and yet so much of it is missed by many people, whilst they sit in offices laughing at us hysterically after each revealing was not grasped by the public. But, that is now changing with many shows now, and we are decoding their hidden messages, scripts, language and hand signs. Like the circus realm went, that will be their ultimate fate, and will wipe the arrogant smile off of their faces. He who laughs last, laughs the longest.

COVID: As a new CDC report now reveals that only 6% of deaths are actually Covid related, then it becomes clear the recent deaths are purely down to the vaccines. Hospitals were given a 20% bonus from Medicare to announce deaths as Covid related, one wonders are they getting a 20% bonus now to not announce deaths caused by the vaccine. All hospitals who took part in this should automatically fire all CEO's, management and shareholders involved in this scam, and charged them with manslaughter of the many that have died due to non essential treatments being canceled.

UK data up to August 2nd, 1517 deaths and 1.1M adverse reactions, America and Europe up to the end of July. America 10,991 deaths and 2.132M adverse reactions, Europe 18928 deaths and 1.8M adverse reactions all of those figures are due to the vaccines, not the fake virus. I suspect and know those death figures are much higher, it is Johns Hopkins math in reverse time now you see. I said a few months back there would be a tipping point in terms of the figures, of how they would have to reverse the death and illness figures to justify the vaccine is working, and so down went the figures, but out came the figures being not reported or blocked. Soon they will have to switch again as the public are working their stuff out, so they rolled out the Delta variant. Delta is the Greek numerical system, which is used as a marker for stars in other solar systems, maybe that is indicative? Next up is Epsilon, of which they have already started to seed into the public. For example, California's homegrown epsilon variant was the primary strain, making up 50.2% of cases sequenced in March, 59.1% in February and 49.3% in January. — Kellie Hwang, San Francisco Chronicle, 4 July 2021 There are three variants of interest -- epsilon, zeta and theta -- were reclassified in early July as alerts. — Jason Gale, Fortune, 8 July 2021. California's homegrown epsilon, what an interesting comment that is.

The CDC owns the patent for the corona virus that is transmitted to humans, also, a patent for a System & Method to test for COVID-19 was filed in 2015, as corroborated here, and COVID-19 test kits were being shipped around the world in 2018. Yet the CDC also buys and resells injections at a markup, about $4.6 Billion worth every year, and owns over 20 vaccine patents according to Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and is listed on Dun & Bradstreet. Dr. Anthony Fauci, who leads the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), and personally owns 1000 patents, has not said a word about preventative measures that naturally boost one's immune system. Bill Gates is also on record pushing for vaccine passports. Parenthetically, various domain names for "vaccine passport" were filed in 2016 by an entity in Milan, Italy. A vaccine passport would discriminate against these people as they attempt to go about their lives, in violation of The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. Section 12101)

In yet another unexpected and unwelcome twist in the nation's pandemic, fully immunized people with so-called breakthrough infections of the Delta variant may spread the virus to others just as easily as unvaccinated people, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said in a report published on Friday. That's because the techno jab is the Delta variant. An internal agency document, which was obtained on Thursday night by The New York Times, raised even more harrowing questions about the virus and its trajectory. Taken together, the data gathered by the C.D.C. throw into question the country's plans to return to offices and schools this fall, and revive difficult questions about masking, testing and other precautions that Americans had hoped were behind them. I can guarantee before summer is out lockdowns will return, with a promise of ending over Xmas, before the dark winter takes hold.

A sobering scientific analysis published Friday of an explosive Massachusetts covid-19 outbreak fueled by the delta variant found that three-quarters of the people who became infected were fully vaccinated. The report, from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, is one key piece of a growing body of evidence that bolsters the hypothesis that vaccinated people can spread the more transmissible variant, and may be a factor in the summer surge of infections. The data, detailed in the CDC's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, provided key evidence that convinced agency scientists to reverse recommendations on mask-wearing, and advise that vaccinated individuals wear masks in indoor public settings in some circumstances. Critically, the study found that vaccinated individuals carried as much virus in their noses as unvaccinated individuals, and that vaccinated people could spread the virus to each other. You know why that is? the PCR test. The CDC was criticized this week for changing its mask guidance without publicizing the data it relied on. A CDC internal document obtained by The Washington Post estimated that, 35,000 vaccinated people a week in the United States are having symptomatic breakthrough infections, out of a vaccinated population of more than 162 million. Vaccination coverage is higher than average in Massachusetts, with nearly 70 percent of residents fully vaccinated.

Next comes the pro pagan da from the CDC Director Rochelle Walensky she said that the outbreak in Provincetown, Massachusetts, showed that vaccines helped protect people from serious illness and death amid an immense amount of exposure. Have you ever heard such utter drivel? no it showed that the vaccines creates Covid Mrs. Walensky, but why would you exhibit any sort of common sense? Lets look at her more closely shall we. Prior to her appointment at the CDC, she was the Chief of the Division of Infectious Diseases at Massachusetts General Hospital and a professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School. Harvard -check. Walensky is an expert on HIV/AIDS, just like Dr. Fauci - check. In 1995, she received an M.D. degree from Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, from 1995 to 1998, she trained in internal medicine at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Johns Hopkins - check. Walensky is married to Loren D. Walensky, they are Jewish and members of Temple Emanuel. Born to - check.

Here comes the money making booster jab predicted in the first few Expose series last year. A third dose of Pfizer's COVID-19 vaccine could "strongly" enhance protection against the Delta variant, the drugmaker said Wednesday. The pharmaceutical company released data that showed that, the booster shot could increase antibody levels against the mutation, by more than five-fold in people ages 18 to 55, compared to just two doses. For those ages 65 to 85, the third dose boosted antibody levels more than 11-fold. Researchers said these findings, which have not been peer-reviewed or published in a scientific journal, indicated that the third dose strongly boosted protection against the Delta variant. The findings, which have not been peer-reviewed or published in a scientific journal, indeed a bit like the original then. All the weak, bots and synths lined up thinking by doing so life would return to normal, they should have listened to the Expose series, we told people then there would be no normal, no complete end to lockdowns, restrictions or masks until the public grew a set. The Delta variant is the money maker as part of the Gain of function program we revealed in the Expose series.

OTHER ITEMS: Here is another family too few have heard of and yet they managed to rise the ranks of corruption, wealth and power despite being from a foreign country, the all too familiar born to phrase. Abram Nicholas Pritzker was an American businessman and founder of the vast Pritzker family fortune. According to author Gus Russo, funds and connections from the Chicago mafia known as the Outfit, formed the foundation on which lawyer Abe Pritzker's family built the Hyatt hotel chain, functioning as the clean face of a dirty business. Russo uses the term Supermob to describe a band of Jewish lawyers, politicians and businessmen who acted as cat's-paws for some of the Outfit's most ambitious scams. Interesting term for corruption and not entirely a surprise either, as cat's-paws. Cat's paws is someone who acts in another's interest, unknowingly or through trickery, sounds like a spy to me - just saying. Russo described a gang of white-collar kingpins as ruthless and tightly knit as a Mafia family. In the following decades, the Pritzker family shielded their earnings from taxes through a series of trusts, which enabled them to distribute the money as they chose. Abram was the son of Ukrainian-Jewish immigrants Annie P. (née Cohn) and Nicholas J. Pritzker. His father left Kyiv for Chicago in 1881 and worked first as a pharmacist and then, after graduating from DePaul University College of Law, as a lawyer. His father wrote a small book that has been passed down the generations; the theme of the book is Your only immortality is the impact you have on your successors. Abram graduated from Harvard Law School. Abram joined his father's law firm, Pritzker & Pritzker, along with his brothers, Harry and Jack. Harry specialized in criminal law, Abram (called Abe and later A.N.) specialized in business law, and Jack in real estate law. In the 1930s, he left the law practice and branched out with his brother Jack, investing in real estate and small companies, mostly in the Chicago area. Harry continued to run the law firm, which eventually became an in-house firm catering solely to the needs of the Pritzker family and its business. The Pritzker brothers were very successful and amassed a considerable fortune. A LAPD internal memo from Feb. 2, 1954 described him as: Abe Pritzker, a Chicago attorney with offices at 134 N. LaSalle Street, which is the same address as that of Sidney Korshak's office, has been closely connected with members of the Capone syndicate and other underworld characters. It is believed by the undersigned that Pritzker may be active locally, as a front for eastern hoodlum money to be invested in the Los Angeles area. Pritzker had three sons: Jay Pritzker, Robert Pritzker, and Donald Pritzker. His sons continued to grow the family business, eventually buying the Hyatt House hotel in Los Angeles in 1957 and forming the cornerstone of their hotel chain. His son Robert created a conglomerate of a multitude of manufacturing companies that grew into the multibillion-dollar Marmon Group. Marmon was diversified to include manufacturing concerns ranging from lumber to railroad boxcars, and travel industry staples. It composed half of the family's wealth. On December 25, 2007, it was announced that Warren Buffett, through Berkshire Hathaway, would purchase 60% of the Marmon Group from the Pritzkers for $4.5 billion. The Pritzkers also own a large stake in Royal Caribbean. TransUnion was a subsidiary of The Marmon Group until January 2005, but is now an independent, privately held company. One of his granddaughters is actress Liesel Pritzker. Another is former United States Secretary of Commerce Penny Pritzker. One of his grandsons is Daniel Pritzker, the founder of the Chicago band Sonia Dada. Another grandson, J.B. Pritzker was elected Democratic Governor of Illinois in November 2018 replacing Republican Bruce Rauner. Pritzker's philanthropic endeavors include funding the Pritzker School of Medicine at the University of Chicago. He also set up a trust fund for the A.N. Pritzker Elementary School, which he had attended when it was called the Wicker Park Elementary School. All about the shekels again, doesn't matter how devious or bad the business is, just collect the shekels.

More than a few years after our show announced it, scientists this week for the first time ever, astronomers have directly detected light from behind a supermassive black hole. Using the European Space Agency's XMM-Newton and NASA's NuSTAR space telescopes, researchers were observing the black hole as it flung X-rays out into the universe. The black hole is about 10 million times more massive than our sun, and is located in the center of a nearby spiral galaxy called I Zwicky, 1,800 million light-years away from Earth. After observing a series of bright flares of X-rays, something unprecedented occurred, more flashes that were smaller, later and different colors than their predecessors. According to a study published this week in the journal Nature, the echoes of light appeared consistent with X-rays reflected from behind the black hole, a very strange place for light to originate. No it is not. Any light that goes into that black hole doesn't come out, so we shouldn't be able to see anything that's behind the black hole, said lead author Dan Wilkins in a statement, wrong thinking as they will eventually find out. The reason we can see that is because that black hole is warping space, bending light and twisting magnetic fields around itself. The other side of the black hole is a white hole, essentially galaxies and solar systems that are ready for the next stage of evolution in a separate Universe. Universes are separated by a membrane, and black holes are like the pores of the membrane, or a giant stargate into the next unobservable Universe, unless you travel through the membrane yourself and see the other side. From the other Universe it will look like a big bang, which is just an explosion of light that wasn't there prior. The light is the advancing solar systems and galaxies.

EXPOSE: When ancient Egypt and Ireland are spoken about in the same breath it usually results in the rolling of eyes, polite exits and the sound of murmurs citing pseudo-history and new age babble. At least, that used to be the case. Not quite there was a book called Ireland the land of the Pharaohs written by Andrew Power in 2005. Recent discoveries in DNA research have added to already verified archaeological finds, to present a scenario that is now more difficult to dismiss. The Hill of Tara is one of Ireland's most ancient sacred sites. It is surrounded by many other Neolithic earthworks and tombs and although commonly associated with the Celts, the site pre-dates their arrival in Ireland by thousands of years. That is because it was nothing to do with the Celts and everything to do with the Urs and Rus, as we will find out. In legend it is the place where the Tuatha De Danann reigned. These were a God-like people who were said to have arrived in Ireland in mysterious ships and had magical powers. The Tuatha De Danaan were reptilian and avian in nature, again as we will find out. Looks eerily like Tribe of Dan to me, like the name Jordan, Jor means Horus and Dan was his tribe. Ritual Burials and Mysterious Bones: During recent and very controversial excavations near Tara a story emerged about a strange skeleton that had been found by workers digging at Lismullin Henge. Some thought it was the remains of a dog, others a badger. But, most curious of all was the claim of some witnesses that the remains were, in fact, those of an ape. As Con Connor, Arch Druid of Ireland's Celtic Druid Temple writes, why was such a ritual burial in a royal site not a cause for focused investigation? In her work, A Course of Severe and Arduous Trials, author Lynn Brunet writes that, furthermore, the Irish Masonic author, J. A. Penny notes that a skeleton of a Barbary ape had been found at Tara, the mythical center of Ireland and seat of the High King. But why would there have been such strange bones buried at this site? These primates are not indigenous to Ireland and the archaeological complex surrounding Tara dates back thousands of years. If bones of an ape had been found at any point, do we have a precedent for such a burial at any other of Ireland's most ancient sacred places? In fact we do. During excavations at Eimhain Macha (Navan Fort) in County Armagh, the skull of a Barbary ape was found. When it was carbon dated it was discovered to be roughly 2,500 years old. The question for many archaeologists was how it got to Ireland in the first place, but perhaps a more intriguing enquiry would investigate why. Barbary apes are found mainly in two countries, Algeria and Morocco, although some made it to Gibraltar across the sea likely due to trade vessels.

The Irish-Egyptian Connection: One of the more controversial theories when it comes to the origins of the Irish people is a connection to ancient Egypt. Although there are many Irish legends connecting Tara and Egyptian royalty, these have been impossible to prove. Tara is related to URS and Perun, not Egyptian clowns. URS, Rus and Aryan were there long before the fake gods. One of the most intriguing examples of these proposals was the discovery of the skeleton of a 15-year-old boy at The Mound of the Hostages, near Tara, by Dr. Sean O Riordan of Trinity College. Carbon dating showed that the remains were roughly 3,800 years old. A necklace found with the skeleton was made of faience beads and matched similar Egyptian manufacture and design. They came after the Urs and Rus for technology.

Scotia, Egyptian Royalty: There is also the famous legend of Queen Scotia, an Egyptian princess or queen, depending on which version of the legend you read, who was said to have arrived in Ireland in 1700 BC and was killed by the Tuatha De Danann in a great battle. Her supposed grave is marked by a giant inscribed stone in County Kerry and its importance has led to local politicians calling for its preservation. According to the most popular version of the Irish Legend of Egyptian princess Scotia, most scholars who believe in the legend, agree that princess Scotia was an ancient Egyptian princess, who grew up in the land of Pharaohs. Except there is no archeological or documented evidence to support this as fact. Incidentally, at the same time Gaythelos, (The Latinised name for Goidel Glas), the son of the King of Greece was also present in Egypt, working for the Pharaoh, after being expelled from his native kingdom. So here Gaythelos met the princess Scotia and later the two got married. Later due to upheaval in the country, Princess Scotia was forced to flee from her country, along with her husband Gaythelos, to distant lands of Europe. First, they made their way to Spain and from there they moved further west, discovering a new land, which they named Hibernia (the island being named on Hiber -- who was the son of Gaythelos and Princess Scotia), an island known in the modern world as Ireland. Could it be she was Greek like Cleopatra? given she married the son of the King of Greece? Here it should be added that as far as the Hibernia name is concerned, the majority of the sources, describe Hibernia as the classical Latin name for Ireland, with the name being taken from Greek geographical accounts. It was the Roman historian Tacitus, who used the name Hibernia, in his book Agricola. There is a secret society group on a par with Knights of Malta called Hibernian, and Martin McGuinness the lead IRA guy who started the Sunday Bloody Sunday killing spree, wears the Badge of Hibernia. His IRA sidekick Gerry Adams is a Knight of Malta, and so part of the British Royal circles, if only the Irish people knew of their treachery. To my understanding Ireland was at one point called Scotia, and when she fled to modern day Scotland, it was originally called Scotialand. But some of her followers left Ireland and went west, and arrived at a new Scotia island, now called Nova Scotia, which means New Scotia. This is why lots of Canadian people speak with a Scottish brogue, my former girlfriend was one of them. An interesting aside is that Scotia's grave is not far from the island of Skellig Michael, the site of a pre-Christian settlement and a later monastery. The location of that grave is in Tralee bay and something I planned to visit a few years ago until my flying ban took effect. I stood with my back to that grave in a dream that started before my teens and followed me until early 50's, until I found the place in my dreams, it was Tralee Bay and close to a rare windmill in Ireland, which is why I kept hearing the line from a song, I can hear the sound of a windmill going round, that played over and over in my head back in 2013. According to the 11th-century Lebor Gabála É renn (Book of Invasions), Milesius, a great leader of one of Ireland's invaders lost two of his sons nearby in 1400 BC, when a magical storm caused by the Tuatha De Danann submerged their ship. Despite these legends, up until recently there had been very little strong academic evidence linking Ireland with the lower Mediterranean. In December 2015, however, this all changed.

Groundbreaking DNA Findings: Scientists from Trinity College Dublin and Queen's University Belfast published new findings in the journal, the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences . What they found was that the ancient Irish were not only related to the people of southern Europe, but that there was a Middle Eastern connection too. That is the Basques and Egyptian, like the Irish both are fiercely independent, all had the red hair and pigment in their skin. The reason is the Pleiadians who were tomato red in skin color, not native American red, mixed with the whites and produced this genetic offspring, that race was also in Peru. With this new knowledge comes a tantalizing explanation for the ape skull in ancient Ireland, and which connects to a previously unexplored etymological link to the Tuatha De Danann. Commonly, the meaning of this mysterious race has been posited as The People of Danu , a mother goddess from Irish mythology. However, the earliest recordings of the Tuatha do not include the last word Danann, instead being described as Tuatha De or Tuatha Di. In fact it is only since the 19th century that the current description of Danu was widely accepted by scholars. Having said I believed the Tuatha De Danaan were mainly reptilian, perhaps the name Danu reveals more if you put an apostrophe after the D. Perhaps then it is time to look at these people using the new information we now have about their roots and, most importantly, the gods they worshipped and revered. One of the most important Egyptian gods was Thoth, later to be named Hermes by the Greeks. Thoth was a moon god who was said to have brought wisdom and writing to the world. Thoth was from Nibiru and part of the Annunaki the Avian group, he was from the Pleiades as well, oh the Pleiadian saviors all coming to save us, yeah right. He was often represented and symbolized by a baboon or the North African ape. Could this be a reason for ape bones found at Irish sites? Even more curious are the overlooked etymological variants of Thoth; Thoout and Thaut. When we look for phonetic comparisons within Egyptian hieroglyphics, we find very apt descriptions of the Tuatha De Danann's arrival in Ireland. Thoout Dai translates as Thoth's crossing, Thoout DA translates to Thoth's journey by boat and Thoout Da translates as Thoth's storm, according to Lebor Gabála Éirenn, the Tuatha came to Ireland in dark clouds. Of course a boat is also called a ship, and so Thoth's boat or ship came in dark clouds, which is cloaking technology, sounds a whole lot different now doesn't it. All of these phonetic similarities are in line with the descriptions of these legendary people and how they arrived in Ireland. Another telling factor in the omission of these translations by scholars in the 19th century, is that The Rosetta Stone and the decipherment of hieroglyphics by Champollion only took place in the 1820's. The early Christian monks who first recorded these stories would have had no knowledge of these phonetic translations. Indeed, most scholars of Irish mythology in the 19th century probably remained unaware of Champollion's work as well. Most believed Danann came from the Vedic Goddess Danu. Except she was not Vedic at all, but Hindu and Kali Ma people. Danu, a Hindu primordial goddess, is mentioned in the Rigveda, mother of the Danavas. The word Danu described the primeval waters which this deity perhaps embodied. In the Rigveda, she is identified as the mother of Vritra, the demonic serpent slain by Indra. When we remove the more fanciful elements of myth and lore, we are still left with many unanswered questions that new scientific evidence is compelling us to ask. Some of the answers have already overturned previous academic opinion, and with each technological breakthrough we discover new means to dig further into our past. That is because these scholars, archeologists and theologians will not look past the religious doctrine and try to shoehorn the information in alignment with it. Once they release the religious construct and except the Extra Terrestrial reality, things make much more sense. Although an ancient connection between Ireland and Egypt was once thought far-fetched and outside of the accepted scholarly realm, we now have more reason than ever to examine these links and wonder again about the Tuatha De or, possibly, Thoth's Storm.

This is a groundbreaking discovery that confirms more of our show material, but may well trigger some people within the group depending on which program you are connected to. It is the story of Jesus or JC and it reveals the deep plot and savior program ran on the people for over 2000 years. This in and of itself is disclosure, yes many want ET Disclosure, neglecting they have already had that revealing, otherwise no one would know about it. Full ET Disclosure is a minimum 40 years off in my opinion, as the religious lie and program has to collapse first, before revealing who was responsible for it, the very beings people are asking for Disclosure about. Francesco Carotta: 'Everything of the Story of Jesus can be Found in the Biography of Caesar.' The Italian-German linguist and philosopher Francesco Carotta proves in his book that, Jesus was Caesar, that the story of Jesus Christ has its origin in Roman sources. After more than fifteen years of investigation Carotta has found the traces which lead to the Julian origin of Christianity. He concludes that the story of Jesus is based on the narrative of the life of Julius Caesar. Carotta: The Gospel proves to be the history of the Roman Civil war, a 'mis-telling' of the life of Caesar-from the Rubicon to his assassination-mutated into the narrative of Jesus, from the Jordan to his crucifixion. Jesus is a true historical figure, he lived as Gaius Julius Caesar, and ressurected as Divus Julius. The cult surrounding Jesus Christ, son of God and originator of Christianity appeared during the second century. Early historians, however, never mentioned Jesus and even to this day there has been no historical proof of his existence. Julius Caesar, son of Venus and founder of the Roman Empire, was elevated to the status of Imperial God, Divus Julius, after his violent death. The cult that surrounded him dissolved as Christianity surfaced. Christianity was cast in stone in the Council of Nicea meeting in 325AD, and is stated by scholars as being accepted by the Protestant church, yet the Protestant religion didn't appear until 1200 years later, seems they went to Johns Hopkins school of math as well. Of course Venus was also associated by the Illuminati as Lucifer the light bearer. The only reference to Lucifer in the Bible is in Isa. 14:12 - How you are fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! How you are cut down to the ground, you who weakened the nations! This Scripture is a clear reference to the king of Babylon, not to a fallen angel, when read in context. Except it is not related to Babylon at all, because the scholars think the term nations means countries, it meant races of people originally, not just humans of Midgard either. Lucifer comes from the Latin words lucem ferre meaning light bearer and in the ancient Latin speaking world it was the name for the planet Venus; it was never associated with a spiritual being or a fallen angel. Again that is not correct, the planets are the realms of the females, mother Earth, Earth just means inhabited planet, and the males Lucifer, Mars, Jupiter (Zeus) and Saturn (Set) took over in a fake god dickswinging contest and disrupted the balance of the solar system. Lucifer had two components also, because like Vishnu and others, the invasion of the body switchers, all very Stargate and Goa'uld that, at one point Lucifer was female and named Luciferia. Carotta's new evidence leads to such an overwhelming amount of similarities between the biography of Caesar, and the story of Jesus that coincidence can be ruled out. Both Caesar and Jesus start their rising careers in neighboring states in the north: Gallia and Galilee. Both have to cross a fateful river: the Rubicon and the Jordan. Once across the rivers, they both come across a patron/rival:

Pompeius and John the Baptist, and their first followers: Antonius and Curio on the one hand and Peter and Andrew on the other. Both are continually on the move, finally arriving at the capital, Rome and Jerusalem, where they at first triumph, yet subsequently undergo their passion. Both have good relationships with women and have a special relationship with one particular woman, Caesar with Cleopatra and Jesus with Magdalene. Both have encounters at night, Caesar with Nicomedes of Bithynia, Jesus with Nicodemus of Bethany. Both have an affinity to ordinary people-and both run afoul of the highest authorities: Caesar with the Senate, Jesus with the Sanhedrin. Both are contentious characters, but show praiseworthy clemency as well: the clementia Caesaris and Jesus' Love-thy-enemy. Both have a traitor: Brutus and Judas, and an assassin who at first gets away: the other Brutus and Barabbas, and one who washes his hands of it: Lepidus and Pilate. Both are accused of making themselves kings: King of the Romans and King of the Jews. Both are dressed in red royal robes and wear a crown on their heads: a laurel wreath and a crown of thorns. Both get killed: Caesar is stabbed with daggers, Jesus is crucified, but with a stab wound in his side, Jesus as well as Caesar hang on a cross. (post picture) Both die on the same respective dates of the year: Caesar on the Ides 15th of March, Jesus on the 15th of Nisan. Both are deified posthumously: as Divus Iulius and as Jesus Christ. Notice the Julius was called Iulius which would be correct at that time, as the letter J was a minimum of 1400 and possibly 1550 years later before that was used. The common sense question is, if Jesus was so important why did they change his name? is it another of the Hebrew Annunaki word changes? Is it a play on words as the Spanish pronounce it Hey Zeus, a tribute to Zeus like the Amen is a tribute to Ra? Or did the Council of Nicea install a Christianized savior deity? Caesar and Jesus also use the same words, Caesar's famous Latin Veni, vidi, vici, I came, I saw, I conquered, is in the Gospel transmitted into, I came, washed and saw, whereby Greek enipsa, I washed, replaces enikisa, I conquered. Prominent European scholars and intellectuals are jubilant, this report is of the same order of importance as the scientific discoveries of Darwin and Galileo. Paul Cliteur, Ph. D., University of Leiden, The Netherlands. Reading Francesco Carotta's book has fascinated me, ...leading the mind of the reader step by step to the solution of an obscure intrigue. This voyage was like a liberating and exhilarating breath of fresh air. Fotis Kavoukopoulos Ph. D., an international expert in linguistics, Athens, Greece. New connections which have never been seen that way. Erika Simon Ph.D. Germany.

Was it the original one? In any case, in the sequence of Marcion, who saw Jesus on the cross as a mere phantasma (cf. Tert. adv. Marc. 4.42), and Nestorius. The Koran also rejects the notion that Jesus was crucified and it says, that a very similar figure appeared to them, or more precisely was shown. Hence it confirms that the idea of Jesus' crucifixion was a later and contested one as late as 325 ad, the Council of Nicaea in its creed, the Symbolum Nicaenum, in the original form does not say anything about crucifixion or Pilate. It even sounds as if it developed from a stage-setting that displayed Caesar's wax-figure on the cruciform tropaeum. Was it the Passion play of the original Easter ritual? In actuality, Jesus is scarcely depicted dying on the cross throughout the whole of the first millennium. All the participants in the Roman drama were incidentally old acquaintances of the Jews, who remained conspicuously long at Caesar's cremation site. Because they all had also made an appearance in Jerusalem: Caesar's adversary Pompeius had conquered the city and the temple in 63. Like a bad penny they always appear at these events, yet never indicted as participants. It is no coincidence that Cicero mocked him as noster Hierosolymarius, 'our Jerusalemite'—with a play on words on 'Marius', Caesar's uncle. Pompeius had brought the rebellious Aristobulos as a captive to Rome. After Crassus' defeat against the Parthians in 53/52, Cassius Longinus had been able to hold Syria and renegade Judaea only with brute force, in the process he had Pitholaos, who had defected and led the rebellion after Aristobulos, executed, probably crucified. At the beginning of the civil war Caesar had freed Aristobulos and sent him back to Jerusalem without success, because some Pompeians poisoned him. For a long time the burial of his body was denied until Antonius later sent it, embalmed in honey, to the Jews to bury it in the royal tombs. Now all these Jerusalemite protagonists cast similar, appropriate respective roles in Rome also: Pompeius was dead already, but it was in front of his statue, which incidentally Caesar had had re-erected, where Caesar was murdered. Thus Pompeius had his revenge, but also showed himself to be ungrateful posthumously. Cassius Longinus had raged and murdered again. And the exposition of Caesar's body as a wax simulacrum on the cruciform tropaeum had to have even more so, called to mind the execution of Pitholaos by the hand of the same Longinus, as well as all the other crucified ones of Judaea. Antonius repeated the same act of piety on Caesar that he once had shown to Aristobulos: again he has the dead one buried anyway, against the resistance of the Pompeians. This time he does not have the martyred body embalmed in honey, but, appropriate for the cremation, duplicated and affixed to the cruciform tropaeum not least to the shame of Longinus. Now all these players, well-known to the Jews, also appeared in a drama which happened during their most important holiday: Passover. So much his story involves a small number of people, who always appear at negative events and key points in our past history. Different times but always the same people or entities as the case may be.

A question comes to mind, if we are playing in Satan's playground as it seems to be. Then does that mean Source who creates everything has no intention if helping humanity overcome, because it seems everywhere you look the dark rears its head. This is a common style of question and has two parts to it that I will address. 1. The question is a savior based narrative, a subtle one yes, but still aligned with the old programs of someone or something has to come and save us. This has never served our species well, the Draco came to save us 16500 years ago, how did that work out? The Pleiadian Alcyone group were are guardians here and they sold us out for tech. Many other planets suffered the same fate against dark forces, the key is to save ourselves. As above so below, there is a great mistrust among many species and races related to wars of the past, over time that can be repaired and healthy alliances formed. 2. It is my understanding this Universe was part of a grand experiment done by the Source here, to create a light only Universe. Which is in hindsight not a great idea, as the light needs the dark for the lessons, and the lesson is to observe it, not absorb it, dancing with it is absorbing it, as the el-ites knows all too well, and it comes at a price. What went it seems is, there was no parameters or markers of how to deal with the dark should they enter the light only space. This turned into a catastrophic error of epic proportions and before they could react, 87% of this Universe was turned dark by a fractal virus, and the Highest Council felt they needed to destroy the whole Universe to stop it infecting the Universal tree. All Universe are connected to the tree. This is no different to a plant or fruit tree, if one branch is infected, you would prune that branch to save the tree or plant. Some felt it could be saved and a mission was undertaken to clear the Universe from extinction and reverse back the dark infestation and restore the Universe to balance of light and dark. That 87% is now down to near 60% now as I understand it and close to the balance being restored. To accommodate things further the higher elements of the dark all need to be returned to Source, as the dark is badly out of balance within and of themselves.

The reality of our harsh world is about to kick into overdrive motion, as the battle between light and dark, good and evil and the old world and the new one is now kicking into gear. As one member put it in relation to the great die off that is increasingly becoming more prevalent, the emotional devastation will hit us all with deep empathy. Maybe the second world of the three is now closer to fading away and out of our reality, as discussed in Tuesdays show. Many will speak of the great loss, and neglect the great gain they themselves make or on a collective scale. The reality was we were all destined to die in a mass extinction event, purported by the King the el-ites all worship, Marduk. But unbeknown to them they were destined for the harvest as well, something they are struggling to comprehend or adapt to. We have discussed at length the 85/15% and many now fear it will be less than 15%. It brings up many questions and perhaps too few answers as to how things will all unfold. The timing of the 2018 movie called Extinction may well be indicative it terms of time, but more indicative in terms of understanding, who is who here and what is human? The concept of bots or synthetic people being ran by machines is not well understood by many even in the alt media, and one of the earliest to discuss it was a former ally now battling for the dark force agencies Randy Maugans. The great question is, if many people are bots and or synthetic machines why would they need vaccines? Except it is not a vaccine is it, it is a software update program, are you connecting the dots now? Many of us are facing the reality now of being torn between the two worlds, should I stick or should I twist? Old failed world or new opportunity world filled with wonders only limited by our own imaginations. What is family and what is blood? who are the soul family and does blood matter? What is real? what is illusion? and what is overlay? are more Q&A for you all to address, process and make peace with. Fear has to become an observing phase, not an immersion process, because the fears we don't face become our limits of experiences, understanding and life itself. It limits change, yet we all know now why things have to change, and that starts with you. There can never be change without your input, you cannot do change in fear, only willing expectation. It is all about the mindset and having the courage to break the patterns within yourself that no longer serve you, in reality most of them never served you, only the slave portion. The clowns wish to bring us their new world order out of their chaos, with the classic NWO clowning of problem reaction and solution, let them carry on their own demise, they are doing a great ouroboros program on themselves. Our focus is to rebuild the world and all of it's component in our image based upon the TPC guidelines, and so you bring your own order, not of chaos but of inner peace, inner comfort, inner strength, inner love and inner trust. It is said that time is linear and only goes forward, but science has a habit of not revealing the truth, or they are blocked from learning or seeking the truth. If you draw a horizontal line on a piece of paper it can be seen as past, present and future. But there is an alternate line with which to travel and be, and that is vertical time. The linear timeline is Chronos time and is governed by locks of the sea or C Locks, clocks, that is running as a marker in time, but each second is the now, you are never in the past or the future, only the now. Linear time is time to the trap, time is tie me to the Chronos, tie me to the loops trap. But if you draw a vertical line in the middle of the horizontal line, that is vertical time, or real time, magic time and no time. Real time because you are off the Chronos based conveyor belt of illusionary time. Magic time as you can see the past and the future and then dictate time, which the dark forces have used for their advantage and largely how magic works. People ask how does magic work? it is not how is works, but when. But no time is then allowing you out of the Matrix and a direct connection to Source. Time is the bind, the shackles, the C locks and the control system. How is it you can have the phenomenon of time speeding up or slowing down, if time is consistent? it can't and that proves the illusion of time and the Chronos trap. If you drew the diagram correctly it would be a plus sign, on the left can be seen as the past, on the right the future. The future is what is yet to be manifested by us, we are the creators, the past can be observed by us to manifest a better and brighter future, free of the manipulation of time. If you stand in the middle of the cross you have a choice to make, stay in the past or change and become the future. The past is on the left and is the west gate, the future is on the right and is the east gate or right hand path. Fear is on the left and change is on the right, which do you choose? Well, it's all in the words again, the term fear of change, so if you fear change you loop back to the left hand path, the west gate and you are back to where you started, in the loops. With the loops now down, it does not guarantee they will stay that way, all have their own choices and free will determines the path. It depends what is manifested by the individual, if you don't change it keeps you in the loops or the movie, remember old films were played on a never ending reel, it went forward and then went back to the start again, sound familiar? The difference this time is, not all will be corralled into the never ending past, as many of you have begun to "see" past the illusion, those people will go on and create the new future, not immersed or absorbed into the past. Things only change when people change themselves. You will be outside of time and no longer in the movie, you are now your own producer, director and script writer. Standing still which is the concept of no change allows the Chronos linear timeline to move and it will reach an event point, and will repeat the past, think 1919 fake Spanish Flu, think 2019 fake Covid flu, his story always repeats until the lesson is learned. So, the key to your future is, change, change propels you onto the right hand path, the east gate and into the future free of loops. Being able to go to the vertical time allows you to make your choice easier, and that comes with self mastery and mental plane abilities. You are able to see all perspectives, just like the prism, which is not the single point of light. The single point of light, which is frequency, which is information only gives you one perspective of it, but if you go behind the point of light you will see 7 points of light, all from differing angles, so you can observe the frequency or information from 7 levels or is it 7 planes of existence? So what is the cure to fix our loopiness? embrace and be the change within yourself and with others who took the vertical path, which is the rise, not the fall. This plays into the 2 worlds which we embrace currently, holding onto the failed old world enveloped with and by time, endlessly looping back and forth, and wondering why things never change, it can't, because you haven't. The fear of change is the fear of failure, and so people accept ever reducing lifestyles and are ultimately slaves to time. Courage is what is required to change and eventually you will make "the leap of faith" when that is presented to you on a personal basis. To reach the leap of faith requires you to change and be bold, not hesitant, without courage, without belief, without trust in yourself and fear, because if you overcome them, the grass is always green on the other side, limited only by your own lack of imagination. We stand on the precipice of an extraordinary victory of light over dark, the timing of it doesn't truly matter, the point is we have won the ultimate Armageddon battle, their pathetic attempts to delay the inevitable is now being laid bare for all too see, those that don't can and never will see, they were not program to do so, think of the movie Extinction, and their AI gods will go down with them. Choose wisely your own path, it is only your choice to make. We will know for the first time if were evil or divine, we our the last in line.