

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2021-09-02

Welcome to the show that turns conspiracy theories into facts, the show where predictions actually come true, what a novel concept that is within alt media circles. A show that asks you to think and act for yourself, a show that reveals you are the savior, not to follow the leader but become leaders. A show for people who pushed their truth barrier to their crowns, not around their knees. A show that helps people, elevates people, heals people, supports people and for that we are labeled by the non-thinking non-truther people, a cult. Well, we taught self-mastery and to not react to negative claims also, so their name-calling has no effect here. The all-dot-connecting show that spans time, timelines and space, this is reality radio, can you handle it?

As one member pulled her child out of school this week and is going to home schooling, she revealed a deeper lying issue ongoing in this country. I found out that from last school year and this school year there were 10,000 families seeking help for homeschooling Minnesota alone. This is why I kept asking for members to do a school curriculum, we could have TPC Dvd's on homeschooling techniques in thousands of homes. As the BBC decided to do a whole piece explaining why there is a shortage of chips, in the vain hope you miss the obvious, they are going in vaccines. Perhaps the BBC should focus on why one of their colleagues Lisa Shaw died of Covid vaccinations? Shaw died due to blood clot complications caused by AstraZeneca Covid vaccine three weeks after she had first jab, a coroner concluded this week, in what is believed to be the first time a Covid jab has officially been ruled the underlying cause of death in the UK. Only official when a clown reader or puppet dies, what about the other 1558 who have died from the vaccines in the UK? Is Lisa Shaw deemed as collateral damage by the MI5/6 led BBC? As the all-too-predictable false flag event occurred in Afghanistan that killed 170 people, the question is, was it US Military equipment deliberately left behind that caused it? It is now revealed the US Military left behind $85B of equipment, how convenient of them, I would suggest seen as they can fritter $85B of the public's money just like that, they should have their budget slashed by $85B seen as it is no big deal. Predictably in the midst of it all they applied a name change to the alleged terrorists, the new one is IS - K. IS-K only appeared in the intelligence circles less than a week before the event, and in the middle of it there was a meeting with the CIA, connecting the dots now? All these IS followed by other letters, would just be made simpler with adding the M, ism = Zionism, which is the father of all political isms. What group of people love to do name changes? as perhaps that is a clue as to who orchestrated it? What it reveals is, it is loop time again, and we are back from not blaming Russia and China for everything as that failed, so let's go back to blaming the Muslims again. I said last week the shift away from blaming Russia and China, they were up to something. Speaking of Muslims the channel 7 news in Australia did a hospital acting stunt, using fake actors faking illness, one of the sick was called Osama, nice try channel 7 but an epic fail as the comments on your post proved. Few are buying your fake shit, so quit selling it. This is not without irony, Channel 7 journalist Denham Hitchcock has revealed he is suffering from a heart condition as a rare side effect of the Pfizer corona virus vaccine. The Spotlight reporter spoke from hospital after being diagnosed with pericarditis, a swelling or irritation of the sac-like membrane surrounding the heart that helps keep it in place, a bit like a Universe membrane then, as above so below. He says the extremely rare condition was caused by his first shot of Pfizer which he received 25 days ago. Hitchcock what a thriller that is.

NEWS: News came in this week of the reported death of alt media establishment and CIA clown Robert David Steele. Steele came to my attention many years back when he was installed into the alt media, he didn't sit right with me from the off. Ex CIA was his description, is there ever ex CIA? or are they always on call despite retirement? Steele was involved with Keenan during the infamous bust up with myself and Cosmic Voice, he went over to shut Neil up, as I was exposing not only Neil, but his agency accomplices at Langley 2. Neil 3 months later was dead according to several sources, and a body double 30-40lbs fatter and 10 years old replaced him. Was Steele involved in removing the now failed asset Keenan? I don't know, but given Steele admitted he was a mercenary assassin for the CIA, one can deduce it was a strong possibility. Failed assets don't fare well in agency circles, and their policy of dead men can't talk is echoed through all walks of life, not just alt media. Steele's propensity to turn up and be involved in many key groups or aspects of alt media, was the origin of me calling him the alt media interceptor man. From collateral accounts, to his disturbing leap into the burgeoning child sexual abuse by elites, via the monarch programs and others, he came up with ITNJ with his Orsini family backed sidekick with the fake stage name, Sacha Stone. They didn't just investigate the child sexual abuse, ritual and sacrifice, they collected names of those who spoke out about it, and then used bullying and intimidation tactics to discredit the speakers and stifle the discourse. ITNJ was the agencies attempt to kill the narrative. They say you shouldn't speak ill of the dead, but I am delivering the facts of when he was alive, and they are/were damning against we the people. Steele's legacy was borne out in our Clowns in Panic show, how he and the in your face agency joke, calling the group OSS.net, that set about spying on everything and everyone with their open source technology. Steele said the public will become the intelligence, and gullible people who followed him all thought it would stop the rogue agencies, no it was to make everyone an unpaid spy. That is his legacy, and we did more than most to expose the criminality and deceit of Robert David Steele, others followed much later and added to it. I warned in a previous show that Steele would disappear, it is what failed assets do. The great question is, did he disappear from being taken out and killed, given how ill he looked in recent pictures perhaps poisoning, or his death faked to hide him from the alt media exposure of him. Something that over time we will find the answer, but this incident is a word of warning for the all the agents within the alt media community, all 90% plus of them. Perhaps it is time to cut your ties with agencies and come clean with the public?

You wish to know why America is splashing the cash so much recently? Here is why. The Bearer Bonds attached to the Clearinghouse Certificates known euphemistically as Birth Certificates, had been traded for gold more than a week and a half ago, and that Chief Fast Horse assumed authority to make such a deal. There was two choices (a) take the aforementioned Bearer Bonds and do the work to settle them, so that they can never again be used to promote enslavement, or (b) take the gold that was the purchase price of the slaves? The treasonous hierarchy of the U.S. Military took the gold, but the most important thing is that if you choose gold over your life, you choose death over life. One has to ask just what is the lead banker of the world done to stop this? is, as I forecast in October last year, is she now rendered irrelevant in the scheme of things? Clearly what this shows is, they are no longer working with her to release the Trust funds, as I stated last December, there is no funds coming from the Trust anytime soon, once the Omega platform was emptied and funds transferrable to it denied. As the head of every bank and Trustee, this deal should never have gone ahead, and she must be held accountable for her failure to block this deal. Because if as I suspect what they will use those funds for, NATO war with Russia which is the cover for the Hebrew Annunaki to attack Iran, she will have blood on her hands. Proving the folly of being a one person Trust, just as she was warned several times, if something goes wrong, the person with all the titles takes the flak.

You wish to have a confirm that the Taliban is a US Military and agency controlled entity? well here it is in their own words. General Kenneth McKenzie, commander of the United States Central Command, revealed an intelligence-sharing operation between the U.S. and Taliban on Thursday at a Department of Defense briefing, just hours after attacks at Hamid Karzai International Airport killed at least twelve U.S. service members and 60 Afghan civilians. According to McKenzie, the Taliban and U.S. share a common purpose of finishing the ongoing evacuation mission by August 31. As long as we've kept that common purpose aligned, they've been useful to work with, said the general. McKenzie said he didn't believe the Taliban intentionally allowed Thursday's attacks to occur, but conceded he didn't know for sure. Nevertheless McKenzie said the U.S. has been sharing versions of this information regarding threats to the airport with the Taliban, so that they can actually do some searching out there for us, though he stipulated that the U.S. cuts down the intelligence before handing it over to the Taliban. He also said that the U.S. thinks attacks have already been thwarted by the terror group that the U.S. deposed from power in 2001. The intelligence-sharing program has been in effect since August 14, McKenzie said. So, the US are working with, not against the great boogeyman of the 2001 from era, does anyone else not think this is bizarre? Coming soon, it will be revealed that the US work with ISIS, IS, ISIL, Al Queda which is Al CIAda and the whole nest of vipers will be revealed. Some experts have criticized the Biden administration for not expanding the perimeter around the airport and instead entrusting the Taliban to secure the area. McKenzie's announcement was delivered moments before Politico reported that the U.S. provided the Taliban with a list of U.S. citizens, green card holders, and Afghan allies, believing that the group would help shepherd those names to the relative safety of the airport. What? they are asking alleged terrorists to move their people and agents to safety, are these people serious? An official with the Defense Department lamented that basically, they just put all those Afghans on a kill list.

CNN's airing of an interview with an ISIS-K commander left observers to wonder how the media outlet gained access to the terrorist leader, and protected his identity, two weeks before his group killed nearly 200 people. The interview was aired on Saturday, with the "senior ISIS-K commander" telling CNN reporter Clarissa Ward at a hotel in Kabul that the group was "laying low and waiting for its moment to strike." That moment apparently arrived on Thursday, when a blast for which ISIS-K took responsibility killed 170 Afghans and 13 US servicemen outside the Kabul airport, hundreds more were injured. Ward called the commander's words eerily prophetic, but social media users suggested that the statement was more of a plot than a prophecy, considering the commander was speaking of what his group was about to carry out. Others argued that CNN aided and abetted the Kabul attack by having advance notice, and apparently doing nothing to help prevent it, or lead US authorities to the terrorist commander. I guess you know now why we called it Clown News Network, or CIANN.

The world's media and in particular Australia news all denouncing just how bad Joe Biden is, how he is mentally incompetent, incoherent, bumbling around, falling asleep during meeting with the Israeli premier last week. I am glad the media are waking up to this fact, but mindful of all of them were pushing for Biden to be in power, whilst they were all denigrating Trump at every opportunity. The media were responsible for convincing the bots into voting for this very ill and sick man, who should be in a care home, not supposedly the lead office of the world. Biden refused to answer questions on Afghanistan, indeed Mr. Biden, please tell the world that you are a puppet being operated out of Virginia, and has reduced America to a global embarrassment. Forget Harris taking over she is also deemed incapable, and is a flip flopper on opinions, we need strong leadership for this country, and no one in office resembles anything like strong currently. The great question is, where is Pelosi?

Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) officials have been instructed to avoid saying Mexican cartel or discussing the Mexican government, or LE cooperation with Mexico when speaking with the media, according to an internal. The reason for the shift in messaging is unclear, but comes as Mexican drug cartels continue to surge drugs across the southern border, and adopt more advanced manufacturing and trafficking tactics. The DEA and the DOJ did not respond to the Daily Caller News Foundation's multiple requests for comment on the email. A portion of the email sent mid-July stated: Also, we need to now avoid saying Mexican cartel or discussing the Mexican government or LE cooperation with Mexico. Please continue using drug cartel, TCO, DTO, etc. I guess they missed one acronym out, given they are behind most drug running, the CIA. Perhaps we should just call it the CIA cartel then? Yet more liberal word salad bs'ery, where does this must not offend everyone end? soon you will not be able to speak with these idiots.

The Justice Department on Wednesday asked a Missouri court to invalidate a new state law that prohibits state and local officials from enforcing federal firearms laws, arguing it violates the Constitution and has already done harm to public safety in the state. Federal prosecutors filed a statement of interest in a challenge to the Missouri law brought by St. Louis and Jackson Counties, which seeks to block enforcement of the measure. The Justice Department told the Cole County Circuit Court it supports a finding that the law, known as HB85, is unconstitutional and an order halting its enforcement. HB85 has caused, and will continue to cause, significant harms to law enforcement within the state of Missouri, the Biden administration wrote in its filing. HB85 is also plainly unconstitutional. Prosecutors warned the law has already hindered law enforcement efforts to promote public safety in the state, and is undermining law enforcement activities, as it interrupts federal, state and local partnerships. Signed by Republican Governor Mike Parson in June, the measure at the center of the legal battle enacts a $50,000 fine on any law enforcement agency with officers who knowingly enforce federal firearms rules. Nice to see more evidence of the people fighting back, and some common sense at the DOJ.

A young Chinese woman says she was held for eight days at a Chinese-run secret detention facility in Dubai along with at least two Uyghurs, in what may be the first evidence that China is operating a so-called black site beyond its borders. The woman, 26-year-old Wu Huan, was on the run to avoid extradition back to China because her fiancé was considered a Chinese dissident. Wu told The Associated Press she was abducted from a hotel in Dubai and detained by Chinese officials at a villa converted into a jail, where she saw or heard two other prisoners, both Uyghurs. She was questioned and threatened in Chinese and forced to sign legal documents incriminating her fiancé for harassing her, she said. She was finally released on June 8 and is now seeking asylum in the Netherlands. While black sites are common in China, Wu's account is the only testimony known to experts that Beijing has set one up in another country. Such a site would reflect how China is increasingly using its international clout to detain or bring back citizens it wants from overseas, whether they are dissidents, corruption suspects or ethnic minorities like the Uyghurs. Why can't they just leave people alone, what harm have they ever done to China? Has anyone asked why they are pursuing them?

The U.S. online payments giant said Monday it would let British customers buy, hold and sell digital currencies, starting this week. It marks the first international expansion of PayPal's crypto product, which first launched in the U.S. in October last year. It has been doing really well in the U.S., Jose Fernandez da Ponte, PayPal's general manager for blockchain, crypto and digital currencies, and we expect it's going to do well in the U.K. PayPal's crypto feature lets customers buy or sell bitcoin, bitcoin cash, ethereum or litecoin with as little as £1. Users can also track crypto prices in real-time, and find educational content on the market. Like the U.S. version of the product, PayPal is relying on Paxos, a New York-regulated digital currency company, to enable crypto buying and selling in the U.K. PayPal said it has engaged with relevant U.K. regulators to launch the service. Lets look at Paxos people shall we, Sheila Bair former chairman of the FDIC, Bill Bradley former senator of New Jersey and chairman of Senate finance committee, Patricia Kemp worked for Fintech, Jum Manzi former chairman of Lotus Development which was taken over by IBM, Scott Malpass worked for the Vanguard group and Brian Stern former head of Black Rock. A seedy collection of insiders in Government, Technology companies and greed based harvesting companies. No surprise Paypal involved in this, I just hope Paxos charge them excessive fees like they are now doing to their customers. A recent change in their policy takes another 17c extra off every transaction, so those paying $1 to TPC we are now only receiving 49-51c, utter robbers. We are looking into paying directly into our bank.

Texas Governor Greg Abbott's new executive order bans COVID-19 mandates, regardless of a vaccine's approval status with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Additionally, Abbott says the subject of vaccine mandates will be added to the state legislature's special session agenda. Vaccine requirements and exemptions have historically been determined by the legislature, and their involvement is particularly important to avoid a patchwork of vaccine mandates across Texas. Shortly after the news, many bots took to Twitter to call out Abbott's latest action. Former San Antonio Mayor Julián Castro tweeted the order isn't about Texans' freedom. He says, this is about Abbott playing political games with a deadly virus to placate his extreme right-wing base. One has to ask, is Julian Castro even human, given his picture, very creepy looking one has to say. There is no right or left wing base Mr. Castro they are prepared labels for idiots like you to follow and attack. San Antonio Independent School District also told a reporter, that it will continue to move forward with its vaccine mandate for its employees. Time for all their employees to sue the school district then, with the backing of the parents of children who attend those schools. Because once mandates takes hold, others will follow.

POSITIVE ACTION NEWS: Beginning August, 9, 2021, Texas Right To Know delivered the Omega Brief to open offices of Texas Representatives, Texas Senators, Governor Greg Abbott, Lt. Governor Dan Patrick, Speaker Dade Phelan, Department of Public Safety Capitol office, and August 17, overnight delivery to Attorney General Ken

Paxton and the State of Department Health and Human Services. Summarized from the July 11, 2021 interview of David Martin, PhD by Reiner Fuellmich, the Omega Brief suggests that the current pandemic is a criminal conspiracy and racketeering enterprise beginning in 1999. The brief includes Dr. Martin's Fauci/COVID-19 Dossier that outlines eight federal criminal charges from evidence contained in patent records. The Omega Brief is a consolidation of evidence of criminal activity provided by national and international expert witnesses, revealing individuals who are responsible for the corona virus pandemic. There is reasonable evidence that federal agencies under the direction of Anthony Fauci, established treatment guidelines mandating a chosen narrative to direct the actions of state medical boards, physicians, hospital and health provider administrators, and state and local DSHS, with premeditated intent to prevent early treatment to escalate fear and death totals, said Sheila Hemphill, CEO and author. The following quotes are referenced by paragraph number (PN) of interview. In 1999, Anthony Fauci funded research at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where the NIAID built, an infectious replication defective corona virus that was specifically targeted for human lung epithelium. In other words, we made SARS and we patented it on April 19, 2002. (PN 12) Per the statement made by Peter Daszak, Head of EcoHealth Alliance reported in the National Academies of Press publication on February 12, 2016, we need to increase public understanding of the need for medical countermeasures such as a pan corona virus vaccine. A key driver is the media, and the economics will follow the hype, we need to use that hype to our advantage to get to the real issues. Investors will respond if they see profit at the end of the process. (PN 48) Evidence establishes, that in-order to achieve world distribution of an annual or bi-annual, mandatory influenza and/or corona virus vaccine, the following possible goals would be necessary. GOAL #1: Create The New Normal campaign for the purpose of getting people to accept universal pan influenza, pan corona virus vaccine as scripted by MERCK in 2004, and adopted by the World Health Organization in 2020. To achieve this goal, the following steps would be necessary: 1. Create simulations and exercises of a pandemic, 2. Create a new virus, though it's really not new. 3. Leak the virus, there wasn't a lab leak this was an intentional bio weaponization, 4. Declare national / state / county emergencies, 5. Create media fear and hysteria. GOAL #2: Warp Speed Vaccine Development. It was necessary for the CDC, which directs state medical boards and state departments of health services, and the National Institute of Health, which directs physicians and hospital policies, to develop guidelines that would effectively insure there would be no adequate, approved, or alternative treatment available, in order to meet Emergency Use Authorization criteria for COVID-19 vaccine development. These guidelines intentionally prohibited early, effective treatments that would have saved lives to protect COVID-19 vaccine development. GOAL #3: COVID-19 vaccines manufacturers to conduct trials on children, with intent to receive full FDA approval in order for the COVID-19 vaccines to be added the childhood vaccine schedule, so that all covered persons are shielded from liability with the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986. With full FDA approval, vaccine manufacturers lose their liability immunity from the Public Readiness and Emergency Preparedness (PREP) Act. GOAL #4: Implement world wide mandates for vaccine compliance with bio-evidenced, identification mark and force vaccine compliance through bio-trackable passports to buy, sell, or travel. Identification mark? back to cattle numbers again? On behalf of Texans and humanity, we plead for Governor Greg Abbott and General Ken Paxton to defend us and enforce SCR 12, to immediately halt state agency and businesses adherence to CDC and NIH guidelines, and command actions necessary to prosecute all perpetrators for racketeering, and for Terror to Intimidate or Coerce a Civilian Population, urged Sheila Hemphill. SCR 12 was signed by Governor Abbott on June 16, 2021, claiming sovereignty under the Tenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution over all powers, not otherwise enumerated and granted to the federal government by the U.S. Constitution, serving notice to the federal government to halt and reverse certain mandates, and providing that certain federal legislation be prohibited or repealed.

This is an update from one of our members. A truck blockade planned for this week for Australia and New Zealand. In all my lifetime up to this point in time, I have never felt quite so convinced that we are in a situation where if people don't wake up to what is happening around them, we could be totally screwed, and for an optimist like myself to say that, it's really saying a lot. We seem to be surrounded by sleepwalkers. Every time I go to the supermarket only to find that I am the only one not wearing a mask, not signing in and not filled with fear of getting too close to other people, I despair. But then, I get out into the community and meet with others who are on the same page, and there are plenty of us, and find that things aren't quite as black as they'd seemed before. Last Sunday, a group of 5-6 thousand of us got together on the NSW - QLD border, to protest against the new and totally illegal requirement that, everyone entering QLD is an essential worker, because nobody else is allowed in. Again both illegal and unconstitutional must be jabbed with the experimental COVID genetic modification device. Without any planning, this event came together uniting people who had decided they'd had more than enough of restrictions, government overreach and tyranny. Together, we braved checkpoints, 5km radius and other arbitrary rules to declare our independence over government tyrants. It was a beautiful day where even the police seemed ashamed of having to follow orders they obviously did not agree with. In fact, the outcome was so positive, it has been decided that this event will be held every Sunday at noon until the border restrictions are lifted. Encouraging stuff and that leads us to more positive stuff in Canada.

Justin Trudeau has been forced to cancel an election rally after a crowd of angry protesters ambushed the event. The Canadian prime minister had been set to address supporters in Bolton, Ontario, but the event was called off over security concerns. Dozens of protesters gathered at the rally and shouted obscenities before Mr. Trudeau could speak. The Liberal prime minister is hoping to secure a majority in a snap general election he called earlier this month. But in recent days his canvassing efforts have been dogged by protests against Covid-19 vaccines and government restrictions. More good stuff, keep putting these parasites on notice, they are weak and shameless, but getting in their faces creates much fear in them, they are not used to it.

Hundreds of French citizens boycott vaccine passports by arranging a picnic and eating right in front of nearly empty, vaxx-only bars and restaurants. That is what I call clever activism, thinking on your feet and a safe, poignant and effective way to raise attention.

This was a letter from an American? teacher. Today was my last day as a public school teacher, I have officially resigned effective immediately. I know what I stand for and I know what is right, this is not right. Segregation and discrimination against groups of people used to be illegal! It blows my mind that these things are being accepted in front of our own eyes, our children's eyes, in our communities. Our rights are being ripped out from under us and I will not allow this, not for myself, not for my own children, and not for my family. I will not be a part of a system that is doing more harm than good to our children, I will no longer be part of this problem and the divide it is causing. If you know me or if I've taught your child, you know that this is my life, I eat, sleep, and breathe teaching. Everything I do has always been for my students. I know how much they needed me this year more than ever. But what they need the most is someone standing up to this and fighting for their future. I will never comply to these illegal mandates that violate my constitutional rights, I have a right to choose what's best for me, they have a right too. The time is always right to do what's right, silence is an answer, ignoring this is an answer. Sweeping this under the rug and following marching orders is not the right thing to do. I'm so scared, nervous, sad, angry, frustrated, relieved, and happy all at once. I don't need a classroom to teach and I won't stop teaching. I'm so excited on the journey ahead and being able to teach without restrictions, or modern day classroom bullying of being told what to do and how to serve my students. Konawaena Elementary, you lost a damn good thing when this teacher handed in her keys today. Ashley Oyama. Hear, Hear Ashley.

COVID BS: New Zealand has reported what it believes to be its first death linked to the Pfizer Covid-19 vaccine. An independent vaccine safety monitoring board said the woman's death was probably due to myocarditis, an inflammation of the heart muscle. That is what stupidity gets you these days, taking a vaccine for an illness you didn't have, unlikely to get and even if you did your recovery rate is 99.97%, is beyond stupid at this point. Weak people riddled with fear has produced these deaths, injuries, economic collapse, lost businesses and jobs, lockdowns and masks.

The official figures can't be wrong, so here are their official figures of vaccine issues. The EU Covid death and side effects updated to August 14th, 21,766 and 2,074,410 side effects of which over 50% are serious. The UK figures to August 4th, 1559 deaths and 1,135,579 adverse effects. America figures to August 6th, 12,791 deaths and 682,873 adverse effects. 1270 Premature baby deaths following vaccine. A Health Impact News reader from Brazil has alerted us to official media reports stating that during a 5-month period, over 32,000 people in Brazil have died following a COVID-19 injection.

Israel is now requiring anyone over the age of three to show proof of vaccination, or a negative Covid-19 test before entering many indoor spaces, as it tackles a sharp rise in infections. All of which proves their forced vaccinations program doesn't work, otherwise figures would have gone down drastically. But I suppose it makes a change from the Talmud version of, it is ok to have sex with 3 years and 1 day old children I suppose. Restaurants, cafes, museums, libraries, gyms and pools are among the venues covered by the Green Pass system. However, proof of immunity is not needed to go into shops or malls. The country's Covid-19 tsar said it was at war with the virus despite its world-leading vaccination programme. The government has sought to combat the surge by reinstating the restrictions it lifted in mid-June and by bringing back the Green Pass, which shows whether someone has been fully vaccinated, has recently recovered from Covid-19, or tested negative in the previous 24 hours. Before Wednesday only children aged 12 and over, who have been eligible to get a vaccine since June, and adults were required to present a Green Pass. It will now also apply to children between the ages of three and 11. Their tests will be funded by the government as they are ineligible for vaccination, unless they are five or older and are considered at significant risk from Covid-19. The approximately one million residents, about 11% of the population who have not been vaccinated despite being eligible must pay for their own tests. Israel has also begun giving third doses of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine to people over 50, medical workers and those with underlying health conditions. So far, some 1.1 million eligible people have received their booster shots. Israeli healthcare provider Maccabi, which covers about a quarter of the population, that a third Pfizer dose was 86% effective at preventing Covid-19 infection in people over 60. Which is even less than the original vaccine efficacy estimates. Green pass, green deal makes one think of the green color program and Dr. Green and the Mengele program, maybe one and the same?

Scott Gottlieb, who stepped down as Food and Drug Administration Commissioner in April, will join Pfizer's board of directors, the company announced Thursday. Gottlieb resigned from the FDA this spring after nearly two years at the helm. Is that not a conflict of interest between Pfizer and the FDA? During his tenure, Gottlieb advanced a number of prescription drug policies, including to push the FDA to speed up generic drug approvals and use its powers to encourage wider use of biosimilars, or copycat versions of complex and often costly biologic drugs. What are biosimilars? these are repackaged drugs after expiry of the patent of previous drugs. So how are they made? by cloning of human genetic material, and development of in vitro biological production systems, has allowed the production of virtually any recombinant DNA based biological substance, for eventual development of a drug. Monoclonal antibody technology combined with recombinant DNA technology, has paved the way for tailor-made and targeted medicines. Depends on what they really mean by targeted, doesn't it? Gene and cell based therapies are emerging as new approaches. Recombinant therapeutic proteins are of a complex nature, composed of a long chain of amino acids, modified amino acids, derivatized by sugar moieties, folded by complex mechanisms. These proteins are made in living cells, bacteria, yeast, animal or human cell lines. The ultimate characteristics of a drug containing a recombinant therapeutic protein are to a large part, determined by the process through which they are produced: choice of the cell type, development of the genetically modified cell for production, production process, purification process, formulation of the therapeutic protein into a drug. After the expiry of the patent of approved recombinant drugs, e.g., insulin, human growth hormone, interferons, erythropoietin, monoclonal antibodies and more, any other biotech company can develop and market these biologics, thus called biosimilars. Biosimilar manufacturers, including Pfizer, have complained about roadblocks stalling biosimilars from becoming widely used. Having Gottlieb to advise the company could help Pfizer, one of the largest biopharmaceutical companies, navigate the landscape. In a tweet, Gottlieb said he's honored to join the board to promote medical innovation, advance patient care, and secure access to better healthcare outcomes for families around the world. Cloning of human genetic material? how was the material acquired one must ask? These biolabs need to be reined in, the public has no idea what these people are up to, blindly trusting their science and methodology has proven over the last 18 months as pure folly. We need an independent global assessment team to analyze all these labs and what they are doing, before these psychopaths turn us into some of the greys. Gottlieb born in New Jersey, born to Jewish parents.

The Archdiocese of Chicago this week announced all employees and clergy will be required to get vaccinated against COVID-19. The archdiocese's vaccination policy will take effect Oct. 4, giving unvaccinated employees six weeks, instead of the original five weeks, from FDA approval to get their shots. We are providing an extra week to allow more time for individuals to plan and schedule their vaccinations. How benevolent of them, except the FDA has not given approval, are they medical prophets now? While people will have an opportunity to request a medical exemption, religious objections will not be considered. Interesting, religious objections will not be considered, are they culling their flock? The archdiocese and its agencies, including Catholic Charities and Misericordia, join a growing list of organizations requiring COVID shots for most workers and patrons as the delta variant surges. We have made this decision convinced that this is the best way to stop the spread of this deadly illness, Cardinal Blase J. Cupich, archbishop of Chicago, said in a Thursday email to clergy and staff. Following the lead of Pope Francis, we encourage everyone to be vaccinated as an act of charity. So, putting yourself at great risk of death and serious side effects for an illness 99.97% will never get, is now considered by the church of psychopaths, an act of charity - oh dear. Religious exemptions to vaccination cannot be supported by Catholic teaching, and I have instructed our pastors not to grant them. What exactly is Catholic teachings? believe in fake sky gods with anger management issues, fake books, torture, murder, harvesting, war, pedophilia, the mafia and quite frankly the most bizarre conspiracy theories ever it seems to me. More than 90 percent of its more than 15,000 employees already have been vaccinated, the email says. The policy, which does not apply to volunteers, is set to take effect six weeks after the FDA approves any of the three COVID shots, the vaccines currently are authorized under emergency use. Unvaccinated people will be required to get tested weekly and wear masks in Archdiocese facilities at all times, according to the policy. Additionally, unvaccinated people may be prohibited from entering the facilities, or unable to use certain amenities, like lunchrooms. What happened to the church accepted all gods children? does their god now consider unvaccinated people as outcasts? well after all he did throw out his first children for eating an apple FSS.

Chicago's lead puppet for the corona virus scam is Allison Arwady, so lets look at her connections shall we. Dr. Allison Arwady, MD, MPH, is the Commissioner of the Chicago Department of Public Health. She was at CDPH for four years in the role of Chief Medical Officer before being nominated for Commissioner in 2019. As Chief Medical Officer, she oversaw the disease control, environmental health, emergency preparedness, and behavioral health divisions. She has also worked on disease outbreaks, immunization promotion, tuberculosis response, substance misuse and more. Prior to CDPH, Dr. Arwady worked for the CDC as an Epidemic Intelligence Service Officer based at the Illinois Department of Public Health. She earned her bachelor's degree from Harvard University and her master's degree in public health from Columbia University. She completed medical school and clinical training at Yale University. She is a board-certified internal medicine physician and pediatrician, and she continues to see primary care patients as a volunteer at Chicago's largest free clinic. All those degrees and training and not an ounce of common sense, or I guess we could say extra money in her pocket supersedes her background knowledge.

In a new research paper published in the journal Toxicology Reports, author Neil Z. Miller found that out of a total of 2,605 infant deaths reported to VAERS between 1990 and 2019, 58% occurred within three days of vaccination, and 78% occurred within seven days of vaccination.

OTHER ITEMS: This is part of an Amazon policy and if true, one can never be certain these days, highlights more the bizarre world they live in and their fear based rhetoric and prophecies. Sections 42.10. Acceptable Use; Safety-Critical Systems. Your use of the Lumberyard Materials must comply with the AWS Acceptable Use Policy. The Lumberyard Materials are not intended for use with life-critical or safety-critical systems, such as use in operation of medical equipment, automated transportation systems, autonomous vehicles, aircraft or air traffic control, nuclear facilities, manned spacecraft, or military use in connection with live combat. However, this restriction will not apply in the event of the occurrence, certified by the United States Centers for Disease Control or successor body, or successor body? is the CDC being replaced? Of a widespread viral infection transmitted via bites or contact with, bodily fluids that causes human corpses to reanimate and seek to consume living human flesh, blood, brain or nerve tissue and is likely to result in the fall of organized civilization. Utter bizarre, but echoes the zombie virus the clowns wanted to run on the populace in 2017, and failed. So, in 2020 they ran the stupidity virus on the populace instead, and oh how that worked for them. But, it brought great benefits for those awakened, as finally full proof of the stupidity of the establishment, including Governments, Politicians, Experts and the MSM media was all laid to bare. Also, it exposed just how many complaint and stupid people there are, and how we have to work harder to protect our sanity, our being and our world.

Meet the typical 40-year-old millennial, who has $128,000 in debt, is not nearly as wealthy as their parents were, and is known as 'geriatric'. The oldest millennials turn 40 this year. They have less wealth, more debt, and about the same earnings as past generations at their age. They straddle the digital worlds of old PCs and today's social-media apps. The oldest millennials enter middle age this year. The generation is now aged between 25 and 40, according to the Pew Research Center's definition. Yes, like everyone, millennials are aging, but it's a hard concept to grasp when the media narrative has painted millennials as young, frivolous 20-somethings who love selfies and can't afford anything because they spend too much money on avocado toast. It's an inaccurate picture of the generation, which has been shaped by technological advancements and a broken economy. But the typical 40-year-old millennial especially doesn't quite align with this image. Many feel they embody some characteristics of both Gen X and millennials, having experience with both analog and digital worlds. Millennials are known for battling a series of economic challenges, from student debt to the Great Recession. The typical 40-year-old millennial bore the brunt of the financial crisis, which left them with less wealth and more debt than past generations at their age. But compared to their younger generational peers, they have less student debt and are more likely to own homes and have kids, a sign that many have recovered from the financial fallout. Or perhaps they are more savvy than people give them credit for? the last generation before the input of the children with extras in the 2000's. Just perhaps they are leading the way in a new humanity, and can go on and teach the next generation a better way to be, act and think in life, devoid of the excessive debt cycle trappings older generations bought into.

Bank of America, Lowe's, and Truist Financial Corporation sponsored a United Way critical race theory, Racial Equity 21-Day Challenge claiming that America is systemically and institutionally racist, encouraging participants to decolonize their minds and to get woke at work, and urging white people to cede power to people of color. Christopher Rufo, a senior fellow at the Manhattan Institute, first revealed the critical race theory challenge, presenting documents he obtained from a whistleblower. Rufo reported that Bank of America encouraged North Carolina employees to undertake the Racial Equity 21-Day Challenge, but support for the critical race theory training extended far beyond that Bank of America branch. Truist Financial Corporation, Lowe's and Bank of America served as presenting sponsors and equity champions for the challenge, while Ally Financial, Atrium Health, Duke Energy and McGuireWoods joined the effort as equity ally sponsors. Ernst & Young, First National Bank, Gambrell Foundation, Grant Thornton and Knight Foundation joined the effort as equity partner sponsors. Yet again, banks dictating policy, all designed to create friction and develop more wars, of which they make more shekels off both sides. The politicalization of schools has to be stopped and the quickest way to fight back is, boycott these banks named, remove your money and cut them off. Boycott Lowes, although the alternative is the CIA owned Home Depot brigade, maybe buy tools and stuff online from suppliers not taken over by Amazon, will be a good thing to do.

More word magic for you, that again backs up our FRWL series. The phrase Phre Massen means brother of the sun, the fake solar being is Ra or Amun Ra, phre massen = freemason.

We have spoken many times of speaking, thinking and acting from the heart, not the head. The heart has more neurons than the brain, and so you are more capable of thinking from there than the head. The other benefits of it is, the heart cannot be mind controlled like the brain, your brain often argues with you in decision making due to the split of the hemispheres, this is overcome by self mastery and recognizing parts of you that don't serve you, and adapting more the parts that do. The sword effect completes that inner anomaly once it is perfected, having got free of the solar plexus and throat chakra blocks society imposes on you, but you allowed it. The solar plexus is the 3rd chakra and in my opinion linked to the astral level, and why society uses the mind control meme of, go with your gut or what does your gut say. You know that is a program, as it doesn't make sense. Well guess what? science has just proven all that we have revealed on our show in relation to the heart. A scientifically controlled study conducted by German researchers at the University of Kassel has shown, that while the chest area of an average person emits only 20 photons of light per second, someone who meditates on their heart center and sends love and light to others emits an amazing 100,000 photons per second. The term light up your beacons makes more sense now doesn't it. That is 5000 times more than the average human being. Numerous studies have also shown that when these photons are infused with a loving and healing intent, their frequency and vibration increases to the point where they can literally change matter, heal disease, and transform negative events. The Heart also loves, feels, thinks and remembers and communicates with other Hearts. It stores information and continually with each beat pulses this information through the body. It is far more than what modern science would have you believe. It is also a pump that pumps the cellular symphony that is the very essence of your being, and it is a magnetic and radiating vortex and the true source of human power. A radiating vortex, as above so below springs to mind, also as within also without fits nicely as well, the heart is the center of your own vortex, time to let it flow and fire it up.

Lets throw some light on a substance rarely covered too much, Radon, and all about perspectives. Radon is a radioactive, colorless, odorless, tasteless noble gas, occurring naturally as the decay product of radium. It is one of the densest substances that remains a gas under normal conditions, and is considered to be a health hazard due to its radioactivity. Its most stable isotope, ^{222}Rn , has a half-life of 3.8 days. Due to its high radioactivity, it has been less well-studied by chemists, but a few compounds are known. Radon is formed as part of the normal radioactive decay chain of uranium into ^{206}Pb . Uranium has been present since the earth was formed and its most common isotope has a very long half-life (4.5 billion years), which is the time required for one-half of uranium to break down. How would they know it takes 4.5B years. essentially they are saying Uranium has been breaking down since the formation of the solar system, does that make sense? Thus, uranium and radon, will continue to occur for millions of years at about the same concentrations as they do now. Radon is responsible for the majority of the mean public exposure to ionizing radiation. It is often the single largest contributor to an individual's background radiation dose, and is the most variable from location to location. Radon gas from natural sources can accumulate in buildings, especially in confined areas such as attics, and basements. It can also be found in some spring waters and hot springs. According to a 2003 report EPA's Assessment of Risks from Radon in Homes from the United States Environmental Protection Agency, epidemiological evidence shows a clear link between lung cancer and high concentrations of radon, with 21,000 radon-induced U.S. lung cancer deaths per year, second only to cigarette smoking. Which is not correct, smoking was the previous fear based illness prior to Covid. Thus in geographic areas where radon is present in heightened concentrations, radon is considered a significant indoor air contaminant. Which proves the folly of lockdowns being far more dangerous than going outside, EPA estimates are that your home is 5-8 times more contaminated than outside. It is now 30k American deaths per year which far exceeds the numbers of the Covid scam, yet little is done about it. Where is the fake national media and government outcry over this? What about the outcry over the third leading cause of death of Americans, being medical malpractice.

The SEALs may be the only pop-culture heroes to emerge from the disastrous wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, because they're the guys who killed Osama bin Laden, or so we are told, in reality Bin Laden died of kidney failure in December 2011. In blockbuster movies and best-selling books, such as American Sniper and Lone Survivor, they battle not only a ruthless enemy but also risk-averse generals, incompetent politicians and an indifferent citizenry. America might have lost its post-9/11 wars, but the SEALs won theirs, at least in their memoirs and at the movies. More quietly, the conventional Army and Marine Corps units in Afghanistan and Iraq often told a different story of the SEALs' exploits. In their version, the shadowy special operators swooped into villages at night with little warning, knocking down doors, killing civilians and creating new enemies who mounted even more furious attacks on the U.S. troops left behind to clean up their mess. David Philipps's Alpha: Eddie Gallagher and the War for the Soul of the Navy SEALs draws a bit from both of these narrative traditions. The core of Philipps's book is Special Operations Chief Eddie Gallagher, a senior enlisted SEAL and antihero who is portrayed as possessing almost superhuman powers. Possibly a super soldier program then. In Philipps's telling, Gallagher is a narcissistic sociopath with ice-blue eyes who opens fire on old men and little girls. The Navy's failed attempt to convict him of murdering a badly wounded Islamic State war prisoner during the 2017 battle for Mosul, a crime that Gallagher seemed to brag about in text messages, results in not only his acquittal but also the forced resignation of the secretary of the Navy. Yes that guy is a high level program member, based on that exchange. But Philipps's book raises an uncomfortable question: What if the SEALs are terrible at their jobs? SEAL leaders chose Gallagher's Alpha platoon for the mission to liberate Mosul from the Islamic State, because they believed that the unit, and Gallagher, were among the Navy's best. But in combat, Gallagher and Alpha platoon were a disaster. Rather than focusing on the enemy, Gallagher's men felt obligated to fire warning shots at women and children in an attempt to keep them away from their chief, who they said tried to kill just about every civilian who wandered into his rifle sight. Philipps describes the pressure that weighed on Special Operator 1st Class Dylan Dille as he sought to protect Iraqis from his boss: It was exhausting, the tension of being forced to fire at people to make them flee in terror, without accidentally killing them left him covered in sweat. Yes, another myth exploded about the American Military and their non heroic exploits, it is all based on lies. American soldiers are told to stir up the war, not defuse it and yet for that they are given badges of dishonor, and worshipped by a gullible public criminally short of knowledge on these matters. In the future the real truth must be told, and less of this Hollywood based heroic American military bs.

The shambolic ways of the US Military is laid to bare for the world to see with events surrounding Afghanistan. Failed to stop the bombing, then launch a missile strike on an alleged bomb plot which ended up killing 10 civilians from one family, and the Pentagon said they don't know when the evacuations would be finished. Are they telling us after being there 20 years they never had an exit strategy? seriously, we are paying the DOD a $1T a year and they can't formulate a simple plan, other than to blitz innocent people and their infrastructure from 30K feet. Or is it unfolding as I warned a few years ago, where I said they would be replaced? Make them look incompetent on a global scale, scale back their involvement, gradually replace them with their technology and close them down, just like what happened with the British and Dutch Military groups of the past. Time to rethink Military strategy and stop using it as a harvesting group to bully countries out of resources and fair elections, and develop of a proper Military of defense, not attack, and combine it into a globally equal Military in defense of the planet, not for the benefit of greed based psychopathic overlords. John Kirby at the news conference said this: make no mistake, no military on the face of the earth works harder to avoid civilian casualties than the United States' military, and nobody wants to see innocent life taken. Do you think we are all stupid Mr. Kirby, 100Ks of deaths in Iraq to capture one man, possibly as many as 2M to capture one man and a band of criminals funded by an agency on your own soil, and you think that is avoiding casualties? How about the hundreds if not thousands of Americans killed by so called friendly fire, did you work hard on that? Child level thinking Mr. Kirby, this is not an Xbox game, this is real life, and the US Military have shown they have no value in life, including their so called own soldiers, corrected soul diers. Lt. Col Stuart Scheller who stood up at great personal risk to himself, he and other marines are pissed off at senior leaders lacking of planning, strategy and more importantly accountability for their mistakes. Hopefully the clown bullies don't make an example of him, because the man spoke the truth. All this as the US Army is looking for recruits for internment/resettlement specialists, why not call it as it is, Gulag bullies, the American people need to turn on the US Military and quickly, not the soldiers. Perhaps it is fitting to mention George McGovern who was fiercely anti war through the 60's and 70's who said this in Congress. Every Senator in this chamber is partly responsible for sending 50,000 young Americans to an early grave. This chamber reeks of blood. Every Senator here is partly responsible for that human wreckage at Walter Reed and Bethesda Naval and all across our land, young men without legs, or arms, or genitals, or faces or hopes. There are not very many of these blasted and broken boys who think this war is a glorious adventure. Do not talk to them about bugging out, or national honor or courage. It does not take any courage at all for a congressman, or a senator, or a president to wrap himself in the flag and say we are staying in Vietnam, because it is not our blood that is being shed. But we are responsible for those young men and their lives and their hopes, and if we do not end this damnable war those young men will some day curse us, for our pitiful willingness to let the Executive carry the burden that the Constitution places on us. In a retort to the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee chairman John Stennis's suggestion that U.S. troops might have to return to Cambodia, McGovern declared, I'm tired of old men dreaming up wars for young men to fight. Therein lies the problem, old mind controlled puppets at the highest offices of the Military commit young people to their deaths, harm and drug addiction, it is high time it was stopped. It is high time American people stop praising war efforts and learn to accept and work towards peace efforts, that is the adult thing to do.

EXPOSE 1: The Project for the New American Century (PNAC) was a neoconservative think tank based in Washington, D.C. that focused on United States foreign policy. It was established as a non-profit educational organization in 1997, and founded by William Kristol and Robert Kagan. Of the twenty-five people who signed PNAC's founding statement of principles, ten went on to serve in the administration of U.S. President George W. Bush, including Dick Cheney, Donald Rumsfeld, and Paul Wolfowitz, add in Richard Perle, R. James Woolsey, Elliot Abrams, Robert Zoellick, and John Bolton. One of the PNAC's most influential publications was a 90-page report titled Rebuilding America's Defenses: Strategies, Forces, and Resources For a New Century. Citing the PNAC's 1997 Statement of Principles, Rebuilding America's Defenses asserted that the United States should seek to preserve and extend its position of global leadership, by maintaining the preeminence of U.S. military forces. Hence the increase to around 900 US Military bases globally, did you know there is that many, they don't have an official number of how many bases there are? We the people are paying for those bases, what benefits have we had from them? and why are we paying for psychopathic think tank policies? By the end of 2006, PNAC was reduced to a voice-mail box and a ghostly website, with a single employee left to wrap things up, according to a correspondent at the BBC News. When one closes down, another pops up. Watch Behind The Headlines correspondent Dan Cohen explain how top foreign policy reporters are linked to the U.S. government, weapons industry and oil corporations, the very forces they are supposed to hold accountable. Imagine a country where there's no separation between the government, the military, and the media. A lot of Americans would think of China, Russia or North Korea, but it's a perfect description of the United States today. Here in Washington, the think tank inside this nondescript building, Center For A New American Security (CNAS) is the clearest example of just that. CNAS is a premier militarist think tank in the nation's capital, especially for Democratic Party administrations. It is funded by the State Department and Pentagon and has taken more money from weapons companies over the last several years than any other think tank. No, it is funded by we the people, because it is the people who fund the State Dept and the treasonous Pentagon. On top of that, it's funded by oil companies, big banks, and right wing governments, basically the most destructive forces on the planet. For President Joe Biden, CNAS serves as a farm, from which key positions in his administration are cultivated. Interesting term he used there is a farm, farm is the remit of the CIA and their differing divisions, they are called farms. In fact, at least 16 CNAS alumni are now in key positions in the Biden Pentagon and State Department. But what's most shocking is that several national security and foreign policy reporters from elite U.S. media outlets are affiliated with

CNAS, and therefore indirectly affiliated with, and likely paid by, the U.S. government and corporations, the very forces that they should be holding accountable. For more than twenty years, New York Times Washington correspondent David Sanger has relentlessly pushed deceptions, to con the public into supporting U.S. aggression and war. Sanger born in and born to, went to Harvard, is a member of CFR, and the Aspen strategy group that included such infamous clowns like Condoleeza Rice, and fellow Jewish psychopath Madeleine Albright. From the George W. Bush administration's lies about WMDs in Iraq, to lies about Iran attempting to create nuclear weapons, and evidence-free claims from intelligence agencies about Russian cyberattacks. These incendiary allegations were taken at face value with a clear goal, to pressure then-President Donald Trump to ramp up aggression against Moscow, while conveniently filling the pockets of Sanger's weapons-industry benefactors. Sanger's neocon cyberwar fantasy was even turned into a movie by HBO. Today, David Sanger is onto the COVID-19 lab leak theory. He's been at the forefront of every propaganda campaign that not only provides justification for aggression and war, but also helps generate huge profits for CNAS funders. Sanger is just one of several New York Times, Washington Post and Foreign Policy reporters who have residencies at CNAS. Presumably, that comes with a sizable financial component. I emailed CNAS to ask whether it pays these reporters but they didn't respond. Sanger's colleague Eric Schmitt, senior correspondent covering national security for The New York Times, is also in residence at CNAS. Back in 2020, Schmitt was promoting the obviously false Russian bounties story, which was later retracted after it had served its political purpose to force Trump to take a harder anti-Russia stance. Of course, Schmitt was a reliable promoter of intelligence claims about Russian hacking, yet never displaying a scintilla of skepticism. He dutifully portrayed the Trump administration's aggression against Iran as defensive. The Washington Post, at one point, found this kind of blatant media corruption at least questionable. In 2011, Time magazine launched a series in collaboration with CNAS to promote war propaganda, the Post published an article questioning the ethics of that partnership. Fast-forward to 2013: billionaire Jeff Bezos buys the Post, and its correspondent, David Finkel, becomes a writer in residence at CNAS. During that time, Finkel wrote two books on the U.S. war in Iraq: The Good Soldiers and Thank You For Your Service. Just the kind of whitewash of the war that CNAS's funders would want the public to consume. David Finkel born to. Michael Gordon is another he spent three decades at the Times, among his greatest accomplishments was, alongside Judith Miller, promoting the Bush administration's Iraqi WMD deception. Gordon was the first to report that Iraq and Saddam has stepped up its quest for nuclear weapons, and has embarked on a worldwide hunt for materials to make an atomic bomb, citing anonymous U.S. officials. Now at The Wall Street Journal, Gordon has spent months pumping out Wuhan lab-leak propaganda, once again promoting claims of intelligence officials without any skepticism. Greg Jaffe is a Washington Post national security reporter and another writer in residence at CNAS. His article on the U.S. withdrawal from Afghanistan quotes Eliot Cohen, a former Bush administration official who is now a fellow at CNAS. Jaffe and Cohen's shared affiliation is never disclosed in the article, an obvious breach of the most basic journalistic ethics. Eliot Cohen born to. Thom Shanker used to be part of the CNAS writer-in-residence program when he was at the Times writing on U.S. wars. In 2012, Shanker wrote this blog post promoting a CNAS study without revealing his affiliation. Once again, a major conflict of interest and ethics out the window. There's also Rajiv Chandrasekaran, who spent two decades doing public relations for U.S. wars at the Post and is now doing PR for Starbucks. Thomas Ricks, whose career has spanned posts at The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post and Foreign Policy magazine. Ricks is a cold-warrior who has publicly stated, that Putin is attacking the United States just like Osama Bin Laden did, and that Americans defending Putin are no different from those defending Bin Laden. Some of this information isn't new, it was reported in The Nation more than a decade ago. Ricks did an interview on Fox in 2012 about the Benghazi attack, and walked out after 90 seconds sighting Fox was an arm of the Republican party. But the issue has only gotten worse as U.S. politics have shifted right, spy agencies have gained more power in the media, and the new cold war has accelerated. There's no real separation between the myriad of revolving doors and cash flow between the weapons manufacturers, think tanks, the U.S. government and media. It's an incestuous, bloviating blob capable of producing one thing and one thing only: war. So when you think of the military industrial complex and the permanent war state, don't forget about what might be the most important component of all: the media. A good article that exposes the hidden nest of vipers everywhere in political circles, all backed up by criminal media, who are but patsies for the Intelligence agencies.

EXPOSE 2: The uncomfortable fact which too many commentators tend to run away from out of fear, ignorance or intellectual dishonesty, is that the world financial system is sitting on the verge of a global financial meltdown of a $1.2 quadrillion derivatives time bomb which former Bank of England Governor Mervyn King stated in September 2019 is on the verge of financial Armageddon. This grim reality was known long before the COVID pandemic was launched during October 2019's Event 201. It is this oncoming financial meltdown that underlies the war drive against China which certain western geopoliticians fear will shape the new system which they sought to control. France's Bruno Lemaire laid out this fear in the most candid way in July 2019 when he said unless we are able to reinvent Bretton Woods, The New Silk Roads might become the new world order. It is the NWO, repeating the past with the Asians, sub gray race and the modern term Jews, they ran the trading posts all along the silk roads, and collected many shekels. As time moved on, they then used the Knight's Templars of the church to underpin their looting and highway robbery of the public. So what role does Canada play in this and how does this affect the shakeup in the current Canadian government now moving into a snap election on September 20, 2021? Why would Chrystia Freeland, a Rhodes Scholar more proficient in regime change than banking, be given the reigns of Canada's economic order during these trying times? Freeland like her alt media patsy sister Elana, are establishment clowns, Elana like the other alt media patsy who has disappeared now since we exposed her, Cara St. Louis, real name Orendorf, both were products of the Waldorf "training" school, think Svali. To answer these questions, we must review the role of Mark Carney, UN Special Envoy on Climate Action, former head of the Bank of England, and leading organizer of the upcoming COP26 Summit to be held in the UK this coming November. Carney the Eco-Warrior Takes the Helm Again When Mark Carney stepped down from the position of Governor of the Bank of Canada in 2013, to become the first non-British Governor of the Bank of England since the private central bank was created in 1694, it was made clearly known that this Oxford-trained Canadian technocrat had been vetted by some very high level powers. After training for years as a Goldman Sachs investment banker, where his activities helped fuel the bubble that nearly brought down the world economy in 2008, Carney was brought into the Governorship of the Bank of Canada to take on the role as the clean, conservative-minded Canadian central banker navigating through the chaos which his former employer helped create. It was at this time that Carney became a member of the Rockefeller Foundation's Group of 30, Foundation board member of the World Economic Forum and leading participant at Bilderberg and Davos events. While still Bank of Canada governor, Carney was handed the keys to the BIS's Financial Stability Board by fellow Goldman Sachs man Mario Draghi in 2011, where he managed global derivatives regulation, which is the fuse of the international weapon of mass financial destruction now bursting at the seams. After serving seven years as Governor of the Bank of England (2013- March 2020) the world economic system has been stretched to its limits, and the oncoming collapse has been accelerated by a global pandemic. The oncoming collapse was nothing to do with Covid, Covid provided them with a back drop, efforts by the Trustee and the team rendered their banking system defunct, and due to their financial stealing, they lost trillions of dollars in available funds. The money in circulation went from $123T to between $40-60T, so they needed a lockdown of businesses and cash flow, whilst needing a cash flow themselves to fund the lockdown, which was duly provided by Trump via the Trustee. After 7 years in the City of London, Carney returned back to Canada to shape the Build Back Better program, which essentially laid out a policy for decarbonization in a post-COVID era. On August 10th of last year, it was first announced that Mark Carney was running a task force to restart the economy, titled the Canadian Pandemic Recovery Plan which aimed at putting into motion those Green New Deal reforms laid out during the World Economic Forum's "Great Reset" summit of July 14, 2020. Green deal is the remit of Mr. Pelosi. The Great Reset Fraud: As I laid out in my recent paper The Great Reset Fraud, this program is little more than a cover for global depopulation and world government, run by the same arsonists who have lit the world economy on fire in the first place. Echoing the Great Green Reset program, Freeland pointed out on August 18, the collapse of jobs, irreversible shutdown of businesses, the unmanageable growth of a $343 billion deficit, and phase out of Emergency Response Benefits will need to be green and driven by the goal of decarbonization. When asked about decarbonization specifically, Freeland stated of course, it has to be part of it. I think all Canadians understand that a restart of our economy needs to be green. Why green? what does it mean? most will assume it is healthy living and to do with plants, but what if it is the Dr. Green program, of which Canada is infamous for? She then smiled and stated that this crisis is actually a wonderful opportunity. Calling for a new hierarchy of values which will shape the new system which Carney and Freeland, both Oxford trained technocrats believe will come online in short order, Carney stated the great test whether this new hierarchy of values will prevail is climate change. For anyone sick of the immoral, monetarist religion of free markets that have run roughshod over the world for the past forty years of post-industrial decay, war and speculation, the proposition to change our hierarchy of values may seem like a breath of fresh air. The problem is that the drive of a green economy of green bonds, green grids, carbon taxes, cap and trades, and green banking will tend to cause humanity as a whole to suffer immensely, and will strip nation states of the productive industrial potential needed to resist the will of a transnational oligarchy. Like all nations, Canada's economy is extremely reliant on fossil fuels, and every attempt made to create green infrastructure grids has resulted in massive energy price spikes for consumers, unreliable electricity prone to blackouts, and massive tax-payer subsidies to keep green industries financially viable. These problems have required the emergence of green reset task forces using a pandemic to force through changes, which would never be democratically accepted under normal circumstances. The Carney/Freeland Great Reset Task Force: For the past several years, both Carney and Freeland have been laying the groundwork for a new system of measuring value, aimed at reducing both national sovereignty and nations' physical capabilities to sustain human life, while simultaneously, and quite ironically, doing grave damage to the environment. For starters, Carney's Task Force on Climate Related Financial Disclosures co-run by New York billionaire Michael Bloomberg, aims to force all companies in the world to disclose all activities that either create carbon dioxide, or disrupt supposed states of natural equilibrium, which mathematical ivory tower ecologists presume govern all natural states. On February 26, 2020, Carney joined Sir David Attenborough in launching the COP26 Green Private Finance Initiative, to ensure that, every professional financial decision has to take climate change into account. The right framework for reporting, risk management and returns will embed these considerations and help finance a whole economy transition. To achieve net zero, every company, bank, insurer and investor will need to adjust their business models for a low carbon world. Sir Attenborough has been a lifelong friend of Prince Philip and a neo-Malthusian guru, who has attempted to teach the world that all of our woes stem not from systems of empire, but rather to over population. A recent call to leaders to correct this problem using the cover of COVID19, is one of countless testimonies to this misanthropic philosophy. The Green bankers Climate Compact which Carney pioneered would ensure that companies which are considered dirty would never receive loans from banks, and any insurance they received would come at impossibly high premiums as punishment for their climate offending ways. Yes, collect all their monies using dirty techniques that damaged the planet, now we will go green and control who operates and who doesn't. As a shining role model for good green behaviour Carney has cited his former employer Goldman Sachs has already ruled out any future financing for oil drilling, thermal coal projects or Arctic development. In his paper Fifty Shades of Green, Carney stated that all dirty companies with poor climate grades, will either not receive loans or receive loans at such high levels of interest that they will be artificially bankrupted, by taxing polluters to death. Ok, start with Rockefellers, Rothschilds, JP Morgan, the Warburgs and many other bloodline family psychopaths that harvested and ruined the planet for their own greed and control purposes. Dirty companies are known as brown companies, yet more color coded programs. As Carney said in September 2019, the firms that anticipate these developments will be rewarded handsomely, those that don't will cease to exist, another seducement program then. This means that every company working along China's Belt and Road Initiative in Eurasia, the Middle East and Africa would not exist in Carney's world, while any western company which could actually participate positively in the multipolar dynamic, would be cut off of all credit and die. What about Eastern companies? why only Western? oh, we are back to the world's finances going East again. After companies have proven their greenness, simply being approved for bank loans will not be enough to carry out their business. Here Carney and his colleagues at Canada's Infrastructure Investment Bank plan to issue green bonds, which today amount to only 5% of all global bond issuances, but which Carney hopes will soon attain the $3.5 trillion in energy sector investments needed every year for decades, which are required to keep warming below 1.5 degrees. What was the American budget just passed for? $3.5T, seeing the picture now? By re-wiring the Canadian economic system to this new system of values in time for the November 2021 COP26 summit in the UK, where he will act as British Climate Advisor and key organizer. Carney hopes that the Canadian model will be internationalized, so that climate change will affect the value of virtually every financial asset. A New System of Economic Value: The problem with Carney's post-COVID vision is that value is tied not to the rising of living standards, human creative reason or national productive powers of labour, that characterized the creative growth of human civilization for the past several centuries, but rather upon the total inverse. By placing values on reducing human activity, reducing carbon footprints, reducing traces of human activity upon the earth, the potential to sustain life will not only be consciously reduced but financially incentivized. Reducing human activity? depopulation, which may well be underway via the Covid jabbing. Under a Green New Deal, humanity will effectively be imposing forms of energy and practices onto ourselves, which will ensure that we never participate in any large scale projects characteristic of the New Silk Road, Polar Silk Road, Asteroid Defense etc... and will never become capable of freeing themselves from a Malthusian class of supranational bankers managing a post-nation state world order from above. If the world is truly as closed, finite and entropic as the misanthropic minds of an Oxford-trained technocrat like Mark Carney, Chrystia Freeland or David Attenborough, then this sort of post-COVID world order would admittedly be the way to go. If on the other hand, we happen to live in an open system, creative, anti-entropic universe and express a species characteristic of transcending our limits to growth. By making new discoveries and translating those discoveries into new scientific and technological progress, then not only should Freeland, Carney and other Green New Dealers be removed from all positions of high office, but nations should join the multipolar alliance which puts value on increasing humanity's potential, rather than killing off our species under a 21st century blood letting.

Due to nefarious elements within the town I reside, with perhaps the interference of another show in town, they decided at short notice in their wisdom, my time in this town has come to an end. It is not surprising and may well turn out to be a prophetic moving and a beneficial one. I have loved being here and settled in better than I thought, but like all journeys there comes a fork in the road, and my new path brings exciting prospects and projects, and I will be more free of the voyeuristic clowns who watched my every move here. Last Thursday was my last show in Durango, today marks a new beginning for me, the show and us. I look forward to my new adventure and look back with pride, as to what I overcame and achieved being in this town. Some will argue it failed because of the split with Kim, but that was not the case at all. I have done much unheralded work without fanfare long before Kim arrived in my field, and did much alongside of her and also private work that didn't involve Kim before, during or after the split. Much work has progressed since the split, and others speak in harsh terms now of the Trustee on many levels, now claiming that I was the driving force behind it all, that is not for me to say or spout about, but it is interesting their assessments of our work together. One went forward with solutions, ideas and plans, one went backwards with a Black Sun General's puppet with a plethora of failed predictions, rampant nastiness and a hit on her reputation that appears now to be ruins. She went onto going on a look at me on clown radio channels for relevance and no doubt donations, just embarrassing really and also very sad to boot. If you have to lower yourself to those types of shows for relevance, the great question people ask is, why does she seek what she already had and threw away in an all too familiar phase of wrath, no accountability and zero apologies? With wrong intent it was no surprise it tanked. I leave the town in much better energies than when I arrived, a solidarity amongst the others that reside close to here, and understanding with the djinns, who no longer play games to the levels they once did. I bade farewell to Durango and Colorado this week, and moved on with much pride, much satisfaction and a vigorized sense of purpose for a new beginning.
