

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2021-09-23

And so we begin again lots in tonight's show including a World Exclusive to look forward to, which will no doubt trigger certain people and cause some angst. With 6 land lots now in the hands of THI members, 4 more expected to follow within a month and others moving to village to live near or in the village, things are now taking shape. The first house delivery is expected there next week. I have also received an offer for the land behind 3 of our members land lots, and will be considering the offer in a TPC meeting this week. Other progress is being made in the law group and they are about to push onto the next level. The self help group has developed nicely and people are getting much benefit from it. I would like the garden group to start building a database of how things are or can be grown, this maybe more important after tonight's show. The TPC video group now has all entries required once my video and the village video done recently is sent in. I want to say thanks to Jason, Amy, Kevin and others involved in that project they have done a fantastic job. With special thanks to Nicholas O'Neal for his hours and hours of help with video, plus Nicholas is involved in a TPC Texas project of micro greens, contact TPC Texas for links or interest in that project.

As Australians in many cities turn to protect their freedoms in a very public way, particularly Melbourne, in particular construction workers, yet this just happened and such a convenient time for the authorities, what a coincidence. Melbourne's main shopping strip has been likened to a war zone after an earthquake created chaos on Wednesday morning. The Victorian earthquake sent shockwaves through the state capital, that were also felt as far as Canberra, Sydney and Adelaide. A corner of Chapel Street in Melbourne's inner Windsor suburb became littered with fallen bricks after the magnitude 5.8 tremor hit near the regional town of Mansfield at 9.15am. It's like a bomb went off, the outside awnings are gone and it's all over the street, it feels like it's a bit of a war zone, indeed. Construction is now shut down for? two weeeekks. Remarkable coincidence. It is time for the Australian police to step down. I warned in the past the police are in the firing line for an increasingly angry public, which in some cases will be turned against the police. I get you need the job to save your own families, but this is greater than us all, and eventually they will come for you. Police jobs will be replaced by robots, as I warned 3 years ago, Israel has already started it, wake up and smell the NWO will you? None of you have the alleged golden ticket, if they have told you that, they lied. It is time for all communities to come together, whether vaccinated or not, or marked, ain't that right Mrs. Psaki, she called the vaccinated marked this week. The great question is, what did she mean by marked? why describe those vaxxed as marked? is it mark of the beast? again we warned of that in Clowns in Panic. I will tell you who is marked, Military, Police, Politicians, National Guards all of them will be replaced, you are marked for extinction, not greater roles in the chaos, not greater roles in the system, deletion. You lot are the barriers of protection for the psychopaths, are you with us or against us, choose wisely because history will not be kind to you should you continue your us and them policy.

I don't often ascribe to personal praise of myself, but this was written on the speaker chat last week and it can be a rally cry to us all. Thank you Thomas!! Thank you for telling it with all the conviction it deserves! Thank you for describing their path forward. It's not that they need to be educated, but they definitely need to be reminded. You are the greatest unsung hero in our lifetime, and it's time to sing. Blesses to you brother, and everyone at THI, and ALL of us. I guess it is time for us all to sing, be active, play your part, be the change and above all be a better person today than yesterday.

NEWS: Did you know that the media, Government, Agencies, Big Pharma and Military are all listed on a calculator? type in 5317 and then turn it upside down and it reveals them.

Trump chimed in again this week saying a similar theme to many MSM around the world, plus here from both parties, just what is Biden doing? The largest number of illegal aliens in the history of our Country are pouring in by the millions. They are totally unchecked and unvetted, can do whatever they want, and go wherever they want. Our Country is rapidly becoming a cesspool of humanity. Murderers, drug dealers, and criminals of all shapes and sizes are a big part of this massive migration. Tens of thousands of people are coming from Haiti, and many now from countries in Africa, even more so now than South America. Nothing is done and the corrupt Mainstream Media is giving almost no attention to what will be perhaps the greatest Crisis in the history of our Country. This is not just a Border Crisis, this is a Crisis, Crisis. All staged managed by the DNC for nefarious purposes including child trafficking.

You want proof of that and why they won't address the border issue? The U.S. Border Patrol, El Paso Sector has encountered record levels of unaccompanied children (UC) crossing the U.S.-Mexico Border this fiscal year to date. In Fiscal Year 2021 through August 31, more than 20,950 UC's have been encountered by EPT Border Patrol Agents. This number surpasses the prior record for UC encounters in Fiscal Year 2019 of 16,159. Overall, the United States Border Patrol has encountered 130,710 unaccompanied children across the entire southern border. Many of these children are under the age of 12 and are being smuggled and subsequently abandoned at the border.

Meanwhile the Democratic Del Rio Mayor Bruno Lozano called out his party's top two politicians on Saturday, as his town continued to experience the devastating effects of being overrun by illegal aliens on the border. The town of about 35,000 people has seen an explosion of migrants who have illegally entered the U.S., most of whom are from Haiti, by walking across the Rio Grande River. The numbers surged from several hundred a week ago to approximately 15,000 by Saturday. Lozano called out Vice President Kamala Harris, who attended a college football game on Saturday where she conducted the opening coin toss. President Biden went for a bike ride at the beach on Sunday amid multiple national crises, and he refused to answer reporters questions as he biked past them. The great question is, do Americans still think that voting is a valid effort, a worthwhile effort and your vote counts? Welcome to the asylum if you still do, that is why those entering it are seeking asylum.

A coalition of Republican foreign policy leaders in Congress is demanding that the Biden administration, turn over all internal documents and communications related to plans to provide the Taliban with cash assets, a move the coalition says would incentivize the terror group's taking of American hostages. The Republican Study Committee, the largest GOP caucus in Congress, is spearheading a probe that requires the Biden administration to disclose if the Taliban has insisted on U.S. financial aid, in exchange for allowing Americans stranded in the country to return home. The State Department announced last week that it is sending $64 million in humanitarian aid to Taliban-controlled Afghanistan, generating concerns that the Biden administration has agreed to a quid pro quo, in which the terrorist group gets aid dollars in exchange for providing safe passage to those still stranded in the country. Taliban are bought and paid for by the agencies, they are essentially a quid pro CIA army, the same as Isis and Al Queda. The gist is to stir up trouble, create fear, get media to generate more fear, then ask Congress to cough up more shekels to them. I was told by a member this week that the lettering on the Black ISIS flag says all Jews. oops.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson is in the air on his way to the US. A couple of dozen journalists will be on the plane with him. An advance party is already in Washington DC. Every one of those will be allowed in because the American authorities have granted them a National Interest Exemption. Without it, you cannot enter the US from the UK or the European Union. Period. But why? Or to put it simply, what possible justification is there for President Joe Biden to keep this travel ban in place? But if entry into the US is being governed by virus concerns about the risk from Covid, why are there no restrictions for people coming from countries which have a much higher incidence of the disease. If it is about concern over the spread of the Delta variant, why can Americans freely come and go to the UK and Europe without any quarantine requirements when they return? The US is easing its corona virus travel restrictions, re-opening to passengers from the UK, EU and other nations. From November, foreign travelers will be allowed to fly into the US if they are fully vaccinated, and undergo testing and contact tracing. But bizarrely people coming through Canada and Mexican border you don't need to be vaccinated or tested? Does that make sense? no, it's a program then.

As America, UK and Australia upset the French and China with more dodgy deals, this time Nuclear Subs. The great question to ask is, why if all countries are in a financial crisis, and yet the war machine money just keeps rolling out of the coffers?

A federal grand jury returned an indictment sought by Special Counsel John Durham against Democratic lawyer Michael Sussmann, accusing him of lying to the FBI during the Russia investigation. The indictment accuses Sussmann of hiding the fact that he was working for the Clinton campaign, while pushing for an investigation into then-candidate Donald Trump's ties to Russia in 2016. Trump appointed Durham to investigate the origins of the Russia probe, with indictment coming just weeks before the five-year statute of limitations was set to expire. Sussmann, whose firm had previously represented the Democratic National Committee, told the FBI's James Baker in Sep. 2019, that he was not representing a client when pushing for an investigation into Trump. Sussmann denied any wrongdoing, while withholding the fact that he was working on behalf of former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton's presidential campaign. Five years this has been ongoing, and the only winners are the high priest and priestess club called lawyers. The point is, all politicians lie, all politicians are in the back pockets of lobbyists, Jewish mafia or factions, and virtually all of them are in it for their own ends. Why should the people think or expect anything different from them, the stage show program is still running. And America is a staged puppet show for the Jewish EL-ites, The Crown, Rothschild's and Black Sun players.

The Army announced its plan to implement a mandatory corona virus vaccine for soldiers, which was ordered by Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin on August 24. The Army's Surgeon General Lt. Gen. R. Scott Dingle said in a statement: This is quite literally a matter of life and death for our soldiers, their families and the communities in which we live. So is war you jackass, but you have no second thoughts about sending them in harms way then, so spare us the faked concern about soldiers health now, because you have an agenda to run. Case counts and deaths continue to be concerning as the Delta variant spreads, which makes protecting the force through mandatory vaccination a health and readiness priority for the total Army. Case and death counts rising is because the Delta variant is the vaccine - hello McFly! The Army said soldiers who refuse the vaccine will first be counseled by their chain of command and medical providers, but continued failure to comply could result in administrative or non-judicial punishment, including relief of duties or distance. That last line says it all really, vague threats to the soldiers who they say they care about, as long as you agree with them, all very child like again.

A BBC Panorama investigation has found evidence that suggests one of Britain's biggest companies paid a bribe to the former Zimbabwean leader Robert Mugabe. Documents show British American Tobacco (BAT) was involved in negotiations to pay between $300,000 and $500,000 to Mugabe's Zanu-PF party in 2013. The documents also reveal BAT was paying bribes in South Africa and using illegal surveillance to damage rivals. BAT says it is committed to the highest standards of corporate conduct. President Mugabe's 37-year rule was secured through elections marred by allegations of fraud and violence. He was ousted in 2017 and died in 2019. The ruling party Zanu PF is now under new leadership. Like I said earlier, they are all corrupt and self serving.

Joint Chiefs Chairman Army Gen. Mark Milley single-handedly took top-secret action to preempt then-President Donald Trump from ordering a military strike or launching nuclear weapons, according to a new book. Which is not possible as, the recently newly self appointed Queen of the Galaxy has all the nuclear codes, or does she? According to Peril by Bob Woodward and Robert Costa, Milley was worried that after the January 6 Capitol breach, Trump could go rogue and called a secret meeting on January 8 with senior military leaders. During that meeting, Milley instructed senior military officials in charge of the National Military Command Center, to not take orders from anyone unless he was involved, according to a write-up of the book by CNN. No matter what you are told, you do the procedure, you do the process, and I'm part of that procedure, Milley told them. Milley considered it an oath, Woodward and Costa wrote. The book also revealed that Milley had two back-channel phone calls with China's top general, to reassure him that the U.S. would not attack, even promising to give him a heads up if it did. According to a write-up by the Washington Post, Milley four days before the 2020 presidential election assured his Chinese counterpart, Gen. Li Zuocheng of the People's Liberation Army, that the U.S. would not strike. Several Pentagon officers present in Milley's secret meeting are willing to testify against him under oath, per WH official. Lets see what doesn't happen to Milley shall we, under law he should be fired for treason at least, for siding with the so called enemy China. What this shows is, no country or Government is in direct conflict with each other, it is all a stage show. Just like Kushner and FEMA blocking American companies selling PPE's, whilst they did deals with India and the greatest threat to our economy, their words, China. Trump bumbled on about China, whilst allowing snake in law to do that deal, it's all theater.

The defeat of the American-backed government in Afghanistan, has increased the danger that the Al Qaeda terrorist group will launch another attack against the United States very quickly, the director of the Defense Intelligence Agency said Tuesday. Which equates to A: they are planning a false flag attack, and or B: give us more shekels to fight a fake boogeymen. The current assessment conservatively is one to two years for al Qaeda to build some capability to at least threaten the homeland, said Army Lt. Gen. Scott Berrier. The chaotic withdrawal of U.S. and allied troops from Afghanistan last month in the face of a lightning Taliban offensive, reduced the ability of the military and intelligence agencies to monitor terrorists in Afghanistan. It didn't reduce the CIA the chance to monitor them, they chatted with them and made arrangements remember, so this guy is talking shit. Gen. Berrier said his agency is seeking ways to regain access into Afghanistan, and is focusing on the problem of terrorist threats through a DIA counterterrorism center. CIA Deputy Director David Cohen, what a coincidence, agreed that the al Qaeda threat is increasing, and that the group will be capable of new attacks within a couple of years. DIA another fake agency collecting shekels at our expense, creating false terror and disruption.

Secretary of State Antony Blinken, who is born in and born to, pointedly declined Tuesday to answer whether he has been interviewed recently by FBI agents, investigating Hunter Biden's and associates' contacts at the State Department in connection with a Ukraine natural gas company. Funny how Psaki the WH speaker, Biden the President, Harris the VP and now the Secretary of State all refuse to answer questions isn't it. Why? because they have something to cover up it's plain and simple, almost like an exclusive secret National Security Act event. During congressional testimony Tuesday afternoon over the Biden administration's bungled Afghan withdrawal, Blinken awkwardly batted away several direct questions from Rep. Scott Perry about possible interactions with the FBI. I'm not sure what you are referring to, and I am happy to take that up with you offline, Blinken answered, often halting, when asked the first time. Perry persisted, Did the State Department turn over documents to the FBI related to Hunter Biden, Burisma, and/or the Blue Star Strategies firm? Blue star will likely come under the Blue Dragon, of which Hillary was leader of when alive. You will have to, Blinken answered before stopping. Perry pressed on saying, You are saying you did not have an interview with the FBI since becoming Secretary of State? It would not be appropriate for me to comment in a public forum on any legal proceedings that the department or I may have had, Blinken answered. The problem is, the people tolerate this behavior, it is our duty to make them accountable to us, not themselves.

New polling shows that the majority of Americans do not approve of President Joe Biden's new vaccine mandate. Biden announced the mandate last week, which includes requirements that any business with more than 100 employees ensure they are vaccinated or be tested weekly. Biden's announcement included a range of other federal rules that are estimated to affect 100 million Americans. Convention of States Action released new polling Monday that showed 58.6% of those surveyed, do not believe President Biden has the constitutional authority, to force private businesses to require vaccine mandates for employees. In the same poll, 29.7% of voters said Biden does have the authority, and 11.7% are unsure. In addition, 55.5% of voters say the mandate sets a precedent that could be abused by future presidents on other issues. In a common sense survey 100% of respondents said Biden wasn't adequate in the first place, so why did people vote for the jackass?

If ever you doubt that all elections are swindles, the recent California one brings it home, although Canada adds a whole new level to it. The movement to recall Gov. Gavin Newsom, appears to have fizzled in large suburban Southern California regions and other swing counties, giving the incumbent a sizable cushion to defeat the effort to oust him, preliminary data showed. There are many ballots yet to be counted, but out of the more than 9.1 million votes tabulated as of early Wednesday, nearly 64% were in favor of keeping Newsom in office. That overwhelming margin, which could still tighten as more ballots are processed, was fueled by lopsided victories in the San Francisco Bay Area and Los Angeles County, both traditional Democratic strongholds. In L.A. County, roughly 71% of ballots counted as of Wednesday morning were opposed to the recall. In San Francisco, the proportion of voters who favored the status quo was just under 87%, according to early results published by the California secretary of state's office. The term Democratic stronghold or the term traditionally Republican as well, needs closer inspection. Are they saying that only one parties people moves to live in a zone where only their own party exists? How can that statistical anomaly even exist over a prolonged period of time? just how or why is California a Democratic stronghold?

A volcano on the Spanish island of La Palma, in the Canary Islands, has erupted, spewing fountains of lava and ash. It sits in the Cumbre Vieja national park, and had been stable since 1971. The island had been on alert for a possible eruption for the past week - with nearby residents being advised to evacuate. Canary Islands President Angel Victor Torres told TVE that no injuries had been reported so far. Should that landmass slip into the Atlantic ocean, it is said that the whole of the East coast would be flooded 10 miles inland.

House Democrats have introduced a stand-alone bill to provide $1 billion in funding for Israel's Iron Dome air defense system. This bill comes one day after Democrats stripped Iron Dome funding from a short-term spending bill under pressure from the party's progressive wing. Following backlash to the defunding from moderate Democrats and Republican attacks on the party as anti-Israel, House Appropriations Chairwoman Rosa DeLauro, who is married to a Greenberg introduced the new bill. It's not anti Israel at all, the fact is with mounting debts and many of our own people struggling, we simply can't afford it. Get the Jewish EL-ites to fund it. The United States commitment to the security of our friend and ally Israel is ironclad, DeLauro said in a statement. Replenishing interceptors used to protect Israel from attacks is our legal and moral responsibility. Says who? The U.S. has already provided more than $1.6 billion for Israel to develop and build the Iron Dome system, according to a Congressional Research Service report last year. House Majority Whip, Steny Hoyer, said he would bring the bill up for a vote later this week. Hoyer born in, has led the AIEF trips to Israel for decades and has been happy to be the group's pro-Israel face. The lawmakers meet with top Israeli officials and tour the country, stopping at the Yad Vashem Holocaust memorial museum and the congressionally-funded Iron Dome anti-missile batteries. Hoyer is a supporter of Israel, and has often been allied with American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC). In September 2007, he criticized Rep. Jim Moran for suggesting that AIPAC has pushed the Iraq war from the beginning, calling the comment factually inaccurate. Actually it is not, just like they are pushing the Iran war now, stupid puppets.

An Israeli defense contractor last week unveiled a remote-controlled armed robot it says can patrol battle zones, track infiltrators and open fire. The unmanned vehicle is the latest addition to the world of drone technology, which is rapidly reshaping the modern battlefield. Proponents say such semi-autonomous machines allow armies to protect their soldiers, while critics fear this marks another dangerous step toward robots making life-or-death decisions. The four-wheel-drive robot presented, was developed by the state-owned Israel Aerospace Industries REX MKII. Rex MK 2 Rex means king, MK could well be ultra mark 2. It is operated by an electronic tablet and can be equipped with two machine guns, cameras and sensors, said Rani Avni, deputy head of the company's autonomous systems division. The robot can gather intelligence for ground troops, carry injured soldiers and supplies in and out of battle, and strike nearby targets. It is the most advanced of more than half a dozen unmanned vehicles developed by Aerospace Industries subsidiary, ELTA Systems, over the past 15 years. The Israeli military is currently using a smaller but similar vehicle called the Jaguar, to patrol the border with the Gaza Strip and help enforce a blockade Israel imposed in 2007, after the tiny territory was seized by the Islamic militant group Hamas. Gaza is home to 2 million Palestinians who have largely been locked in by the blockade, which is also supported to some extent by Egypt. The border area is the site of frequent protests and occasional attempts by Palestinian militants or desperate laborers to infiltrate into Israel. According to the Israeli army's website, the semi-autonomous Jaguar is equipped with a machine gun, and was designed to reduce soldiers exposure to the dangers of patrolling the volatile Gaza-Israel border. It is one of many tools, including drones armed with guided missiles, that have given the Israeli military vast technological superiority over Hamas. Unmanned ground vehicles are being increasingly used by other armies, including those of the United States, Britain and Russia. Their tasks include logistical support, the removal of mines and firing weapons. The tablet can control the vehicle manually. A tablet that is riddled with viruses and back doors, just how safe will that be from hacking, or when it goes wrong by home spun hacking, they will just blame Russia or Iran? But many of its functions, including its movement and surveillance system, can also run autonomously. With every mission, the device collects more data which it then learns from for future missions, said Yonni Gedj, an operational expert in the company's robotics division. Critics have raised concerns that robotic weapons could decide on their own, perhaps erroneously, to shoot targets. The company says such capabilities exist but are not being offered to customers. Avni said.

It is possible to make the weapon itself also autonomous, however, it is a decision of the user today. The maturity of the system or the user is not there yet, indeed. Bonnie Docherty, a senior researcher from the arms division of Human Rights Watch, said such weapons are worrisome because they can't be trusted to distinguish between combatants and civilians, or make proper calls about the harm attacks may do to nearby civilians. Machines cannot understand the value of human life, which in essence undermines human dignity and violates human rights laws, Docherty said. In a 2012 report, Docherty, a lecturer at Harvard Law School, called for fully automated weapons to be banned by international law. The defense magazine Janes said the development of autonomous ground vehicles has lagged behind autonomous aircraft and boats, because moving across land is far more complex than navigating water or air. Unlike the open ocean, vehicles have to deal with holes in the road, and know exactly how much force to apply to overcome a physical obstacle, the report said. The technology in self-driving vehicles also has raised concerns. Electric car manufacturer Tesla, among other companies, has been connected to a series of fatal accidents, including an incident in Arizona in 2018 when a woman was hit by a car driving on autopilot. The Israeli drone vehicle is being showcased at this week's Defense and Security System International arms trade show in London. I guess Clowns in Panic was right again. Again it is funny how a majority of Israelis are living in poverty, yet the country can spend unlimited amounts on weaponry, it's child level financing.

POSITIVE NEWS: Twenty-seven Republican governors or attorneys general have vowed to fight the latest executive order issued by President Joe Biden, mandating that over 80 million private employees receive COVID vaccinations or undergo weekly testing, or their employer will be fined. The executive order directs the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Safety and Health Administration, to require private businesses with more than 100 employees mandate that, their workers receive both doses of the COVID-19 vaccine or undergo weekly testing. Noncompliance would result in fines of $14,000 per violation. The governors who've expressed opposition include those from Arizona, Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, West Virginia, and Wyoming. Republican attorneys general from states with Democratic governors who also vowed to fight include Kentucky Attorney General Daniel Cameron and Louisiana AG Jeff Landry. Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis, with whom Biden has sparred over mask mandates and vaccine passports, said Florida would fight back. Nice to see some common sense in political ranks, be interesting to see how many of them disappear.

Wildlife crossings are more than simple road signs as you speed down the highway. Conservationists use all sorts of methods to keep our furry friends safe, from becoming road kill or having their habitats fragmented. Increasingly, animal bridges are being employed around the globe in order to preserve our ecosystems. In the United States alone, it's estimated that road systems affect the ecology of one-fifth the land area of the country, and that vehicle-animal collisions cost $8 billion a year. Wildlife overpasses and underpasses help assist animals in safely passing over or under busy roadways, and allows them to continue their path within their habitat, which would otherwise be blocked by asphalt. The first animal bridges sprung up in France in the 1950s, in fact, Europe is a leader in the sector. The Netherlands alone has over 600 wildlife crossings, including overpasses and eco-ducts, that protect its populations of badgers, boars, and deer. They can also boast of having the world's longest wildlife overpass. The massive Natuurbrug Zanderij Crailoo is a half-mile long, crossing a rail line, river, business park, and sports complex. A quarter of the $8B cost for damages between vehicles and wildlife set aside, would be enough to build 200 animal road crossings per year, and eliminate most of road kills within a generation.

Last Tuesday here 19:00 PM local time in Holland, there was again a press conference by the clowns Mark Rutte and Hugo De Jonge of the government, about the covid bs measures this coming Autumn. From the 25th this month, the Dutch government will implement the mandatory QR-codes, for PCR tests and vaccines for entry in restaurants, hotels, festivals, concert, etc. The situation here is that the techno jabs are not directly mandatory but more indirect. Soon the unvaccinated are not allowed to go anywhere, just as the case is in other countries. But here comes now the good positive news. The portal people here are slowly starting to wake up, and now they are critical about the QR-code the government announced. A lot of companies are angry, and saying they will not comply to take part in this QR-code Medical Apartheid. Holland have witnessed again a crowd of people for the first Formula 1 race in Holland in years, it's last race was in 1985. Entrepreneurs of restaurants, event companies, etc were angry about it and said, if it's possible in Zandvoort during Formula 1, why not in restaurants, festivals, nightclubs, etc?. Now also the bots-people are waking up here and are sorry they took the techno jab. The vaccinated bots-people who are awake now even joined the protests march in Amsterdam against the Covid measures, where between 235k and 250k people participated on the 5th of September. Many vaccinated people here now see they have been lied to, and thought they will get their freedoms back when fully vaccinated. Since they heard there will be 3rd jab coming, they don't believe it anymore. They also realize now that when they are fully vaccinated, why still showing the QR-code? But in the end, it's already too late for the vaccinated ones. To finalize this all, there are good positive things happening here in Holland and still more coming. It's great to see that vaccinated and unvaccinated people are uniting together now during the protests. They realize the conspiracy theorists were right all the time. Many companies will not consent to take part in Medical Apartheid with the QR-codes. There is a mass awakening going on here in Holland.

Reports this week of the Swiss people protesting outside the Rothschild's Castle oops. Cowards wouldn't come out and sent Military police to fire water cannons at the protestors. Keep going with those types of engagements with these psychopaths, you have no idea what fear you are creating within their circles. Target the EL-ites homes, their businesses, Pharma businesses and the Media offices and lets shut them all down. Marching on Governments is a waste of time, they are irrelevant puppets. Lets not lower ourselves with violence, attacks of people or property, the very fact you are outside their doors creates the necessary effect, and the fear factor shifts to them.

COVID BS: Midazolam, sold under the brand name Versed, among others, is a benzodiazepine medication used for anesthesia, procedural sedation, trouble sleeping, and severe agitation. It works by inducing sleepiness, decreasing anxiety, and causing a loss of ability to create new memories, it is also useful for the treatment of seizures. Midazolam can be given by mouth, intravenously, or injection into a muscle, by spraying into the nose, or through the cheek. When given intravenously, it typically begins working within five minutes, when injected into a muscle, it can take fifteen minutes to begin working, effects last for between one and six hours. Side effects can include a decrease in efforts to breathe, low blood pressure, and sleepiness. Tolerance to its effects and withdrawal syndrome may occur following long-term use. Paradoxical effects, such as increased activity, can occur especially in children and older people. There is evidence of risk when used during pregnancy, but no evidence of harm with a single dose during breastfeeding. It belongs to the benzodiazepine class of drugs, and works by increasing the activity of the GABA neurotransmitter in the brain. Midazolam was patented in 1974 and came into medical use in 1982. It is on the World Health Organization's List of Essential Medicines. Midazolam is available as a generic medication, in many countries, it is a controlled substance. Midazolam, in combination with an antipsychotic drug, is indicated for the acute management of schizophrenia, when it is associated with aggressive or out-of-control behaviour. If that is the case why aren't all leading politicians, Agency goons and Military Generals on it? Additional caution is required in the elderly, as they are more sensitive to the pharmacological effects of benzodiazepines, they metabolise them more slowly, and are more prone to adverse effects, including drowsiness, amnesia, especially anterograde amnesia, ataxia, hangover effects, confusion, and falls. In the final stages of end-of-life care, midazolam is routinely used at low doses via subcutaneous injection to help with agitation, myoclonus, restlessness or anxiety in the last hours or days of life. At higher doses during the last weeks of life, midazolam is considered a first line agent in palliative continuous deep sedation therapy, when it is necessary to alleviate intolerable suffering not responsive to other treatments, but the need for this is rare. Then why did the UK Health Secretary Matt Hancock order two years worth of it in March 2020? That was depleted by October 2020? two years worth used up in 7 months? Is this the demise pill Dr. Day referenced in Tuesdays show?

Researchers have identified a potential reason why lower numbers of COVID cases have appeared amongst smokers compared to non-smokers, even as other reports suggest smoking increases severity of the disease. Erm no, all reports with balance and science only and no agendas, states smokers have the lowest chance of getting Covid. Researchers have identified two drugs that mimic the effect of chemicals in cigarette smoke, to bind to a receptor in mammalian cells that inhibits production of ACE2 proteins, a process that appears to reduce the ability of the SARS-CoV-2 virus to enter the cell. The findings appear in the journal Scientific Reports on 17 August. Something of a paradox exists with respect to smoking cigarettes and COVID-19. Active smoking is associated with increased severity of disease, but at the same time, many reports have suggested lower numbers of COVID cases amongst smokers than amongst non-smokers. Correlation does not equal causation; diseases contracted by non-smokers are also contracted by smokers. And, in this instance, we can see that smokers actually have a lower incidence rate. It's highly likely that smoking tobacco helps prevent infection and the severity infection from numerous other viral pathogens, not just Covid-19. Oops. A smoke a day keeps the reps away, lung cancer and now Covid away.

An influential Food and Drug Administration advisory committee on Friday, rejected a proposal to distribute booster shots of Pfizer and BioNTech's Covid-19 vaccines to the general public, paring back those plans to unanimously recommend the third shots, to people age 65 and older and other vulnerable Americans. Dr. Ofer Levy born to said, it's likely beneficial, in my opinion, for the elderly, and may eventually be indicated for the general population. I just don't think we're there yet in terms of the data, said the vaccine and infectious disease specialist at Boston Children's Hospital.

Grapheal develops wearable and disposable biosensors enabling continuous monitoring and on-site diagnosis. It empowers caregivers with an improved and individualized assessment tool for precision medicine. Grapheal devices are based on Graphene, an innovative material that has been touted as the miracle material of the 21st Century. Graphene forms an ultra-thin layer one atom thick of pure crystalline carbon. Graphene sits at the border between inorganic, think microelectronics and organic think biology worlds. Think Bio N Tech. It efficiently bridges these two fields which usually exclude each other, creating a bio-electronics platform capable of sensing & digitizing biochemical signals right where they occur. A bridge between the two worlds? The COVID-19 pandemic revealed the urgent need for inexpensive, easy-to-use, and reliable diagnostic tools for rapid on-site screening. TestNPAss diagnostic test requires a nasal sample to detect SARS-CoV-2 infection rapidly. It is a single-use test using a graphene biosensor sensitized by antibodies recognizing the virus's S protein. The test operates without a battery and uses contactless near-field communication via a smart phone application. It operates without a battery, how interesting they can develop things to weaponise against the people without batteries, yet the public have to endure short life batteries and use electricity to charge them. In 5 minutes, the digital test detects viruses' presence without the need for dedicated reading equipment other than a smart phone, or a sting or burn phone. The signal is captured electronically on the biosensor, which accelerates the diagnosis and allows a secure digital transfer of the result. The test result is tamperproof and recorded in a digital tag securing user confidentiality, and constituting a standalone digital pass that does not require data transfer over a network. Standalone digital pass that does not require data transfer over a network? and how does that work we may ask? Internet 2?

The vegans are not going to like this, you thought you were saving the animals and the planet? well now they have plans for you. Vaccinations can be a controversial subject for many people, especially when it comes to injections. So what if you could replace your next shot with a salad instead? Researchers at the University of California-Riverside are working on a way to grow edible plants, that carry the same medication as an mRNA vaccine. The COVID-19 vaccine is one of the many inoculations which use messenger RNA (mRNA) technology to defeat viruses. They work by teaching cells from the immune system to recognize and attack a certain infectious disease. Unfortunately, mRNA vaccines have to stay in cold storage until use or they lose stability. The UC-Riverside team says if they're successful, the public could eat plant-based mRNA vaccines, which could also survive at room temperature. Oh dear so having said we were not going to be allowed meat in the future, and the vegans all cheered, in comes veggies vaccine. Thanks to a $500,000 grant from the National Science Foundation, researchers are now looking accomplish three goals. First, the team will try to successfully deliver DNA containing mRNA vaccines into plant cells, where they can replicate. Next, the study authors want to show that plants can actually produce enough mRNA to replace a traditional injection. Finally, the team will need to determine the right dosage people will need to eat to properly replace vaccinations. Ideally, a single plant would produce enough mRNA to vaccinate a single person, says Juan Pablo Giraldo, an associate professor in UCR's Department of Botany and Plant Sciences, in a university release. We are testing this approach with spinach and lettuce and have long-term goals of people growing it in their own gardens, Giraldo adds. Farmers could also eventually grow entire fields of it. Except many regions of this country has an outright ban on growing your own stuff, so now they will reverse to grow their shit, no thanks.

EXPOSE 1: In our FRWL series we have covered many aspects of the diaspora of people known as the Jews. Much of their history has been fabricated to fit in with the bible, that they wrote. Many peoples covering their story wish to do the same for their own egos, to say they were one of the tribes or the tribe, which is pure folly given the bible is a script designed to tell someone elses story. As more is revealed those who claim tribe status of Is RA El, will regret doing so. I have stated the reason for modern day issues in Ethiopia is down to these same Hebrew Annunaki clowns and their own self importance, this article backs that up with science. For the purpose of this article, I will mainly concentrate on the YDNA of the ancient Tribe of Levi who are also known as the Levites, simply because of the fact that this tribe was mainly composed of males whose priestly roles were passed down from father to son, so they were the dark priests known as Cohens then, think the Sanhedrin. If they were males, and their priesthood males passed down their inheritance from father to son, then it makes perfect scientific sense to focus mainly on their YDNA. In this article, I will attempt to prove my theory that the original Levites were of the E1b1b1c M123+ haplogroup. This theory I will help substantiate by science, using history, geography, the bible, DNA, and what I call inherited Gnosis, since I am also a Levite from the E1b1b1c M123+ haplogroup. What I mean by this, is that these facts, history and blood are not just something I'm writing about as an outsider looking in, but something that is part of my inheritance, my ancestry and in my DNA. The E haplogroup has been observed in all Jewish groups world-wide. According to one major paper, contrasting patterns of Y chromosome variation in Ashkenazi Jewish and host non-Jewish European populations is E-M35, which defines the E1b1b1 (formerly E3b1) haplogroup, and is considered to be the second highest, next to J, for Founding Jewish Lineages in Europe. It is found in moderate amounts in all Jewish populations, from Ashkenazi, Sephardic, Kurdish, Yemen, Samaritan, and even among Djerba Jewish groups. The highest variance is observed in African populations, the origin of E3b3 will most probably be among Cushitic/Omotc speaking populations of Southwest and Central Ethiopia. Kush came from SW Asia. It has been said by some scientists that the best possible candidate for E3b Israelite ancestry among Jews is E-M123, which is quite common in many Semitic language communities, including among both Ashkenazi and Sephardic Jews, accounting for over 10% of all male lines. According to Cruciani, E-M123 probably originated in the Middle East, since it is found in a large majority of the populations from that area, and then back migrated to Ethiopia. We proved that Jewish lineage came from the Far East, and only turns up in the Middle East via migration He further notes that this sub-clade may have been spread to Europe during the Neolithic agricultural expansion out of the Middle East. However, because E-M123 is also found in low percentages 1-3% in many southern European and Balkan populations, its origin among Jewish groups remains uncertain. Yet the fact that both Sephardim and Ashkenazim possess this sub-clade in similar high frequency, supports an Israelite/Middle Eastern origin. That is what I mean about trying to shoehorn info in line with the bible, and where many go wrong due to a preset idea. The Ashkenazim or Ashkenazis are considered German Jews, and the Sephardim, Spanish Jews from Spain. Ashkenazi also originated in far east as well and nothing to do with Germans. For the purpose of this article, I would like to focus on the founders and oldest of the Levites who were Israelites, and are related to who we know of as the biblical Moses. Moses was never considered a Jew, he didn't consider himself one. He was a Hebrew or Israelite (Exodus 1:5,2:11). Actually he was part of the cult of Ra, and so like Solomon related to Egypt, but what that confirms is, there is a distinct difference between the Jews and Hebrews and the Jews and Israelites, yet more racism from this group. Moses also married an Ethiopian Queen from the country of Ethiopia which was in existence about 1,000 years before the Israelites and Jews migrated to Germany and Spain after they were banished from Israel. There was no Israel, they were banished from India and many other countries. But Moses marrying an Ethiopian queen, echoes the Solomon and Queen of Sheba story. Hence, before there was the German Ashkenazi or Spanish Sephardim Jews, there was Moses, the Levites and Ethiopia who were all originally Israelites thousands of years before there were ever people called Ashkenazi or Sephardim Jews. The Levites are recorded in the Hebrew Bible as direct descendants of Aaron, Israel's first High Priest. In fact, the Cohanim are actually a special subsection of the Levites. This is key to understanding the true DNA of the original Tribe of Levi, and not current claims or priests who may have different DNA and/or claim to be Levites. They may in fact be modern Levites, but they would not be true ancient Israelites directly descended from Moses, and only a branch of this original DNA tree. That is the pure ego aspect, yet again one group is more special than the other. The reason why this DNA is scattered and that there is much confusion surrounding its origins, are the result of a combination of several factors such as the fact that there was an Exodus, yes from India and 106 other countries who banished them. They were banished from their homeland by the Romans, they had no homeland, they were not from here. Many were killed and/or conquered over the last 3,000 years. Therefore, a lot of their DNA has been scattered all over the world, mixed and or wiped out in many of their original homelands. Another reason, is because when the land of Israel was apportioned among the tribes in the days of Joshua, the Tribe of Levi, being chosen as priests, did not receive land. However, the tribe of Levi were given cities. Six cities were given to the tribe as refuge cities for all men of Israel, which were to be controlled by the Levites. Three of these cities were located on each side of the Jordan River. Which proves they were not in modern day Israel as we stated in FRWL. In addition, 42 other cities and their respective open spaces, totaling 48 cities were given to the Tribe of Levi. Who gave it to them, is the great question. This article on the Samaritans briefly explains why there is different DNA reporting, and why some members of the priesthood have different Haplogroups. Their findings reported on four family lineages among the Samaritans, the Tsdaka family tradition: tribe of Menasseh), the Joshua-Marhiv and Danfi families tradition: tribe of Ephraim, and the Cohen family tradition: tribe of Levi. All Samaritan families were found in haplogroups J1 and J2, except the Cohen family which was found in haplogroup E3b1a-M78. This article predated the E3b1a subclades based on the research of Cruciani, et al. The Samaritan Cohen family were Levites until the previous Cohen family died out around 1700, so the fact that they don't share CMH is expected. These findings may offer more proof that E1b1 was one of the founding lineages of the Levites. The E1b1b1 haplogroup (formerly known as haplogroup E3b1) has been observed in all Jewish groups worldwide. It is considered to be the second most prevalent haplogroup among the Jewish population. According to one major paper it has also been observed in moderate numbers among individuals from Ashkenazi, Sephardic and Samaritan communities having traditions of descending from the tribe of Levi, suggesting that the E1b1b1 Levites may have existed in Israel before the Diaspora of 70 C.E. The Samaritan community is a small, isolated, and highly endogamous group today numbering some 650 members who have maintained extensive genealogical records for the past 13–15 generations. Since the Samaritans maintain extensive and detailed genealogical records, it is possible to construct accurate pedigrees and specific maternal and paternal lineages. The Samaritan community in the Middle East survives as a distinct religious and cultural sect and constitutes one of the oldest and smallest ethnic minorities in the world. Y-Chromosome studies have shown that the majority of Samaritans belong to haplogroups J1 and J2, while the Samaritan Cohanim belong to haplogroup E1b1b1a, formerly E3b1a. The bible says Moses is a Levite, and that he married an Ethiopian. Moses was one of the true founders of this bloodline who had married an Ethiopian Wife. And Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married; for he had married an Ethiopian. If Moses was a Levite and he married an Ethiopian, it only makes perfect scientific sense that we would use modern science to research these areas, and see if we can find a dominant DNA Haplogroup that may have been the bloodline of Moses. After all, for the most part, Ethiopians have not been too much influenced by Western society, and have kept their ancient cultures and countries in tact for thousands of years. All the while, almost every other country that are mentioned in these DNA studies have been ravaged by wars, conquests, new conquerors who have come into these same said countries wiping out all men and boys, as they rape all the women leaving a new seed in their wombs and in these countries. What if this researcher finds out it was the Jewish plant their seeds to fit in with society? It doesn't take a DNA rock star to figure out that we cannot rely on DNA tests and claims of people who have been conquered, mixed, and whose countries have exchanged DNA hands multiple times. Only an ill-informed, or family agenda pushing DNA scientist would rely on such misinformation. The facts now, are that science backs these biblical stories up with the truth that many modern-day Ethiopians are racially connected to the E-M123 haplogroup, and also religiously because they practice the same religious traditions they have kept for thousands of years. The E-M123 haplogroup dominates this region, which the bible backs this up by saying this is where Moses and his people were said to have been. In fact, in future articles, I will also prove that the E-M123 haplogroup can be found in many areas where Moses and the Israelites were reported to have been. One of the highest ever recorded frequencies of E-M123 is found in southern most Ethiopia (Semien Omo Zone) among the Omotic speaking Maale in the Plaster thesis. E-M123 is best known for its major sub-clade E-M34, which dominates this clade, and E-M123 which is the dominant Haplogroup of the Ethiopians. The mention of clade brings up Tuesdays show again, remember the 3rd simulation disaster scenario was called Clade X. Perhaps the term Clade meaning brings us a clue? a group of animals or plants consisting of a shared ancestor and everything that comes from it, is that a clue to who really runs those simulations? In addition, Flores et al. (2005) found 14 out of 45 men tested in the Dead Sea area of Jordan to be M34 positive (31.1%), and biblically, the Dead Sea was a place of refuge for King David where it is said clearly in the bible; and David made him houses in the city of David, and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent. 2. Then David said, None ought to carry the ark of God, but the Levites; for them hath the Lord chosen to carry the ark of God, and to minister unto him for ever. So, not only do we have science proving that E-M123 is the major haplogroup of the Ethiopians, we also have E-M123 as the dominant DNA at the Dead Sea area of Jordan, which is the exact same place where King David took refuge and declared that none ought to carry the ark of God, but the Levites. Also, the dwelling in caves near the Dead Sea is recorded in the Hebrew Bible as having taken place before the Israelites came to Canaan, and extensively at the time of King David. And we all know who claim to have the Ark of the Covenant, the Ethiopians. Therefore, we can either say this science I provide in this article is just an unusual coincidence and just luck of the draw, or we can safely say that this proves the ancient stories in the bible of Moses with the Ethiopians and their thousands of years old religious practices and customs of these same people, proves that the E-M123 haplogroup is the bloodline of the Tribe of Levi. Hence, now science backs up the stories of the bible with facts, and today we see that they now validate one another as truth that cannot be denied. Except it doesn't, but he is correct in stating about the "Jews" in Ethiopia, the rest of it is to fit a narrative of self importance and elevated status, plus fit in with a book written by a UK Crown agent. OTHER ITEMS: Physicists sifting through old particle accelerator data have found evidence of a highly-elusive, never-before-seen process, a so-called triangle singularity. First envisioned by Russian physicist Lev Landau in the 1950s, a triangle singularity refers to a rare subatomic process, where particles exchange identities before flying away from each other. In this scenario, two particles called kaons, form two corners of the triangle, while the particles they swap form the third point on the triangle. One on one with the one. The particles involved exchanged quarks and changed their identities in the process, according to study co-author Bernhard Ketzer, of the Helmholtz Institute for Radiation and Nuclear Physics at the University of Bonn. And it's called a singularity because the mathematical methods for describing subatomic particle interactions break down. If this singularly weird particle identity-swap really happened, it could help physicists understand the strong force, which binds the nucleus together. In 2015, physicists studying particle collisions at CERN in Switzerland, thought that they had caught a brief glimpse of a short-lived exotic collection of particles known as a tetraquark. But the new research favors a different interpretation something even weirder. Instead of forming a new grouping, a pair of particles traded identities before flying off. This identity swap is known as a triangle singularity, and this experiment may have unexpectedly delivered the first evidence of that process. I can think of a good triangle singularity were a pair of psychopaths trade identities with each other and then whisk off into oblivion, The Rothschild's and the Black Sun groups.

The latest in the woke culture, which is essentially about sodomy and homosexuality I was told this week by a long time researcher and member of our group. An incel an abbreviation of an involuntary celibate, is a member of an online subculture of people who define themselves as unable to get a romantic or sexual partner despite desiring one. Discussions in incel forums are often characterized by resentment and hatred, misogyny, misanthropy, self-pity and self-loathing, racism, a sense of entitlement to sex, and the endorsement of violence against women and sexually active people. The American nonprofit Southern Poverty Law Center, described the subculture as part of the online male supremacist ecosystem that is included in their list of hate groups. We will ignore the Southern Poverty Law group as they are there to support Is Ra el and create division amongst the people. Incels are mostly male and heterosexual, and many sources report that incels are predominantly white. Estimates of the overall size of the subculture vary greatly, ranging from thousands to hundreds of thousands of members. At least eight mass murders, resulting in a total of 61 deaths, have been committed since 2014 by men who have either self-identified as incels, or who had mentioned incel-related names and writings in their private writings or Internet postings. Incel communities have been criticized by researchers and the media for being misogynistic, encouraging violence, spreading extremist views, and radicalizing their members. Beginning in 2018, the incel ideology has increasingly been described as a terrorism threat, and a February 2020 attack in Toronto, Canada, became the first instance of allegedly incel-related violence to be prosecuted as an act of terrorism. The first online community to use the term incel was founded in 1993, when a Canadian university student known only by her first name, Alana, created a website in order to discuss her sexual inactivity with others. The website, titled Alana's Involuntary Celibacy Project, was used by people of all genders to share their thoughts and experiences. In 1997, she started a mailing list on the topic that used the abbreviation INVCEL, later shortened to incel, for anybody of any gender who was lonely, had never had sex, or who hadn't had a relationship in a long time. During her college years and after, Alana realized she was bisexual and became more comfortable with her identity. She stopped participating in her online project around 2000 and gave the site to a stranger. In 2018, Alana said of her project: it definitely wasn't a bunch of guys blaming women for their problems. That's a pretty sad version of this phenomenon that's happening today. Things have changed in the last 20 years. When she read about the 2014 Isla Vista killings, and that parts of the incel subculture glorified the perpetrator, she wrote, like a scientist who invented something that ended up being a weapon of war, I can't uninvent this word, nor restrict it to the nicer people who need it. She expressed regret at the change in usage from her original intent, of creating an inclusive community for people of all genders, who were sexually deprived due to social awkwardness, marginalization, or mental illness. This was likely down to agency interference within the group, anything that benefits people coming together for a better cause, is ultimately targeted, as we at THI have found out. The message board love-shy.com was founded in 2003, as a place for people who felt perpetually rejected or were extremely shy, with potential partners to discuss their situations. It was less strictly moderated than its counterpart, IncelSupport, which was also founded in the 2000s. While IncelSupport welcomed men and women and banned misogynistic posts, love-shy.com's userbase was overwhelmingly male. Over the next decade, the membership of love-shy.com, and online fringe right-wing communities like 4chan increasingly overlapped. These types of websites show how far the mistrust of the opposite sex has now reached. It is beyond sad of how many people live alone, because one group thinks all men are bastards, yet consistently ignore the nice men in favor of bad dudes, and the other think all women are gold diggers and only after the money. Those preset ideologies were created for you by the think tanks, as Tuesdays show revealed, only you can change that, just you and then convince one other person to change.

EXPOSE 2: Mesirah (or mesira, Hebrew: to turn over) is the action in which one Jew reports the conduct of another Jew to a non-rabbinic authority in a manner and under the circumstances forbidden by rabbinic Law. This may not necessarily apply to reporting legitimate crimes to responsible authority, but does apply to turning over a Jew to an abusive authority, or to a legitimate one who would punish the criminal in ways seen as excessive by Jewish community, though excessive punishment by non-Jews may be permissible, if a precept of the Torah has been violated. The term for an individual who commits mesirah is moser or mossur. A person who repeatedly violates this law by informing on his fellow Jews is considered subject to Din Moser, the law of the informer, which is analogous to Din rodef in that both prescribe death for the offender, and according to some, in some circumstances the offender may be killed without warning. The source of the ban comes from the Bava Kamma section of the Babylonian Talmud. Probably the law was instigated to ease Jewish life under Roman or Persian rule. No it wasn't, it was the plan all the time, it is the law all EL-ite Jews live by, it is their code of law, code being the operative word. Their law is another control system, and this is why many lawyers are Jewish to control the system. Any Jewish transgressor brought to the court is immediately seized upon and actions taken, like Epstein for example, do you really think they would allow him to go to court? This law is discussed in Babylonian Talmud, by Rambam and in Shulchan Aruch. Shulchan Aruch, however, states that in the cases that if Jews do not testify against other Jews in the gentile court, it will be obvious that Jews are covering up for each other, they should testify. Maimonides states: Whoever adjudicates in a non-Jewish court is wicked and it is as though he has reviled, blasphemed and rebelled against the law of Moses. Maimonides further explains: It is forbidden to hand over a Jew to the heathen, neither his person nor his goods, even if he is wicked and a sinner, even if he causes distress and pain to fellow-Jews. Whoever hands over a Jew to the heathen has no part in the next world. Except the Jews are told and firmly believe there is no after life, so that in and of itself is a large contradiction. It is permitted to kill a moser (informant) wherever he is. It is even permitted to kill him before he has handed over a fellow Jew. Modern times: According to Michael Broyde, there are many different opinions among 20th-century rabbis as to the extent and circumstances mesirah is still valid in modern times. According to The Times of Israel and a Channel 4 investigation, the concept of mesirah was used by a Haredi leader to protect community members investigated for child molestation from police investigation. And yet people are concerned about Sharia law, with this level of deceit and deception? The principle of mesirah has also been used to dissuade Jewish auditors from reporting other Jews to the IRS for tax fraud. Rabbinic courts in Israel have issued writs calling for social exclusion of Jews bringing legal issues to Israel's civil courts. Rabbi Chaim Kanievsky, a leading Israeli rabbi and posek in Haredi Jewish society ruled, that reporting instances of sexual child abuse to the police is consistent with Jewish law. Other major Orthodox poskim in America, such as Rabbi Hershel Shachter also concur that abuse cases should be reported in full to the civil authorities. Which proves the great differences between the Jewish peoples. Mesirah has also been cited as one of the main reasons for the gross underreporting in the sexual abuse cases in Brooklyn's Haredi community. In Australia: The mesirah doctrine came under intense public scrutiny in Australia in early 2015, as a result of evidence given to the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse relating to an alleged long-running and systematic cover-up of child sexual abuse, and the institutional protection of perpetrators at the exclusive Melbourne boys' school Yeshiva College. On 28 January 2015 Fairfax Media reported secret tape recordings and emails had been disclosed, which revealed that members of Australia's Orthodox Jewish community who assisted police investigations into alleged child sexual abuse, were pressured to remain silent on the matter. Criminal barrister Alex Lewenberg was alleged to have been disappointed, and to have berated a Jew who had been a victim of a Jewish sex offender, and whom he subsequently regarded as a mossur for breaking with mesirah tradition. Lewenberg was subsequently found guilty of professional misconduct. In February 2015 Zephaniah Waks, an adherent of the ultra-Orthodox Hasidic Chabad sect in Melbourne, Australia, testified to the Royal Commission that following his discovery that one of his sons had been sexually abused by Rabbi David Kramer, a teacher at their school, Yeshiva College, he confronted the school's principal, Rabbi Abraham Glick and demanded that Kramer be sacked. Waks told of his shock when he learned a few days later that Kramer was still working at the school, and that he again confronted Rabbi Glick, who then claimed that Kramer had admitted his guilt because he wanted to be caught, but that the school could not dismiss Kramer because, Glick claimed he was at risk of self-harm. Waks also told the Commission that despite his anger, he felt constrained not to go to the authorities because of the doctrine of mesirah. I thought this was absolutely outrageous, however if I reported this to the police I would be in breach of the Jewish principle of mesirah. Waks said the concept of mesirah prevented members of the ultra-Orthodox Chabad sect of Judaism from going to secular authorities. At the very least, the breach of mesirah almost certainly always leads to shunning and intimidation within the Jewish community, and would almost certainly damage marriage prospects of your children. Giving evidence to the Commission on the day before his father, Menachem Waks, one of three children from the Waks family who were sexually abused by staff at Yeshiva College, testified that after breaking mesirah by going public about his abuse. He and his family had been ostracised by rabbinical leaders, shunned by his community and subjected to a sustained campaign of abuse, intimidation and threats, which eventually forced Waks to leave Australia with his wife and children. He also testified about how members of the exclusive Chabad community had pressured him to abandon his advocacy. I was in fact contacted by several considered community members, and they said to me that the anti-Semites are having a field day with my testimony and my publicity around this issue, and that if I cared about the community, I'd cease doing that straight away. Counsel Assisting the commission then asked Waks how he felt having been accused of being an informer, I am appalled by it obviously, because the concept of Mesirah really, you can become a death target. Taken at its literal meaning, you become potentially a target who is legitimate to be murdered, because you've gone and cooperated with the authorities. Now, I've never felt threatened for my life, but it does highlight the severity in which this concept is held. In December 2017, the Commission's final report included a recommendation to Jewish institutions, all Jewish institutions in Australia should ensure that their complaint handling policies explicitly state, that the halachic concepts of mesirah, moser and loшон horo, do not apply to the communication and reporting of allegations of child sexual abuse to police and other civil authorities. This is the reality of the EL-ite Jewish community, like the National Security Act that protects the crimes of the agencies in the US, a rule for one and not for the all club. A secret law that prevents criminals from natural justice, it allows crimes against children to go unpunished and all kinds of other anti human practices. These parasites are the problem on this planet and have to be stopped. The Jewish people en masse have to rise up also and stop these parasites operating under their name and in their honor. It is insidious the writings and teachings of the Talmud against the goyim, yet where is the cry of racism? These are the most racist peoples on the planet, and are even racist against their own so called people. All peoples have to come together to end this Kali Ma Egyptian Ra based cult from off world. That has bedazzled whole communities into this cult, in particular the Freemasons, you are neither free or masons, masons build not destroy. Mormons also another fake religious cult that practices child pedophilia. Time to all walk away and leave the psychopaths isolated by themselves, all of you are propping this system of abuse up. Walk away, stop giving your tithes and other forms of guilt money to these criminals.

This is part of a piece done by Tyler Durden of Zerohedge, my comments at the end. Why are companies all over the world suddenly desperate for workers? When the labor shortage started in the United States, a lot of people blamed overly generous government handouts, but that doesn't explain why the exact same thing is happening in nation after nation all over the globe. There aren't enough factory workers, there aren't enough truck drivers, there aren't enough port workers, there aren't enough employees to properly staff our stores, and the shortage of doctors and nurses is becoming a major crisis in some areas. During normal times, we were always told that the global economy was not producing nearly enough jobs for everyone, but now for the very first time we are facing an enormous worldwide labor shortage. It is almost as if millions upon millions of people suddenly disappeared from the system. Earlier today, I was stunned to learn that a new survey has discovered that 69 percent of global companies are having a hard time finding enough people to hire. A survey of nearly 45,000 employers across 43 countries showed 69 percent of employers reported difficulty filling roles, a 15-year high, according to employment-services provider ManpowerGroup Inc. At the same time, 15 countries focused in Europe and North America reported their highest hiring intentions since the survey began in 1962. Just a few years ago, any company that was willing to pay decent wages would be absolutely flooded by job applications. But now everyone can't stop talking about the shortage of workers. So where did all the people go? Normally, global supply chains run as smooth as butter, but now they are in a complete and utter state of chaos, is because there simply is not enough workers for them to operate. On a very basic level, we need people to make stuff, pack stuff, ship stuff, transport stuff, unload stuff and sell stuff. A supply chain crunch that was meant to be temporary now looks like it will last well into next year, as the surging delta variant upends factory production in Asia and disrupts shipping, posing more shocks to the world economy. Manufacturers reeling from shortages of key components and higher raw material and energy costs, are being forced into bidding wars to get space on vessels, pushing freight rates to records and prompting some exporters to raise prices or simply cancel shipments altogether. But if we had enough people to do all the jobs that needed to be done, this crisis could be resolved very rapidly. So where are they? As inventories get tighter and tighter, that is invariably going to drive up prices. Earlier this week, one of my readers emailed me about the shortages and price increases that she is seeing in her local area. I asked her if I could share this with all of you. You can't find frozen turkeys, frozen hens, frozen cornish hens, the supply chain has indeed been cut. There was just one box of oatmeal on the shelves of our local food store, that are normally stocked through the gills with food. Prices are higher tomato sauce in a can, what was $0.99 cents last year now costs $1.50. Chicken drumsticks last year were $0.89/pound now they are $ 1.39 per pound. We only buy meat that has been reduced a rump roast, for instance, was marked down from $18 dollars to $7, that's a huge price cut, so we look for deals like that, but they are hard to find. Everything is higher, packaged in smaller boxes and cups and there is not much of it. We all knew this was coming it's going to get worse, for lots of people who don't know what's happening. We have goats for goat milk and meat if we need, chickens for eggs and we've put back lots of produce we found on sale over the summer, in the freezer to booster our garden. It's shocking how much just is not there the shelves are empty, moved closer together, and bare spots are everywhere in grocery stores these days. I mentioned this in a show when I was still in Florida, so pre August 2018, in particular how many Walmart shelves were empty. Unfortunately, what we have experienced so far is just the beginning. Global food supplies are going to continue to get tighter, and that is going to continue to drive up food prices. Another sector of the economy where the labor shortage is having a big impact is in the healthcare industry. Lately, I have been coming across lots of stories about people dying because they can't get the care that they need. Just before I started writing this article, I came across a heartbreaking story about a 70-year-old woman in Canada that dropped dead after a six hour wait in a local emergency room, when she died early Wednesday in a Kamloops, B.C., hospital emergency waiting room after a six-hour wait for care. Kamloops is known for genocide of kids in the children's homes, churches and hospitals. Nobody should ever have to die that way, due to a lack of care. But it is going to keep happening, because there is an acute shortage of healthcare workers right now. All over the nation, the shortage of nurses has become a really big deal, and new mandates are just making things even worse. Hospitals are struggling to comply with the state's nurse staffing requirements, as pandemic-induced burnout has exacerbated an already chronic nursing shortage nationwide. But burnout isn't the only thing compounding California's nursing shortage: The state's new vaccine mandate for health care workers, is already causing headaches for understaffed hospitals before it is even implemented. Some traveling nurses who are in high demand nationwide, are turning down California assignments because they don't want to get vaccinated. There is a serious shortage of doctors as well, and this is a phenomenon that we are witnessing all over the globe. For example, over in the UK the NHS may be unable to cope this winter because of a frightening shortfall of more than 50,000 doctors, the head of the British Medical Association has warned. Here in the United States, our healthcare system has never been so close to a state of collapse. In fact, one doctor recently wrote an article in which he claimed that it has already collapsed. As a resident physician who has only trained in an era of Covid, I was asked to consider graduating from school early in April 2020 to help with medical staff shortages. My time as a doctor has been defined by working in a system that has already collapsed. The American health system I work in has featured limited personal protective equipment, oxygen shortages, and the construction of field hospitals in convention centers and parking garages. Last winter, many hospitals across the country instituted crisis standards of care, forced to ration health services based on criteria that few people envisioned would be used outside of a mass casualty event, like a terrorist attack. Today, hospitals are full in much of the country, with patients requiring an ICU being airlifted thousands of miles in search of a staffed bed. These are not features of a health system that is approaching failure. These are features of a health care system that has broken down spectacularly, forcing doctors and patients to climb through the rubble looking for help. But just like every other industry, if we had enough people to do the jobs that needed to be done, we would be fine. In all the years that I have been writing about the economy, finding enough workers has never been a problem. Yet here we are in the middle of 2021, and all of a sudden there are millions and millions and millions of empty jobs all over the globe. Once again, there is a question that I must ask. Where did all the people go? Interesting article. This is a question that everyone should be asking, because the people that are currently running things are not telling you the truth. Where did all the people go? our members will know we were warned of disappearing people in past shows going back 4-5 years ago. Is this real? look around you, once you see, you cannot undo it. Is it now our reality as the phase in and phase out between the new world and the old world begins to take shape. Is the G cloud now creating and developing all organic, and phasing out the inorganic? Are the injections a deletion package for the machine based humans, as mentioned in Tuesdays show? Did Tuesdays show fill in all the dots? Who are the Clade X? what did it make you feel? proud to come this far or sad for a range of people you don't know who potentially may never have been real to begin with? I feel for all who have people in their family who participated in the experiment, I have members of my own family who have done so, so don't think it doesn't affect me as well, it affects us all. I received a message following the show Tuesday, that at least confirms one aspect of the US Military experiments. My husband was in the US Air force for 3 years and the Marines for 9, he and his entire ship were experimented upon, his body is still reacting to this day. There's so much truth in what you revealed tonight. I suppose the greatest question from Tuesdays show is, are they deleting the bots as part of their karmic debt? A reminder of a past show ending called You are not ones and zeros, perhaps it was said at the time slightly cryptically but perhaps now as you have all grasped things a lot more, it may make more sense. So, we had organic higher developed souls pave the way and prepare for the full return of organic life here, and the planets restoration to organic life, that will have consequences for the inorganic's that are left here, phasing and shifting will increase.
