

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2021-10-28

These are the most extraordinary times ever in our lifetime, there is no doubt about that. It is not a cure if people are dying, it's not research if people are deleting or banning opposing views, it's not data if the adverse reactions and deaths are being censored and not included, it is not science if you are not allowed to question it. The world held hostage by a relatively few psychopaths, greed based cretins and a media that is beyond treasonous. Throw in jackass politicians, corrupt and greed medical people which is a misnomer in and of itself and you have a cocktail that is a recipe for disaster. Look at the two leaders of America and Britain, an eccentric jackass who is a figure of fun, imagine spitting image being around now with him, they would have a field day. An American President who goes missing, can't remember, can't speak and mumbles incoherently despite a monitor to read from, the last one wasn't much better either, he was a game show host and resembled Caesar Flickerman of the Hunger Games, wildly out of touch, arrogance and ego off the charts, is this the best we have? Both Kim and I warned you all and the idiot politicians, that there is a systematic attempt to crash this country into 3rd world status, and that is what is ongoing. The forest was shrinking but the trees kept voting for the axe, as it's handle was made of wood and they thought it was one of them, springs to mind. No finance, loads of debt, no infrastructure, medical services, police, docks staff, care workers, agriculture or farmer workers, construction workers, service jobs all drastically reduced to the point of shadow service, and yet we are still paying the full or increased taxes? The whole system is going down, there is no question of that, but where are the solutions? I know lets talk about climate change and bring a young disability kid out to do our job, or rewriting the peoples history with the Critical Race theory, highlighting transgendered, lets teach adult sex games to children whilst a transgender prances around the classroom, lets talk about anti Semitism because one race is all so more important than any other, when their own kind won't look after the majority of Jews. Where are the Military? the all so proud and fastest, bestest, biggest etc Military, where are you? have you reached the same level of toy soldiers the Militia have, your country you all profess to love is in tatters, and you are doing what, giving death jabs to kids in school? And what of the people, well to those of you who are standing up to this lunacy farm of jackasses, I thank you. As for the rest you are a disgrace to humanity, sitting there taking your death jabs and making others sick because your new parents the Government and the TV told you to, utter pathetic behavior. If vaccines worked how come so many are sick? even before Covid, if medicines worked how come many of you are still on it? Newsflash they don't work. If pills worked how come many of you are still on them after years, newsflash they don't work. If vitamins and supplements work, how come you still get sick, allergies and various other ailments? newsflash, they don't work. If organic food is so much better than ordinary food, how come so many still need pills, supplements, vitamins and various other costly health products? newsflash it is no different, just clever marketing ploy to get you to pay more for the same items. Organic is not something you buy, it is something you be. They tell you they are interested in your health, yet legalize marijuana? the mari word again like mari time, juana is Hebrew and means god is gracious, the mari god is gracious and you think that smoking that plant is beneficial? You can't possibly be spiritual and on the right path smoking a low vibrational plant. Your greatest health benefit is inside of you, called your immune system, providing you switch off your brain, that believes all the shit you take that comes under the banner of healthy is beneficial, newsflash it is not. If that statement was not correct everyone would be healthy, they are not. It is the same as the hippy love and light brigade, if so many were love and light, why is the world a mess? It is the same as religion, said to create nice people who are holy and divine, yet where is the evidence of that? there is none. These are the most extraordinary times, cathartic in so many ways, the purging of the utter shit we have all swallowed, tolerated, allowed and endured, now we all get to see our own pure folly of our own stupidity for all to see. I warned 6 years ago the masks of illusion would come down, and they did, and what it revealed has been a very unpleasant sight, and also reveals we as collective have not been kind enough to each other, or ourselves. We can carry on deluding ourselves of our own failures and collective failures, or stand up and be counted one by one, until the one on one with one is fully restored. The dark declared war on us all, let that sink in, the clowns were forced to show their hand and declared war on us all, and the weak nature of humanities collective largely complied, laid down and took the jab because the billionaire overlords and their minions told them to do so. That is their collective loss, and in overview and a non personal point of view, that may well turn out to be beneficial. Because that will leave a group of people globally with a back bone, common sense, camaraderie and a fierce will and determination to not only end the largely elderly psychopaths, but to go forward to rebuilding our world, our people and our sanity. I know most of you who listen regularly to our show are, time to pull in others as a collective and march forward as one. Forget petty squabbles between you, let it go, we don't all have to like each other, but we all have to work with each other to achieve our end goals. Some say we are crazy, fine lets all go crazy and build a better humanity, all aboard. NEWS: This is a disturbing story on many levels, that should alarm all Americans regardless of party affiliations. Planeloads of underage migrants are being flown secretly into suburban New York, in an effort by President Biden's administration to quietly resettle them across the region. The charter flights originate in Texas, where the ongoing border crisis has overwhelmed local immigration officials, and have been underway since at least August, according to sources familiar with the matter. Perhaps the story of the Texas National Guard working with the Egyptian Military has more to it now? Last week, The Post saw two planes land at the Westchester County Airport, where most of the passengers who got off appeared to be children and teens, with a small portion appearing to be men in their 20s. Westchester County cops stood by as the passengers, whose flights arrived at 10:49 p.m. Wednesday and 9:52 p.m. Friday, they got off and piled into buses. Some of them were later seen meeting up with relatives or sponsors in New Jersey, or being dropped off at a residential facility on Long Island. Now I am more concerned, particularly in light of Tuesday's show, with the dark history of Long Island and the Montauk mind control program located there, this could be something more sinister. A Post analysis of online flight-tracking data suggests that, around 2,000 of the underage migrants have arrived at the airport outside White Plains on 21 flights since Aug. 8. Records show some of the planes touched down between midnight and 6:30 a.m, when a voluntary curfew is in effect, with two arriving from Houston at 2:13 a.m. and 4:29 a.m. on Aug. 20. The clandestine nature of the operation raises questions about how the White House is dealing with a recent surge in unaccompanied minors. Well, The Post instead of asking leading questions, you could spit out the real truth of what is happening to the children, all media are aware of it, and say nothing. Perhaps the Post can send reporters to the facility on Long Island, as a follow up on the condition of the children?

That news comes on top of this piece from Mexico in 2019, and needs to be revisited. In a dead giveaway that the whole migration scene is a dialectic conspiracy, comes news that Mexican law enforcement has identified 26 schemers involved in funding caravans to the borders. Mexican tax officials froze the assets of the 26 individuals and entities, that it alleges, are tied to human smuggling organizations or involved in promoting Central American migrant caravans. The financiers of the migrant caravans allegedly come from the U.S., England, Africa and Central America, the Mexican government announced on June 5, 2019. We have another smoking gun that reveals mass migrations are not organic events, but rather planned and organized asymmetric warfare against U.S. and European nations. Well, two years have passed, and it appears the list of 26 names still has not been revealed. The names? insert any wealthy Jewish person and you won't go far wrong, Soros the main culprit, more the Foundation he created than Soros himself, add the DNC, add Obama and the Langley 3 Muslim Brotherhood and the list will be complete.

Disturbing news in relation to the eruption on the island of La Palma, part of the Canary Islands off N. African coast. It started erupting on September 19th and I gave warnings about this several years ago and also that week. It appears now the increase in earthquakes are being deliberately done in a grid pattern, presumably designed to weaken the SW corner of the island, which was already unstable, to crash into the sea. This would generate a tsunami wave of 100-160 feet high and would reach the whole of the East coast of America in 8-9 hours. The wave would last 5-45 minutes depending on the height and flood 12-15 miles inland, all along the Eastern seaboard, The Caribbean, all the islands south of Florida, NW of South America, Cozumel and Cancun areas also. I presume this as I have mentioned it earlier is the go to event for the clowns, to in part take away the previous mess they created, and as mentioned in the opening piece destroy America and it's alleged super power status. The guestimate figures for deaths are said to be in the range of 100M.

This practice needs to be stopped on this high level, Trump used this 6 times to not pay debts and his contractors for his various mini empire projects. Johnson & Johnson placed into bankruptcy its liabilities for tens of thousands of claims linking talc-based products to cancer, hoping to drive a settlement of personal-injury claims that are expected to grow for decades to come. The healthcare company said Thursday that a corporate affiliate holding talc-related liabilities had filed for chapter 11 protection, to resolve all claims related to cosmetic talc in a manner that is equitable to all parties, including any current and future claimants. The chapter 11 filing makes J&J the latest company to turn to chapter 11, as a mechanism to settle large numbers of lawsuits over defective products or other harms. Victims' lawyers had criticized J&J for exploring a bankruptcy over talc, saying that chapter 11 wasn't meant to help healthy companies avoid accountability. Interesting to note now we know some of their codes, that clause is numbered 11, not a coincidence. The company's actions underscore the risks it faces from ongoing talc litigation, which as of July totaled roughly 34,600 lawsuits linking Johnson's Baby Powder to ovarian cancer, asbestos poisoning and other illnesses. And yet stupid bots still line up for their vaccine?

The banking heist and crisis continues it seems. Prime Minister of Thailand Prayut Chan-o-cha has ordered urgent action to resolve the issue of irregular online withdrawals of cash, debited through bank credit cards after complaints by many cardholders. Government spokesman Thanakorn Wangboonkongchana said on Monday, the prime minister had instructed all relevant agencies to investigate and put an end to the problem. The Bank of Thailand and Thai Bankers' Association issued a joint statement on Sunday, saying banks would accept responsibility for the debts fraudulently accrued by customers. The statement said no commercial banks' systems had been hacked. The irregular transactions were for payment to online shops registered outside Thailand. The money was withdrawn through credit and debit cards. The cardholders did not buy goods online from those shops, and were not alerted to the withdrawals. All withdrawals were the same figure of 34.15 bhat. The number of victims remained unclear but the Facebook sharing experience account had more than 57,000 followers on Monday, with the number increasing. I would suggest we all watch our bills and statements more closely.

Lloyds Banking Group is to close a further 48 branches, after a decline in visits by customers. The Unite union said the closure of 41 Lloyds Bank and seven Halifax branches, will deny thousands of customers access to vital services and cash, and could lead to 178 job losses. Vim Maru, retail director for Lloyds Banking Group, said: like many other businesses, we've seen people using our branches less frequently in recent years, and this decline is continuing. Three and a quarter years on from Clowns in Panic show, we are now witnessing the decentralization of banks high street and Central they wished to enact. What that confirms is, what this show has repeated for the last few years, their old system is done, banking and otherwise. For that we have to thank in part the Trustee, as she played a key role in that along with myself. That is why I took the offer to join the Trust, the only reason to join the Trust, it was never about the money for me. Seen too many fall because of pieces of paper with numbers, that spawns so called entertainment shows like the Squid game. One wonders if the title that show was indicative? S representing the US Dollar sign and quid is a British slang word for a pound coin or note.

But the schemers, snakes and parasites continue to plot their escape and new world. Bill Gates spoke at the recent the Global Investment Summit at the Science Museum on October 19, 2021 in London, England. As well as Gates, Goldman Sachs boss, David Solomon, JP Morgan chief executive, Jamie Dimon, and Jes Staley, head of Barclays, also attended the meeting. Larry Fink, boss of the investment firm BlackRock, Stephen Schwarzman, the chief executive of the private equity firm Blackstone, which is a subsidiary of BlackRock, and Ana Botín, the chair of Santander, also attended the Downing Street dinner. BlackRock, Blackstone and Santander given the Trustee sent money there, and BlackRock spirited it out of Mexico the same week, are all Black Sun entities. Botin is a new name to me, and yet Forbes lists her as the 8th most powerful woman in the world. Born into a banking family, married a banker who is the son of the 9th Marquess of Borghetto, a wealthy landowner. Marquess of Borghetto is a noble title in the peerage of Spain, granted originally in the peerage of Parma to Catalina de Bassecourt, by Philip I of Parma, member of the Spanish royal family and younger brother of Charles III of Spain, on July 1765. Philip of Parma it said which is Italy, why is it linked to Spain? because these royals slept with each other and kept it all in house, pardon the pun and literally. Connected to the Bourbons, and the link to Italy brings in the Farnese family of Sicilian bloodline and mafia, as well as the Farnese's were part of the Italian 13 bloodline families that control the church in Rome and many other things. Black and grey Popes often come from those families, the public PR Pope is just a puppet in a dress. Lets look at their races shall we, Solomon Jew, Staley married to a Jew and pal of Epstein, Fink Jew, Schwarzmann Jew, Gates Jew, can it get more obvious at this point? I know they have used the anti Semitic narrative to shut people down, but come on these people have been trampling all over us for centuries, calling people out for wrong doing is not and never was anti Semitic, it is called being truthful and honorable. Something these parasites will never attain, and go to great lengths to cover up.

But it doesn't end there, as the press announced with much fanfare the appointment of a new 4 star General, badges of dishonor then. This next section is all about the divisive agendas being ran on we the people. Rachel Leland Levine is an American pediatrician and four-star admiral in the United States Public Health Service Commissioned Corps who has been the United States assistant secretary for health since March 26, 2021. She has become the first 4 star General who is transgendered. That does not concern me, but one would think if transgendered where to be accepted into society, they would not require fanfare for every appointment. Or parades of putting it in peoples faces either, now some will say that is not fair, but then I will ask where are the parades, organizations and support for white people if we are going to be all inclusive? Where is the recognition for the white male heterosexual, if we are going to be all inclusive? white lives matter? why is their no mention of anything positive or in support of white people? But what really does concern me about this piece is, this is another high level Jewish appointment, hidden under the banner of being in a minority group.

A University of Chicago professor whose guest lecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), was called off amid outrage from campus activist groups was switched to being hosted by Princeton University, where thousands have already registered to hear the canceled speech. The associate geophysics professor, Dorian Abbot, said activists and MIT academics were outraged by comments he made in an August Newsweek opinion piece, wherein he criticized current diversity, equity, and inclusion standards in higher education. Oops he spoke truth then, global crime that these days. In the piece, Abbot proposed an alternative framework called Merit, Fairness, and Equality, whereby university applicants are treated as individuals, and evaluated through rigorous and unbiased processes based on merit and qualifications. The professor also characterized the current diversity standards as treating people as members of a group rather than as individuals, repeating the mistake that made possible the atrocities of the 20th century. An MIT spokesperson told The New York Post in a statement that the lecture on climate science and life on other planets, hosted by the Department of Earth, Atmospheric and Planetary Sciences, wasn't being held this year at the discretion of the department. Princeton opted to take the reins and host Abbot's lecture remotely on October 21, the very same day it was scheduled to take place at MIT. A Princeton professor, Robert P. George, said in a Sunday tweet that the Zoom quota for the lecture had already been expanded, to accommodate more attendees after the web conference limit was reached. One University of Chicago student attending the lecture, Audrey Unverferth, said that she was excited to attend the revived lecture, and called the professor extraordinarily brave for leading the charge against the cancel mob. Unverferth is the co-founder and editor-in-chief of the student-run newspaper, The Chicago Thinker, which she says is dedicated to challenging the mob's crusade against free speech. The people are fighting back again, but lets not turn on each other, this is a created division point to continue their agenda of having black and white people hate and fight each other.

I find this story bizarre for many things, but noted they only focused on the person dead, and largely ignored updates on the person alive who was also shot. Cinematographer Halyna Hutchins, who worked on a number of indie productions including Archenemy, Blindfire and The Mad Hatter, died Thursday after being injured when a prop gun was discharged by actor Alec Baldwin on the set of Rust, she was 42. Interesting she was involved in The Mad Hatter given several references of that in recent shows. Born in Ukraine in 1979, Hutchins grew up on a Soviet military base in the Arctic Circle. She attended Kyiv National University and graduated with a degree in international journalism. In her first career, she worked as an investigative journalist for British documentary productions in Eastern Europe. The Santa Fe County Sheriff's Department said Hutchins and the film's director, Joel Souza, were shot when the prop gun was discharged by Baldwin. Hutchins was flown by helicopter to the University of New Mexico Hospital, where she was pronounced dead. Souza was hospitalized in critical condition. An investigation was underway. Grew up on a Soviet Military base and yet worked closely inside the US, in their world should that not be a security issue? How can a prop gun kill people or injure them, it's utter bizarre and this smacks of another staged event to me, to cover up something else, or frame Alec Baldwin for whatever reason.

The Hebrew Annunaki PR and subjugation tour is still flying around the world, and spreading their discord and disinformation I see. If it is not about Iran, a reminder of the Holocaust and please give us your shekels, it is the divisive and racist Anti Semitic line of bs. The European Union reiterated Friday that anti-Semitism has no place in the 27-nation bloc, after Slovenian Prime minister Janez Jansa posted a message on social media, that was criticized by some European lawmakers as anti-Semitic. Jansa, whose country currently holds the rotating EU Council presidency, accused several members of the European Parliament of being puppets of George Soros. I see what happened there and the problem, he spoke the truth and the Israeli junta abhor truth of any kind, particularly in relation to their antics. The Hungarian-American billionaire investor, who is Jewish, has been the subject of anti-Semitic attacks and conspiracy theories for decades. It is not anti Semitic though is it, they are calling him out for being a genocidal maniac, running Hebrew Annunaki policy and ruining whole peoples and countries. That is not anti Semitic, that is truth. Jansa made his comments on Twitter during a visit to Slovenia by a European Parliament delegation, assessing press freedom and the rule of law in the Balkan state.

Rocking back and forth, Shlomo Ben Yaakov reads from a Torah scroll at a synagogue on the outskirts of Nigeria's capital, Abuja. Rocking back and forth in any other form of life and society would label that person with a mental defect, but not in the conspiratorial world of religion it seems. Perhaps this article will reveal why Africa is always in so much turmoil, and who is involved in it. Intermittently his soft mellow voice rises in Hebrew, and he is joined by the dozens who recite after him. Most do not fully understand the language, but this small Nigerian community claims Jewish ancestry dating back hundreds of years, and they are left frustrated by a lack of recognition by Israel. I consider myself a Jew, says Mr. Yaakov. There are a number of African peoples all claiming the same thing, because they wish to be seen as the in crowd and merge with the faked biblical stories. Mr. Yaakov if you knew the true history, the last thing you may wish to consider yourself as is, a Jew. The point being is why people have to label themselves with external verbs and nouns to begin with? What is wrong with being the self? a spark of Source creation? is that not enough? Outside the Gihon Hebrew Synagogue in the suburb of Jikwoyi, a table is laid inside a tent built from palm leaves to celebrate Sukkot, a festival that commemorates the years Jews spent in the desert on their way to the Promised Land. Just as we are doing this now, they are doing same in Israel, says Mr Yaakov, as people share traditional cholla bread, baked at the synagogue and wine from small cups being passed around. He is an Igbo, one of Nigeria's three dominant ethnic groups which originates in the south-east of the country. Many Igbos believe they have Jewish heritage as one of the so-called 10 lost tribes of Israel, though most are not practicing Jews like Mr Yaakov, oh dear. They comprise less than 0.1% of the estimated 35 million Igbos. These tribes were said to have disappeared after being taken into captivity, when the northern Israelite kingdom was conquered in the 8th Century BC, and the Ethiopian Jewish community, for example, is recognized as one of them. Igbo customs such as male circumcision, mourning the dead for seven days, celebrating the new moon and conducting wedding ceremonies under a canopy, have reinforced this belief about their Jewish heritage. I think someone needs to tell him that is cult behavior. But Chidi Ugwu, an Igbo who is an anthropologist at the University of Nigeria in Enugu, says this identification with Judaism emerged only after the Biafran civil war. The Igbos had been fighting for secession from Nigeria, but lost what was a brutal conflict between 1967-1970. Some people were looking for some psychological boost to hang on to, so began to make the Jewish connection, he says. They saw themselves as persecuted people, much as Jewish people have been through history, especially during the Holocaust. Erm what about the Polish people, the Slav, the Aryans who died in far greater numbers, why does his story always erase that? It is insulting to call the Igbos the lost tribe of anybody, there is no historical or archaeological evidence to back that up. He argues that as evidence suggests, the Igbos were among those who migrated out of Egypt several thousand years ago, it may be that Jews picked up Igbo customs when they went there. Perhaps they never migrated at all and where thrown out for their practices? Rabbi Eliezer Simcha Weisz, chairman of the foreign affairs department of the Rabbinic Council of Israel, the body that determines claims of Jewish ancestry, is also in no doubt. They claim to be one of the descendants of Gad, one of the sons of our forefather Jacob, but they can't prove their grandparents were Jewish, he said. And the customs they speak of, you can find people all over the world who have Jewish practices. Indeed, that is called indoctrination, and subjugation of the local populace, much like how the more modern day Jewish practice did, called Christianity. He said unless the Nigerian Jews converted to Judaism, a process that entails various rituals and appearing before a Jewish court, which is unavailable in Nigeria, they would not be recognized. Rituals and Cohen courts operating Talmudic law, erm no thanks. Just how arrogant does that statement sound? I thought religion was suppose to be about all encompassing and the divine? what a conspiracy that is, as I see no evidence to support it. Mr. Yaakov regards the idea of having to go through a conversion as an insult, the greater insult is the self elevation through connecting to something you think is greater than yourself. As a convert we would be seen as second-class citizens, he says. Indeed and so nothing would change, go and teach people real values, not chase fake tribes who are connected to a fake story and history.

Turkey's intelligence agency reportedly cracked a Mossad spy ring in an operation earlier this month, exposing five cells and arresting 15 men suspected of conducting covert activities on foreign students and Palestinians. Beware the false flag backlash, that is how these people work. After tracking the network for over a year, the National Intelligence Organization shared the information with counter-terrorism forces. According to the Sabah daily newspaper, a 200-strong team raided the cells in a secret operation across four provinces on October 7. The Turkish newspaper reported that the arrested men had been instructed to gather information on foreign students, particularly Palestinians, enrolled in Turkish universities, with an eye on those thought to have a future in the defense industry. The spies were also allegedly tasked with looking into a number of other unspecified associations, and organizations that hosted Palestinians in Turkey. The network apparently used this information to put together profiles on individuals, which were then relayed to Mossad officials, through end-to-end encryption programs like ProtonMail and SafeUM, a software that generates fake phone numbers. They also communicated through WhatsApp. As compensation, the suspected agents were transferred payments via Western Union, Moneygram, and even Bitcoin in some cases, the paper said. The network also reportedly developed a courier system to transfer funds, using jewelry stores and markets. Or they could have just tapped mask man Biden and Gina Haspel of the CIA and ask for more American aid.

A huge leak of documents seen by BBC News shows how countries are trying to change a crucial scientific report on how to tackle climate change. The leak reveals Saudi Arabia, Japan and Australia are among countries asking the UN, to play down the need to move rapidly away from fossil fuels. It also shows some wealthy nations are questioning, paying more to poorer states to move to greener technologies. This lobbying raises questions for the COP26 climate summit in November. The leak reveals countries pushing back on UN recommendations for action, and comes just days before they will be asked at the summit to make significant commitments, to slow down climate change and keep global warming to 1.5 degrees. Well it has already gone down 0.7C in the past 5 years. The leaked documents consist of more than 32,000 submissions made by governments, companies and other interested parties to the team of scientists compiling a UN report, designed to bring together the best scientific evidence on how to tackle climate change. These assessment reports are produced every six to seven years by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, the UN body tasked with evaluating the science of climate change. These reports are used by governments to decide what action is needed to tackle climate change, and the latest will be a crucial input to negotiations at the Glasgow conference. What a complete pile of shit, the time, effort and expense these people go to, to just talk shit just boggles the mind. Here is a novel idea, do something of value or real for a change.

Weeks after initial reports emerged that China had an interest in using Bagram Airfield in Afghanistan, a new spate of reports have emerged on social media, which means the agencies have been inserting stories again, indicating that activity at the former U.S. base could indicate that China is moving forward with that plan. In early September, U.S. News and World Report said China was interested in using the base, which was abandoned by the U.S. weeks before the military's final departure from Afghanistan. The base had been the largest American-run facility in Afghanistan. Multiple military assets given to Afghanistan by the United States were taken when the Taliban overran the base. The report said China was assessing the feasibility of using the base as a forward outpost, later prompting official denials from the Chinese government. On Sunday journalist Tajuden Soroush of the London-based Iran International, an Iranian opposition outlet, tweeted that activity at the base is giving new life to the idea that China is moving in. Sources in Bagram say they have seen military planes are landing at Bagram airbase. Earlier reported that some Chinese are seen there either but the Taliban denied it. Bagram was the biggest US base in Afghanistan and at least 3 US presidents visited it during the last 20 years. Yun Sun, director of the China Program at the Stimson Center, said official denials aside, occupying the base would be attractive to China, according to the U.K. Daily Mail. Yet more faction games and the request for further Military funds to deal with the "China issue", whilst we push ahead with child like games and threats, they are pushing on taking over everything, like economics, and the jackasses are oblivious or complicit in it.

In a recent show I mentioned about the compromising of your immune system by 15% after first jab and 35% from the second jab, undoubtedly increasing with the misnomer name of booster jab. This latest report confirms that and more. The latest figures from the UK PHE Vaccine Surveillance Report on Covid cases show that doubly vaccinated 40-70 year olds have lost 40% of their immune system compared to unvaccinated people. Their immune system is deteriorating by about 5% per week (between 2.7% and 8.7%). If this continues, 30-50 year olds will have a 100% breakdown of their immune system by Christmas, with no defence against viruses, and all doubly vaccinated people over 30 will have lost their immune system by March next year. I suspect we may all have to prepare ourselves of this coming period, it may well be a very dark winter for us all, the key is to observe not absorb. Remember these people took those jabs of their own free will, it is not our remit or responsibility to stop them making a sovereign choice. It is not our remit to feel guilt either, we cannot impose our common sense on people, they can only accept it themselves. But we have to prepare ourselves for what will be a very testing year on many counts, and stand tall, proud and steadfast in our convictions and manner, to be able to ride the wave. It will get choppy, but if you stand firm, stay balanced you will ride the wave. They have warned us of what is to come, it will be no surprise, but yes there will be a deep sadness, that is what empaths do. But we cannot let weak willed adult children define or determine our own path.

COVID BS: His story always repeats unless we see the pattern and prevent it happening, via non compliance. They tend to run programs every 70 years, which is around the average lifespan of a human, which is a deliberate ploy. I forecasted back before I became a radio show host that there was an imminent return to Nazism, given the 70 years time period was looming. We can now see that unfolding, National Zionism is on the rise, formulated by those who call themselves Jews, but they are not. They are imposters and psychotic parasites. During WW2 like WW1 it was started by the same parasites, the introduced ze papers please, called the Gesundheits pass. They still used the letter F as an S back then, maybe that is indicative given the S is serpent, and so F the serpent is the correct saying. But the Gesundheits pass when translated in English is, a health pass. Oh my.

An investigation of official ONS data has revealed, that since the Covid-19 vaccine was offered and administered to teenagers in England and Wales there has been a significant rise in deaths among teens, against the five-year-average with some weeks seeing an increase as high as 125%.

For children 12 to 15 years of age, the extremely short and small Pfizer Covid-19 vaccine clinical trial found the overall incidence of severe adverse events which left the children unable to perform daily activities, during the two-month observation period to be 10.7%, or 1 in 9, in the vaccinated group and 1.9% in the unvaccinated group. Consequently, children who received the vaccine had nearly six times the risk of a severe adverse event occurring in the two-month observation period, compared to children who did not receive the vaccine. In addition, the incidence of Covid-19 in the unvaccinated group was 1.6%, therefore, there were almost seven times more severe adverse events observed in the vaccinated group, than there were Covid-19 cases in the unvaccinated group. To those of us who are not versed in Johns Hopkins or common core maths, would say that was pretty conclusive evidence of failed vaccines at best, and sinister intentions at worst.

Here is another of their own reports. Covid has severely affected healthcare staff and may have killed between 80,000 and 180,000, the World Health Organization says. Healthcare workers must be prioritized for vaccines, WHO head Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said, and he criticized unfairness in the distribution of jabs. The deaths occurred between January 2020 and May of this year, which was the time the jabs were rolled out. Earlier, another senior WHO official warned a lack of jabs, could see the pandemic continue well into next year. There are an estimated 135 million healthcare workers globally. Data from 119 countries suggest that on average, two in five healthcare workers globally are fully vaccinated, Dr Tedros said. But of course, that average masks huge differences across regions and economic groupings. Fewer than one in 10 healthcare workers were fully vaccinated in Africa, he said, compared with eight in 10 in high-income countries. Africans are less brainwashed by the TV is why. A failure to provide poorer countries with enough vaccines was highlighted earlier by Dr Bruce Aylward, a senior leader at the WHO, who said it meant the Covid crisis could easily drag on deep into 2022. Less than 5% of Africa's population have been vaccinated, compared with 40% on most other continents. The vast majority of Covid vaccines overall have been used in high-income or upper middle-income countries. Africa accounts for just 2.6% of doses administered globally. Mainly because they have learned from the Gates Foundation and others vaccine programs before, that killed, injured or sterilized many of their people.

Two reports from our members. Last week our Bulgarian caretaker government which is an oxymoron introduced the green certificate from one day to another, and currently many of us have restrictions to go to many public buildings, going to small food shops, pharmacies, banks are excluded. In addition they want to introduce quick tests for kids at school, in order to bring them back to regular classes from online. It's worth mentioning that Bulgarians have the lowest level of vaccinated people in EU - 20%, and the loosest measures which many of us have not been following. Massive negative reactions are to be seen under the posted government events from the last days. And what I am sure about is, we are not giving our children to be tested!

Tomorrow the Premier (Governor) of Victoria, Australia intends to table a new piece of legislation that will establish a permanent state of emergency, that will replace the temporary situation that can't extend beyond 15 December, 2021. The legislation does not require a disease or virus to trigger a pandemic in order to lock down the state. The premier could literally say it Tuesday and all people born on the 3rd day of October need to report to their nearest hospital to donate a kidney. This was leaked by a major newspaper here in Melbourne, Victoria about 5 hours ago. This bill will also include the previously defeated omnibus bill of 2020 that was dubbed the Minority Report Bill. The periods of lock down will extend from 30 days to 90 days, as a financially bankrupt state, this maps to the debt rollover activity as well. Take note of Australia, Canada and the UK, they are the Commonwealth testing grounds for global tyranny, any coincidence they are all predominantly white countries? America is the final battleground for them to defeat, would have been sooner but for the guns.

PIECES OF INTEREST: The little snippets of extra information you find out when researching for certain shows. I came across a sentence that shows how far back the controlling the narrative was. Most people have heard of the Encyclopedia Britannica, but what most won't know is, the last original of that book was 1895, after that it was bought out by the Rockefellers and history and knowledge rewrote, omitted and or distorted.

The great debate of the electric cars v. the oil and gas cars is now building up, but there are issues, cost and time to consider before taking the leap. There are four additional costs to powering EVs beyond electricity. The cost of home charger, commercial charging, the EV tax and "deadhead" miles. Deadhead miles: EV drivers incur costs of driving miles to a commercial charger for the sole purpose of charging, due to the lack of electric charging stations. For the example set in Michigan, the direct monetary costs to drive 100 miles in an ICE vehicle is between $8 and $12, and in an EV is between $12 and $15. For now, EVs cost more to power than gasoline costs, to fuel an internal combustion car that gets reasonable gas mileage. In Michigan, for example, levies an additional registration cost between $135 and $235 for most electric vehicles. How is that encouraging anyone to switch by increasing the registration costs, yet again ass backwards bureaucracy and non thinking. There are significant time costs to finding reliable public chargers, even then a charger could take 30 minutes to go from 20% to an 80% charge. The study found that the average cost of a Level 1 charger is $600. To install a Level 2 costs $1,600 because it requires hiring an electrician. An L1 charger uses a 120-volt supply of electricity and can take 20 or more hours to charge, whereas an L2 chargers uses 240 volts and can charge in a few hours. You typically have to go to a commercial charger and commercial charger rates are two, three or four times that of residential charger rates. Again some people have taken advantage at what would be around 15-25c per KWh for home charging, these stations are charging at around 30-43c per KWh's, which can rise with additional charges of time of use, to 33-66c per Kwh. Did any jackass in the Government not plan ahead and make subsidies and regulate the cost of charging, before pushing people into this program? clearly not.

Members with a longer memory may remember me speaking of Earth and the solar system is in a vacuum of sort. A vortex swirling tube that funnels down, well new research may just have confirmed that belief I have had since 2013, after "seeing". New research suggests that the Earth, the sun, and the solar system could be traveling through a highly magnetized tunnel in space. If correct, the theory could explain the appearance in the sky of two rope-like structures in the Milky Way whose origins are currently uncertain. The North Polar Spur, described by NASA as the most spectacular coherent structure in the soft X-ray sky, and the Fan Region are two of the brightest radio-emitting gas structures seen in the night sky. Astronomers have long been puzzled by what these structures are, Dunlap Institute Research Associate, Dr. Jennifer West, told Vice, if our eyes could see radio light they would fill most of the sky. The authors suggest that these cosmic ropes of gas are long, magnetized, and parallel filamentary structures that surround the Local Bubble of the Milky Way in which the Sun is embedded like a tunnel. Clowns at CERN wanted to jettison themselves out, because they are trapped in it as well, and there is no escaping their fate. CERN was used to try to portal through the galactic central sun, that failed following certain interactions done throughout 2013, culminating in it ending August 2015. The entrance to CERN has a statue of Shiva, which is guarded by spirit ninjas, when approached dozens of ninjas appear and attack, thankfully they were curtailed.

In the show on last week, Thomas mentioned Event 201, for some reason, that got me thinking, why 201? 201 in the binary number system is 11001001. I did a search for that number, some interesting theater has been created using that number. Star Trek (1988) 11001001 - The Enterprise is commandeered by a race of technologically-linked aliens, intent on using the vessel for their own purposes. The race of beings are called Bynars and have minds that operate in binary. The episode aired on Feb 1, 1998 or in another notation 2.01.1998? Part of the plot is that the Bynars want to steal the ship, so they activate the self-destruct mechanism causing the ship to evacuate. The producers show the countdown clock and the time left in the image is, 2 minutes and 1 second, aka, 2:01. The Bynars are part organic and part in-organic, they have an implant that replaces one ear. The implant is composed of two circular rings that replace the ear. They are installed one on top of each other to form the image of an eight. The Bynars always work in pairs, so they combined have two eights. Now, for the computer nerds, hehe, the code 11001001 was the value of the RET (unconditional return code) in the original Intel 8080 CPU, so like the paired Bynars they are the same value of 2 eights. In bi-bull study, 8 has a meaning of new beginning or new order or new creation. So, we have event 201, leading to a binary number, leading to an episode of Star Trek, leading to a race of part organic/inorganic beings, leading to double 8's and that leads to an old Intel processor and the RETURN code. So, is Event 201, the control system attempting to reset the mobius loop again? Or is it something else? Either way, I do not consent. They can try, but they will fail.

In Expose 10 and the follow up FRWL Plus 8 we spoke of the Metaverse and digital twins, and their clownery surrounding technology, what are the coincidences of the establishment revealing more of that this week? Facebook has just announced it's going to hire 10,000 people in Europe to develop the metaverse. This is a concept which is being talked up by some as the future of the internet. But what exactly is it? What is the metaverse? To the outsider, it may look like a souped-up version of Virtual Reality, but some people think the metaverse could be the future of the internet. In fact, the belief is that it could be to VR, what the modern smart phone is to the first clunky mobile phones of the 1980s. Instead of being on a computer, in the metaverse you might use a headset to enter a virtual world connecting all sorts of digital environments. Unlike current VR, which is mostly used for gaming, this virtual world could be used for practically anything, work, play, concerts, cinema trips or just hanging out. Common sense question is, why would need or want to do any of them when you can go and do them in the real world. Most people envision that you would have a 3D avatar, a representation of yourself as you use it. Just what we needed more split personality and alters people in the world, how about we integrate ourselves instead of splitting everything. But because it's still just an idea, there's no single agreed definition of the metaverse. It is not just an idea, they have had it a while and waiting for the stupid public to request or demand it. There is a huge amount of excitement about the metaverse among wealthy investors and big tech firms. Well that should tell you right there, it will not be good for we the people. Facebook claims the metaverse won't be built overnight by a single company and has promised to collaborate. It has recently invested $50m (£36.3m) in funding non-profit groups to help build the metaverse responsibly. But it thinks the true metaverse idea will take another 10 to 15 years. I would reverse that and suggest they have had 10 to 15 years. In recent years Fortnite expanded its product, hosting concerts, brand events, and more inside its own digital world. Roblox, for example, is a platform for thousands of individual games connected to the larger ecosystem. Meanwhile, Unity, a 3D development platform, is investing in digital twins, digital copies of the real world. The graphics company Nvidia is building its Omniverse, which it describes as a platform for connecting 3D virtual worlds. Mr Sweeney recently told the Washington Post that he envisions a world where a car manufacturer trying to advertise a new model is, going to drop their car into the world in real time and you'll be able to drive it around. Perhaps when you go online shopping, you'll try on digital clothes first, and then order them to arrive in the real world. VR has come a long way in recent years, with high-end headsets which can trick the human eye into seeing in 3D as the player moves around a virtual world. Not only tricking their eyes, but their few brain cells as well. Lets look at the word Meta and see if it provides clues. Meta is a word which came from the ancient Greeks. When they used it, meta meant beyond, after, or behind. So, beyond, after or behind the verse, all of which signifies the sleight of hand program. The beyond sense of meta still lingers in words like metaphysics or meta-economy, but that's still not the meta most of us come across today. One of the more popular uses of meta today is for the meaning best described by the formula meta-X equals X about X. So, if we take the word data for our X, and add the prefix meta to it, we get metadata, or data about data, which is exactly what the voyeuristic perverts in the agencies have been doing. A meta-text is a text about texts, metacognition is thinking about thinking, and a meta-joke is a joke about jokes. The self-reflection sense of meta has also given rise to the use of the word as a standalone adjective, where meta is used to describe something that's self-reflective or self-referencing. Self-reflective or self-referencing, like looking in the mirror with your avatar then. The self-referencing sense of meta seems especially popular in art. In its simplest form, a book in which a character is writing a book or a movie, in which a character is making a movie can be described as meta. Showing or suggesting an explicit awareness of itself or oneself, as a member of its category cleverly self-referential. Concerning or providing information about members of its own category, occurring later than or in succession to, situated behind or beyond, later or more highly organized or specialized form of, transformation, metaphysics. More comprehensive transcending, metapsychological usually used with the name of a discipline, to designate a new but related discipline designed to deal critically with the original one. No wonder clowns are using that word, before, after and beyond. Before they die as well as lose, there is no after for them their only choice is deletion. They are trying to insert themselves into a digital reality false world with uploaded consciousness technology, in the hope that in the future they can reverse it, not happening. Beyond the pale, they are beyond the horizon of reality, human, evil, sadistic, perverted and some of their actions are beyond Satanesque.

We have spoken in the past about missing time, or time anomalies in particular a thousand year one. I mentioned in another show about 300 years appearing to be missing from the date, between 700 and 1000, because I saw a lack of history recorded for those dates. Then around 18 months ago, German researchers obviously spotted the same and did a paper on it, kind of proving the missing 300 years. But now a new photograph has come to light in Italy, surrounding the Galleria Umberto I in Naples. A picture of the gallery taken in 1890 had the letters ANNO DCCCXC, which means it was built in 890. But his story rewriters have since 1890 placed an M before the DCCCXC, which now signifies it was built in 1890, not 890. Like the temple in Salt Lake city, if you think Mormons built that, you seriously need to check their history. The roof had a dome placed upon it around 1890 when it was stated to have been built, and yet no drawings, photographs exist of it being built, or indeed who built it. Curiously all photograph's of the building being built are not there, the only photographs the research found was picture taken with the Galleria just out of shot. In Naples that building is a prize architecture building, yet no photographs of it from that time period. Maybe there is a clue as to who was changing all of his story, when they placed the dome upon it, to make it look like it was built more recently. Show pic. The glass dome on every panel built in 1890's it seems, had the Star of David added into it's design. Well I never, and yet more further evidence of who has been messing with our history. The great question is why? the answer is in the FRWL series of the Great White Race, with it's main attachment to Russia, but spread through the Caucasians to Iran, and across 2/3 of Europe and the Americas. Hunted down by the Hebrew Annunaki and their Star of David bs, which just happens to be the flag of Alpha Draconis, home of the Draco. People will ask how they can do that, it's simple, from around the same date 1880's they planned three world wars, and stuff and memories go missing. But, also the fact that most people miss what is obvious in front of their face, they don't scrutinize or critical think enough, so anomalies like this are missed. But the rise in the Tartaria story has brought out more people researching this type of stuff. The world is decorated by buildings that to all intents and purposes, despite increase in technology and other mechanical tools available, we can't build today. Now why is that? what happened to that skillset of humanity, to be able to build structures so intricate and carved, that still stand today from long in the past, and yet no buildings are barely able to stand more than a persons lifetime now? The banking and finance fraternity who belong to an off world parasite cult, are responsible for that atrocity, of expelling creativity to fulfill an agenda to erase our past, and so we are left with things like the book of Genesis stating all life began with Jews. They lied.

EXPOSE: NATO is developing new forms of warfare to wage a battle for the brain, as the military alliance put it. The US-led NATO military cartel has tested novel modes of hybrid warfare against its self-declared adversaries, including economic warfare, cyber warfare, information warfare, and psychological warfare. Now, NATO is spinning out an entirely new kind of combat it has branded cognitive warfare. Described as the weaponization of brain sciences, the new method involves hacking the individual by exploiting the vulnerabilities of the human brain, in order to implement more sophisticated social engineering. This proves what I have said for a while now, they can manipulate your brain, but the antidote to that is, improving the self and developing the sword of self mastery and then you operate from the heart. The heart is not as susceptible or possibly unable to be manipulated in that mode. Until recently, NATO had divided war into five different operational domains: air, land, sea, space, and cyber. But with its development of cognitive warfare strategies, the military alliance is discussing a new, sixth level: the human domain. Which reveals interesting analysis, given they have controlled humans for a long time, are they saying there is too many of us who they can't control? is it the 15%? Why would fellow humans target other humans in this manner? are they revealing their off world programs and or presence? Why would you need to control on this level? the simple answer is fear, aligned with weakness. A 2020 NATO-sponsored study of this new form of warfare clearly explained, while actions taken in the five domains are executed in order to have an effect on the human domain, cognitive warfare's objective is to make everyone a weapon. NATO are an anagram of Aton, and are revealing in this piece who their masters are, which is why they are targeting humans. The brain will be the battlefield of the 21st century, the report stressed. Humans are the contested domain, and future conflicts will likely occur amongst the people digitally first and physically thereafter, in proximity to hubs of political and economic power. And what might we ask are the Council and their Ambassador doing to stop this, given it is in direct violation of the peace treaty. Please spare us the bullshit this is humans going against humans, the Draco pulled that stunt on us previously, ain't that right Shane? While the NATO-backed study insisted that much of its research on cognitive warfare is designed for defensive purposes, it also conceded that the military alliance is developing offensive tactics, stating, the human is very often the main vulnerability and it should be acknowledged in order to protect NATO's human capital, but also to be able to benefit from our adversaries vulnerabilities. In a chilling disclosure, the report said explicitly that the objective of Cognitive Warfare is to harm societies and not only the military. With entire civilian populations in NATO's crosshairs, the report emphasized that Western militaries must work more closely with academia, to weaponize social sciences and human sciences, and help the alliance develop its cognitive warfare capacities.

Remember the Cobra, Q and others speaking of the Alliance? this is the Alliance they speak of, same program, same hidden people, except no longer a hidden agenda now. This brings in the Ashtray Command crew also, along with the savior based Pleiadian's and the Alcyone's Cobra represents. The study described this phenomenon as the militarization of brain science. But it appears clear that NATO's development of cognitive warfare, will lead to a militarization of all aspects of human society and psychology, from the most intimate of social relationships to the mind itself. Such all-encompassing militarization of society is reflected in the paranoid tone of the NATO-sponsored report, which warned of an embedded fifth column, where everyone, unbeknownst to him or her, is behaving according to the plans of one of our competitors. The term fifth column is, any group of people who undermine a larger group from within, usually in favor of an enemy group or nation. The activities of a fifth column can be overt or clandestine. Forces gathered in secret can mobilize openly to assist an external attack. This term is also extended to organized actions by military personnel. Clandestine fifth column activities can involve acts of sabotage, disinformation, or espionage executed within defense lines by secret sympathizers with an external force. I will reveal who the real fifth column is, the Hebrew Annunaki, go and deal with them instead of meddling with the public. The study makes it clear that those competitors purportedly exploiting the consciousness of Western dissidents are China and Russia. OMFG do they ever change the script these people? blame Russia and China for doing the very things these clowns are doing, a classic agency type tactic that. In other words, this document shows that figures in the NATO military cartel increasingly see their own domestic population as a threat, fearing civilians to be potential Chinese or Russian sleeper cells, dastardly fifth columns that challenge the stability of Western liberal democracies. No one is challenging them at all, they are just weak, pathetic, frightened and fearful little children, bedwetters essentially. They should have stayed on their mommies tits, instead of getting on everyone else with half a brains tits. NATO's development of novel forms of hybrid warfare come at a time when member states' military campaigns, are targeting domestic populations on an unprecedented level. There is the use of that term again, novel, novel forms of hybrid warfare, who are the hybrids? and is the novel corona virus connected? The Ottawa Citizen reported this September that the Canadian military's Joint Operations Command took advantage of the Covid-19 pandemic, to wage an information war against its own domestic population, testing out propaganda tactics on Canadian civilians. Internal NATO-sponsored reports suggest that this disclosure is just scratching the surface, of a wave of new unconventional warfare techniques that Western militaries are employing around the world. The October 5 panel kicked off with François du Cluzel, a former French military officer who in 2013 helped to create the NATO Innovation Hub, which he has since then managed from its base in Norfolk, Virginia. What a surprise they operate out of Norfolk Virginia, just like the guy who wrote the Open Source Handbook for NATO, Robert David Steele. Although the iHub insists on its website, for legal reasons, that the opinions expressed on this platform don't constitute NATO or any other organization points of view, the organization is sponsored by the Allied Command Transformation (ACT), described as one of two Strategic Commands at the head of NATO's military command structure. The Innovation Hub, therefore, acts as a kind of in-house NATO research center or think tank. Just like the CIA with its in-house subsidiary companies and private contractors groups. Its research is not necessarily official NATO policy, but it is directly supported and overseen by NATO. In 2020, NATO's Supreme Allied Commander Transformation (SACT) tasked du Cluzel, as manager of the iHub, to conduct a six-month study on cognitive warfare. I don't know what cognitive warfare, but resembles more of cognitive dissonance to me. The psychological tension that occurs when one holds mutually exclusive beliefs or attitudes, and that often motivates people to modify their thoughts or behaviors in order to reduce the tension. Du Cluzel summarized his research in the panel this October. He initiated his remarks noting that cognitive warfare right now is one of the hottest topics for NATO, and has become a recurring term in military terminology in recent years. Although French, Du Cluzel emphasized that cognitive warfare strategy is being currently developed by my command here in Norfolk, USA. The NATO Innovation Hub manager spoke with a PowerPoint presentation, and opened with a provocative slide that described cognitive warfare as A Battle for the Brain. Cognitive warfare is a new concept that starts in the information sphere, that is a kind of hybrid warfare, du Cluzel said. It starts with hyper-connectivity, everyone has a cell phone, he said. It starts with information because information is, if I may say, the fuel of cognitive warfare. But it goes way beyond solely information, which is a standalone operation, information warfare is a standalone operation. Cognitive warfare overlaps with Big Tech corporations and mass surveillance, because it's all about leveraging the big data, du Cluzel explained. We produce data everywhere we go, every minute, every second we go, we go online, and this is extremely easy to leverage those data in order to better know you and use that knowledge to change the way you think. All about harvesting every facet of life with these people, everything is up for grabs and marketable and manipulable for the vampiric parasites. Naturally, the NATO researcher claimed foreign adversaries are the supposed aggressors employing cognitive warfare. But at the same time, he made it clear that the Western military alliance is developing its own tactics. Du Cluzel defined cognitive warfare as the art of using technologies to alter the cognition of human targets. Yet again there is the propensity in these types of documents to mention the targets as humans, why define it in those terms? is it saying those targeting humans are not human? Those technologies, he noted, incorporate the fields of NBIC nanotechnology, biotechnology, information technology, and cognitive science. All together, it makes a kind of very dangerous cocktail that can further manipulate the brain, he said. Du Cluzel went on to explain that the exotic new method of attack, goes well beyond information warfare or psychological operations known as psyops. Cognitive warfare is not only a fight against what we think, but it's rather a fight against the way we think. He said, if we can change the way people think, it's much more powerful and it goes way beyond the information warfare and psyops. Now you know why we opened up the first THI show with, you have to THInk and act different, because if we don't, these jackasses will think and act for us. De Cluzel continued: It's crucial to understand that it's a game on our cognition, on the way our brain processes information and turns it into knowledge, rather than solely a game on information or on psychological aspects of our brains. It's not only an action against what we think, but also an action against the way we think, the way we process information and turn it into knowledge. In other words, cognitive warfare is not just another word, another name for information warfare. It is a war on our individual processor, our brain. The NATO researcher stressed that this is extremely important for us in the military, because it has the potential, by developing new weapons and ways of harming the brain, it has the potential to engage neuroscience and technology in many, many different approaches to influence human ecology. Instead of cognitive warfare, perhaps they could try teaching the Military to be cognitive of life and reason? that would be a useful start, because from what I see is, all Military leaders are psychopaths. It's very easy to turn a civilian technology into a military one, he said. As for who the targets of cognitive warfare could be, du Cluzel revealed that anyone and everyone is on the table. Cognitive warfare has universal reach, from starting with the individual to states and multinational organizations, he said. Its field of action is global and aim to seize control of the human being, civilian as well as military. And the private sector has a financial interest in advancing cognitive warfare research, he noted, was wondering when the shekel people would be involved. The massive worldwide investments made in neurosciences, suggests that the cognitive domain will probably one of the battlefields of the future. Remember I mentioned people returning from the past with similar names, like Macron? Francoise de Cluzel is the same name as a Marquis, a title of nobility from the 1700's. A lord who owned castles. One of the great battlefields of the future he said, no the greatest battlefield is in their own heads, and perhaps they should cognitively search for some actual brain cells in their own heads first. This level of thinking is no longer a surprise anymore, and people wonder why other beings think of us in terms of child like. What this also confirms is, despite their onslaught of trying every way to manipulate us, under teach us and abuse us, they still can't keep us down, otherwise why plan or run this program?

EXPOSE: Lets put someone else's feet to the fire shall we, given the National Zionist Fascist way that Canada is being run these days, it is time to highlight one of their own, or is she? The Soviet Union's secret police, the infamous KGB, praised her savvy and erudition, even as she frustrated their attempts to spy on her in Cold War Ukraine. They tagged her with the code name Frida. But today we know Chrystia Freeland as Canada's Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Finance. Ms. Freeland's ties to Ukraine are no secret, but materials uncovered from the KGB archives in Kyiv, illuminate her role in the Ukrainian independence movement while on exchange there from Harvard University. In the former Soviet republic, now Moscow's antagonist, access to information on the communist period is guaranteed, both as part of reckoning with Ukraine's past and explicitly as a rebuke to Russia, which is seeking once again to impose itself on the country. The materials show what drew the Soviet intelligence services' attention to the then-troublesome young Canadian, who was the subject of denouncements in the Soviet press and even warranted a feature in top-secret KGB documents. In articles bearing titles like Abuse of Hospitality, Soviet newspapers publicly lambasted the Canadian visitor, for recklessly meddling in the Soviet Union's affairs with malice aforethought. What business, the Kyiv newspaper Pravda Ukrainy asked, did someone from Edmonton have leading a civic organization for the preservation of the Ukrainian language in Ukraine? Why did someone in Ukraine to study the Ukrainian language spend so little time doing so at the university sponsoring her visit. Why study when, as the televised rallies at which she spoke time and again clearly showed, she spoke the language flawlessly? Even Pravda, the official broadsheet of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, condemned her by name, and others like her, for their efforts to tear Ukraine away from the USSR. Because she like Hunter Biden and many others in Ukraine are there to spy for NATO, the 5 eyes group and Mossad. Remember I also exposed her sister Elana, who was another agent Randy Maugans brought forward into the community, after he introduced the other two spies Lily Earthling, who was a Ukrainian assassin as well and Cara St. Louis, real name Orendorf who worked for the German spy agency. Elana and Cara St. Louis were both "trainers" at Waldorf. Ms. Freeland, in a written statement to The Globe and Mail, said: I am aware that my work with pro-democracy and environmental activists invoked the ire of the Soviet KGB. I remember being the target of smear campaigns in the Soviet press. Though I was eventually forced to leave the country, I have no regrets about my time in Ukraine during the Soviet period. She left because like all other agents who get exposed, they flee or die, sometimes they flee and die by their own paymasters. But clearly this spy had other values to the clowns and she survived. Out of this experience, what struck me, very powerfully, was how quickly a rotten political system could collapse, and how important the work of brave dissidents could be. Haha surely you jest Ms. Freeland your own political system has collapsed and you are forcing Fascism on your own people. Ms. Freeland was part of a flood of tourists; activists; missionaries; students; and even historians, purporting to work in the archives but suspected by authorities, including the KGB, of having ulterior motives, that were visiting the Soviet Union during its final years. But she is unique in having become a top-secret published case study for the KGB in just how much damage one determined foreigner could do to the USSR as they knew it. She did no damage to the Soviet Union at all, she was the original type of dataminer, that predated the computer variety. The Soviet Union's state media tended to adopt a breathless style when exposing what, it saw as the wicked machinations of foreigners such as Ms. Freeland. However, the KGB's Colonel A. Stroi, based in Kyiv, dispensed with the feigned indignance in his report on the woman giving him so much grief in the pages of Sbornik KGB USSR, the KGB's top-secret, in-house journal. Ms. Freeland, and her ilk, were a threat to the Soviet Union, but one which had to be handled delicately. Treating her too harshly could give credence to the libelous stories told in Ukrainian émigré communities, about how the KGB treated national minorities in the Soviet Union. They are trying to make her out as some sort of saint, yet her type are ten a penny, just another story teller for the NATO goons to throw mud at Russia. According to the KGB, Ms. Freeland was more than just an agitator for, as Col. Stroi derisively put it, the liberation of Ukraine who coerced Soviet citizens into staging marches and rallies to attract Western support. She delivered cash, video and audio-recording equipment, and even a personal computer to her contacts in Ukraine. All of which came from her paymasters to instigate trouble, it is what the agency people do, and clearly she worked for one or more of them. All of this took place under the watchful eye of the KGB, which surveilled Ms. Freeland. Its officers tailed her wherever she went, tapped her phone calls to Ukrainians abroad, bugged her accommodation, read her mail, and had an informer, codenamed Slav, insert himself into Ms. Freeland's circle and gain the young Canadian's trust. But Ms. Freeland knew the rules of the road. She used a Canadian diplomat at the embassy in Moscow, known to the KGB as Bison and suspected of being a spy, to send material abroad in a diplomatic pouch that could not be intercepted or read. She increasingly avoided major gatherings, lest her participation draw too much attention to her. All of which reveals this was a major operation, she was the front person lackey. The Soviet secret police's subtler attempts to curtail her activities failed. Her teacher at Kyiv's Taras Shevchenko University, on the KGB's orders, increased her workload. But the student, ostensibly on a visa to study Ukrainian, was so fluent that she did not need to attend class in the first place in order to make grades, much to the KGB's chagrin. Instead, she spent her time traversing Ukraine, purporting to visit far flung family members, but in fact working as a fixer for visiting journalists from Canada, Britain and the United States. For example taking a BBC film crew to Lviv to meet leaders in the Ukrainian Catholic Church, which means she was working with MI5 and 6. Countless tendentious news stories about life in the Soviet Union, especially for its non-Russian citizens, had her fingerprints as Ms. Freeland set about making a name for herself in journalistic circles with an eye to her future career prospects. Col. Stroi certainly objected to what Ms. Freeland was doing in Ukraine, but the KGB officer could not help but be impressed. She was a remarkable individual with an analytical mindset. The young Canadian was erudite, sociable, persistent, and inventive in achieving her goals, nefarious as they may have been in the eyes of Soviet intelligence. The student causing so many headaches clearly loathed the Soviet Union, but she knew its laws inside and out, and how to use them to her advantage. She skillfully hid her actions, avoided surveillance and shared that knowledge with her Ukrainian contacts, and expertly trafficked in misinformation. The conclusion is inescapable, Chrystia Freeland, this KGB officer was saying, would have made an excellent spy herself. I guess that KGB officer was being sarcastic in his summation. Ms. Freeland's time in the Soviet Union came to an end when customs agents at Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport, tipped off by the KGB, searched her luggage as she returned from a trip to London and found anti-Soviet materials. Even more worrying, they discovered a veritable how to guide for running an election destined for use by, non-Communist Party candidates campaigning for Ukrainian independence in the Soviet Union's first-ever free elections. They were agency scripts. She was denied re-entry on March 31, 1989. Some 30 years later, there is no love lost between Canada's Deputy Prime Minister and the current leader of Russia, himself a former KGB officer, Vladimir Putin. She still cannot fly into Moscow since 2014, Chrystia Freeland has once again been the target of Kremlin sanctions, barred from entering the country. They only barred her from entering, most other radicals in foreign countries who are attempting to interfere in elections, get arrested and or executed, yet Ms. Freeland persists. Funny that.

Tuesday's show was another brutal show to deliver, but deliver we must, to thrust that hidden evil cult out into the light. Describing it as evil is an understatement of epic proportions, the sheer evilness of using 3-4 year old kids to program is barely believable in and of itself, but putting them on LSD trips is beyond sick. These people are far more evil than Satan himself, and complete loss of anything resembling humanity, but as we have found out, it is strongly tipped now in favor that these people, loosely speaking, are not human at all. Just cowardly shitbags praying on little children to fulfill their sick and twisted minds, well that bullshitery has to stop and all in the alt media needs to highlight it. Forget stupid idiotic politics, this the real stuff, not he said she said based drama, that solves absolutely nothing. The convenience factor of mobile banking apps, personally I find that bizarre, that you would have all your assets on a phone you know is bugged and easily hackable, why take that risk for the sake of convenience? A lot of jobs was created by the convenience factor, now they deem those jobs as not required overheads, and replacing them with technology. The most popular jobs in America is serving at fast food outlets, imagine when they build robot fast food outlets, where will the jobs be then? With no trades schools of any note, service jobs handed over to technology and robots, how will society fare with no jobs and reduced income streams? This is what they are leading us to via this fake pandemic, it is a systematic take down of the old structure, because they no longer control it like they used to. As they rebuild their world in their greed and evil based image, we must build our also, and that is what the TPC is for. Let them carry on clowning around, we have the greatest option to render everyone of their plans mute, non compliance. If no one participates, they have nothing to leverage or operate, it really is that simple. We the people are the glue, the mortar and the foundation for them to build upon, if we pull that support away, they have nothing. In reality they always had nothing, only what we gave them and allowed them to get away with. I know their greatest fears, and we will play on them until they are done. Their two sides of the same coin game now has a challenger if we the people continue to make progress, doing the right things at the right times. Many of you have gone onto improve yourselves in your ways, thinking, manner and soul development, that is the real success story of THI, I am proud to have been a part of that, but progress does not stand still, standing still sends you back in time. It is up to us all to heal our own family lines, what is in the past is done and gone, the key is what of the future? What future can we create, free of the karmas and burdens of broken family lines, free of the fears and the traumas, all it takes is a bit of effort, application, dedication and the will to drive forward and upwards. I would like you all to continue being good and better people, but ask of you not to waste time proving it, that is ego and not productive. The greatest fear of most people is, being frightened of their own power, which is the same as playing down your own intelligence because others aren't, that is their problem not yours. The greatest part of standing in your own power is your voice, the long term object for you is, to have no filter on your mouth, and be comfortable in saying what you wish to say, not covered by others whose object in life is to stifle, in particular themselves.
