

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2021-11-11

Nothings in the past it always seems to come again, indeed and that is what we have to stop. Cry out to legions of the brave, Time again to save us from the jackals of the street Ride out, protectors of the realm, Captain's at the helm, sail across the sea of lights. The sea of lights is you all, when beacons are light brightly. This will be a detailed statement show again on many levels, designed to knock more people into shape, and a defined and determined path, because the ramp up is underway, and now is the time for us all to fight back, not just the few. No more lurking on your computers or phones, we need warriors of all of you to do your bit, not leave it to the few that do all the work, like a wait club, it is your duty to be involved as well, for all our sakes, now is the time. With many Ouroborus actions unfolding now, it should be clear by now they have no clue what they are doing. 2020-2021 will go down as the two years the public got to see what our show stated sometime back, there are no experts. Just a bunch of uneducated jackasses who think they know their profession, when with the lack of full knowledge it is impossible to become an expert at anything, unless you count jackassery. As the world delves into complete abject stupidity and all around us look, act, feel and are bizarre, if people can't see that now, they never will. Don't believe me? well a Canadian doctor has just declared the world first person diagnosed as a disease under the banner of climate change, nothing should surprise anymore, but that stupidity takes the biscuit. The doctor should be fired for creating fake diseases and turned against by we the people. A member said this, this week. They convey ownership of our mind in Trust, as we have clearly not claimed it, setting up their legal structures. We consent until we claim it back, and that's how we stop this, claim our mind, our property. So as hard as it may be to accept, our behavior gets what it deserves. So as a collective we each must take self-responsibility. We are free to withdraw our consent at any time and claim what is ours, only our incompetence prevents this, and I agree. The real problem isn't the tyranny of the powerful anymore, but at this point in time the weakness of many of the so called people. We were told it was a fight against the pandemic to protect the people, yet what has unfolded is, a fight against the people to protect the illusion of a pandemic. The divide is getting wider, and you must retain you, it is most important now. Today of course is Remembrance day to honor fallen soldiers, a sad event that so many died in pointless child like and greed based wars. Is it ironic that it is celebrated on 11/11 nope, yet more numerical ritual based programs, yet also it is curiously celebrated by the red poppy plant. Red is a symbol of blood, and given a lot of wars have been fought and lives lost over that same plant, does anyone not see the irony or the piss take on the people of using that as a moniker? Following recent videos it appears to the world, we now have a blithering bumbling incoherent non speaker as a President, and a blithering bumbling incoherent non speaker of the House, and the people tolerate this? The two leading positions said to be in the world, which is utter rubbish as politicians or the more correct term CEO's of the companies running the countries, have zero power at all. They are pure cannon fodder to the criminal El-ites. But, what does that say about us in America? our two lead positions is filled with adrenochrome, alcohol fueled, psychotic blithering idiots. Are they the best people we have to run the country? if not, why haven't we the people stepped in to fill those positions? We can all point fingers away, but in reality successive generations have tolerated just about the worst anti people Government, and done what about it? This is the heart of the problem, we witness it within our own group, where only the few do or participate and the many standby and watch, you do realize that lack for action is a contributing factor behind the malaise this and other countries face. The shows going back to 2018 are being currently indexed with bullet points for people to find certain information on certain topics and will be ready by the end of the year. A more detailed one may unfold next year if the member currently doing it, wants to continue it. With that in mind I am looking for proactive people, to spend maybe a couple of hours a week to build a new project within the communal gatherings groups, called the positive action group. Those in it will be tasked with finding generally lower level stories about individuals, groups, businesses or organizations within the news, and then targeting their behavior with phone calls, emails or letters notifying them we are not happy on behalf of we the people. It is time we all made them really accountable, because no one else is. The benefits of this is A: accountability which generates fears on their parts B: empowerment comes from actually doing something, not waiting, C: it is free advertising for The Peoples Club, D: can lead to increased awareness, membership and donations for The Peoples Club and E: because it is a valid cause to do. Let's not follow others like Anna Von Reitz, The Trustee, the Common Law groups, who have sent many letters and notices to higher profile people, and where did they all go? The answer sadly is nowhere, and so by now after almost a decade of those types of actions and no benefits from them, should tell you they don't work. Repeating things that fail and expecting different result is insanity. The positive action group will work closely with the Law group, and later the Donations group, and we will create standardized letters that will go out to those the group selected for our attention. We can start off with just 6 people, but everyone really should be able to get involved in this, a few hours or less per week of coming up with teams who are tasked with writing, researching, decisions on who to go after, and then formulating a report or feedback of actions taken and outcomes, which will then be read out in the show, increasing more awareness. This is the best way to get people to getting involved with The Peoples Club, news of it can be spread throughout alt media to generate more interest. So, what are you waiting for and what have you got to lose? The TPC remember is not a wait club.

NEWS: News from Australia. This post is a follow to my post that covered the Permanent State of Emergency legislation that included previously defeated omnibus Bill that was dubbed the Minority a report Act. The Bill was tabled by the Premier (Governor in USA terms) of Victoria tabled last week in parliament. So since then, a private prosecution has been submitted into and accepted by the magistrates court of Victoria. The charge is treason against the Victorian elector, the defendant is Dan Andrews, Premier (Governor) of Victoria. The litigant has been issued a court case number and has been given a date, 17 December 2021 and is to be heard before a magistrate. The 17th December is one day after the current State of Emergency lapses because the legislation caps a state of emergency for a single instance, once declared, 21 calendar months. Today, 3rd November 2021 at 2pm, the filed court application for the private prosecution against Premier Dan Andrews was served into his electorate office in Noble Park. This completes the legal process to filing and serving court stamped documents to the accused (Premier Daniel Andrews) scheduled to appear in court December 17, 2021. If the premier fails to appear in court which will probably be the case, the magistrate must apply bail conditions against the defendant until he appears to defend the charges of treason. Now here is the best part, a sitting politician cannot remain in parliament whilst defending a criminal charge. Apparently, today, 3rd November 2021, after his office accepted these documents and presumably after the premier had read them and realized what they were, police and fire services had been at his office for the whole afternoon, his office is now boarded and sealed to the public and Victoria Police are claiming that a package had been left at his office and it was no longer safe there. I guess we can assume that the premier has received his criminal charges? I am no lawyer, this is a little tricky to understand but if this is accurate then this is good news and will filtrate to the rest of Australia. We will see what unfolds, but we have seen all this before, Anna Von Reitz, the Trustee, John Darash and others and they have to date gone nowhere. You cannot fight them in their courts, and Australian alt media in general, seem obsessed with the common law and courts route. It hasn't got anywhere, and unlikely it will ever until the system has gone completely. You have to create a new system, which is what the Law group in the communal gatherings is undertaking, then get millions of people to back it, then we have a say. I would ask you all in Australia to go non compliant against all companies, businesses and politicians of the system, and turn the heat on your media. A business requires masks boycott them, a business requires jabs and ze papers please boycott them, a government that makes rules against the people, vote them out and replace with one of your own, providing they will act in the right way and not play divide and conquer games like Monica Smit. One hope Ms. Smit and other Australians realize, that joining a coalition of we the people, not personal fame or notoriety is and always was the way forward, that is why we built the TPC, yet several ego based and clown based divisions of the THI Australia group, has left you all divided, and the Life Force group added to it, because Tank is an agent for the Black Sun Generals, which Kim herself confirmed that to me in February 2020. In light of this morning news that, all unvaccinated people in Austria will be locked down potentially from Monday, I am asking the people in the EU to support the Austrians, because if you don't your country will be next. Austria has to be seen as the test case of public reaction, lets react and let them know we will put up a fight. Watch out for Poland next, given they have an engineered migrant crisis on their borders, perhaps those in THI Poland who are not chasing the savior program ran by Life Force need to step up, because the old Slav, Aryan and Rus territories I would assume are next.

New Jersey's longest-running state Senate president seems set to lose his seat to a truck driver, who spent only $153 on Dunkin and paper fliers over the course of his campaign. Democratic Senate President Steve Sweeney trailed Republican challenger Edward Durr, a commercial truck driver, by more than 2,000 votes as of Wednesday afternoon, with more than 99% of precincts reporting. The potential loss by one of New Jersey's most powerful politicians would result in upheaval of political power in the state, forcing the Senate to find a new president. Sweeney has been the chamber's leader since 2010. That sets an example to the rest of us and the TPC gatherings, anything can be achieved if we all come together, and we can take down and replace the old system with something better. That one action will terrify the clowns who think they control everything, only because we allowed them to. Time for all to take actions in the communal gatherings, and lets excerpt our authority again.

COVID BS: A came across a desperate billboard in the UK stating about Covid saying, act like you have got it. Oh dear how desperate is that? I would have it say, act like you got the jab, not the disease.

Gov. Tate Reeves, in a blistering social media post, said on Tuesday he and Republican Attorney General Lynn Fitch expect to file a lawsuit later this week, challenging the vaccine mandate being imposed on certain businesses by President Joe Biden. Reeves said the federal mandates threaten every Mississippian's individual liberties. They are nothing short of tyranny. More and more States are fighting back on this now and pleasing to see.

Québec has now backtracked on its enforced COVID-19 vaccination mandate for health-care workers, Government Officials announced this week. After pushing back it's deadline multiple times, Health Minister Christian Dubé said the Province will abandon the measure altogether, as the Health-Care Network can't afford to lose the thousands of Non-Vaccinated Employees. Ontario has followed in Québec's footsteps as Premier Doug Ford has refused to make COVID-19 vaccines mandatory for Ontario hospital workers. Let's hope this Trend continues. Classic ouroborus program in view again, these people are beyond stupid, and yet we allow them to run our country and services! This also proves the non compliance game wins, don't comply and they will buckle, they have no choice but to. Of course less nurses also equals less vaccines given out as well, which means less adverse reactions and less deaths.

Pfizer's profits have soared in the 2nd quarter by $19B, Pfizer coincidentally also make the drugs that are the said antidote to the side effects of the jabs. The drug Eloquis for blood clots rose 13% and their drug Vyndaquel used for Cardiomyopathy rose 77%. Make the symptoms, create jabs to give you more symptoms, and you have other drugs to cure the problem they created. The desire and greed for money drives it all.

Pfizer Inc on Tuesday said it expected 2021 sales of the COVID-19 vaccine it developed with German partner BioNTech SE to reach $36 billion and forecast another $29 billion from the shot in 2022, topping analyst estimates for both years. The U.S. drugmaker said it is seeking to sign more vaccine deals with countries, which could drive sales even higher next year. It has the capacity to produce 4 billion doses in 2022 and has based its projections on sales of 1.7 billion doses. Still, Chief Executive Albert Bourla said he was concerned that low and middle income countries would not place orders for next year's vaccine doses early enough, and could again end up behind wealthier countries. The high-income countries, they have the tendency to be way more proactive, and they are placing their orders, Bourla said in an interview. I want to make sure that I go on record publicly, they need to place orders, period. Typical snake oil sales pitch that, create fears and rely on people panic buying based on those fears.

NEWS: The House Oversight Committee's top Republican says the hearing is misguided. Ranking member James Comer asks why Democrats are not talking about inflation, high gas prices and other problems the Biden administration is facing. He slams the hearing as partisan theatre for primetime news and a distraction. Comer asserts today's testimony is only happening because, Democrats watched a deceptively reported and edited video of an Exxon lobbyist. Chairwoman Carolyn Maloney has opened proceedings, saying she hopes today's hearing represents a turning point for big oil. I hope that today the executives own up the industry's central role in this crisis and commit to the changes we need, she says. After four decades of deception and delay, it is time for the fossil fuel industry to finally change its ways. The hearing is the start of a year's worth of investigations into, whether oil firms misled Americans about their role in climate change. Lets see how far that really goes, all the climate change billionaires are doing is, clearing the deck of any and all competition, into a tighter few, largely of Jewish origin. If this planet is in a mess as they proclaim, then the common sense suggestion is, making those who profited from the Industrial Revolution onwards, pay for it. All the EL-ite families made vast fortunes on fuels, railways, pipelines, deforestation, mining and other things that damages the ecosystem. Time for them to pay back their damage, not we the people.

Video footage of two alleged Israeli spies being held by an armed Palestinian group have thrown fuel on an already incendiary situation. While indirect talks over a prisoner exchange between Hamas and Israel continue without any concrete progress, Gaza's armed groups threaten retaliation to any deaths which may occur amongst Palestinian political prisoners inside Israeli jails. This already volatile and tense scenario has been further complicated with the release of a video of two alleged Mossad agents. Late Friday night, an investigative program aired by Al-Jazeera's Arabic channel broadcast footage claimed to have been filmed and leaked to them by a little known group called 'Hurriyeh' (Freedom). The documentary, which focuses on abuses carried out against Palestinian prisoners in Israel's military prisons, claims the two were Israeli agents who were executing secret security missions outside Israel. The men were shown shackled in detention with armed guards, Israel waited until Saturday night to deny that any of its citizens had been captured. This has now led to much speculation over whether the videos of the two is a deception to seek to pressurise Israel, or that Tel Aviv is simply lying. However, the new documentary has now revealed not just the footage, but the names and a passport of one of the Israelis said to have been captured. The two were identified as David Ben-Rosey, described as a petrochemical expert, and David Perry, said to be an intelligence officer and part of an Israeli settler organisation. The 'Freedom' group claims that they were both working for Mossad. According to the program, the fate of the two depends upon the securing of a successful prisoner exchange deal. That is the second story this month of Mossad agents being caught, add in the story of the CIA agents being hunted down and executed, and a bigger picture emerges. Who or what is behind it? is it simple faction games? or are a mercenary style group routing the old system? time will tell.

This is an interesting story that could have wider implications going forward, and in light of the last piece is a wider picture emerging? Our they cleaning house? are they culling their own herd? or is this faction fighting again, either way we the people gain. An Italian court has sentenced 70 members of the powerful mafia group, the Ndrangheta, in the first stage of the biggest mafia trial in decades. Defendants faced charges including attempted murder and extortion. Over the next two years, 355 alleged mobsters and corrupt officials will face court for their involvement with, Italy's richest and most powerful organized crime group. Hundreds of lawyers and nearly a thousand witnesses are involved. Saturday's maxi trials took place behind closed doors, in a specially converted courtroom in the Calabrian city of Lamezia Terme. Those accused had opted for a speedy trial, which allowed them to have their sentences reduced by a third if found guilty. Judges handed six of those convicted the maximum 20-year sentence that prosecutors had asked for. Another 21 defendants were acquitted. The Ndrangheta is a sprawling criminal network consisting of some 150 families. This trial is targeting just one of those: The Mancuso family. The lengthy charge sheet includes an array of drugs charges, murder, attempted murder, extortion, loan sharking, disclosure of official secrets and abuse of office.

Afghanistan's ex-finance minister has blamed the government's fall on corrupt officials who invented ghost soldiers and took payments from the Taliban. Khalid Payenda said that most of the 300,000 troops and police on the government's books did not exist. He said phantom personnel were added to official lists so that generals could pocket their wages. I wonder whether there will be a proper investigation into this, given it was American taxpayers money that funded it? The Pentagon, DOD and other US Military are doing this the world over, and have been for years. That is why they take near $1T of the American peoples money, most of which pays for rogue budgets, and lining Generals and private contractors pockets. This is how the CIA has acquired so many hotels and banks. When will they be made accountable, fully?

Don't believe the last story is a correct assessment? try this then. Here is the latest from the fear porn laden children at the Pentagon, trying to extort more public funds for their fear based agendas. A new Pentagon estimate says China will likely have at least 1,000 deliverable nuclear warheads by 2030, a massive expansion in the size of Beijing's stockpile. The U.S. estimated that the country's atomic arsenal consisted of about 200 warheads just last year. The new assessment of China's nuclear threat is highlighted in the annual China Military Power report released Wednesday, and comes amid fresh warnings of Beijing's intentions toward Taiwan and new tests of nuclear-capable hypersonic missiles. For Pentagon planners and the Biden administration, China's maritime expansion is likewise of concern. The breakneck military buildup has produced a 360-ship navy, pushing well past the 297 hulls that the U.S. Navy operates. The Office of Naval Intelligence estimates that by 2030, China will have 425 ships in the water. That expansion is likely sustainable in the near-term, but keeping such a huge number of ships in good repair and fully crewed is a task still relatively new for the Chinese navy, especially for any missions beyond the first island chain. Beyond pathetic at this point, it's not fair they have more and bigger weapons than us, sounds beyond childish. Yet the war machine receives near $1T per year, and for what you may ask? what benefits have the American people received from such expenditures? answer is and was always none. China is not much better in terms of childishness either, why so many weapons and warships, when many of the people are struggling?

Here is a letter to special Ops Forces of the US Military, and I am glad to see this finally be undertaken by an American group, as to who is the real problem within this country. Back in 2014, I said the 3 major problem were the 3 M's although there was a hidden M as well, with the hidden one gone, the other 3 still remain our problem, because if we fix them, the rest will take care of itself. Those 3 were the Media, Masons and the Military. Operators, Brothers and Sisters, As you know, our country is under attack and the unconventional warfare tactics being executed against us have escalated to a breaking point. As we have made clear in our previous statements and videos, we know that the proven ineffective and harmful mRNA nanotech injection mandate, is the greatest failure of military leadership in United States history, at best. At worst, it is the most treasonous and devastating attack against the U.S. military and American people ever. To be 100 percent clear, from this point forward, anyone who continues to be involved in enforcing this unscientific, unconstitutional and fascist mandate will be held personally accountable for treason and Crimes Against Humanity. The Supreme Court has made it very clear that it is up to the individual to know which orders and laws are unconstitutional and unlawful. All of us have sworn an oath to protect the Constitution of the United States. Therefore, if you are still complying, you are now derelict in your duties. Incompetence can no longer be a legitimate excuse. If you serve in Special Forces, SOCOM or the Intel Community and you are still somehow unsure about what is happening, please contact us and we will brief you on a mountain of evidence proving systemic Crimes Against Humanity, that have already resulted in over 500,000 unnecessary American deaths and well over a million people suffering serious health issues. Over 12,000 doctors and scientists have now officially signed an evidence-based Physicians Declaration accusing COVID policy-makers of Crimes Against Humanity. The imminent approval of proven harmful immune system degrading mRNA nanotech injections for our children is a red line that we will not allow to be crossed, by any means necessary. This must stop now. We have reached a point where any sane person must engage counter-offensive operations and surgical strikes to save our families, communities and the United States of America against enemy combatants. We have an All-Star team of Global Operators, active duty soldiers, Marines and millions of Combat Veterans who are ready to roll. SOCOM, with all due respect, do your fucking job! The top of the Chain of Command is in danger of losing all credibility and has become a pathetic disgrace to the uniform. As a first step in restoring integrity and faith, you must hold Anthony Fauci accountable now. If you do not, we will. To all the real warriors -- Operators, Soldiers, Marines, Law Enforcement, Marshals, Veterans and Patriots from all walks of life, you know exactly what we are saying. When the top of the chain is compromised, it is up to us to defend the Constitution, our families, our communities and our country. Look in the mirror, search your heart, mind and soul. Meet with your brothers and sisters, look them in the eyes and come up with a plan. If leadership fails to act in a timely manner, we are a days away from all being decentralized guerrillas in defense of our families and the Constitution. Lt. Col. Scheller was right, we all know it, leadership is now derelict in their duties. If they do not restore accountability now, they are fully exposing themselves as treasonous enemy combatants. We can't afford to wait any longer, now is the time for everyone who has sworn an oath to stand up. We are obviously boldly standing up right now with this statement, we have also been very clear in our previous statements and videos. We fear no one, we will not be on the wrong side of history. We will not allow our people and our children to be slaughtered by a small group of genocidal "New World Order" fascists, who clearly would rather kill off millions of people and enslave billions of people than give up their tyrannical hold on power. The pathological shortsighted greed and obscene arrogance of terrorists like Fauci, Gates, Fink, Schwab and their fascist NWO cabal is utterly grotesque, inhumane and absurd. These power-drunk genocidal maniacs are too blinded by their power to even know what we are capable of. We've already infiltrated their security forces, we all know that the skies above have become the Wild West. We operate the most advanced weapons systems and satellites. We can make it rain lasers on any chosen millimeter of this planet, with zero collateral damage. Have you watched our videos? Our weapons matrix is truly everywhere. We have refrained from counter-offensive operations thus far, because we have been hoping and praying that leadership would come to their senses, to uphold their oath and defend the American people. We know the horrors of war all too well. We want to stop the violence and restore peace. To do so, we need accountability and justice, and we need it now! We are under attack, our families are under attack, we have no choice. All aware and sane people are on the same side now. In this statement, we are holding out an olive branch, unless we see concrete results, we are done talking. We will give you a brief period of time to get your shit together. Your continued dereliction of duty will soon lead to us acting surgically, in decentralized units to restore accountability and justice in a Constitutional manner. Think very carefully about every word we say. The compromised and proven treasonous Biden administration is a paper tiger in a Potemkin village, and we all know it. Please, for the love of God, get off the fascist New World Order sinking ship before you go down with it. Tick tock. DE OPPRESSO LIBER, ~ POGSOFCOM De Oppresso Liber means to free the oppressed, so is there evidence this is real in it's statement, from my perspective and understanding, yes. I have heard more than a few times in the background of an underground movement building and ready to strike. Unlike other attention seeking alt media shows, I choose to not out that type of information, as that is irresponsible and counter productive to the all. It amazes me the sheer stupidity of alt media hosts, of how they can't wait to out some scoop, oblivious to the dangers of the people involved or the outing ruining any movement, all for the sakes of clickbaits and attention. A true insider would not should never out plans of that nature in a war, and it shows a lack of understanding of our situation. It seems to some a war is like some vast computer game, get real, this is real, our dire situation is real and requires stealth, not blabber mouths with zero brain cells. But, this is something I have been waiting for a while, it is difficult in my position being a Brit calling out American Institutions, but glad finally some are awakening to the problem. The Military have not only rode roughshod over many countries, but their own as well. Their shocking treatment of Veterans a prime example, 22 Veterans per day commit suicide in this country, all because of psychopath Generals bought and paid for by Rothschild's or Black Sun entities, enough is enough. All alt media should get behind this letter, even though most are agency goons, because rest assured, you lot are next in the public firing line.

INTERESTING PIECES: We spoke recently about the squid game series, and how people in debt sign up to kill each other to entertain the rich. This got me pondering, is that not all too similar to signing up for the Military?

Word of caution and preparation for all listeners and members. I have received several reports this past week from around the world of, mass die offs, mass heart issues and other serious events, including deformed children that have been born by jab taking parents. The great die off it seems is now well underway, with disturbing reports from all over the world, including family members of our own group members. 3 members reported to me a total of 5 deaths in their families who have taken the jabs this week alone. 75 athletes have keeled over with major heart issues in Europe in just the past 5 months. Children dying in large numbers also, or being left with severe life changing conditions. Then we have the curious case of the Texas concert last week, reports of 8 people dead, a security guard allegedly being jabbed by a needle, which became more reported than the 8 deaths, which tells you it is a program. Yahoo news reported this, Peña said that at around 9 p.m. the crowd that had gathered for a performance by popular rapper Travis Scott began to push toward the front of the stage, causing panic and injuries. People began to fall unconscious, and the mayhem escalated until 9:38 p.m. when a "mass casualty incident" was triggered, he said. 9.38 he said, 9 with 3+8 equals 11, and so 9/11, what a coincidence that is. When a mass casualty incident was triggered? interesting wording and also why they put the accent on mass casualty incident? Who and or what triggered it, is the key. Throughout the day, some 300 people were treated by medical personnel on-site, authorities said. There were "many instances" where they had to administer Narcan, which is used to treat a narcotic overdose, said Pena, who did not have an exact number. Other reports were of cardiac arrest by hundreds of people, was that the mass casualty incident that was triggered, as always there is more questions than answers.

Mak Parhar was a flat earther and Covid denier in the alt media, and his yoga studio had been closed down for ignoring Covid mandates. Sad news this week, he died at home, wife found him in the bathroom, he's was 48. Rumours flying, he had apparently been sick for a while, he took Ivermectin, he wouldn't go to a hospital to get checked. Preliminary reports are fluid in his lungs, may be pneumonia, although in recent videos he posted, seems unusual, press is spinning, suggesting it was Covid. The reports of his death in the MSM raises concerns, and it seems those concerns are valid. If he made it to the press then it smacks of a program being ran, the press making out he was deranged and focusing on his connection to alt media. It is highly suspected he is/was connected to the agencies, and so a set up guy. He attended a lot of rallies downtown, and there are reports there are other people who attend rallies on a regular basis who are also getting sick. I have no facts to base anything on at this point, it seems suspicious that a number of people attending rallies are getting sick though. Could they be using rallies and demonstrations to spread diseases and make it look like Covid? More folks who have attended rallies are claiming to be getting sick as well, something may be brewing. Yes, indeed and maybe the this and the Texas concert stories are linked? Update on Mak Parhar situation, we now know he is an actor, has played the heavy in low grade shows. He was at a Flat Earth conference held at a Shriner's Hall in North or South Carolina last year. Was seen to be paid by a guy called David Weiss born to possibly in as well, a known shill. On his return to Vancouver he immediately got himself charged under the Quarantine Act to get attention. Became outspoken and tried to make himself a fight the system hero. Was seen at parties secretly filming, and getting people to share violent thoughts about Bonnie Henry, BC Public Health Officer leading the Covid response. Some of his footage aired on local tv news shows, made truthers look like violent radicals, sounds like Alex Jones. His service is being held in Abbotsford, an hour from where he lived, no casket, which is odd. We suspect he is not dead, his mission was over or he was compromised and he may show up somewhere else in another role. Cannot prove it, this is just what I have been told talking to folks who knew the guy and spent time with him. Seems he was a hired Agent Provocateur, something I warned of in 2016, that most of the Alt Media were paid agents, designed to distract with stupid programs like Flat Earth, really who cares? it is a pure distraction, whilst documenting and datamining for the agencies to make targets of, or compromise them, like they did with Randy Maugans. I warned of them needing major events to shift the focus of the news, the Texas concert could well be one of them, more will follow, unless they pull the big event, La Palma. This will be the last winter for many I am sad to say, a short winter for some and a long winter for the rest of us. Is this the Dark Winter they warned us about? it's looking increasingly like that now. Stay strong and prepared as things look likely to get very bumpy hereonin, and why we all need to come and work together.

Another example of changes making things worse, and said to be an improvement, but said improvements always seem to come at a cost to the people and the planet. A motoring expert has claimed E10 fuel could cause worse problems for motorists. E10 replaced E5 as the standard petrol sold in the UK in September. The main difference between the two fuels is that E10 contains up to 10% ethanol, which is double the amount found in E5. The government say this will reduce the amount of vehicle emissions produced and have a positive impact on the environment. However, motoring YouTube Channel Number 27 has said the new petrol may cause an increase in fuel consumption. The channel's founder says this is because ethanol is less energy dense, meaning drivers will have to use more to cover a similar distance. Jack said: E10 actually causes an increase in fuel consumption for any car that's using it. Ethanol is actually less energy-dense than Unleaded fuel. So that means that because it has this lower energy density you have to use more, and therefore your fuel consumption in your car will go up. So instead of pulling back on carbon fuel usage, they are increasing it, the additives are to make their costs cheaper, with the added bonus of cutting the food supply as more grain is used to make this, and so less grown for food. Ethanol also has 2 carbon atoms, so much for the climate change of reducing carbon emissions. I think by now most of you will realize the carbon they are removing, is the people.

An interesting common sense post on something we covered recently to do with electric cars. Given they have a limited battery life, what happens if there is a traffic jam and you are stuck for hours on the highway? Particularly if it is in the winter in the more northern climes, each traffic jam would be a possible death by hypothermia scenario. No one can move if thousands of electric cars that are flat, who charges them and how if all the traffic is backed up? To prevent this, thousands of electric charging stations on all major highways would have to be installed, will they make that investment? Given the lack of investment related to water, electric and other energy structures currently, whereby most of them are antiquated and in dire need of repair or replacement. If they won't invest in those, why would they invest in the need for tens of thousands of electric charging stations? Yet again zero thinking, zero common sense and baseless headlines without full due process is an epidemic at the decision making levels on this planet.

The most common complaint about our show over the 5.5 years it has been running is, the religious conundrum and how I have presented information and asked the listener does this make sense? With our more common meme now of, if it doesn't make sense then it is a program, and many of you have seen that now. But delving into the past archives for research for another show coming soon, revealed a few separate pieces that all ties in together, and is in part connected to Tuesday's show and also a future show as well. Most people regale at incest, yet it is mentioned in 48 verses of gods book, religious people regale at homosexuality, yet didn't Jesus and or god say we must love all people the same? again all very contradictory is it not? Why does gods book tell you to fear him 84 times? Many people believe the Lord is god and he loves them and is the all nice entity who does no wrong, yet the book tells you to fear the Lord 186 times, is that not a control system? do you think god or the lord should be making you fear him? God and the Lord is love we are told which is a higher vibrational frequency, yet it is mentioned 270 times in his book to fear him or them, which is a low vibrational frequency, is that conducive to growth? since when is the fear emotion been about love? People can criticize me all you like on my opinion and knowledge over religion, but on your next trip to your psychologist or doctor, please tell him or her you have just spoken to a snake, you watched a bush go on fire and talk to you, you parted the Mississippi, whilst walking across it, that marrying and sleeping with your sister and mother is ok, then you threw your only children out of the house because they ate an apple, whilst talking to a man who sits on a cloud spying on everyone that makes the CIA and NSA look like a fisher price spy kit set, oh and all people not Jewish are shit under the shoe and see where that gets you. That may sound humorous to some and does to me in some cases, but it is actually very sad and those books, fake gods and the various religions have been the cause of billions of deaths and much suffering on this planet, which people who participate in that program appear to be oblivious to. Religion was an experiment to see how far people would externalize everything about themselves, when everything needed was within. Lets look at it rationally neither god, Jesus, Allah, Kali Ma, Baphomets, Devils, The Lord etc not one of them wrote a book, every single book was written by the control system and their minions, none of which, if your take away your blind faith, it is called that for a reason, makes any sense whatsoever. These are the questions people must ask themselves, I know it is all encompassing and an easy path to look for everything outside of yourself, external is devolution, but your answers, truth, love, evolution and source ALL lie within, as the real god or source intended. In Genesis 11-6 And the LORD said, If they have begun to do this as one people speaking the same language, then nothing they devise will be beyond them. 7 Come, let Us go down(us I thought the Lord was singular) and confuse their language, so that they will not understand one another's speech. 8 So the LORD scattered them from there, over the face of all the earth, and they stopped building the city, or this. The Lord will bring a nation from afar, from the ends of the earth, to swoop down upon you like an eagle, a nation whose language you will not understand. Hebrew and Latin, they are linked for a reason. Most will have misinterpreted that, which is understandable, but what this is saying is, they will swoop with the Phoenix, not with a country as people assume nation means, the reference to a nation being a country was not introduced until 1864. A nation means a race, tribe or species with a different language, there is your ET disclosure right there in that sentence, a language you don't understand means it came from somewhere else, not Earth, that language was Latin, that rules law, which religion is known as the religion of Law? Judaism, which I know is connected to the Draco and subsequently the Annunaki.

Covid backwards is the Hebrewic Divoc as we have mentioned previously. The significance of the name DIVOC, which means possession of a malicious soul and is of Hebrew beginning. Divoc implies in Latin separate, divide/disturb, partition, tearaway/open/separated, destroy/in two. The great divide and conquer program, destroy in two, is the vaxxed and unvaxxed, getting it now? Divoc signifies ownership of a malevolent soul and is of Hebrew beginning. Yet we are told that, the Jewish people are taught to not believe in the spirits, ghosts or ghouls depending on your preference of the use of the word. The only religion that doesn't believe in that reality. Remember all demons, djinns or spirits whichever you choose to call them, are all non physical entities, they cant eat food like those in the physical realm, only consume life force energy off others, and can only become physical, if called in. They then subsequently enter a physical vessel, at that point the person you knew inhabiting the vessel, officially no longer exists, you will still see the external aspect of facial features and body types, but the internally the real aspect of that person is gone. They are substituted with a dark entity presence, with varying degrees of external projection, but they are very subtle in most cases, as they wish to hold onto this vessel undetected. As I understand it, the souls in here that inhabit the vessels energy is way beyond other species, and so is considered a must have vessel. So what where the conditions and modes of operations for these walk ins to arrive in such vast numbers? Here are some of the examples

1. Alcohol, they call it spirits for a reason, genie is a modern term for djinn, and who comes out of the bottle when it is rubbed? The genie or the djinn, which grants you 3 wishes, it is not wishes it is magic, which they perform, only you pay the price, of soul possession in most cases.
2. Drugs, pot or other psychedelics, the Greek original meaning of that is breathe, life and soul, soul being the operative word. Psyche being of the mind, delics comes from the term delos, which means manifestation, so you have manifested something in your mind. The origin? from the spirit realm aka the astral, I can hear many going no no no, but I'm sorry this is exactly what those drugs do, and people wonder why, people who take them change? Think about it, they have changed because in many cases, it's not them anymore. They say it expands your consciousness, but have you considered it is not your consciousness that has expanded? it is you and the inhabiting entity that has expanded. I can still hear many saying no or bs, I'm sorry but they are the facts.
3. Mushrooms, they call it magic mushrooms for a reason, and all magic comes with a price.
4. Ayahuasca and other derivatives described as hallucinogenic or is it hallucino - genie, again it calls in the spirits, all done by so called shamans, which really means shar man, shar means time or era, so they are time men, just not our time but theirs. The South Americans and many other tribal people were tricked into these ceremonies, by the rogue ET groups here to engage a covenant or contract, that they had with the demons or djinns here. Whereby they do their magic and dirty deeds, which comes with no karma as they have no physical form, djinns get to inhabit vessels and also consume life force energy, both in here and also the astral realm. Most of the ancient tribes were taught the Kali-ma (the dark mother) worship which spread right through most, if not all early tribal groups here on this planet. They were also taught sacrifice ceremonies as well, all under the auspices of worshipping the gods and in particular the Kali-ma. As a link to this and Solomon story, the tribe who collected the treasures Solomon acquired, left for Africa and then proceeded East, stayed in what is now called Solomon Island, Polynesia and Samao, and then went and resided permanently in New Zealand, known now as the Maoris. It was this group that signed the 16500 year agreement with The Draco, that put this planet under Marshall Law, they took the offer from The Draco in return for weaponry to fight a tribal war they were losing, with the new weaponry they won out, but we all lost. It was the same tribe with The Trust that initiated the start of the peace treaty, which was completed in August 2016 as well. Perhaps the Maoris were infected by the demons contained within the treasures of Solomon?
5. Tribal based ceremonies involving circles, rhythmic beats to bring in their ancestors, except it wasn't their ancestors they are bringing in.
6. Witchcraft, Druidism and Paganism all involved in bringing in the demons, djinns or dark spirits. Female witches congregated in a circle, often with a pentagram, which is on Solomon's ring, and called in the spirits. The circle they create is the portal, or the gateway to call them in, whilst the witches stand on the edge of the circle all connected to each other by hand, to bind the circle and open the portal. People may tell you they are light witches and fully believe it, but in reality, you have all been fooled and seduced by the dark. 7. Then they got people praying to The Lord who is Anu the Draco reptile king, which is an energy harvester, which again feeds these very entities, all part of the pact they made with the demons. All external praying is harvesting your energy, you are not praying, you are being preyed upon. 8. Mediums and channellers also call in the spirits but they have no idea who or what they are calling in either. 9. We had alchemists who created potions that again depending on what was mixed called on the spirits to manifest, but they only manifest into another body. Magic potions or is it Magi potions, like earlier genic when removing the C became geni, as in djinn, Magic without the c is magi, now the most famous Magi is Sinbad who was the owner of 7 djinns, the genie in the bottle, like alcohol is. An Arabic term Al -kuhl was the origin of the alcohol, Al means god, Khul means ghou, which means spirit, so it means the spirit god. In the 17th century alcohol was then described as a distilled and rectified spirit. A description of rectified spirits is, Rectified spirit, also known as neutral spirits, rectified alcohol, or ethyl alcohol of agricultural origin is highly concentrated ethanol (I wonder whether adding ethanol to our gas, is another way to infect us?) that has been purified by means of repeated distillation in a process called rectification. Rectification sounds more like rectum fictation to me. In some countries (e.g. India), denatured alcohol or denatured rectified spirit may commonly be available as "rectified spirit", but it is poisonous and ingestion can be fatal. Wine is a neutral spirit also, do you still want to consume that amount of drinks? 10. The native Americans use a term wetiko for a different type of walk in, Wetiko meaning means solely for the self, but can only host on people who exhibit similar traits for greed, selfishness and service to self and excess. Ironically the person who brought the Wetiko to my attention, was inhabited by the same entity, Marilee Neitain. 11. Then people began at a later date to sell their soul out for fame, wealth and titles, oblivious to the real value of what they were giving away, selling your soul is not metaphorical, it is a literal selling of your soul and life force. This is why so many famous people look blank, vacant, act strange, appear aloof, never seem happy, life filled with drama to keep them and the walk ins occupied, all theater and fakery. So, having perhaps not believed it was possible to replace that many people with walk ins at the beginning of this piece, perhaps you might have reconsidered that possibility, having absorbed that list, and also hopefully consider correcting some of your own lifestyle habits?

EXPOSE: It is known variously as the Great Famine, the Great Hunger and the Irish Potato Famine. But whatever name it is known by, this humanitarian disaster of the mid-1800s changed forever the face of Ireland and its close neighbor, Liverpool in the UK. It all started when blight hit the Irish potato crop in 1845. Many of Ireland's poor depended wholly on the potato for food, and alongside a host of political, social and economic factors hunger and malnutrition set in, followed by disease and death. In a 10-year span up to one million people died, and even more would emigrate. It is estimated that during the fateful years of 1845-52, about 1.3m people from Ireland passed through the port of Liverpool. Local officials watched in horror as thousands of destitute men, women and children, many of them described as half naked and starving, arrived each month. A large number were en route to America, Canada or Australia, but many decided to put roots down here. As the closest major British port to Dublin, and the gateway to the most industrialized region in the country, Liverpool was an obvious place for those fleeing the famine to go. Many already had connections in the region, and Liverpool also served as a staging post before the longer journey to North America. That was part of the white slavery program ran against the Irish, that involved the Jewish owned slave ships and in part The Vatican. Those Jewish owned slave ships largely came out of the Dutch East Indies company, and so in essence was connected not only to the Rothschild's, but the French House of Orange, which later became synonymous with the Dutch. Remember it was the Dutch House of Orange group led by King Billy, that destroyed Ireland in the Battle of the Boyne, yet curiously the Irish people still blame the British for that war. The Vatican church was an instigator behind that war also, in fact that church has done much against the Irish peoples, despite the dominant religion in that country being Catholic. Irish history is almost as distorted as American history it seems. The 1851 census revealed that 22.29% of the Liverpool population was Irish-born, 84,000 out of a total population of about 376,000. In Birkenhead, where many of the migrants lived and worked, the proportion was even higher. It has led to the ties between Liverpool and its nearest neighbor across the Irish Sea becoming famously close, to the extent of Liverpool being dubbed the second capital of Ireland. Everything from the accent to the unique character of the city's people has been attributed to its strong Irish connection. But the relationship hasn't always been a happy one. The poverty-stricken Irish migrants who lived in appalling conditions in Liverpool's slums, and the poorest parts of the city were demonized for decades. In Liverpool in 1847 there were 35,000 people, mainly Irish, living in cellars in the Vauxhall and Scotland Road areas, while some 5,341 inhabited cellars described as wells of stagnant water. Typhus, dysentery and cholera were rife. It needs to be said that the conditions on the very opposite side of the road for Protestants, were actually no better. The conditions for native peoples and those arriving as migrants were appalling for all people. This was despite it being one of the richest cities globally due to the docks and trading, which at one point was the most used docks the world over. The city simply could not cope with the vast influx of Irish immigrants and in June 1847, under the new Poor Law Removal Act, about 15,000 Irish were deported back to Ireland. Today there are few reminders of this humanitarian disaster and the influence it has had on the city. There is an Irish Famine memorial in the gardens of the Bombed Out Church, St Luke's. And back in 1997, a Liverpool Irish Famine Trail was unveiled to mark the 150th anniversary of Black 1847, the worst year of the Great Famine. Although these plaques still survive, many people have now forgotten about the heritage trail or don't even know it exists. They are written in both Gaelic and English and mark the most important sites, in both Liverpool and Birkenhead, associated with this major historical event. One, at Clarence Dock, reads: Through these dock gates passed most of the 1,300,000 Irish migrants who fled the Great Famine and took the ship to Liverpool in the years 1845-52. Another, in Mulberry Street in the city's university district, reads: Near this place in 1847, some 2,600 destitute Irish Famine migrants were buried in unmarked pauper graves. They had died in extreme poverty in the parish of Liverpool, so ending their flight from the Great Hunger 1845-52. Meanwhile in Price Street, near Hamilton Square in Birkenhead, a plaque of exactly the same design reads: This area of Birkenhead provided shelter and employment to thousands of Irish migrants in the Famine Years 1845-52. In 1851 a quarter of the town's population was Irish born, the highest proportion in any British town at that time. Smacks

to me of a deliberate attempt by the authorities to not only crush Ireland, but the city of Liverpool also. The reason being and is still ongoing today, is the fierce and determined traits of the people to fight injustice, and an almost inbred sense of rebellion against those that attack or wrong us. This was seen as a threat to the system and decades of under funding, left both populations in poor economic conditions and has created a large almost feral type of people in both regions. It is hoped the Famine Trail can now be regenerated after the annual Liverpool Irish Festival which concludes this weekend, and announced it had secured initial funding from the National Lottery Heritage Fund for the project. Emma Smith, artistic director and CEO of the Irish Festival said: The existing trail is an unrealized asset in Liverpool's cultural offer, and a missing link in the search many Irish diaspora people undertake to trace their families. The plaques were erected in the late 1990s and since then city developments and global technologies have advanced at a pace. The Liverpool Irish Festival is working with remaining members of the Great Hunger Commemoration Committee on the revitalization of the trail, marking the influence, impact, migration and loss of many Irish people here in Liverpool and across the world. The point forgotten by the victimhood and woe is me people is, the city of Liverpool was kind enough to try to house, feed and care for the desperate Irish, something that has been largely overlooked. Particularly with the bombings done by the IRA in Manchester and Warrington, both less than 32 miles from Liverpool, that killed many of our people, including children in that region. Only when you unlearn the lies, if you don't it repeats, and then discover true history, will the divisions of the people be healed.

EXPOSE: This piece is in part written by Laura Knight-Jadczyk of the group SOTT.net and I have added parts to it for deeper connections. If you want a news and blog site with news that overlaps or runs close to ours, that is the site to go to, the only site in my opinion calling things as they are. Did you ever see the UK series Connections? It was a late 1970's British TV series hosted by author and historian James Burke, and it was devoted to exploring the various paths of how technological change happens, and the social effects of these changes on Western society. Each episode is a telescoping, kaleidoscopic, psychedelic tour of hundreds of years of history that, as the title would suggest, reveals the chain of connections linking seemingly disparate people, places and events. Take Episode 05, for example, titled The Wheel of Fortune, it spins a narrative web connecting ancient Arab astronomers to the invention of the water clock alarm, to the development of crucible steel to the assembly line revolution, and then concludes with an existential question, if none of the products in our pocket are handmade, who are we? Don't feel bad if that episode description leaves you confused, disoriented and feeling that you are on the verge of, but have not yet quite achieved epiphany. That is, as near as I can tell, the point of the show. But as entertaining as the Connections program makes these types of relationships appear, there's a darker side to the exploration of these historical narrative threads. Personally, I often encounter connections of this sort during the course of my research, but, far from a fun intellectual exercise in dot connecting, they tend to reveal dark truths about the problems we're facing. The story begins with one Ramzi Yousef who was a mysterious and allegedly CIA-connected terrorist, who is, we are told, the nephew of 9/11 mastermind Khalid Sheikh Mohammed. Who built the bomb used in the 1993 bombing of the World Trade Center, and drove it to the parking garage on that fateful morning. There are many, many serious problems with the official story of that event, but according to that story, Yousef fled the US before even becoming a suspect in the bombing investigation. This terrorist extraordinaire supposedly managed to hop from country to country, plotting assassinations and bombings in Pakistan, Thailand and Iran before ending up in the Philippines, where he was finally apprehended and turned over to the FBI. But not before he allegedly met with OKC co-conspirator Terry Nichols, who, it has been claimed, he instructed in the art of bomb-making. But the strange WTC 1993/OKC connection doesn't end there. After being convicted for the World Trade Center bombing, Yousef was sent to the Administrative Maximum U.S. Penitentiary in Florence, Colorado, where he not only met but befriended convicted OKC bomber Timothy McVeigh. A classic case of the CIA style recruitment tactics to me, which we have mentioned previously. But the bizarre seemingly random connections doesn't end there. The so called 9/11 hijackers Mohammed Atta and Marwan al-Shehhi and known as the 20th hijacker Zacarias Moussaoui, allegedly stayed at the same Oklahoma City motel where Timothy McVeigh and a bunch of Iraqis stayed, when McVeigh was preparing the OKC bombing. Remember the CIA own or run most of the major hotel chains. Now, all of these WTC/OKC connections have a relatively simple explanation: they are all part of the same story that was being planted in the media and the public consciousness, to suggest that all three incidents, WTC 1993, the OKC bombing and 9/11 were connected and that they were all, ultimately, the work of Islamic terrorism. This is all hooey, of course, but the discovery of these connections serve as something of a glitch in the matrix for dedicated researchers, a glitch that shows how a narrative can be implanted in various media stories over the years. Like Iraq and Al Qaeda did OKC! and then abandoned when it is convenient for the powers that were choose to do so. But while the WTC/OKC connection seems like an interesting intellectual exercise, over the past 18 months we have all witnessed a much more disturbing example of how different events can combine to form a single narrative tapestry. Like a jigsaw puzzle slotting into place, nearly every aspect of the New World Order agenda medical martial law, genetic modification, transhumanism, the ID control grid, the cashless society, the climate hoax and sustainable development, etc. are coming together in the context of the scandemic. Every piece seems to fit together with every other piece so perfectly that, once the full picture is seen, it is impossible to think that this is not part of a coordinated agenda for the enslavement of humanity. The way that medical martial law could be used to tie our lives into a digital identity, that would be connected to our digital payments and a strings-attached universal basic income, was nothing novel to those of us who have been paying attention to these issues for the past decade or two. But, in a way, that's precisely what's so deeply upsetting about these connections. Whereas the average person who has not been paying attention to these events, will see each of these pieces of the puzzle as a separate and logically necessary development. With cries of course we need vaccines for this deadly disease, of course we need to track who has received the vaccine, of course we need a digital currency, of course our participation in society should be tied to our vaccination status etc. But those who understand that there is an end goal for all of these seemingly disparate moves will look at them with horror. The linkages between the various aspects of the globalist agenda struck me afresh, when I began putting together my documentary on Who Is Bill Gates? Once again, I knew of all of the individual puzzle pieces in that documentary, Gates' warnings of bio-weapons and pandemics, his Decade of Vaccines, his involvement in the Indian demonetization debacle and his pimping of digital currencies, his promotion of biometric identification schemes, his involvement in GMO technology, his investments in Monsanto and similar companies, his interest in birth control and eugenics, but to see all of those pieces fall into place as the scandemic hit was something else entirely. It was the moment of realizing that these were not different agendas at all, but all different aspects of the same agenda. To some extent, my work over the past 18 months has been an attempt to articulate these connections: The connection between the Homeland Security apparatus and the biosecurity state; The connection between the scandemic and the coming central bank digital currencies; The connection between the vaccine passports and the digital ID grid; The connection between the new vaccine technologies and the transhumanist agenda; The connection between COVID and climate change. All of the pieces of the puzzle are there, already laid out on the table. The public just has to be shown how to put them together. We don't have to theorize about these connections, either, they are now being openly admitted. Just marvel at the surprisingly frank report from The Economist on Why corona virus will accelerate the fourth Industrial Revolution, which was published way back in April of 2020, just months into the COVID World Order roll out. After noting how the profound pressures that individuals, organizations and societies face in this crisis are accelerating the fourth Industrial Revolution, blurring the boundaries between the physical, digital and biological worlds. The report goes on to discuss the incredible opportunity that the scandemic represents, to those pushing the climate hoax and sustainable development scam. A critical choice that humans will have to make is, how to re-engage with a natural world that has been better off as a result of the pandemic. Environmental activist Greta Thunberg was striking to disrupt the system. The pandemic has done just that and is revealing what it means, and what it costs, to dramatically drop carbon emissions. Passing one of our climate's tipping points could involve costs that are orders of magnitude higher. Yes, not only does the scandemic neatly connect the "4IR" transhuman agenda to the new biosecurity state, it then also provides a convenient justification for the carbon ration eugenics scheme, that the self-appointed global elitists have been attempting to introduce into the public consciousness for years now. That was agenda 2021, and it is with their calendar 2021 this year, but ending with sustainable development by 2030, which is Agenda 2030, and suddenly the specter of the Georgia Guidestones looms into our thoughts. From the perspective of the tyrants, it all makes perfect sense. After all, as we've already been told, climate change leads to pandemics, but pandemic lockdowns are good for the environment. So the fact that the vaxx passport which, tellingly, is also referred to as a green pass in the EU, will seamlessly transition into a carbon ration card should hardly be surprising. Of course, in order for such a card to work, the authorities will need to be able to monitor both your travel and your transactions, to add up your carbon footprint, of course, so it only makes sense that it will eventually be tied in to your new government-issued identity, and serve as the wallet for your central-bank issued CBDC currency, doesn't it? See? A perfect web of connection. Dutch political analyst Eva Vlaardingerbroek, commenting on the introduction this weekend of a vaxx passport / QR system in the Netherlands, connects these dots perfectly succinctly. Frustratingly, only a very limited number of people in the West see what is really at stake here. Most fail to see that, once these Q.R. systems are enforced and people have become accustomed to them, these systems can be used for a variety of other purposes as well. Like we have said all along, they never do anything with one goal or plan in mind, it is usually a minimum of 4 seemingly separate plans rolled into one. It is most likely not a coincidence that a couple of weeks ago, a nationwide poll was conducted to enquire how the Dutch viewed the possibility of a personal carbon credit system. Nevertheless, a large majority seems to believe or want to believe, that all of this is for the common good, or that it is at least all temporary and won't get that far. Welcome to the new app get your credit and carbon score all on one page, but unless your carbon score goes down, your credit score and subsequently your loans and interest rates will go up. This is how these people think. The very fact that the Trustee at the same time as the Covid scam started, was pushing digital wallets, should not be lost on people. Is she that stupid? or part of the problem and another example of an agency based stooge, perhaps Life Force people need to start making her answer those types of questions, instead of drawing swastikas and a penis on their video screen. Thus we arrive at the same problem that we often arrive at in this research. We know the problem. Those who have been studying these narrative threads, following the research and collecting data about these agenda items for years, are able to see the true nature of what we're facing: an all-encompassing plan for control of the planet and, ultimately, of humanity itself. But the average person who has not been engaged in this research, whether because of a lack of time, or a lack of interest, or a fear of being labeled a conspiracy theorist or domestic extremist, does not see the bigger picture. And because of that, they do not even understand that there is an agenda at play, let alone an agenda that is so dark. As James Evan Pilato observed in the latest edition of New World Next Week, we are often challenged by our uneducated brethren to summarize our decades of research within the space of a couple of minutes. Even then, any information that comes from a source that the person doesn't like is immediately dismissed, along with the entire line of argumentation surrounding that information. It's a trap, of course: the person asking for this information is not seriously looking for us to provide it to them, but to provide them with an excuse for dismissing our argument. We have all experienced those types of transactions. It is difficult for researchers not to get discouraged at the seemingly futile nature of this task, like Sisyphus watching the rock rolling down the hill for the millionth time. But still, more people are discovering the truth about this agenda every day. I know this from the feedback I am receiving on a daily basis, and the fact that my audience has greatly increased over the past 18 months. As the undeniable nature of the Great Reset and its associated changes sweep over the planet, it is becoming more and more difficult for those, who have actively avoided this information to avoid it any longer. Still, the task remains: we must put the pieces of this jigsaw together in a way that, the average person will be able to see it before they are lulled back to sleep, by the relentless propaganda industry that continues to hold sway over the minds of so many. This is where the talents of a communicator who can tickle his audience's imagination and stir their curiosity, providing them with just enough information to give them a sense of the big picture, but not so much information that they lose the plot entirely. We at THI have done much to connect the dots like Laura, and yes at times it has been discouraging and I have required very thick skin, to deal with the abuse that comes with telling people the truth or an alternative opinion of the so called authorities. But, it is often easy to forget the giant strides we have made, and one could not possibly advocate for the rank stupidity of far too many of the populace. The stupid have no excuse they just lazily in most cases comply, but we won't.

The niggling doubts and the many questions that have formulated within our brains and hearts, have often cause consternation within and created self doubts. This was all by design, as they laid out the blueprint of thinking and knowledge for humanity to follow. Follow our gods, follow our religion, follow our science, follow our philosophy, follow our theories, follow our cultures, follow our kings and queens, nobles, lords, then follow our history. Over our lifetimes it has changed to follow our Governments, follow our Militaries, follow our directives, policies and rules, follow our law. Then came follow our authorities, and teachers, scientists, police, politicians, social services, child protection, judges, lawyers, NGO's, private contractors and conglomerates all became the authorities. Others were told to follow the lobbyists, the think tanks, the Institutions and theologians and the system was created. But I left to the last, the one Institution that hovers over them all, I wonder how many know the answer at this point? It makes people jump, follow orders, dance to their tune, commit heinous acts, trade and traffick in evilness and makes many people fall into the preset trap, of the 5 hooks plus the hidden one. The 5 hooks are all external but the hidden one is internal. Addictions of drugs, alcohol and sex make up three of them, religion is another, which is another form of addiction and brings in the savior program, and the internal one is ego. The missing one overarches them all, money, and all of the above at it's core follow the money. The Banksters which are all ran by Rothschild's who were the Agents of SHIELD in the Marvel series, passed off as the "good guys", and the Black Sun represented by the Hydra, between them they make us all dance to their tune. Money is based on the flow of water, which is the energy and can be argued is the actual Source itself, given the term water is the source of life. Banks control the energy and subsequently control life. Banks are where the deposits go on a river, which is flowing with the current, current is the name of an account, where you deposit currency. If you go into debt, you are underwater and so drowning and devoid of life, which brings in mari time law of the sea and we are declared dead at age 7, and they claim your estate. The markets rise and fall like a wave, then comes the crash, crash of the waves and more deposits stay in or on the banks, the crash then stifles the cash and the flow. They describe the markets are turbulent, which is another word to describe the state of the oceans. Maybe even the most famous of bankster streets, Wall Street, describes a wall of water, a tsunami in effect, that crashes all the peoples money into their deposits. The cash all then flows into the cash flow of streams, and they restrict it just like a dam, but frankly they don't give a damn. They give you checks to deposit but as we have found out they are checking on you, they have tellers who tell you whether you can or can't have your money. They put our money in vaults, and then make us vault to get it. The banks and their greed, corruption has no end, until we the people pull the plug on the bath, and release all our funds back into our care, where we will have an interest in the people, not to make interest on the people. So, who are our biggest problem? the banks. Removing the banks and their control ends all of the aforementioned entities, who sold humanity out for pieces of paper with numbers on them, that intrinsically have no value, and the infamous shekels people. But the banks started to drown in their own evil and greed, and two people pushed them over the edge and their system was permanently rendered as disabled. So, these people took their law of the sea and we are all dead at aged seven, which many in the alt community have been trying to tell people for the past decade now, they decided to be open about it all and create a new currency flow of, coins for the dead. In came crypto, the currency of the dead, no longer would they have to employ thousands of tellers, management, middle management, brokers, CEO's, several banks in every town or city, several multi story buildings in towns or cities, no security guards at each, because now they don't need all that, and all of it can be ran by a computer. Out go all the jobs, central and high street banks, down go the overheads and they ran it all from a server and some monitors. This then brings them total control over everything, any dissenters with this system will be deleted from it, and in essence with cash no longer available, you will be deleted from life altogether. In a world of credit and debit cards, they control you, those with cash can still control their own life, which is why they are trying to delete it. Back to the niggling doubts we all had, for some of us starting at an early age. To me as an observer in this lifetime, nothing made sense, everything was backwards, everything was upside down, nothing was fair, nothing was equal and nothing was right, just or honorable. The name of our show is in short supply, and the truth was distorted beyond everyone's imagination, the 5.5 years of THI has taught you that, on dozens and dozens of topics, never mind all the other shows and blogs available. Many of the niggling doubts have been alleviated within this show, and over this past decade. We have all learnt so much, none moreso than myself, as I collected information like a sponge, wrung out the misdirections, half truths and lies, and then reassembled the information into a flow, manner and timing into a thought form and process where people could not only actually understand it, but see it as a big picture. A jigsaw of an unimaginable scale, so vast it was not believable, and still isn't to many. Two people this week have said to me I thought when I joined THI I knew what was going on, I now realize I knew little. Yes, when the time and timing was right, I have released no end of other levels of information, that is likely the most comprehensive database to dot connecting knowledge on the internet. But, I didn't do this alone, no one does anything alone except shadow and inner work, there is always a back up crew that supports the front person, unless your the Trustee, and I have learned from many, including many those who left us and chose to go back to the lower levels of learning, actions and understanding. The levels of evil, is the biggest barrier to the truth, people just cannot comprehend over a certain amount of wrong actions, that evil prevails due to people's inability to accept certain levels of evil and depravity. That weakness and it is a weakness, has allowed these dark forces to prevail and levels I would describe as worse than Satan himself. They are in essence not only anti human, but anti life itself, which coincidentally is the goals of the Black Sun cult, to extinguish all life and be left with only the void of darkness. The niggling doubts we all have? maybe Thomas was right and there will be only a few of us. That is the negative take, but the positive take is, if we are but a few, that is a massive upgrade on what was meant to be our extinction. The all have failed us, the few with a bit more work and dedication to the mission and each other, have so much more to look forward to, providing we stick together. We are not the f'ing unvaxxed, we are the crown of creation, now go out and prove it.
