A Gettysburg speech by President Lincoln said this. Four score and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. In reality land, it wasn't a new nation, it was never conceived in liberty and no men have ever been equal on this land or any other land, the old system never allowed it. We are in a civil war now, the final test for this nation and the dedicated are just the few, but how many will endure is the great question? A famous American speech and yet has anything changed in this country over any time period? This country has always been divided, largely by fake political parties appearing to represent two ideologies, but in reality they represent just one front, against the people. Yes, some may have appeared to step forward like JFK, but the harsh truth is, he was another of the clown groups representing the families and the factions. Trump like Obama presented themselves as different and spoke of change, but change only came as a result of more stringent and harsher measures against we the people. The black people waited for years for recognition, and finally they thought they had one of their own in the office. Obama spent 8 years in office and yet did nothing for the black people. The Government went multi cultural and in came more minorities and females, did that help the people? of course not, because the policies were still being dictated by the Israeli junta and their army of EL-ites is why. You see people and personalities matters not in their world, and the people have to understand that, it is not the people in place, but the programs running against us all, that creates the discord, but more importantly the disconnect. This and all other countries have been badly run from day one, forged by war, greed and egos. No country has ever had peace, due to land and resources grabs, by the same EL-ites who couldn't organize a piss up in a brewery. They have no plans, their plans are based on greed and power, and win at all costs. Do they care whether it was 150K or 6M Jews? 20-50M Chinese, 70-90M Russians, 80K Allied pilots all died? the answer is an emphatic NO. One year on from Biden taking the reigns, where he promised, bringing America together, uniting our people and uniting our nation. (M) What a sick and twisted joke that is, because the laugh was on us. An incoherent, incompetent buffoon that has made Trump look somewhat normal, when he is an egotistical game show host who was placed there at the behest of the Israeli junta, to destroy more of America from within. Look at how they ran the Covid scam, a mish mash of ouroboros policies, the usual threatening of the public, which should have brought total condemnation by it's people. Instead a majority of them showed just how weak and pathetic they were, and they complied despite great cost to themselves. Draconian measures on the people, Draconian indeed and is indicative, where the people became more divided than ever, children placed in abject fear walking like automatons to, in and from school, covering their faces like latter day bandits. People lost their jobs, homes, businesses and now we have vast wastelands of boarded up shops, crumbling infrastructure and much more to follow. But, amongst it all, the politicians, the decision makers and the treasonous top brass at the Military and Agency clowns, all the pathetic media mouth pieces, all got paid and their lives never changed one iota. The greed based money people's made $1.7T of improvements to their already obscene wealth. What else did the people get for their failed policies? 9% inflation on their food, leaving many to go without or reduced intake. This is the legacy of the ending Covid scam, and we face testing times for a very long time if we continue with the same clowns and the same programs. It won't be fixed, in fact the reality is, it can't be fixed and it is time we had a new radical way, for and by the people. With fresh ideas that is all inclusive, with progressive ideas to build for a future, with common sense solutions that will benefit the all. It is not rocket science once you remove the lobbyists and the greed based harvesters from the playing field, the child like war mentality from Generals and Agency goons, the Crown and all of their subsidiaries, and the spineless media personnel in both the MSM and the Alt media, the latter of which is ran by Agency goons or handlers. To fix it, it requires new input from people with no vested interest for themselves, only a desire to improve all aspects of life in a better way. The old world some of you doubted some years back is gone, hanging on a thread by fear only and people in a false comfort zone. There was nothing comfortable for any of us in that world, and now we are tasked with rebuilding it piece by piece from scratch. And I mean from scratch, because no profession was ever taught the full scope of their jobs, new ways of operating based on cooperative actions, not ego based comparative or competitive, competition should only be from within, the desire to improve the self and those around you. This is what the TPC is for, a teaching course for rebuilding this planet and it's peoples in a better way, that is all inclusive, built in our image not theirs. Their policies failed on every level, all with half a brain cell can see that now, those that don't are the very people that reduced this planet to a kindergarten level, and imposed tyranny not only on themselves, but the rest of us as well. With radical plans, will and determination we can rebuild the whole planet, piece by piece. In America we now have an opportunity to build our blueprint for radical change, I would love to get it started and I am willing to work with all groups to make it happen. If we don't act soon, the country will rot into a wasteland of broken towns and cities, and more importantly broken people from sea to shining sea. I am not here to play their game, I came to change it, that is my ideology, forte and stance, now I wish for you all to adopt it.

NEWS: January 23rd at noon they are requesting a nationwide truck pullover and stop actions in Canada. I would prefer they did a 3 lane slow down into the capital cities, when they did that in Paris, it cost the money clowns $2B per day, just by blocking the roads into the city.

The French are putting into law a bill to ban all unvaxxed from public places. The Greeks are planning on fining all elderly who haven't been vaxxed. The Queenslander shopkeeper who we praised for standing up to the Gestapo, has been arrested by 3 female Gestapo this week. Without reading him his rights, without informing him of why he was being arrested, and despite them trespassing on his property without due course. Police are playing with fire over there and many other regions, and some of you will pay for supporting the tyranny based regime. The public is about to blow, and you group of idiots will face their wrath. Israeli Prime Minister Naftali Bennett recently pressured a reluctant teenage girl to take a COVID vaccine on live television. The girl, the daughter of one of Bennett's friends, was said to have been afraid and reluctant to get vaccinated. In front of a primetime TV audience, she is seen squirming in a chair while a nurse prepares to inject her with Pfizer's COVID shot. All like a loop from the concentration camps of the past, that to me, same people is why.

Next week all the Provincial and Territorial Premiers, will be meeting with Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and Health Minister Jean-Yves Duclos, for perhaps the most important event in Canadian history. By as early as late next week the Federal Government will break Canada's Constitution Act 1982, by imposing an unconstitutional mandate that removes the irrevocable right to ones own autonomy and anatomy. That mandate will imply that every citizen in Canada, no longer has the right and ability to make their own choices and decisions, and, that every citizen in Canada must comply with any medical treatment or experiment proposed to them by any level of government. Wait, it gets so much better. On top of the illegal mandate that will remove your right to make your own decisions regarding your own body and path in life, they are going to remove the rest of your rights and freedoms too! The Federal Government is also going to impose the Emergency Measures Act. This Act will be applied across all provinces and territories. The Emergency Measures Act suspends Section 2 and Sections 7 through 15 of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, for a term of up to 5 years before a Parliamentary or Judiciary review in needed for an extension. This means no citizen will have the freedom of conscience or religion. No citizen will have the freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression. Nor will any citizen have freedom of peaceful assembly and freedom of association. The right to Life, Liberty and Security will be removed. The Government, and its authorities, can search, seize, detain, arrest any citizen or property without just cause or any legal recourse. Citizens will no longer be protected from cruel and unusual treatment or punishment. And, any citizen can be discriminated against by authorities based on race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, sex, age and mental or physical disability. All the Rights and Freedoms that past Canadians have fought for, and that Canadians today take advantage of, could all be gone by as early as next week. Welcome to the tyrannical dystopia Canadian compliance has approved of. I warned very early on the Commonwealth countries are being used for Zionist Fascist programs, and what this is forcing is, will you stand up and against it? It can be seen as the old system trying to awaken some of the sleepers in a major way, in a dramatic way. Imposing more and more ridiculous measures, most of which are ouroboros programs, it is almost begging the sleepers to take action, vaxxed or unvaxxed.

NSO Israel again in the news for more skullduggery. Israeli police have employed NSO Group's Pegasus spyware to extract data from phones belonging to Israeli citizens, according to an investigation by the country's Calcalist business publication. Police reportedly used the controversial software to target a number of individuals, including politicians and members of an activist group that had called for the removal of former Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu. According to the report, Israeli police conducted their surveillance without court supervision, a claim both police and public officials deny. This line was interesting I thought, Israeli law only allows Shin Bet, the country's domestic intelligence agency, to hack a phone without a court order. What's more, the only context in which the agency is allowed to carry out such an action is to prevent a terrorist attack involving Palestinians, Israeli-Arabs or Israeli-Jews. Israeli Arabs and Jews under the microscope? Their own people? well I never.

The pandemic has made the world's wealthiest far richer but has led to more people living in poverty, according to the charity Oxfam. Lower incomes for the world's poorest contributed to the death of 21,000 people each day, its report claims. But the world's 10 richest men have more than doubled their collective fortunes since March 2020, Oxfam said. Oxfam typically releases a report on global inequality at the start of the World Economic Forum meeting in Davos. This year, what's happening is off the scale, he said. There's been a new billionaire created almost every day during this pandemic, meanwhile 99% of the world's population are worse off because of lockdowns, lower international trade, less international tourism, and as a result of that, 160 million more people have been pushed into poverty. Something is deeply flawed with our economic system, he added. According to Forbes figures cited by the charity, the world's 10 richest men are: Elon Musk, Jeff Bezos, Bernard Arnault and family, Bill Gates, Larry Ellison, Larry Page, Sergey Brin, Mark Zuckerberg, Steve Ballmer and Warren Buffet. While collectively their wealth grew from $700bn to $1.5tn between March 2020 and November 2021, there is significant variation between them, it was $1.7T. Mr. Musk's fortune growing by more than 1,000%, while Mr. Gates' rose by a more modest 30%. 2-3 years ago this piece would bring derision, too many it still does. But, now I see it through different eyes, the more people are in poverty because more people don't care, the greed based people take their wealth and laugh, why? because we allowed it and never cared enough to correct it.

Martin Shkreli, the former drug firm executive who ordered dramatic price hikes of a life-saving medicine, has been barred from the industry for life. In a decision on Friday, Judge Denise Cote ordered him to repay $64.6m (£47m) in profits he made from the scheme. She ruled that Mr Shkreli's actions had violated laws against monopolies. Mr Shkreli is currently serving a prison sentence for defrauding investors. But this decision is about action he took in 2015 to raise the price of Daraprim, a long-established medicine used to treat toxoplasmosis, from $13.50 to $750 - around 4,000% - overnight. He also designed supply agreements to block competitors from offering a generic version of the unpatented medicine, which is used to treat the parasitic disease in pregnant women and patients with Aids. Shkreli with the shekels, disgusting amount of pure greed, these types of people are utter parasites and all the medical industry is riddled with them. Maybe in the future these lawsuit repayments would all go to the TPC?

Former President Donald Trump on Tuesday criticized politicians who refuse to say whether they've received a Covid booster shot. In an interview with far-right cable channel One America News, who has just been dumped by the cable companies, Trump said he received the booster, and has seen politicians get asked in interviews whether they've also gotten a third shot. They don't want to say it because they're gutless, Trump said. Which is exactly how I would describe your Presidency, and your dealings and siding with anti humanity cults then Trump. Donald I injured and killed my fellow Americans Trump.

Prices at the wholesale level surged by a record 9.7% for all of 2021, setting an annual record and providing further evidence that inflation is still present at all levels of the U.S. economy. Thursday's report came a day after the government reported that consumer inflation jumped 7% in December from a year earlier, the highest such inflation rate since 1982. Indeed, inflation is a stealth tax and 99% of Americans have no idea that is the case. All designed by the shekel people. People can say that, it is Bidens fault, but Trump and his puppet Trustee created the environment of lockdowns and jobs, so that the taxes would have to go up to cover the greed based losses.

It has come to light via a document that the UK Government finally shares the facts about the Covid vaccine. The UK government admits that vaccines have damaged the natural immune system of those who have been double-vaccinated. The UK government has also admitted that once you have been double-vaccinated, you will never again be able to acquire full natural immunity to Covid variants or possibly any other virus. In its Week 42 Covid-19 Vaccine Surveillance Report, the UK Department of Health admits on page 23 that N antibody levels appear to be lower in people who become infected after two doses of vaccination. It goes on to say that this drop in antibodies is essentially permanent. What does this mean? We know that vaccines do not prevent infection or transmission of the virus, indeed, the report elsewhere shows that vaccinated adults are now much more likely to be infected than unvaccinated ones. The British now find that the vaccine interferes with the body's ability to make antibodies after infection, not only against the spike protein, but also against other parts of the virus. In particular, vaccinated people do not appear to form antibodies against the nucleocapsid protein, the envelope of the virus, which is a crucial part of the response in unvaccinated people. In the long term, the vaccinated are far more susceptible to any mutations in the spike protein, even if they have already been infected and cured once or more. The unvaccinated, on the other hand, will gain lasting, if not permanent, immunity to all strains of the alleged virus after being naturally infected with it even once. The first insurance companies are backing down because a huge wave of claims is coming their way. Anthony Fauci confirms that the PCR test cannot detect live viruses. Anthony Fauci confirms that neither the antigen test nor the PCR test can tell us whether someone is contagious or not!!! This invalidates all the foundations of the so-called pandemic. The PCR test was the only indication of a pandemic. Without PCR test there would have been no pandemic. This is the final key, the ultimate proof that the measures must all be lifted immediately. It is not revealing anything we at THI didn't know, but more and more new people are listening now, including the Ghanian Premier, who repeated to a live TV audience material that came out of our Expose series. I wish to thank him not for spreading our show, but to show the courage to stand up for his people. What this also reveals on a deeper level, is that natural human technology within is far greater than the unnatural external technology. Med beds even if they are valid are for the lazy people, with no interest in self development, maybe the jabs will cure them of their laziness?

So, Prince Andrew was stripped of all of his Military titles and fake badges and other assorted privileges by his family. Only right many will say, and I would not argue with that. But, what happened to you are innocent until proven guilty? Why do that action before the court hearing or judgment? It is kind of pre-emptive that is, snap judgments all too many make without or before looking at all possibilities, and indicative of the way a family will throw you under the bus, without second thought. This happens in many families, this one is higher profile though. And what they have done is, confirmed Andrew is guilty before the court case even starts. It is a spectacular call on so many levels, throwing one of your own under the bus in a public manner, tells you all you need to know about that family. A self serving fake PR money generating scheme, with staggering hypocrisy, given some who took that decision have been involved in far worse and heinous crimes, than Andrew sleeping with a 17 year old.

This is another repeat loop news event, and it always leads to the sympathy card and reminder that, only one group of people have ever suffered on this planet, according to them. After almost 12 hours of negotiations with the hostage-taker, the hostages were freed after a loud bang and the sound of gunfire could be heard at Congregation Beth Israel. Like the last event, it was found the main man had no guns or bombs, and both of them were killed and so no one to report differently, funny that. At a news conference after the hostages were released, FBI Special Agent in Charge Matt DeSarno said that the Texas synagogue hostage taker's demands were specifically focused on issues, not connected to the Jewish community. But in came the created news experts to remind us again of their plight, and wheel out the frankly absurd rhetoric of anti-Semitism. Kenneth Marcus, the founder and chairman of the Louis D. Brandeis Center for Human Rights Under Law and former assistant U.S. secretary of education for civil rights, disagreed, telling Fox News Digital that the FBI got it wrong. Clearly the FBI didn't get the memo it seems. Roz Rothstein, co-founder and CEO of StandWithUs, an education organization that educates individuals about Israel and combats anti-Semitism, said that the notion the hostage-taker did not target the Jewish community is insulting and disappointing. Lets just replay that statement again, "the notion the hostage-taker did not target the Jewish community is insulting and disappointing" Does that make sense? in a common sense world you would be grateful in that situation he didn't target the Jewish community. But, no not these people, who use every situation for their pro pagan da purposes. Trying to separate Jews from the idea that Jews were targeted on their holy day at their house of worship, is a mistake and it is insulting and disappointing, Rothstein said. The Jewish people would do themselves a massive favor, by moving away from the victim card these people are playing, that is turning people against them at far too regular intervals. This whole world is a victim of evil practices, the majority of which is done by people who call themselves Jews, when they are not.

If you don't believe that last statement, then listen to this, because it is another confirmation of FRWL. A new investigation has identified a suspect who may have betrayed Anne Frank and her family to the Nazis. The Jewish diarist died in a Nazi concentration camp in 1945, aged 15, after two years in hiding. Her diary, published after her death, is the most famous first-hand account of Jewish life during the war. A team including an ex-FBI agent said Arnold van den Bergh, a Jewish figure in Amsterdam, probably gave up the Franks to save his own family. Van den Bergh had been a member of Amsterdam's Jewish Council, a body forced to implement Nazi policy in Jewish areas. It was disbanded in 1943, and its members were dispatched to concentration camps. But the team found that van den Bergh was not sent to a camp, and was instead living in Amsterdam as normal at the time. There was also a suggestion that a member of the Jewish Council had been feeding the Nazis information. So, the Jewish Council was working with the Nazis, why? because they were one and the same. Denial of that fact is at this point beyond ridiculous and child like of not facing reality.

President Joe Biden removed from a commission that monitors Holocaust sites a Trump appointee with ties to white supremacists. The White House asked Darren Beattie on January 14 to resign from the Commission for the Preservation of America's Heritage Abroad by the end of the day or be removed. Beattie, who is Jewish, had been a speechwriter for Trump until it was revealed in 2018, that he had two years earlier attended a conference of the H.L. Mencken Club. Beattie appeared at the conference on a panel with Peter Brimelow, a white nationalist who runs the anti-immigrant website VDare. The same day he sacked Beattie, Biden named seven new commissioners to the Commission for the Preservation of America's Heritage Abroad, including two with ties to Jewish organizations. Nancy Kaufman is a former longtime CEO of the National Council of Jewish Women and executive director of the Jewish Community Relations Council of Boston. C. Jonathan Greenwald, a former diplomat, is active with J Street, the liberal Jewish Middle East policy group. This is clearly more faction fighting, and reminding the populace about the Holocaust and all whites are supremacists. A question that people will not ask is, why we have this committee in the first place? What has this got to do with modern day America, that requires this public expense? and where is the Russian Holocaust committee? given Russia lost 11-15 times more people than the 6M put forward by the Is ra elite junta.

German researchers have confirmed that, the lack of in-person contact during a Covid lockdown and school closures took a sad toll on children's mental health, with the number of suicide attempts increasing sharply. Up to 500 minors were hospitalized after suicide attempts in Germany between early March and late May 2021, DUP Magazin reported this week, citing a yet-unpublished study from the Essen University Hospital (UK Essen). Researchers analyzed the data from 27 children's intensive care units across the country. They found that reported child suicide attempts increased fourfold compared to pre-pandemic times. American schools are warning of a sharp rise in unruly incidents in classrooms and play areas, since the return to school. The lack of social contact and its negative effects was a looming problem before the pandemic, only made worse by all the measures put in place. What concerns me more is, the general lack of fight from the parents. That is not to say some haven't, because clearly they have, but this should be more of a majority than minority. Why are society allowing this blatant abuse on their own children, is the greatest question to ask. In and out of school, social isolation, children living in fear, forced to wear masks, forced to eat lunch outside in the freezing cold, one school in UK has been taking the winter coats off of children because it is not the school uniform, teachers telling them to take poisons, and worse don't tell your parents. That is without the critical theory bs indoctrination program to make children feel guilty for things even their grandmothers were not around for. It is beyond a joke, and if you don't believe try this latest program running in a Illinois school. Elementary schoolchildren in Moline, Illinois, have been invited this week to an after-school Satan club with five different meeting dates planned for early this year, starting Thursday, Jan. 13, 2022 according to flyers placed in the school's lobby and shared on social media. Some parents are angry about their children's exposure to information about the club, apparently prompting the superintendent of schools to weigh in. The Satanic Temple says on its website that it operates the clubs at select public schools where Good News Clubs also operate. Given the mounting concerns and questions about the Satan club flyer that was made available to students at Jane Addams Elementary School in Moline, Illinois, Dr. Rachel Savage of Moline-Coal Valley Schools wrote a letter to parents, which was shared online. What's next for the children? a weekend at Bohemian

Grove? school trips to Epstein and Necker Island?, overnight White House trips? where does this end? I will say this again, a nation who neglects it's children and elderly are doomed to fail.

This report came in after I wrote the last piece and is encouraging, but the need now for a national curriculum is plain for all to see. We at TPC had an opportunity to create that and dragged our feet over it, it is an opportunity missed in my opinion. Nearly 1 in 5 American families have pulled their kids out of school, up from 1 in 30 before the pandemic, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. For nearly two decades (1999-2017), the number of U.S. households homeschooling their children hovered around 3.3%, according to the National Center for Education Statistics. But in April of 2020, that number suddenly started to shoot up, so much so that the U.S. Census Bureau began tracking the trend bi-monthly. By the end of April, it had reached 5.4%, by fall, it hit 11%, and by May of 2021, it hit 19.5%. The Home School Legal Defense Association expects that number to continue to rise throughout 2022. Finally some proof of positive actions and non compliance, but people think that is not enough or will not work. But, every child removed from their system, costs them energy, the very energy they feed upon. Same with the high street banks, if you bank with BOA, Citibank, Chase or Wells the Fargo, you are part of the problem. If you vote for their clowns, if you watch their news channels, you buy from Amazon, buy Alexa and other AI spying machines, you are part of the problem. It doesn't take much effort to find alternatives and take away their energy. We at THI have and will be doing the same, we removed ourselves from YT and built our own site, next stop is the FB pages. This is an energy game, and we the peoples supply them with far too much, for the sake of convenience by and large.

This is further evidence of the pull back in schooling, the question is do the children stagnate or do we replace it with something better? Undergraduate enrollment in fall 2021 fell 3.1% over the last year, or by approximately 465,300 students, compared with the previous year, according to new data. Since the start of the pandemic, there has been a 6.6%, more than 1 million students decline in undergraduate enrollment, per the report. One million less people takes away huge amounts of funds from them, which is energy. And 1 million less to indoctrinate as well.

The latest damning report from the IRS is another national scandal not being addressed, and again it is stacked against the people. If the people are late with filing, they get penalties that are rolling and can run into hundreds and thousands. But, the reverse is just ignored it seems. The Internal Revenue Service began the last filing season with a backlog of 11.7 million returns from 2020, and the 2019 returns were not cleared until June 2021, according to a new report by the National Taxpayer Advocate. 2019 not cleared until June 2021? seriously, and this is deemed acceptable? During 2021, tens of millions of taxpayers were forced to wait extraordinarily long periods of time for the IRS to process their tax returns, issue their refunds, and address their correspondence, wrote national taxpayer advocate Erin Collins, adding that the IRS is in crisis. The IRS received 17 million original Form 1040 returns on paper, the traditional individual income tax return, which have been taking at least eight months to process. The IRS also has more than 2 million unprocessed employer's quarterly returns, and about 5 million pieces of taxpayer correspondence left to process, per the report. The report also found that IRS customer service representatives answered about 11% of all of the calls from taxpayers seeking assistance. If returns are delayed due to their mismanagement, because this is really what it boils down to, staff shortages last year where mismanagement errors. But if returns are past 1-3 months to process, then interest should be applied to the return check at the same rate they charge people for filing late.

MEDICAL RELATED NEWS: Lots of positive news in this today. I guess the BBC has been listening again and gone along with our prediction, which was delivered on January 1st, but written in November last year with these separate quotes from medical experts. There is growing confidence that Omicron could be hurtling the UK into the pandemic endgame. I think life in 2022 will be almost back to before the pandemic. Should a new variant or old variant come along, for most of us, like any other common cold corona virus, we'll get the sniffles and a bit of a headache and then we're OK. If you're willing to tolerate zero deaths from Covid, then we're facing a whole raft of restrictions and it's not game over, Prof Hiscox explains. But, he says, in a bad flu season, 200-300 die a day over winter and nobody wears a mask or socially distances, that's perhaps a right line to draw in the sand. Lockdowns and restrictions on mass gatherings will not come back and mass testing for Covid will end this year, he expects.

Israel's Finance Minister Avigdor Lieberman called to end the country's Green Pass system on Tuesday. I am working with all parties to eliminate the Green Pass and maintain a normal routine for all of us. There is no medical and epidemiological logic in the Green Pass, and many experts agree. What there is, is a direct damage to the economy, daily functioning and in addition a significant contribution to panic among the public. I am working with all parties to eliminate the Green Pass and maintain a normal routine for all of us. Notice though like the Insurance report, the first mention was the money aspect.

Then the UK Government followed up on Tuesday with this. A senior Government source claimed ministers are seriously considering abandoning all legally-binding curbs in England and moving to a guidance-based system. The official claimed even the most basic rules could go, such as compulsory self-isolation of cases and the requirement to co-operate with Test and Trace. Emergency Covid laws brought in at the start of the pandemic are due to expire in March, if they are not renewed as part of a timetable set out before Omicron hit. Ministers are already planning to ditch Plan B curbs brought in last month to fight the highly-transmissible variant, with Covid passports and WFH guidance expected to be scrapped later this month.

Stephen Donnelly, our Irish Minister for Health, has come out today to announce that he expects all enforcements of covid rules to be finished by the end of April, that includes masks and vaccine passports.

Newly sworn-in Virginia Governor Glenn Youngkin, has pulled mandates requiring children to wear masks and state employees to be vaccinated against Covid-19 as part of his first day in office. In his executive order rescinding the school mask mandate, Youngkin stated that parents, not the government, have the fundamental right to make decisions concerning the care of their children. Recent government orders requiring virtually every child in Virginia to wear masks, virtually every moment they are in school have proven ineffective and impractical, he stated, arguing that the mandate has inflicted notable harm upon children, including impeding the growth of emotional and social skills. Masks have also increased feelings of isolation, exacerbating mental health issues, which in many cases pose a greater health risk to children than Covid-19. In a separate directive, Youngkin ruled that the previous order for state employees to provide proof of vaccination had been harmful to their individual freedoms and personal privacy. My administration will not require that these interests be sacrificed, as a condition of employment in the executive branch of our government, he announced. All good and common sense approach, one hopes he continues in that vein throughout his tenure.

Some cities are resisting a vaccine passport system that was established last week in Cook County, Illinois. The county is a Democratic Party stronghold and is the largest in the state. Chicago is one of its cities, its population comprises about 40% of the state. But not everyone is on board with the requirement that restaurants, bars, and fitness centers must require any individual 5 years of age and older, to show proof that they are fully-vaccinated against Covid-19 with an approved vaccine in order to enter the establishment. So far leaders from Orland Park, Niles, Morton Grove and Lincolnwood have chosen to not enforce the vaccine mandate in their towns, Tinley Park will also refuse to enforce the passport system.

The Covid Passport regime introduced in early November 2021 is no longer in force in the Faroe Islands, health authorities have announced. Upon the request of the Faroese Government, the Epidemics Commission reviewed the guidelines for the Covid Passport on January 10th, arriving at the conclusion that there is currently no viable reason for keeping the restrictive arrangement in place. I have always said that I would not recommend the use of the Covid Passport any longer than necessary, Prime Minister Bárður á Steig Nielsen was quoted as saying in a statement released on Monday. I am therefore pleased that we have dropped it, he added.

Thousands of Austrians took to the streets of Vienna to protest against an upcoming parliamentary vote to make Covid-19 vaccines mandatory, with demonstrators calling for the government to be replaced. And that sounds great but, what happens next? and you get silence and therein lies the problem Because if we not them don't replace it with something better, the song and dance always remains the same.

I said at some point late last year there would be a shift in how the statistics are counted, otherwise too many would notice deaths and cases rising, and begin to blame or question the jabs, well here we go. Covid was not the underlying cause of death in nearly a quarter of virus-related fatalities last week, official figures suggest. A quarter of all Covid 'deaths' are now patients who died with the virus not from it, official data shows. oops

How to start of with the word pfizer and turn it into something that may become indicative. Take the F and put it after the z, switching the I and Z around, take the capital P and remove the straight part of the letter P and remove the curled part, turn upside down and placed it after the straight part of the p and before the Z. Pfizer to luzifer.

Data published on Friday by the UK's Scientific Advisory Group for Emergencies has warned, the percentage of children aged under one in hospital with Covid has risen from 30% to 42% following the outbreak of the Omicron strain. No, not following the outbreak of Omicron, but the policy of jabbing pregnant woman is why.

A three-year-old girl in Argentina died of a heart attack, the day after receiving a Covid vaccine that was required for her to enter kindergarten. Miryam Suárez said the vaccine and government mandate killed her daughter Ámbar, who had been healthy and full of life. I pre-enrolled her in school so that next year she would enter kindergarten, because now they force you when it comes to the vaccine, Suárez said. She was healthy, fine, not ill and didn't have Covid. Suárez took her daughter to get vaccinated on December 16, Ámbar received the Chinese Sinopharm vaccine, which Argentina approved for children between the ages of three and 11 in October. Just one day later she passed away after collapsing while playing with her friends. Numerous deaths and serious injuries, including heart inflammation and other cardiac issues, have been reported in children soon after a COVID jab. VAERS, the vaccine injury tracking system of the U.S. government, has reported dozens of cases of children dying within days of vaccination. Those who promoted and pushed for vaccinations to be administered to children, should all face manslaughter charges in my opinion.

Here's some news now at Fairview clinics and hospitals, if the vaxxed have Covid you can still work while sick. Someone I know works there, they have religious exemption. Your life in their hands, oh dear, the ever so dangerous pandemic and how we are all going to die, unless we wear face diapers, now you can be treated in hospital by a person infected by it. Does that make any sense? program then isn't it.

T-cells from common cold corona viruses can provide protection against Covid-19, an Imperial College London study has found. The study, which began in September 2020, looked at levels of cross-reactive T-cells generated by previous common colds in 52 household contacts of positive COVID-19 cases shortly after exposure, to see if they went on to develop infection. It found that the 26 who did not develop infection had significantly higher levels of those T-cells than people who did get infected. Imperial did not say how long protection from the T-cells would last. It's not clear why a study which began in September 2020 during a public health emergency has taken 16 months to report, particularly when vaccines were brought to market in 10 months.

The latest weekly report by Public Health Scotland published on November 24th, titled the COVID-19 Statistical Report is also incredibly horrifying. The report contains data on the number of Covid-19 cases and hospitalizations from October 23rd 2021 to November 19th 2021, and the number of Covid-19 deaths from 16th October 2021 to 12th November 2021. The report shows 89% of the Covid-19 deaths are among the fully vaccinated, and that the vaccinated are up to 5 times as likely to die if infected with Covid-19 than the unvaccinated. This information that I have found was first published in ThinkAdvisor, which according to their website: ThinkAdvisor provides financial advisors, registered investment advisors and wealth managers with comprehensive coverage of the products, services and information they need to guide their clients in making critical wealth, health and life decisions. The report looked at the mortality rates for people aged 24-55, and compared September 2021 to September 2019 before the pandemic hit. The numbers showed a whopping 57% increase in mortality. Here is what the report said: In the first two weeks ending in September, the number of deaths of U.S. residents in the 25-44 age group spiked to 8,604. The number of deaths of people in that age group was 22% higher than it was during the comparable period, and 57% higher than it was during the comparable period in 2019, before the COVID-19 pandemic began. The report also showed numbers for the entire first half of 2021 compared to the first half of 2019. Those numbers rose by a large margin as well: In the first half of 2021, which included the January spike, the number of deaths of people in the 25-44 age group was 38% higher than in the first half of 2019. The report went further and showed serious increases in numerous states. For example, Idaho mortality rate increased 208% and Texas increased 140%, during the first 2 weeks of September for the 25-44 age group compared to that same period in 2019. Other states mentioned were Florida with an increase of 130.6%, Montana with an increase of 130.8% and Arizona with an increase of 134%. Unfortunately, not all states are reporting, likely all the Democrat states. In fact, some still have not reported numbers for any period during 2020 or 2021 making it extremely difficult to get accurate data. While the CDC itself has provided incredibly damning data, life insurance companies have also started to share their own internal reports. According to Scott Davison, The CEO of Indianapolis-based insurance company OneAmerica, said the death rate is up a stunning 40% from pre-pandemic levels among working-age people. We are seeing, right now, the highest death rates we have seen in the history of this business, not just at OneAmerica, Davison said during an online news conference this week. The data is consistent across every player in that business. OneAmerica is a $100 billion insurance company that has had its headquarters in Indianapolis since 1877. The company has approximately 2,400 employees and sells life insurance, including group life insurance to employers in the state. Davison said the increase in deaths represents huge, huge numbers, and that it's not elderly people who are dying, but primarily working-age people 18 to 64, who are the employees of companies that have group life insurance plans through OneAmerica. Also, published by India Fortune 4 days ago, on December 30th, 2021, insurance companies are seeing a 3.5X increase in claims and are likely to post a 200-300% increase in claims this year, hurting the profitability of most insurers. According to the article: While Covid-19 claims have decreased, we have seen an increase in non-Covid-19 deaths, which have risen even more than past levels due to co-morbidities being triggered by Covid-19, says Vighnesh Shahane, MD & CEO, Ageas Federal Life Insurance. Those greed based harvesters need to be closed down by and large, greedy self serving parasites who readily collected your money, but cry foul or deaf when having to pay out, just like the banks, same people, same program is why. The focus of that Insurance report was not on the deaths of people, but would hurt their precious profits, that in a nutshell it what is wrong in society.

You will see a raft of countries and States drop that, then the masks, then the mandates and then Covid altogether. They cannot sustain the level of resources they are using to stem the tide of truth against them, or the following plethora of lawsuits that will follow this year. In my opinion all lawsuits for adults should be banned, why? because the adults made their own free will choices is why. You shouldn't and can't receive compensation for being stupid. But, the Government lied, but you still believed it! the Government have always lied it is what they do, but too many people are too damn lazy and stupid to see that, in my opinion. Is that harsh? no it is not, these are the very people who pushed us out of society, family and friend circles and enforced the lockdowns on us all remember. It was these same stupid people that instituted martial law on us in April 2020, you can blame the Government, but if everyone said no, it is just a cold, the Government cannot do a thing to stop us. The only lawsuits should be against people whose children have been harmed, no excessive payouts, because the children suffered due to their own parents stupidity. No fining the Pharma companies either, that never works, does anyone ever see any decent payouts of those mass lawsuits? other than the shekel based lawyer people? NO! Here is the solution for all pharma companies. An independent assessment done by some of the doctors who went against the medical system at the beginning of this scam, plus some common sense people with some pharma background. A list of all drugs and side effects, and if any is found to have too many side effects or excessive side effects, those drugs to be automatically banned, no appeals. All drugs found safe or safe enough, to have a maximum profit margin of 10% across the board. This then will substantially reduce the costs to the public, and will lower Insurance premiums, and so many people will get immediate and ongoing pay outs directly from that. All pharma records to be made public, all shareholders to be made public, no exceptions. All research drugs to be assessed to be of benefit for the people. All bio warfare drugs, poisons or vaccines to be destroyed. Break all the large pharma companies up and split into many public companies with oversight, and all sell the same products at set costs. None of this patent nonsense that benefit only the wealthy, all research and selling of items to be shared. This then cuts down on advertising, which reduces costs to the consumer, costs to the Insurance, alleviates doctor corruption and backhanded payments, and the over head costs to the company as well.

INTERESTING PIECES: Scientists have now found a 1000 light year across local bubble, now I wonder what that could possibly be? I mused sarcastically.

The think tanks and media got their distraction story in tennis, and the number one player Djokovic who is unvaxxed and anti vaccine, all of it designed to make their point and sway public opinion and continue to divide the public via their opinions. Eventually Djokovic was deported, and so the think tanks of zero intelligence now are convinced their staged event worked. But, tennis is an elitist, toff based sport anyway largely only played in elitist fee charging public schools and kept away from the general schools, as one would rather not have to mix with the riff raff of society. That is their general attitude of that field. The tennis audiences are largely similar, money based peoples domain, and their crowds resemble the peanut gallery in the Hunger Games movie, filled with gawdy coiffures, guffawing, little finger protrusions and a pompous overview of how they are somehow better than the rest, but it is all an illusion game. So the umpire or judge sits on his high chair residing over his court passing judgement like a lower version of an AI sky god. They have served the public with their judgment of how things will play out, and they think it is game, SET and match. It is time to rally back and deliver the ultimate to these clowns, and let them know who is the decision maker. The simple solution is, boycott the Australian open, don't attend the games and don't watch it on the advertisement fest tv either. If no one watches it and we get low viewing tv figures and empty stadiums, then it is they who will lose to love, and we the people have set a match to their game and manipulation tactics.

There are claims now in certain quarters that the Japanese ruling class based in Kyoto, claims it originated in ancient Mesopotamia and Egypt. Why is that no longer a surprise, given the tactics of Japan in WW2? Killing 20-50M Chinese in the most brutal of ways, not to mention their awful treatment of the prisoners of war. As an example of how ancient this enemy is, the ancient Assyrian king Ashurnasirpal II who ruled from 883 to 859 BC wrote, I built a pillar over against the city gate and I flayed all the chiefs, who had revolted and I covered the pillar with their skins. Eerily familiar to some reports out of the SS camps is it not? He burned, blinded, and beheaded rebels, set women ablaze and condemned opposing soldiers to die of dehydration in the desert. All too familiar in terms of utter brutality, because it's the same program ran by varying entities is why.

Earth is in the midst of a sixth mass extinction event, this time caused by human hands, a new study suggests. Earth has had five mass extinction events, caused by natural phenomena, whether that be natural climate shifts or asteroid impacts. This sixth one, however, was anything but natural, according to a study published in the peer-reviewed academic journal Biological Reviews. If only those experts knew the real story, they would not write such loop based rubbish. This is not even a new phenomenon. Rather, it has been going on since at least 1500 CE. Earth was once home to two million known species. According to the study, however, since 1500, as many as 7.5%-13% of these species may have been lost, that numbers anywhere from 150,000 to 260,000 different species. Coinciding with the rise of the bloodlines families, and also the plague around that time, did they consider that? of course not. Some deny this is happening, or rather they deny that decline in many species or outright extinction of them is a sign of a mass extinction event. However, the study, led by the University of Hawaii's Robert Cowie, argues that this is the result of bias. The bias Mr. Cowie is to deflect it all onto the people based on a greed based program, who incidentally are the descendants of the very people who has done more environmental damage, than all the people combined. The likes of Mr. Cowie has to think more deeply to cover topics of this ilk, instead of wheeling out pre-prepared scripts.

We mentioned the mouse utopia in a piece recently and this goes a bit deeper as to what unfolded. This is an area illuminated by ethnology, the scientific study of animal behavior. One of the more famous ethnologists in recent decades was John B. Calhoun, best known for his mouse experiments in the 1960s when he worked for the National Institute for Mental Health. Calhoun enclosed four pairs of mice in a 9 x 4.5-foot metal pen complete with water dispensers, tunnels, food bins and nesting boxes. He provided all the food and water they needed and ensured that no predator could gain access, in essence a mouse utopia, or was it? Calhoun's intent was to observe the effects on the mice of population density, but the experiment produced results that went beyond that. I shall largely speak of mice, but my thoughts are on man, he would later write in a comprehensive report. At first, the mice did well, their numbers doubled every 55 days. But after 600 days, with enough space to accommodate as many as another 1,600 rodents, the population peaked at 2,200 and began to decline precipitously, straight down to the extinction of the entire colony, in spite of their material needs being met with no effort required on the part of any mouse. The turning point in this mouse utopia, Calhoun observed, occurred on Day 315 which equals 9, when the first signs appeared of a breakdown in social norms and structure. Aberrations included the following: females abandoning their young; males no longer defending their territory; and both sexes becoming more violent and aggressive. Deviant behavior, sexual and social, mounted with each passing day. The last thousand mice to be born tended to avoid stressful activity, and focused their attention increasingly on themselves. Does that sound familiar? Jan Kubań, from Warsaw and a Polish biocybernetician, considers Calhoun's experiment one of the most important in human history. He created The Physics of Life website where he elaborates on the meaning and significance of the ethologist's work, about the final stages of the mouse utopia. Kubań writes, other young mice growing into adulthood exhibited an even different type of behavior. Dr. Calhoun called these individuals the beautiful ones, their time was devoted solely to grooming, eating and sleeping. They never involved themselves with others, engaged in sex, nor would they fight. All appeared outwardly as a beautiful exhibit of the species with keen, alert eyes and a healthy, well-kept body. These mice, however, could not cope with unusual stimuli, though they looked inquisitive, they were in fact, very stupid. Because of the externally provided abundance of water and food, combined with zero threats from any predators, the mice never had to acquire resources on their own. The young mice never observed such actions and so never learned them, the life skills necessary for survival faded away. As Kubań notes, Utopia when one has everything, at any moment, for no expenditure, prompts declines in responsibility, effectiveness and awareness of social dependence and finally, as Dr. Calhoun's study showed, leads to self-extinction. Just like the EL-ites. The behavioral sink of self-destructive conduct in Calhoun's experiment, which he replicated on numerous subsequent occasions, has since been mostly interpreted as resulting from crowded conditions. Demographers warn that humans might succumb to similar aberrations if world population should ever exceed some imaginary, optimal maximum. Others like Kubań point out that the mice utopia fell apart well before the mouse enclosure was full, even at the peak of the population, some 20 percent of nesting beds were unoccupied. Kubań was correct in suggesting that a more likely culprit in the mice demise was this: the lack of a healthy challenge. Take away the motivation to overcome obstacles notably, the challenge of providing for oneself and family, and you deprive individuals of an important stimulus that would otherwise encourage learning what works and what doesn't, and possibly even pride in accomplishment. Maybe, just maybe, personal growth in each mouse was inhibited by the welfare-state conditions in which they lived. Calhoun himself suggested a parallel to humanity: Herein is the paradox of a life without work or conflict. When all sense of necessity is stripped from the life of an individual, life ceases to have purpose, the individual dies in spirit. By relieving individuals of challenges, which then deprives them of purpose, the welfare state is an utterly unnatural and anti-social contrivance. In the mouse experiment, the individuals ultimately lost interest in the things that perpetuate the species, they self-isolated, over-indulged themselves, or turned to violence. Does that ring a bell? Read

Charles Murray's 1984 book, Losing Ground, or George Gilder's earlier work, Wealth and Poverty, and I guarantee that you will hear that bell. Or, if nothing else, ponder these prophetic words from one of the otherwise short-sighted, opportunistic architects of the American welfare state, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, in 1935: The lessons of history, confirmed by the evidence immediately before me, show conclusively that continued dependence upon relief, induces a spiritual and moral disintegration fundamentally destructive to the national fiber. To dole out relief in this way is to administer a narcotic, a subtle destroyer of the human spirit. I can think of one big difference between Calhoun's mouse utopia and the human welfare state, and it does not weigh in humanity's favor. For the mice, everything truly was free, no mouse was taxed so another mouse could benefit. In the human welfare state, however, one human's benefit is a cost to another or to many, a fact that rarely acts as an incentive for work, savings, investment, or other positive behaviors. That suggests that a human welfare state with its seductive subsidies for some and punishing taxes for others delivers a double blow not present in mouse welfarism. To what extent do the mouse utopia lessons apply to we humans? Perhaps the words from the economist Thomas Sowell will make people think? The welfare state shields people from the consequences of their own mistakes, allowing irresponsibility to continue and to flourish among ever wider circles of people. We should not need mice or other animals to teach us that, but perhaps they can.

Organized charity itself is the symptom of a malignant social disease Margaret Sanger said in 1922. Other her acceptance of mass charity from the Rockefeller Foundation is apparently lost on her. Signs in national and state parks all over America warn visitors, Please Don't Feed the Animals. Some of those government-owned parks provide further explanation, such as the animals may bite or it makes them dependent. The National Park Service's website for Sleeping Bear Dunes in Michigan advises. It transforms wild and healthy animals into habitual beggars, studies have shown that panhandling animals have a shorter lifespan. What would happen if animals in the wild could count on human sources for their diet, and never have to hunt or scrounge? What if, in other words, we humans imposed a generous welfare state on our furry friends? Would the resulting experience offer any lessons for humans who might be subjected to similar conditions? Not having to work for food and shelter sounds appealing and compassionate, doesn't it? But, at what cost to our own development? Would people suddenly use their free time for personal development? or pursue materialistic exploits? play computer games or be on social media acting like children all day? Our personal pets live in a sort of welfare state, moreover, for the most part, they seem to like it. Our pets get free food, homes health care, but that makes us their master, does it not? We in return get loving affection back, unless you own a spy, so it seems like a win-win, so maybe a welfare state can work after all. Right? Let us avoid hasty conclusions. Perhaps the human/pet welfare state works because one of the parties has a brain the size of a golf ball or a pomegranate. That is why the Universal Basic Income would be a disaster, our lives and our development is built around work, so are own interactions, and often we find our love partners there as well, certainly a friends circle by and large. Take that away, and to me at least, our lives will resemble a permanent lockdown for far too many of our society. Maybe the lockdown was a test for that very occurrence?

We covered this in our Expose series but there are some extra details that warrants a deeper look at it. A new report from DARPA shows that the U.S. government has lied to the American people about everything related to COVID. Project Veritas released a trove of documents today that originated from DARPA, which is the secret research & development wing of the U.S. military. The military documents directly contradict Dr. Fauci's testimony under oath to Congress, regarding gain of function bioweapons research and reveal much more. The documents outline how Peter Daszak's EcoHealth Alliance approached DARPA in March 2018, with a request for funding gain of function bio-weapons research using bat corona viruses. The proposal was ultimately rejected by DARPA over safety concerns, though DARPA did not voluntarily share these documents with the American public, while Daszak and Fauci misrepresented their research work on a daily basis in the national media for two years. DARPA interested in safety concerns, yeah that is likely isn't it? not! Their concerns is they never wanted the public to find out what heinous experiments and weapons they were developing, is the more common sense answer. In a report for the Department of Defense's Inspector General written by DARPA fellow and Marine Corps Major Joseph Murphy. The first sentences of Murphy's report state: SARS-CoV-2 is an American-created recombinant bat vaccine, or its precursor virus. It was created by an EcoHealth Alliance program at the Wuhan Lab of Virology. oops. This confirms, that not only Dr. Fauci, but the U.S. intelligence services and the U.S. corporate media, have been deliberately lying to the American public for two years about everything related to Covid. Major Murphy seems to confirm this nightmare scenario in a curious sentence at the end of his report: The massive Manhattan Project level of information suppression executed by the government and the Trusted News Initiative indicates that, it would be covered-up if something bad happened. Major Murphy seems to be asserting that the U.S. government has collaborated with the vast majority of corporate media outlets, to deliberately and knowingly mislead the American people about the Covid pandemic. James O'Keefe asked DARPA the following question: Who at DARPA made the decision to bury the original report? They could have raised red flags to the Pentagon, the White House, or Congress, which may have prevented this entire pandemic that has led to the deaths of 5.4 million people worldwide, and caused much pain and suffering to many millions more. Who thinks that an honest answer to that question will ever be revealed? I suspect it will be answered in a clever manipulated way to be used in terms of faction fighting tactics. Many will be thrown under the bus for this, but will leave the dominant faction with more control of a dwindling Empire. O'Keefe is not the only one who has asked DARPA some troubling questions recently. Three months ago, DARPA began directly responding to some tweets of Sara Westall, who in my opinion is another agency stooge working for a faction, otherwise why would DARPA respond? regarding their role in Moderna's vaccine. The responses came from DARPA's official Twitter account. Here's a sample: why did DARPA bail out Moderna in 2013 with a $25M grant, and DARPA invested heavily in clinical development and/or manufacturing to bring nucleic acid vaccines to the American public? DARPA was apparently quite proud of the fact that it provided grant money to Moderna for vaccine development. It did not occur to them that it's an unprecedented conflict of interest, for the U.S. federal government to be coercing Americans into getting an experimental vaccine, when the supposedly private company that creates the experimental vaccine is basically a subsidiary of the federal government. DARPA wanted to assure me that no federal conflict of interest rules had been violated. This seemed preposterous to me, since DARPA was actively investigating why Moderna had obscured its funding provided by DARPA for the new vaccine! In fact, the federal government is most likely the actual owner of Moderna's COVID vaccine. It is not a conflict of interest, because A: we don't have a Government and B: these companies all come under the private contractor scam. The federal conflict of interest rules are found at 18 USC §208. These rules prohibit taking any official action in a matter involving any entity with which there is a financial interest. DARPA, nor any other federal agency, holds a financial interest in the makers of vaccines. Why was DARPA interested in experimental DNA vaccines in the first place? Since when does DARPA get involved in healthcare? Well, it turns out that DARPA is actually interested in an implantable microchip that can change human DNA. DARPA funded implantable biochips and installed it in the Moderna vaccines. Perhaps Sara should take note of our Expose series as we covered those facts in 2020, we also covered this next part then as well. Here's where things get very dark and very interesting she says. In a 2019 article titled: The Government is serious about creating mind-controlled weapons, the author Edd Gent explains that DARPA wants to genetically tweak human beings. How is that possible? The article explains that DARPA plans to use viruses modified to deliver genetic material into cells, called viral vectors to insert DNA into specific neurons that will make them produce two kinds of proteins. They want to use viruses that have been modified to deliver genetic material into your cells to change your DNA. How would that work? The article explains: The first type of protein absorbs light when a neuron is firing, which makes it possible to detect neural activity. An external headset would send out a beam of infrared light that can pass through the skull and into the brain. Detectors attached to the headset would then measure the tiny signal, that is reflected from the brain tissue to create an image of the brain. Because of the protein, the targeted areas will appear darker which is absorbing light when neurons are firing, generating a read of brain activity that can be used to work out what the person is seeing, hearing or trying to do. The second protein tethers to magnetic nanoparticles, so the neurons can be magnetically stimulated to fire when the headset generates a magnetic field. This could be used to stimulate neurons so as to induce an image or sound in the patient's mind. As a proof of concept, the group plans to use the system to transmit images from the visual cortex of one person to that of another. What is being described here is, the nanoparticles in the brain, how is that achieved? they already have with the long swabs for testing, they said. Did anyone outside of our show ask why the swabs were so long? or why they didn't test in the mouth? no, and therein lies the problem. A classic human problem of reacting after the event, instead of thinking before or at the initial outset, that has to change in the future. The words that should stick out for you are: magnetic nanoparticles, that's usually another name for graphene oxide. There are numerous reports that graphene oxide is an undisclosed ingredient showing up in the experimental vaccines. If that's true, then the question must be asked, why is such a thing being distributed secretly into the population without their consent, using the experimental vaccines? But, they did consent to it, they never inquired what was in it, so consent was given. Let's be clear what we do know now: American taxpayers actually paid the Chinese Communist Party to create Covid-19. Fauci and Peter Daszak and Dr. Ralph Baric did everything they could to create this bio-weapon. When things went bad, the U.S. government actively suppressed the truth to the American people about its origins. Then the U.S. government actively suppressed cheap cures like Ivermectin and HCQ in order to push experimental vaccines being developed by DARPA, how many people died because of that decision? The American corporate media also actively collaborated with the U.S. federal government to suppress the truth about Covid, including by branding honest journalists as conspiracy theorists who accurately reported the truth. These are the broad outlines of a criminal conspiracy the likes of which we have never seen before. I disagree this has been going on for years and the public ignored it, including the likes of Westall, who like the Dark Journalist, Justin Sather, Stew Peters all appeared out of nowhere and gain a large following. When people like Randy Maugans, OYM and many others have been doing it for many years with minimal following, now why is that? The vaccine mandates are a direct assault on the concept of informed consent, and violate the most basic tenets of the Nuremberg Code. The United States government has been caught conducting the largest unauthorized medical experiment in the history of mankind. It's not just that the mRNA vaccines are leaky and don't work well, it's that they produce the very spike protein which was considered too toxic for research purposes in the first place. Major Murphy's report states this problem explicitly: Decisions with regards to the vaccines do not appear to be informed by analysis of documents. The main points being that, the DoD rejected the EcoHealth program proposal because vaccines would be ineffective, and because the spike proteins being inserted into the variants were deemed too dangerous for gain of function; and that the DoD now mandates vaccines that copy the spike protein previously deemed too dangerous. We've already injected that spike protein into 206 million people in the United States.

The Covid replacement for the parrot based news and events is now underway, it will switch to Russia, Ukraine and ATON/NATO. The child level war drums are banging again, all to raise more shekels. Russia, Ukraine and America are all a mess, because of the same clowns mentioned in the opening piece. Time for the Americans to state unequivocally - no more war, no more war, no more war.

The system now is beginning to panic in America as there is not enough staff to run business it seems these days. Although many have used it to implement voice modulated customer services, that take you round in a loop for 10 mins, before you have another 10 minute minimum wait if you actually get an option to speak to customer service. Due to Covid we are experiencing busy time, no your not stop lying. You have laid too many off to save costs and now finding no one wants your slave jobs anymore. But one profession in particular I warned would struggle in the summer of 2020, the shortages in medical staff. Many not in work because they took the jobs, many not in work because they refused the job, so much so now is, that an advert for the health service this week has revealed the staggering shortfall in jobs in the medical field. The advert said there is one million medical jobs available, one million jobs in one sector unfilled. One suspects at this point they may never fulfill those jobs again, having set them up to be a national hero, to then if you don't take our jobs we will fire you without pay or recompense. Shameful to all companies who have enforced that, a distinct lack of humanity. Please spare it was because the Government forced you, they never, they only mandated it, you the company forced people to quit or lose their jobs. Blaming the Government is a cop out. The point is now, many people are and have quit their jobs and re-assessing their life and lifestyle, that is what happens when you break the habit cycle, people find a new habit. And with 4.2 to 4.5M quitting jobs every month, I suspect it will be a long time before they ever return to service jobs, if ever. This will have benefits, if people cut back on their largely excessive lifestyles, subscriptions or everything and expensive phones every two years, and they learn to cut their clothe and the waste out of their lives. Possibly could lead to many leaving the keeping up with the Jones's program, a mass reduction in credit card use, which costs the clowns shekels. But this one million shortfall of jobs will be hard to replace, but what will unfold later this year and will take decades to replace is, trust in all medical facilities, medical staff and drugstore. It may turn into a pariah type of profession, whereby everyone looks down on it. This will impact Insurance as well, why bother paying Insurance to go into a building whereby many Doctors and Nurses were trying to jab you at all cost, with full immunity?

ENDING PIECE: A young teacher was murdered in Ireland aged just 23, and another statistic of violence that has perpetuated in society over our lifetime. Sex or violence crimes against females is a sign of a very weak male, and it is something that needs to be addressed. We can cite several of the programs ran against males, like Feminism, Protocols of Zion and others, but it should not negate our own personal responsibility.

We the people allowed those programs to work, due to our own lack of inner strength and no personal or collective accountability. The male aspect has been reduced to in two columns, the weak and easily controlled aspect and the aggressive, violent and disruptive family person. Whilst there is the third aspect, the more balance male, the other two categories dominate the male scene. And then we have the youth male, far too many in my home town and in the UK and Ireland, have an ugly feral type nature to them. Self serving, no responsibility or accountability for their own actions, charity, compassion and common decency fails to exist in their world. The tradition is to blame the parents, and yes they have to take some responsibility, but it is the program that creates it all, that continues to fail to be addressed. The think tanks of a Jewish flavor, whether Jewish or not, continues to create divisive programs, aided and abetted by news channels and related avenues, and what is left is, a divided and broken culture with a long road back to anything resembling a decent civilization. We can individually blame the males and or the females, but finger pointing in either direction has never solved the problem. The problem is deep seated, a distinct lack of morals, manner and basic behavioral traits has been lost over the past two generations. Obsessed by their own narcissistic traits, obsessed by fake image, obsessed by money and devoid of basic decency standards. We can blame the youth, but we older generations were no better, and at the end of the day, it was our generation that produced these children out of largely low vibrational marriages and unions. The majority on this world thinks they know love, but the majority reside in a low vibrational vacuum, that the love frequency cannot and does not reside. The think tank programs have blurred what is love, what does having sex mean, can the two merge into one? or are they both separate identity categories, that can merge into one? Have we really defined it? if a man wants to have sex with every female, and vice versa, does that mean he or she loves them all in a romantic way? the answer is no. But some females are conditioned into thinking the two go together, like some seedy new age romance model, but look around you, has that worked? The answer is a definitive no, look around your own circles, how many couples have you met that fit the average romance novel? It is romantic idealized rubbish that does not fit into real life situations. But sex also plays into the power game between males and females, and it ultimately leads to frustrated people, some of which then go to the very base level of human depravity, and decide to have sex with unwilling people. We can blame pornography on that demise, but forget the porn for a second, and think what is the overwhelming aspect about porn that people miss? Voyeurism, people viewing what other people are doing, and it mirrors life does it not? People gossiping and interfering in other peoples lives, with some fake higher moral stance that, that because other peoples lives are a car crash, that in some way their life isn't, what a voyeuristic delusion that is. It's a vicious hamster wheel cycle, and there are many other hamster wheels society in general has jumped upon, the key is, how do we get people to jump off their own personal wheels? It all starts with a charter school with a curriculum based on all children learning and progressing. All children supporting each other, not tearing each other apart that leaves many with inner traumas that effects their adult life. You teach children morals, manners, anger management through meditation practices, table manners, values all in a non competitive environment. It is not rocket science, and get children ready before delving into the supposed adult world, because the current adult world looks like a poorly ran kindergarten with no teachers or guides, filled with adult children told to do as they please, with no consideration for anyone else. Which leads us into this piece. Thinking about the concept of power and force within the context of the current global crisis leads us toward some profound conclusions. For one, agendas that center around inequality, control, profit and material gain are always driven by force. Force is a tool used by those who are weak and lack power. When your motives go against the good of humanity, when your intentions fail to support life itself, your only option is to use force. Force includes all manner of fear-mongering, manipulation, coercion and violence. Force may work up to a point but as we discovered, it requires a constant input of energy and therefore, results are obtained at a cost. Propaganda campaigns require vast amounts of money, coordination and tireless censorship. Vaccine mandates require bribes, threats, and the covering up of adverse events. This energy input is immense and, most importantly, unsustainable. As force creates friction, it must constantly be fed with more and more energy. But as the force becomes stronger, so does the friction. Force, due its polarizing nature, increases entropy. As entropy rises, the available energy decreases, until, eventually, momentum ceases and the entire thing grinds to a halt. While the source of power is self-evident, indestructible and inarguable, force is subject to 'proof' and requires constant justification. While true power emanates from consciousness itself, force is driven by the ego. Those who use force to impose their will on humanity always succumb to power. As history has shown, all totalitarian regimes eventually come crashing down, not on account of some divine intervention, but because each of us is born with inalienable rights that are intrinsic to human creation. Therefore, it is only a matter of time before the transhumanist force implodes. However, the time it takes for that to happen is dependent on our ability to reduce disorder and increase inner power. A lower entropy consciousness means, more energy available to do work which results in more inner power, freedom, happiness and love. As our power collectively grows, we create an immovable wall able to repel any and all negative influences and nefarious threats. On the other hand, the ego-mind is constantly asking unanswerable questions and worrying about unlikely futures. As our minds become cluttered with fear-laden media, our power decreases and we find ourselves at the mercy of authorities. Bohm's holographic universe hinted at the true nature of our reality, and Krishnamurti showed us how to realise it. By turning our attention away from the content of thought, and focusing on the process of thinking itself, we can bring order to the mind and begin to discover something completely new. In this way, we extricate ourselves from a state of fear and confusion, and move towards freedom and certitude. The result of this is an increase in inner power. Force is by definition limited in what it can accomplish, and therefore it is not a matter of if the transhumanists will fail, but when. All people alive on this planet have failed on some level or other, the key is recognizing your own role in it, not others roles, and then working to correct it. If every person on this planet does that, the world changes due to the power and force of just one person, you. To the sleepers, you won't see life for what it is, through a rose tinted lens. For the newly awakened, you won't see life for what it is, through a political lens or you won't see it for what it is, until you stop looking through the lens of what you expect it to be. To the advanced people, you will see it for what it is, as you have unlearned the lies, stepped away from their world and began to manifest what we all wish to see. Things are developing behind the scenes as many minor and major projects are ongoing and being formulated. Most of them are not written down yet but are in my head and will be revealed when safe to do so. We must put all our egos aside, self importance and forge alliances wherever possible, the major projects will stimulate that, and be prepared in each gathering for expansion of people, ideas and plans. We will replace their PCR, pathetic clowns ruling, with our PCR, prosperity, courage and resistance. We will replace their RNA, ridiculous nonsensical actions, with renaissance, new actions. We will replace their order from chaos and PPE's with our own PPE, peace, progression and empathy.
