Here is a list compiled that were all connected to the vaccine scam. CDC Director and Deputy Director Rochelle Walensky and Anne Schuchat. CDC Director Washington, Jeff Reczek, CDC Chief of Staff, Sherri Berger. CDC Chief Medical Officer, Mitchell Wolfe, Covid Czar, Jeff Zients. Pfizer CEO, Albert Bourla, Pfizer Chief Scientist, Mikael Dolsten. Astra Zeneca CEO, Pascal Soriot, Moderna Chief Scientist, Tal Zaks. Johnson & Johnson CEO, Alex Gorsey, Senior Pandemic Advisor, Andy Slavitt. Human & Health Services, Xavier Becerra, Asst. Secretary for Health, Rachel Levine. Small Business Association, Isabel Guzman. Vanguard CEO owner of Fox, CNN & J&J, Mortimer J Buckley. BlackRock CEO owner of Fox, CNN & J&J, Larry Fink. BlackRock President owner of Fox, CNN & J&J, Robert Kapito. Deputy Sec. of State, Wendy Sherman, White House Chief of Staff, Robert Klain. Attorney General, Merrick Garland, Secretary of State, Anthony Blinken. Secretary of Treasury, Janet Yellen, Secretary of Homeland Security, Alejandro Mayorkas. Former Director of CIA, David Cohen. Deputy National Security Advisor for Cyber and emerging Technology, Anne Neuberger. Director of National Intelligence, former CIA and human torturer Avril Haines. All are heavily involved in the plandemic, in the world of finance, government, media, medical, Human Services and the unintelligence Agencies. People think it is too large to pull off a conspiracy of this size, they are wrong thinking that. Because the evidence since Project Lockstep in 2010, Event 201 in October 2018, and the events of the past two years have proven it to be the case. It is impossible to pull off people will cry, not with coercion, blackmail hello Avril Haines, and the complied silence of others, including Trump and his financial backer the Trustee, all things are possible. What is also possible and our show has proven it in bucketloads, not least with FHSTOS series, is that those who call themselves Jews are a big part of it. Anti-Semitic some will cry, fuck off, wake up and smell the death invasion is my reply. Why? Because all the above names are labeled as Jews. What a coincidence that is, not! Throw in the fact that Jennifer C. Daskal was announced as a member of the Disinformation Governance Board for the United States Department of Homeland Security. Who previously worked with George Soros and for an Anti-Semitic watch group, is also Jewish and a massive picture should be emerging for all to see. I have warned of it for years, long before the common cold and flu took center stage, in a giant theater production even Hollywood is incapable of. All because too many people are scared of two words, that renders people mute and blocked at the throat chakra. Two words renders the so called Alternative Media mute and refusing to address it, why? Because they are bought off just as much as the MSM. Not one headline or middle based group in Alt Media will mention the word Jew in bad light, because they are frightened of the two words, Anti-Semitism. Tyranny can only unfold by the compliance of the people, and for good men to say and do nothing. Message to the alien invasion people?

PAST WARNING SECTION: Here is a positive story from Israel, although not pleased to hear of their struggles as well. A new survey of young Israeli adults has found that nearly half of the population in the occupied territories, is not optimistic about the future of the Israeli entity. While more than one-third of people are thinking about immigration to find jobs and improve their lives. The poll was conducted by the Israeli Fenima research center, as part of an investigation to find a solution to reduce social fragmentation within the Israeli society. Why did they need to research it? It is fairly obvious, the entities running their fake country and Government are not interested in the people, only how much they can use them as pawns. The research center described its findings, which were published by the Hebrew-language Israel Hayom newspaper, described them as worrying, and wrote that 33% of Israeli youths are considering immigration from the occupied lands. Also, 44% of them feel there is no future for the regime. Issues such as rising living costs, security situation and social divisions are among other reasons for young Israeli adults to mull over leaving the occupied territories. They were illegally placed in harm's way in those illegally acquired territories for them to claim land, once they got people in there they leave them to rot, as their mission was accomplished. The poll highlighted that 40% of the respondents have cited rising costs for such a potential decision, while 22% of those asked have blamed poor security situation. Social divisions have been described as the main immigration reason for 18% of those surveyed. Many scholars and writers have already pointed to the theory of the collapse from within regarding the future of Israel, considering the three factors of economic crisis, poor security situation and social divisions. There has been intense public anger in recent month in the Israeli-occupied territories over rising costs, after the price of both gasoline and electricity, as well as basic goods, went up. According to the Economist Intelligence Unit's Worldwide Cost of Living index, the coastal city of Tel Aviv is ranked the most expensive city in the world. Tel Aviv rose to the top spot from fifth place last year, beating out Paris and Singapore, which were tied for second place. Its move up the ladder is partly due to the increases in transport and grocery prices. Property prices in Tel Aviv have also risen, particularly in residential areas, although they are not considered part of the index. They like they are doing in America and many parts of Europe, are pricing the people out of whole regions, as A: they don't want them in their more expensive regions, and B: as I warned of back in 2013, they want the Jews as well as the Palestinians out of the whole region. The wall was not to protect the Israelis, but for the NWO caliphate plans. Earlier this year, thousands of Israelis held a mass demonstration in Tel Aviv, to voice their resentment against the soaring cost of living in the city. The protest, organized by Israeli actor Guy Lerer, was staged at Habima Square on February 16. The organizers said the protest was not affiliated with any political camp, and only demanded that authorities deal with the rising prices. The public is starting to cry out and take to the streets and this is only the start, Lerer told Israel's Channel 13 television network from the protest site. During the protest, a stall was set up offering packages of basic foods at a relatively low price, part of a widespread initiative set up by Lerer. The campaign allowed the public to buy the boxes for themselves, or donate to those in need. Glad to see the Jewish people standing up for themselves, like I have said all along those that run that country are not Jews, indeed they may well be not human either. They don't possess a shred of humanity in them, only the desire to harvest, trample, kill and greed their way through life.

Using the term white privilege puts people off campaigning for social justice, a study has found. It took a study to find that out? Really? Its offensive and also a racist statement in their word salad world. The phrase made discussions less constructive, more polarized, and less supporting over racially progressive policies, researchers said. Just how the divisive program agenda makers wanted it. A more inclusive term such as racial inequality was found to be better at creating a sense of shared purpose. The University of Michigan spoke to nearly 1,000 people, 82 per cent of whom were white. They were asked: Should colleges rename buildings that were named after people who actively supported X? For half the group X was replaced with the phrase racial inequality and for the others it was replaced with white privilege. The research in the journal PLOS One, found the number supporting the cause fell by 26 percentage points when the latter was used. The study's lead author Christopher Quarles said: Mentioning white privilege was enough to flip white support for renaming college buildings, from primarily supportive to primarily opposing. The term first appeared in academia in the 1980s, just before the next stage of division called political correctness, another word salad composition designed to stifle discourse and create discord. The term became more widely used over the past decade amid heightened racial tensions, the study said. It came under the spotlight in the UK last year after a parliamentary report suggested, teaching it in schools was divisive and pitted pupils against each other. For the answer of white privilege, you will find the opening piece enlightening, all are classed visually as white, yet none of them are. And the sooner all colors recognize that fact, the problems we all face can and will be addressed.

Just as I kept warning again, and unless positive talks and actions are taken, this will only increase. The murders of police officers rose by nearly 60% during 2021, amid a wider rise in violent crime across the US, according to FBI Director Christopher Wray. In an interview Mr. Wray said 73 officers were killed in the line of duty last year. Murders of all kinds across the US have risen dramatically since 2019. Mr. Wray said violence against police was a phenomena that doesn't get enough attention. Neither does the police violence against the public Mr. Wray, too busy like your own Department running divisive anti-white agendas is why.

He said it amounted to an officer being killed every five days. Around 1,000 people are killed in the US by police each year, although only a small proportion of cases lead to criminal charges. Therein lies part of the problem, 12 times more are killed by the police than the other way round.

Mr. Wray said that some of the violence against police, is tied to the violent crime problem as a whole.

But, he said, authorities believe that an alarming percentage of the officers killed were targeted, and killed through things like being ambushed or shot while out on patrol.

Wearing the badge shouldn't make you a target, he added. I agree, but shooting people dead over an out of date tag is not right either. Mr. Wray did not disclose how many of the 73 officers were targeted in such a manner.

In January, however, the Fraternal Order of Police said that it had recorded 103 ambush-style attacks on officers in 2021, resulting in 130 officers shot and 30 killed. The Fraternal Order is part of the problem within the police, protect the brotherhood at all costs, which involves lies and cover ups. In 2020, the FBI's own data estimates that murders rose 29% from 2019, the sharpest increase since national-level record keeping began in 1960.

On a per capita basis, 2020's total of 6.5 murders per 100,000 people is lower than a high of 9.8 per 100,000 set in 1991.

A separate analysis of data from 22 cities released by the Council on Criminal Justice in January found that murders rose 5% in 2021, and have gone up 44% since 2019.

Certainly the pandemic didn't help, Mr Wray said of the spike in murders. Another ouroboros program the jackasses didn't think of the consequences of.

We're seeing more and more juveniles committing violent crime, and that's certainly an issue. We're seeing a certain amount of interstate gun trafficking. We seeing an alarming frequency of some of the worst of the worst getting back out on the streets. Blame the Government and the Agencies for releasing thousands of prisoners, who should never have been released.

While the number of people killed by officers is harder to track, a running tally from the Washington Post estimates that about 1,000 people have been shot dead by police in each of the last seven years.

As of 1 April, FOP data shows that 17 officers were shot and killed so far in 2022.

The cops need to re-evaluate how they police, stop acting like goose stepping authority figures, earn the public's trust again and stopping being the protectors of the very system that has not only trampled all over the public, but the cops as well. Defund the police also played into this as well, and the police authority should have sued the media organizations for promoting it. Also ask, why isn't the so called Freemasonic brotherhood protecting them? The answer is they won't, cops like the Israeli people are expendable to them.

NEWS: The U.S. economy unexpectedly contracted 1.4 percent in the first quarter, according to federal data. A recession is defined as two consecutive quarters of contraction. Faced with soaring prices and a hot job market with record numbers of job openings. The Fed is betting that a steady series of hikes will slash inflation, cool the economy and get the coronavirus recovery on more sustainable footing, at a time when much uncertainty looms in the global economy. Russia's invasion of Ukraine has driven up energy prices, and covid-19 shutdowns in China have triggered a new wave of supply chain snarls, both threatening to make the Fed's job much harder. Supply chains were blocked before Covid, remember the ton of ships docked off the East and West coasts? Domestic markets have also thrown a wrench in the plans. April was the worst month for the S&P 500 since March 2020 and capped its worst start to the calendar year since World War II. Whatever more hawkish moves the Fed had contemplated for today, the stock market rout the last week may have led them to a more measured, gradual pace of rate hikes, said Chris Rupkey a chief economist. The trick is to tighten financial conditions, but not be too aggressive with too many rate hikes, that precipitate a disorderly market meltdown that destroys business and consumer confidence. The consumer has no confidence in anything, after jackass marketeers destroyed the economy along with the multi jabbers.

Pleasingly as people need to move away from that cult, Mormonism, their figures are starting to go down in nearly half of the states. While the church enjoyed small gains in membership growth the past two years, globally up 0.8% and nationally up 0.6%, 21 states plus the District of Columbia saw their numbers decrease during that time frame. California down 2.84%, North Dakota down 2.28% and Washington down 2.03% were the biggest percentage losers in the past two years. While New Jersey down 0.03%, Louisiana down 0.13% and Nebraska down 0.17% had the tiniest declines. Utah, home to the faith's headquarters and the most Latter-day Saints of any state, saw its membership grow by 1.66% to 2.1M. California 735K and Idaho 471K had the next most Latter-day Saints. While the District of Columbia (3,136), Rhode Island (4,283) and Vermont (4,655) had the fewest. The more that leave the better for their children and their pockets.

Draconian new legislation which is set to become law in France will all-but compel residents to obtain a vaccination for Covid. Under the legislation, which has been passed by both Houses of Parliament, those who enter a range of venues without a Covid pass, which is issued once a person is fully vaccinated or without a negative Covid test, will face 6 months in prison and a €10,000 fine. Business owners who fail to check the status of patrons will face a 1 year prison sentence and a €45,000 fine. Even though these proposed new laws are a direct contradiction to democratic freedoms, including personal freedom, personal choice and personal privacy. Peoples understanding of democratic needs to be re-adjusted to me. France is a democratic nation, indeed democrat and Nazi policies go hand in hand it seems. The rules go further than just bars. President Emmanuel Macron announced earlier this week, that those unable to prove they're vaccinated or Covid-negative at their own cost, will be banned from using public transport, entering a cinema, shopping mall, cafe, restaurant and other venues from 1 August 2022. Just like Nazi Zionist Germany did in the 1940's, allegedly to Jews. They're the toughest move yet by a Western democratic nation to force vaccination compliance. The French Government had to withdraw similar legislation last December following numerous riots across the country, but legal experts say the new draft is pretty much the original legislation re-introduced, but with tougher penalties. The problem is that if France successfully passes the laws, they could of course, pave the way for other nations to also introduce similar authoritarian measures. This will not end well for the French clown Government, the people there will revolt and badly. The world is talking of ending the Covid restrictions, all except the white nations, funny that.

Here is another National Zionist Fascist group. Rhode Islanders over the age of 16 who don't get the Covid-19 vaccine could face $50 monthly fines, and have to pay twice as much state income tax under legislation introduced in the state Senate. Senator Samuel W. Bell Democrat said he proposed the bill S 2552 because we have a crisis with the pandemic. Bellend told the Boston Globe Wednesday:

Thousands of Rhode Islanders have died. I've had really painful calls from constituents who can't go to the store because they're immuno-compromised, who have lost loved ones to this pandemic, who are really ill and not fully recovered, suffering long-term effects. They are immune-compromised jackass because of people like you Bell, forcing them to get jabs they didn't need. The people who are really ill now and those that have died are all those jabbed Mr. Bellend. So, why is he panicking, because his own son has interstitial lung disease, which places him at risk of serious illness or death if he gets a respiratory infection.

My son's condition has made me feel more compassionate and ready for the heavy level of abuse I knew I'd receive. Playing the sympathy card much? Service to self much Mr. Bell? or convenient actor in a much larger game? Samuel W Bell is also born to. What a coincidence.

All that as Dr Death himself Dr. Anthony Fauci, the country's top psychotic disease expert, says the United States is certainly past the pandemic stage of fighting the corona virus, though he acknowledges it continues in other countries around the world. Erm, no it doesn't it's all fake. We are certainly right now in this country out of the pandemic phase, we don't have 900,000 new infections a day and tens of thousands of hospitalizations and thousands of deaths. We are at a low level right now, so if you're saying, are we out of the pandemic phase in this country, we are. Remember that piece, because that jackass will come out later in the year to declare another one, if plans don't go their way.

More media interference stacked in favor of one group. Since the latest presidential election, Republicans have been given ample reason to suggest that, Silicon Valley works hand in glove with Democrats and the current administration in the United States. More than 640 cases of major tech companies censoring criticism of President Joe Biden since March 2020 have been detected by the Media Research Center, a media watchdog group. MRC's CensorTrack database, which tracks censorship of prominent political voices by major social media platforms, analyzed data over a 24-month period from March 2020 to March 2022. According to the report, tech giants such as Facebook and Twitter attempted to manipulate informational space 646 times in a two-year cycle, to maintain a more positive image of President Biden. The cases of censorship included bans, deleted content and other speech restrictions placed on those who criticized Biden on social media over the past two years. Meanwhile, the censorship was said to greatly affect those who dared to speak about any subject related to the New York Post bombshell Hunter Biden story. Of the 646 cases of censorship, 140 are related to the sensational Hunter Biden laptop story published at the end of 2020. These are the same people promoting further restrictions on the people as referenced in last week's show. Cowardly and pathetic people who can't face the truth. Remember the saying in the media over the revelations of Agencies spying on all Americans? They stated if you have nothing to hide you have nothing to worry about. Clearly these people and their media puppets have lots to hide.

A small, public university in Ohio agreed last week to pay one of its professors $400,000, after it rebuked him for refusing to use a transgender student's preferred pronouns. Shawnee State University, warned Nicholas Meriwether, a philosophy professor, in 2018 about not using the pronouns. In response, Meriwether, who is an evangelical Christian, filed a federal lawsuit against the university that year, contending that officials violated his constitutional rights, by compelling him to speak in a way that contradicts his religious beliefs. The settlement of the case follows a three-year legal battle that ended last year, with the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling in Meriwether's favor. Meriwether's legal representation, the Alliance Defending Freedom, applauded the agreement to compensate him. This case forced us to defend what used to be a common belief, that nobody should be forced to contradict their core beliefs just to keep their job, said Travis Barham a senior counsel for the alliance. Dr. Meriwether went out of his way to accommodate his students and treat them all with dignity and respect, yet his university punished him because he wouldn't endorse an ideology that he believes is false. It should have gone one step further, although students at the college could still do something about it, and force the whole board to resign for incompetence. Who do you think is going to end up paying that fine? The students of course with increased fees, so on that count the students and parents should force the board out, and demand no increases in fees for at least two years.

White Helmets, a controversial group hailed as heroes in the West but also criticized for being close to radical Islamist forces in Syria, are filming video guides, which are meant for Ukrainians, the British newspaper Times reported. Hailed by corrupt Alt Media only.

The first of a planned series of videos translated into Ukrainian, showed two men explaining how to search for people under debris, identify unexploded ordnance and use first aid on injured people. There is an overarching goal of teaching people in Kiev that, properly documenting rescue operations can help to provide credible evidence of atrocities. Which reveals it is all pure theater. White Helmets claims to be a civilian rescue force helping civilians injured by the Syrian government. No, they are a bunch of Agency based mercenaries stirring up trouble on behalf of Israel. It received funding from Western governments and was praised by Western media as brave heroes of the protracted war in Syria. Critics, including Russia, call them a propaganda outfit that work hand-in-glove with the rebel groups that control the territories, in which the White Helmets operate. On several occasions, members of the group were filmed participating in apparent executions by jihadists. In some cases, Western media outlets confirmed the allegations to be true. For example, France 24 authenticated footage showing the White Helmets taking part in an execution in Haritan, a suburb of Aleppo, which was carried out in 2015 by the terrorist group Al Nusra Front. The group distanced itself from the incident, saying their goal was to go pick up the body and that its people arrived before the killing took place. The Ukrainian government accused Russia of an attempted genocide of the Ukrainian people, after claiming it found evidence of war crimes committed by Russian troops near Kiev. Moscow rejected Ukrainian allegations and claimed the evidence was misinterpreted or fabricated, likely to derail the peace process. Moscow said that apparently more staged scenes falsely purporting to show Russian wrongdoing in Ukraine were being prepared by the Ukrainian side. Which is the work of the White Helmets, Helmets by name and nature it seems, where is a mohel when you need one?

EXPOSE: You wish to know how the energy and utility crisis has all unfolded, and why everything is so expensive, how countries became corrupted? then this piece delivers as to why. The EU and USA are demanding all democratic states privatize their assets to belong to the club of the truly civilized. The point of this privatization is to allegedly increase competition, which according the history of economics we all were taught. Via the several privileged to live in a democracy state mandated educations, is to prevent monopolies gouging the consumer and keep competition and prices fair. Well that never worked did it, the non-compete Act in 1976 put paid to that, and Militaries, Military Companies, Agency and their multitude of front organizations and Mercenary groups all took advantage of that. Walmart cornered the food market and Amazon took it onto a whole new level. Walmart could purchase off wholesalers the likes of bread at less than cost price, and companies were forced to accept it or go out of business. According to the metadata rules of this gig, we should all remain duly impressed with the idea, this is a humane system affording opportunity for everyone to play the game on a level field, with no unethical advantage made available to any participating party. Enter the EU together with the multinational corporation and the USA as the strong-arm' enforcer, post cold-war world and in general terms it actually goes more along the lines of this. The cold war was fake also, just allowed the Rothschild's to build up NATO and allow money laundering on a mass scale. The former Warsaw pact and other non-NATO regimes of Europe inherit state owned resources and utilities. Corruption is endemic and infrastructure dated however adequate, but the price of electricity is cheap. The poor of the rural population are in a position to survive via developing community self-sufficiency, personal and regional sovereignty in a local farm-to-market economy, with the many farms repatriated to the heirs of the pre-socialist owners. Then, enters privatization. First, the formerly socialist states governments are pressured to divest themselves of ownership over the utilities. What this first step towards EU membership means is, those corporations with hundreds of millions in investment cash are invited to buy the state's assets. The state was non-profit, but for tax beyond infrastructure maintenance of supporting other state institutions, like education & military, but suddenly that is all changed. The new ownership demands a profit margin in addition to infrastructure maintenance, and the profit begins flowing out of the national economy and into the pockets of multinational corporate shareholders, or the 1% of the liberal democracies population who actually hold a monopoly of wealth over Western society. When private control of the infrastructure is consolidated over the nation, the state must raise taxes on land, production and commerce over the common citizenry to support state institutions. Because the privatized infrastructure is in the hands of powerful lobbies with direct access to the political structures. Where corrupt but legal practices provide for tax incentives, often amounting to paying little tax, no tax or even the state subsidizing the corporation under various pretexts, for instance state subsidies for infrastructure upgrades where work at greatly inflated prices are directed to politically favored businesses. Meanwhile the price of utilities skyrocket, stressing ordinary citizens who are poor by Western standards in a period of system transition. As these states are prodded to progress towards competitive economies, other assets are surrendered to exploitation. Where state owned arable land is turned over to business partners of the elite, hello Disney, and the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund are employed to subject the state to debt slavery. All whilst laundering the facts surrounding people unethically dispossessed of their lands, with false reporting, facilitated via corporate wedded intelligence agency infected arms of Western governments. Such as the USAID and the UK's Department For International Development, who are sometimes caught but this is not widely disseminated news. When control over the state is consolidated by Western institutions, where the EU and NATO serve as a front and enforcer for multinational corporations instituting what amounts to de facto neocolonialism, the second order of robbery begins. Hundreds of thousands of independent farmers are driven off their lands by the European Union's sanitary regulations, with demands of modernization requiring equipment and infrastructure upgrades, the small farmers and their communities cannot afford. Economically displaced, these people become migrant workers typically employed in manual labor, such as the construction industry in the more rapidly developing states, or become demographic substitute workers in developed states in the North of the EU where the birth rate is in decline. For evidence of that currently, see Ukraine, those people will not be returning anytime soon. The carryover consequence of this second level of robbery is several-fold, food sovereignty is surrendered to multinational corporate dictated farming, in league with the likes of Monsanto & Syngenta. Food supply is no longer localized direct from the farm to the market, but reflects increased prices of globalized import/export transportation costs. The new EU dictated sanitary food supply is poisoned with big business enriching agri-chemicals like glyphosate, the new, intensive corporate mono-culture farming degrades the land and environment, especially polluting water resources. These new EU member nations lose generations of farming knowledge in twenty short years, with the nations' former farmers' children dispossessed of growing up immersed in traditional agriculture, that could or should have been converted to the bio organic farming method. Instead the loss of knowledge in the populace cementing the nation in corporate servitude, it all comes back to food sovereignty, by now severely, dangerously degraded. Throughout the process of implementing this preceding, the EU's anti-corruption rhetoric is actually so much hyperbole, the real problem for the EU institutions isn't with corruption, but with corruption practiced incompetently and/or openly. Brussels' anti-corruption reports have been shelved and are no longer released, for the reasons the obscene amount of 120B Euros per year was by several competent accounts, far below the actual level and growing worse for each reporting period. The last report was released in 2014, funny how that happens isn't it, just like the Federal Reserve and US DOD audits, the report scheduled for 2016 has been withheld from the public, and there hasn't been an EU produced report since. But in actuality, at the meta-level, it is much worse than this. In any of the several independent corruption level indexes produced by transparency NGOs, there is a classic misdirection where one will see the graphs pointing to the Northern European states as least corrupt. What is missing is the relevant data on what could be called transcendent corruption, where the several northern EU states appear to have captured and exercise with impunity, control over the entire corrupt business from the top. It was the American Dulles brothers that set the standard. Those intimately familiar with 20th Century European history should know the Dulles brothers, Allen and John Foster Dulles, pre World War II business careers stink as high as the heavens. Early in 1933, both Dulles brothers attended a meeting in Germany, where German industrialists agreed to back Hitler's bid for power, in exchange for his pledge to break the German unions. A few months later, John Foster Dulles negotiated a deal with Hitler's economics minister, whereby all German trade with the United States would be coordinated, through a syndicate headed by the Dulles brothers' business associate Averell Harriman's cousin. Harriman born in, connected to Yale, A Skull and Bones disciple, connected to Winston Churchill, J.P Morgan and the Roosevelt's amongst others. With the Nazis enforcing a favorable climate for business, the profits for Thyssen and other companies soared, and the Dulles brothers' client Union Banking Corporation increasingly became a Nazi money-laundering machine. In 1934, George Herbert Walker placed Prescott Bush on Union Bank's board of directors, and Bush and Harriman also began to use the bank as the basis for a complex and deceptive system of holding companies. Rather than advising Walker and Harriman to divest themselves of these tainted assets, Prescott Bush hired Allen Dulles to help conceal them. From 1937 on, the Dulles brothers would serve Bush and Harriman in all their covert dealings with Nazi firms. They also performed similar cloaking services for others, like the Rockefellers, they both funded and profited from Hitler's crimes against humanity. However, their entire enterprise was corrupt in a more subtle sense as well, in that its very basis was financial fraud on an unprecedented scale. That would have been true even if Hitler had never come to power, he was just a convenient stooge. The real significance of adding the Nazis to the equation was that it upped the stakes, both increasing the potential rewards for the participants like Dulles' clients, and forcing them into increasingly elaborate deceptions to conceal their frauds, followed by Hitler's top Eastern Front spy turned into post-war Germany's founding head of today's BND or the German CIA. Dulles then led the push to save Reinhard Gehlen, the Nazi head of intelligence on the Eastern Front and a genuine monster, from any post-war justice. Dulles then made certain Gehlen and his spies received a cozy embrace from the CIA, and helped push him to the top of West Germany's Federal Intelligence Service, and at least 100 officers within the Gehlen organization were former SD or Gestapo officers.

How did that all come about? Well we covered some of this in Part 7 of FHSTOS. From 1945-1947, elements in the US army conspired to maintain contacts with former German anti-communists in Europe and their German army commander, General Reinhard Gehlen. 5 men were involved of whom 3, William J. Donovan, Allen Dulles and Frank Wisner were representatives of the Wall St. underworld, and also of the New York Social Register which listed the members of New York high society. They were awaiting a new agency to succeed Donovan's Office of Strategic Services (OSS) and take over the Nazi's ethnic armies in Eastern Europe. But the idea of a centralized intelligence agency encountered fierce competitive opposition from the FBI's J. Edgar Hoover, who was backed at first by elements of Army intelligence. Although it took 2 years to overcome their opponents, the Wall Street lawyers and bankers in Truman's administration succeeded in 1947 in establishing CIA, which would report to the president through the new National Security Council. This new agency, based on the precedent and personnel of the OSS, had been urged on Washington by the War/Peace studies of the Council of Foreign Relations in the early 1940s. It was reinforced by a report commissioned in 1945 by Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal. Forrestal who was part of MJ-12 was later murdered for wishing to talk too much. The report was written by Ferdinand Eberstadt who like Forrestal was a private Wall Street banker from the investment bank, Dylan Reed. As CIA director Richard Helms narrates in his memoirs Allen Dulles, then a Republican lawyer in Sullivan and Cromwell in New York, was recruited in 1946 to draft proposals for the shape and direction what was to become the new CIA. In 1947 Dulles promptly formed an advisory group of 6 men, all but one of whom were Wall St investment bankers or lawyers. And we all know what is the common denominator for bankers and lawyers. All of this post-war business stuff went on when CIA Director Allen Dulles brother and lifelong business partner, John Foster Dulles, was one of the most powerful men in the world and practically postwar Europe's overlord plenipotentiary as General turned into President Eisenhower's Secretary of State. The result? The liberal democracies of NATO & EU states intelligence agencies overtaken by, or run on behalf of rich corporate, Russophobe fascists wedded to international banking and multinational corporations. Comprising the liberal democracies shadow government who's bought and/or blackmailed minions are collectively called the deep state. Common people's health and welfare mean zero, zip, nada to these people. This is the structure behind 'privatization.' Where do the symptoms jump out today? Both NATO and the EU's intelligence apparatus are run by Germany's foreign intelligence service. NATO's intelligence chief, Arndt Freytag von Loringhoven is a former head of Germany's BND, and the son of Hitler's last serving intelligence officer during the Battle for Berlin. EU intelligence chief, Gerhard Conrad, is a German BND officer. Where and who are the EU's Northern states transcendent corruption or above the law personalities represented in NATO? At the top, the past three NATO Secretary Generals are, in order of service from present to past: Jens Stoltenberg, a former Prime Minister of Norway. Anders Fogh Rasmussen, a former Prime Minister of Denmark. Jaap de Hoop Scheffer, a former Foreign Minister of the Netherlands. What crime do all of the above, intelligence chiefs and Secretaries General share in common, other than current geopolitical crimes of the first magnitude, such as supporting the neo-nazis running Ukraine or lending support to framing Russia with false evidence like the Steele Dossier, Skripal poisonings and not least, Dutch intelligence writing the fiction surrounding the downing of MH17. All are sitting quiet on the Western intelligence agencies participation in the practically solved, but un-prosecuted murders of Dag Hammarskjöld, a Secretary General of the United Nations. Olof Palme, a Prime Minister of Sweden, assassinated Bernt Carlsson, a United Nations Assistant Secretary General was on the false flag Lockerbie bombing plane. Each of which had stood in the way of Western liberal democracy based corporate multinationals, looting nations for raw resources such as diamonds and yellow cake uranium, a legacy of the Dulles brothers intelligence agencies and related political structures developed to benefit corporate greed. It follows, when the EU and NATO come calling, the level of play surrounding transcendent corruption is well understood by politicians, who are briefed on the reality when arriving at the top. Including the real threat of assassination to those who don't play ball, on the terms of certain multinational corporate entities behind privatization. Dag Hammarskjöld was on the point of getting something done when they killed him, said former USA President Harry Truman. Remember in later days Truman declared his worst decision ever was, creating the CIA.

EXPOSE: In some parts of our FHSTOS series, The Events that changed the world series, we highlighted numerous programs of deceit and hinted at many others. This piece highlights at a hinted portion. We have questioned as to how is the population so high? when mass death, famine, pharma and recreational drugs, wars and fascist regimes have been in play for much of the past 100 years. The question after the Events that changed the world shows, of how many hybrids actually exist? Who and what are they? What is their purpose? Have they been beneficial? The answer to the last question to all intents and purposes at this point, is a no. The great question is do we really know who are parents are? For some people that will be a concern or fear, to others they will be thinking that is not a surprise. But, there is something else that has been in play, the great unmentionable in many ways that can be seen as something far bigger and evil going on than we imagined. As a number of stories are emerging of more evidence of swapping babies out, which is now revealed to be in IVF practices. People finding out they are not related to the father, as IVF clinics appear to be deciding who to match and who to not. Of course that type of practice has been going on in EL-ite circles in our time, but going all the way back to Egypt with the desire to keep the bloodline control game going. Forced sterilization campaigns, also known as compulsory or coerced sterilization, is a government-mandated program to sterilize a specific group of people. Compulsory sterilization removes a person's capacity to reproduce usually through surgical procedures, but efforts have also been made more covertly with chemical means, by for example "unintentionally" adding a sterilant to drinking water, food sources or vaccines. Or adding gender bending chemicals amongst other things to baby formulas. Population reduction through sterilization is an issue that, has long been close to the heart of the very richest people in the world. Early population programs of the twentieth century were marked as part of the eugenics movement, with Nazi Germany's programs providing the most well-known examples of sterilization of inferior people, paired with encouraging white Germans who fit the Aryan race phenotype to rapidly reproduce. Two things wrong with that statement, A: the Eugenics program came from America and was copied in Germany, and B: Germany was facing a catastrophic shortage of people and workers to sustain their economy and country, and so it would be only natural to have a rebirthing program to rebuild their populace. Something chronically overlooked by the Jewish led media, and repeated far too often in memes by stupid people who follow the scripts. The government researched extensively into methods for quick, covert mass sterilizations, including use of radioactivity directed at the gonads. Rationalizations for compulsory sterilization have included population control, reduction of the number of poor people, gender discrimination, limiting the spread of HIV, ethnic genocide, and on a geopolitical level (Henry Kissinger), to keep global power structures in place. Again pure folly, there is a number of poor people due to the excessive greed by the few, not so coincidentally the same people who are and were pushing these programs. Later, an environmental rationale was added, where a drastic population reduction became an urgent part of the campaign to reduce CO2 emissions. Reducing carbon which is essential to human and plant life growth via CO2, when a particular off world species called the Zetas have carbon down as toxic to them. Is that another coincidence? Most Western countries implemented sterilization programs in the early 20th century, but they were officially discontinued by the 1980s. Their version of officially discontinued just means it went underground, literally and figuratively. Off it went into the Military black budget programs. Starting in the late 1960s, these programs were also massively expanded and made more coercive in the Global South, and gained special notoriety during the brutal campaign in India during Indira Gandhi's rule, where people were grabbed off the street and forcibly sterilized under unhygienic conditions. Similar large-scale forced campaigns in South America and Africa have continued unabated. The United States Agency for International Development: The United States Agency for International Development is a large driving force in sterilization campaigns. Congress passed the Foreign Assistance Act in 1966, including a provision earmarking funds from the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) for population control programs to be implemented abroad. The legislation further directed that all U.S. economic aid to foreign nations be made contingent upon, their governments' willingness to cooperate with State Department desires, for the establishment of such initiatives within their own borders. And so AID is to aid the psychopaths and has nothing to do with charity, the harsh thing is, we the people are paying for our own demise. USAID was mentioned in the other expose of funneling money to NATO and EU states with the desire to not only crush Russia, but all the EU countries. To the idiots who are denigrating Russia just now, who do you think will save you when they are gone? Which country saved America's bacon twice in the 1800's? Russia. For those Third World rulers willing to help sterilize their poorer subjects, there would be carrots, not the Life Force dangling carrots again, oh my. For the uncooperative types, there would be the stick, usually done by the CIA and their Mercenary groups like Blackwater. Henry Kissinger another born to, as National Security Advisor and Secretary of State, conducted a secret study on the role of population control measures in the fight against global communism. Global communism was ran by the Jews themselves, in essence they speak of fighting against what they produced, it never goes anywhere as it is all a deflection program. Kissinger pulled together a group of experts drawn from the National Security Council, the CIA, the Department of Defense, the Department of State, USAID, and other agencies to study the question. All the very institutions that brought this fake problem forth. The result was issued on December 10, 1974 in the form of the classified NSC document titled Implications of Worldwide Population Growth for U.S. Security and Overseas Interests. NSSM 200 which was declassified in 1989. The memo made the case for a population control effort that is global in scope, but not traceable back to its wealthy supporters. On November 26, 1975, NSSM 200 was formally adopted by the Ford administration. A follow-up memo issued in 1976 by the NSC, called for the United States to use control of food supplies to impose population control on a global scale. It further noted the value of using dictatorial power and military force, as means to coerce Third World peoples into submission to population control measures. Adding: In some cases, strong direction has involved incentives such as payment to acceptors for sterilization, or disincentives such as giving low priorities in the allocation of housing or schooling to those with larger families. Such direction is the sine qua non of an effective program. Which was originally a Latin legal term for, a condition without which it could not be, or but for or without which there is nothing. That is what these jackasses miss, for without the poorer people or classes, these self-serving jackasses would not exist. We are the condition or the causation, for without our input or labor their control system literally falls apart. Who will run the world and do all the dirty jobs they are incapable of doing without the people? The answer is the robots, and why we have to be very wary of what they are up to.

Coercion: The programs are to a large degree coercive. As a regular practice, population control programs provide incentives and/or disincentives to compel acceptors into accepting their assistance. Among the incentives frequently employed is the provision or denial of cash or food aid, to starving people or their children. This is implemented by the IMF and World Bank clowns, IMF's being their modus operandi. Among the disincentives employed are personal harassment, dismissal from employment, destruction of homes, with Egyptian river techniques called denial of schooling, public housing, or medical assistance to the recalcitrant. A frequent practice is, the sterilization of women without their knowledge or consent, typically while they are weakened in the aftermath of childbirth. By Country: This is a small country selection of the large-scale coerced sterilizations that have been conducted in almost a hundred Third World countries in the 1960s, for population reduction purposes. For smaller campaigns of forced sterilizations, see eugenics all done by the Planned Parenthood psychopaths. Indian Sterilization Camps: The Emergency in India from 1975 and 1977 resulted from internal and external conflict for the country, and resulted in misuse of power and human rights violations from the government. The state enacted a family planning initiative that began in 1976, in an attempt to lower the exponentially increasing population. This program focused on male citizens, and used propaganda and monetary incentives to impoverished citizens to get sterilized. People who agreed to get sterilized would receive land, housing, and money or loans. Millions of men received vasectomies under this program, but a large proportion of these were coerced. There were reports of officials blocking off villages and dragging men to surgical centers for vasectomies. However, after much protest and opposition, the country switched to targeting women through coercion, withholding welfare or ration card benefits, and bribing women with food and money. This switch was theorized to be based off the principle, women are less likely to protest for their own rights. Many deaths occurred as a result of both the male and the female sterilization programs. These deaths were likely attributed to poor sanitation standards and quality standards in the Indian sterilization camps. Sanjay Gandhi, son of the then-Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, was largely responsible for what turned out to be a failed program. Him and his mother committed mass genocide on the Indian people in 1977 via Operation Blue Star. Eventually Indira was assassinated when visiting the Jewish spy and actor Peter Ustinov for an interview, dead people can't talk you see. A strong mistrust against family planning initiatives followed the highly controversial program, the effect of which continues into the 21st century. Sterilization policies are still enforced in India, targeting mostly indigenous and lower-class women who are herded into the sterilization camps. Despite these deaths, sterilization is still the highest used method of birth control with 39% of women in India turning to sterilization in 2015. Brazil: During the 1970s–80s, the U.S. government sponsored family planning campaigns in Brazil, although sterilization was illegal at the time there. While many women nominally choose this form of contraception, there are many societal factors that impact this decision, such as poor economic circumstances, low rates of employment, and Catholic religious mandates that stipulate sterilization as less harmful than abortion. Colombia: The time period of 1964–1970 started Colombia's population policy development, including the foundation of PROFAMILIA, and through the Ministry of Health the family planning program promoted the use of IUDs, the Pill, and sterilization as the main avenues for contraception. By 2005, Colombia had one of the world's highest contraceptive usage rates at 76.9%, with female sterilization being the highest percentage of use at just over 30%, second highest is the IUD at around 12% and the pill around 10%. In Colombia during the 1980s, sterilization was the second most popular choice of pregnancy prevention after the Pill, and public healthcare organizations and funders USAID, AVSC, IPPF supported sterilization as a way to decrease abortions rates. While not directly forced into sterilization, women of lower socio-economic standing had significantly less options to afford family planning care as sterilizations were subsidized. Kenyan Vaccines: In November 2014 a Catholic publication, the Kenya Catholic Doctors Association charged UNICEF and WHO with sterilizing millions of girls and women, under the cover of an anti-tetanus vaccination program sponsored by the Kenyan government. The Kenyan government denied there was anything wrong with the vaccine, and said it was perfectly safe. The Kenya Catholic Doctors Association, however, saw evidence to the contrary, and had six different samples of the tetanus vaccine from various locations around Kenya, sent to an independent laboratory in South Africa for testing. The results confirmed their worst fears, all six samples tested positive for the HCG antigen. The HCG antigen is used in anti-fertility vaccines, but was found present in tetanus vaccines targeted to young girls and women of childbearing age. Dr. Ngare, spokesman for the Kenya Catholic Doctors Association, stated in a bulletin release. This proved right our worst fears, that this WHO campaign is not about eradicating neonatal tetanus, but a well-coordinated forceful population control mass sterilization exercise, using a proven fertility regulating vaccine. This evidence was presented to the Ministry of Health before the third round of immunization but was ignored. Peru: In Peru, President Alberto Fujimori in office from 1990 to 2000 committed a genocide and crimes against humanity as a result of the Programa Nacional de Población, a sterilization program put in place by his administration. During his presidency, Fujimori put in place a program of forced sterilizations against indigenous people, mainly the Quechuas and the Aymaras, in the name of a public health plan, presented on July 28, 1995. The plan was principally financed using funds from USAID $36 million, the Nippon Foundation, and later, the United Nations Population Fund. On September 9, 1995, Fujimori presented a Bill that would revise the General Law of Population, in order to allow sterilization. Several contraceptive methods were also legalized, all measures that were strongly opposed by the Roman Catholic Church, as well as the Catholic organization Opus Dei. In February 1996, the World Health Organization itself congratulated Fujimori on his success in controlling demographic growth. Puerto Rico: In the U.S. territory of Puerto Rico, a mass sterilization program was instigated by the Draper Fund/Population Crisis Committee and implemented with federal funds from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare through the island's major hospitals as well as a host of smaller clinics. According to the report of a medical fact-finding mission conducted in 1975, the effort was successful in sterilizing close to one-third of Puerto Rican women of child-bearing age. White House Office of Science and Technology Policy: In the 1977 textbook Ecoscience: Population, Resources, Environment, authors Paul and Anne Ehrlich, and John Holdren discuss a variety of means to address human overpopulation, including the possibility of compulsory sterilization. This book received renewed media attention with the appointment of John Holdren as Assistant to the President for Science and Technology, Director of the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy. Several forms of compulsory sterilization are mentioned, including: the proposal for vasectomies for men with three or more children in India in the 1960s, sterilizing women after the birth of their second or third child, birth control implants as a form of removable, long-term sterilization, a licensing system allotting a certain number of children per woman, economic and quota systems of having a certain number of children, and adding a sterilant to drinking water or food sources. The authors are clear that no such sterilant exists nor is one in development, me thinks they doth protest too much. The authors state that most of these policies are not in practice, and have not been tried, and most will likely remain unacceptable to most societies. They lie and always have. A comment from the Bilderberg 2020 meeting. These Covid-19 vaccines are unlikely to completely sterilize a population, but they're very likely to have an effect which works in a percentage, say, 60% or 70%. So, in certain batches of the fake vaccines, 60-70% of women are now sterilized according to them. Like I have said, they never do things for just one reason, it is multi-faceted. Remember it was the Rockefellers at the forefront of the original Eugenics program in late 1800's and early 1900's we covered in Part 4. Remember it was the Rockefellers who started the Covid scam in 2010 with Project Lockstep. Is IVF a hybrid program? Is it leading to having babies only by medically controlled test tubes? Is that not genetic interfering again? Does Transhumanism play into this? Which race or species benefits? Do you still think the world's population went up 2.5B since the 1960's? what a conspiracy that is. What if the head count is not just humans? What is the definition of humans? Is the population increase due to or counting hybrids, is our total population figures just including what we consider humans? Or does it include off worlders in skin suits?

Kriyamana karma is one of the three main categories of karma described in the Vedas and is sometimes referred to as future karma. In general, karma is the effect that actions in past lives or the current life, have on the current or future lives of an individual. Kriyamana karma, in particular, is that which is being created in the present life. It is basically the concept that is popularly thought of when the term, karma, is used in Western culture. The term comes from the Sanskrit, kriya, meaning completed action, and mana, meaning belief or thought. Karma is derived from the root word, kri, which means to act. Kriyamana karma is also known as agami or vartamana karma. Although kriyamana karma affects the future, it can be cleared if it is negative, by atoning for bad actions in the current life. Likewise, good kriyamana karma can be negated by bad actions. To atone for those actions that lead to bad kriyamana karma, one can turn to spiritual practices such as meditation, Karma yoga, prayer, service and satsang cultivating truth. Yoga, prayer and service would be suspect or a no to me, depending on whether it is done internally or external. The two other main forms of karma are: Prarabdha karma, which refers to past actions in previous lives that affect the current life, it cannot be removed or changed. If the previous life was pious, the karma will be good and the person will live a happy life, but bad karma from a previous life means suffering in this life. Sanchita karma, which represents all of the karma that has been collected during one's life, both good and bad. It will affect future lives or, if bad, can be cleared in the present life, before it comes to fruition through spiritual practices. Practicing Karma yoga also involves fully accepting one's dharma, meaning ones duty in life in order to let go of selfish desires. Dharma was mentioned in 8C in relation to the Black Sun cult and the Indian/Hindu traditions. Furthermore, they do their lamaist rituals that send their dark intentions into time and space, to harm those they perceive as their enemies. Students who have left, fellow lamas, politicians, academics, in fact anyone and everything they claim are dharma destroyers.

This was sent in by a member and their take on it. Karma isn't what's done to us, but what we do to ourselves due to mis-takes made, and self-conscious blame, shame, guilt, that trigger unhealed wounds, denigration for mistakes made, that stays like a poison in the veins. Folks misunderstand and abuse karma, like they do so many other things. The species self-sabotage and punish itself for mistakes made due to being human, which makes it low vibing and bring in the incubus & succubus to feed. I am speechless by how much energy manipulation goes on, and is going on to block folks from their destiny. It's one way of how past groups fell, besides sending in the love-biters, they trick key-persons, separate, contaminate, possess as many as possible, then gradually they fall by the sheer weight of feeling their own guilt, shame and self-blame. They literally turn folks against themselves and each other, often done by projection against others, when the issues are internal, not external. Then in comes the stupid rinse and repeat bs'ery, and the shite show program starts all over again and the looping game continues. I have been realizing a prior person actually provided both clues and answers about this shite show, and how to end the bs illusion of it. A very good summary and goes back to the show Is it technology or us. There are many being triggered currently by actions of another, but actions of another is not relevant to you unless it triggered something about you from within. If the actions or words of others bothers you, it means there is something inside of you that is not addressed. If the actions or words of others bothers you, it means there is something inside of you that is not addressed. If the actions or words of others bothers you, it means there is something inside of you that is not addressed. I hope you all got that, because that is the key to correcting all issues, it is the key to a harmonic relationship between us all, it is the key to your own development, and the key to self-mastery. People make up stuff and say things bad about others, due to their own failings, be it low self-worth, inferiority complex, envy or the fact that they themselves have messed up and refuse to address it. But, eventually the lies and the projections themselves fall apart, and at a much quicker rate these days, and those that stand in the truth and self-mastery, can sit back and wait. The big change now is, that truth shines and sticks, lies fall apart very quickly compared to the past. Why continue the lie? when it is so much easier to be honest with yourself, and then go and be honest with others who you revealed the lie to. Life and relationships would be all so much easier, if people did their own work and not project it onto others. You can play the song Karma Chameleon, a chameleon is someone or thing that copies itself according to their surroundings, like a hive minded bot really. And so you can chameleon karma in the same way, yet another looping hamster wheel, yet all you have to do to stop it is, jump off.

OTHER PIECES: Interestingly given the pieces we have done in our shows, scientists are now talking about time again. The question they posed was, does time exist? And said the answer to this question may seem obvious, of course it does, just look at a calendar or a clock. But if that is the criteria, then looking at a straight railway line means that it comes to a point, which of course it doesn't. And so seeing is not always believing, because if seeing was only believing, then religion would fall apart. With religion there is no seeing, only a blind belief system that involves the most bizarre conspiracies ever, yet people believe without seeing, that is the ultimate definition of blind faith. There is a reason as to why Science and religion where merged together, one is co-dependent on the other to keep the illusions going. But new developments in physics suggest the non-existence of time is an open possibility, and one that we should take seriously. How can that be, and what would it mean? It'll take a little while to explain, but don't worry even if time doesn't exist, our lives will go on as usual. We can do without their version of usual, that is like the new normal mind meme. Because if time doesn't exist, imagine the lawsuits for people who have been fined for being late? Because how can you be late if there is no time? What if time is a control structure to slow down our understanding and interpretation of life? How could that be manipulated? What if another species is way behind our development, and used time to make us go backwards or slower in time? Would they eventually when the time came? pardon the pun, just reconnect time at a future date so they were ahead in terms of development, technology and everything else, and so they become the power force. Think the sleeping pods and 10K years into the future, and you may get an understanding of it. Physics is in crisis, they say. For the past century or so, we have explained the universe with two wildly successful physical theories, general relativity and quantum mechanics. Quantum mechanics describes how things work in the incredibly tiny world of particles and particle interactions. General relativity describes the big picture of gravity and how objects move. Both theories work extremely well in their own right, but the two are thought to conflict with one another. Both theories did not work well, they were shoehorned in with Johns Hopkins level math, Einstein's theory was 80% correct and 20% of using math in a shoehorned way to make the rest up. But, then Einstein was born to, and so he became the world's leading figure on it. Though the exact nature of the conflict is controversial, scientists generally agree both theories need to be replaced with a new, more general theory. Physicists want to produce a theory of quantum gravity that replaces general relativity and quantum mechanics, while capturing the extraordinary success of both. Such a theory would explain how gravity's big picture works at the miniature scale of particles. It turns out that producing a theory of quantum gravity is extraordinarily difficult. One attempt to overcome the conflict between the two theories is the string theory. The String theory replaces particles with strings vibrating in as many as 11 dimensions, all of which leaves out the 12th dimension for the 3 scale of dimensional cycles, 3, 6, 9, 12 and 15. But guess what was installed in the aptly named Time Matrix here at 11.5D, the Eye of Yahweh. Could it be the Eye of Yahweh replaces the 12th Dimension? and these clowns wish to trap everything again in the 11 dimensions below? Again that proves the folly of a closed 12 based Merkaba, it only takes one insertion into it and it corrupts the whole thing. There needs to be the plus one as the outlet, the 12 based system like the figure 8 or the zero becomes the bind, and perhaps the insertion here was time, when time is split it becomes tie me, and subsequently a binding. You are then at the mercy of the new god, the inputter or the programmer, just like a computer or the clock. As an example is, a gas valve is for off gassing, because if something goes wrong and it stays in an enclosed system, it eventually goes boom. Why do you think the term Lord of the Rings became popular, it means the ruler of the binds. However, the string theory faces a further difficulty. String theories provide a range of models that describe a universe broadly like our own, and they don't really make any clear predictions that can be tested by experiments to figure out which model is the right one. Hang on a minute, String theories provide a range of models that describe a universe broadly like our own, like our own? What other Universes are they testing? In the 1980s and 1990s, many physicists became dissatisfied with the string theory and came up with a range of new mathematical approaches to quantum gravity. One of the most prominent of these is loop quantum gravity, which proposes that the fabric of space and time is made of a network of extremely small discrete chunks, or loops. One of the remarkable aspects of loop quantum gravity is that it appears to eliminate time entirely. Well I never, the loop eliminates time they think. No, the loops created time by trapping us in a mobius loop cycle pattern, that just repeats and repeats, just like a clock. The analogue clock now replaced by the AI sky finger god clock, called digital. The other method of time is dates, why do you think we have so many calendars? Because each separate race that came here, brought their own calendars from their own worlds. Loop quantum gravity is not alone in abolishing time, a number of other approaches also seem to remove time as a fundamental aspect of reality. So we know we need a new physical theory to explain the universe, and that this theory might not feature time. Suppose such a theory turns out to be correct, would it follow that time does not exist? It's complicated, and it depends what we mean by exist. Theories of physics don't include any tables, chairs, or people, and yet we still accept that tables, chairs and people exist. Something that exists is something that has been manifested by the self or the collective. Why? Because we assume that such things exist at a higher level than the level described by physics. That great word assumption again, but assumption like logic is not fact or truth. It is based on experiential and in part learned mind memes inserted into our thinking, to attain a desired result of the controllers. We say that tables, for example, emerge from an underlying physics of particles whizzing around the universe. But while we have a pretty good sense of how a table might be made out of fundamental particles, we have no idea how time might be made out of something more fundamental. If everyone understood really of how things manifest, the controllers would be finished. We are not called the spark of the Creator for nothing, it means we provide the spark or the manifest for creation itself, we are part of Source after all. But religion makes you externalize everything, when everything is internal, including technology. So unless we can come up with a good account of how time emerges, it is not clear we can simply assume time exists. Time might not exist at any level. Saying that time does not exist at any level is like saying that there are no tables at all. Trying to get by in a world without tables might be tough, but managing in a world without time seems positively disastrous. That is the fear kicking in, because the external time and clock if taken away, would leave us to redevelop our own inner clock and the sense of "time". The sense of time is in essence the paradigm of existence. It is the same with religion, you take away the god of the book, a book which god never wrote, and people panic because their external god has gone, when it was always inside of you. Externalization is the harvesting of our energy, that is why they ask you to pray, when in essence it means to be prey-ed upon. Our entire lives are built around time, we plan for the future, in light of what we know about the past. We hold people morally accountable for their past actions, with an eye to reprimanding them later on. There goes the fear again, and also externalizing about the actions of others, what about their own actions? Because if everyone focused on their own actions under the golden rule, there is no need to be interfering in other people's lives, that is just drama creating. The line with an eye to reprimanding them later on, needs deeper pondering. The eye to reprimand, all very Egyptian that, the all seeing eye, the Eye of Ra, Horus and Yahweh, which is then passed onto Nut and Ma'at for their scales of just us, not justice. We believe ourselves to be agents or entities that can do things in part, because we can plan to act in a way that will bring about changes in the future. But what's the point of acting to bring about a change in the future when, in a very real sense, there is no future to act for? What a disempowering statement that is! Just because there is no “time” does not negate the art of manifestation for the future experience. The future already exists, what are you going to manifest? What's the point of punishing someone for a past action, when there is no past and so, apparently, no such action? Because there is a right and wrong action, that everyone knows intuitively, it doesn't need to be taught beyond the first 5 years of life. The discovery that time does not exist would seem to bring the entire world to a grinding halt, we would have no reason to get out of bed. Again that is completely disempowering, we would get out of bed the same way with or without a clock, your inner clock works better than a battery clock, because it only stops when your life ends. There is a way out of the mess. While physics might eliminate time, it seems to leave causation intact: the sense in which one thing can bring about another. Perhaps what physics is telling us, then, is that causation and not time is the basic feature of our universe. Causation means manifestation, which requires us to operate in, time decides your life for you in a cradle to grave fashion. Whereby you are bound like a vice to time. In essence time is like a parent, who do everything for you, and when it is time for many to become their own guardian, they seek Governments, Television and Religion to be their new parents. We have to grow up and become our own guardians, personal responsibility, internal developments not external crutches to lean upon. If that's right, then agency can still survive. For it is possible to reconstruct a sense of agency entirely in causal terms. At least, that's what Kristie Miller, Jonathan Tallant and I argue in our new book. We suggest the discovery that time does not exist may have no direct impact on our lives, even while it propels physics into a new era. Physics and indeed any other science will only propel us into a new era if, the child level thinking is replaced with adult thinking. Quitting the fears of our own powers is the greatest discovery of man. How can “time” be created or slowed down? The answer is, The Phantom Matrix is a slow-acting black hole system referred to in the Bible as the bottomless pit, Hell and Hades. What is out of space and time? Dimensions 16 and above are free from Space-Time, and are known as One Mind-Creative Core or Cosmic Mind/Logos. Is there proof time doesn't exist based on technology? If you believe in Stargates, Portals and the falsely created wormholes, then time does not exist. Because going through them in an instant proves time can't exist, it also proves distance is not time either. Because if you can go from Point A to B in no time, there is no time. But, it also proves there is no distance either, and that distance and time are a mind meme and an illusion. The next and final portion of this was another of my deep ponderings, yes, I am going to tip you upside the head again. How is space and gravity achieved? Because Zero gravity is where manifestation or causation thrusts outwards and the Spirit pulls backwards, and then Zero G-Force is reached. It is the magnetic or polarization effect, opposites attract, the electrons, neutrons and protons all coming together in a one on one with the one. Zero Gravity is manifestation using forces, the spirit using counter force and Source balancing it, it is another version of one on one with the one. Causation and counter force one on one, Source the equalizer or the balance, just like Nature it is all about the balance. That explains the big bang in an overview way. Zero G-Force is a still point state that allows transcendent experiences to initiate, hence the floating in space experience. Here now is a revelation, one of the problems of flying in the atmosphere or space is the G force. Pilots undergo G Force training to test their levels of counter force. It appears most pass out between 5 and 9G, because the forces becomes too much it is said. But my ponderings reveal a much different conclusion, the reason a person passes out is, the spirit exits the body. This is the same as sleep time, you go to sleep when the spirit exits the vessel, and you go to sleep until the spirit returns. The pilot goes to sleep because the spirit in this dimension, given its density, cannot counterforce the G's sufficiently and so exits the vessel.

ENDING PIECE: Testing times coming up, or is it time for a test? Will you test without or within? Will you compete without or within? Will you project out or within? Will you do a project without or within? The shadows will lead you to your own valley of death, until you learn to integrate them within, because they are you. Why does drama fill your life? He said or did or she said or did? Does it really matter? What is matter anyway? It is something we all co-create. So, if subconsciously you can co-create matter, imagine what you can do by thinking of what else you can co-create consciously? Projection to the point, or pointing or inflection pointing a new way and path? So why project which is deflection of the self, because when true harmony within is attained, everything deflects away that you do not need. You have then reversed the mirror, you are the mirror and the mirror is you. Will you integrate the copy of the copy, or the man behind the mirror in the 3rd person? The 3rd person is you, the observer of you and it's copy in the mirror. Never speak in the third person society says, but true interaction and observation is the 3rd person, all else is imitation. Imitation then collects an L before it and becomes limitation, and you are trapped in your own self-created Matrushka shadow doll. If you understand this piece fully, you will realize your battle was not with enemies afar or close, Governments, Cabals, the 1 percenters, members within your family, friends or within this group, the great battle was with the self. All the last list are fingers pointing away, when true enlightenment is pointing within. Those people on that list provided a fake platform for you to perform your own dance of lies, non-life, imitation, limitation and we all danced along to the tune. The lines of, it wasn't me trip out, but as a co-creator, the very you, in part, created that scenario, consciously or not. Ma'at became ma'ater and Nut became nutter, does it matter or Ma'ater? Are you a martyr of misery, division, non life and imitation? The great duk(e) MARred himself, Anu provided a platform to observe so we can build a new, once we learned to THInk anew. Enki, En to cause a person or thing to be in the place, condition, or state named by the stem, Ki is the key. We are the En-ki to cause a person to be in the place or condition is the key, all from within. Or you can be En-lil to cause a person to be the Lilith, half man and half poisonous serpent riddled with venom and waiting to strike others at any given moment your balance is not achieved. Are you the key or the venomous serpent? Did they hurt you or did you allow others to hurt you because you didn't address things within? Those you perceived to have hurt or upset you, ultimately in self-mastery have done you a favor, provided you are in tune with the self. Yes, you can be disappointed in others of their poor actions and behaviors, but the venom reaction is yours and you become the venomous serpent, the Lilith, the Kali Ma all rolled into one. People are offended by everything these days, but in doing so, you have off ended yourself from balance, and so becomes a pointer from within, that something ain't right with you. They all forgot the definition of a true god, you self-elevate from within to attain that status, the I am. In the higher elevations there is a new letter N, you complete the right hand Earth path and begin the I am on the left hand path again. Then it requires the ultimate goal of being the non I am program, as you slide down the center of the N again, the slide is not a fall, the slide is not allowing the ego to rise, the gaining of humility, wisdom and intellect, and the journey to elevate others in the Earth realm to rise within themselves. A true god is service to others, having elevated the self on the Earth plane. Something many of those gods and goddesses of the past failed at. So, are you the key or the serpent? The latter will never serve you well, because it becomes the Ouroborus program, of rinse and repeat. Are you a washing machine? A hamster? A self-chewing snake? Or will you become a true god from within attained by self-mastery. Will you attain the upright sword? Or the cat holic reversed sword, one defends and one self-cuts. An anagram of sword is words, words can defend or cut you also, use them wisely. If you reverse the word sword brings in the word drows, is that the origin of to make you drowsy? Is that why many are sleepers? Who or what is the drows? The dark elves. Humanoids like spirits said to live down below the ground, and be blacker than pitch, all of which sounds like the Lucifer and Solomon Army. Perhaps the lesson is, to go and hug an enemy? And not continue the ouroborus cycle within? Because it is they who have helped you to see, providing you look. Reach out to someone within the group you may not see eye to eye with, thank them for their lesson, because by doing that, you have then saved the self, and the venomous serpent club that thrives on harvesting our energy, just lost a head. If we all keep doing that, the King has lost its crown, and the true rulers come forth. As patterns always repeat, if we keep doing that in this country, America will lose it and the Crown. Enemy, En to cause a person or thing to be in the place, condition, or state named by the stem, leaves you with emy, but if you add your own path to emy, you have em-path-y. Empath and the letter Y, begs the question why? Because the world of the empath is the path to service to others.
