The Vegetable Section of the Garden Guide is now complete and ready to put up on the TPC Web page.

This is an important milestone that represents a great deal of effort from all members of the TPC Gardening Communal Gathering.

We look forward to seeing the completion of the Cooking Herb section next.

The TPC Gardening and Non-GMO Communal Gathering is meeting every other Saturday at 9:00 am MST or 11:00 am EST

The next Gardening Zoom is Saturday, June 11th

The zoom link can be found in the Community Gatherings Forum under the Gardening CG Zoom Link Topic.

Questions regarding Episodes 1 to 4 have been resolved, Volume 1 initial index prepared and inserted for testing, and a first draft of the Volume 1 ePub version has been made. However, because of a glitch, Volume 1 base has undergone another review, with some modification. Volume 2 and Volume 3 have been put together in the first draft of a base template, complete with hyperlink removal and with pictures inserted into Volume 3. Photo rights need investigation. The editing team is awaiting final cover design and overall design input from the art team. Questions arising from Episodes 5 to 7 and 8b have been sent to Thomas for clarification. A Swedish translator has joined the team.

We finally received the Public Request Act on May 12th, two and half months after the request. Proceeded with next move in finalizing our letter of intent with the laws, the school board has broken and violations against the children. After sending these out they will have the choice to correct their decisions, and given the opportunity to make it right for all students.

Our goal is to give this information to parents and guardians of injured children, who have suffered through Covid vaccinations, face masks and transgender programming. By gathering all the information for parents and guardian, so that they can file a claim immediately and not wait for government red tape.

We are also developing a booklet on What is consent? And What are you consenting to? It's important to know on a daily basis what are you consenting to, and how we move forward in transitioning out of their world to ours. Anyone who is in the Communal Gatherings is welcome for input. We have topic under Positive Action for "What is Consent? And what are you consenting to?" please post and give an example.

We are also discussing protocols within the group to ensure focus, forward movement and self-responsibility.

TPC village update, we now have 3 homes on the lots and 2 occupied. Two more homes set to be delivered with 7-10 days, and 3 more to be occupied within the next 6 weeks. Work to build the 6th home expected to start late summer and so the village is starting to take shape.

This weekend at 12 noon MT we will be holding a zoom to discuss future projects that will impact us all. That time allows for European zone members to attend also. This will require more participation from you all, as it is of utmost importance, the time for sitting back is over and the real work begins now. The link will be posted in Mewe and also on THI-show.com. After last week's event, the downfall of Israel will now escalate big time. Already I have seen a short video done by the Council of the National Interest Foundation, which is made up of reporters, Congress people and ex CIA. They have decided they are going after Israel and in particular AIPAC and its control over the whole of Congress, plus the excessive aid given to the fake state of Israel. A team will be assembled to address this and engage that group on a wider scale.

NEWS: Lots of confirmations of our show tonight on many levels, including the recently put out Solutions show. The back channel chatter and rumors of China moving on Taiwan will create the usual fear package. The media will drum up their fear packages, out will roll fake experts who are all clown based puppets. Regaling about the threat of China, just like they did with Russia and Ukraine. But, by and large if Russia was such a threat, why have NATO not attacked back or defended Ukraine? All of which means something else is at play. All of which this show predicted, it's not rocket science because they only have one script. First things first to make things more clearer, anyone the US Junta is supporting has been proven to be of a rogue nature to we the people. Starting with the fake country itself Is Ra El, add in Saudi Arabia which is ran by the fake Jews also, throw in Ukraine more fake Jews and their bio-labs of destruction, throw in South Korea and their role in banking and trading fraud, India was supported over the more white race based Pakistan. Not to mention the US and others supported the genocide of Europe and the division of the Rus/Aryan/Slavic countries. And now we come to Taiwan, whose his story is written by the same fake Jews and their media monopoly of pro pagan da. The US also supported the Ugyhurs and made China look like the enemy, and yet China despite being the most populace country have never extended their borders. Now why is that you may ask? Whilst clowns delivered wars and pro pagan da, they got on with life and took over the world trading. They developed products, whilst the western clowns developed weapons, war machines and rank stupidity. The Ugyhurs are the Mongol Khans peoples, and subsequently part of the sub gray race under the worship of the Kali Ma. You wish to know who the real perpetrators of war? The countries ran by the fake Jews. Britain, France, Holland, America and Israel, the latter two of which has done 150 war acts between them since WW2. The world sat by and ignored it, why? Because the idiot pro pagan da box told them to. We wish to know why China led their world over the past 40 years? They never played their game, they played their own.

A federal judge in Louisiana on Friday blocked U.S. authorities from lifting COVID-19 restrictions, that empower agents at the U.S.-Mexico border to turn back migrants without giving them a chance to seek asylum. The nationwide injunction issued by U.S. District Judge Robert Summerhays means the restrictions, which were set to end on May 23, will remain in place across the border as the litigation proceeds, absent any appeal by the U.S. Department of Justice. The country is in a mess, enduring a so called pandemic, markets are crashing, inflation is rising, food and gas becoming luxury items, and a lack of cash at the Treasury. And yet the solution is to add more to the population, with the extra cost burdened onto the people. And still the Americans focus on divide and conquer, gender labeling and how only one colors lives matter. The thinking part of that story to be pondered on is, are they bringing in people to boost the numbers here, so that Americans won't notice of how many people have disappeared? Same applies in Europe, the hotbed of the jabbing exercises, remember Ukrainians had one of the lowest jab rates, now flooding into neighboring countries perhaps to boost their numbers as well. Having cleared out many States to create expensive them only cities in America, are they now doing it to countries as well?

Finally some common sense within Government, that in part echoes one of the solutions in the Solutions show. British Columbia will decriminalize possession of hard drugs such as illicit fentanyl, heroin, cocaine and methamphetamine, in a Canadian first. Effective Jan. 31, 2023, British Columbians 18 and older will be able to carry up to a cumulative total of 2.5 grams of these illicit substances, without the risk of arrest or criminal charges. Police are not to confiscate the drugs, and there is no requirement that people found to be in possession seek treatment. The production, trafficking and exportation of these drugs will remain illegal. The change comes six years after B.C. declared a public health emergency, in response to skyrocketing overdose deaths from an increasingly volatile drug supply. Close to 10,000 people have died since 2016 in B.C. alone, and advocates have put pressure on governments to re-examine drug laws, that they say were intended to minimize harms but have had the opposite effect. Fear of arrest can keep people who use drugs from seeking help, incarceration is associated with increased overdose risk, and Indigenous and racialized communities are disproportionately impacted. Criminal sanctions for personal drug use also run counter to government messaging that substance use is a health issue. The illicit drugs covered by the new rules are opioids including heroin and fentanyl, cocaine, methamphetamine and MDMA, the substances most commonly associated with toxic drug deaths, and most commonly seized by police. Police will maintain discretion to arrest and recommend charges for possessing other substances. That is a start, but hopefully they can do the other measures we put forward in our show.

News you didn't expect, but perhaps after a recent event, these will now escalate within the MSM. An MI6 agent mentioned it was doubtless Putin's latest appearances in public had been pre-recorded. Alternatively, he might have already died with a physique double taking his place. Putin could be very ailing and when he dies his loss of life might be saved secret for weeks, if not months. The famous dead and doubles used outed in the public now? Oh my. Putin died in 2015 and has been using doubles ever since, in fact he was using his brother and others as a double, long before he died. Type in Putin, then images and see for yourself.

A further example of people waking up and speaking up. An op-ed in France's Liberation newspaper asks: How far are we prepared to go in economic sanctions against Russia and what they mean in our daily lives? It's impossible to escape the constant undertone of the need to sacrifice for the greater global good, or else be viewed as a selfish idiot. And now, you risk even worse branding by the thought police if you don't fall in line with this new outlook, that of a Putin-enabler. At this rate, we'll soon be at the point where if you aren't living at the same standard as a Ukrainian refugee, then you're an earth-killing, gas-guzzling, democracy-hating glutton who has no business participating in polite society. If you think that it can't happen, just ask any of those who were shunned and marginalized without pity, losing their jobs, lifestyle, or freedom of travel amid the Covid crisis, when they refused to get vaccinated in order to obtain the coveted digital health pass. Western elites are exploiting this crisis to accelerate a long articulated agenda, that seems destined to lead to collective impoverishment to the benefit of a select few. They point and scream at Russia, advancing their pawns and scapegoats from behind fake virtue, don't fall for it. Exactly, where were the people supporting those who lost jobs, businesses and homes for a fake pandemic? All of which is why, we at THI must protect each other no matter what is the cost personally. The masses have proven to protect no one, including themselves as they sheep march into oblivion under a mass control and surveillance program. We cannot allow them to dictate our lives, they are blind sheep following the west gate looping system of parenting. Shameless children no matter what their ages are, who are too weak to stand up and be counted and want the control system to comfort them in false illusionary fluff and guff.

A Vatican cleric attending the 2022 Davos Summit, a conference hosted by the World Economic Forum (WEF) which advances a punishing green agenda, open borders, and future pandemic management, has said that the Catholic Church is committed to the various issues considered at the forum. Father Leonir Chiarello, Superior General of the Congregation of the Missionaries of Saint Charles (Scalabrinians), said that the Church leads the way in implementing many of the WEF's globalist ideals. Notice the use of the fake overlay green again, and yet again the Catholic church involved in the subversion against we the people. Forget their clown meetings, their plans don't work anymore, and will work less and less in the future.

THI has stated Ukraine was about two things, off world interference and the control of global trade between East and West, as this piece confirms the latter. The governments of the United States, the United Kingdom and other NATO members are preparing a major new stage of the US-NATO war against Russia, by using their warships to break the Russian blockade of Ukrainian ports, creating the conditions for a direct shooting war between NATO and Russian naval forces. This massive escalation by the US and NATO is being billed as a coalition of the willing, echoing the words used by the Bush administration to describe the 2003 invasion of Iraq. Retired four-star General Jack or jackass Keane, chairman of the Institute for the Study of War and chairman of AM General, called on Wednesday for the creation of an international coalition of warships led by the United States to secure control over the Black Sea. For the term United States read Rothschild and the Jewish EL-ites. Keane told Fox News and revealed what we said all along with this gem of information. We go to the port of Odessa, well I never, and let the ships pick up the grain that needs to be picked up and escort them out. Notice these psychopaths don't mention picking up the people? All about the damn shekels you see. The other risk is the Russian Navy is there, well could it be they will be there because it is their land? They could see this as a provocation, no shit sherlock give that man a blue peter badge for his Captain obvious observational skills, and we could have a prospective confrontation. He said it was well within the risk profile to get this done. So, grain is more important than people Mr. Keane, thank you for revealing this.

The global warming myth shattered again this week, as Utah, Wyoming and Idaho got dumped with between 16 and 36" of snow in the last week of May. Hurricane Agatha made history as the strongest hurricane ever recorded to come ashore in May during the eastern Pacific hurricane centre, making landfall on a sparsely populated stretch of small beach towns and fishing villages in southern Mexico. The storm came ashore in Oaxaca state Monday May 23rd in the late afternoon, how interesting the timing. As a strong Category 2 hurricane, with maximum sustained winds of 165 km/h, then it quickly lost power as it moved inland over the mountainous interior.

Further evidence of the depopulation program ongoing around the world, and one must take into account the report I did recently of the mass sterilization program done on this planet over the past 5 decades. Making the ridiculous conspiracy theory of the population climbing, border on comedic levels and Johns Hopkins math. Japan's population had its largest drop on record, falling by 644,000 to just over 125.5 million in 2021, reflecting a decline in foreign residents amid tighter border controls over the coronavirus pandemic and the rapidly aging society, according to government data. The population stood at 125,502,000 as of Oct. 1, down 644,000 from a year earlier for the 11th consecutive year of decline. The drop was the biggest since comparable data became available in 1950, the Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications said. The working population, of people between 15 and 64, dropped by 584,000 to 74,504,000, accounting for 59.4 percent of the overall population, a record low. Those 14 and below accounted for an all-time low of 11.8 percent of the total population, while people 65 and over made up a record high of 28.9 percent. Italy, Hong Kong and South Korea are also reporting record losses as well.

MEDICAL ISSUES: The back drop to this next piece was revealed last week, and here is a reminder. Candace Owens wasted no time pinning billionaire Bill Gates as the mastermind behind the Monkeypox outbreak. On Wednesday Owens began discussing the latest developments with the monkeypox virus that, has a recorded 200 confirmed and suspected cases across at least a dozen countries. Owens then went on to highlight that smallpox was eradicated in the 1980's but was concerned that, there still seems to have been some need to get some vaccines quietly approved in 2019. Denmark-based Bavarian Nordic A/S announced that the U.S. Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA), exercised the first options under an existing contract to supply a freeze-dried version of the JYNNEOS® smallpox vaccine. BARDA came up several times in our Exposés two years ago. Yet again those at the top levels of the US Military are operating in fields they don't belong in, and it is time for the whole budget of the US Military to be scrapped, and we rebuild a new Military, a global one. The first doses of this vaccine version will be manufactured and invoiced in 2023 and 2024. If exercised, additional options on the BARDA contract, support the conversion of up to a total of approximately 13 million freeze-dried doses of JYNNEOS smallpox vaccine, that are expected to be manufactured in 2024 and 2025. The majority of the bulk vaccines for these doses has already been manufactured. Yes, they were produced in 2019, the same time as the Covid. A supplement to the existing liquid frozen JYNNEOS U.S. FDA BLA will be made comprising Phase 3 clinical study data, which has already been completed and reported, together with the manufacturing data to support the approval of the freeze-dried version of JYNNEOS in 2024. Yet again the FDA is involved in this medical skullduggery, they like the clown disease corporation the CDC, that needs to be deleted entirely. A reminder again, the CDC, FDA, USDA and Fed are not Government institutions, they are private enterprises of the clown network. Paul Chaplin, President and CEO of Bavarian Nordic commented, we are pleased to announce the exercise of the first options under our contract with the U.S. government, to deliver a freeze-dried version of the smallpox vaccine with an improved shelf-life, which will be manufactured at our new fill and finish facility. This marks a significant milestone in our long-standing partnership with the U.S. government, to ensure availability of life-saving vaccines for the entire population. Piss off Mr. Chaplin stop acting like a Charlie you utter idiot. Yet again the US Government is involved in this, and yet again a reminder they are not a Government institution, but a private corporation acting as a Government. Jynneos is based on a live, attenuated vaccinia virus, Modified Vaccinia Ankara, MVA-BN, incapable of replicating in the human body yet able to elicit a potent immune response. To protect people from monkeypox, the Jynneos vaccine was approved by the U.S. FDA in 2019. Jynneos (Imvamune or Imvanex) was also approved by the European Medicines Agency in 2013 and is indicated for preventing smallpox and monkeypox disease in adults. Why would they approve of something to administer, when the disease was eradicated in the 1980's? Modified Vaccinia Ankara, what does Ankara have to do with it? Ankara is in Turkey, the gateway country between East and West, and home to the group known as the Hittites, another Jewish diaspora group. Ankara also means anchor, the anchor of the trading routes. Ankara or named Angora is famous for three animals, the rabbit, the goat and the cat. What a line up that is. Now the spy has unusual characteristics. Although they are known for their shimmery white coat, there are more than twenty varieties including black, blue and reddish fur. They come in tabby and tabby-white, along with smoke varieties, and are in every color other than pointed, lavender, and cinnamon all of which would indicate breeding to an outcross. Eyes may be blue, green, or amber, or even one blue and one amber or green. The W gene which is responsible for the white coat and blue eye is closely related to the hearing ability, and the presence of a blue eye can indicate that the cat is deaf to the side the blue eye is located. However, a great many blue and odd-eyed white cats have normal hearing, and even deaf cats lead a very normal life if kept indoors. Ears are pointed and large, eyes are almond shaped and the head is massive with a two plane profile. Another characteristic is the tail, which is often kept parallel to the back. Hmm all very Bastet to me. The word Jynneos got me pondering, spelt JYNN but pronounced as Djinn spelt DJINN, throw in the bots story which was enhanced by Be ill Gates of Covid jabs being a software update, and the three letters left eos, could well mean extra operating system. If you don't fully grasp that concept, watch the movie they put out in 2018 just before the Covid and Monkey Pox were created in a lab, called Extinction, and then you will grasp it.

Another example of the country not spending the people's money on the people themselves. The NHS has lost almost 25,000 beds across the UK in the last decade, according to a damning report that says the fall has led to a sharp rise in waiting times for A&E, ambulances and operations. The Royal College of Emergency Medicine said the huge loss of beds since 2010-11 was causing real patient harm and a serious patient safety crisis. At least 13,000 more beds are urgently needed, it added, in order to tackle unsafe bed occupancy levels, and grim waiting times for emergency care and handover delays outside hospitals. The UK has the second lowest number of beds per 1,000 people in Europe at 2.42, and has lost the third largest number of beds per 1,000 population between 2000 and 2021 (40.7%), the report said. There are currently 162,000 beds in the NHS across the UK, according to the college. 162K beds for a population of 68.5M people, what great planning that is- not. The situation is dire and demands meaningful action, said Dr Adrian Boyle, the college's vice-president. The numbers are grim, and they should shock all health and political leaders. These numbers translate to real patient harm and a serious patient safety crisis. The health service is not functioning as it should, and the UK government must take the steps to prevent further deterioration. The college's report said 13,000 staffed beds are required in the NHS across the UK to create meaningful change and improvement, which includes a significant improvement in A&E waiting times, ambulance response times, ambulance handover delays and a return to safe bed occupancy levels. It recommends opening at least 4,500 of these before winter. Too many shareholders and CEO's at hospitals is one of the reasons behind it, and the fact that one company like Serco tends to run all the Government services for profit. This should never have been allowed, private companies essentially running the Government. The great question is, why do we need Government if private companies are running the services?

Finally the UK Government has released figures on the jabs following the various stages of jabbing. This after saying in several FOIA's that they did not hold this type of data. According to the Office for National Statistics between 1st Jan 21 and 31st March 22, a total of 7,953 people died with Covid-19 within 28 days of vaccination, and a total of 61,513 people died of any other cause within 28 days of vaccination. This means that in all, 69,466 people died within 28 days of Covid-19 vaccination between January 2021 and March 2022. According to the Office for National Statistics between 1st Jan 21 and 31st March 22, a total of 14,049 people died with Covid-19 within 60 days of vaccination, and a total of 168,825 people died of any other cause within 60 days of vaccination. This means that in all, 178,874 people died within 60 days of Covid-19 vaccination between January 2021 and March 2022 in England. And still the corrupt medical, Government and media death stooges want to push these non-curing jabs? What's worse is that stupid people still want to take it.

The World Health Assembly has spent the past 7 days considering Biden's 13 controversial amendments to the International Health Regulations. Official delegates from wealthy developed nations like Australia, the UK, and the US spoke in strong support of the amendments, and urged other states to join them in signing away their countries' sovereignty. The first sign, however, that things might not be going the globalists' way, came on Wednesday, the 25th of May, which just happened to also be Africa Day. Botswana read a statement on behalf of its 47 AFRO members, saying they would be collectively withholding their support for the reforms, which many African members were very concerned about. Multiple other countries also said they had reservations over the changes and would not be supporting them either. These included Brazil, Russia, India, China, South Africa, Iran and Malaysia. Brazil in particular said it would exit WHO altogether, rather than allow its population to be made subject to the new amendments. In the end, the WHO and its wealthy nation supporters were forced to back down. They have not given up though, far from it. Instead, they did what they always do and pivoted. At their request, a new working group was convened to make technical recommendations on the proposed amendments, which will be re-submitted along with the Pandemic Treaty, at the 77th Health Assembly meeting in 2024. There has also been lots of pushback from Republicans in the US, with a number of them introducing new bills giving the US Congress/Senate powers to override any WHO mandates, or directives issued as part of any international agreements. One, called the No WHO Pandemic Preparedness Treaty Without Senate Approval Act has 15 co-sponsors, and was introduced to the Senate on Thursday by Republican Senator Ron Johnson who said, the sovereignty of the United States is not negotiable. Oops seems people are finally cottoning on to what the medical clowns are up to. The questioning of things now is arising, and will hopefully lead to deeper scrutiny of everything. The House of cards is beginning to collapse, and their Orange Revolution becoming spoilt fruit.

The prediction was made by Nokia's CEO Pekka Lundmark during his panel appearance at the WEF in Davos this week: The World Economic Forum has declared that all humans will have smartphones, embedded into their bodies by the year 2030. Perhaps we should literally insert all of our smartphones up the jacksies of these psychopaths. Lundmark believes people will be transitioning away from smartphones and towards face wearables like glasses. Just like They Live all so you can't see their eyes, which reveals what they are. Just as Clowns in Panic predicted all ran by Robert David Steele and his OSS clowns. Mr. Lundmark or Mr. nomark you can stick your plans where the sun don't shine, where not buying what you offer.

IS RA EL: Another example of our solutions show, funny how things are converging so quickly now. The visiting Arizona Gov. Doug Ducey advanced a major desalination project for his state in meetings with top Israeli officials on Tuesday, which he believes will secure water for Arizona for the next 100 years. In Israel on a five-day trade mission on his third visit as governor, Ducey met with President Isaac Herzog, Prime Minister Naftali Bennett and opposition leader Benjamin Netanyahu. They discussed how Arizona can learn from Israel, and cooperate with the Jewish state in making the Arizona desert bloom. He toured an extensive desalination plant, and wrote on social media that such innovations are part of the solution to secure his state's water future. He said desalination had made Israel the world's water superpower and a role model for Arizona. In meetings with Israeli officials, they discussed advancing the $677 million in annual trade between Arizona and Israel in hi-tech and cybersecurity. For hi-tech and cybersecurity read spying. Ducey brought along a delegation from the Arizona Commerce Authority. Another Israeli puppet selling his state out to the shekel merchants.

The United States has removed five extremist groups, all believed to be defunct, from its list of foreign terrorist organizations. In notices published in the Federal Register on Friday, the State Department said it had removed the groups after a mandatory five-year review of their designations. The organizations removed are the Basque separatist group ETA, the Japanese cult Aum Shinrikyo, the radical Jewish group Kahane Kach and two Islamic groups that have been active in Israel, the Palestinian territories and Egypt. Pity they won't speak up or address the terrorist organizations on our own soil, like AIPAC, J Street and other Israeli organizations.

A positive sign of changes in the Middle East it seems, of people fighting back and echoing things going on a much wider scale. The most remarkable aspect of Turkish Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu's visit to al-Aqsa Mosque compound on the Temple Mount, was that it was so unremarkable. Cavusoglu visited the site without Israeli security guards and was accompanied by Azzam al-Khatib, the director-general of the Jordanian-controlled Wakf Muslim religious trust. He was not met on the compound by throngs waving Turkish flags and did not repeat, whether before he went to the site or when he left it, the need for Muslims to conquer al-Aqsa by flooding it with visitors. Unlike Tayyip Erdogan did when speaking in 2017 at a conference on Jerusalem held in Istanbul, Erdogan called on Muslims worldwide to visit al-Aqsa often as a way of gaining control, saying that each day that Jerusalem is under occupation is an insult to us. The Turkish president then put his government's money where his mouth was, and subsidized Turkish visitors wanting to make a pilgrimage to the site. Thousands of Turkish tourists began flowing to Jerusalem's Old City, and the Turkish flag flew from the Aqsa compound as well as on rooftops and in front of restaurants in the Old City and east Jerusalem. According to Baruch Yedid, the Arab affairs correspondent for Channel 14 who led a media tour of Jerusalem Sunday sponsored by the Sovereignty Movement, the Turkish government helped refurbish some 70 buildings in the Old City. Some of these refurbished buildings were designed to service the Turkish religious pilgrims, who could enter a coffee shop on one of the alleyways near the Temple Mount. Where they could watch Erdogan's speeches, and those of Islamic Movement Northern Branch head Raed Salah on big-screen televisions. Saleh has for years been waging the al-Aqsa is in danger campaign against Israel, and in Erdogan found a receptive ear and close ally for years. At the opening of a parliament session in 2020, with dreams of resurrecting the glory of the Ottoman Empire still in his mind, Erdogan said, Jerusalem is ours, one of our cities. His actions to gain inroads in the city including donating 300 laptops to schools in the Old City, so pupils could learn Turkish showed that he meant it. The Turks are but one piece of a power struggle taking place among Palestinian groups Hamas and Fatah, and Arab countries such as Turkey, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Morocco, for a foothold in Jerusalem. Each little chunk of the city that another actor tries to grab for itself, chips away at Israeli sovereign control and this competition is fierce. Chipping away at Israel and their control of things is one thing, but why does someone else have to claim it, just leave it open for everyone. Let's become adults for once, it belongs to no one in particular, unless you wish to include off world entities, that was their region, not something for religions to fight over. This competition played out most recently during Ramadan, when Israelis woke up to violent clashes on the Temple Mount, and were stunned to see a wave of the green flags of Hamas where the Jewish temples once stood. Samer Sinjilawi, an east Jerusalem Fatah activist and chairman of the Jerusalem Development Fund, said that, contrary to a growing perception among Israelis, Hamas has not taken control of the Aqsa compound or won over the hearts and minds of east Jerusalem Arabs. That he said, is a figment of the Israeli media's imagination. Typical of the media, create fractious points for people to fight over. But after what Yedid called a very green Ramadan on the Temple Mount, the massive funeral in Jerusalem of CNN correspondent Shireen Abu Akleh, killed two weeks ago during a fire in Jenin that was organized and run by Fatah as a response to Hamas; as a show of force and a way of demonstrating its presence. Fifty-five years after Israel won Jerusalem during the Six Day War, the battle for control of the city continues to take place at various levels. Jordan is trying to assert control over the Temple Mount and al-Aqsa Compound, by demanding to increase the number of Wakf employees and returning the status quo at the site. What this means for Jordan is, replacing the Israel police who currently stand guard at all the entrances to the compound, including the Mugrabi Gate from which Jews and tourists are allowed access, with Wakf guards. Up until 1996, it was Wakf guards who were positioned at the entryways to the Temple Mount. How about creating a number of each groups guards of equal number, that learn to understand and work with each other to just keep the peace? Hamas is trying to assert its control as protector of the city by threatening to fire rockets, as it did last May, if it is unhappy with the developments in the city. It was threatening to fire rockets if the Jerusalem Day march goes ahead last Sunday. Fatah is trying to assert control by getting its members placed on the expanded Wakf board, as well as supporting a multitude of organizations throughout the city. The easiest way the Arabs could make their presence felt in the city would be through voting in municipal elections, something they are entitled to do as Jerusalem residents. Sinjilawi, a staunch opponent of Palestinian Authority President Mahmoud Abbas, said that the older guard of Fatah is opposed to Arab participation in municipal elections, because it could be interpreted as recognizing Israeli control. He said many in the younger guard, however, believe this is an option that should be considered. According to Yedid, the decision by Ra'am Party head Mansour Abbas to join the government coalition, has led to a rethinking of the wisdom of boycotting the Israeli political process. Interesting stuff as the increase in taking on Israel and its junta is now gaining much momentum, and time the Israeli people took note and create groups that can work with the opposing groups. Formulate a plan of togetherness and shared spaces, before certain elements crush them by sheer numbers. Don't expect for one second the Israeli Government will support you, because they won't. They are self-serving psychopaths for an off world program.

For the evidence of being swamped by numbers, this piece reveals the Israeli plight. Chaim Silberstein, the head of an NGO called Keep Jerusalem, said that if current demographic trends in the city continue, then if east Jerusalem Arabs decide to vote, within 15 years they could elect an Arab mayor of the capital. Before the Six Day War, Arabs made up only 1% of the part of divided Jerusalem under Israeli control. When Israel took control of the entire city in 1967 and expanded the municipal borders to include several Arab villages, the Arab population rose to 70,000, constituting some 26% of the united city's entire population. By 1990 the Jewish-Arab breakdown was 72% to 26% favoring the Jews, falling to 68%-32% in 2010, and now standing at about 60%-40%. Jerusalem's current population stands at 958,000, of which 581,000 (354,000 Arabs and 227,000 Jews) live in areas that Israel gained control of in 1967. The dramatic change in the capital's demography is not the result of a high Arab and low Jewish birth rate among Jerusalem residents, but because of Jewish flight from the city over the past quarter-century because of a lack of employment opportunities and affordable housing. Each year between 7,000 to 10,000 Jews leave the city, Silberstein said, adding said that in the last 25 years some 450,000 Jews have left Jerusalem, and only 260,000 have moved in, translating into a net loss to the city of some 190,000 Jews. The demographic problem has been compounded by runaway illegal building in the Arab sector, which Silberstein asserted was being guided by the Palestinian Authority. No one has accurate figures on the extent of the illegal building, but Yedid said that according to UN numbers between 28% and 46% of east Jerusalem Arabs live in illegal structures. Illegal structures oh my the irony, because Is ra el is one giant illegal structure, and they focus on Arab housing, whilst conveniently forgetting the illegal structures called Settlements, pale or otherwise.

EXPOSE: This has all the echoes of what created the fake Mormon religion, how following one egotistical idiot leads to a cult. How that cult then corrupts the local region, and ultimately how the so-called Israelites created absolute chaos, wherever they went. This time in South Africa, where a little-known massacre unfolded on a scale bigger than the Jim Jones cult. A Timeline of the Bulhoek Massacre. 1868 Enoch Mgijima is born at Bulhoek, Eastern Cape, the son of Jonas Mayekiso Mgijima.

1907 19 April, Enoch, who had already gained quite a reputation in his region as a lay preacher and as an independent evangelist, has a vision while hunting small game. In his vision, he receives several revelations from an angel, one of which requires him and his people to worship the Lord in accordance with established traditions. Just like Joseph Smith and his cult, funny how these angels only arrive to create religions isn't it?

1910 April, Halley's Comet appears in the sky. Enoch believes this to be a sign that God is angry with humans, and that they should go back to their Old Testament beliefs.

1912 Enoch breaks away from the Wesleyan Methodist denomination and joins the Church of God and Saints of Christ, which is run by African American missionaries. Enoch then claims to be the prophet of the African continent and the Church of God and Saints of Christ, oh dear. Then in November 1912, Enoch begins to baptize his followers in the Black Kei River next to his home in Ntabelanga. In line with his personal identification with the Hebrews of the Old Testament he calls his followers Israelites. Enoch predicts that the end of the world will take place on Christmas Day. As a result, the Israelites stop working and ploughing of their fields, but Enoch's prediction fails the test of reality.

1914 Enoch receives another message from God, who asks him if he could hear the thunder in the distance. The thunder symbolized a catastrophic war on earth which was going to destroy all sinners. Only those who were faithful to God's Word would be spared. A common fear porn tactic of religions, if you don't do this you're all going to die and burn in hell. Enoch's visions become more violent. He is asked by the leaders of the Church of God and the Saints of Christ to renounce his visions, as they cannot condone the preaching of conflict or war. Enoch refuses and he is excommunicated from the church. This results in a split into two factions, the Church of God and Saints of Christ, and the Enoch's Israelite faction. Another common theme and tactic throughout their story, a divide and conquer tactic which then ultimately leads to war. 28 July, When World War I begins, Enoch sees the event as the fulfilment of his earlier vision.

1917 13-20 April, The Israelites' Passover ceremony is held at the local Shiloh Mission Station.

1918 April, The Shiloh Mission Station refuses to allow the Israelites to use their property for Enoch's Passover celebration. As a result, Enoch applies to Geoffrey Nightingale, the government's inspector of African locations, to host their Passover festivities at the commonage at the Kamastone. Permission is granted on the condition that the churchgoers leave immediately after Passover.

1919 Enoch re-applies to host the Passover festivities at Kamastone, but objections from other residents ensure his application is rejected. Kama stone has an interesting twist to it. Though the Kāma superficially resembles a tattooed seal, it is actually a pyramid-shaped barb that is embedded in the vessel's body. Upon activation the visible marking will spread across the vessel's body, at times taking on different patterns depending on the abilities being used. Sounds like voodoo mixed with off world technology to me. He then applies to hold the festivities at Ntabelanga, in the Bulhoek sub-section, and permission is granted. After Enoch calls upon all his followers at a church service, 3000 Israelites from all over South Africa gather in Ntabelanga to await the coming of the Lord. Oh dear and what where they going to do if he did turn up? Awaiting the plagues and fiery serpents again? 1920 Geoffrey Nightingale, the government inspector of African locations, reluctantly agrees to allow the Israelites to hold their Passover festival at Ntabelanga. 8 June, Geoffrey Nightingale visits Ntabelanga and finds that many Israelites are building houses there. You see, nothing changes with these people, they take advantage of the local hospitality, and then trample all over them on the vision of some savior man and a set of unproven religious books. It is beyond comprehension how we as a collective have fallen for such bizarre conspiracies. Once again Nightingale agrees to let the Israelites stay temporarily, despite being uneasy about the situation. July, The headman of Kamastone complains to Geoffrey Nightingale that more Israelites are arriving and erecting houses illegally. Yes a new settlement is born. September, Nightingale estimates that 1200 to 1300 Israelites are living in Ntabelanga, and the majority are doing so illegally. As a result, Queenstown officials begin considering methods to pressure the Israelites to leave. Summonses are sent to 20 Israelites to appear in court for illegal squatting. Nightingale tries to create a list of all the Israelites at Ntabelanga but the Israelite leaders refuse to co-operate. Another common theme of these people is, they think they are above the law, over a hundred years later that hasn't changed it seems. Two Israelites, Charles Mgiijima and Adonijah Ntloko, write a letter to the Queenstown magistrate in which they explain: We are not making war against you; we are your servants living in this place for the purpose of praying and fearing God's wrath which is coming upon the whole world, we humbly beg you to give us a chance to pray. White officials in Queenstown are not convinced that the Israelites are peaceful. The police and Native Affairs officials dealing with policies towards Africans in Pretoria, tell the Queenstown officials to tactfully enforce the law and persuade the Israelites to leave. October, Ntabelanga is at this point a permanent settlement with streets and sturdy brick homes. 7 December, The Senior Magistrate of Queenstown, ECA Welsh, visits Ntabelanga. He is accompanied by 100 police officers under the command of Major Hutchons from Grahamstown. The police set up their tents 500 meters from the Israelites' settlement. 8 December, Israelite leaders and police officers meet to discuss the matter but neither side is prepared to compromise. As part of the Israelite church service 1000 Israelites begin marching as the discussions come to an end. Just like they did last week to intimidate the Palestinians. Thinking that the Israelites are preparing an attack, the officers fled to a farm three miles away, but the Israelites do not seize their supplies or belongings. The police withdrawal causes certain issues to arise, stories are spreading that the police had shot at the Israelites. A group of Africans challenge White authority. White farmers in the area are alarmed and relocate their families to towns like Queenstown. 14 December, A white farmer, John Mattushek, shoots two Israelites looking for food on his land, one is killed and the other wounded. The South African government asks a group of moderate Africans from the Eastern Cape, to persuade the Israelites to leave. The group, consisting of JT Jabavu, Meshach Pelem, Patrick Xabanisa and Chief Veldtman, fail to convince the Israelites to leave. 17 December, The government sends a White delegation including top army and police officers and the secretary of Native Affairs, EJ Barrett, to meet the Israelites. The Israelites state that they will not move unless they receive a message from God. That decision was to prove costly, the reliance on a god they have never seen has cost many their lives on this planet. 1921 April, Charges against John Mattushek are dropped as the Israelites refuse to appear in court, they believe government officials will arrest them if they leave Ntabelanga. 6 and 8 April, Prime Minister Jan Smuts sends the newly appointed Native Affairs Commission to Queenstown. Enoch sends his brother, nephew and another high-ranking church member to negotiate on his behalf. Another common theme amongst the self appointed EL-ites, they use others to do their dirty work. If he was the great savior, why didn't he go? They claim that they wished to obey the law of the land, but Jehovah was more powerful than the law, and they fear to offend him by disregarding his wishes and obeying the laws of men. Oh dear Jehovah, like all other fake gods abandoned the people. In May, Whites see the Israelites defiance in Ntabelanga as Black Bolshevism and the issue is widely discussed. Interesting terminology they used there, and obviously were aware of the Russian Bolsheviks takeover of that time. The reference to black is the sub gray element. The government puts together the largest force of police and soldiers since the Union of South Africa had been established in 1910. Colonel Truter is placed in charge of 800 White policemen and soldiers selected from around the country to assemble in Queenstown. 11 May, The Native Affairs Commission attempts to negotiate with the Israelites, but the Israelites continue to refuse to leave the area. 17 May, Newspapers such as Imvo Zbanstundu and The Star urge the government to enforce the law at Bulhoek. The General Council of the Transkeian Territories passes a resolution criticizing the Israelites. 21 May, Colonel Truter issues his final ultimatum: The Israelites are to leave Ntabelanga or the police will arrest Enoch and demolish the houses. 22 May, Delegates Silwana Nkopo and Samuel Matshoba deliver a letter from Enoch to Colonel Truter in which he defends the Israelite position. Enoch asks Colonel Truter if he is planning to destroy them. Colonel Truter warns Enoch that serious consequences will follow if the Israelites continue their resistance. Enoch advises his followers that they can leave before the police arrive, but no one leaves the village. 23 May, The Police mobilize and move to a farm close to Bulhoek. The force is well armed with three machine guns and artillery. 24 May, at about 10:30am the police and soldiers are in position around Ntabelanga overlooking the Israelite village. The Israelite men, about 500 armed with clubs and spears, are split into regiments and prepare for battle. At 11:30am the Israelites are given a final chance to discuss the situation. Edward Mpateni and Charlton Mzimkulu come forward to meet three policemen, Sergeant Wicks, Sergeant Boucher and Inspector WH Quirk. Wicks restates Colonel Truter's ultimatum and the negotiation fails. It is not certain how the battle started but it may have begun after a shot is accidentally fired, resulting in the two sides clashing. The Israelites run towards the police lines and are gunned down. After about 20 minutes, 200 Israelites are dead and almost 100 wounded, one policeman suffers from a stab wound. Proves there is nothing more stupid than religious fervor. Enoch is arrested without resistance from the Israelites. Colonel Truter tells Enoch, I hold you responsible for all this bloodshed. Enoch replies: You take your orders from the government, I take mine from Jehovah. But Jehovah just got 200 people killed and 100 injured, what was the sense in that thinking? In November, a two-week trial of 141 Israelites begins in Queenstown. They are charged with sedition or violent and forcible conduct against the authority of the state. Forty witnesses support the contention that the Israelites had used their religious beliefs to hide their real political objective, namely that they were organizing a rebellion. Something those type of people have done all too often, and still doing it in Palestine, Jordan, Syria and Ukraine, at the cost of many lives. Enoch Mgijima, Charles Mgijima and Gilbert Matshoba were sentenced to six years hard labor at De Beer's Convict Station in Kimberley. One hundred and twenty-nine of their followers are sentenced to between 12 and 18 months of hard labor. 1924 Charles Mgijima dies in prison, Enoch Mgijima is released from prison. 1929 5 March, Enoch Mgijima dies at the age of 71. What a sad tale and waste of life, and high time the Israelis saw through what unfolds when they push on other people's lands. Either they are being pushed onto lands or the sheer arrogance of them as the chosen ones, means they believe everything belongs to them. Those policies have cost so many their lives, and will continue to do so unless they change their ways and adapt to whatever local culture they join. 106 countries in 2000 years can't all be wrong or anti- Semitic, you can't just go onto other peoples land and take over.

This is an excerpt from a book by Mauro Biglino and an interview with Giorgio Cattaneo Undressing the Bible. All Jewish people should listen to this and consider the possibility you have been massively duped. Accepting that fact can then lead to real change on this planet, those fake gods have used you in a sick and twisted stacked deck game. He said in Hebrew, the Old Testament speaks for itself, explicitly and transparently. It tells of mysterious beings, special and powerful ones, that appeared on Earth. Where they Aliens? Former earthlings? Superior civilizations, that have always been present on our planet? Creators, manipulators, geneticists, aviators, warriors, despotic rulers. Scientists, possessing very advanced knowledge, special weapons and science-fiction-like technologies. Once naked, the Bible is very different from how it has always been told to us: it does not contain any spiritual, omnipotent and omniscient God, no eternity. No apples and no creeping, tempting, serpents, no winged angels, not even the Red Sea, the people of the Exodus just wade through a simple reed bed. Writer and journalist Giorgio Cattaneo sits down with Italy's most renowned biblical translator, for his first long interview about his life's work for the English audience. A decade long official Bible translator for the Church and lifelong researcher of ancient myths and tales, Mauro Biglino is a unicum in his field of expertise and research. A fine connoisseur of dead languages, from ancient Greek to Hebrew and medieval Latin, he focused his attention and efforts on the accurate translating of the bible. The encounter with Mauro Biglino and his work, the journalist writes is profoundly healthy, stimulating and inevitably destabilizing: it forces us to reconsider the solidity of the awareness that nourishes many of our common beliefs. And it is a testament to the courage that is needed, today more than ever, to claim the full dignity of free research. YHWH came to earth about 5000 years back, he was not alone. YHWH is just one of the El (Elohim) who the Jews decided to follow, he offered them a choice and they chose him, and he accepted their forced decision. YHWH is not a god, we know this as YHWH demanded the Jews provide him with 6 liters of alcohol a day. He also he made them pay fines in the form of silver shekels, in addition they had to perform regular census of all that YHWH owned. YHWH was not omniscient if he had to have the Jews count themselves, their flocks and lands so that YHWH would know how much he owned. YHWH was not transcendent, but had a physical body that craved drink and the fats of new born lambs, or new born children. YHWH needed the Jews to supply him with silver coinage, as that was the currency that the Elohim used between themselves for settlement of their interactions, especially their gambling debts. YHWH is the one who invented, and sanctioned the collection of interest for loans. YHWH provided, not 10, but actually 613 commandments on how the Jews should live as his servants. Most of these were about how to prepare the burnt offerings of abdomen fats from children, killed in their raids on the pre-Adamite humans, to his liking, and how to make the 6 liters of fortified wine he required daily. The brazen altar means burnt offerings. Yahweh was no different to Solomon and Herod, child sacrifices where the order of the day and many lost their lives to this fake god. YHWH is reckoned as one of over 240 EL's, who were claiming to be lords over the humans they found on earth. He was not the boss of the Elohim, nor even in the top tier of the El here on earth. We would think of him as being a captain or major in an army that had ranks extending to General. YHWH was such an aggressive personality that the entourage of the El basically hated him and worked against him. Those support staff for the Elohim, translated as arch angels who worked for the chief of the Elohim, got so much flak from YHWH that they constantly plotted his undoing. For arch angels read archon angels. YHWH instructed his Jews in killing humans. No you know who in part wrote the Talmud, it is the same script of racist, genocidal narratives. When he sent the Israelites against the hunter-gatherer tribes in E-Din what we call Eden, now basically Mesopotamia down to Egypt, YHWH claimed all of the belly fats from all the children, and some of the women, that his Jews killed. YHWH did not allow the Jews to take prisoners, or accept surrender. The author said, Yep, it is going to be a very interesting rest of this decade as we get into serious real history. Read the Naked Bible that you may know how the translators have been misled, and how they were played, and have played you with their translations. An interesting look on things and mirrors much of our story, and time the Jews found out who their fake god really is, and what it represents to them. That god like all the fake gods before and after him, were not gods at all, just beings from another planet here to harvest us. Religion is their tool and operational mode for controlling the populace from afar, just insert the fear program and peoples own fears keeps them in line. That is how it works or indeed worked, as many are now walking away from those cults, be it Christian, Hindu, Jewish or Muslim. Perhaps with that program gone we can all learn to come and work together again.

OTHER PIECES: In 1912 on April 15th, they re-arranged the decks not only on the fake Titanic, but the rest of the world. In 2020 when people started to “see”, we set a course of calmer waters and re-arranged our own decks, that still applies and unfolds to this day and forward. This is a good perspective from one of the members of the state of play of the past and in some cases currently, but that is now undergoing real change. Why are they doing vaccines it when it doesn't work? Conditioning, mental programming and preparing them for harvesting? If they can make you believe in something, it becomes reality for you. You can call it in essence, soul hunting or fishing. What do you think the highest free masons or black magicians are building? Real architecture? temples? castles? No, they build prison for our minds and in reality corporations to catch us, to hold on to us, to even hinder us, to keep us. They want to use our projectors and hijack it. Mind Prisons = Egregors, they are information fields with a life on their own if people believe it, and are putting energy into it, their attention, emotions and especially fear. All religions, all cults, all cultures are egregors, be it Antifa, BLM, NAZI, Bolshevik, Jews, Muslims, Christians. Egregors include certain rites, rituals, languages, words, symbols etc. and can be devastating when unleashed uncontrolled. They are tools, and tools can always be used as weapons too, all acting like pathological entities without a conscience on their own. Look at Sri Lanka an Egregor out of control or not? Is it used/controlled or is it just unleashed? Again, like every big entity, corporation, government, cult, idea, ideology, agenda etc. they are metaphysical energy structures and can act as entities themselves, and are being used to imprison or use people, to funnel or focal their energy for a certain outcome and to harvest the results. Our aim is always balance. So, how is the consciousness of humans steered in a balanced way? Too much good will lead to chaos the same way that too much evil does, in us and outside of us. They are a pendulum, a teeter-totter. If it swings in the one direction, it will swing to other side, and so balance with chaos. That's the work of the hermetic orders of the world, whether you like it or not. They hold the consciousness of humans together, in balance, so that nothing, no egregor, with good or evil intentions will actually destroy this space. They are riding the collective unconscious and its products, it's all about balance. If consciousness of humans or bots gets out control, even psychotic, it will be balanced out. Meaning, that some won't make it. They made their choice in the overall laws of the universe. Free will if manipulated or not doesn't matter in the overall evolution of consciousness. A good summary and something for all to think about.

The ridiculous Cat holic myth of humanoid life started 6000 years ago, continues to be the conspiracy theory it is. Ignoring the fact that Gobekli Tepi is dated 11k years ago, and of course in our Cosmic genetic series, life goes back 950B years ago. This planet itself is at least 23-24B years old, and their science, medical expertise is now all being laid to waste. A team of French, American and Turkish paleontologists and geologists led by CNRS researchers, has discovered the existence of a forgotten continent they have dubbed Balkanatia, which today covers the present-day Balkans and Anatolia. That was part of the Milk Ocean. Formerly inhabited by a highly specific fauna, they believe that it enabled mammals from Asia to colonize Europe 34 million years ago. Just mammals? Surely, they jest? For millions of years during the Eocene Epoch 55 to 34 million years ago, Western Europe and Eastern Asia formed two distinct land masses with very different mammalian faunas. European forests were home to endemic fauna such as Palaeotheres, an extinct group distantly related to present-day horses, but more like today's tapirs, whereas Asia was populated by a more diverse fauna including the mammal families found today on both continents. We know that, around 34 million years ago, Western Europe was colonized by Asian species, leading to a major renewal of vertebrate fauna and the extinction of its endemic mammals, a sudden event called the Grande Coupure. Surprisingly, fossils found in the Balkans point to the presence of Asian mammals in southern Europe long before the Grande Coupure, suggesting earlier colonization. This is why people have to be more common sense based over land rights of, who was the first? In an advance civilization land ownership should not be required.

More evidence that science is starting to question things in a common sense. The data Hubble has captured continues to challenge what we know about how fast the universe is expanding. NASA says that there appears to be a key discrepancy in the universe's rate of expansion, around us compared to observations of the early universe right after the Big Bang. Well I never. It is an interesting dilemma, and it has scientists a bit baffled. As such, NASA has summed it up mostly as something weird going on in the universe. Finally they are beginning to wake up it seems, there has a number of these types of stories recently.

The problem the other world face is, and why I warned it was too late for them to catch up in an easier way back in November 2017, is they have to learn to unlearn the lies they have been fed. That requires an open mind, not easy when so many have religious hooks, and then a change of mindset almost of 120 degrees. It is not an easy process as you can all attest to, it can be brutal and painful in various aspects, but with perseverance it can be overcome, as many of you have. All of you have made and undertaken an extraordinary journey, a lonely and sometimes hurtful journey, but how many will walk in your shoes? You can't go back once the real truth starts to kick in, it becomes infectious, as we all greedily devour on the banquet of truth, with all its sins. Many haven't got the mental fortitude, their lives and thinking are too shallow, and they wallow in service to self, those people live in a bubble world, where bad things only happen to other people, not them. I can't imagine them operating in a WW1 type setting with sleep deprivation, wallowing in mud in the trenches, those people would sit there doing selfies and asking when is dinner. Whilst the few fight, and this is what we have now in essence, only the few are really prepared to put their lives on the line, for the benefit of others. So, will the sleepers catch up? not really, you all are too far ahead in terms of knowledge, understanding and in many cases empathy. The difficulty they face is they learn with guilt, of knowing they were told about this and chose to ignore it, a double burden in essence, and so their sin eating will carry a much heavier burden in some aspects. You all chose wisely to board the truth train, give yourself some credit for doing so from time to time, reflect on how far you have come, not always how far to go. This truth train has no stops, there is no layover at certain stations, it speeds up and slows down at times, but it ain't stopping ever.

This is an analogy of what is playing out on this planet in terms of a jigsaw puzzle. You start off with a box of jigsaw pieces and you open the box, you think that box is yours until the box is unsealed. So you set off building the jigsaw picture, but you are unaware of the rules, as before the box was opened the 4 corner pieces were given to one group, 1/2 of the puzzle was given to another group and the other 1/2 another group and those two groups think they own the whole jigsaw and begin to assemble it. Then they both realize until too late, they don't have all the pieces, so they the two groups, starting stealing each other's jigsaw pieces to complete the jigsaw, oblivious to the fact the 4 corner pieces are still missing and will not be returning them to the box. So they fight over all the pieces convincing themselves they both own the jigsaw and carnage ensues, which is what we see today. The lessons from this is A: those groups are fighting over control of the jigsaw that doesn't belong to them B: they fight over controlling a jigsaw that no longer exists and C: they have collective Alzheimer's and sold the jigsaw many times over and forgot that fact and D: you all do realize we are the jigsaw pieces in the box, let that sink in. The group with the 4 corners pieces who seemingly had so much less than the other two groups, actually removed the jigsaw in its totality and built a new one, so all the people can have a jigsaw box.

ENDING PIECE: As the Texas shooting information contradicts their own contradictions, the theater of the absurd is now falling apart as well. Did the event happen or was it another of the distraction programs, laced with hidden agendas? What is the reasoning behind false flags? A: it creates fear B: it lowers people's vibration C: upsets people and creates unbalanced thinking and D: they wish to remove the guns from people. The latter is not because of school shootings or anything else, but in case the public rise up and take them out. But we have a plan so it doesn't have to be that way, come and speak with us. It is they who are in fear, they are terrified because shows like ours in particular, has not only outed them, as many people have outed them previously, but it did not create sufficient ripples to unhinge them. What our show did was, we went back in time and so people could see the flow of it all. We also connected the dots and the whole interconnectedness of it all. We showed how just a small number of people can excerpt influence on the many, and THI/TPC endeavors to reverse that influence and carnage program with just a few also, initially. This week I read piece which connects to the pieces last week, here is a reminder. Oh the headlines, if a picture paints a thousand words, what does a few connected and well timed headlines do? The Palestinian Authority announced on Thursday the shooting death of Al Jazeera journalist Shireen Abu Akleh, with proof she was deliberately killed by Israeli forces as she tried to flee. Israel's untenable political dysfunctionality exposed in a ridiculous Knesset battle. As Hasidic Jews battle each other, the scenes in several ultra-Orthodox towns and neighborhoods around Israel on the Jewish Sabbath, May 21, seemed taken out of a horror movie. The US exposes the Israelis for killing the Iranian Colonel. Russia is presented with a map of Jewish heritage sites inUkraine. As the Muslims and Hindus battle rages on the streets and courts in India, is there a pattern, a timing of events? Some added pieces this week shows it is not going away, the world is turning on the real problem, it was in our faces all along but people were too scared to face it. That is no different to those who were in the Astral realm, running away all the time, instead of turning and facing your own demons per se. This week I read an op-ed piece from a Middle Eastern correspondent, titled Biden fiddles whilst Israel burns. The events done last week by THI members has escalated that burning, in a reverse sacrificial way for the greater good. All of which is highly ironic to me at least. The entities known as Is Ra El is collapsing under its own darkness programs, and the Jewish people need to recognize that, and come and join us in a far bigger mission than people can comprehend. I and we went on the trip with 4 projects to announce, since then those projects have increased to 11, with 2 other projects of tiny importance. And before one particular person asks the question, my reply will be, just a little patience yeah yeah. Things are about to get serious, we have laid the foundations, the beasts are slayed and the dark forces onlookers in the night sky came to watch their own demise. We have the most amazing and massive opportunity to chart our own path, one we must take advantage of. The old ways and systems failed every entity on and in this planet, it was turned into a slavery colony of epic proportions. Remember the start of part 5 in the 100 series? Where Clarke Griffin was alone with her adopted daughter? What arrived on the planet? A colony slave ship, that is the external representation of the internal, the real ship was this planet itself, and we are or were the slaves, both human and non-human. Controlled from afar by using a few thugs with egos off the charts, to keep us all in line using one element, fear. They created systems all based in fear and so we kept in line for the fear of upsetting the gods, that program was religion. All of them. If you don't do this the gods will be unhappy, let's show some actual backbone and show those weak and pathetic gods our own power, of which they fear the most. They were not gods, they were under developed ET's mired in darkness, greed, death and destruction as they gorged upon everything in their path. In overview they were the fasche weapon, destroying everything in their path and way. But, one group they couldn't defeat was, us. They are terrified of us, and why they had to control us. Why? Because we have the power to extinguish them, just like swatting a bug. But violence and retribution is not the way forward, all those fake gods, founder races, Melchizedek's, Enoch's etc have proven that, they all failed because they wanted to be the one. We will be the one, but the one will include the all. That will include them eventually should they behave, act right and comply with the wishes of the Guardians of this planet, which is us. Their world has not only fallen apart, it is gone and visual evidence of such has been witnessed. We are on and in the path of creation, what can we create? Do you still wish to think you are small, limited and powerless? Well quit that attitude and get off your knees and exhibit your power in the right way. Quit hiding behind your own shadows, a convenient crutch of limitation and uselessness, to then be lazy and not do anything, that only served the dark forces with compliance. People who didn't use their own power, had it harvested by those who recognized it. Sixteen people learned of what real power can do, all done with our own hands, hearts and minds. They also found out we have far more support and tools than you can ever dream of. But, the most important thing was, they found out their own power and boy did it deliver when it was needed most. Those people's lives will never be the same hereonin, providing they stay in balance, which is a key component of using your own abilities. You must stay in balance. Two things limit people from rising above the threshold, laziness and fear. A component of the fear is, what other people think, self-mastery erases that. You want proof of how that works, well two partners and a close working colleague all went on a tirade of lies, I ignored them all and the back chatter, because with truth, time always tells, it did in two cases it has and will with the third. What others think of you is another control system, designed to all keep us in check, which then stifles everyone's growth. People won't do anything in case they make a mistake, I know you are all nodding now because that is the truth, but a mistake is a lesson. A lesson learned brings growth, doing nothing brings stagnation, and if you stagnate you go back in time, and the traumas, mistakes and hurts of the past display themselves in their full glory to you on a daily basis. All of which makes you depressed, anxious, fear laden and diminished, all of which is not growth. Why would you wish to do that to yourselves? The answer is fear, fear is a hamster wheel control structure that is not supplied by the dark forces or the system, but by you. Are you man, the crown of creation? Or the mouse or hamster? Which is it to be? Are you your own personal Victim/Victimizer control system? Or can or will you be neither of those duality choices? The piece last week outing the CFR group, they are just 4k in number, which is less than the entire population of the town in Arizona, called Holbrook. Think about that for a second, a small town that is barely recognized on the map, even in Arizona, holds more people and non-people I might add than their entire structure. What it shows us is, if their 4k can influence allegedly 7.5B, which is utter rubbish unless you include clones, hybrids and off world entities, what can we do with our 4K people? Four new projects will be announced this Saturday on a zoom, and we need all to participate not watch and wait. If we are to be serious about creating our world, it is your duty to oblige and participate in any way shape or form. Just 17 people changed the face of this planet permanently last week, all standing in their own power, imagine what more can be done by more people participating. That event will never be forgotten by those who were there, everything that went before in their lives cast asunder, in one and then two extraordinary events, that has changed those people's lives forever. So, what changed it and them? Raw power, their own raw power and a will to be the change. Those people now know, who and what has the real power, the real force, the real energy packs, and that alone has changed all of their lives forever. A transition was made on multiple levels, on, in and above here, but also further afar and out into the Cosmos. Those tiny ripples just got a whole heap more potent, and they know it. The simple change on this planet is for you all to be nice and stand in the and your light, there in essence is how the change comes. The Hebrew Anunnaki and their minions told us they wished to operate in the dark because it is a quicker path, (M) they were fooled into thinking that way. They took the left hand path of Set, guess what? It leads to a closed gate and you have to loop back. As an example we took what some called difficult and arduous path last week, the more you pushed down that path, the more they learned for themselves. So, in overview it was not an arduous path, just a single path filled with jewels of knowledge and understanding on a personal level. How far you wanted to go down that path, can be seen as how far you wanted to push yourself and learn. On a visual level just look at how Israel and their EL-ites are now getting exposed, there is your proof the changes on this planet is well underway, regardless of what I say. Their plan they called the Great Replacement Theory, their plan was not great, they have already replaced many, and it is not a theory courtesy of our own show, From his story to our story. It was a full on genocide program that reduced one race from a 1/3 of the global demographics to less than 1/10 in just over 100 years. The white race is the 100 series, in the 100 series the differing races mistrusted each other, instead of coming together under one roof, and carnage ensued. They killed each other instead of protecting each other, and after the killing was the great question asked in that show. Where are all the good guys? The answer was there is none. That is what we the people face here and now, we have to create good guys even from our enemies. Find a common cause and work together with it, leave disagreements on the backburner and work on them as we progress along. They are getting desperate and I said it would get ugly, they are failing and flailing like a slayed writhing beast. The evidence of which is the targeting, it would not be so prevalent if things were going their way. Let them waste their energy, we only have to hold tight and shine the light. I am me, I am us and we are the all, and I love you all.
