Update on the book. Volume 1 is being translated into Hebrew and other translations are in progress, Volume 2 is revised, and questions have been sent to Thomas. Copyright query is being studied for Part 9, which will now be in Volume 5. The editing of Cosmic Genetics has begun for Volume 3.

The Health & Wellness CG Forum spent the better part of our time creating and editing the Health Corrections/Health costs Solution. The main forum was pretty quiet apart from an introduction to Sound Healing by way of a link that discussed the history, science, and application of Sound Healing and its usefulness in treating insomnia, depression and PTSD.

WOMEN'S GROUPS UPDATES

We talked about Love, perhaps we have memory of what love is from the before time. What do the actions of love look like? Levashov's description details that it's all based on frequency, and love is a reflection of self, do you love yourself? respecting ourselves and others is a form of love.

For those who haven't reached a higher frequency level will not know true love, because it is a frequency they have not yet attained. Conditional love and unconditional love, are a play on words that block us.

The memes of the TPC are expressions of love.

In work-based situations, actions come generally from the head and not the heart. If people are coming from the heart, the reaction is: you're too friendly, and we just allow it. When hurtful moments come up, we just smother it with love, and then we are left with the jewels which come to the surface. We also talked about: How to remain happy in this very huge time flux and about boundaries. One member decided to do the best she could in a court case, clear and honorable interactions, she also took jurisdiction over the room she evoked that the truth would prevail. She felt that her higher self took over. This experience completely shifted her by taking back her consent, she stood her ground, spoke her truth, and she felt free and happy. Listen to your higher self, it's ok not to know what to do, just let it go. We also talked about assertiveness versus aggressiveness, assertive is very helpful, with aggressive, no one benefits. Assertiveness is a sort of self-mastery,ask yourself, is it kind? Is it necessary?? Do you really need to speak on this? what's my motive about what I'm saying?

Get your anger under control before confronting situations, when you are confident there's no need to raise your voice. We must break the contract or agreements that we made. It's survival techniques, and these programs are very deep.

The Law Group delivered the 4th Intro to Law Zoom Series in July, going deeper into Estates, Corporations and Funds and how these mechanisms affect us. We will deliver the 5th Intro to Law Zoom mid-August, on Documents and Securities. The Intro to Law Zoom series will continue on a monthly basis until we have completed all 13 modules. This continues to be a great learning experience for all of us, including the facilitators, as we grow together. We have adapted the presentations to encourage more dialogue and discussion, it feels like each Zoom gets better and more engaging.

We have also been working on the Blue Print for Humanity Solutions for Law, Tax, Banking/Finance and Government and have completed and submitted Solution templates for review.

NEWS: The Iranian Intelligence Ministry announced recently, that its security forces arrested a network of agents working for the Israeli Mossad. According to the Ministry, the agents were arrested before they were able to carry out sabotage and terrorist operations. In a statement, the Intelligence Ministry indicated that this network's members were in contact with Mossad spy agency through a neighboring country, and entered Iran from Kurdistan region with advanced equipment and strong explosives. The statement highlighted that the arrested network planned acts of sabotage and unprecedented terrorist operations in sensitive locations. The Iranian Intelligence Ministry confirmed that investigations are underway and more information will be announced in the future. Like we have said, they are trying to goad Iran into war to fulfill their one world agenda.

Trouble afoot in China which is rarely reported about, as the Chinese people have decided they have had enough and so started a boycott which is spreading. A mortgage boycott in China is still multiplying and threatens to become much more widespread, according to analysts who say the homeowner protest is, already affecting 235 property developments in 24 of China's 31 provinces. It is common for homeowners in China to start making mortgage payments on new properties before they are finished, with their payments helping finance the construction. But many projects are facing delays. The boycotts appear to reflect growing concern among home buyers, about the ability of indebted developers to deliver the homes they have sold. As well as some discontent about declines in new home prices, which have left many buyers sitting on paper losses, according to Julian Evans-Pritchard, senior China economist at Capital Economics. The development could send ripples beyond the property sector. China's growing middle classes have piled their savings into property, believing it to be a safe haven for their hard-earned cash.

Tianlei Huang, a research fellow at the Peterson Institute for International Economics think tank, cites a 2019 survey by China's central bank, which showed that nearly 60% of the total assets owned by urban Chinese households were in commercial and residential property. He points out that China has the world's highest home ownership rate, standing at about 96% in 2020. That is not something relayed by the Western media is it? 96% home ownership. In comparison the US is at 65% and falling, in the UK it stands at 63% and also falling as well. Given such a significant share of Chinese households' wealth resides in property, any sharp property price corrections may trigger social instability, he says. Huang adds that China's zero-Covid restrictions which have battered the economy, have impacted both homeowners, who have lost jobs and incomes, and big developers. Property behemoth China Evergrande Group defaulted on its debt in 2021, and at least a dozen other developers have defaulted on offshore bonds. Many are facing a serious cash flow crisis, he says. Sounds like another ponzi scheme wealth grab to me, get people to commit their cash and then crash it.

This was passed to me by one of the members, in events that took place last week in Ukraine. Over the past day, without the participation of the Ukrainian authorities, 26,658 people, including 3,907 children, have been evacuated from dangerous areas of Ukraine. And also the republics of Donbass to the territory of the Russian Federation, and a total of 2,924,526 people, of whom 463,897 are children, have been evacuated since the beginning of the special military operation. In total, 5,825.39 hectares of territory, 41 buildings including 13 socially significant objects, four bridges and 9.64 km of roads were checked. 151,738 explosive objects were found and neutralized.. As part of the implementation of measures to restore the infrastructure of the People's Republics of Donbass, the Military Construction of the Russian Defense, built a water pipeline from the Khanzhenkovsky reservoir to the Seversky Donets-Donbass canal, four strands with a total length of more than 90 km in the shortest possible time. Residents of Donetsk and adjacent settlements are provided with, the supply of up to 50 thousand cubic meters of water per day. Funny the Russians can do that in another country, yet America can't do that for its own citizens isn't it? Yet all we hear is how bad the Russians are, perhaps more Americans needs to change the script and pay special attention to what is going on here, or in many cases what is not going on in relation to we the people.

You wish to know why the US funded and trained the Taliban? Perhaps here is why. Afghanistan's Taliban forces have clashed with Iranian border guards on the frontier between the two countries.

The Taliban say one of their soldiers was killed in Sunday's fighting, which occurred in the border area between Afghanistan's Nimroz province and Iran's Hirmand region.

Each country blamed the other for the incident.

There have been several clashes at the border since Taliban militants took over Afghanistan a year ago.

The exact circumstances of the latest skirmish are unclear. The exact circumstances belong to the fake State called Israel, to get others to do their dirty work. Whilst getting American taxpayers to pay for it.

Israel, the United States and Britain on Thursday criticized an expert commissioned by the U.N. human rights body to examine the situation in the Middle East, accusing him of antisemitic remarks. Miloon Kothari was quoted in the media as questioning Israel's right to be a U.N. member state, and alluding to a Jewish lobby. The comments stoked longtime accusations by Israel, the U.S. and others that the rights body is biased against Israel. Kothari, from India, is one of three members of the Commission of Inquiry on occupied Palestinian territory, created by the U.N.-backed Human Rights Council last year. The commission quickly countered that his comments had been deliberately misquoted. Interesting he mentioned the Israeli lobby group, it has been rarely mentioned outside of alt media, and that is encouraging to see.

Following the story of Jared Kushner potentially receiving $2B hush money from the Saudis, here is another example of it. The Prince of Wales Charles accepted a payment of £1m from the family of Osama Bin Laden, the Sunday Times reports.

Prince Charles accepted the money from two of Osama Bin Laden's half-brothers in 2013, two years after the al-Qaeda leader was killed, it adds. Except Bin Laden died in December 2011 from renal failure, just after his buddies from Langley and Donald Rumsfeld visited him. Remember Bin Laden was a CIA agent, under the puppet name of Tim Osman. That $1M, was received around the time the upper levels of the cabal took all the Queens gold and wealth away.

The survey has indicated that half the people who planned to retire in 2022 are rethinking their decision, or plan to put that plan on hold. The press release says another 25% of 58 to 74-year-olds who were not planning on retiring this year, are now considering delaying retirement even further. Among those who are considering un-retiring, the changing economic climate is cited as the primary reason. More than half 65% cited inflation and rising costs, 45% pointed to the decline in the stock market, and 30% mentioned increased interest rates. Another case of people having their lives negatively impacting it, and just tolerating it by going back to work when they should be enjoying their retirement. Maybe a sign of the times we are in, not only in terms of finance but the amount of people as well. Did you know there are 2 job openings per unemployed person currently? It used to be 6.5 people to one job. Ponder on that.

MEDICAL RELATED: With employees in the United States quitting their jobs voluntarily at a rate 25 percent higher from December 2019-May 2022 compared to pre-pandemic levels, employers and some entire industries are scrambling to fill the substantial gaps being left behind. Research in Australia, Canada, India, Singapore, the United Kingdom and the United States by McKinsey & Company reveals, that of employees that chose to quit their jobs from April 2020 to April 2022, 65 percent did not so far return to the same industry. The survey also revealed the most common reasons cited by those handing in their notice. At the top of the list are the lack of career development/advancement and inadequate compensation. The importance of a good boss is also highlighted, however, with the third most common response being uncaring or uninspiring leaders. A quarter of respondents said that a lack of workplace flexibility was also a factor, an issue acknowledged with varying degrees of enthusiasm and success, since swathes of the global workforce realized that working from home was also possible during lockdown. Lack of career development or advancement 41%, Inadequate compensation 36%, Uncaring or uninspiring leaders 34%, Lack of meaningful work 31%. Unsustainable work expectations 29%, unreliable or unsupportive colleagues 26%, lack of work place flexibility 26% and lack of support for health and wellbeing also 26%. People have had enough of fascist based companies and had enough time to take stock of their lives, and what it means to them. This is a good thing in many ways as we tolerate far too much shit in the name of continuity and familiarity. But the Covid lockdowns gave people enough time to reflect on those things, and maybe re-adjust their lives in a less materialistic way of keeping up with the Jones's debt cycle. That is a positive thing to come out of that, but is the lack of returning to work implicate other reasons not covered by the MSM? Are the people not returning to work because they have died due to Covid? Or have large masses of people just disappeared altogether, of which Covid is a smokescreen?

One of our law team members had a recent Canadian Border experience, that he and I hope will encourage you and inspire you to stand up for your own rights. To arrive in Canada, it's mandatory to complete the ArrivCan App or website, give them your passport and trip details, then share jab status, PCR test results and quarantine plan if needed. Mandatory is not law, it requires your compliance. What he learned is this: Although the ArrivCan App/Website is mandatory, it is voluntary what information you submit. The Order activating section 58 of the Quarantine Act ended Sept 2020. For it to be enforceable now they need your voluntary consent. Section 14.1 of the Quarantine Act states, they cannot demand any medical test or intervention that penetrates the skin or enters the body, and so the PCR tests are a violation. They have hired children as Border Guards, young men and women in their 20s who have no clue what the Law is and just follow instructions. So, my experience: I logged into the ArriveCan website and only submitted the information they need at the border, name, passport number, dates of the trip and where have you been. I did not submit any health information. The dialogue with Border Guard, once we had completed the normal border questions, and had a great chat about Aikido!!! Q: Have you been vaccinated? A: I do not consent to sharing private medical information about my health. Q: Do you have a negative PCR Test? A: I do not consent to sharing private medical information about my health. I then held up a piece of paper with Section 14.1 of the Quarantine Act and said, if you read S14.1 of the QA, you will understand this statement, I have no symptoms. The Guard was friendly, he said ok, you're good to enter Canada, but you need to go and speak to a Public Health Officer, please drive to Bay 6 on your left. This point is important, I said nothing and waited until he gave me back my passport, he then radioed an officer to meet me at Bay 6. I did not drive to Bay 6, we had this dialogue: Me: Am I being detained? Guard: No, but you need to speak to a PHO, please drive to Bay 6. Me: I am not being detained then? Guard: No, you're not being detained. Me: As I am not being detained, I am free to go. I do not consent to speaking to a PHO and am leaving now and going home. I drove off and left a stunned looking Border Guard who had no clue what to do next. Talk about deer in the headlights. The point is they need our consent to have any authority over us. If you submit a PCR test in Canada, you have to do so via the Life Labs website. In the disclaimer it states by submitting your test you are voluntarily agreeing to our jurisdiction over you, or words to that effect, let that sink in, By not consenting, saying very little, asking questions, they are snookered and do not know what to do. Always remain calm, respectful, polite but firm, never react or get upset. Adopt an attitude of they are committing the crime, and you are guiding them and encouraging them to follow their Laws. The use of knowledge is power, this is why studying Ucadia Law is so important. When you have a deep foundation of truth, and know what the True Rule of Law is at a genetic and spiritual level, you resonate, the spirit of the law manifests and is disarming. Be the Law, never ask permission and hold them accountable to understand the Laws they are supposed to be enforcing. I hope this helps. Never surrender, always stand in Truth, Honor and Integrity and don't worry about the outcomes. Right intention and right actions leads to right results.

HUMOR NEWS: Convicted sex trafficker Ghislaine Maxwell has been moved to a low security prison in Florida, If I had my way, the next stop low security site would be Epstein or Necker Island and poetic and ironic justice.

Another MSM outing of the CIA, it's increasing. A fairly lengthy report has come out last week, reporting on the large gallery of former CIA agents now working for Go ogle, come on all say it in unison – well I never! Remember Israeli puppet Mike Pompeo, a former director of the CIA, admitted how bad the CIA was in 2019. He said to the audience at Texas A&M University: When I was a cadet, the cadet's motto at West Point? You will not lie, cheat, or steal or tolerate those who do. I was the CIA director, we lied, we cheated, we stole and we had entire training courses on it.

The city of Las Vegas has declared a declaration of emergency regarding its water supply. Las Vegas is relying solely on its reservoirs to supply water, but it currently contains less than 50 days of water. Las Vegas normally relies on the Gallinas River as its primary water source. However, the Hermits Peak/Calf Canyon fires damaged thousands of acres of the watershed for the river. The city said the fires have caused large amounts of ash and debris to enter the river, preventing Las Vegas from pulling from its primary water source. That report went to print at the same time as another news item, stating that Las Vegas is underwater? And many parts of the Strip are flooded out?

US President Joe Biden has tested positive for Covid-19 again, in what has been described as a rebound infection by his doctor. Rebound or retard? Is that 3 times he has had it now? all at times he is coming under fire, funny that.

As the American politics and policy all endorsed by ridiculously stupid kindergarten level people reached new lows this week. As Pelosi who can't even speak properly in her own country, never mind another one, played the shall we stir up shit card by flying allegedly to Taiwan. Pelosi has no use or purpose to be there other than to stir the pot, a playground level tactic. This caused the organized panic in the markets and another round of people losing money, whilst the vultures waited and collected. America is now sending two aged and damaged peoples to represent us on the international stage, from an overview that is symbolic. The final signs of a once vibrant and productive country teetering on the brink of being stuck in the past, aging and dying, and mentally and physically too unstable to fix it. Unless we the people bring fresh people with fresh ideas and an entirely different approach to Government, home and abroad. That is our task.

EXPOSE: This kind of supports in more depth the links between the Ukraine regime and the Jewish people living there. But it also documents the life and times of the average Jewish people, and how they are appear oblivious to the programs and agendas being ran on them, by those said to be their own people. As usual the cult based Chabad is involved. The struggle to gather 10 Jewish men to form a prayer quorum known as a minyan, is part of life for many small Jewish communities in Europe. But it used to be a distant memory in Vinnytsia, one of multiple Ukrainian cities where decades of community-building had restored Jewish communal life after communism. Dozens of Jews would gather for Shabbat services at each of the three synagogues of this city, which had about 3,000 Jews when war broke out. Yet Russia's invasion of Ukraine in February has compelled many thousands of Jews, and especially young Jewish families and singles, to join the millions of non-Jewish Ukrainians who have fled at-risk areas, and the country altogether. By far the greatest threat to those who remain is from Russian attacks, which are unrelenting as the Russian army steps up its offensive. But already, local Jewish leaders in cities across Ukraine have begun to assess the toll on their communities' strength, and are arriving at disquieting conclusions. It feels like we've gone back in time to 30 years ago, because the pillars of the community have pretty much all gone out of Ukraine, Rabbi Shaul Horowitz, the Chabad-Lubavitch movement's emissary to Vinnytsia, told the Jewish Telegraphic Agency. The wheel rolled back, we need to rebuild it all, back to square one. One hopes that is not another plea for aid? Horowitz was referring to what happened in 1991, when the Soviet Union fell and Ukraine became independent. Jews from across the former Soviet Union who had been prevented from leaving fled out of the region, because the Bolsheviks wanted to keep the Jewish people as a significant number for their negative agendas is why. This totaled 1.6 million over more than a decade, most went to Israel. Since then Jewish education had been prohibited, and few who remained had fluency in Jewish prayers or practice. But over the last three decades a range of efforts many fueled by Chabad, have introduced Ukrainian Jews to Judaism and built thriving communities in cities across the country. Which may explain the rise in wars in Ukraine since, it cannot just be passed off as another coincidence, as this same factor and program has happened in so many other countries. Now, the conflict seems to have undone some of the revival enjoyed by Ukrainian Jewry, a minority whose prewar size was estimated to be at least 47,000. In Vinnytsia, Horowitz estimated, half of local Jews are gone. His congregation gathers at a small synagogue that is accessible through a back alley, that requires members to walk past a ramshackle car repair shop and apartment courtyards filled where chickens roam. On a recent Friday evening, the congregants preferred to wait outside the synagogue in the fresh air, to the alternative of staying inside the dark and poorly ventilated interior. As it was filled with the smells of cooking cabbage, fried fish and cholent, the traditional bean and meat stew that many Jews consume on Shabbat. The food, which is served with vodka after prayer and is a staple tradition in some synagogues in this part of the world, seemed to account for at least some of the event's appeal for some elderly participants, who left immediately after consuming large portions of it. Most of the people who could leave, have already left, said Mikhail Krilyuk, a 35-year-old single man who owns a local exporting business. Those who had money, a passport, an SUV to travel to the border, they packed up and left. That's the kind of people who held this community together, said Krilyuk, who decided to stay, in keeping with rules prohibiting men under 60 from leaving the country in case they are needed to fight. All Jewish people and indeed Ukraine under conscription up to the age of 60? Really? And people think that is ok? And the media don't think it warrants reporting that abuse of people? The residents of Vinnytsia seemed to feel safe, ignoring the sirens blaring frequently last month. Oh, the alarms? Don't worry about them, one Vinnytsian, Oksana Politova, told a concerned reporter at one of Vinnytsia's riverside cafés during one such incident. It's a national alert system so the rockets could be falling anywhere, and sometimes it's just a false alarm. But on July 14, a Russian rocket did hit

Vinnytsia, the second such incident during the war. It killed 23 people near an iconic statue of a fighter jet at the center of the city located about 100 miles southwest of Kyiv. It just proves what I've been telling local Jews since war broke out: nowhere in Ukraine is safe, they need to get out, said Koen Carlier, a Belgian national who has been living for over a decade in Vinnytsia. Where he and his wife Ira run the Ukraine office of Christians for Israel, a group that helps Jews immigrate to Israel. Local Jews were not expecting the assault on a placid and relatively affluent city, that doesn't have any great strategic significance for Russia. Despite that attack, the Jews here largely stayed put, because they have nowhere else to go, Horowitz said, but it shocked all of us and made the community panic. None of the city's Jews were hurt in the attack, but two, including the community's driver, Simha Haim, were traumatized by it. For the past decade, Horowitz has focused on gathering the region's Jews into a community, but now he is encouraging and helping anyone from his flock who is able to leave the country to do so. A frequent target of Russian attacks, Kyiv's Jewish community is also seeing the war roll back much of the progress reached there since the fall of communism. Before the war, the city had one of Eastern Europe's few large non-Orthodox Jewish communities: the Hatikvah congregation, with about 500 families. Fully half have left, according to Hatikvah's rabbi, Alexander Dukhovny. Pensioners, people with disabilities they are still here, but many of the young families with the possibility to leave have left to different destinations, he said. One hopes that is a sign that the younger Jewish are beginning to see through the programs, and taking actions to avoid being caught in another trap and sacrifice agenda. Dukhovny believes some will return. He saw some people who fled in the war's early days at a recent Kabbalat Shabbat, which his community was suspended due to Russian attacks, and only recently resumed in a sign of return to normalcy that the congregation celebrates with a lot of joy, he said. But many thousands likely won't be returning, especially among the approximately 12,000 who had left for Israel under its Law of Return for Jews and their relatives in the first half of 2022 alone. The figure for the whole of 2021 was 3,129. That reveals an interesting dichotomy, because on the one hand Israel is pushing the average Jew out of the region, due to the lack of jobs and affordability, and then they are bringing peoples in, who can afford it even less than the natives. It is all very Ouroboros again is it not? Ukrainian Jewry has managed to flourish despite multiple crises, including the 2014 Russian annexation of Crimea and the 2005 Orange Revolution and the political and financial instability it brought. His story repeats it seems with the terminology including Orange. In addition to dozens of synagogues, mikvahs, Jewish schools and kindergartens that have all been opened in the past 30 years, Ukrainian Jewry boasts institutions so large and conspicuous that they have become symbols of its presumed robustness. First and foremost among those flashy embassies for Jewish life in Ukraine is the Menorah complex in Dnipro, an eastern city that has been on the receiving end of multiple Russian assaults. Built by the Chabad movement in the city where its last leader lived as a child, the $100 million Jewish community center includes event halls, a synagogue, spa-like mikvahs, several kosher restaurants and, until recently, local branches of Israeli banks for dual nationals. It towers over the skyline of the city, which before the war had at least 10,000 Jews, with its 22 stories that comprise a giant menorah. It's said to be the largest Jewish community center in Europe, all built with monies from Ukrainian-Jewish oligarchs, including Igor Kolomoisky. Do they not think the poor locals might think that is flaunting wealth within their face? How and why can a diaspora community living on foreign lands, always appear to have lavish buildings and facilities that only benefit the one race? This is something the Jewish people need to consider, because it is one of the reasons they are so disliked amongst many populations, a lack of consideration or thought on their part. Life hasn't changed much at Menorah and for Dnipro Jews following the war, according to Oleg Rostovchev, a spokesperson for the Dnipro Jewish Community. Some have left but there are still thousands of Jews here, he told JTA. But a member of the community who spoke to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency anonymously, citing possible negative implications for giving out non-official information, as the source termed it, said that about half of Dnipro's Jews have left. Or maybe it just feels like that because the ones who live half in Israel and half here have stopped coming, the source said. In Odessa, another major center of Ukrainian Jewry, at least half of the Jews have left, according to several locals. Odessa is not a surprise given the revealing of it in past shows, the land of the Sarmations, the reptiles. And in Kharkiv, another former hub of Judaism in Ukraine that has come under intense bombardment, hardly any remain at all, according to Moshe Moskovitz, the city's Chabad rabbi. In some places west of Kyiv, internal displacement of Jews is counteracting departures from the ranks of local Jewish communities. Sergey Poliakov is one of the Jewish refugees staying in Vinnytsia, an employee of the Roshen chocolate factory from Kherson, he and his fiancée fled to Vinnytsia when their city came under Russian attack. They are now staying at Vinnytsia's only Jewish school, a mansion-sized Soviet-era building in the city's outskirts whose new, modern-looking mikvah contrasts sharply with the building's overall crumbling appearance. The fact that it exists at all is remarkable, Horowitz noted, indeed it is. Although unsurprising when the Israeli Government gave the Russian's the details of all of their important buildings to avoid. This city under communism had one synagogue that the authorities kept open for propaganda purposes, nope because Communism was created by the Jewish EL-ites is the real reason, the next line confirms it. It was in the market and just to make sure nobody goes in, there was a KGB outpost overlooking the synagogue. Anyone who went in was documented, Horowitz said. The KGB protecting the Jewish synagogue, is not something his story will ever reveal, but our story does in full clarity during the FHSTOS series. During the Soviet era, many Jews who demonstrated a desire to worship publicly or belong to a Jewish community were persecuted, often for engaging in Zionist activities, which were banned. But, I do not think anyone cares too much about people praying, so the real reason is the Zionist activities that the locals objected to. Some courageous local Jews entered anyway, sometimes using a secret entrance while pretending to shop, he said. The seven families now living at the school compound, including some non-Jewish ones, all came from further east. They pick cherries and pears for kompot, a chilled fruit soup that is a staple summer food from the many trees that dot the compound, and they planted potatoes in a former playground. Poliakov, 33, said he doesn't know whether his flat in Kherson, which he recently bought with his life savings, is even still standing or whether it's a heap of rubble, he said. All my neighbors also left so there's no one to check it, it's a ghost town, and I'm working under the assumption that I have nowhere to return. This is the real impact of war due to psychopaths dickswinging over land, minerals and other resources, Militaries and agency goons playing war games on a piece of paper, whilst the people suffer real hardship and disruption. With that in mind, Poliakov, an observant Jew with a high-earning job, may well settle down in Vinnytsia, one of Ukraine's richest cities with a population of 370,000 and an infrastructure matched by few others of its size. Or he may make aliyah, the term for immigrating to Israel, he said. Poliakov is among the people who are considered pillars of their communities who left because of the war. There are many like him, according to Eduard Dolinsky, the director of the Ukrainian Jewish Committee, one of several groups representing Ukrainian Jewry. It's too early to talk statistics amid the fog of war, Dolinsky said, but he estimates that war-related emigration is especially high among a category of Jews he considers pillars of the community, people who go to synagogue every week and care about being Jewish, he said. That line is something perhaps they need to reconsider when in foreign lands, because it is all about Jewish and being Jewish, when it might be better to fit in with the other cultures. It is this EL-itist attitude of we are Jews, that often go against them in situations like this, surely it is better to integrate and not reference at every opportunity that they are Jews, like some sort of status symbol. The same applies for gays, lesbians and transsexuals, not many care what you are or wish to know, but ramming it in people's faces is another status based program, designed to cause division and in some cases anger. For such Jews, years of community-building around Israel, Hebrew and Judaism may have helped build relationships outside of Ukraine, including in Israel, that facilitated fleeing in the hectic early weeks of the war, when many around the world sought to support Ukrainians. But many of those who left were not actively engaged in Jewish life in Ukraine, according to Vyacheslav Likhachev, a spokesperson for the Vaad Ukrainian-Jewish group and a historian who has researched social issues relevant to Ukrainian Jewry. Most Ukrainian Jews are secular. Their attachment to the community, to the degree that it exists is cultural, or through receiving aid from the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, not through Chabad and the rabbis who engage with a small percent of the Jewish minority, said Likhachev. So why did so many Ukrainian Jews leave for Israel during the war? Because they could and because in Israel, almost all of them have friends or family, Likhachev said, adding that because hundreds of thousands of people from Ukrainian territory made aliyah in the 1990s, most of Ukrainian Jewry is already in Israel. How many of them remain is the issue of some disagreement. Chabad says there were about 250,000 people who are Jewish according to halacha, traditional Jewish law, in Ukraine before the war with Russia. The European Jewish Congress, based on data from local Jewish groups, says up to 360,000. And the Institute for Jewish Policy Research in a 2020 demographics report estimated that there were about 47,000 people who self-identify as Jews that year in Ukraine. Lots of Johns Hopkins math going on there, 47K to 360K is quite a gap of knowing their own people. Whatever the number, Ukraine's small congregations are being hit especially hard by the effects of the war, Dolinsky said. In a synagogue where you had 50 people coming to synagogue every week, 10 have remained, it means the smaller communities will disappear. In Uzhgorod, a city on the border with Hungary, the war has led to an influx of Jews, people from further east who came to Uzhgorod for safety. The synagogue is busier than ever and so are we, said Sarah Wilhelm, the wife of Rabbi Mendel Willhelm, the Chabad movement's emissary to Uzhgorod, where a few hundred Jews live. But the war has made everyone poorer and sadder, she said. Dolinsky is pessimistic that communities will ultimately be shored up by Jews who move there from elsewhere in Ukraine. The Jewish people who fled from the east to more western cities will not remain there. They are moving forward, they're moving to a new life in Europe, said Dolinsky, 52, who during the war moved from Kyiv to the western city of Lutsk. He and his wife Oksana now divide their time between those two cities. He said the consequences of the war on Ukrainian Jewry will go far beyond demographics. The ensuing financial crisis has ruined the local currency, the hryvnia, and much of the local economy. That means that oligarchs like Kolomoisky or Victor Pinchuk will likely have less money to invest in rebuilding Ukrainian Jewry, he said. Meanwhile, while Jews from around the world donated to support Soviet Jewry 30 years ago, collecting the money abroad could be difficult this time around, amid what is shaping up to be a new global financial crisis, Dolinsky added. It's much worse than anything we've seen, it's absolutely a disaster unlike any other in my lifetime at least. Whilst it is nice that Jews receive funds in donations, one does have to ask how much of it goes to the other people's disrupted in the war zone? How is it shekels always arrive for just one group, and yet all others are left to fend for themselves? Again this creates division, and the Jewish plight whether via war or general conditions would be better served with, A: integrating into the community, B: not seeing themselves as separate and C: have they not worked out yet that they are always on the move? And D: when will they point fingers at their own people for disrupting them so much?

OTHER PIECES: The ultimate in well I never stories if ever there was one. A Polish scientific institute has classified domestic cats as an invasive alien species, citing the damage they cause to birds and other wildlife. Some cat lovers have reacted emotionally to this month's decision and put the key scientist behind it on the defensive. If only these cat holics would campaign on behalf of a declining human race? Wojciech Solarz, a biologist at the state-run Polish Academy of Sciences, wasn't prepared for the disapproving public response when he entered Felis catus, the scientific name for the common house cat, into a national database run by the academy's Institute of Nature Conservation. The database already had 1,786 other species listed with no objections, Solarz told The Associated Press. Invasive alien species No. 1,787, however, is a creature so beloved that it often is honored in Poland's cemeteries reserved for cats and dogs. Solarz described the growing scientific consensus that, domestic cats have a harmful impact on biodiversity given the number of birds and mammals they hunt and kill. The criteria for including cats among alien invasive species, are 100 percent met by the cat, he said. Any questions? No? I rest my case then.

Something many of us have mentioned in the alt media has now reached MSM, and the BBC decided do to a factchecker and discounting hit piece in it. People are falsely claiming a video of US President Joe Biden posted by the Democratic Party is a deepfake.

A deepfake is a video created using artificial intelligence to show someone saying or doing something they didn't do.

The video was published on the Democrats' official Twitter account, and quickly became part of a wider conspiracy theory.

Posts doubting the legitimacy of the video have been shared thousands of times, including by prominent pundits from the right-wing US television channels Newsmax and One America News. Oops mask man being outed further it seems.

We have revealed a few things on the Columbus voyage to what is now known as America. A: It was not a new world B: Columbus was funded by the Vatican and Venician and Genoa banking fraternities, C: The conquistadors were Sephardic Jews that ransacked the region in early exchanges, and D: brings up a new question. Did the Spanish Royals actually throw out the Sephardic Jews out of Spain and the day before Columbus sailed? Or was that another ploy to cover up the fact that the nomadic Jews were being pushed into another region to divide and conquer? Perhaps this piece reveals more. A Papal Bull Inter Caetera, issued by Pope Alexander VI on May 4, 1493, played a central role in the Spanish conquest of the New World. Inter Caetera or Inter Cat era issued by the Cat holic group? The document supported Spain's strategy to ensure its exclusive right to the lands discovered by Columbus the previous year. It established a demarcation line one hundred leagues west of the Azores and Cape Verde Islands, and assigned Spain the exclusive right to acquire territorial possessions and to trade in all lands west of that line. Who had the authority to do that? How can the Roman church decide to divvy up certain lands to people? What gave them the right? Why was Spain designated as to receive all those lands, possessions and trades? All others were forbidden to approach the lands west of the line without special license from the rulers of Spain. This effectively gave Spain a monopoly on the lands in the New World. Is this why the Sephardic Jews were involved? The Bull stated that any land not inhabited by Christians was available to be discovered, claimed, if you are a Christian, do they think that is how your god would have acted? This amounts to a hostile takeover of lands by the Church, do church goers think that is the right and honorable thing to do? To be exploited by Christian rulers and declared that the Catholic faith and the Christian religion, be exalted and be everywhere increased and spread, that the health of souls be cared for, and that barbarous nations be overthrown and brought to the faith itself. If it was a New World per se, how would they know and describe the inhabitants as barbarous? Curious word barbarous, described as cruel, and I wonder if it is connected to the Barbary ape, which was found in Ireland, which is another country that was raped and pillage by the Catholic church? In league with the House of Orange which is French, and the Dutch East Indies Company, hence William of Orange who was the Dutch King, and later king of England. This Doctrine of Discovery became the basis of all European claims in the Americas as well as the foundation for the United States' western expansion. In the US Supreme Court in the 1823 case Johnson v. McIntosh, Chief Justice John Marshall's opinion in the unanimous decision held, that the principle of discovery gave European nations an absolute right to New World lands. In essence, American Indians had only a right of occupancy, which could be abolished. The Bull Inter Caetera made headlines again throughout the 1990s and in 2000, when many Catholics petitioned Pope John Paul II to formally revoke it, and recognize the human rights of indigenous non-Christian peoples. The great question is this, were the Sephardic Jews actually thrown out of Spain, or were they used as a sleight of hand pawn? The term American Indians is interesting, is it signifying that the Indian part, are people from another country. Like African/American, Hispanic/American, Jewish/American and then there is a category all by itself, White. I guess whites are not classed as American, all of which becomes indicative.

You know how they always tell you what they have been up to or doing, this interaction is fairly enlightening in many respects. Recently there premiered a live stream that featured a full hourlong conversation with Stargate SG-1 co-creator and writer Brad Wright and Richard Dean Anderson, who played Jack O'Neill in Stargate. The live stream was quite the treat for Stargate fans and included plenty of interesting tidbits, including the fact that Brad Wright is planning on introducing a new kind of Stargate, if a fourth series of the franchise is given the go-ahead. The concept Wright dreamed up is a Stargate entirely built by humans. Describing how the gate would activate, Wright said it spun up like crazy and then rapidly locked each chevron into place to establish a wormhole. Except a wormhole is not a natural stargate. This would be a huge shakeup for the Stargate series, as the previous Stargates were all found, left behind by a race known as the Ancients. It seems like in this modern-day version of Stargate, humans have learned to reverse-engineer the transportation technology and start developing gates for themselves. It would be interesting to see how these gates work in opposition to the other types of gates that have been introduced in the previous series. Of course, introducing a new type of Stargate has been a trend the live-action series has been following for years. Each of the three live-action series has introduced its own version, with different designs and slightly different methods of operation. The classic red and gray Milky Way gates worked in sort of an analog fashion, with the locations needing to be dialed in through a wheel device or by interfacing the chevrons with a supercomputer. The gates from Stargate Atlantis introduced a slightly more high-tech version of the Stargate, with a digital interface that saw the dial points lighting up the chevrons, instead of having to spin the rings to lock in the dial points. Stargate Universe introduced a sort of steampunk version that seemed even older than the original Milky Way gates, as it released a massive amount of steam after completing the process of opening a wormhole. Fact inserted into fiction, and it is my understanding that any real stargates here are locked down. What they are revealing is they are trying to circumnavigate that fact, by creating wormholes. That is what CERN was originally designated for, and will not be happening. It was to try and spin up enough energy to create a wormhole and they escape to the Galactic Sun, leaving behind a black hole event that would swallow the Earth and its inhabitants.

Well I have been pondering again, following a mention of a whole range of weapon batteries along the Sierra Nevada mountains facing East. Why would you need so many arsenal type batteries along that ridge? So, I got pondering and a look at the google earth map revealed an intriguing conclusion, that may or may not be right, but does make a whole heap of sense. One look at the Pacific Ocean and how vast it is and yet there are only a few dots of islands here and there. In the past we have spoken about Lemuria, and the inhabitants of Mt. Shasta which is on the northern edge of the mountain range, being from Lemuria originally. We spoke of tunnels under the ocean from Lemuria to Mount Shasta. In a past piece I spoke of America being in 3 separate pieces, from California to the Rockies, the Rockies to the Mississippi, and the Mississippi to the East Coast. Geological evidence does support that theory. But what if there was a 4th piece to it? What if the west coast to the Rockies was two separate islands that merged? What if those two islands came from the Pacific? What if those two islands were actually part of Lemuria? And what if advanced technology moved those two land masses together and then ultimately becoming the one landmass and the West Coast of America? How would the islands split in two? How would they be moved into the position where they reside now? Weapon batteries often appear along a coast line, so what if those batteries were the east coast of the western island? Maybe the west and east islands that were separate where at war with each other? Hence the batteries. What if they were at one point connected to modern day Japan? and it was split by advanced weaponry and one part went East, and the other became part of N. America, Alaska and also Canada? Is there archeological evidence of this type of island split? Yes, it's called the Mariana trench. The deepest trench on the planet, what if that trench was caused by some sort of weapon? That would ultimately split the islands into east and west? We already know off world visitations here caused much disruption, and the wars on Lemuria by rival factions, plus the war further down from Mariana trench on the island of Mu. If they had the technology to move a whole body of islands, then this makes much sense. What if they did it during the flood of 9558BC, what if the major splitting of islands is what caused the actual flood itself. To my knowledge the only chatter about the flood has been on the effect, but never the actual cause of it. This got me pondering more, what if the landmass of China was actually in the ocean also, and was at war with the Rus? Would that possibly be explained by the building of the Great wall? which is actually on the Rus side not China, could the Great wall have been a coastal defense system back then? Could this landmass crash towards Russia and Europe, also have caused the vast Milk Ocean that ran from the Arctic region all the way down to India, to close up and hide the evidence of off world presence there? That ocean is now gone and the Himalayas replaced it, and it also closed up the sea that ran from the Mediterranean to India also. Back to America, there is evidence along the Rockies, but deep evidence in Durango, Colorado of landmasses merging in that town. On the west side of the road is a mountain that starts west and rises towards the east, on the opposite side there is a mountain that is high on the west and goes down to the east. Think of it in terms of an open draw bridge. There is evidence of sea shells and river rock in that region also. So the first piece of the island is the current west coast to the Sierra Nevada range, which also goes all the way up into Canada, although with a different names, that also extends far south and the Baja California landmass as well. The second piece of land is from the Sierra Nevada to the Rockies, and is there evidence between there to support that it was once an ocean? The answer is yes, it is called the Great Salt Lake, but perhaps it is not a lake at all, and was a remnant of the ocean when the landmasses were moved? There is a sign just south of Durango and the TPC village, where it says the Great Continental divide, that runs through Durango and Farmington all the way up through Canada and then veers west into the Northern parts of Alaska, and ends at the Beaufort Sea. My suggestion is, everything west of that line was a landmass or more out in the Pacific, and was moved into place at some point in the past for several reasons. A: to cover up evidence of off world interference, B: to merge it into one landmass for logistics and ultimately control, C: along the boundaries there is much of the minerals that both on, in and off world have fought over, D: right along those boundaries particularly from Utah south, there is desert which also signifies past wars, and or past beaches. Is there evidence of other types of beaches far inland? Yes in Colorado called Sand Dunes National Park. But the continental divide when taken literally, actually confirms this theory, why else would you have a continental divide more than a 1000 miles inland? All of which reveals is, that everything West of the Continental Divide line is and was a separate continent. Let's go back to the Sierra Nevada mountains again shall we, what is just on the east side of them? A place called Death Valley, the hottest place on the planet? Does anyone ask why? does anyone ask as to why going south of Death Valley all the way down to Mexico via Arizona, there is background radiation waves still ongoing there. That is evidence of war, possibly nuclear that still to this day generates radiation. But it doesn't end there, let's go to S. America and there is another range that goes right down the western side of that continent, called the Andes. Was that also part of the missing landmass that was once in the Pacific? Is there evidence of offworld there also? Think Machu Pichu, Cusco, the temples, the red-haired people of Peru, who had the same red hair as the mummies pulled out of Egypt. Vast inland lakes, much of which is salty. Is the ring of fire signaling something from the past? Was it advanced weaponry that caused the whole ring of fire? Of which takes in all the landmasses we have just discussed? Now ponder on that lot. Out of which we can make the following deducement, are some the lost children of the sea?

EXPOSE: This piece brings in Gematria, Religion, Astrology, Numerology, Dark Magic, ritual that has many interesting connections and some distortions which I will address for the listener to decide, or decode as it were. The Feast of the Beast: COVID which is Certification of Vaccination ID 19 is it in biblical terms known as the Feast of the Beast? The number 28 is associated with Saturn; on December 25th the Sun, Earth and Black Sun align in Capricorn; every 28 years Saturn joins the alignment and remains in Capricorn, for roughly 2 1/2 years. Capricorn which derives from Capricornus which is a chimera of 1/2 Goat 1/2 Fish. On December 26, 2019 on St Stephen's Day, Stephen means Crown and Martyr, Coronavirus the Crowned Serpent Venom began in Wuhan, which was also the world's first 5G demonstration city. The US Supreme Court heard arguments concerning Federally Mandatory Vaccinations on Jan 7, 2021 which is the Orthodox Christmas, and the WHO Classified Coronavirus a global pandemic on Purim 3/11/2020; 666 days later is 3 Kings Day January 6 which is the Feast of Epiphany day. Now what unfolded on January 6th 2021? The fake insurrection day parade in Washington DC, organized by Demoncrats and possibly Trump as well. But the number 28 linked with Saturn plays into a number of their seemingly random events, and yet they are far from it. Meticulous planning goes into these events, but as often said, they are repeats and so they just roll it out again and think we will never work it all out. In this time of truth frequency, those hidden events no longer remains hidden under a dark cloud of secrecy and distortion. But 28 years before the Golan Heights Proclamation of Mar 20, 2019, which was Trump inauguration into becoming the new Cyrus. 150K Iraqi conscripts were slaughtered and buried in the sand along Hwy 80 known as the Highway of Death, all of whom were carrying White Flags of surrender. Which is reminiscent of God burying 250 Reubenites aligned with the False Priest Korah in Numbers 16:32; Jude 7 carries the same warning into the New Covenant about following the false Priests. The author said Jesus is Melchisedek the righteous Priest of the most high, the alternative Priests today are the Cult of Saturn, called Melchisedekians, the righteous Priest-Kings. In my opinion they are no different, the Melchizedek's as we covered in Part 5 of FHSTOS where just as bad and involved in the skullduggery here as everyone else. Strange bizarre births, born with the Mark of the Beast, which is scaly skin, just like Noah and sons, which means they were reptile oriented. Ashayne Dean described the story from the point of view of the Melchizedek's, of which she stated she is one of them. The problem is, just because their story is better than the other races who came here, does not mean it was beneficial to us. It was another of the savior programs, did they save us? No, what did Jeshuau the Melchizedek do? Fled through a Stargate and left 6 children behind. The common sense question here, does that sounds all righteous and of the most high? All priests or Cohens right through his story have used and abused us right up to modern day, why should we consider one of them any differently? I thought they said Jesus was a teacher, not a priest? Chasidism which is Hassidic, and in Hassidic it means Pious, of which the word pious is linked to radical religiosity, but more interestingly pious also means falsely appearing to be good or moral, indeed it is the latter in my humble opinion. It is said to have first formed in Poland and then moved to Ukraine in the 18th century. It originated in its current form with Israel ben Eliezer, called Baal Shem Tov the Master of the Name, who in 1760 predicted the arrival of Moshiach, which is YHWH or HaShem after the 10th Jubilee in the Hebrew Year #5778, which is 2018 in our calendar. Another prophecy that failed I might add. So, 2019 is Hebrew Year #5779; on March 20th 2019 Rav Berland of the Shas Party, which controls Chasidic, Sephardic and Mizrahi Crypto fake Jews, the Council of Wise Sages said the arrival of Moshiach straight after Passover Seder 2019; which was the anniversary of Rome? That failed as well. Chasidism is the Leaven of the Pharisees; Jesus warned be ye not called Rabbi Matthew 23:8. Chasidism originated with Chesed, Abraham's nephew; according to the author was not Jewish in the slightest, Chasidics are Chaldean worshippers of Saturn aka El or YHWH and they represent Messianic Judaism today. History records them as Chaldeans, Sabians, Sarmations, Essenes, Pharisees, Libertines, Khazars, Sabbatteans, Frankists, Mormons and today's Chabad Lubavitchers. Guiding among others, Donald Trump, Vladimir Putin and Benjamin Netanyahu into WWII and acceptance of the Mark of the Beast. This mark may very well be the Six-Pointed Star of Saturn on the Flag of Israel. Chabad Lubavitch is a branch of the Chaldean-Sabian Gnostics, Chasidics and Cabalists; Chabad is named for Chochma (Wisdom), Binah (Understanding), Da'at (Knowledge), 3 Sephirot in Kaballah. Da'at is not knowledge, it is death, although our gaining, learning and understanding knowledge is the death or da'at of these dark force magicians. Remember Kushner is a leading Chabad disciple, I suspect they will use him as a power play in America real soon. Prophecies which are actually Satanic plans of Maimonides, Judah ben Samuel, Vilna Gaon and Baal Shem Tov, Menachem Mendel Schneerson and most recently, Shas Party Rav Eliezer Berland concerning the arrival of Moshiach all pointed to the 2019-20, and so like the RV the currency exchange predictions, they all failed. It is all fake is why, and these desperate children seeking the return of their dark lord to guide them into deeper darkness, they have not yet realized it, they are not returning. They are stuck here and will face the consequences of their actions in due course. Lubavitch is the town in Smolensk Imperial Russia where Chabad Lubavitch takes its name; Ultra-orthodox Rabbis have arguments with God and win according to the Talmud; examples of God's errors according to Talmudic Rabbis is Genesis 27:39-41. The prophecy Isaac gave to Jacob and Esau is reversed in new bible versions; hence the Rabbis impersonate Jacob and assign him the role of the Wealthy, Elite, Military, Priestly Caste. This misguided thinking is also in view in the movie Us, another example is Ezekiel 38:2 and Rus is added to Eze 38:2 in the eluding to the Kievan Rus of Smolensk; these are the exiled Sarmation Priest-Kings of Crimea. The Sauros of Crimea, as we have covered previously, Sauro as in reptiles, think the Eye of Sauron. The location of the giant statue of Prometheus the fore-thinker breaks free of his chains; this is the long awaited liberty, equality and fraternity promised by Lucifer in the Garden of Eden, just not our type of liberty or equality. Messianic Judaism and Messianic Islam are identical; both are about instituting worldwide Noahide and Shariah Laws, both requiring Blasphemy of the Holy Ghost, the unforgivable sin. Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson was the 7th and last Chabad Rebbe. The Rebbe and Skull & Bones, Bohemian Grove, 33 deg Shriner Freemason, Knight of Malta George HW Bush who was known as Magog, proclaimed 7 Noahide Laws as Laws of the Land; 7 Noahide Laws proscribe the death penalty for followers of Jesus Christ. This describes a war between the Hyksos, the Draco and the Melchizedek's we covered in the Cosmic Genetics series. And because the Hyksos and more obviously the reptiles are bad from our point of view, does not mean the Melchizedek's were any better. It is two sides of the same coin again, and these fake gods have fought each other for power for billions of years, and the people and beings suffered because of it. Is there really any difference in terms of Lucifer, Yahweh, Messiach, the Messiah, Mohammad or Jesus? All promise the same thing, they will return and save their people, they have all failed if that is the case. Or perhaps they were or are never returning and they are all a part of a savior program that never arrives. At the start of Gulf War II George W Bush known as Gog, gave a 72 hour ultimatum to fellow Carlyle Group investor, Morisco a false convert to Sunni Baath Renaissance Party, Saddam Hussein, whilst his mother Barbara Bush said she would not concern her beautiful mind about body counts. Remember as well that Hussein was also a lower level trustee. The Bush family represents 28 years of War. The 28 Years of constant War: 28 1/2 years after the World Trade Center was dedicated, it was demolished on 9/11/2001; the New Pearl Harbor was a ritual slaughter built around the religion of Thelema. The Twin Towers symbolically representing the biblical Peleg and Joktan and Jacob and Esau, or the mythic; Horus and Set, Remus and Romulus or Jachin and Boaz began construction on Mar 21, 1966, the solstice day and you know from past shows they like to play dark magic on those dates. Nowruz and Holi New Light Festivals in Iran and India celebrate the unknown god of the Areopagus (Acts 7:43), the day the Sun contacted the Rose Line altar at St. Sulpice Cathedral in France, and the Serpent Quetzalcoatl descended the steps of the El Castillo Pyramid on Mar 21, 1966 Year One Satan. My belief is that Quetzalcoatl is not a serpent, but the feathers are sun rays, and so celebrating the fake solar god Ra, Quetzalcoatl was Thoth who was Avian. The 1966 World Trade Center was World Peace through Trade. Satan Ahriman in Persian was seen in the smoke of the South Tower demolition; the date was 2 Nisan on the Hebrew Calendar known as Red Heifer Day, was

is about sacrificing a red calf. 1966 was the year NASA's Gemini Twins program ended and Apollo the Destroyer began atop a Saturn V Satan's Nail. It is my belief that the destroyer was Appollon, not Apollo even though in their story they are linked as one person, I believe they were two different entities. 1966 was Year One Satan Anno Satanae, the year the Church of Satan was founded in the Black House known as Hotel California. It was the same year the term al Qaeda was coined by Ibn Sayyid Qutb, who was Egyptian, and a visiting professor of Islamic Studies at Stanford University. Al Qaida, the Arab word for Base/Foundation was used in Karl Marx' book Grundrisse Foundation and Isaac Asimov's book Foundation, it was also created as a program by the CIA, and is often termed Al CIAda. The Sci-Fi writer Isaac Asimov's book became the bible of Aum Shinrikyo, the Death Cult which used Sarin gas in the Tokyo Subway was formed by Unit 731, a Chemical, Bio, Radiological Weapons Lab done by Japan PM Shintaro Abe, the father of the recently assassinated Japan PM Shinzo Abe. Japan means the Rising Sun, which is the Black Sun, Saturn also being the Rising Sun signifies the worship of Saturn as the Black Sun. Jesus warned no flesh would remain unless he shortened those Days Matthew 24:20; Chaldeans are about to start those days. Chaldeans are also linked to our recent pieces about the Hopi and Navajo remember. Al Qaida, or Foreign Toilet in Saudi Arabia morphed into Isis which also means throne or foundation, the seat of Antichrist. Qutb means pole or foundation, the same meaning as Al Qaida, the term coined by Ibn Sayyid Qutb, a follower of Wahhabism, the religion of Saudi Royalty. Sayyid means descended of Muhammad and the Qyuraish bedouin of Mecca; Mecca means adultery; Qyuraish are the Koreish, the alternative Priests of Korah. The Twin Towers (Gemini) topped out in 1968, the year George W Bush was initiated into Yale's Skull & Bones, also known as the Teutonic Brotherhood of Death Society receiving the new name of Gog, the same year the movie Rosemary's Baby was debuted with the birth of Antichrist. George HW Bush received Magog as his Skull & Bones name at his Skull & Bones initiation in 1947, the year Palestine was partitioned into Arab and Jewish sectors, the same year as the Roswell crash and the formation of Majestic 12, the CIA and the National Security Act. The virgin of Israel has fallen, she shall no more rise Amos 5:2; Israel is not Jewish at least according to the Bible. But Isis was known as the great Virgin, and some have her depicted as the Virgin Mary or Mari, which again back the separation of the word Israel, Is twin again is Isis plus Ra and the God El, of which El also means god. Operation Desert Storm began on 2-9 August 1990 the date which commemorates the destruction of the first 2 Temples in Jerusalem, the 12 Spies Report, the Bar Kochba revolt, ejection of Marrano fake Jewish bankers from England and Alhambra Decree ejecting Marrano fake Jews from Spain; the Highway of Death slaughter on Hwy 8 was on Purim in 1991 orchestrated by 33 deg Luciferian Freemasons George HW "Magog" Bush and Saddam Hussein. This was when the Iraqis accepted a ceasefire and retreated, and bombers went long Hwy 8 and blitzed everything, 2000 vehicles destroyed and left over 150K people dead. 28 years later on Purim, a Super Full Worm Moon Amorite Purim Miracle handed Israel sovereign control over the Golan Heights, courtesy of Donald Trump. Mt Hermon is Mountain of the Chief aka Mt Sion, the site Giants were born to women in Sacred Marriage with fallen angels (Gen 6); no Sex and no Nephilim implied here. Purim, March 20, 1991 GHW Bush and Chabad-Lubavitch Rebbe Menachem Mendel Schneerson (11 Nisan is celebrated as National Education and Sharing Day in honor of the Chaldean Rebbe's birth, thanks to 33 deg Freemason Bohemian Grove fake Baptist Jimmy "JC" Carter. 11 Nisan is April 15, 2019 US Tax Day; Jimmy Carter exempted Donald Trump from Federal Tax for 20 years in 1979; the bankruptcy of his business called Taj Majal took care of the rest of Donald's tax burden. His Bankruptcy lawyer, Crypto fake Jew David Friedman is Ambassador to Israel. Purim Mar 18, 2003 Gulf War II begins with Shock and Awe Shekinah meaning the Feminine presence of the Deity, there was a cruise missile attack on Baghdad. Saddam Hussein was accused of involvement with Osama bin Laden; a lie admitted to by FBI Director Robert Mueller. To which Barbara Bush said on Good Morning America, Why should we hear about body bags and deaths? It's not relevant. So why should I waste my beautiful mind on something like that? Purim 2012 the Libyan War begins with an illegal Cruise Missile attack on Libya destroying the Great Man Made River. Purim Mar 20, 2019 US Declaration on Golan Donald Trump hands control of the Golan Heights to Israel; Russia, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, all 22 Arab League Nations, Germany, Britain, Poland all formally condemn the act. 2019 is 28 years after the 1991 Purim slaughter on the Hwy of Death; Immediately after the Golan Heights Declaration by Trump, Aleppo was attacked; the Gog and Magog invasion (Eze 38-39) begins at Aleppo, Hamath and Arpad destroying Damascus, through the Golan Heights (Mt Hermon=Mt Sion) and into Jerusalem. Purim is an Assyrian Festival and not Jewish in the slightest; Pur means Lot; Purim means to cast lots for Marduk, the Assyrian Calf of the Sun Shamash, the false god Israel worships at Hanukkah. March 18 is day #77, GHW Bush aircraft carrier is CVN #77; AA #77 piloted into the 77ft tall Pentagon by Operation Mass Cal (Mass Casualties) director on the 77th Meridian, 60 years after construction began; Crowley's Liber Oz: Book of the Goat or Book 77. The Pentagon Mass Casualty project codenamed Pentagon Mascall, was a contingency exercise that was held in the Office of the Secretary of Defense conference room between October 24 and October 26, 2000. The exercise required emergency response teams, members of the defense protective services, and U.S. government officials to conduct emergency simulations in preparation for a possible plane crash into the Pentagon. Hmm. Purim 2019 aligned with the Hindu New Light Festival dedicated to Krishna (Black) Holi and the Persian New Light Festival Nowruz in 2019, dedicated to the unknown god Ares, Mars, Nergal, the Rooster god of the Sepharvaim heralding the Rising Sun Saturn. 2019 was the Chinese Year of the Earth Pig, one of 28 Chinese astrological symbols. Chaldean Earth Dwellers reject Jesus Christ as God, entering Christian religions as Marranos meaning swine; Jesuits the Society of Gesu Earth Pig.
