

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT AUGUST+18T

We have now launched the softcover book for Volume 1 of our book FHSTOS. It is available on the website THI-show.com for $17.99 plus shipping and handling charge. The PDF is still available from the website as well. We are working on alternative publishers in Europe due to the excessive shipping charges of sending the books to Europe. The cheapest I could get to send the book to the UK was $29, which is about 24GBP. We are 3/4 way through the editing of Volume 2 of our book, which will be Part 5, 7, 8 A & C. Working on people who wish to have signed copy, there will be no extra charge this end, but the shipping cost from here to your home extra. Or maybe you can bring your book to the village sometime and I will sign it there. I hope you all enjoy it. This coming Tuesday August 23rd sees the return of the Must Listen to shows at the usual time. A deep diving expose that may require my favorite Mewe gif repeated often throughout the show, but this brings the darkness into the light. And also has a future purpose for what we are doing. It is not only for what we do that we are held responsible, but also for what we don't do. What we haven't done enough of is, shadow and inner work, caring and sharing, being cooperative, making people and themselves accountable. That created the mess of the old world. We ignored atrocities, wars, child abuses, violence, crimes, family abuses, church abuses and establishment abuses. We ignored the theft of our life force energy, our wealth, our lifestyles, our homes and our liberties. Pleasingly these are all things that our members have been working on to correct. Much progress has been made, but still it is the few who do things, time for those who don't put aside some time to help others. THI/TPC is not a wait club, we are a working show and group in very difficult times. But difficult and testing times are the right time for opportunities, too many opportunities of the past has been bypassed, as too few stood up. Come and help the doers, as waiting for others outside of the group to fix anything, is a pointless savior based program that never arrives. Members of the EU have done a cool thing and some have met up with another member in Portugal. Also the UK members are also arranging a gathering of THI members, this is great to hear and fills me with joy. Tonight we take another delve into the outing and cleansing of the old filth, in a non-colonic way. As we empty the bowels of the dark wind, and probe into the deep depths of darkness and what will emerge from into the light is, a new path and a new way. A journey of discovery and wonder, plus some tiny ponderings as usual, a few triggers and a healthy dollop of truth, all of which makes up a THI show. Can you handle it, I'm sure you can.

NEWS: Yet again we are seeing the youth are rejecting the old establishments that the adults failed to address by and large. Having reported they are rejecting college and universities and permanent debt cycles; they are also rejecting religion, under every religious denomination as well. Here is the latest the youth are rejecting. Facebook's declining popularity among younger demographics is getting worse. But a recent study just revealed how far, the once all-encompassing social media platform has fallen from grace in teens' eyes. According to the Pew Research Center's new Teens, Social Media and Technology report surveying internet users aged 13-17, only about 32-percent of responders say they ever use Facebook. That's a well over a 50-percent decline from 2014-15's estimated 71-percent usage. Meanwhile, TikTok is remains the current social media platform to beat for Gen Z, with 67-percent of responders claiming to frequently visit the app. Two other social media platforms Instagram and Snapchat, also saw sizable increases over the past eight years. Another result gleaned from the study shows that YouTube is by far the website teens utilize most, with 95-percent of those surveyed saying they frequent the platform. Pleased to see so many dumping Facebook, perhaps they should boycott the all in advertising program and Fascist platform called Youtube next. Either way this is encouraging for the future I feel.

The Department of Justice has filed a motion to unseal documents related to the search of Donald Trump's home, but what does that mean? Unsealing judicial materials means making them available to the public and the press. Court documents are typically kept sealed for confidentiality reasons, in this case it involves a search executed at the residence of a former US president. Attorney General Merrick Garland noted this investigation, like many others that his department has carried out, was being conducted out of the public eye. But, he said, Trump not only issued a public statement confirming the search on Monday, but it has also attracted significant interest in the days since. A federal court must now balance out the intense public attention to the search, with Trump's interest in keeping the information confidential. If the court decides that releasing the search warrant and related documents would not impair court functions or harm legitimate privacy interests, it will make the warrant materials public. The motion to unseal allows, however, for the former President Trump to object and effectively block the warrant from being made public. According to court documents, a judge must respond to the justice department's motion to unseal the Mar-a-Lago search warrant by 25 August. Donald Trump's lawyers, however, already have a copy of the warrant and could, if they choose, release it to the public at any time. It is all a dog and pony distraction show, to cover up other failures within the system and a healthy sprinkling of faction wars being played out in public. Plus it gives the mindless talking heads known as news readers, endless amounts of air time to talk utter shit. Meanwhile the country is heading into the abyss.

As politicians clamor for the people to hand over their guns, and the sales of guns and ammunition severely restricted, it is ironic that the same people are arming Government departments at record levels. Democrats are trying to ram through their latest spending package in the House, are drawing attention to the plan to give the Internal Revenue Service $80 billion to hire a massive army of 87,000 agents. Citing audits and a report from OpenTheBooks on arms spending by over 100 federal agencies, many with their own police forces, ATR said even before spending a dime of the new money, the IRS already has an arsenal of 4,600 firearms and five million rounds of ammo. The IRS is just one of over 100 agencies with an arms budget. Why do the IRS need guns and ammo? What are the police for? Why the multiple spending on each unit and not making use of the people already tasked with law and order? Here is the staggering hypocrisy. Overall, the federal government spent more than $2 trillion dollars in the last decade on guns and ammo, according to a 2020 OpenTheBooks report on the militarization of the federal government. That $2T would have gone better on the people, poverty, poor health, diabolical education and infrastructure. No, the very people saying we need less guns and ammo, are the very people buying it.

So, Salman Rushdie was attacked in New York whilst on stage, in what could be the latest in distractions, or may well indeed be valid. As of writing this just a few hours after the announcement, things are sketchy at best. Rushdie has been the source of many attacks and also fatwas declared on his life, due to offending Muslims. Yet, how and why did he receive such condemning attention? And why was he knighted by the Queen for writing an inflammatory book? The over-riding thought process currently was something Boris Johnson & Johnson said following the attack. British Prime Minister Boris Johnson tweeted that he was appalled that Rushdie was stabbed, while exercising a right we should never cease to defend. Where were the people's right to free speech Johnson under your Fascist Government? Why didn't you defend the people's right and indeed free will over the Covid Scam? yet you will defend an instigator who could have caused regional or world wars? The hypocrisy knows no bounds with those people. Rushdie, like Trump, Alexander Cortez, Hitlery and Pelosi are all news distractions wheeled out to cover up other shenanigans.

Last month, Alphabet Inc better known as Google announced a hiring freeze due to global economic uncertainty. Senior executives in the Google cloud sales department are telling their employees to shape up, warning that layoffs may occur if results don't meet expectations. Per the report, the warning says – if third-quarter results don't look up, then there will be blood on the streets. Remember the recent survey the MSM did? Asking the public, the question of whether they expected civil war in America? Why are they using a term like, there will be blood on the streets to describe a company laying off employees? This is a seeding program, telling you what they are planning to do in essence. All of which makes it a mind meme.

Saudi oil giant Aramco has broken its own record with a $48.4bn profit for the second quarter of 2022. Which works out as $538M per day, $22.4M an hour or $373K per minute. For a person who works 40 hours a week earning $10 per hour, that equates to 932 weeks pay or just short of 18 years, that is net pay only, gross pay would add more years onto that. And they earn that in a minute? And what is anybody doing about it?

It is a 90% year-on-year increase, and marks the biggest earnings for the world's largest energy exporter since its public listing three years ago.

Russia's invasion of Ukraine has seen oil and gas prices skyrocket, except Russia is not the cause, just pure greed.

The Saudi oil giant's figure represents the biggest quarterly adjusted profit of any listed company. Despite the record profits, the state-owned Saudi energy giant announced it would keep its dividend unchanged for the third quarter. Maybe the Positive Action group can draught up a document about the TPC and ask for them to pay some of those profits back into the people who gave them that wealth?

THI creating the news again? Less than 24 hours after we outed Kushner as the mole, the MSM followed suit. As Mary Trump said she thinks the person who may have given the FBI information about documents held at Mar-a-Lago by her uncle Donald Trump, could be Jared Kushner. She made the comments during a radio interview on Friday, after the host asked her who she thinks could be the Mar-a-Lago mole, after reports said the FBI was tipped off by an informant close to the former president. We need to start with who would have access to this stuff. I don't think Mark Meadows would have access to it, dismissing the former chief of staff. I think we need to look very hard at why Jared got $2 billion, she said, referring to an investment into Kushner's private equity firm by a fund led by Mohammed bin Salman, the crown prince of Saudi Arabia. We need to look very hard at why he has been so quiet for so many months now. The last two things I also warned about in previous shows, that snake in law is always up to something no good. But, Trump like his former sidekick the Trustee had a listening problem, as I warned them both of what Kushner was up to and it was ignored. That listening failure has now come back to bite hard on them both now.

It has now emerged allegedly at this point, but previous conversations Kim and I had intimated this may be true. But there appears evidence that Trump and his lawyer Cohen, off paying off 5 girls and 2 boys for under age sex, with ages ranging from 10 to 13. Is it a witch hunt as is known to be done? or was it real? Time will tell, but evidence of Trump's involvement at Epstein parties, including Ivana and Ivanka were on the Epstein flight logs list I was given back in 2018-19 time. The damage this does to children goes throughout their lives, it is not easily forgotten, in fact it is never forgotten and leaves the victims on a trail of self sabotage in future relationships or even potential relationships.

OUROBOROS NEWS: Recently the Pentagon acknowledged that recruiting shortfalls are particularly alarming. This is the start of a long drought for military recruiting, said Ret. Lt. Gen. Thomas Spoehr of the Heritage Foundation. Ah the Heritage Foundation, which is presumably linked to the Heritage Fund, which Anna Von Reitz and her bloodline following she is the judiciary for, wanted to get their grubby fingers in more of the pie. He said the military has not had such a hard time signing recruits since 1973, the year the U.S. left Vietnam and the draft officially ended. The Army has achieved just 40 percent of its fiscal year 2022 recruiting goal with just three months left in the fiscal year. The Air Force is about 4,000 recruits short of where it should be at this point in the year, and the Air National Guard and Reserve are unlikely to meet their goals. Navy officials say they are hopeful that they can reach their recruiting goal this year. The Marine Corps, the smallest of the Pentagon branches, is likely to meet its recruiting goal for this year, but notes that 2022 is arguably the most challenging recruiting year since the inception of the AVF. These shortfalls exist despite extraordinary measures enacted over the past decade to attract recruits. In fact, the Army and Air Force are offering unprecedented enlistment bonuses of up to $50,000 and the Navy up to $25,000. Nice of them to fritter away our funds in that manner, surely it would be cheaper to enlist people in peace not war? But then that is the common sense factor isn't it, that is as common as rocking horse shit in these organizations. The Army is offering recruits their first duty station of choice for the first time. Longstanding recruit qualifications are being reviewed by the Army, always the most difficult service for which to recruit, and a bellwether for the others, with an eye to lowering them. This included considering but under severe protests, rejecting a temporary suspension of the requirement for a high school diploma or a GED. Why would you need pieces of paper to kill people? What a bizarre thought pattern that is. If you want someone to kill people there are plenty of murderers in jails, why not use them? after all their karmic debt is already unfolding. Why get decent people to commit to enroll in karmic debt on behalf of psychopaths? Advertising budgets have been increased, as have the number of recruiters, the latter to astonishing levels, constituting a serious drain on the all-important non-commissioned officer (NCO) corps, the single most positive difference, for example, between the U.S. Army and the Russian Army. Advertising budgets? Again another drain on our resources, to fight wars that have no gains and many losses for the American people, and indeed the people globally. The child level comparison with the Russians again, obsessed much? The AVF crisis is driven by the fact that the pool of those eligible to join the military continues to decline because of obesity, drug use, criminal records, or an inability to qualify intellectually, by successfully passing the service entrance exam. Recently, Army Chief of Staff Gen. James McConville testified before Congress that only 23 percent of Americans ages 17-24 are qualified to serve without a waiver, down from 29 percent just a few years ago. Adding to the crisis is the fact that, according to an internal Defense Department survey obtained by NBC News, only 9 percent of those eligible to serve in the military have any inclination to do so, down from 15 percent just a few years ago and the lowest number since 2007. Here is where crisis and denial converge. A reasonable person would have difficulty denying the implications of the following simple arithmetic: Every year, the Pentagon must recruit approximately 150,000 service members. Every year, approximately 4 million Americans turn 18, 23 percent of whom can meet the minimum enlistment standards, meaning about 920,000 are able to serve. Of those 920,000, only 9 percent are motivated to serve, meaning approximately 83,000 both able and willing to serve. The possible shortfall of 67,000 enlistments represents a serious threat to national security. No, it's your stupid policies and that of the EL-ites you work for, that are the serious threat to not National Security, which is a fake term for a cover up, but the serious threat is to we the people. We are not manpower experts but we do possess a rough knowledge of the U.S. military, occasioned by our almost 70 years of combined service. We know, too, that there are those who still deny there is a problem, people in the military, in Congress, the White House and apparently, throughout the general citizenry. What we are trying to point out is simple: we're losing the ability to field military forces sufficient to the missions our country assigns them. It is time to curb those missions or find a different way to field our forces. No, it is time to grow up and stop playing dark forces control and death games, that has killed people in the billions. And what for I may ask? What has it achieved? Stability? Growth? Peace? The answer is nothing of value. Let's chart a new path and end this psychopathy.

You can blame the EL-ites, the media and also the school boards in their latest failed ouroboros program. As students gear up for the start of the new school year, Nevada is still scrambling to fill thousands of teacher and staff positions. Roughly 3,000 teaching jobs remain unfilled across the state's 17 school districts as some schools prepare to return to the classroom in early August, the Nevada State Education Association estimates. We don't have teachers for the classrooms, and I'm worried about lunch workers who aren't going to be there to serve our kids meals that they need and have missed throughout the summer, Dawn Etcheverry, president of the Nevada State Education Association. In our second-largest district, we don't have bus drivers to start the school year. So, kids will already go on a rotation of one week without a bus driver every four weeks. Only surprise was she didn't say two weeks. Other states are facing similar dilemmas. Some rural Texas school districts are switching to a four-day school week for the upcoming academic year, citing the staffing shortages. You backed all the staff into a corner and forced illegal mandates on them, and these idiots expect everyone to return to work? The damage and fall out of this enlightening exercise will rumble on for years. Because not only do people not want to return to gestapo workplaces, many cannot return due to being dead because of Gestapo school boards.

Over the last two years, more than half a million teachers and school staff have walked off the job and left the field. Now, the mass exodus has created shortages that are being felt as the school year inches closer, the total comes from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It reported that from 2020 to 2022, approximately 600,000 teachers and staff walked away from education. Regarding what's fueled the national teacher shortage, burnout, pandemic fatigue, low wages, and retirement are only some of the reasons that have created a problem with few solutions. No, people have had enough of indoctrination, agenda driven bs and taking responsibility for the child's welfare and becoming a non-qualified medical expert to boot. Those who have been in education report that, the current shortage is unlike anything the industry has ever faced. Just last week, Dan Domenech, the executive director of the School Superintendents Association, shared that he has never seen it this bad. The U.S. Department of Education has shared that from the 2008-2009 school year to 2018-2019, the number of students completing education degrees has dropped by almost a third. And the trend hasn't stopped, as from 2019 to May of this year alone, the number of teaching vacancies has increased by 70%, going from 155,00 to 388,000 open positions, the National Education Association reported. Last August, 37% of our members were looking to leave the classroom this year. When we asked that same tracking poll question in February of 2022, it was suddenly up to 55% of all of our educators looking to leave the profession, Kusler said.

A sign of a failed migrant policy, that is not only transpiring in the UK, but Israel, Ukraine and also quietly America. This policy is the Jewish EL-ites policy and in particular the Soros Foundation, is it Soros or sauros? Of getting the races to mix, and in doing so devalue the white race genetics, and it's demographic standing. I guess they have worked out now that, that policy has failed and so they uproot the people again and will send them back from whence they came. This is good news on the surface, but the effort is not humanitarian, but a fiscal policy. With less and less circulation of funds due to the greed hoarders, and the work of the Trust, now they realize unless they preserve what they have, the so called lead nations are all going to collapse. Which leads to a void and the more sustainable nations, of which there are few, will take over it and them, likely to be China. The U.K. government was due to begin its first deportation flight to remove asylum-seekers to the East African country of Rwanda on June 14, 2022, exactly two months after signing the U.K.-Rwanda agreement. The asylum-seekers were from several war-torn and politically unstable countries, including Syria, Sudan, and Iran, all facilitated by the Israeli Junta. Each year, thousands of people many fleeing repressive governments or poverty, attempt to cross the English Channel in fragile boats in the hope of starting a new life in the U.K. Boris Johnson, the U.K. prime minister, defended the U.K.-Rwanda deal in June 2022, saying it would remove the illegal cross-Channel trafficking of people whose lives are being put at risk. In exchange for Rwanda receiving the deportees, the U.K. has paid the country about US$142 million to cover the initial costs of operating the program, as well as economic development projects in Rwanda. Nice of the UK to invest $142M of the people's money correcting their Governments failed policies. It should come out of the think tank and politicians pockets, as they are the ones responsible. The U.K. deportees were expected to integrate their lives into Rwandan social communities. All of which means without proper planning, leaves Rwanda in a total mess and an opportunity for vulture capitalists to pick over the carcass in the future. But the first Rwanda deportation flight did not take off as planned. The European Court of Human Rights, the regional judicial human rights body in Europe, issued what are called interim urgent measures to stop the scheduled flights. Such measures are most often issued in cases where there is an imminent risk of death or torture. Yet, little is done to address the death or torture going on globally, another case of focusing on the effect and not the cause. The European Court of Human Rights is ran by Cohens, and ran and operated by a non-member state, Israel and their puppet group in Brussels, Belgium. Belgium like other European countries is a fake state, Belgium is Southern Holland.

POSITIVE NEWS: This is something I have mentioned in relation to our TPC school curriculum, and it is nice to see it is being discussed and pushed forward. What happens when teachers don't feel fulfilled teaching a highly successful curriculum? They destroy it, and they destroy children's education along with it. That is the chief takeaway from a Time piece on the renewed push to emphasize phonics in reading curriculum. The piece jumps off with the experience of Kareem Weaver, an Oakland teacher who says that for seven years in a row, Oakland was the fastest-gaining urban district in California for reading. This was due to a very structured, phonics-based curriculum. Despite the obvious success of that curriculum, Weaver says teachers hated it. This seems dehumanizing, this is colonizing, this is the man telling us what to do, Weaver said. So, we fought tooth and nail as a teacher group to throw that out, they succeeded, and Oakland children paid the price. These are the same types of teachers who brought us jabs into the schools, the critical race theory and transgendered dance offs in lessons. Reading proficiency in the Oakland Unified School District abruptly decreased from 2014 to 2015, when the curriculum change was introduced, and it hasn't rebounded to pre-2015 levels. The district has a reading proficiency score of just 34%, well below the already stupidly low California state average of 51%. Weaver and other Oakland teachers have recognized their mistake, and they are working to reinstitute a phonics-based curriculum. But it is much harder to rebuild something than it is to tear it down, and Oakland students have been set back years by all this drama. This is proof that, that method of teaching works.

MEDICAL NEWS: The nation's top public health agency relaxed its COVID-19 guidelines Thursday, dropping the recommendation that Americans quarantine themselves if they come into close contact with an infected person. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention also said people no longer need to stay at least 6 feet away from others. The changes, which come more than 2 1/2 years after the start of the pandemic, are driven by a recognition that an estimated 95% of Americans 16 and older have acquired some level of immunity, either from being vaccinated or infected, agency officials said. The current conditions of this pandemic are very different from those of the last two years, said the CDC's Greta Massetti, an author of the guidelines. Yet, still people will walk around with masks on, and line up for booster jabs they don't need. Got to feel safe is their modus operandi, all about getting people to live in fear is the control systems operation.

VAERS data released July 29 from the CDC reported 1,357,937 total adverse events in the United States after injections of experimental COVID-19 gene-based vaccines, including 29,790 deaths and 247,686 serious injuries between December 14, 2020, and July 22, 2022. These also include 55,719 permanent disabilities, 50,739 cases of myocarditis/pericarditis, and 14,374 reported cases of shingles. As such figures are based on voluntary reports, it is important to note that they are very likely just the tip of the iceberg in actual figures. A 2010 Harvard-executed study commissioned by the Department of Health and Human Services revealed that fewer than 1% of vaccine adverse events are reported to VAERS. The vaccine manufacturer Connaught Laboratories calculated at least a fifty-fold underreporting of adverse events in a confidential study. Yet still the savior and heavily parented group line up for more jabs.

China has discovered a new, potentially fatal virus within its borders, which experts say could trigger yet another pandemic. Everything is a pandemic these days, the real pandemic is stupidity. The Langya Henipavirus, referred to as Langya has already infected 35 people, according to Taiwan's Centers for Disease Control. Hmm, interesting the news is coming out of Taiwan, just after Pelosi and the clown entourage visited there, don't label it as a coincidence, it is not. It's in the same family as the Hendra virus and Nipah virus. While none of the patients have died or suffered serious illness, it's a virus that hasn't infected human beings prior to this outbreak, so there are a lot of unknowns. All very Rumsfeld that, unknown unknowns. Being under the Henipavirus umbrella, it has the potential to do some serious damage, and the WHO data classifies Henipavirus with a 40-75% fatality rate. The symptoms might look all too familiar though fever, headache, cough, fatigue, etc. The great question is, is it the Langya virus or another Langley virus?

If ever there was any doubt about the virus being jab related, the story of the Jewish we revealed in an earlier show should spring to mind. Remember it was revealed via their genetics, that their DNA made them immune to many viruses? How did so many of them get Covid then? Particularly after the jabs.

SPIRITUAL HEALTH: This is a piece that is useful for us all, to recognize where we are at, and where we need to be or go. This was originally a Buddhist document, that I changed quite a bit to fit our time and our narrative. Engagement in their world is now beyond bizarre and indeed painful in many ways. As the sheep amble ever closer to the edge of the cliff and are awaiting their gods to tell them to jump for the final time. That jump is expected to last over 2000 years until the next cycle, remember that is their choice not yours. Our leap is 10K years into the future, that was our choice, not theirs. There are 6 ways to conduct yourself and be in the right place or space. 1. To avoid the company of fools 2. To associate with the wise 3. Honor those who are worthy of honor 4. To live in a suitable place 5. To have done good deeds in the past 6. To be on the right path These are the most basic and fundamental qualities that everyone should have. The elements of this group must be established to obtain both worldly and spiritual progress. To avoid the company of fools: Fools are people who are unable to tell right from wrong, and as a result cause harm to others through their actions. They are not concerned with basic morality as they do not care very much about the consequences of their actions. By associating unmindfully with such people, it will be difficult to make any kind of material or spiritual progress, as there is always the tendency to behave in a similar manner. Furthermore, there will be hardly any desire or motivation to do good deeds or improve oneself. However, we must be prepared to lend assistance if it is needed and also help others to improve themselves. Thus, we should not totally avoid the fools. What is important is that we remain mindful at all times and never allow ourselves to be adversely influenced by them. A classic case of observe not absorb is it not? To associate with the wise: The wise are those who have acquired the wisdom to tell right from wrong, and thus avoid causing harm to others. They are aware that their actions have consequences on not only their present life, but in their future lives too. This avoids or negates the karmic debt cycle. They discourage wrong-doing and encourage doing good deeds. We should always try to associate with such upright and virtuous people, as proper friendships are of absolute importance in our lives, no matter what stage of progress we have reached. To respect those who are worthy of respect: The people who act in honor are the people we should honor and respect. The old respected genres turned into authoritarian type figures, and no longer serves a purpose going forward. We can respect them materially or through our conduct. By giving them due respect and honor, we can benefit from their guidance and continue to learn from them. To live in a suitable place: A suitable place has both a material and spiritual meaning. Materially, it means a peaceful place where life and property are reasonably secure. Spiritually, it means a place and time where we need to be, and where one is able to grow and learn, whilst practice the teachings in peace. The blessing of living in a suitable place allows for both material and spiritual progress. This has some reasoning behind the village project we have started, to bring like-minded people together under a calming, soothing and protective frequency. It also negates having to engage with fools. To have done good deeds in the past: We are continually reaping the results of our past actions. For example, if we had helped many people in the past, it is likely that when we require help ourselves, we will have the aid of some of the people whom we had previously helped. The pay it forward cycle of help that goes clockwise and allows for flow, not the anti-clockwise pay it back. Good deeds are not to be considered for paying back, unless that is the exchange to be agreed upon. In the same way, if we continue to help others now, also continue doing good deeds for the future. It is a double win to have done good deeds in the past, and to be able to continue to do good deeds for the future. To be on the right path: Most people do not even know that they are on the wrong path, much less being aware of the right path that they should take. The wrong path is that of immorality, greed and ignorance, the right path is that of virtue, generosity and wisdom. Along the right path there are tests, of what I call the cul de sac people. Hard nose sellers on the street corners of life, desperate to send you off the right path into a cul de sac where you spin round and round until you are dizzy and disoriented. From that state it can become difficult to get back on the right path, due to having spent so much time and effort to the spin effect. The religious fraternity struggles with this and has great difficulty in their own cul de sac programs. The right path is essential as it is the right path of the open gate, the left-hand path of Set is the well-worn and looped out old path. That path is for the children, those who refuse to learn and those who bask in the false light. The Supporting Structure required: 7. To have a good teaching 8. To be proficient at work 9. To follow a code of discipline 10. To practice pleasant speech 11. To support our parents 12. To take care of our spouse and children 13. To have occupations which do not cause harm This group of lessons relate to our preparations for adult and family life and are the factors necessary for a successful, balanced and wholesome material life. Having these supporting structures allows for further progress towards higher ideals. To have a good teaching not education: This has been criminally overlooked in regards to the failure of the many. This refers to both a general as well as a moral teaching code. A good general teaching is essential for our material welfare and a good moral education, which should eventually lead to the important teachings for our spiritual welfare. To be proficient at work : We must be able to support ourselves and our family and in order to do so, we have to be able to earn a decent living. We must have the necessary skills and qualifications and apply them properly to our work. Being able to earn a proper living, and not having to struggle to survive or resort to dishonesty or crime, is essential for both material and spiritual advancement. The definition and establishment of work places be turned into a learning center, and not some mundane job, will be essential going forward. Cooperatives must replace the failed harvesting centers of the cor-pirate structure, of dog eat dog and all lose except the few. Work no matter what it is, is being creative in some way, without creativity in your life, you stagnate on the inside and outside. In essence you go back in time. To follow a code of discipline: Observing the Five Precepts strengthens our resolve and ability to avoid immoral and harmful actions. Following such a code of discipline will keep us from the trouble and difficulties that such negative actions eventually bring. The Five Precepts 1. To abstain from killing any living beings. 2. To abstain from taking what is not given. 3. To abstain from sexual misconduct. 4. To abstain from lying and false speech. 5. To abstain from the abusive consumption of intoxicants and drugs. This is all about rta law and how to conduct yourselves under the golden rule. To practice pleasant speech: Speech is our main form of interaction with others in society. If we were to always lie, gossip, scold or speak ill of others, we will have many enemies and people will dislike and distrust us. This will hinder greatly the material and spiritual progress we hope to achieve. We should thus always speak what is true, meaningful, pleasant and beneficial for the good of ourselves and others too. The old saying if you don't have anything nice to say, don't say anything. The above are symptoms of core inner issues if it becomes overly prevalent in your everyday speech patterns. Everyone messes up, all of us, does that or should that define that person for eternity or a considerable time period? The answer is no, but we should all set boundaries of what is acceptable and what is not. To support our parents: Our parents brought us into this world and cared for us from birth. It is only the most heartless and uncaring individuals who will not help their own parents. We must show gratitude by supporting them materially and physically when it is required, and by always returning their love and care. This discipline for too many has become an almost impossible situation, following the great family divide, and not just the parents. Going forward parents need to understand they are guardians of the child, not the owners. The child is a free spirit and should be accepted as such, not turned into something the child is not or wants. To take care of our spouse and children: This section carries the same issues as the support of our parents. Although this seems obvious enough, there are people who do not fulfil this basic duty towards their families. We must support and remain faithful to our spouse, and provide for our children with material needs, parental support and a good teaching. This would include the crucial duty of teaching them the Dhamma for their own long-lasting peace and happiness. Taking proper care of our family means that we have a household with peace and harmony, and is another important factor necessary for spiritual development. To have occupations which do not cause harm: According to the Noble Eightfold Path, we should avoid occupations that involve killing, the sale of animal flesh, the trading of humans, weapons, poisons and intoxicants. Interesting to note they included the sale of animal flesh, yet ignore the living nature of vegetables or fruits. Something the vegan community chronically overlooks, it is what it is and we have to eat on a 3D planet to survive. The problem is the lack of respect and thanks for the food we consume. Occupations which are unethical, immoral and illegal should also be avoided. Engaging in any work which causes harm to others will never allow anyone the true peace of mind essential for spiritual development. It is great if we can earn a living by means which are free from unwholesome activities. Some useful tips and things to abide by in that piece, although I drastically altered it due to the religiosity factor. I think it fits nicely with how to be, how to act, how to think and how to develop oneself, to then be in a position to help others. And more importantly how to love.

EXPOSE: On 26 May the 2022 WEF concluded not with a bang, but with a whimper. When mainstream journalists start questioning the usefulness of the WEF, the world should listen. Oops that's a first, but there is a kicker sadly, I thought maybe even the script readers are beginning to get concerned? Seems their globalist agenda is failing. They asked to what extent WEF's slogan, committed to improving the State of the World, was relevant. Improving the state of the world not relevant really? What's wrong with these bots? What did the WEF and all the illustrious attendants of the Davos meeting do to stop the Ukraine War? Absolutely nothing. Professor Schwab, didn't even offer to mediate for peace? Why would he? He is a psychopath. Instead, he introduced President Zelensky of Ukraine on video, who addressed the WEF in his brown T-shirt. A brown that may otherwise and during WWII have been associated with the Nazi-color, coincidence? In an aggressive tone, Zelensky demanded from the West more billions of cash and weapons to kill more Russians. He was very clear that peace was not an option, but more war against his arch-enemy, Russia. Watch Zelensky win Times man of the year award, or some other spastic award at the end of the year. Winning that war is indeed not the slightest option, despite all the western propaganda, and Zelenskyy knows it. So, why continue a useless war that kills thousands and thousands of innocent people, more Ukrainians than Russians? Instead of accepting Putin's / Lavrov's proposals to talk, to negotiate? What's the hidden agenda? or perhaps it is not so hidden, as NATO and the Jewish EL-ites, not Zelensky are calling the shots. Instead, Zelensky got a standing ovation from the WEF crowd, presumably for Zelensky's aggressive, belligerent tone and requests for more fire and killing power from the west. Which says everything about the attendees at that forum, why should they care? It is not their children or families being killed, and therein lies the problem. In future all politicians and Military top brass should fight the wars, not the people. That way war would be a thing of the past with those cowards, and if not, at least it would be entertaining. The applause was like enhancing the propagated and truly indoctrinated hatred for Russia within the Forum and around the world. The Forum, consisting of luminaries dubbed the Davos Man, for individuals who are bought and sold by Davos. But, Professor Schwab, the founder and eternal CEO of the WEF, the overlord of the world's good-doers, (M) the one who is committed to improving the State of the World, did not offer peace mediation with one world. How would that have been received by the world? Maybe the WEF wants to keep its ambiguous image between doing good and doing right, or both, or neither? Maybe it is all part of the plan they are running currently which is distraction, a plethora or swarm of them. All designed to disorient the people and comply with their mad cap solutions. Not one word towards peace, towards seeking a negotiated solution for peace. Strangely, peace and what could be done about it rather than sending more killing material, was hardly mentioned throughout the WEF's 4-day Forum. Doesn't that speak for itself and for the WEF's irrelevance? Perhaps not, let's see. There was a multitude of behind close-door sessions taking place, they were secret and not accessible to the public at large, that's where the game-making decisions are and were taken. If they were doing anything of value it would be open and transparent, but these hide and seek merchants love their little secret gatherings delivering malintent. What was playing out in the open Forum was sheer diversion, with a hint of mind-manipulation. In comes Henry Kissinger, the famous Realpolitik statesman said to be close to 100 years old, and the rest, it was he who is credited with opening China for President Nixon and the subsequent US Administrations. All part of the preparation to move the finances and financial center over to the East. He dared suggest that for peace, Ukraine may have to cede some territory to Russia. He was referring to the mostly Russian Donbass area, of about 45,000 sq. km, and 4.1 million people. Compare this to the entire Ukraine, about 604,000 sq. km and roughly 44.1 million people, which is rapidly declining though, due to war refugees leaving the country. No, they are being forced from their homes, because they have to move the Jewish out of the Jerusalem area, as I reported back in 2014. However, Zelenskyy was furious and aggressively rejecting the idea; Kissinger was verbally insulted with four-letter words by one of Zelensky's aides. As to the overall gist of the globalist WEF, Kissinger's attempt to seek a solution didn't match the globalist's agenda. Is it a move away from globalization by Henry Kissinger? Is the world listening? Or is it just a farce? In reality it is all just a stage show. Shortly after WEF's closure, President Emmanuel Macron of France and Chancellor Olaf Scholz of Germany, proposed to President Putin to sit down with Zelensky for peace negotiations. Those two need to make peace with their own people first, before telling others what to do. It was not clear whether the two were also proposing to moderate these talks. Mr. Putin immediately accepted, saying he and Russia's Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov, had proposed such talks on several occasions, but they were always rejected. Will they be accepted this time? Zelensky hasn't responded yet, of course he won't, because it is all about distraction and harvesting is why. Plus he is a puppet for the state of Israel and NATO, NATO has to be involved and NATO has to give green light. Does anyone ask why NATO is involved at all? Logically, NATO knew, or even initiated the idea. Otherwise, the overture by the two leaders, both scholars of Klaus Schwab's academy for Young Global Leaders, wouldn't have been possible. Why are we made to believe something that isn't? Are we being fooled? Remember, nothing is coincidence, and nothing is what it appears, and you are trained by media, and endless highly sophisticated pro-pagan-da to believe the truth is a lie and vice-versa. And it is to keep you confused, so that you laugh, when you should scream and vice-versa. We'll know our disinformation program is complete, when everything the American public believes is false. William J. Casey, CIA Director. Most surprising or not, were Ms. Van der Leyen's remarks, when she praised the Ukraine army for the progress they made against the Russia, and this coming from a former Minister of Defense of Germany. It is surely not naïve but sheer lie-propaganda, to attract more money from the world's billionaires, the EU and individual EU countries? Or to fool you once more, into believing that Ukraine really made progress against Russia and may be at the verge of winning this war? It's hard to believe by cold logic. But when it comes from her, the Eminence of the EC, plus as former German Defense Minister well-versed in war games, it must be true. Despite all the reports from independent journalists in the field, commenting directly from the war zones, telling us that the atrocities on the Ukrainian civil society are not perpetrated by the Russian army, but by the Ukrainians themselves. For example, by the Nazi-Azov battalion(s) - yes, there are more than one, are their deadly false flags inflicted by the very Ukrainian compatriots, and the western newscasters know about it, and so does Ms. Van der Leyen. Why would the journalists lie? Because they have all to lose by telling the truth. They are doing an independent job, exposing their lives, not only for being at the front line, but also because they are telling the truth. If blatant lying is necessary at the WEF and that from the unelected President of the European Commission, then the WEF has been sinking very deep and maybe seriously losing its grip on globalization. That's what we hope, but are they really losing out on Globalization? Because one deception chased the next, and we don't know any more what is real and what is fake. That's the whole purpose of it. With so many brains are getting weaker and weaker, eventually we believe whatever the Matrix-commanding authority says, jumping from one believe to the next. At the end we jump from the bridge to our death, if the commander says it's the best thing we can do for society. Schwab's dream, a Global Governance is and will fail. Confusion makes us compliant. And the world will notice this deglobalizing trend, the intellectual world anyway, even those who have been staunch adherents to the WEF's annual oligarch get-together. What was also remarkable and should be noted, in connection with the WEF's declining usefulness, none of the key world leaders were present: Not President Putin (he was most likely not invited), not President Xi (he may have declined either out of solidarity with the Russian leader, or because of Covid and the zero-Covid policy China defends, or both); and not even Joe Biden, the chief globalist himself, was present. Maybe he confused the dates with his trip to Asia? The absence of the three world leaders clearly shaded the WEF's luster, as well as the pretense of globalization and Global Governance, the ultimate objective of The Great Reset. Instead, Biden went to South Korea and Japan, to threaten North Korea with additional sanctions, which the UN Security Council rejected; and in Japan to gather two-fold support, for his aggressive threat on China, so the US could go to war to defend Taiwan from an attack of the mainland. Biden's brain must have forgotten that Taiwan was declared by the UN already in 1971 as an integral part of China, what it historically is. Just like Ukraine then, which if you remember the UN has stated is not an officially recognized country. It always belonged to Russia until the shekel people intervened again. Maybe this faux pas was also part of the chess game to fool us once more and to plant more confusion. And, second, to seek Japan's support for the WHO Pandemic Treaty which Biden initiated and proposed, and which is currently being discussed by the ongoing World Health Assembly. If approved, it would transfer WHO into WHT, which stands for the World Health Tyranny. The WHO would then have control of every countries health directives, it is one world Government for health in essence. Remember, it is no coincidence that the WEF and the World Health Assembly or the Pandemic Treaty take place in parallel. The Pandemic Treaty is an integral part of the WEF's Great Reset, it is all connected and preplanned. But the WHO's Pandemic Treaty is now on hold, which is good news. At least the first attempt to push this two-fold treaty through seems to be blocked by the African States. That's a good omen for the world, being rescued by Africa. This would be a clear move away from globalization towards individual countries' sovereignty. Granted, at this stage it would be just winning a battle in what could become a long war of the People against a tyrant health governance of our globe our humanity; and wars against more tyranny imposed by the globalists. Is this African move perhaps also just a ruse, orchestrated to make us believe not all is lost, so that we gain back a bit confidence in the system, a bit of respite? Are we being fooled again? Further down the road we may be told that Africans have been convinced of the good of this Biden proposal, for the good of humanity, the Pandemic Treaty is needed to preventing future pandemics. All is possible. Except the work the Trust did with several African leaders 3-4 years back, gave them all an insight into how that continent has been used, abused, raped and pillaged, and by whom. So, now they all have a better understanding as to who are the game players, and it is great that all 49 African States blocked the vote. They just have to be careful of the IMF and Citibank the fake Central Bank, imposing harsh financial penalties on them, to get them to comply. Remember, nothing is coincidence all is connected, and in this total chaos and we are hopelessly lost, and believe what we are told, even if evidence and logic may tell us something different or the contrary. We just believe what we are told to believe, its cognitive dissonance on steroids. But, we the people shall win ultimately, not just the battle, but also the war. The sun, the light is on our side, and the timeline or the Svarog is not favoring the dark forces. They are forced to playing out in the open now, and more and more people are beginning to see right through their psychotic plans and counteracting them. The last WEF meeting of the eternal globalist agenda pushers, played out in a pre-summer Davos. The police and military were everywhere, many hidden, plain-clothed, but all wearing a discrete armband indicating that they were the custodians of WEF-protection. Every so often they would harass a journalist known to be critical, not the mainstream media of course, as they just tag along for the show, as script based puppets. Oblivious to the fact some of them and their families are on the hitlist also, as one wrong statement or question leads them into the abyss as well. The world is slowly moving away from the globalization craze, but the psychopaths will always play on, it is the limit of what they are capable of. Like others of these events there was no mention of peace, but there was of course also Climate Change on the agenda, the new harvest agenda. There are some thousand or more scientists trained, scripted and available to defend this horrifying climate change theory, a man-made climate change they say, yes, their version of man, not ours. A money-making green capitalist agenda, against which very few intellectuals and scientists dare to argue. Now, the Climate Change talk is presented in a new dress. It shifted from man-made CO<sub>2</sub> to the Oceans, which actual absorb CO<sub>2</sub> and give off CO<sub>2</sub> to keep the world in balance. A perfect system that has worked for millions and millions of years, something science fails to recognize. NASA has been studying this phenomenon for over thirty years in both the Atlantic and the Pacific Ocean. Now the new twist is, because of man's abuse in producing CO<sub>2</sub>, now the Ocean's capacity is no longer sufficient to absorb it all. (M) Let's put this into perspective shall we, water is 75% of this planet and land is 25%, of which only 5% of it is developed, which means the developed land is equal to 1/20th of total mass of the planet, and that can cause planetary imbalance? Some two or three decades ago, an Australian scientist said, based on ample studies, that not only does the climate change all the time, nothing is stagnant in the universe, but that by far the principal influence on Mother Earth's climate is the sun, and different phases of sun movements. Man had practically zero influence in the earth's weather or climate pattern. I get the principal of that but there is some influence of falsely created weather patterns based on warfare and agendas, and it also doesn't take into account my belief that the people themselves can create adverse weather phenomena. There have been long periods of no sun movements that resulted in what is called Snowball Earth some 700 million years ago. These dramatic Snowball Earth events occurred in quick succession, somewhere around 700 million years ago, and evidence suggests that the consecutive global ice ages set the stage for the subsequent explosion of complex, multicellular life on Earth. Or there was a nuclear war and the planet lost part of its atmosphere and so the planet went into frigid lockdown. But scientific evidence of that nature does not fit the globalist agenda. The Global Warming narrative, that indeed started some three decades ago, absorbing everything environment, was later converted into Climate Change. Remember at the beginning it was all about Fluorocarbons or PFC's linked to fridges and freezers. It should be noted the two components of that is fluoride and carbon, fluoride compounds is large based on waste from nuclear reactions and also Aluminum processing. So, the EL-ites took their waste which was expensive to get rid of, and put it in every day products, genius if you're a money based psychopath, but dangerous for everyone later, including themselves. Aluminum eventually wound up in vaccines to devastating effects. There was a time, when the entire Environment Department of the World Bank focused only on Climate Change. It was the narrative the world had to believe and had to be indoctrinated with it. Wish to know why? When mankind is presented with its guilt, a guilt that can realistically not be changed, because the guilt is not real, so whether true or false, we must believe it, to become vulnerable for manipulation. Just the like the religious narrative of one man died for all our sins, it works on far too many. Self-mastery changes that illusion and concept. The entire Climate Change panorama offers itself for a new green style of capitalism cum neoliberalism, as those who can “see” will have observed. But hardly anybody seems to notice this absurd controversy between the elite's climate sermon, and their flocking to Davos, in hundreds of private jets, clogging the Zurich airport, then many take a helicopter to get to Davos in 20 minutes instead of the two-hour train ride. These billionaires or wannabe billionaires, certainly couldn't give a flying sh*t about CO2 and man-made climate change, after all it was and is their conglomerate corporate enterprises that has done all of the damage to this planet. It's one of those flying-in-our-face lies, that too many blatantly ignore. Now that they are totally confused about what's what and what to believe, their brains are running crazy, wanting to rest, and that's when the Great Reset comes in, with their version of the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Except it is all a lie, based on more control and harvesting all the shekels, just as it has always been for these Galactic originating space pirates. We can't believe what's presented, so we laugh and shrug it off as impossible and untrue. To make the point even stronger, Klaus Schwab hired the Israeli futurist scientist Yuval Noah Hariri, it just had to be an Israeli didn't it? Hariri is Klaus Schwab's closest advisor, as far as his dream world The 4th Industrial Revolution goes, an all-digitized world. Hariri produces videos galore to convince the people that they are mere hackable animals, and eventually will be subjected to brain manipulation, either by implanted chips or directly by 5G ultra-short-waves. It's part of scare-mongering, but also part of truth-telling about their intention. This dark cult must divulge their intention in whatever convoluted way, so that their plans may come through. That's part of the cult's rule and they are requesting are implied consent. Because our brains are vulnerable and can be chipped or otherwise manipulated, The Reset's final doctrine, You own nothing but will be happy, is symbolic of life in a digitalized Metaverse. Remember they have spent years rendering us all dead at aged 7, and so they owned our Estate. The new version is, because they implanted you with their patented jabs, they now own you and your vessel and insert you into their world of fake reality, called the Meta verse. Meta means data, and you will become a data stream, of which they own the patents, and the verse is not Uni, as in Universe, but a collapsed version of data stream that becomes the song, poem and verse, and the ultimate in the peanut gallery. Where the voyeuristic perverts can watch you day and night, and if you don't play the right note or verse, they delete your data and you cease to exist, all at the push of a button. There is an article by The Cogent called the Revelation of the Method, that describes how we are being deceived in plain sight, know it, and still believe in the deception. We are hopelessly addicted to misinformation to justify our own behavior, there is no escaping, unless we have a shock break-through and jump the fence of the matrix. Within the matrix many of us, totally off-mainstream, believe we are chewing the red pill; in reality we are sucking on the blue pill. Only once we jump the matrix's fence are we in a position to chew and swallow the red pill, the author said. This is not true either, and part of the lack of knowledge the people have of the higher echelons of the game. The binary pills offered are poison and poison, pick your poison they are asking you, but the triality choice is yours, and the answer is neither pill.

You step out of the Matrix by inserting yourself inside the stream, and alter the codes by changing the 1 or 0 to a 2 through 9. That ends your participation in it, and highlights the advancements people can make by working on the self, having full belief in the self and operating with 100% honesty of the self. The author said; only a drastic jump in consciousness to the level of Fifth Dimension, where the light will be on our side, will make us resistant, red pill-capable. How naïve that statement is, it was their pills and medical interventions that put us in this position to begin with, and people think another pill will work to escape from themselves? Complete lack of thinking, future or otherwise. It is not impossible, but it takes a sea-change in peoples' thinking and reasoning, especially in the highly indoctrinated and all too comfortable western world. In the end, we humanity must and will win this existential war, a war between the dark cult, led by off-world and humans, and us, we the People. Those who wish to play god and their frankly bizarre followers of doom, are free to do so. Just leave the rest of us alone.

OTHER PIECES: Clown News Network gave away the reason for the heavy fining of Alex Jones, when they ran a newsreel piece about, will the Jones trail change the conspiracy culture? Not likely, and so we will ask CNN back, will the exposure of the Covid and the medias role in it, change their conspiracy culture? Or will they carry on lying and reading agency based scripts of news to fit an agenda, or news to drive the bots to follow orders? CNN then did another show in their desperate attempts to keep the people in line and follow their diatribe, by doing a show called, how should the media cover election deniers? Jones has always been cointel pro, he has served his purpose for the EL-ites. It is another example of positive news unfolding, albeit in a different way to most of the masses including alt media. Most of Alt media has raged and railed against the Factcheckers clubs sprouting up everywhere, and in some cases that is valid. But to me it is the most fantastic thing ever to happen to the Alt Media, because what it proves is, our narrative is now having a far greater impact on the liars club, and they can't handle it. So, now they are using vast resources just to cover up their own lies, which means they are using their energy, time, finances and resources and not ours. Look at life at different angles, you get to see a lot more that way.

As a recent Gallup survey shows only 38% of adults are extremely proud to be an American. This record-low percentage is the latest point in a downward trend that began in 2015. National pride is now 20 percentage points lower than it was a decade ago. Yet more evidence of the illusion of the country labeled America is now finally starting to dwindle alarmingly. This causes the miscreants to have to work much harder to put people back in line, or indeed their box. The power to influence the people on this planet is beginning to decline rapidly, and the event horizon or the threshold they so fear, is approaching rapidly. I can think of many things to be proud of as an individual or collective, and the country named America is sadly not one of them. Anyone who says or thinks so, is utterly delusional. But, we can turn that delusional and illusionary mantra into something we can all be proud of, let's put our heads and hearts together to make it happen. No peoples of any country can state to be proud of their country, not one has served the people. It is funny how sporting heroes are never wrapped into a cultural or State based achievement isn't it, even less the personal achievement, no it is rolled into an American or other named country achievement. All of which devalues the power of the individual or individuals achievement into a political agenda driven rhetoric. Empower each other to then raise the frequency of the country, your country was never important, but we are.

The rank stupidity at the Pentagon and other underground bases continues it seems. Grown men and women playing children's video games in a high stakes virtual reality world, with the consequences and data garnered to be used in real life theater type scenarios. Where people get killed in large numbers, maimed and injured, infrastructure, business and economies ruined for years, sometimes decades and sometimes permanently. So, what are the children doing now? Solving poverty? Providing security? Protecting the people? No, they are playing computer games for a living. War games conducted by a Washington think tank found that, the U.S. military could successfully defend Taiwan against a hypothetical Chinese invasion, but at the cost of massive amounts of personnel and materials. The Center for Strategic and International Studies has held 18 of 22 planned simulations of a 2026 Chinese invasion of Taiwan, one in which the United States devotes its forces to defending the island. Retired U.S. generals, admirals, and former Pentagon officials commanded China, the red team, and a U.S.-Japanese-Taiwanese alliance, the blue team. The Blue and red pill anyone? The latest of the advanced war games used a 20-sided dice and complex computer calculations, seriously playing dice board games to decide people's lives? The results of each game so far have shown a Pyrrhic victory for the U.S.-led alliance. Woo let's all clap yay we won, let's have a flag parade and floats of Chinese hats shall we, and give the Generals a Blue Peter badge for services to psychopathy! The results are showing that under most, though not all, scenarios, Taiwan can repel an invasion, said Mark Cancian, a senior adviser at CSIS. However, the cost will be very high to the Taiwanese infrastructure and economy and to U.S. forces in the Pacific. In other words there will be nothing left of Taiwan, and the point of fighting over something that will have nothing left is? Do these people stop for one second and think of any consequences? Though the war gamers haven't calculated a specific number regarding the total number of casualties and economic costs, the other costs hint that it would be astronomical. In the most recent iteration, which covered a monthlong war, the U.S. lost two multibillion-dollar nuclear aircraft carriers, a large part of the U.S. and Japanese surface fleet, and 900 of the U.S.'s most advanced fighter/attack aircraft, which is roughly half of the Air Force and Navy's inventory. These losses would significantly diminish America's global standing for years to come. And the American people will be paying for the war for years to come, just like they have since the fake wars in the 1800's. China lost 150 ships, sealing its defeat. Chinese long-range ballistic missiles decimated U.S. bases in Japan and Guam, giving the red team an initial advantage. However, the resilient Taiwanese forces were able to bog down Chinese troops on the island, preventing them from seizing the capital of Taipei. Relentless U.S. submarine, air, and missile attacks cut China's ability to resupply its invasion force. The Chinese were only able to seize one-third of the island before ceding defeat. David Ochmanek, a senior RAND Corp. researcher, said the results of the war games were consistent with what he has seen before. He noted last year, whenever we war-gamed a Taiwan scenario over the years, our team routinely got its ass handed to it, because in that scenario, time is a precious commodity, and it plays to China's strength in terms of proximity and capabilities. Last year, an Air Force war game simulating a U.S. war with China over Taiwan resulted in a catastrophic U.S. defeat. Several U.S. commanders were cited as speculating that 2027, the 100th anniversary of the founding of the People's Liberation Army, could be a possible date for a Chinese invasion of Taiwan. China showed its capabilities as the games were unfolding, holding massive live-fire military drills surrounding Taiwan, simulating a future invasion of the island, around the same time House Speaker Nancy Pelosi paid a visit to it. At least the Rand Corp guy told the truth, America in war has always had its ass handed to it, I'm sorry but that is the real truth. It is not the fake Hollywood scenario where Americans come in and save the world, because in truth, it couldn't even defend itself. People will say but we have never been attacked, militarily yes, they used stealth tactics not bombs to undermine this country and its people. Starting with the Sephardic invasion passed off as Spanish, to the Freemasonic Order group all of whom were the fabled Founding Fathers, to the European bloodline United States group, to the 2nd Jewish invasion of the Dutch East Indies group and finally the Rothschild's and the Federal Reserve takeover. Where were the US Military when this coup took place over the span of 600 years? What have the US Military done despite record spending and deficits, what have they achieved that is beneficial to we the people? The answer is nothing positive and catastrophic levels of negative.

I was pondering the other day and wondered why are solar eclipses celebrated around the world for those that can view it? Could it be symbolic for the Dark forces and the Black Sun worshippers, more than what we think? During the solar eclipse, the sun goes black, obscured by Rahu. Does this then become symbolic with the other sun, Saturn? Because the light sun is eclipsed, briefly it becomes the Black Sun, of which their disciples will celebrate the symbology of extinguishing the light, albeit briefly.

A recent edit for the book brought up the word spelt, which is the UK version of the word, Americans say spelled. Perhaps a thought on another use of word magic, which the American version is closer to the word magic than the original. Spelt is the past version and also the former version, former means ex. Which brings in expelled, phonetically it sounds like ex spelled, as the x rolls into the s. Expelled means to cast out, so it looks like the spell is cast out. The question is, did we consent?

We have spoken often on word magic and the Cor pirates, perhaps a small reminder of both. The term executive which has a double meaning often used in our language, when said phonetically correct, you would say executives. And what do execute-ives do? Shoot you down. Executives are often called CEO's, which by my reckoning stands for clown earnings overcompensated. Then we have management, which means managing the mind, like some subtle MK Ultra program. The word management is a misnomer, as it changes the demeanor of many people put in those positions, into some egotistical, power hungry goose stepping authority system. Is that really how businesses should be operated? Then we come to another section of the cor-pirate structure, with the bizarrely named title of Human Resources. Why use that term unless others within the structure are not human? But, they do like to put it in our faces, and what it is telling you is, you are just a resource to them. Something to be used, abused and harvested. Resource definitions: a leisure occupation, like a hobby. An action or strategy which may be adopted in adverse circumstances. And the self-explanatory description of a stock or supply of money, materials, staff, and other assets that can be drawn on by a person or organization in order to function effectively. Drawn on to function effectively? Sounds like a battery doesn't it. Maybe it reveals our own connection to Source? As they are re-sourcing our Source based energies. Ponder on that lot, and tell me their business structure is not one giant harvesting center. But we the people can use the word for our intentions and meaning, whereby we pool our resources together as a single all-encompassing unit, and apply it in a way where our resources expand under our directives and intentions, and not theirs. Cor-pirate entities and their aptly named titles are in essence a giant sewer system, that aptly drains us of our precious life force and Source based energies. Sewers of course drain into the sea, which brings in Maritime, law of the Sea, the Holy Sea and the water based banking system. Where people drown in debt due to the cor-pirates of the sea, now ensconced onto the land, washing everyone up onto the banks and collecting their deposits. They even have vaults, vault means to jump, and they make you jump just to get your own deposits out.

The Galactic Sun is spoken about, but how many know its location? The Galactic Sun is at the heart of our own Galaxy called the Milky Way. It shines brightly albeit through 3-4 spiral arms of solar systems and clouds of dust and gas. It is the heartbeat of our galaxy in essence and connected to us all in a myriad of ways. Before we begin the journey of the journey from the Galactic Sun to our own inner and outer Earth Sun, perhaps a little perspective of where it is placed within our visible Universe, much is not visible due to distance, anomalies, dense regions of space and some non-scientist level of understanding bubbles within our Universe. Our planet is in a solar system, which is on the outer arm of an open spiral galaxy. We are but one solar system of billions within our own galaxy the Milky Way, of which there are billions of other galaxies within our visible Universe. A fuzzy patch around a star in the night sky, is not a single star, but a whole galaxy that contains billions of stars, we just observe the brightest of such. It is estimated that there 100 billion Suns in our Galaxy alone, that is 100B Solar systems and yet science, church and other jackasses tells us there is no life outside of this planet, yeah right, beyond stupid thinking. So, we start at the Galactic Sun and come to our own Sun, said to be 5B years old, yet to my knowledge our planet is 24B years old. The next link in the chain is the inner sun of our planet, which drives the volcanoes and is the cause of the lava we see on the surface or just below. All suns are like a train station in many ways, stop off points, as they are all portals that link to one another. Where does that leave us in terms of being connected to it all? Well, we have our own inner sun, called the heart, it pumps and pulses in rhythm just like all the others. Heart is an anagram of earth, no coincidence, earth means a habitated planet, heart and soul means a habitated vessel. This also means the heart region is a portal, where the soul/spirit reside and is does come and go from the vessel at various times, although the more noticeable is during the sleep time. The spirit leaves as you sleep, and you awaken as it returns. So, your own heart is not only connected to the inner and upper sun, but the Galactic Sun and the billions of other suns in this Galaxy, and also connected to the billions of other Galaxies. Still think you are small and limited? Still think you are disconnected? You are only limited and disconnected by your own barriers and unwillingness to explore and delve deeper into the self.

ENDING PIECE: We end this show on a deeply sad note for THI, not only for me personally and Angela as well, but for all our members who enjoyed the time with a unique member who brought much fun and joy into the lives that he touched. Glenn Connon passed away early on Monday morning, at just 48 years of age. The famous Drakeycakes with his plethora of Drakism's and mannerisms that amused us all. We started with the show must go on, as it was what Glenn would have wanted. It hit me like a ton of bricks that morning as his bereft girlfriend relayed the surreal message, I am sure all who knew, loved and engaged him will feel the same. Glenn has gone but his memory will live on through us all, the humor, kindness, the songs, the laughs and the occasional smatterings of wisdom. But the health struggles took their toll, despite finally getting a support and love structure around him with Angela. Glenn struggled with many health issues over the time I knew him, but he kept fighting back and spreading his humor, but Monday became a bridge too far. Angela is our focus now and hope you can give her space and support for her future. It was Angela who brought joy to his life over the past few years, she gave him a purpose and goals for the future, after years of struggling through his health and mindset. I will miss him badly as a great friend, his humor, his humility and those classic Glenn songs. RIP Glenn Connon died August 15th aged 48 age of health complications. I and THI will always be with you and you with us. Your current journey is over and your destination awaits, Til we meet again my friend.
