Request to those who send emails to the THI email platform. Regrettably I cannot answer all the emails anymore due to the heavily workload of the shows, the blueprint, the TPC, village and many other things. I only sign on now once a week and have to just delete 95% of the emails as I do not have the time anymore. Unless it is of ultimate importance please scale back on the emails sent to me.

Update on the Blueprint for you all, we have now formulated all 30 Solutions and a preface piece to introduce the whole document. We are now with a smaller team going to go through all 30 solutions, finalize it and then put the whole document into an assembled order, ready for release. Once ready, the whole document and the preface will be read out in two extra shows sometime around late September or early October. Then it with other aspects will be released publicly and on a much wider scale. The finish will be beyond your expectations, and a sight to behold for those who took part in and hearing or reading it. The most detailed blueprint produced by the people and for all of the people ever produced on this planet. A path forward for us all. After 6 years of waiting for the actual Restoration plan the Trustee should have presented to the world, we at THI have delivered a fairly comprehensive plan designed to improve all people's lives.

Those wishing for a signed copy of the book, please let Kellie Pitroff know, and once I get a small number together wishing for that, I will order privately, have them sent to my address and then I will ship them to those in America requesting them. Pricing will be around the same $25 in total, depending on the shipping costs. For those of you in Europe we are still working on it, just the shipping to the UK is $24.

This may not be the most exciting show in terms of deep ponderings I know you all like, but it a very important show to overview all the way through it, as it reveals so much of their plans and also their failings. With more reports coming in of faction fighting reaching an epidemic proportion on many levels now, this is our time to act and take advantage of the Cosmic plan unfolding, as they eliminate each other and also fall on the consequence of actions move we did some time back.

NEWS: Maybe Florida representatives have been listening to our show, when we said send the migrants to Pelosi's and Biden's home. Well they didn't quite do that, but sent them to the rich elite island Martha's Vineyard instead. And also this afternoon to VP Kamala Harris' home. Perhaps they can add any place to do with George Soros as well.

In Gibraltar which is the Southern coast of Spain, but actually in their world belongs to the UK, can officially call itself a city, 180 years after it was first granted the status by Queen Victoria.

The British overseas territory had bid to become a city earlier this year as part of the Queen's Platinum Jubilee.

But when researchers looked through the National Archives, they found it had already been recognized as one in 1842. I guess the authorities rely on everyone forgetting it seems.

The Rock has now had its status reaffirmed by Boris Johnson & Johnson, who described it as a huge accolade celebrating its rich history and dynamism.

Gibraltar has been a British Overseas Territory since 1713, when it was ceded to Britain under a peace treaty signed following the War of the Spanish Succession. All about the trade routes you see, Gibraltar is like the gateway to the Mediterranean.

North Korea has passed a law declaring itself to be a nuclear weapons state, according to state news agency KCNA.

The country's leader Kim Jong-un called the decision irreversible, and ruled out the possibility of any talks on denuclearization, it said.

The law also enshrines the country's right to use a pre-emptive nuclear strike to protect itself.

Despite crippling sanctions, Pyongyang has conducted six nuclear tests between 2006 and 2017, which is highly debatable at best and a lie at worst.

It has continued to advance its military capability, in breach of United Nations Security Council resolutions, to threaten its neighbors and potentially even bring the US mainland within striking range.

No, they have not threatened their neighbors, on the contrary it is the intimidation from UK, US and Israeli groups that run S. Korea that has been threatening them. Bot level people will just follow the Agency scripted TV news and label Jong-un a dictator and other words, but in truth he is protecting his people from the globalists, unlike the UN. The UN should not decide who has weapons and who doesn't, just ask the Palestinians, Syria, Lebanon, the Slavs and many others how that worked out for them? We either have all with weapons or none with weapons, preferably the latter, but first we must silence the globalists and their child level Agency minions.

Pope Francis says he has taken it on himself to rid the Catholic Church of sexual abuse, telling CNN Portugal that he was responsible that it doesn't happen anymore. The Pontiff said the church had zero tolerance for abuse, and said that a priest cannot remain a priest if he is an abuser.

The church's response to sex abuse scandals has become one of the defining themes of Francis' time as Pope, and he said that every case of abuse within the church hurts him. If it hurt him so much, why has it taken until now to do this clearly PR and damage limitation stunt? Why didn't he visit Kamloops when in Canada? Let's not forget whilst the world is maudlin over the death of the UK Queen, it was her and Phillip who took a number of children from there in the 1960's, and they have never been seen since. It is as fake as CNN and the church itself. He was tasked to fix it by the Trust team in 2019 on a call, and no actionable evidence has been seen to tackle that task, only words, and words can lie.

Multiple reports detailing decades of sexual abuse, systemic failures and cover-ups across multiple countries, have been released since Francis became the leader of the world's 1.2 billion Catholics in 2013. While he was criticized for some of his actions, such as when he defended a Chilean bishop accused of covering up a sex scandal in 2018, a decision he later described as a grave error, he has since taken a firm stance on the issues and introduced some reforms. It wasn't an error at all, it is his and their stance.

In 2019, he abolished Vatican secrecy rules for cases of sexual abuse, and put in place new rules that made it mandatory for the first time, for all dioceses to set up systems for reporting abuse and cover-ups.

Two years later, he issued the most extensive revision to Catholic Church law in four decades, insisting that bishops take action against clerics who abuse minors and vulnerable adults. The rules also demanded action against priests who commit fraud or attempt to ordain women. Sounds good but will that lead to actionable evidence? like the Mormon church piece last week, it details a systemic cover up is still ongoing, and we will need more than words to alleviate and end that program.

Bill Gates' purchase of 2,100 acres of farmland in North Dakota is reportedly raising hackles among local residents, and has led to the state's top prosecutor intervening in the matter. The North Dakota Attorney General Drew Wrigley shot off a letter to the Gates-linked Red River Trust this week. Wrigley asked the company how they intend to use the land, and if they meet exceptions to the state's corporate farming laws? All corporations or limited liability companies (LLC) are prohibited from owning or leasing farmland or ranchland and from engaging in farming or ranching, the letter states. Says whom? And more importantly why? Is that not suggestive of a cartel? Something the Blueprint will address. In addition, the law places certain limitations on the ability of trusts to own farmland or ranchland. So, why did the County approve the sale in the first place then? The company has 30 days to respond to the letter dated June 21. Public reaction to the Red River purchase has not been positive. I've gotten a big earful on this from across the state, said North Dakota Agriculture Commissioner Doug Goehring. The Gates-linked company purchased nearly 2,100 acres of northern Red River Valley farmland from the owners of Campbell Farms, a potato farming group in North Dakota. The transaction was reported to be worth nearly $13.5 million, with an approximate average price in Pembina and Walsh counties of $6,400 per acre. The land is mostly non-irrigated. Gates is said to be the largest private owner of farmland in the United States, with 242,000 acres in 19 states, according to an earlier report. Gates said in a Reddit interaction last year the agriculture sector is important. With more productive seeds we can avoid deforestation and help Africa deal with the climate difficulty they already face. It is unclear how cheap biofuels can be, but if they are cheap it can solve the aviation and truck emissions, he had said. Goehring said there's nothing illegal about selling land to a billionaire, but people feel they are being exploited by the uber-wealthy who buy land in North Dakota but do not share the state's values. Nice to see the people fighting back. But Gates' explanation was typically muddy, what has farmland got to do with deforestation? What has American farmland got to do with Africans dealing with climate issues? Why is he speaking of bio fuels when all the talk is of electric cars? Of course whole fields of bio fuels means, none to grow food. Which then generates talk of scarcity, of which will be blamed on climate change, and then they present to us the only alternative, fake meat and bugs diets. Problem, reaction and pre-determined solution again, using new age green matrix based folk to deliver it.

Oil fell on Friday dragged by demand concerns, increasing stockpiles and the likelihood of the Biden administration making a fresh release from emergency reserves. Of which he will sell to China or Asia again, just like the one earlier in the year. U.S. crude stockpiles rose by 8.8 million barrels last week due to a combination of increased imports, and ongoing releases from government emergency reserves. No, it is because there is less people, and also less usage of gas because people can't afford it. Despite the current downward trend in prices, U.S. officials are considering ways to tackle a potential increase in oil prices towards the end of the year, which includes tapping the strategic crude reserves. Officials are warning of a spike in prices this December when EU sanctions on Russian supplies bear effect unless other steps are taken. Stockpiles are rising because less people are using it, yet again more ouroboros economic plans failing.

The U.S. consumer price index rose 8.5% in July from a year ago, down from a 40-year high of 9.1% in June. But hot inflation continues to hit consumers hard. According to the National Energy Assistance Directors Association, roughly 20 million households in the U.S., one out of six homes are behind on their utility bills. The consequences could be dire. I expect a tsunami of shutoffs, Jean Su, a senior attorney at the Center for Biological Diversity. Electricity prices have spiked due to the skyrocketing cost of natural gas. According to the Energy Information Administration, natural gas is the biggest source of electricity generation in the U.S. And yet the US in their Dark Winter wisdom has decided to get rid of gas, in a dark wind fashion. A year ago, natural gas traded at $4.31 per metric million British thermal unit, now it's at $9.34 per MMBtu. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that July prices for electricity jumped 15.2% from a year ago, marking the biggest 12-month increase since 2006.

A heavy day of losses on Tuesday saw Apple, Microsoft, Alphabet Inc, Amazon and Tesla lose a combined $477B in one day. Also losing heavily this year is Meta, they have lost 60% in 2022, and Blackrock 33%, all sounds good to me.

Meanwhile, the European energy companies are facing margin calls which totals $1.5 trillion in the derivatives market, and many would need policy support to cover them amid wild swings and skyrocketing gas and power prices, an executive at Norway's energy major Equinor said. According to Helge Haugane, Equinor's senior vice president for gas and power, the $1.5-trillion estimate is even conservative. Liquidity at energy firms is drying up as many companies have started to struggle to meet their margin calls on the energy derivatives market. If the companies need to put up that much money, that means liquidity in the market dries up and this is not good for this part of the gas markets. Some countries in the EU have already decided to set up funds to avoid a collapse of their energy derivatives markets. Finland and Sweden put out plans this weekend to support their energy companies trading in the electricity derivatives markets, looking to avoid a "Lehman Brothers" event in their respective energy industries and financial systems. This has had the ingredients for a kind of a Lehman Brothers of energy industry, Finland's Minister of Economic Affairs, Mika Lintila, said on Sunday. The crisis deepened after Russia said on Friday that the Nord Stream gas pipeline to Germany would remain closed indefinitely, which we reported last week of it potentially being cut on the sea-bed. Russia blamed the Western sanctions for this situation. Finland discussed stabilization measures required in the electricity derivatives market, and a proposed central government scheme, is a last-resort financing option for companies that would otherwise be at risk of insolvency, the Finnish government said in a statement. Finland will look to set up a loan and guarantee scheme of up to $9.92 billion (10 billion euro), under which the State may grant loans or guarantees to companies engaged in electricity production in Finland. And now you know why the prices are all going up, to cover their loans. In neighboring Sweden, the government proposed state credit guarantees to mainly electricity producers trading in the market for electricity derivatives. The total amount of required collateral in the market has since June increased from about $6.5 billion up to about $16.6 billion, the government said. The purpose of the measure is to prevent that the lack of liquidity could create risks for contagion to other parts of the financial system, Sweden's Finance Ministry said. It has already gone through every sector, to these jackasses not see that yet? This is the bailout for energy companies now, and the lack of liquidity is something we warned of 4 years ago. Remember I warned this year of a major financial event, well this could be the tip of the iceberg. All of this proves why we need the Blueprint we are developing.

A number of times during my work with the Trust, I regaled at both Trump and his supposed sidekick Kushner. Kushner I warned Kim about many times, and she did eventually speak to Trump about it in general terms until April 2020, when she demanded he be removed from office entirely. We both believed that Trump ignored it due to family relations and or Kushner's Israeli ties, yet new information has come forth suggestive Trump did try to remove Kushner after all. Former President Donald Trump attempted a failed coup d'état, interesting terminology they used there, not a removal of a traitorous imposter, but a coup d'état, very interesting, to remove his son-in-law Jared Kushner from control of his 2020 presidential campaign, according to former White House economic adviser Peter Navarro. The Navarro name is Italian in origin and heavily linked to the Jesuit Mafia. In the book, Navarro recounts an attempt to fire Kushner from the campaign that also involved Home Depot co-founder and Republican donor Bernie Marcus. Interesting anecdote is the Home Depot connection, as the Trust's disaster relief plan which Trump agreed to, would have ousted Home Depot as the main supplier to FEMA. Home Depot in many cases are a CIA front shop. Trump, his son Donald Trump Jr. and Marcus supported replacing Kushner with Steve Bannon, a former White House adviser who had been a major figure in Trump's 2016 campaign. Trump met Marcus at the White House in a meeting Navarro claims he arranged, and readily agreed with Bernie that Jared had to be replaced with Steve. Campaign manager Brad Parscale was also to be replaced. However, the former president was reportedly unwilling to confront Kushner in person and instead deputized Marcus, whose attempt to fire Kushner failed. Rather than being shot himself, Navarro writes in his book, Trump asked Bernie to be the messenger and the Home Depot co-founder accepted the mission, albeit grudgingly. Marcus' mission was unsuccessful and Navarro writes that Kushner skipped a call with him and then told Marcus, things were fine with the campaign, there was no way he was stepping down and, in effect, Bernie Marcus and his big moneybags could go pound sand. I suspect that was accompanied with aggression and anger, as Kushner is known for privately. Parscale left his role as campaign manager in July, 2020 but Kushner remained in overall charge. In charge indeed, as 11 days after Kim and I demanded Trump to fire Kushner, for doing private PPE deals with China and India, and was then going to sell them only to government departments, at $7 per mask, essentially holding the government and people to ransom, Trump's response was to give Kushner a higher security clearance and position on April 15th 2020. Navarro claims that Kushner took a dim view of Bannon and believed he had taken too much credit for Trump's successful 2016 presidential campaign. Kushner told Navarro he wanted to crush Bannon like a bug, the book claims. Revealing the temper and lack of control Kushner has, Bannon would pay for that interaction. Bannon was convicted in July of contempt of Congress over his refusal to co-operate with a congressional subpoena from the House Select Committee investigating the events of January 6. He has also been charged with fraud, money laundering and conspiracy, over accusations that he cheated donors as part of a campaign to fund the construction of a U.S.-Mexico border wall. Bannon has claimed he's being persecuted but surrendered to authorities in New York on Thursday. This is what happens in the last days of a dying regime, a handcuffed Bannon told reporters. They'll never shut me up, they'll have to kill me first. Separately, Navarro is due to stand trial in November on a charge of contempt of Congress. Like Bannon, he has refused to cooperate with the January 6 committee, he pleaded not guilty in June. All of which shows the pull and power Kushner has at his disposal. I warned all along about him and his mentor connection Kissinger, it mostly fell on deaf ears, at great cost to those who didn't heed the warnings.

MEDICAL: This came in from one of our members about an undertaker who went to work at St. Thomas's hospital in London. The person took a huge risk and filmed evidence, it reported 32 dead babies in St Thomas this morning all dated August, and another fridge with 8 older than August. More of stories of this ilk will emerge this year and more readily next year I suspect.

Another report detailing the damage the Covid fake vaccines are reporting. Just tuning in to the news, sports or TMZ, Celebrities, athletes, even doctors are dropping dead left and right, in numbers never seen in history. As life insurance executives are reporting deaths up anywhere from 20% to 40% since the vaccines debuted. This is a number never seen in history, even during World War II, deaths were not up by 20% to 40% across the USA, they were not even close. There is many reports from THI members that within their circle are dead, dying or very sick. It's a cluster of cancer, heart attacks, strokes and serious illness all amongst the vaccinated. Seven Canadian doctors who died suddenly in a 14-day period, all not just vaccinated, but based on Canadian mandates, almost certainly quadruple vaccinated. Included in that remarkable list are five dead doctors, all young who died within just a few days of one another in one city: Toronto. No surprise there. A more and more credible doctors have come forward, here is another one on the East Coast. As a podiatrist his practice is over 60% of 65 years old and above, and about 95% of his patients are vaccinated. The results of which are devastating. The unvaccinated patients are fine, no major illness or problems, but the doctor says over 80% of the vaccinated patients are very sick since vaccination. The doctor revealed, first, the vaccinated are dying off, second, he's seeing heart attacks, strokes and blood clots in incredible numbers, and third, they're getting rare and advanced (stage 4) forms of cancer. Many of his patients were in cancer remission, but suddenly post-vaccine the cancer has come roaring back, except now it's spread everywhere in their bodies. He used to see skin cancer once or twice a month; now he sees it several times a week. Thyroid cancer has skyrocketed and he reports that it's always diagnosed after they get the booster jab. Remember on the now destroyed Georgia Guidestones? Be not a cancer upon the Earth? They're suffering terrible neurological disease, such as Parkinson's disease, they're experiencing terrible shingles outbreaks and suffering serious intestinal issues like colitis and diverticulitis. Other strange issues he has never seen before: so many of his patients are experiencing terrible eye issues. One patient went suddenly blind in one eye while driving, he's also seeing more elderly patients experiencing falls than ever before. After hip or knee replacement, Dr. Smith's patients used to recover quickly, now if they're vaccinated, they often experience terrible postoperative complications and need to be hospitalized. The common thread throughout these interchanges is, I just had my Covid-19 booster shot. Then there's the issue of aging, older patients have aged horribly, literally overnight since being vaccinated. They feel it and say it themselves. They say, I'm falling apart, I've aged so badly in the past year and I feel like I'm 100 years old, nothing in my body works anymore. Indeed not much outside of our bodies works anymore either. Finally, one of Dr. Smith's older patients announced his 4-year-old great granddaughter has cancer, the doctor asked was she vaccinated? The patient replied, yes, why do you ask? Too many don't seem to get it, it's as if everyone is brain-dead, clueless, delusional or brainwashed, as the signs are everywhere. It's cognitive dissonance on steroids, and the desire to cover up they may have been wrong. That weakness of not admitting they are wrong, has and is costing people their lives. Sadly, this is just the beginning as the vaccines only became widely available about 18 months ago, and the timeline of events in the Expose done last year, rings loudly in everyone's ear.

The Japanese government is set to offer a lump-sum payment under the country's vaccine redress system, following the death of an elderly woman after she received a corona virus vaccination. A subcommittee of Japan's health ministry decided in July, to provide a lump-sum death benefit under the Immunization Act to the family of a woman in her 90s who died after getting vaccinated against Covid-19, because a causal relationship between the vaccination and her death cannot be denied. This is Japan's first relief payment decision for an individual who died after receiving the coronavirus vaccine. The Minister of Health, Labor and Welfare is expected to make the final approval of the offer of 44.2 million yen about $324,000 to the woman's family. Since it is impossible to eliminate adverse reactions and health problems caused by vaccinations, the Japanese government has a relief system in place to provide benefits, such as medical expenses in cases where a causal relationship with vaccination cannot be ruled out. According to the health ministry, the woman in her 90s developed an acute allergic reaction and acute myocardial infarction after the vaccination and died. At the July subcommittee meeting, 12 people who had died after getting Covid shots were screened. One was approved and 11 others were left pending. As of July 25th, the government had received 3,680 applications for damage relief for the corona virus vaccine, and decided to provide medical expenses and other benefits to 850 of them. Sixty-two cases were denied and 16 cases remain pending. Clearly the Japanese Government unlike many others are taking responsibility for it, they never went into lockdown, they warned against mandates, and its health ministry issued a serious warning about the risks of the experimental jabs. In my opinion though, the funds should not come from the Government, but from the salaries of Politicians, Medical Experts, Vaccine companies and the CEO's of hospitals who administered it. Otherwise it is still the people paying for their mistakes.

SOCIETY NEWS: This was something I mentioned some time back and the THI Oregon group took it on board and integrated it into their projects, or is it? An Australian company is 3D-printing hemp bioplastic walls, floors and roofs to be used in the construction of eco-friendly prefabricated homes. The carbon-neutral homes will take only weeks to construct and will store massive amounts of CO2 in their walls. The company, Mirreco, hopes their 3D-printed hemp polymer panels will become the material of choice for residential and commercial builders around the world. Not only is hemp bioplastic easier to work with than concrete, it's way more environmentally friendly. The hemp biomass used to make it, sequesters carbon dioxide when its growing and stores it forever when its turned into plastic. And unlike concrete, hemp is a renewable resource. There is simply not enough sand in the world to sustain the growing demand for conventional concrete. The specific type of sand needed for concrete is often harvested from riverbeds, which destroys ecosystems and threatens the biodiversity of plants, fish and animals. All the right words of eco-friendly, blocking CO2, collects carbon dioxide and environmentally friendly, except it is not. This is not hempcrete, this is another derivative of plastic, the same plastic that is difficult to breakdown and get rid of that is now blighting the planet, 4-5 decades after it was introduced. Storing CO2 in the house walls will not help the plants or eco system will it, not too mention the side effects that will do for the occupants of the house. What happens when it breaks down? Will it seep into the homes and what are the effects on the homeowners? Have they considered it? Probably not. This is the same pattern of the New Age cult, present something that appears better, just by mentioning the meme, eco-friendly. Eco-friendly is many connotations that perhaps may not be eco-friendly for us. Remember not all species are carbon and oxygen breathers. In the WEF world, the carbon reduction is us.

Net Zero Watch has condemned the UK Government's green energy policies as a national disaster. This follows the announcement that a major offshore windfarm will not activate an agreement to sell power at a much lower cost to the grid. The Times has reported that the Hornsea 2 windfarm, which had a contract to sell power at £73 per megawatt hour, will instead sell in the open market, where prices have averaged £200 per megawatt hour this year, and reached £508 last week. Britain's struggling energy consumers are likely to end up paying a billion pounds extra for Hornsea's electricity over the next 12 months. The new Prime Minister should urgently look into the legal options for cancelling or revoking these poorly written contracts, the spirit of which are being grotesquely abused to the huge disadvantage to British consumers. By 2026, there could be more than 16GW of offshore windfarms exploiting the perverse loophole. Assuming they deliver 50% of capacity each year, and the differential between market price and CfD price remains at £130/MWh, the cost to consumers will be £9 billion per year, at a cost of £337 per household. Onshore windfarms, solar and remote island windfarms will raise that figure still higher. Reacting to the news, Net Zero Watch Director Benny Peiser said: In the midst of the worst energy crisis since World War II, wind companies are milking the system by using a perverse loophole. And just a few weeks ago, Kwasi Kwarteng signed the contract for Hornsea 3, which contains the same loophole, as does the contract for every other offshore windfarm on the horizon. The Government is putting every household on the hook for hundreds of pounds more, every year. Energy policy is lurching from one rip-off to another, it's a national disaster. These are not loop holes, they are carefully orchestrated plots, the more of the people that see that, the sooner it ends, just like the Covid scam.

Their latest attempt to convince everybody of climate change is bizarre in the extreme. But they never miss an opportunity to re-enforce their manufactured message do they? The report started off about the increase the birds called roadrunners in New Mexico, and morphed into some climate change bs'ery of which bears no reference or resemblance of the original story. Data shows their population has nearly doubled since the 1960s. The highest numbers ever recorded were in 2015 and 2016, around the same time we had severe drought conditions. What we're seeing with climate change in the southwest is conditions becoming hotter and drier and more places looking like those hot dry conditions of the southwest, and the Roadrunner likes that, Jonathan Hayes, the Executive Director of Audubon Southwest said. Really I think the extended droughts we have experienced have helped the bird, that's pretty good in the desert, gain an advantage over other critters out there, he added. But it's not just warmer weather contributing to more Roadrunners, urbanization is helping too. Let's throw in the fact that people can't move away from their concrete jungles and smart towns and cities, all so obvious what this report is about. Lizards, rodents, those things are often associated with neighborhoods in Albuquerque, those are the same food sources that the Roadrunner needs, Hayes said. New Mexico's state bird is even making its way to other parts of the country. We're actually seeing their range expand the last few years, the last few decades. They have actually moved into Louisiana and Missouri where they haven't been previously. Perhaps if they didn't throw a load of migrants into Albuquerque which has caused no end of crime and violent incidents, people wouldn't have to move to cause urbanization? Another classic ouroboros program.

Because the weather didn't play out like the fear program of climate change has promised, the clowns decide to add fear in other ways and yet make fools of themselves in the meantime. The Weather fear porn channel has been desperate this week to ramp up tropical storms, because August came and went without anything. Tropical storms in the middle of the Atlantic not going anywhere near land is not an event, unless you wish to ramp up the fear. But the fear program excelled themselves with this piece. The La Nina weather pattern will last until at least the end of the year, becoming the first time this century it will have spanned three consecutive northern winters, the World Meteorological Organization predicted.. La Nina conditions in the tropical Pacific strengthened as trade winds intensified in mid-July to mid-August, affecting temperatures and precipitation patterns and exacerbating drought and flooding in different parts of the world. The WMO's El Nino/La Nina Update foresaw the current La Nina which started in September 2020 - continuing over the next six months, with a 70% chance in September-November 2022 and decreasing to 55% in December-February 2022-2023. La Nina refers to the cooling of ocean surface temperatures coupled with winds and rainfall. It usually has the opposite impact on weather and climate as El Nino, which is the warm phase of the so-called El Nino Southern Oscillation (ENSO). It is exceptional to have three consecutive years with a La Nina event. Its cooling influence is temporarily slowing the rise in global temperatures, its cooling influence is temporarily slowing the rise in global temperatures? Oops but then he added a caveat perhaps realizing what he just said, but it will not halt or reverse the long-term warming trend, WMO Secretary-General Petteri Taalas said in a statement. Except the warming trend as we have posted previously has actually ended. The Time magazine ran 4 front page headlines about global cooling between 1977 and 1989, about how we were all going to die by freezing to death. In the 1990's The Time changed it to we are all going to fry to death. He said the worsening drought in the Horn of Africa and southern South America bore the hallmarks of La Nina, as did above-average rainfall in southeast Asia and Australasia. The new La Nina Update unfortunately confirms regional climate projections that the devastating drought in the Horn of Africa will worsen and affect millions of people, he added. Notice not a single suggestion of how to fix the drought regions? Good job we have isn't it.

Here is a good group out of the UK and perhaps it should be expanded in all countries. This plays right into one of my annoyances, the world of advertising, it is a blight on us all, and these people have taken issue with it. Campaigner Charlotte Gage says that the outdoor adverts you see on billboards and bus stops should all be removed.

These ads are in the public space without any consultation about what is shown on them, she says. Plus, they cause light pollution, and most of the ads are for things people can't afford, or don't need. Exactly, it is a classic seducement with the vision of a fake lifestyle, all laced with a debt cycle program.

Ms. Gage is the network director of UK pressure group Adfree Cities, which wants a complete ban on all outdoor corporate advertising. This would also apply to the sides of buses, on the London Underground and other rail and metro systems.

If you think this is a fanciful aim, then you might need to think again, as it has already happened in a few places around the world.

Ms. Gage adds that resistance to such sight pollution is growing in the UK. Adfree Cities which was set up in 2020, now supports a network of eight community groups across the country, all opposed to outdoor corporate advertising.

These include Adblock Bristol, which claims to have successfully campaigned against a number of proposed outdoor advertising sites being given planning permission in the city. As far back as 2006, Sao Paulo, Brazil the largest in the southern hemisphere, banned all forms of outdoor advertising. Under the so-called Clean City Law, more than 15,000 billboards were subsequently removed, plus 300,000 store signs that were considered to be too large.

The French city of Grenoble followed suit in 2014. Its Assistant Mayor Lucile Lheureux explained at the time, that the advertising firms wanted to upgrade their billboards to digital screens, and we don't want our city's children bombarded with animated advertising on TV screens in the street.

More recently, Amsterdam, the capital of the Netherlands, banned some outdoor adverts last year - those for petrol and diesel-fuelled cars and air travel. Many people may think this is a lesser project to challenge, but those adverts brings much misery to many people globally, and has far more impact than most people think. The mind control aspect is the hidden version, the low self-worth aspect, it encourages greed and debt cycles, plus the fact it is ugly. One could also argue is that it is a distraction to a motorist, as much as a phone is. All those digital adverts in New York a prime example, it is like a walking They Live movie on repeat daily.

This is interesting in terms of one of our Solutions. Researchers with MIT have discovered a way to easily turn seawater into drinking water by pressing a button. The system relies on a portable desalination unit, that can turn impure water into drinking water without filters or high-pressure pumps. Turning seawater into drinking water isn't impossible, but it often requires heavy, massive desalination equipment. However, back in April of this year, researchers with MIT shared a suitcase-sized device capable of desalinating water at the press of a single button. Most portable desalination systems require the water to pass through filters. However, this new device utilizes electricity to remove the particles from the water. This allows it to make drinking water without having to worry about long-term maintenance requirements. Doing so is especially important where portable units like this, could provide drinking water for entire communities. Being able to turn seawater into drinking water could be life-changing for many communities, especially those on small islands. The portable unit would also be useful aboard seafaring cargo ships, it could even be used to aid refugees fleeing natural disasters. Of course, it would also be useful for military operations where long-term water supplies are more difficult to acquire. Yes, it always has to have a Military component, oh for the day inventions are solely for the purpose and the benefit of the people, not as currently whereby everything is thought of as a battle weapon of sorts. The argument against desalination is, it is too expensive to run, no it is not, it just doesn't earn the greed based merchants enough shekels, and so it doesn't get used. Again that thinking has to change.

This is the 3rd part of our teams book of What you didn't know about Consent, a fascinating and deep dive in the spiritual aspects of our lives, the skullduggery imposed on us and how we have allowed it. And if we can allow it, we can just as easily disallow it. Imposter Spirit: An Impostor is defined as any Entity or human being that is saying words or expressions, or making representations that it does not embody, nor comprehend, nor behave or act in accordance with. A person who pretends to be someone else in order to deceive others, especially for fraudulent gain. An Imposter Spirit is the Luciferian or Satanic Spirit which promotes false light authority and anti-life architecture through deception, lies of omission, manipulation with malice to promote intentional harm, death or destruction to serve its personal agenda. These belief systems are the basis which forms the Negative Ego and was manifested out of the predator mind of the Orion Group. This Imposter Spirit energy was inserted and imprinted as our False Parent, and the spiritual betrayal we have experienced in our heart and soul due to this fact has been crushing for many. Because of the timeline of the Impostor invasion, the False Parent has manifested physically, ancestrally, genetically, energetically and spiritually throughout our sense of identity. Without our true spiritual identity and being incarnated into an enslaved reality deception, humanity has existed in a severe identity crisis, unaware of its purpose, unaware of being interfered with in its inner source connection. We were tricked into believing the Impostor spirits values and purpose was one of benevolence and love for humanity, when its overall hidden motivation is to enslave and harm us. How do you begin to end this? Stop running theirs and your own programs on yourself, the first step is, I do not consent, as that is the first steps to reclaim your own sovereignty. We will see this revelation of the impostor spirit and false parent ripple throughout all aspects of our societal leadership, and we will need to be strong spiritually and in our personal faith to be able to see the authentic truth. The impostor spirit has hidden inside our schools, governments, hospitals, careers, leadership, family members, things we hold most sacred and finally, even inside of us. We believed this False Parent spirit loved us and cared for us, and we are seeing that is not really true, just like the AI sky god. The impostor spirit is not capable or equipped to know true love or benevolence towards life, towards children or humanitarian values. Therefore, with this pattern surfacing, this is a very hard and confusing time for humanity to reach this inner spiritual revelation in all areas and walks of life.

Who is responsible?

We are. As a species, humanity has given away its power to weak controllers who play the long game, bring things in very slowly over decades and generations, and trick us into giving away our consent little by little over extended periods of time. This is done through contrived wars, divide-and-conquer tactics, religion, financial crises and the latest tactic-pandemics. The most used mechanism is fear. Evil is perpetuated through those who follow orders, those who follow orders are indeed more culpable than those who give the orders. The so-called EL-ites know this and use it to fullest advantage, this may be a bitter pill to swallow but it is the authentic truth. We, as a species have largely failed to see through the deceptions and refuse consent to the systems of domination and control. We are at the precipice of the most exciting time in his-story/our-story, as we collectively begin to claim our personal spiritual power and become self-responsible adults.

Let's look at a few of the ways the system manipulates consent away from us at every level; Mental, Emotional, Physical and Spiritual.

Mental: under the banner of programming, false beliefs generated through mass media manipulation and censorship, dogma, indoctrination and savior programs, such as religion/politics/government. Education systems, video games and porn.

Mass media manipulation: He who controls the flow of information controls the masses, leading to cognitive dissonance.

Education: Controlling what we think through dumbed-down education systems. The definition of education means the training of animals. Children are not taught how to think, only what to think. They are not taught grammar, logic (reason) and rhetoric which are crucial to development of self-knowledge.

Higher learning is all controlled by cabal-owned corporations and bloodline families.

Medical: Making us think we are weak and incapable of healing without a pill or surgery.

Savior Programs:

What is a savior program? A savior program allows people the comfort zone to do nothing and let others do it for them, with repetitive memes like, god, Jesus or Allah will save you, his story has shown they haven't, they won't and never will. The people when becoming adults in terms of development, will understand, only we are our own saviors. Religion is the biggest conspiracy theory ever perpetuated on this planet, and is largely responsible for the loss of individual self-mastery. We are programmed from a very young age to fear, "god" and "hell" and look to the return of Christ as an example, all whilst giving away our consent and simultaneously our power to a Savior in the sky, when our true power comes from within each of us. We each possess a direct connection to the Source of our consciousness, which all religions and governments on this planet seek to usurp. As manifesting beings capable of co-creation, the controlling EL-ite seek to harness this power for their own harvesting ends, incapable as they are of manifesting themselves; given their low frequency lifestyles and service-to-self habits.

Emotional: Mass manipulation through fear campaigns, and emotional triggers through false flag events; mass shootings, war, pandemics, media etc.

Divide and Conquer: Hegelian Dialectic (problem-reaction-solution) racial division, us-vs-them tactics in the media and politics. Male-Female division, religious wars, cultural wars, gender wars the list is endless.

Spiritual: Astral manipulation, spirit possession, harvesting or loosing our energy, imposter spirits, voice to head tech, channeling tech, new age programs, etheric implants, alcohol and drugs etc.

Personal Sovereignty as the Solution-some examples:

Breaking consent and taking back our power, means being spiritual adults and becoming self-reliant on all levels.

Medical/Health Sovereignty:

All dis-ease stems from the astral-emotional body and cord. Working with tools such as: Ourspiritualnutrition.com and the corresponding self-help workbook, will speed the self-awareness and healing process considerably. Highly recommend this material for rapid transformation.

Natural Health/Wholeness/Holistic Lifestyles

Nutrition: whole foods-minimally processed, preferably home grown, including medicinal herb gardens.

Preventative Care and Physical Fitness.

Physical: Greed has perpetuated by a consumer society with a keeping up with the Joneses mindset, leading to insane levels of debt and pure waste. This keeps us distracted and overworked to pay off our debt.

Consenting with our dollars, do we ask what do we support through our purchases?

Other examples of giving our consent: voting, taxes, permits, fines, millions of laws, licenses i.e., driver's licenses, marriage licenses, etc. signing our name to any contract, birth certificates-which are assigned a Qsip number and traded on a private stock market, courtesy of the Cestui Que Vie Act.

EXPOSE:

This is a news item that will morph into an expose, and it details of why one country in particular, although they are not alone in that thinking, has heightened concerns when a certain group of people coalesce in their country. Over his story it has shown bad things happen, and what was once an autonomous country and culture, it is turned into someone else's and an abhorrent mess, that can take decades or longer to correct, if not permanent in some cases. This is the world's greatest threat bar none, as our series and now book details in stark clarity, From his story to our story. In overview the interactions between the invaders and the home country resembles parasitism on a spectacular scale. It dilutes not only the most obvious in terms of finances, but the countries politics, military, agencies, culture, education and even your religion should you choose to follow it, despite it being another program not suitable for an advanced species. A Russian crackdown on the agency that processes the immigration of Jews to Israel, is a response to new Israeli Prime Minister Yair Lapid's tougher stance on Russia's invasion of Ukraine, analysts said Friday. On Thursday, a Moscow court said the Justice Ministry had requested the dissolution of the Jewish Agency over unspecified legal violations in a hearing that was in July. Lapid vowed to act through diplomatic channels to ensure the semi-governmental agency's continued operation, with an Israeli delegation to visit Moscow to discuss the matter and underline the close links between the Russian Jewish community and Israel. That passage is why we cannot fully trust the present day Russia, was it a political move to block Jews leaving Russia and going to Israel? Or the fact that Israel doesn't want them there? Yet again the Jewish peoples are used a political and strategic football. Other government ministers were less diplomatic, with Diaspora Affairs Minister Nachman Shai accusing Moscow of punitive action over Israel's stance on the war in Ukraine.

Russian Jews will not be held hostage by the war in Ukraine. The attempt to punish the Jewish Agency for Israel's stance on the war is deplorable and offensive. The Jews of Russia cannot be detached from their historical and emotional connection to the State of Israel.

Ties between Russia and Israel have deteriorated since Russia invaded Ukraine on Feb. 24, a move condemned by the Israeli government. Yet the same Israeli Government is funding and backing the top two leaders in Ukraine, both of whom are Jewish. With a population of around 40M people, is Ukraine telling us they could only place 2 Jewish leaders at the head of the country? What an indictment of the country that is, almost on a par with appointing a senile old man with a mask or a game show host. Israel underlined its good relations with both countries, they play both sides is why, but Lapid who was foreign minister at the time before his elevation to the premiership on July 1, said Russia had committed a grave violation of the international order. Lapid condemned Russia's unjustified invasion of Ukraine, saying that in order to protect freedom, sometimes force must be used. An Israeli premier warning other countries about invading other countries, do they not get irony in that country? After 70+ invasions of other countries since their inception, clearly not. Ksenia Svetlova, a senior fellow at the Atlantic Council, who is also Jewish and a member of the Zionist Union, said, while the Russian move is part of a wider move against foreign and civil society organizations that began before the Ukraine invasion, it is also a clear warning to Lapid. The Atlantic Council is another clown-based think tank out of Washington DC. Svetlova, who herself immigrated to Israel from Moscow as a teenager, said: It's a move not just against the Jewish Agency and Jewish community, but against the prime minister of Israel.

According to Svetlova, a former member of the Israeli parliament who is director of the Israel-Mideast program of the Mitvim think tank, the Russian move could also be an attempt to strengthen former prime minister Benjamin Netanyahu ahead of a Nov. 1 general election.

Of which reveals the two-faction fighting game again, take the heat off Netanyahu who was in the news nonstop with bad publicity, and then slide him in again when people have forgotten. A classic clown maneuver, Kushner will be next, possibly as a Demoncrat. It could be a move to rein him in now, prevent him from selling arms to Ukraine or providing other support, but also a gesture to the person who is constantly attacking the current Israeli premier, and wants to replace him - Netanyahu. Remember Netanyahu was the one sending funds and equipment to Ukraine in the war 8 years ago. Last month, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky criticized Israel for not imposing sanctions on Russia. But as former Israeli ambassador to the United States Michael Oren pointed out: We're not letting anyone violate the sanctions from our territory, Israel is not entirely neutral anymore on Ukraine.

As he noted the helmets, flak jackets and other humanitarian aid the Jewish state has been supplying. To Oren, who was a deputy minister in the prime minister's office, the Russian move against the Jewish Agency was less about immigration and more about Middle East geopolitics.

The major issue is not the Jewish Agency programs but of our ability to maneuver freely in Syria, and Russia threatens to do something against us in Syria all the time. That line reveals it all, they complain of Russia invading Ukraine and the whole sovereignty issue, yet complain again because Russia and others are trying to stop Israel and its invasion. The sheer hypocrisy is staggering.

But given that Russia has no interest in clashing with Israel in Syria, this is an easier way of expressing displeasure, on the Jewish Agency programs, he said. According to Svetlova, Israel's ties with Moscow have been about protecting Russian Jewry, while preventing arms sales to Iran.

The isolation facing Russia pushed it towards Iran, with the recent visits by Biden to Israel and by President Vladimir Putin to Tehran illustrating the new reality.

It's not clear if Israel can obtain those goals, because the camps in the Middle East have become clear, who against who. Who against who indeed, is it two sides of the same coin again? Sadly, both sides contain the Jewish elements, and as our story reveals, that never ends well for we the people, or the Jewish people in those regions either. The mention of the stage name Netanyahu earlier, perhaps his bio reveals the origin of him and the group he represents. Netanyahu was born in 1949 in Tel Aviv, his mother, Tzila Segal was born in Petah Tikva in the Ottoman Empire's Mutasarrifate of Jerusalem. His father, a Warsaw-born Benzion Mileikowsky; 1910–2012, was a historian specializing in the Jewish Golden age of Spain. Which is the first clue. Netanyahu's paternal grandfather Nathan Mileikowsky was a rabbi and Zionist writer, clue two. When Netanyahu's father emigrated to Israel, he hebraized his surname from Mileikowsky to Netanyahu, meaning God has given. While his family is predominantly Ashkenazi, he has said that a DNA test revealed him to have some Sephardic ancestry, hence the Spain reference earlier and likely a descendant of the Conquistadors that went rampaging through North and Central America. He claims descent from the Vilna Gaon, he like Netanyahu's father was also Polish born, he became a Rabbi under the name Elijah. Said to be a teacher of the Jews, unless you were Hasidic. He excommunicated them, declaring them to be heretics with whom no pious Jew might intermarry. Proving not only racist and divisive with other races, but also within their own race as well.

This piece shows the timeline and movement of the takeover of Europe by the Jewish bankers of that time, having conquered the Silk Road and other trade routes. Orvieto a town in Umbria, central Italy was the scene as far back as 1297, just after the Ghengis Khan era. The Jewish loan bankers appeared there as early as 1297, after being given citizenship rights and permitted to carry weapons. In 1334 one of them was sent as envoy to a neighboring town. The prosperity of the Jewish community induced many families from outside to settle there, as did a group of Jews from Viterbo in 1396. The anti-Jewish sermons of the Franciscan friars later caused the position of Jews to deteriorate. However, Jewish moneylending activities continued until the monte di pietá was established in 1464. Monti Di Pietá, savings and loan agencies originally formed in Italian cities in the mid-15th century; considered as the predecessors of the modern credit union. Historically, the word mons was used during the Middle Ages to designate funds collected for a specific purpose, pietatis being added to identify them as non-speculative. Monte means mountain, but also a game traditionally associated with con men, indeed, in which the dealer shows the player three cards then moves them around face-down, the player being obliged to pick the specified card from among the three. Pietá means pity, and so it is a mountain of pity for those who borrow from these leaches or parasites. The initial object of the monti was to provide loans at a relatively low rate of interest (4–15%) to small artisans and dealers and to the poor in general, on the pledge of various goods. The interest was used to defray administrative expenses and salaries of employees, no it was to loot money off of people. The formation of the monti was the result of a combination of factors, both economic and theological. It arose from the decline of handicrafts and the ensuing impoverishment of the masses, and a scarcity of money; I guess over time things just never change, do they? Making a mockery of the olden days were the best, pure illusion. Also they say it was done to oust the Jews from the business of moneylending, not quite as you will see, which they had successfully practiced as their principal profession. The growing prosperity of Jewish bankers aroused the wrath of the Franciscans who, as some historians have pointed out, themselves often came from the ranks of the new aristocracy, the merchant class. Exactly, the Franks were Jewish also, and became so rich and powerful they had a country named after them, France. This also shows there was factions within the Jewish aristocracy, which has become more obvious over time, or does it? Yet in the background of all of this brings the line: we support both sides and gain from it, would be the more obvious pointer. Previously the progressive monopolization of moneylending by Jewish bankers had been justified both morally and theologically; on the one hand, it helped the poor, and on the other hand, it saved Christians from committing the sin of usury. But the founders of the monti advanced the argument that it was necessary to protect Christians from the voracity of Jewish usurers. What a load of nonsense that is, as the origins of Christian is based on he Jewish religion as well, just like Muslims. The establishment of the first monti in Perugia in 1462, after an earlier experiment eight years before at Ancona, came at the climax of a campaign against Jewish moneylenders waged by the Observant friars, the radical wing of the Franciscans. Its primary sponsor was Fra Michele da Milano, who protested vigorously against the arrangements then existing between the Jewish loan bankers and the city of Perugia. In subsequent years the Franciscans sought support for the expansion of the institution, preaching on its behalf throughout Italy, in opposition to the Dominicans and the Augustinians, who condemned what they called the montes impietatis is a breach of the prohibition on usury proclaimed by Jesus. Foremost among those in favor of the institution was Bernardino of Feltre, who bent all his charismatic talent for rabble-rousing to denouncing the Jewish moneylender. His sermons led to the establishment of the monti in many cities, and were instrumental in the widespread persecution of Jews during the blood libel in Trent in 1475, as well as in many other parts of the country. Pope Paul ii approved (1467) the establishment of a monte in Perugia, despite theological opposition, and successive popes sanctioned monti in other Italian cities. By 1494 there were 30 monti in central and northern Italy. The controversy was finally settled by the papal bull, Inter multiplicis (May 1515), issued by Leo X at the Fourth Lateran Council, which declared the monti neither sinful nor illicit but, on the contrary, meritorious. The institution of the monti did not, in itself, arouse the fears of the Jews. In some cases, Jewish loan bankers, recognizing the charitable nature of the monti, actually gave them support. Which reveals they were a part of it, this next caption reveals as much. One such loan banker, Manuele da Camerino, bequeathed a considerable sum to the monte of Florence which had been set up by Girolamo Savonarola. At times Jewish loan bankers utilized the monti for their own purposes, depositing in it a pledge left with them, thereby raising capital for further operations. The monti were not in a position to meet the growing need for capital, and as a result, there were times when Jewish loan bankers were allowed to reopen their condotte in the Italian cities, as occurred in Florence after the return of the Medici in 1512. Condotte means conduct or carried out, but another term similar at the same time is more indicative, condottiere. Condottieri were Italian captains in command of mercenary companies during the Middle Ages and of multinational armies during the early modern period. So, there were mercenaries going back along before Blackwater et al came along. They notably served popes and other European monarchs during the Italian Wars of the Renaissance and the European Wars of Religion. Which means the Roman church were a part of it, and quite possibly led to the later invention of the mafia. The term condottiero in medieval Italian originally meant contractor, just like the CIA use now, since the condotta was the contract by which the condottieri put themselves in the service of a city or of a lord. The con being tracted again, that fooled everyone who touched it. The term, however, became a synonym of military leader during the Renaissance and Reformation era. Eventually, both monti and Jewish loan bankers found it possible to coexist, and the first decades of the 16th century proved to be among the most prosperous for the Italian Jewish banker. In other words, the takeover was complete. By the mid-16th century, it was common practice for many monti to make loans to businessmen as well as to the poor, at an interest rate of from 8 to 10%. The Montidi Piet remained an essentially urban feature, an outgrowth of conditions specific to Italy. The decision of the Lateran Council of 1515 to allow urbi et orbi the establishment of monti, was the signal for setting up official lending institutions sponsored by governments in the Catholic countries of Europe. The 14 and 1500 was a key time in our history, where the church took over the schools, banking, mafia and science, that echoes through us all to this very day. After Orvieto came under the rule of the Church in the second half of the 16th century, anti-Jewish legislation was strictly enforced. When in 1569 Pius V decreed the expulsion of the Jews from the Papal States, the Jewish community effectively ceased to exist, although some families came back for a short time under Sixtus V (1585–90). The name of the church of St. Gregorio nella Sinagoga in Orvieto still commemorates the former Jewish settlement. March 12, 1350 in History Orvieto city says it will be head and burn Jewish-Christian couples, confirming there was a fear or dislike of them that far back. In Liverpool when I was a child, the older people used to fear the Jews coming into the neighborhood, as they were mostly debt collectors or landlords. They often spoke of how inflexible they were and were not universally liked too much. And it is always centered around money, and how they always had money, yet the native people never. Eventually over time the people get nasty over that situation and turn against the money lenders, which why in many countries, including Germany they are not particularly liked too much. In essence ignoring who they are, they are essentially usurpers in every town and city, and that has consistently upset the communities they have been involved in. All of which is why they were thrown out of 106 countries in the past 2000 years, and countless town, cities and regions must be nearer 500 and possibly more. This greed although not solely the realm of the Jewish, is what turns people against them, and maybe the youth and others in their community needs to look more closely at that. And learn to be more considerate when operating in what is essentially other people's country. Perhaps then bridges can be built between the peoples.

PONDERING PIECES: The opening piece of our show last week covered the really poor speech Biden gave to not only Americans, but around the world. The mask man delivered the most cringeworthy speech that makes all Americans look bad, and why the rest of the world views us with suspicion at best, and as pariahs at worst. But upon revisiting a portion of it, there was another realization to be had. The back drop to the Biden speech was the building behind him, was all colored in red. This made me think of the original TV series of V, when the leader of the reptilians did a speech to the world with the same colored back drop, funny that.

Here is a sobering statistic, and why the world views us as a pariah state. The US has undertaken almost 400 military interventions since 1776, with half of these operations undertaken between 1950 and 2019. Over 25% of them have occurred in the post-Cold War period. Imagine the sheer cost of all those incursions? Just how much has that bankrupt this country? All of which was orchestrated by Israel and their Jewish money makers. Because all the debt they say is owed to them. You wish to really know how much orchestrated debt they have leveraged upon us? Listen to this line then. If you sobered up on the last one, this will make you vomit. If you spend $1,000,000 a day it would take you 50877 years and 6 months to spend all United States debt.

A question most people have asked about in the alt media is, with all the headlines of debts everywhere and the US allegedly owing $31T, who is it owed to? And many will say the shekel people bankers, families, EL-ites and a few will say The Trust. But do you know who the people owe the most to? The Jones'. But like who owns the debt, nobody knows who the Jones' are either. Perhaps the solution is, to get clever with maths of how to overcome the debt cycle, and also understand how to overcome the need to feed the Jones', the Jones' are harvesters and have an insatiable greed, why feed them? Learn to live happily and comfortably with what you have. You know who the real Jones' are? Smiths.

Derivative mentioned earlier, what does it mean? 1. A contract or security that derives its value from, that of an underlying asset such as another security or from the value of a rate as of interest or currency exchange, or index of asset value such as a stock index. The great security scam on all levels, be it National, financial, insurance all based on fear to generate funds for the harvesters. 2. The imitative of the work of another person, and usually disapproved of for that reason, think of that in terms of harvesting. 3. In mathematics it means, the limit of the ratio of the change in a function, to the corresponding change in its independent variable, as the latter change approaches zero. Yes, they are approach zero in terms of finance and life itself, zero can also be thought of as the void, or better, null and void. 4. In Chemistry it means, a substance that can be made from another substance, like clones, digital twins and chimeras? 5. Something that is based on another source, think of that as harvesting as well, but also much higher in terms of Source the creator itself. Another Source which is a copy or something that imitates is, the AI sky god. 6. Final meaning is lacking originality, just like the copy version of the AI sky god, with its finger of god called digit-al.

The September 30th financial settlement date is a regular occurrence in the Alt Media generally mentioned by the previously employed Japanese finance minister Benjamin Fulford. Yes, it is a date that debts have to be settled, re-negotiated or rolled over, but the actual settlement dates are April and October 17th. People in the 2000's were told and or where expecting all kinds of favorable results with this date, and the fall of this country or that country. But it never unfolded that way once. Are the finances worse now? You bet, the liquidity shortage of the energy companies revealed that. The report I did two years ago confirmed what Kim and I had said 4 years back, the lack of funds contained within the system, which had gone down from $90-120T in circulation, to somewhere between $40-60T as of 2020. Since then we have seen cutbacks everywhere, including lockdowns which stopped the flow of money, due to reduced jobs, trade and businesses. The global financial system is in a total mess, no access to the Trust and so we are left with a dwindling pot to go round. But, remember we the people barely got anything from the Trust, and so it is no loss to us, but a great loss to them. They need money and lots of it to keep the crumbling empires afloat, and what the bail outs for banks, insurance and many others, plus now the energy sector reveals is, they are collapsing under their own weight of excessive spending and fraud/corruption. A bail out is a band aid on open heart surgery, it is not going to stem the flow, because eventually there will be the day of reckoning, in a financial sense and a spiritual one. The proverbial kicking the can down the road may have worked prior to 2012 in a sense, not so much since. The September 30th date used in the alt media is as prevalent and as useless as the other CIA meme in the alt media, the great October Surprise event. That never materialized either. Yes they are heavily pushing digital currency now, why? because they are desperately short of cash flow and need stupid people to give them the remaining cash flow in return for fresh air, think about it please. It is the digit-al sky god actions again, another derivative, that copies money, but is actually not real. The irony is, neither is the currency we are using, it is all fiat or fake money. The real currency are physical assets like gold and silver, you can only pay off debts with gold and silver, you only discharge it using dollars, euros etc. Look at the word dis-charge, dis; to show disrespect for, affront, to disparage or belittle. But it gets worse or more prevalent when using it as a Latin the language of the reps, as a prefix meaning apart, asunder, away, utterly or having a privative, negative or reversing force. The reversing force of the charge, which means harvesting. Dis has another meaning and maybe where it is all being dis-charged to, because Dis was a god of the underworld.

In the void or the hollow there is no music of the spheres, perhaps it is just outside of time. The melodic tones of the Universe that plays harmonic tones that is music not only for the ears, but for the soul. Maybe this world we live in is a giant grandfather clock, grandfather was a code name for Anu, just saying. It sounds tinny, hence the term tinnitus. Tinnitus means a bell sound, the ringing of the bell, is bell spelt with two L's or one? Does it ring a Ba'al? A tinny sound is an echo chamber, if an echo doesn't answer, then you are trapped in your own echo chamber, like a doll within a doll or maybe outside of it? If you remove an N from tinny, you are left with tiny, the echo that does answer in terms of questions to your request for answers, designed for you to think and understand yourself. I think we call that echo answer, triggering. The Music of the spheres when it visits you in spirit time, contains the love frequency. Maybe it is all in the sign of the southern cross, which essentially is the Jesus story for the Saturnalia festival between December 21st and the 25th each year. If there isn't light when no one sees, then how can I know what you might believe, but what if there is light and people still don't see, does that mean they are in the void? Or are they blind, blind with the L? A story told that can't be real, somehow must reflect the truth we feel, yeah. There are many stories to tell that are not believable and so it is dismissed as not real, all because someone decided it was outside the box of what is deemed as normal. But you must reflect the truth that you feel, that is your experience and truth and belongs to no one else if you were alone on that experience. It's your truth, embrace it. Fade away, fade away, vanish into small, fade away, fade away, break the crystal ball, vanish into small and then break the crystal ball, which is ending the spellcasting game played on you. Oh, it's the sign, feels like the time. Yes, it is a sign, but will you see it? and yes it feels like the time is ending. On a small world west of wonder, somewhere, nowhere, all, west of wonder, which means the East is the wonder, and also the gate. There's a rainbow that will shimmer, when the summer falls, the rainbow bridge will shimmer and vanish, that was not our bridge, it was the Dark Forces trap. If an echo doesn't answer, when it hears a certain sound, the echo chamber no longer works which means you are outside of it. Then the beast is free to wander, but never is seen around, it is never seen around as the beast in shadow form was you, until you fixed or corrected yourself, hence the term the beast within, like light and dark, which will you feed? Then it's the sign of the southern cross All right, sail away to the sky, is it by boat, ship or ark? From the book the word is spoken, whispers from forgotten song, the forgotten song is the Music of the Spheres. Gather all around the young ones, they will make us strong, that is the DNA plus group. Reach up above your dreams of pleasure, which means to go internal, pleasures can be far more from within there, than the external. Give a life to those who die, look beyond your own horizons, in other words be service to others is the greater path. If not you sail the ship of sighs, regretting your choices. And it's the sign of the southern cross, It's the sign of the southern cross. Fade away, fade away break the crystal ball, fade away, fade away, I can't accept it any more. It's the sign of the southern cross and you ending the limitation program of fading away. Don't live for pleasure, make life your treasure, life is the greatest treasure we can all have, learn to enjoy it more, embrace it, accept what life throws at you, because no matter what it does throw at you, it all comes down to, how you react to it. Anger, hate, revenge, low vibration or, that was a useful lesson to be thankful for. Fade away, eight miles high, about to fall, which is the height of a military aircraft, joining that will make you fall regardless, and no one there to catch you. But there is someone there to catch you if you think outside of the box, when falling in a dream, step into yourself and stop the fall, maybe you can learn to sky glide or even better fly. Look for the sign, the time, and the sign of the southern cross. Maybe that last line is a timeline and/or date to ponder on?

ENDING PIECE: A great part of the work of THI is about integration, so what is being integrated you may ask? Well, integration has many answers and indeed levels of understanding that is required before a full integration and understanding of it is attained. This is not about the answer, but the journey of discovery to arrive at the answer or destination. But we have integrated a lot of people on the surface level, of like-minded people coming together largely for a common cause or purpose. That in and of itself is kind of unique, as people of all colors and races, religious or not, differing class background, differing upbringings, differing knowledge bases and vastly different views of life, circumstance, happenstance and meaning. The old, the young, the rich, the poor all coming together in one group and from many countries, that has become integrated in a vastly differing way. So, what brought you here? The search for the truth, the frequency and your own inner knowing that it felt right, but that is the effect part, but what is the cause? The cause is and was you are a fragment being or soul, seeking answers to put back the self into a neat and tidy package, with the ultimate goal of full restoration of what you perceive to be the self, but in most cases is just the copy of you. Why is it a copy of you? Because too few have not integrated the whole version of you to understand the difference, between whole and fragmented. Fragmented on a cellular level, DNA level, mind level, heart level and the ultimate, the soul level. Even our genetics and blood have been fragmented along the way as well. Fragmentation is the realm of the computer again, let's not be metatronic. We are not 1's and 0's, we are the crown of creation, the 1 on 1 with the 1, not the duality, the triality. In some cases it can be said that an ancient memory of a soul family brought you to THI, and that maybe closer to the truth than you realize, or are ready to accept. What passes as family here is a poor substitute from what a real family should be or look like. Part of the journey of THI is getting you all to learn how to integrate your whole self back together again. Because we are all humpty dumpty in a way, only we can put ourselves back together again, and by we, I mean the I. Nobody can fix you, it is not possible, people can help you, but only you can fix you. So, piece by piece of the psychology side of the shows, was an opportunity for you all to learn to re-integrate the broken and fragmented parts of yourself back into some sort of shape. The traumas of the past has left many shadows, alters and in some cases hosts contained within and around the vessel. The humanity inability to correct traumas comes back to bite, when the shadows and the alters created by us, starts to proliferate. These are the nesting dolls, there is only one doll, that is the you, the rest of them where created in the mind, not the heart, as sub files of you, but not the real you. Each traumas or events not addressed adds another doll, shadow or alter, and you become disoriented in your understanding of what is the real you? Deep down you know, but those traumas you carry around with you like some sort of trophy collections weighs heavy on the mind, but heavier again on the heart. If you don't believe it is heavy energy you carry, remove one of the shadows, traumas or alters, and then you will feel the difference. Why are you lighter? Because you are experiencing a part of the higher frequency and indeed density. As you go towards the higher density your whole vessel gets lighter, each density reduced your density to 10% of the previous. It is the Universes greatest ever dietary fix, you become 10% of your current plane of existences weight. This is a reverse in essence of adding stuff but getting lighter, not heavier. Consumption of the external makes you heavier, integrating the you makes you lighter, ponder on that. What is unfolding now each day is, you are all integrating parts of yourself back towards the whole version of you. As parts of you are not only fragmented here, but in and on other planes, dimensions and possibly even Universes, whether it is the Universe itself or the bubble part of it. To go forward you need to be lighter, that means you cannot be fragmented or broken. As to go forward on an upward trajectory, you will have had to have integrated the self back together again. Why? because if you are not integrated, how can you go forward? Because you will keep having to go back in time to integrate the parts of you that is missing. The great question is, why would you wish to go back in time? If you are thinking of that in terms of time that is understandable at this point. But may I remind you and indeed ask you, why would you go back into time, now, does that make a difference in your understanding? If we are exiting the time Matrix, do you still wish to go back into time? Perhaps you should look for the sign, the time, the sign of the Southern Cross, now ponder on that.
