

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2022-09-22

Some announcements for you to start off this show. Next Tuesday at 5.30pm MT will be an extra show called FHSTOS Plus 17, a packed and varied show that dovetails nicely with the Expose Part 1 in this show, and part 2 of the Expose next Thursday. A week on Sunday October 2nd at 3 or 4pm MT will be the Blueprint Part 1 in its finished form before being released to the public on a much wider scale. Part 2 will be Tuesday October 4th at 5.30pm MT. Part 1 & 2 will be done in a very unique way compared to all the past shows. So a two-fer next week and three-fer the week after to look forward to. These are exciting times for all connected at THI and TPC, extraordinary progress is being made on many levels. We should all be proud of what we have achieved to date, but that should not be the overriding thought pattern. Whilst it is important to recognize the progress made, be it the self or related to the group, bank that, as your most important thought pattern is, what happens next? How will you and we continue to progress?

NEWS: For the 5th week running clown media are running the same script. CBS News chief Washington correspondent Major Garrett warned that the United States is 85 percent close to a civil war. The 85% figure is interesting, why mention it? We have a component of American politics now that wants to slander an election that was fairly lost because they're unhappy. That unhappiness does not entitle you to drag down American democracy, because if, we enter a phase in American life where either political party refuses to accept fair and verified elections simply because it lost, then we will dismantle democracy bit by bit before our very eyes. Then the solution is, to remove both parties and appoint people to do a job, not play expensive child level games in the public and on air.

The BBC has boasted that it triggered the removal of a Facebook vaccine injury support group in the UK with over 250,000 members. The BBC has seen several groups, one with hundreds of thousands of members, in which a carrot emoji appears in place of the word vaccine. Oh my, was that a dangling carrot, now where have we heard that before? Facebook's algorithms tend to focus on words rather than images. The groups are being used to share unverified claims of people being either injured or killed by vaccines. Once the BBC alerted Facebook's parent company, Meta, the groups were removed. Oops another example how the weak and pathetic system, can't handle a spot of truth it seems.

The least surprising news of the week came in from the new distraction point, due to Covid and the Ukraine narrative flailing and failing. This is pure clown tactics as this piece will reveal. The US Pacific Tsunami Warning Center issued a warning for Taiwan after the earthquake but later rescinded the alert. Today's earthquake struck Taiwan's rural Yujing district with a 6.9 magnitude, and a depth of 10 kilometres. Photos showed buildings collapsed, and about 20 people were evacuated from a train derailed in the area. 10km? again oh my, you see they always do things in a loop or repeat pattern, find the pattern and it always repeats, will lead you all to greater discoveries. Ignore the media rhetoric, Taiwan belongs to China in their world. In our developmental world, we will develop beyond the child level control structure with countries, trading and it's people all being autonomous under full sovereignty.

Due to the fact that the composite war of the West against Russia through the use of Ukraine as a springboard and tool is clearly failing, the puppet government of independent Ukraine has made a criminal deal with the Polish authorities, and sells to Warsaw for a penny what is still left in Kiev's zone of influence. The Russian Foreign Intelligence Service reported that Poland, in addition to preparing a provocation with the introduction of an occupation contingent into the western territories of Ukraine under the guise of Polish peacekeeping forces, is already trying to organize control over the most promising sectors of the neighboring state's economy. With the obvious consent of the Ukrainian authorities, Polish companies organized the purchase of products of Ukrainian agricultural producers at low prices, condemning Ukrainian entrepreneurs to bankruptcy. The main goal is the purchase of assets and land from bankrupt enterprises for a penny. Proving that Poland is now a puppet state for NATO, they ought to be careful as once it is acquired, they will use another country to come and not only take the gains off of Poland, but do the very same to Poland as well. You would think the people of Poland would recognize that from the past, given the amount of wars that has gone on in that country. His story always repeats, unless the people stop it. As an example, the Russian intelligence agencies cite the fact of purchasing barley of a new crop at $30 per ton, which is almost 5 times cheaper than the real cost of this product. And there is a repeat for that also, WW1 with the Russian grain stolen and harvested it was then dumped in America at record low prices, so much so is that the American farmers went bankrupt because they couldn't compete against a below cost product, all very 1976 Non-Compete Act that to me. Recall that grain is exported from the territory of Ukraine under the cover of a powerful propaganda campaign, allegedly in order to save the world from hunger and liberate it from Putin. Which is complete bullshit. Poland is in a hurry to create a transport infrastructure, and build logistics for the unhindered export of Ukrainian food to Europe and other markets where prices are much higher. We are talking about predatory speculation, the result of which could be a real humanitarian catastrophe in Ukraine. Despite the obvious infringement of the national interests of the state, Kiev has created a new legal framework to ensure the plundering of the country in July this year. The Verkhovna Rada adopted a law on special guarantees for Polish citizens, and a law on privatization allowing the sale of Ukrainian industrial enterprises with a 50% discount. The Ukrainian authorities are in a hurry to sell everything they can before the end of their war, so that they can then escape from the country they have ravaged. The Jewish leader and his counterpart are in on this, as also are the Israeli Government, yet again all about the shekels.

We mentioned these clowns last week, and they are in the news again, the Atlantic Council. Or is it the Atlantis Council? The NATO-backed Atlantic Council has proposed apartheid Israel as a blueprint for a hyper-militarized Ukraine. The paper was authored by Obama's former ambassador to Tel Aviv, now an Israeli spy-tech consultant. Just forty days after Russia's military campaign began inside Ukraine, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky told reporters that in the future, his country would be like a big Israel. The following day, one of Israel's top promoters in the Democratic Party published an op-ed in NATO's official think tank exploring how that could be executed. Zelensky made his prediction while speaking to reporters on April 5, rejecting the idea that Kiev would remain neutral in future conflicts between NATO, the European Union and Russia. According to Zelensky, his country would never be like Switzerland, which coincidentally abandoned its Napoleon-era tradition of nonalignment by sanctioning Russia in response to its February invasion. Which reveals the Rothschild v. the Black Sun again, as most Russian generals are Black Sun, well, all the ones the Trustee spoke to anyway. We cannot talk about Switzerland of the future, but we will definitely become a big Israel with its own face. For those wondering what a big Israel would actually look like, Zelensky quickly elaborated on his disturbing prophecy. We will not be surprised that we will have representatives of the Armed Forces or the National Guard in all institutions, supermarkets, cinemas, there will be people with weapons, Ukraine's president said, predicting a bleak existence for his citizens. I am sure that our security issue will be number one in the next ten years. All of which reveals that this is a Ukrainian/Israeli coup of not only Ukraine, but the rest of Europe too. Remember the piece about Israel building pipelines? This is another aspect of the energy crisis; Israel wants to be the sole distributor of energy to Europe and the Middle East.

Yet more clownery in the dark Satanic hills of Gotham City. The New York City Department of Education has axed 850 teachers and classroom aides, on top of the 1,300 employees who took one year's unpaid leave. It means that almost 2,000 school employees will have been fired for failing to comply with vaccine mandate imposed last October. Of the 1,300 who went on leave for a year, 450 agreed to show proof of vaccination by September 5. The rest are deemed to have voluntarily resigned. Which is a lie, they were forced into being dismissed, dismissing the many years teachers put into that profession, all because some psychopaths, fake experts and news clowns decided to play domination and control games on the world. The 450 who received a shot, consisting of 225 teachers and 135 paraprofessionals, are now returning to their prior schools or work locations, DOE officials said. About 1,950 staffers have now been terminated from the department since the vaccine mandate was introduced on October 29, 2021. New York City Mayor Eric Adams never lifted the vaccine mandate for city schools, despite other cities and states dropping such requirements as the CDC relaxed its Covid guidelines. In total, the City has fired more than 2,600 municipal workers who were not fully vaccinated. The great question remains is; just how much are New Yorkers going to tolerate the conditions and abuse they receive from that state, before taking actions? Over-priced everything in particular housing, rents for home and businesses, gridlock, filthy streets outside of the neon light They Live district. Corrupt and murdering politicians, who deliberately killed an number of the elderly in care homes at the beginning of the scam. Corrupt police officials, bureaucrats, vulture capitalists and so much more, and yet New Yorkers just tolerate this? Guess who is the real problem? The people themselves, because no one with any self-worth and value would tolerate such utter shit and living conditions. All at the behest of the UN whose members and the psychotic connections run New York into a cesspit of crime and filth, it has always been that way since the Jews took over it with their Rothschild's based Dutch counterparts.

The UK is considering abolishing the Inheritance tax, which is an interesting move, does or will it draw attention away from the rich and famous dying off?

MEDICAL: We still have far too many people with basic Stockholm Syndrome when it comes to Donald Trump. A man who promised change like all others before him and never delivered. A man who was on the Epstein plane along with Ivana and Ivanka. A man who was given an alt media meme and the traveling circus known as Q, that brought much more publicity than ever before, yet still didn't deliver. A man promised to be King of the world in a ceremony in Russia, until they gave it to Macron, they promised him head of the Black Sun as well and that never materialized either. The point is, he was willing to do whatever made Trump himself popular, not only in alt media circles which the whole Q and the let's go Brandon brigade, which has clearly been shown as a CIA psy-op, but wanting titles in the very organizations the Q psy-op was portraying to end. If you put an F before the Q and say it quickly, that is exactly what that group and Trump delivered to the people. But Donald delivered something else straight out of the globalists handbook, despite being told it was all fake, he brought us lockdowns and worse deadly vaccines. A reminder of Trump's very own comments for the Stockholm Syndrome people. (1) Donald Trump said you're playing right into their hands when you doubt the vaccine. Who is they Donald? (2) Trump was enforcing vaccinations at the Trump Tower grill. Trump Tower and the Trump Grill refuses customer who is unvaccinated, in comparison to the people who were UN vaccinated, same letters different meaning, December 17, 2021, Trump Tower, New York. (3) Trump encourages all Republicans to receive vaccines on Sean Hannity -

At the 28:25-mark Trump says, a lot of our people don't want to take vaccines. You know, I don't know what this is exactly. Republicans? Don't know what it is. I encourage them to take it. I do. April 2021 (4) Trump tells crowd at Alabama rally: I recommend you take the vaccines. August 2021 (5) I hope everyone remembers when they're getting the Covid-19 vaccine, that if I wasn't President, you wouldn't be getting that beautiful shot for 5 years at best, and probably wouldn't be getting it at all. I hope everyone remembers! February 28th 2021 Yes, many do Donald and if you are taking full credit for it, you and your funder can take full responsibilities for the damages and death it has caused. (6) The vaccine and the vaccine rollout are getting the best of reviews, moving along really well, get those shots everyone! December 17th 2020 (7) I guess in a certain way, I'm the father of the vaccine, April 29th 2021 (8) Everybody, go get your shot. February 28th 2021 (9) It works incredibly well, 95%, maybe even more than that, March 9th 2021 (10) These vaccines are also very safe, December 11th 2020. Tens of thousands of current deaths and over 1.3M injured suggests otherwise, let's see if he repeats that in 6-24 months' time. (11) During my administration, everybody wanted the vaccine. There was nobody saying oh, gee, I don't want to take it, now they say that and that's because they don't trust the Biden administration, I can think of no other reason. We can Mr. Trump, deaths and injuries. But they say we don't want it; we aren't going to take it. When I was there, everybody wanted it and we were doing great, well, the military did a fantastic job, October 7th 2021. (12) President Biden delivers remarks on the status of the country's fight against Covid-19. I got my booster shot as soon as they were available, and just the other day, Trump announced that he had gotten his booster shot. Maybe one of the few things that he and I agree on. If people believe Biden and trump got any shots, they are more stupid than politicians.

This is an interesting exchange on another radio show between Neil Oliver, a health specialist and expert in health systems from MIT. It reveals some startling information about the jabs and a subsequent cover up. Neil Oliver: Breaking news now concerning an internal meeting of the Ministry of Health in Israel discussing the effects of the Pfizer vaccine in that country, one of the most vaccinated in the world. We have obtained a recording of a video call which seems to suggest that some side-effects caused by that vaccine are not mild, rare or short term, but serious and long lasting. I can speak now to two Israeli experts who have been closely following the story of the vaccine rollout in their country. Dr. Yaffa Sharaz is a journalist and specialist health reporter and Professor Retsev Levi is an expert in health systems from MIT in the U.S. Welcome to you both. Yaffa, can you give us a bit of background to this story, bearing in mind it's coming at my audience fresh. Yaffa Shiraz: What you are about to see is part of a Zoom meeting that took place in early June between Israeli Ministry of Health officials, including the MOH senior leader who is responsible for surveillance of vaccine side-effects, and an external group of researchers from which the MOH has commissioned a study on the safety of the Covid vaccines. The background of this meeting is the study that was commissioned by the MOH, based on a new reporting system that the MOH launched by the end of 2021. As is well known, Israel has a very high vaccination rate and was labelled the world's laboratory, but as it turns out this entire critical year in which the vast majority of the population in Israel was vaccinated, the Israeli vaccine monitoring system was in fact completely dysfunctional. There was, in fact, no reliable system which you could say was even remotely similar to the American VAERS or to the U.K. Yellow Card System. The MOH in December 2021 finally launched a proper system instead of the dysfunctional one, allowing an analysis of the side-effects. The research team they commissioned, headed by a distinguished professor from one of the hospitals in Israel with an expertise in pharmacology and toxicology, was tasked with analyzing reports of side-effects for a period of six months from the beginning of December 2021 to the end of May 2022. The findings presented in this video, in this meeting, as you will see, are very serious. Nevertheless, Ministry of Health withheld them for nearly two months and only very recently published a formal report about this work. However, unfortunately, the gap between the official report and what the researchers say in this internal discussion, in the sentiment of concern in this discussion, couldn't be greater. In fact, the report completely contradicts what was said in this discussion. Neil Oliver: Retsev, if I could come to you now, we're going to play a short clip from the call. For obvious reasons, most of my audience not being able to understand Hebrew, can you talk us through what is being said. Retsev Levi: Before we start the video can we just say the work was quite impressive, the work the research team did. They found a range of side-effects, with clear and definite causal relationship to the vaccine, actually including some new side-effects that are not even listed by Pfizer. How could they conclude a definite causal relationship to the vaccine? This is based on the concept of re-challenge. This is when the side effect reported is coming back or worsens every time you take another dose of the vaccine. The video we are going to watch now is when the head of the research team is explaining this concept to the people in the Ministry of Health, using and referring to a framework which is very well established to evaluate the relationship between the side-effect and the vaccine. Essentially, what he is telling them is that when you observe a re-challenge, that changes the assessment from a possible relationship to a definite relationship. That is why they were so sure and so apparent about the causal relationship between the side-effects and the vaccine. Neil Oliver: What are the nature of the side-effects that the researchers identified? Retsev Levi: This is quite a wide range of side-effects that they are talking about and discussing during the meeting, let me highlight two of those. The first one is about menstrual irregularities. As you know, once the vaccine campaign started, many women reported menses irregularities. In many cases during the last year the immediate response was very dismissive, and that this was just a temporal coincidence. When these reports persisted, the narrative changed a little bit, and people were willing to acknowledge there is a possible relationship to the vaccine but the phenomenon is short term. What the finding of this research team was very clear about, that the side-effects are definitely caused by the vaccine because of the re-challenge phenomena, and they also last for weeks, months, over a year and sometimes still ongoing at the time the report was given to the Ministry of Health. The neurological side-effects are even more interesting. The electronic form the Ministry of Health created to allow patients to report had two parts. One of them was a closed form, where you were actively asked about specific side-effects and that form didn't even include neurological systems. When they analyzed the free text part of the form, where patients were allowed to report whatever they wanted, they observed and got many reports of neurological side-effects, some of which are not currently listed by Pfizer as side-effects of the vaccine. Again, based on the re-challenge phenomena they could see a definite causal relationship with the vaccine and, again, long-term side-effects that lasted weeks, months and sometimes over a year. Neil Oliver: What is the consequence of those side-effects of repeated vaccination. Obviously, people were receiving one, then a second, third, fourth or fifth, what happens as a result of repetition? Retsev Levi: This is very concerning and in fact, irrespective of this study, I think we already see there are some indications of increased toxicity. The more boosters you take the more side-effects you see, and again the side-effects coming back. That caused the research team to be very concerned about the impact. At some point you can see in the next video the head of the research team is talking about the liability, the legal liability of the findings. Essentially, what he is saying is the narrative of the Ministry of Health in Israel and many other health authorities around the world was, go and get the vaccine because the side-effects are rare and short-term. Now it turns out the situation and the reality is not what the narrative was promoting, the side-effects are long term and serious and basically saying you have to think very carefully about how you communicate this to the public. Because you may open yourselves to legal lawsuits and liability issues, because what you promoted isn't in fact the reality or what we see in the reports. A typical response, not the fear or concern more people will suffer, no, lets protect our shekels and avoid lawsuits. All about the damn money again with those people. Neil Oliver: Retsev, we can play that second clip. If you want to just reiterate what you were saying about the researcher. I think what you're saying is the researcher is wondering and worrying, about the legal implications of not being more honest.

Retsev Levi: I think the narrative was the Ministry of Health and other health authorities around the world, was go get vaccinated because even if there are side-effects they are rare and short term. In fact, what he is talking about now is about the legal implications of the findings, which are, that many of the side-effects are long term and that can open up the issue of legal liability, because the vaccine was promoted in a way that was not representing the real risks that people took. Neil Oliver: I sense a lot of urgency about it. I can only presume vaccination is ongoing in Israel and researchers and people like yourself are concerned that, this new information ought to have a bearing on that ongoing project. Retsev Levi: I think you are right, what is more concerning is the response of the Ministry of Health to this very concerning report. During the meeting some of the members of the research team are talking about their conscience bothering them and they are very concerned about the findings. But the Ministry of Health, who knew about this information in June this year, and was not shared with the committee of experts, that advised the Ministry of Health very recently to allow vaccination of 6 month to 4-year-old babies and also allowed the booster program to go forward. When the Minister of Health reported to the public, as Yaffa mentioned, the narrative was, again, nothing new, everything is safe, we learned nothing from this report. To make things worse, the reported rates of different side-effects were manipulated to be presented as very low. Basically by taking the number of reports, and then dividing them by the total number of doses that were given in Israel since the beginning of the vaccination campaign in early 2021, basically ignoring the fact that most of the vaccine doses were given when the system on which this report is based, didn't even exist. So, you are only going to get a very small fraction of the real side-effects and real reports, but also it turns out not all the HMO's in Israel, the system in Israel that is based on four large HMO's, only one of them reported. The fact of the matter is, that the finding that this research team is reporting about, relate only to 15% of the population in Israel. Nevertheless, the Ministry of Health held back all of this information and presented to the public in Israel a very misleading picture of the findings. Unfortunately, this is not something that is unique to Israel, it is something we have observed in other countries where transparency and honesty about issues with the vaccine are not communicated appropriately. I think the consequences are really harmful. An all too common occurrence with the medical practice, with a litany of cover-ups on all levels, with all forms of medical applications. Please be aware that all medicines are experimental, as all medicines can never ever apply to all people. It is a complete fallacy based on the differing genetic makeup of us all, so if we all have differing genetics, how can all medicines work for all people? The answer is it can't, and so all medicine is experimental then. The question then is; do you wish to be a guinea pigs for companies that accept no liability and are granted full immunity from any damages? That is your contract with every medical application, being drugs, creams, potions, pills or even surgeries, they call it a practice for a reason. I was a guinea pig back in 1987, but I was told clearly by the surgeon this was an experimental operation, that had never been done before, I knew the risks and the procedure and then made an informed choice. Something the rest of the medical personnel should take into account before giving known poisons to patients they are supposed to be caring for. And yet very few if any doctors and nurses have no idea what is in the jabs, pills or drugs before given them to patients. That is not medical care, that is Russian Roulette with your life, and too many just go along with it, because of the Milgram experiment of agree with authority no matter what, all whilst ignoring that A: they are not the authority B: they are not trained in cures and C: have no clue what they are prescribing and they call that patient care!! In reality those two words make sense, because you have to be patient to get real care, because no one has been trained in it, to deliver it. I don't care which medical people don't like that statement, because it is true, and your own ignorance is injuring, harming and killing people in record numbers. If it wasn't true, those figures would be much lower. It is not just a matter of were not gonna take it, the jab, we should not take the experimental practicing methodology of the medical establishment either.

SOCIETY NEWS: As the pomp and ceremony over the state funeral of Queen Elizabeth ends, expect a raft of disclosures surrounding that family to unfold. Expect a raft of countries in the Commonwealth to step back and move towards sovereignty, which plays into our blueprint. Here is the start of it.

When Prince Edward, the youngest son of Queen Elizabeth II, visited Antigua and Barbuda in April, the country's prime minister told him that the nation, one of 15 in which the British monarch is head of state, wished to one day become a republic. After the queen's death last week, Prime Minister Gaston Browne revealed a timeline: He plans to hold a referendum on casting off the monarchy probably within the next three years. This is not an act of hostility, but a final step to complete the circle of independence. The passing of Elizabeth, a unifying figure more than Charles, comes as several Commonwealth realms are reassessing their relationships with the crown. Leaders across the Commonwealth, an association of 56 nations, most of them already republics, expressed sadness over the monarch's death. But many of those countries, former outposts of the empire, have also been engaged in a public reckoning over the legacies of colonialism, including calls for atonement, reparations and independence. The accession of Charles is of course putting this debate front and center. The remaining realms include Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Jamaica. Even before Elizabeth's death, the debate was raging, particularly in the Caribbean, where a confluence of factors, including the Black Lives Matter movement and recent scandal over Britain's mistreatment of migrants from the British West Indies after World War II, cast a harsh spotlight on the sins of empire. I suspect this type of rhetoric to increase going forward, as Charles will never have the reverence some people had with the Queen.

This came in late last week and a warning to excessive phone use, go back to a desktop or laptop is my advice. The important legal case, Murray v. Motorola, case no. 2001 CA 008479 B in D.C. Superior Court, is holding evidentiary hearings before Judge Irving. The hearings began September 12 and will run through September 30, this is a lawsuit that was filed in 2001 by a group of plaintiffs who got brain cancer from their cell phones. The defendants are virtually the entire telecommunications industry: Verizon, Sprint, AT&T, T-Mobile, Bell South, Bell Atlantic, Motorola, Qualcomm, Samsung, SONY, Sanyo, Nokia, the CTIA, the FCC and dozens of other telecommunications companies. In 2001 and 2002, Michael Patrick Murray and five other people, all of whom had brain tumors located beneath where they had held their cell phones, sued the telecommunications industry for damages. In 2010 and 2011, seven more brain cancer victims joined the case as additional plaintiffs. Because of delaying tactics and appeals by the industry defendants, this case has bounced back and forth from one court to another for 21 years. A majority of the plaintiffs have meanwhile died. Evidence and expert testimony are being taken beginning this week, and then, barring additional delays, the case will finally go before a jury. It will be interesting to see how that unfolds, not sure whether they can or will get a successful conclusion, because the clowns are banking on everyone having a phone, for the banking, UBI, security, data, spying and tracking purposes.

Here is another example of wasted money and also no doubt includes money laundering, just like the Canadian Hockey group dealings. The federal government in Canada says, it will prioritize direct funding for community groups under Canada's first ever federal LGBTQ2S+ action plan. Stating that they are the best-placed organizations to identify and deliver the support needed, to address persisting inequities and improve the wellbeing of LGBTQ2S+ individuals in this country. Through the plan, the government is also pledging to study emerging criminal justice issues such as HIV non-disclosure; adopt the usage of the more inclusive 2SLGBTQI+ acronym; and launch an awareness campaign aimed at combatting discrimination. All of these issues, the government says, were raised as concerns from members of the LGBTQ2S+ community during the years-long consultation process that informed the plan. In the 2022 federal budget the government earmarked $100 million to be spent over the next five years on implementing this plan. $20M a year to impose acronyms and deal with the over sensitivity of people? What about that money being spent on something useful? Like food banks and the homeless? The central plank, plank being the operative word, of this plan is now a commitment to direct 75 per cent of this money to community organizations, with the remainder largely focused on community research and awareness campaigns. Everybody is already aware of this, so why waste money, that countries haven't got, on agendas? Through pre-established funding streams, the government is promising to allocate $40 million for capacity-building grants for LGBTQ2S+ community organizations, that can be used to hire additional staff or improve record collection. Another $35 million will go towards funding a wide array of community-pitched projects, with the intention of providing longer-term sustainable funding for these initiatives. Women and Gender Equality Minister Marci Ien unveiled the long-awaited plan on Sunday alongside Prime Minister Justin Trudeau during Pride celebrations in Ottawa. The report's tagline is building our future, with pride. Are they saying they are a different species now? because that is what they are stating/revealing in overview. Become a designated woke based minority and get extra funding? Is what that reveals in stark clarity. It is well-known that 2SLGBTQI+ people continue to face significant challenges, including negative mental health impacts, underemployment, homelessness, harassment, bullying and violence. And those aspects should be addressed absolutely, but that is a society problem in general and that should not require special status or funding.

As two McLarens, two BMWs and a Lamborghini make up just a few of the $2 million worth of assets seized from a 23-year-old from Whitby, Ontario, as his investors try to recoup millions of dollars they handed over to the self-described Crypto King. But so far, Aiden Pleterski's assets fall far short of what his investors claim they're owed. Creditors are working to unravel where at least $35 million provided to Pleterski and his company AP Private Equity Limited for cryptocurrency and foreign exchange investments ended up, according to a fraud recovery lawyer and documents filed in two separate actions. Diane Moore invested $60,000 she had earmarked for her grandchildren's education after meeting Pleterski through someone she'd known for years. Now she's out $50,000. The whole thing was based on trust, Moore said. What Aiden has done, I think is awful and I don't know how he can live with himself. Whilst I have empathy with the investors, they did hand over the money themselves, something people neglect to look at. They made a choice to risk their own money in order to get richer quicker. Since when has there ever been a get rich quick scheme for the average person? The whole thing is based on trust, no, the whole thing was based on greed and stupidity. Handing over money for fresh air tokens and then wondering why it all disappeared, hello, it didn't exist to begin with. Some people you just can't teach it seems. Was what Pleterski doing wrong? absolutely it seems based on the evidence, but those who gave him funds are just as culpable for rank stupidity in my opinion. The sheer concept of crypto is utterly bizarre to me, not to mention it is the lead in for, the Metatronic Metaverse world.

A war of words broke out after one star spoke out, and the offended by everything crew jumped in. In her response to the backlash, Brittany Aldean wrote, advocating for the genital mutilation of children under the guise of love and calling it gender affirming care, is one of the worst evils. I will always support my children and do what I can do protect their innocence. Some parents want to be accepted by society so badly, that they're willing to make life-altering decisions for their children, who aren't old enough to fully comprehend the consequences of those actions. Love is protecting your child until they are mature enough as an adult to make their own life decisions. Until then, leave children alone. What a good and balanced statement from someone in the public eye that is, it is fairly refreshing to hear. But not to today's offended by everything, which is swift to condemn any person whose common sense conflicts with its banal script produced agendas.

Another inflammatory stupid comment designed to create trauma, fear and division, take a bow the UK chief of police. She said; women suffer sexual harassment simply by being in a room with men, a leading UK police chief has claimed. What a ridiculous comment that is, how is that helping any female? by putting them in fear, that to be in a room with men is now deemed sexual harassment. Women wonder why men don't ask them on dates anymore, there is one of your answers. It is amazing how these think tanks work with these mind control memes, and all listening should take note of this on a wider scale. Of how they broad sweep everyone with their divisive agendas. Only black lives matter, only transgender lives matter, pity the poor women and all that leaves is something I mentioned about a lack of back in Liverpool Social Services in the 1990's. Where is the support or concern for the white, the male and the heterosexual? By discounting all three groups, is that not racist, sexist and genderist all in one sentence? Are there bad men? absolutely, but let's isolate them and stop this broad sweeping of, all men are bastards. Bot level people are playing into the systems hands by going along with these child levels of stupidity.

This is the 4th and final part of our Positive Action groups effort called What you didn't know about Consent. Food Sovereignty: Securing our future food supply for our families is key to removing consent from the system. Grow your own food using heirloom seeds which are none GMO, join community gardens, save seeds, join a seed bank, join a local farmer's cooperative, support farm-to-table initiatives. Russia's summer dacha garden communities are a fantastic example of food self-reliance. Raw milk, eggs, cheese, butter, beef, pork and chicken can be found in most local areas.

Financial Sovereignty: Buy what we need, not what we greed. Do a personal inventory of all the useless purchases including food which goes to waste, and ask the question of, do we really need all that stuff? Voting with our dollars and refusing to buy subpar products, as most are laden with toxic chemicals and petroleum byproducts, all made by multinational corporations is an important step on the road to individual sovereignty. Many homemade products; such as home cleaning and skincare products are far superior and do not contain toxic chemicals and other harmful ingredients. Just say no to big box stores! Amazon, Walmart, etc. Stop shopping for convenience with food and grocery delivery services: Ubereats, Grubhub, Doordash. Consider a carshare or rideshare program locally or start your own. Many communities are beginning to share lawnmowers and much more.

I.T. Sovereignty:

Not allowing our data to be harvested: say no to any unnecessary Apps or stores asking for phone numbers or personal information. Check the fine print: Google, Facebook/Meta, Instagram and many more apps are selling our personal information for profit. Why are they doing that? Because we have neglected to address it and we have consented to it. With non-consent by the many, these things do not take place, it's that simple.

Spiritual Sovereignty: Freedom begins with knowing who and what we really are. Free will is the most powerful force in the Universe. As co-creators with the source of our consciousness, capable of manifestation; we are all ultimately responsible for raising the collective consciousness of this planet. We each bear an individual responsibility to ourselves, collective humanity and the planet to become spiritual adults. That is an important one for you all to remember, each of us has a responsibility on all levels. Be it the self, the family, teaching, governance, your state, country and the planet. It has been neglected in all those fields and if we are to correct things properly on this planet, this section is where you start.

Using Revocations:

The proper definition of a revocation is, the official cancellation of a decree, decision, contract or promise.

A revocation in this context is an out-loud statement that disconnects you from any person, situation or agreement, that you no longer give tacit (silent) consent to, but still has an energetic connection to you on the unseen levels of reality.

These connections often affect you for years after the original interactions with those events. Emotional trauma and abuse from childhood is a big example of this, or any dysfunctional relationship for that matter.

Revocations work by stating out loud your intentions, which by doing so, enters them in the Earth's Akashic record. This is your way of affirming and revoking any further contact with the energies that are holding you back in the present.

You do this by engaging with your, I Am presence energy.

This begins to release the bindings of many of the ways we have unknowingly given away our consent. It is important to note it is not just the physical cords and interactions that need attention, it is just as important in the non-physical cords and connections you have contracted with. The sexual partner cord lasts for 7 years, but energetically you can clear yourselves of the emotional cord attached to a previous partner. Often people neglect this following a split, the other partner can harvest your energy if you don't remove the emotional cord attachment. Cutting the emotional cord solves this issue, it may not please the other former partner as they are likely to go off course and feel the reduction in energy harvesting, but from your perspective you just have to observe, not absorb their energy.

Good Spiritual Hygiene:

Setting energetic boundaries is the first step to energetic hygiene. Start saying yes to time for yourself even if it is only 15 minutes and find out and say no to what doesn't serve you.

Decide what kind of day you're going to have and don't let anyone deter you from that. This declaration is more about mindset than situations, so hold this stance internally all day.

State your boundaries each morning to yourself.

A personal declaration of intent example: Your intuition will guide you here.

I am only willing to accept that which is for my best and highest good.

I am only willing to accept loving and high vibrational interactions.

I will lift others and I will lift myself.

Every time I help another, my vibration is raised as well, because it is for the best interest of all involved.

Negativity is not allowed in my experience; I only accept positive and fulfilling interactions.

Once we start stating these affirmations throughout each day, it is surprising how quickly our world shifts and how people's interactions with us change!

Writing a simple personal script for bedtime or am & pm example:

I do not consent to contracts with anyone or anything not serving my greatest and highest good. I do not consent to being in the simulation astral realm. I only wish to share dream space on the relevant plane to my soul development and don't wish to engage with those who play tricks to take me off of my development path.

Spiritual hygiene includes bathing:

Literally cleaning your psi field with the energy of water in the shower is a powerful practice, especially when coupled with intention setting. We should be bathing and cleansing our energy each and every day, (that is providing you have full running water lol)

Clearing, Centering, Grounding & Shielding is another important regular step for your own protection and wellbeing.

Start by clearing the ground beneath your feet and your psi field, for those who can see themselves, this will be easier. For those have not yet honed their ability to see, call in your higher self to allow you to view you. Can you see any holes in your field? Any wires sticking out? Any anomalies? Remove wires and anomalies and repair the holes in your fields. Now whilst viewing yourself, create a circle around you and seal beneath your feet, then start a 3-4 foot wide spiral going up your body in a cone shape, with no more than 6-9" between the rings. If done correctly, the spiral will be a mixture of blue and white light. If, as you are spiraling up, it stops or stalls, that is your opportunity to clear a blockage with a burst of energy from your feet to above your head. The spiral will start moving up again if you have cleared it. Bring it all the way up and into a point about 12" or so above your head. It should look like a blue and white cone. Set your weaponry to arm the shield, perhaps fire, swords, electric zapper or other tools, with the intention to ward away all entities not for your benefit. Get creative! This is unlimited to your imagination. We may also choose to ground to our highest spiritual path.

This is a very useful practice for during the day if you start to feel interference or, off.

Shadow work:

To heal and integrate the darkness of traumas within, shadow work/integration is vitally important. Seek to become whole and balanced, which is integrating the self aspect and you become the one doll, not a nest of dolls. Then we are better able to cope and no longer projecting onto others and adding negativity to the collective consciousness. Simply put, we create what we judge. Knowing all things have an appropriate place and time, even when we do not like or agree with it, means we are no longer fighting against life, but in co-creation with it. As long as we remain ignorant of our own shadow side, this will be projected, just like a loop-based movie or former planetary cycle. It is our obligation and responsibility to take ownership of our own contribution to the current state of the world, by loving and accepting ourselves as whole beings.

This booklet is intended to inform and inspire us all to take control of our lives and our consent.

It is our great pleasure to offer this material freely to all, as we accelerate on our journey of personal empowerment. Please stay tuned for future booklets from the TPC Communal Gatherings.

A fascinating booklet designed to help you all, that all came about by the efforts of people working together. You see it does work, things happen when committed people come together with sensible and common-sense ideas, and work together in a harmonic balance. That is devoid of unbalanced egos, competitive and comparative mindsets, and just letting the creative juices and collective consciousness flow.

EXPOSE: This is an expose of which some we have covered in the From his story to our story, but this connects it all together in a deep and disturbing way for all Americans. This completely is a re-write of his story again. The deathbed confessions and photos that support claims that George H. Scherf(f), Jr., was the 41st U.S. president, not the George HW Bush as the people were informed. According to Otto Skorzeny, pictured is the Scherff family and a few friends (circa 1938). Holding Mother Scherff's hand at left is Martin Bormann, in front is Reinhardt Gehlen, in the back is Joseph Mengele and to his right is Skorzeny as a young man. At center right in the German navy uniform is George H. Scherff, Jr. and his father George H. Scherff, Sr. Bormann became Hitler's second in command and Reinhardt Gehlen was a chief SS officer and assassin who was smuggled out of Germany under Operation Paperclip. Skorzeny was Hitler's bodyguard and SS spy/assassin who came to the U.S. after the war under Project Paperclip. Skorzeny and GHW Bush were instrumental in merging Nazi SS intelligence with the OSI to form the CIA with Wild Bill Donovan and Allen Dulles. Those guys were also part of CIA mind control experiments such as MK-ULTRA. SS officer and physician Joseph Mengele, the notoriously sadistic Angel of Death of Auschwitz, escaped Germany to South America after the war. George H. Scherff, Jr., became the 41st President of the United States as GHW Bush, his father George H. Scherff, Sr., who was Nicola Tesla's trusted assistant. What you are about to hear is another step beyond research pioneered in the early 90s by author/historian Webster Tarpley, based largely on deathbed clues provided by former Hitler bodyguard Otto Skorzeny and his box of photographs. Since Skorzeny's death in 1999, the various leads he provided have been followed up and tend to support what, at first blush, would appear to be the unbelievable rantings of an embittered old man. What remains constant as we pore through publicly available official records, private correspondence, memoirs, newspaper articles, photos and other clues is that, Bush family records (the ones that exist) are a puzzle palace of inconsistencies and curiosities. Since it is a congressionally established fact that Prescott Bush was in business with the Nazis during WWII, we can safely say that the Bush/Nazi connection existed. Who are the Bushes? How did they get connected with the Nazis? Is the connection still alive through U.S. presidents George H.W. Bush and George W. Bush? The answers are not as literal as we would like them to be. But we have the testimony of Otto Skorzeny and his photos, the first installment of an investigation that points to a curious conclusion: The Bush family was created to destroy America written by Don Nicoloff. What we are taught about history in American schools is not history, but a fairy tale, and I agree 100% and we have gone some way with our shows in correcting that. Better yet, it is propaganda designed to hoodwink an unsuspecting society about its true heritage, and the treasonous acts and sabotage that were conceived in order to bring about a New World Order. You are about to learn the real identities of those who have infiltrated your nation on behalf of secret societies, intent on bringing about the total slavery of mankind. In the past, others have written about the numerous conspiracies to control natural resources, energy, food and our sovereign right to live on planet Earth, not as slaves of a wealthy few, but as free men, women and children exercising the free will given to them by God. We will ignore the god part, as I would ask did you define which one? What if the "god" was the overlord of these wealthy over privileged EL-ites? Research is the systematic investigation into and study of materials and sources in order to establish facts and reach new conclusions. This is important research, listen carefully with an open mind he said. Considering the use of fluorides (sodium fluoride) in drinking water and toothpaste, you may already be in denial. Fluorides we are told are for the prevention of tooth decay, (M) you can decide if they really work. The real reason they are added to your drinking water and toothpaste, is to cause you to become psychologically and physically placid, and therefore, apathetic. A thought problem: Imagine you were a member of a secret organization whose sole agenda was to control the entire planet. If your plan was to accomplish this goal without being perceived by your intended victims, discretion would be paramount. Your organization would devise a series of historical events that, on the surface, would appear to be every day, happenstance occurrences. Like natural disasters, man-made diseases, acts of murder, assassination, terror, manipulation of money and energy supplies, contamination of foods, pollution of natural resources and war. The timing of these events would require patience, careful planning, cooperation from others in positions of trust, stealth and deceit. In essence, the whole mission must derive its power through deception and concealment and you must have a master plan. Who were the designers of this master plan? Follow along as we connect the dots. The master plan and indeed planner was Marduk, was being the operative word now, because what is left is, a bunch of followers, not leaders. The Master Plan: The arrival of the Bankers. At the turn of the 20th century, a plan to slowly take over the government of the United States began to unfold, which is not correct, they did that in 1871 and one could argue 1776. Many works have been written about the Nazi machine that instigated two world wars, though few have traced the footsteps of the foreign financiers and the actors we prefer to call politicians. A brief glance at shipping records, passenger manifests and financial transactions on Wall Street indicates a pattern of deception which was masterminded by this same machine. The level of cooperation from government agencies and their elected officials was not only disgraceful, but blatantly treasonous. In his book, The Creature from Jekyll Island author G. Edward Griffin described the secret meetings which created the Federal Reserve in 1913. The architect of the plan, Paul M. Warburg, was a representative of the Rothschild banks in England and France, and his brother Felix headed the Warburg banks in Germany and the Netherlands. Of significance is the fact that the first official media report about the Federal Reserve occurred three years later, which meant it was during WWI time and so people are pre-occupied. In Leslie's Weekly, B.C. Forbes described the secret meeting between Republican Senator Nelson W. Aldrich and six of the most powerful bankers in the world. That this meeting had to be conducted in a secret at a clandestine island location, indicates the level of deception, concealment and treason at work. Paul Warburg: That Paul Warburg, a German national, spoke English well enough to craft a financial document, a volume consisting of 1,750 pages resulting in the Federal Reserve Act, designed to control the finances of the United States from Europe was no small feat. The report does not state in particular who that was, we of course know it as The Crown. Of particular interest was, how Warburg was able to establish these important connections prior to his arrival in the U.S. in 1913 and then orchestrate this financial coup. Warburg had to have known his co-conspirators before coming to America. The first official record of Paul Warburg's trip to the U.S. appeared in the Kaiser Wilhelm II passenger manifest, upon arrival at Ellis Island, October 13, 1903. The official manifest on line 7 lists a Mr. P. Warburg, age 35; Occupation: Banker; Nationality: American; Heritage: German; Last Residence: Hamburg; Final Destination: New York; Home: 3 E. 82nd St., New York. In fact, Paul Warburg claimed he was an American in 1903. Was this claim valid in 1903? Of special interest in this October 13, 1903 passenger manifest, is the fact that other prominent passengers in the elite financial community were also on the same passenger manifest. Harry Sachs of Goldman Sachs is listed as a passenger but, unlike Warburg, he was not required to declare his destination or his address. In fact, of the 30 passengers listed on page 293 of the Ellis Island database of ship and passenger arrivals, P. Warburg was the only passenger required to declare his destination. Was this an attempt to establish Warburg's nationality? Suspiciously, the second half of the page is missing from the database, so we are not privileged with pertinent and official information as to his place of birth, nor his physical description on this occasion. Future arrivals to the Port of New York would shed more light on these issues. The record keeping by the Immigration Office on October 13, 1903, was not merely sloppy. It appears that Warburg and other passengers were not scrutinized to the extent required by law, and were assisted in entering the country with special, yet illegal considerations. Just like the modern day versions pouring through the Southern border, what future history will they make? Unlike earlier or later arrivals, immigration officers were permitted or instructed to be lax and obviously negligent, in their duties, particularly where destinations and birthplaces were of concern. It is likely all the Immigration officers were paid Mafia or other criminal elements, and proves this plan was in place long before 1903, and likely goes back 40 years previously when they tried and failed to take over the American banking system. Warburg's second arrival to the U.S. on the SS Deutschland was similar to his first. Though still a "U.S. citizen" in 1905, he was demoted to merchant. However, on a third arrival in 1906, Warburg was, once again, a banker. His memory had failed him on this third trip, when he declared he had never been to the U.S. previously. Neither had his wife and two children, who had travelled with him on prior trips. He had also forgotten about his home in New York City, too, when he claimed he had no address in the United States. On this visit, Warburg declared Hamburg, Germany as his place of birth. Incredibly, on a later visit to the U.S., Warburg claimed he was officially a naturalized citizen, citing the Circuit Court of New York City, March 21, 1911, as the place and date where he had been bestowed his citizenship. Despite Warburg's earlier proclamations, he was not declared a U.S. citizen until that time. Warburg thereby committed perjury, which was overlooked on numerous occasions by the Immigration Service officials, seemingly an act of treason on each occurrence. During subsequent visits to the U.S. in 1910, 1912 and 1913, while again proclaiming his U.S. citizenship, Warburg referred to 17 E. 80th St., New York as his home address. Not once was there any mention of his association with the Rothschild banks in Paris and London, and his permanent residency in Europe, not in America. Why the deception? The deception is one thing, but the inability for Immigration officers to not do their jobs, has cost everyone born or coming to this country ever since. This in essence is part of Operation Paperclip one, the latter 40 years later only came to enhance the first operation. Paperclip clip was in essence a full scale invasion of this country, that involved the Government, Agencies and Militaries. Their dereliction of duty has combined to destroy this country from within, like a malignant cancer with poisonous cells placed everywhere. James Loeb: Not to be outdone, James Loeb, a partner in the Kuhn, Loeb & Company banking firm in New York City, traveled with Warburg on October 13, 1903. Loeb declared his U.S. citizenship on this trip, though he apparently suffered from amnesia in 1910, neglecting to declare any country of origin and later in 1912, declaring to the U.S. Immigration Service that his birthplace was Landsberg, Germany, a small town west of Munich. Loeb also indicated that he was staying with Mr. Warburg, clearly at that stage Warburg was a permanent fixture. Amnesia must have been a disease that plagued most German bankers at the turn of the century. The disease didn't stop there and soon spread to institutes of higher education. Harvard University Press published a memorial biography to the founder of the Loeb Classical Library, bequeathed to Harvard University by none other than James Loeb, one year after his death in 1933. No surprise Harvard was involved they like other Institutions of their ilk, have been part of the takeover of this country from the start. James Loeb was born August 6, 1867, in New York City, the son of Solomon and Betty (Goldberg) Loeb, which would make him another born in and born to, but if it was Germany, why do they list it as New York? Does that provide immunity protection? even before the advent of the UN state within a state deal? Solomon was a partner and founder of the banking firm, Kuhn, Loeb & Company. Certainly, Harvard University would have known where Loeb was born and, for that matter, so would have Loeb. If this quotation were true, then what would have caused Loeb to state to the INS in 1912 that he was born in Landsberg, Germany? The Harvard Press biography did little to legitimize the matter of Loeb's birthplace, though it was a valiant attempt. Still, if there remained any confusion, the U.S. Immigration Service could have clarified the issue based on the information it had acquired in 1903 and again in 1910. But that was not the agency's intention. The Immigration and Naturalization Service agents were complicit in hiding James Loeb's true birthplace, and his association with financiers of the future German Nazi Party, an act which was aided and abetted by the sloppy, incomplete immigration records kept at Ellis Island and the Port of New York. That was part of the deception. Yes, he lived and worked in New York and may have attended Harvard University. But, considering the connections Kuhn, Loeb & Company had to the banks that supported the Nazis through money-laundering activities until getting caught in 1942, it was most likely that Loeb (like Warburg) had been groomed for his role in order to maintain the founders of this master plan bloodline. There were other inconsistencies in the Harvard Press biography, again, based upon the above-mentioned records. In the winter of 1891 a severe illness possibly depression obliged him to give up business, and he spent the summer traveling in Scandinavia, returning to banking again only until January 1 1902, when he retired due to renewed health problems, perhaps it was Amnesia? given he couldn't remember where he was born. Or perhaps he underwent an early version of MK Ultra? Either way it appears the missing 11 years he was being groomed for a role by the EL-ites. James Loeb could not have traveled and returned to the United States during 1892, unless he had swum upon his return trip. The first of his three voyages to Ellis Island from Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm II arrived on October 13 1903, as previously mentioned. It was unlikely he would have returned to any port of entry other than New York, unless he had arrived at some other secret location. Remember at that time there were no transatlantic airline flights in 1903, and so the Harvard story had to have been a fabrication intended to hide some dark secret. Considering the sizable endowments Loeb lavished upon Harvard and other notable educational, medical and art institutions in Boston and New York, it was most advantageous for Harvard to portray Loeb as a philanthropist and victim of depression, than as a German banker whose father's company supported the master planners war machine before and during two world wars. According to further reminiscent accounts, he retired to a quieter place, his farm at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, before moving to Germany in 1905, where he stayed except for a period during World War I until his death in 1933. Evidently, Harvard was unaware of two more trips documented by the Federal Government that Loeb made to New York in 1910, and again in 1912. It was no coincidence that Loeb's return trips to the U.S. as an on-again, off-again U.S. citizen, were all orchestrated to accommodate Paul Warburg's meetings with Wall Street bankers of German persuasion, as they plotted to create the Federal Reserve System, a foreign entity. On graduation, he received an offer through his teacher and friend Charles Eliot Norton to study Egyptology in Paris and London. Funny how the Egypt connection always comes up in these pieces isn't, Egypt being the precursor to the Israel group. Norton was the appointed professor of history of art at Harvard University from 1856 to 1874. Norton spent much time in travel and residence on the continent of Europe and in England, and was the first president of the Archaeological Institute of America. According to his biography at wikipedia.org. It would seem that Egypt was a more suitable location for studying Egyptology than Paris and London, except that was where Paul Warburg managed the Rothschild banks. Meaning that the Harvard Art Institute was another clown based front organization. Loeb died in Munich in 1933, lending belated credence to his 1912 assertion to the INS, that he was born in Landsberg, Germany and was a German citizen never having previously been in America. Oh the tales they weave, and oh how easy it was for them to get up to their master plan, by buying off some institutions and appearing to run the Immigration centers for their own ill intentions. I guess no one there at the time saw them coming, but future generations would pay heavily for that ignorance and blindness.

OTHER PIECES: An interesting movie trailer for Halloween and the Michael Myers violence and gore series. What intrigued me was is the line; this is the last Halloween for Michael. Now we know they like to be cryptic and put things in movies as fiction, but is actually fact? But it made me ponder as my thinking was it was about another Michael? Archangel Michael and his last Halloween. Is that prophetic? Think of the Cosmic Genetic series and events earlier this year in May.

Scientists are beginning to touch on subjects again that have been covered in our show, but not yet ready to make the captain obvious leap, when even in the words they state they miss the most obvious clues. So-called cracks in the Earth's magnetic field have led to spectacular aurora light shows being seen in the skies, despite there not having been a solar storm to generate them. Clue 1. According to spaceweather.com, this is called the Russell-McPherron effect, with cracks in the magnetic field letting more solar wind pass through during the equinoxes, i.e. during the spring and fall equinoxes, where both the day and night are the same length. The Russell-McPherron effect is more of a geometrical effect to do with the orientation of the solar wind's magnetic field and that of the Earth. There is always a cusp or open region of the Earth's magnetic field around the north and south poles so the cracks' are permanent, Ciaran Beggan, a geophysicist from the British Geological Survey. Clue 2, there is always a cusp or open region of the Earth's magnetic field around the north and south poles so the cracks' are permanent, indeed. It is those two open regions that are the direct cause of the aurora lights, as the "solar wind" is within, not the one without that is the cause. Yet again science focuses entirely on the effects, this is the most obvious example yet.

The Covid scam has brought much fear, suffering and pain, not due to the Covid itself, as that is just a variant of the flu, but many other avenues. The Media and the control structure exercising their might over the people, the experts and the sanctimonious jobsworths in the hospital, schools and businesses. The latter of which proved, give people a little power and it goes to their heads, which is why it should be shared equally. It brought us much pain in the Alt Media, as we were denigrated, cast aside like some modern day leper, all for telling people within our own circle and beyond, the truth. What that has revealed is something this show has stated a number of times, people don't like the truth, people are not nice to each other, people are in general pretty stupid and people will go to the most bizarre lengths to believe in a rectangle box with animated figures inside of it. That concept has always puzzled me to the extreme, until I found out more of the subtle MK Ultra connected to the TV. It is in and of itself a bizarre concept, that a piece of technology can not only sway your opinion, but ensconce it to a point of defending it to the hilt. This also proves something else we have stated is a problem, education. Because what is the point of education, if your opinion and belief structure and being formed by a rectangle box? By people in the box you have likely never met, or only see just before (S)election time? The TV renders your whole education pointless in essence, because they tell you what to believe. One could possibly deduce from that is, what is the point of having a brain also? If you are not going to think for yourself, what is the point of having a brain for those people? The brain is not their own, it is programmed by a machine, what a bizarre concept, the crown of creation has no brain. All of which means they are living version of Tin Man, the definition of the original tin man in 1890 long before The Wizard of Oz mind control episodes? A human turned into a machine, now can you see? The pain of the Covid scam will touch most families if the expected drop off continues, and possibly increases depending on which batch of jobs the people took. But, Covid has brought us much in lessons and in overview benefits as well. For the so called conspiracy theorists it is a boon time, as we have all been proven right time and time again, so much so, that the weak and pathetic control system has tried to ban truth. Which proves the whole event is run on lies, not only on Covid but most things. All walks of life, society, culture and systems are mostly run on a lie, mass confusion or with a drastic or key component of knowledge missing. The Covid showed just how weak those in so called authority positions are, how incompetent they are, how our whole system of life and society is broken, and has shown what I have stated since January 1st 2013, nothing works anymore. It has allowed all of us to withstand great tests of courage and set personal boundaries, develop tolerance, balance and patience, the latter of which is pretty endemic in this country.

It has allowed us to overcome the rejection syndrome and still stand tall, as we got discarded or dismissed by own our families and circles. It has allowed us to overcome loneliness and to recognize our own company can be more than enough, and not just tolerate the numbers of people around you. Those people were all actors within your own movie, at some point you have to become the director and the lead actor in the greatest movie ever written, called your own life. The rejections has allowed us the space to work on ourselves, in terms of soul development, personal development, of how we think, act and react, far from the restrains of the tin man people. It brought something else that is likely overlooked by many, as too many do not overview life, only a personal perspective, work on that as it brings great wisdom and understandings. People are learning to value themselves more, so how has that unfolded? In the workplace, a bastion of control via wages and the struggles in life it brings. People are walking away from those under paid and under respected jobs and saying goodbye to that level permanently. This is a massive boon for we the people, as the control system and the shekels industries relies on people not valuing themselves enough, to accept shit jobs and shit pay. The Covid scam has appeared to have put an end to that, and that is the greatest thing for us all. Because when more people start to value themselves in balance, the rest of the world can be viewed with much different eyes, of just how bad and broken it is and was. Because then more people can come together and fix it.

The world the clowns wish us to have, whilst they live in lavish luxury is something everyone needs to not only be aware of, but work to counteract it. In their future world in planning, everyone else will be granted the freedom to not work, exclusively surviving off of CBDC social credit score based UBI, that grants them rationed bug-based meals while they are decarbonized or depopulated. Assuming that one's social credit data never turns any history of protesting, or committing thought crimes of any kind, because any kind of aberrant behavior will disqualify you for UBI. But also, a reeducation camp holiday that ends in your happy recycling into green new deal compliant energy sludge, that will be used to power an elite's Tesla. The Cult has been socially engineering climate change ever since they founded in 1968 The Club of Rome. These sociopaths have been priming the planet for decades with this penultimate scheme of theirs, in order to usher in their hyper-centralized technocracy. Welcome to the bot world of the Metaverse.

In our world, the clowns, EL-ites, chosen ones, Royals and all other who thought they run this world are all on borrowed time. Some of the lead ones have already gone and will meet their maker, they will not like what they experience. Others like Kissinger who has been pursued for millenia, will finally end their reign of personal darkness and suffer the same fate. With the Earth and Solar quarantine in place, and the no one in and no one out policy holding steady for around 9 years now, they know they are up shits creek without a paddle this time. In their arrogance thought they would overcome it with science and technology, they thought wrong despite desperate attempts to do so. The CERN project was the most obvious, that was curiously displayed in the series called The Event, all the same pattern you see. The CERN program was to propel them out of this galaxy altogether, despite MSM's recent attempts to debunk it, it failed. And despite program people and Agency clowns in the Alt Media trying to convince you differently, that program is dead in the water. This is why they are proposing to build a new one, and that reveals the original is not fit for purpose, just by basic logic and overview. But some Alt Media are no different to the MSM version, promoting sensationalized stories and fear, all to generate interest. With headlines like world exclusive and listen to this before it is taken down, it's all mind control themes adopted by the very same people, who the Alt Media is trying to stop or take down. So, what is their new version to escape their destiny? Use an old Stargate episode and try and re-engineer humans for life longevity, and bide time in the hope they will find a way round their earthly trap. This is what the transhuman game is all about, their desperate attempt to delay the sands of time, and come up with another solution to change the game in their favor. One of the plots unearthed out of the failed looking glass technology to fix this was, to take a CIA/Black Sun agent who is a scientist to develop a time travel machine before the end of this century. The Trustee was involved in that also. Which brought swift condemnation from me when we were working together. Whether it was her naivety or malintent made no difference to me, and I told straight that will not be happening. The only people who need or want time machines is, dark forces, period. To change what is unfolding now, and back to them running the show, not happening I can tell you and them. The potential of us reaching the void for the full change appears to be closer now than ever, and all will go through that void as equals, something they cannot face. Due to the possibility the void will void them as a too darkened soul. Their ti-me is running out on them, and they are desperately seeking a way out of the inevitable Event. For hundreds if not thousands of years now many souls have been lured over to the dark forces, in the deluded thinking that they could create the Event quicker by going and being a darkened soul. But, it was all a trick played on, just like the Golden Ticket and many other promises they were all given. They got their titles, they got their wealth, they got their own self-importance, and wallowed in the grandeur of it all. But like all magic it comes at a price, despite all their money it is a price they cannot pay. But, all the while the Matrix clock was ticking down, the sand began to speed up on the Cosmic egg timer and panic set in. Ah the Set entity another of their savior programs, hence the term the Great ReSET, there will be a reset, in fact it is unfolding now, just not their type of engineered reset. Set like Marduk played these entities all along, on a merry dance of darkness and death, all because they couldn't face themselves or reality. There is a lesson for us all in there, will you replicate it and them, or think and act different? The clowns continue to do their sacrifice rituals in a desperate attempt to get the gods to come back and save them, all very childlike is it not? The parent gods have to come and save the children, how pathetic is that? Again there is a lesson for us all in that as well, as no matter which god you think you worship, he, she or it will not be coming to save us either. Why? because it is time we learned to save ourselves and each other, we will never do that with "Parents" looking after us all the time. It didn't work for the last 16500 years, or even further back than that, it won't work now or in the future. It is out of time for us to grow up and develop ourselves beyond kindergarten level and embrace a new adult way of being, living and acting. Our role of playing children in a sadistic dark comedy play is now over, it is out of time for us to re-align with Source and integrate more of our selves to get our greatest asset flowing again. That is creativity, be creative with and of yourself, and then learn to be creative with others. Build it and they will come.

ENDING PIECE: In their world some things never change new faces same policies, repeat after repeat. 38 years ago, in the Orwellian year of 1984, there launched a puppet show called Spitting Image. A raucous and near the knuckle truth about politicians mainly, although celebrities were mercilessly at times made fun of. It was a show that was pulling people apart in a humorous way, unless of course you were the victim of the satire. It was a fact based show done in a fictional way. Back then the UK was in the middle of what is known as the Thatcher years, and references to the Conservatives all being Nazis was prevalent back then. The most powerful of which was when they showed Thatcher and her cabinet socializing with the German SS to the Hitler Youth song, which was strangely written by two Jews, tomorrow belongs to me. In 1984 there was a woman in charge with just below the ear length blonde/reddish hair, who in the show used to cuddle up and get saucy with the American counterpart and Langley 1 agent, Ronald Reagan. In 1984 there was sexual scandal about the Government candidates involving homosexuality, under age and general debauchery. In 1984 there was a leading publisher of trashy headlines called Maxwell. In 1984 the US and UK leaders in the show wore masks. Fast forward to 2022, we have another woman in the UK hotseat, with blonde/reddish hair of a similar length. We have sexual scandal involving politicians and many others via the UK and USA initiated by a Maxwell. We have politicians now acting like or being Nazis with a new version of KKK with Antifa and the DNC party. Today we have an acting American President wearing a mask in classic Spitting Image style. I guess the analogy of his story is, some things will never change, time all but an illusion and an overlay of news and events all designed to repeat. We the people are biding (Biden) our time here for a new launch and the UK will need more than a Truss to support the now crumbling former Empire of the UK and the emaciated cesspool of corruption, fraud, deceit and warmongering of the latest Empire known as USA. Britain needs to return to the status of Albion and the USA back to America, only we the people can do that by doing something they seem incapable of, doing something different. Only then will the song change, not in a Mandela Effect but something we developed, from Tomorrow belongs to me, to Tomorrow belongs to us.
