

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2022-10-13

The TPC Gardening and Non-GMO Communal Gathering have been sharing ideas on soil improvement. Key solutions include saving charcoal from wood burning stoves, activating and inoculating it, to add to the soil. We discussed techniques for collecting mycorrhizal fungi and bacteria from the base of old growth trees. Finding mineral sources from local gravel outcroppings and adding diluted sea water to soil was discussed. There is a strong consensus that there will be major cost savings, as people learn to make their own fertilizers and natural insect repellents. We can create an ongoing bacterial life cycle that greatly reduces the need for soil additives, and eventually makes the soil completely self-sustaining and healthy. For the Gardening Guide, there has been discussion about a section with general gardening information on topics such as soil development, starting a new garden, natural and organic farm practices and climate growing zones. Weekly zooms continue on Saturdays at 9:00 am MST or 11:00 am EST and the zoom link can be found in the Community Gatherings Forum under the Gardening CG Zoom Link Topic.

Fantastic news from THI followers from Germany, as we get to hear of the first village in Europe being created. Germany has huge potential it seems, with a big property of 42 hectares or around 100 acres and a completely empty village. But that is not all, as Portugal is expected to follow soon when everything turns out well. This is what it is all about, us all coming together and working diligently for the greater good of all. Perhaps either of those two villages when built may encourage members from Europe or Scandinavia to move and so you can all be together. Why complain where you live and tolerate bot level people, when soon you could join a community of like-minded people and all care and share.

Final touches on the Blueprint is being readied, and work on the other pieces connected is over half way through to be ready for presenting in another show. The website for the blueprint is being developed, as are the logistics for receiving of correspondence, which may require me setting up a P.O Box for the delivery. I may also need a designated landline for call as well. We are exploring setting up two twitter accounts for thi-show and the new blueprint, looking for people to step forward and help with the set up and also the running of them on a daily basis. Which will require you to post memes, documents and/or files and general data about THI and potentially the TPC. Let's not leave it all up to Kellie, let's have more versions like Kellie sharing the workload please. This coming Tuesday will bring a new type of show, a tiny show if you like, half as long as regular shows like an extended expose.

NEWS: Another reason revealed why the Blueprint is important to get out far and wide once it is finalized. The nation's gross national debt has surpassed $31 trillion, according to a U.S. Treasury report released Tuesday that logs America's daily finances. Edging closer to the statutory ceiling of roughly $31.4 trillion, an artificial cap Congress placed on the U.S. government's ability to borrow, the debt numbers hit an already tenuous economy facing high inflation, rising interest rates and a strong U.S. dollar. All of which was deliberately engineered by the service to self greed-based shekel beings. The Congressional Budget Office earlier this year released a report on America's debt load, warning in its 30-year outlook that, if unaddressed, the debt will soon spiral upward to new highs that could ultimately imperil the U.S. economy. It already has, it is bankrupt and has been since the harvesting center known as the Federal Reserve docked the Maritime ship on dry land. In its August Mid-Session review, the administration forecasted that this year's budget deficit will be nearly $400 billion lower than it estimated back in March, due in part to stronger than expected revenues, reduced spending, and an economy that has recovered all the jobs lost during the multi-year pandemic. In full, this year's deficit will decline by $1.7 trillion, representing the single largest decline in the federal deficit in American history, the Office of Management and Budget said in August. Most of which was used to bail out shekel people and Black Sun based cronies, and also in part to keep the docile public at bay. Nothing like a few shekels to make people forget just how shit our lives are or the mess the country is in, is there?

Texas Department of Public Safety officials, interdicted an aviation-based human smuggling attempt at an airport in the border city of McAllen. The DPS special agent found 19 migrants onboard, after his pilot ordered air traffic controllers to ground the aircraft. Texas DPS officials in McAllen received a tip about three vehicles dropping off a group of suspected migrants at McCreery Aviation Company at the local airport. A DPS special agent and aircraft pilot working under Governor Greg Abbott's Operation Lone Star border security mission, ordered air traffic controllers to ground a Raytheon fixed-wing twin-engine aircraft. A ramp check led to a search of the aircraft where the special agent found 19 migrants seated in the aircraft preparing to be flown to Houston. DPS contacted Border Patrol agents who identified the 19 as illegal immigrants from Central America. The group included 12 males and seven females, officials stated. The Texas DPS Criminal Investigations Division and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Homeland Security Investigations are continuing the investigation into the failed human smuggling incident at the Texas airport. Elsewhere in the Rio Grande Valley Border Patrol Sector, Texas DPS and National Guard soldiers working under Operation Lone Star assisted Border Patrol agents in apprehending another group of migrants. Teamwork between the federal and state law enforcement agencies led to the apprehension of 14 migrants who attempted to hide in the brush. Nice to see some people prepared to defend the country, even if the DNC won't.

Personally, I find this amusing, although not for the asylum seekers. The number of people in New York City shelters is setting new records daily, amid the unyielding arrival of asylum seekers bussed from Texas and elsewhere. On Friday, New York Mayor Eric Adams declared a state of emergency, and announced an executive order to suspend land use requirements to help the city cope with the influx of people. Adams said he was angry the city's compassion was being exploited by others for political gain, perhaps he should look closer at home, as the last thing I would describe the city of New York is, compassionate. He also called it a humanitarian crisis that is being accelerated by American politics dynamics. Well, Mr. Adams you need to address the cause not the effect, as policy in New York via the UN and policy in Washington via think tanks are the problem. There are 61,000 people currently in the shelter system, straining our ability to care for

New Yorkers in need. Funny no one cared for the Southern States to deal with this crisis? no one asked or offered support financial or otherwise. But now it is in New York, it suddenly becomes a problem? It was a problem whilst Obama was in, and still hasn't been addressed. He expects the city will have spent $1 billion by the end of the fiscal year. There are 5,500 migrant children enrolled in city schools. Although our compassion is limitless, our resources are not, this is unsustainable. Yep, another ouroboros policy backfiring it seems.

Jackass California Gov. Gavin Newsom, who recently tried to blame the massive net exodus of residents from his state on a Trump administration policy, took to Twitter last Thursday to blame oil companies for rising gasoline prices. Here are the facts, he wrote on Oct. 6. Crude oil prices are down and yet, gas prices are up. No shit sherlock. He said, that's because greedy oil companies are ripping you off, they are raking in record profits at your expense, bit like politicians then. Notice he neglected to say that him or any other politician over the past 100 or so years, has done nothing to rein those companies in? all too busy taking backhanders of their lobbyists is why. The truth is, by the time Newsom sent that tweet, crude oil prices had been rising sharply for two weeks, up about 16% as of Newsom's tweet, and they have continued to rise since, to their highest point since August. So even Newsom's basic factual assertion about oil prices being down was untrue, a classic deflection tactic. More importantly, though, oil prices are not the only factor affecting gasoline prices. This is something that the governor of an anti-gasoline state such as California should especially appreciate. California is known for having the nation's highest gasoline prices, currently far above all other states at $6.33 per gallon, in part because it requires unique gasoline blends under state law that purport to limit pollution. That adds a lot of expense, but even that isn't the only issue, as a top executive from Valero, the oil refining and fuel supply company, pointed out in a brutal letter to state officials days before Newsom's tweet. They got a much more forceful response than they had bargained for from Scott Folwarkow, Valero's vice president for state government affairs. For Valero, California is the most expensive operating environment in the country and a very hostile regulatory environment for refining, wrote Folwarkow. California policymakers have knowingly adopted policies with the expressed intent of eliminating the refinery sector. California requires refiners to pay very high carbon cap-and-trade fees and burdened gasoline with cost of the low carbon fuel standards. With the backdrop of these policies, not surprisingly, California has seen refineries completely close or shut down major units. When you shut down refinery operations, you limit the resilience of the supply chain. We believe the commission experts understand that California cannot mandate a unique fuel that is not readily available outside of the West Coast, and then burden or eliminate California refining capacity and expect to have robust fuel supplies. California's entire state government, legislative and executive, is completely clueless about energy policy. Only a state government this badly run could try to force everyone to buy electric cars, only to be forced into begging users not to charge them, because the state's global warming laws are preventing it from generating and delivering enough electricity at peak hours. (M) Already, California is overly reliant on importing electricity from other states and on unreliable renewable energy generation methods that cannot be called up on demand, such as nuclear, coal and natural gas power. California is the only state in the country to suffer from regular rolling blackouts. Those blackouts are a choice, the choice you make when you vote for Newsom and other Democrats. Many Californians are making a different choice by moving away. Hopefully, they can all afford the gasoline they need to get out of California. The ultimate in ouroboros states, no wonder they call it LaLa land, completely deluded, out of touch with reality and worse, out of touch with its own people. California like New York needs to sink due to its own greed and stupidity, from elected officials and the stupid people who voted for them.

The Paycheck Protection Program, which was part of the CARES Act of 2020, was launched under former President Donald Trump in response to the Covid-19 pandemic and continued into the Joe Biden era. Some PPP loans were investigated by federal officials and flagged for potential fraud. But according to a Project on Government Oversight (POGO) report released on Thursday, the Trump Administration eliminated an abundance of flags during its final weeks in office. Truthout's Sharon Zhang reports that according to POGO's report, Small Business Administration (SBA) officials eliminated 2.7 million flags between December 2020 and January 2021, as the Administration was in its lame duck period. In an article Zhang notes, special preference was given to the largest loans, which often also went to the largest corporations. On January 16, 2021, four days before President Joe Biden's inauguration, Trump's SBA wiped 99 percent of special review flags, which were given out to every loan above $2 million for separate investigatory purposes. Yet people still believe Trump was a man of the people, what that reveals is, he kowtowed to the financial elites and gave them a bail out in essence. Biden and crew is no different, they are using this to score political points. The simple answer or question to that is, what has the Biden crew done in nearly two years to return those loans back to the peoples fund? the government is supposed to manage. The answer is zero, and so no different to Trump. The lesser of two evils is still evil and not a choice we should be making.

More allegations that support what THI has long stated, surrounding the illegal activities within the top echelons of the FBI. A top Republican senator revealed whistleblower allegations and internal Justice Department records showing that, in an effort to avoid being held accountable, hundreds of employees at the FBI either resigned or retired from the bureau after being accused of sexual misconduct. Sen. Chuck Grassley made his findings public in a Thursday letter to Attorney General Merrick Garland and FBI Director Christopher Wray, stating that the allegations and records, paint a disgraceful picture of abuse that women within the FBI have had to live with for years. Lawful, protected whistleblower disclosures provided to my office, include allegations and records that show hundreds of FBI employees have retired or resigned because of sexual misconduct allegations against them, and that they did so in order to avoid accountability, Grassley said. This abuse and misconduct are outrageous and beyond unacceptable. The Republican senator said he was not making the whistleblower documents public due to concerns about unlawful retaliation. That is the coercion and blackmail game that we have provided a solution for. He added that, the facts make clear that female employees are the primary victims. Grassley also cited an internal, unclassified Justice Department document from the Office of Disciplinary Appeals titled; retirements and resignations during unwelcome sexual conduct adjudications, with data through Dec. 23, 2020. The DOJ reviewed the FBI's disciplinary case database, Javelin, to observe patterns and offer recommendations. The results of that DOJ investigation found that, from 2004 until the end of the review, 665 FBI employees, including 45 Senior Executive Service-level employees, have retired or resigned following an FBI or DOJ inspector general investigation into alleged misconduct, but prior to the Office of Professional Responsibility's issuance of a final disciplinary letter. And neither the FBI, DOJ, the police or any other law enforcement operations took any actions to administer justice or correct the cover up? We are paying for these people to do just that, me thinks they should all be fired or resign for a derelict of duty to the public.

The Federal Reserve's fight to squash inflation will cause the US economy to start losing tens of thousands of jobs a month beginning early next year, Bank of America warns. Although the jobs market remained surprisingly strong in September, the Fed is working hard to change that by aggressively raising interest rates to ease demand for everything from cars and homes to appliances. They don't want us to own nothing remember, will everything be rent only, if not where is the money coming from to sustain their greed-based lifestyles? Did they think of that? Or are they running another failure-based ouroboros program? The pace of job growth is expected to be roughly cut in half during the fourth quarter of this year. As pressure from the Fed's war on inflation builds, nonfarm payrolls will begin shrinking early next year, translating to a loss of about 175,000 jobs a month during the first quarter. Charts published by Bank of America suggest job losses will continue through much of 2023. The premise is a harder landing rather than a softer one, said Michael Gapen, head of US economics at Bank of America. In a perfect world, the Fed would slow the jobs market enough to get inflation back to healthy levels, but not so much that it causes significant and persistent job losses. The Fed are not interested in anything that benefits we the people, they need to be deleted asap. Bank of America doesn't think the Fed will be able to pull that off. We are looking for a recession to begin in the first half of next year, Gapen said. In reality land, we have been in a recession since 2007, we never came out of it. Only their Johns Hopkins math thinks we came out of the recession, because there is no evidence of such in relation to the people. The great question is: are they cutting jobs because there is not enough to do them?

Big problems in Germany as well with the same program. Amidst soaring inflation, particularly for food and energy, the gap between rich and poor in Germany is widening. Incremental increases to social safety nets will do little to alleviate the problem, experts warn. Although Germany is one of the richest countries in the world, signs of increasing poverty are becoming increasingly visible across the country. Homeless people sleeping rough, mothers forgoing meals in order to feed their children, pensioners looking for discarded bottles to trade for the deposit. According to the Paritätische Wohlfahrtsverband, Germany's umbrella organization for welfare organizations, 13.8 million Germans either live in poverty or are at risk of slipping below the poverty line. That is 1 in 6 or 16-17% of the population, I guess East Germany has returned again. The German government also voices its concerns about the growing gap between rich and poor. Voices yes, NATO in reality, No Action Talk Only.

The term poverty in this context does not mean that millions of people in Germany are at risk of starving or freezing to death. Instead, it refers to relative poverty, which is measured by the average living conditions of the society in question. There they go trying to mince words, like a lawyer or a pharmaceutical company, poverty is poverty.

In 2021, Germany was ranked the twentieth richest country in the world, measured by GDP per capita. This means that if you add up the value of all the goods and commodities produced in a country and divide the figure by the number of inhabitants, you get $50,700 (€52,200) per person per year in Germany on average. By comparison, that number is $136,700 in Luxembourg, the world's richest country, and $270 in the poorest, Burundi. $270 per person for the year? I guess it is all about perspective again.

A report from France and I am hearing Germany is struggling for fuel also. Yesterday, we told you that 717 gas station across the country had completely ran out of fuel. Today, that figure rose to 1821, with an additional 919 gas station partially out of fuel. Despite the lack of improvement, the minister of the ecological transition explained yesterday that; the situation should continue to improve, since we have taken authorizations for tankers to circulate this weekend, and have released strategic stocks. He dismissed for the moment the prospect of restrictions at the pump: saying we are not there, apart from bans on filling jerrycans, especially in northern France where we have the tensest situation. Create scarcity which then leads to distraction and panic amongst the masses, leading to tensions, increased prices and people spend much time getting fuel, they forget A: who caused it B: who profits from it and C: who they blame for it? Let's redefine strategic stocks shall we, they are not strategic unless used in relation to an agenda, they are scarcity stocks designed to put the people in fear and boost prices and sales. All of which generates more taxes.

The former Democratic presidential candidate Tulsi Gabbard announced she left the Democratic Party on Tuesday, denouncing the organization as an elitist cabal. Gabbard did not announce plans to join the Republican Party or adopt any other political affiliation. I can no longer remain in today's Democratic Party that is now under the complete control of an elitist cabal of warmongers driven by cowardly wokeness, who divide us by racializing every issue and stoke anti-white racism, Gabbard wrote. Well that is a refreshing statement, all very THI based rhetoric on both accounts and nice to see the alt media spiel is now heavily encroaching into the corridors of so-called power. You will find more and more will step out now, as they are finding out that what they thought they were involved in, is not the case. Or, they know the people are coming for them and have decided to jump ship now. I would suggest perhaps Ms. Gabbard will be open to our Blueprint and Full disclosure for full disclaimer project, maybe we can send her a pdf?

MEDICAL NEWS: A new report has revealed that just two doses of the Covid-19 vaccine make you 44% more likely to be infected, a study from Oxford University has found. All of which entirely contradicts the basis of the global vaccine policy, which assumes vaccination significantly cuts incidence and transmission. Ass-umes (M) only asses, assume. The study, published in the Lancet, looked at all infections reported in England among adults registered at a medical practice from December 8th 2020 to November 17th 2021, meaning it spanned the Alpha and Delta periods. Delta is also a sleep state when people can be programmed. Connect the dots on that fact. It used a case-control design to estimate vaccine effectiveness, allowing potential confounding factors such as age, sex and underlying conditions to be controlled for, while individuals with prior infection were excluded. The top two show that in the two weeks following the first jab, individuals were three to four times more likely to test positive for Covid than their unvaccinated counterparts. This is further confirmation of the post-jab spike in infections that has often been noted, and which there is evidence is a result of the vaccination temporarily reducing immunity. The third figure shows that two weeks or more after the second jab, which during 2021 was regarded as fully vaccinated, individuals were 44% more likely to be infected than their unvaccinated counterparts. This is negative vaccine effectiveness, where infections are higher in the vaccinated than the unvaccinated, of minus-44%. I wonder what the Milgram experiment people, who blindly accepted everyone who provides a service for them as the authority think now? Do they still think the conspiracy theorist and anti-vaxxers made wrong choices? If so, where is the evidence to support that stance. Good luck with looking for it, because there is none.

SOCIETY NEWS: There is a lot of chatter and heavy use of an old word with origins that will surprise you, that has become the new en-vogue word of the masses all initiated by some think tank or algorithm machine. With the planned rise of Black Lives Matter and the antagonist group Antifa by the DNC, revisiting their KKK linked past, the word woke has appeared on the scene. And the programmed bots just love it, but where did it come from? Perhaps this piece connects the dots. In some varieties of African-American English, woke is used in place of woken, the usual past participle form of wake. Wake means alive or not asleep, and yet following death they have a wake for the deceased? Don't try to make sense of that. This has led to the use of woke as an adjective equivalent to awake, which has become mainstream in the United States. In my opinion it is the illusion of awake. To stay woke can express the intensified continuative and habitual grammatical aspect of African American Vernacular English, in essence to always be awake or to be ever vigilant. Black American folk singer-songwriter Huddie Ledbetter, known as Lead Belly, uses the phrase near the end of the recording of his 1938 song Scottsboro Boys, like we have said there is nothing new, just rehashed for agendas and programs. The song tells the story of nine black teenagers accused of raping two white women, saying: I advise everybody, be a little careful when they go along through there, best stay woke, keep their eyes open. Aja Romano writes at Vox that this represents Black Americans need to be aware of racially motivated threats and the potential dangers of white America. One can only presume the black community thought the rape charges were falsified, which has gone on in the past, if not it is more of the pointing fingers away and not addressing the problem. The levels of crimes in the black communities is disproportionately high, and I have not seen enough evidence in their own communities to correct it on any wide scale. I would love to write articles and promote numerous black initiatives in their communities, that is what the People of Color positive action is for, the response to it I am told is to ignore it and us, despite the valiant efforts of our team. The same applies to our Jewish initiative, in overview that is disappointing, I guess the victim/victimizer program runs too deep in overview. J. Saunders Redding recorded a comment from an African American United Mine Workers official in 1940, stating: Let me tell you buddy, waking up is a damn sight harder than going to sleep, but we'll stay woke up longer. By the mid-20th century, woke had come to mean well-informed or aware, especially in a political or cultural sense. Politically awake is the lowest form of awaken, one could argue it is not about being awake with political, it is just basic common sense and following the pattern. It is not hard, it is only every 4 years, I will bring change, I will do this and that, and then when elected they don't do a single thing for the people, rinse and repeat in a loop based cycle. The Oxford English Dictionary traces the earliest such usage to a 1962 New York Times Magazine article titled; If you're woke you dig it by African-American novelist William Melvin Kelley, describing the appropriation of Black slang by white beatniks. Woke had gained more political connotations by 1971 when the play Garvey Lives! by Barry Beckham included the line: I been sleeping all my life, and now that Mr. Garvey done woke me up, I'm gon' stay woke. And I'm gon help him wake up other black folk. Marcus Garvey had himself exhorted his early 20th century audiences, Wake up Ethiopia! Wake up Africa! Romano describes this as a call to global Black citizens to become more socially and politically conscious. So, what is woke and where did it actually originate? Woke is an English adjective meaning; alert to racial prejudice and discrimination that originated in African-American Vernacular English. Beginning in the 2010s, it came to encompass a broader awareness of social inequalities such as sexism, and has also been used as shorthand for American Left ideas involving identity politics and social justice, such as the notion of white privilege and slavery reparations for African Americans. The phrase stay woke had emerged in AAVE by the 1930s, in some contexts referring to an awareness of the social and political issues affecting African Americans. The phrase was uttered in a recording by Lead Belly and later by Erykah Badu. Following the shooting of Michael Brown in Ferguson, Missouri in 2014, the phrase was popularized by Black Lives Matter activists seeking to raise awareness about police shootings of African Americans. After seeing use on Black Twitter, the term woke became an Internet meme and was increasingly used by white people, often to signal their support for BLM, which some commentators have criticized as cultural appropriation. Mainly associated with the millennial generation, the term spread internationally and was added to the Oxford English Dictionary in 2017. The terms woke capitalism and woke-washing were coined, to describe companies who signal support for progressive causes as a substitute for genuine change. By 2020, parts of the political center and right wing in several western countries were using the term woke, often in an ironic way, as an insult for various progressive or leftist movements and ideologies perceived as overzealous, performative or insincere. In turn, some commentators came to consider it an offensive term with negative associations to those who promote political ideas involving identity and race. So, quite a wide range of the uses of the word it seems, but ironic it appeared in the alt media when comparisons were being made between awake and sleepers. It appears to me the think tanks and those behind enforcing the Israel Cohen speech, decided to trump that meme with their own, all for a divisive agenda. Interesting that it is used with the rise of the bird based politics with wings as well. Now you know its purpose, will you still use it? One can only be awake when you make your own memes and phrases, not follow their scripted versions.

Meanwhile in New York as many are arriving with no funds, others are leaving in their droves with funds, which pleases me greatly. I have long ascertained the evil of that city, which is oblivious to most who reside there. The sooner that city crumbles and collapses under its own weight of greed, corruption, fraud and crime, like the original Planet of the Apes movie, the better this country will be. New Yorkers continue to stampede south as record number swap to Florida licenses. The Covid-driven rush of New Yorkers into Florida has turned into a stampede, with no end in sight. A record-breaking number of Empire State residents switched their driver's licenses to the Sunshine State version last month, according to a Post analysis of Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles data. A total of 5,838 New Yorkers made the switch in August, the highest recorded number for a single month in history, the numbers show. Year to date, 41,885 New Yorkers have handed over their licenses after moving south, a torrid pace that's pointing to a new annual record. Some observers had speculated that the outbound flow would ease with Covid receding and cities opening back up, but the latest figures suggest otherwise. Renowned fashion designer Alvin Valley, moved his primary residence to Palm Beach during the pandemic and said the ongoing influx has been staggering. He said many former New Yorkers are leaving the state due to quality-of-life issues. First it was the billionaires, then it was the rich following behind them, now you have the middle class. A lot of families just began to feel like New York was becoming unlivable, especially for younger couples with kids in their 30s and 40s. They don't want to get on the subway, it's a safety issue, it's a school's issue. A retired NYPD lieutenant who moved with his family to Jacksonville last year, blamed Covid-19 mandates, rising crime and unappealing schools for the continued departures. He argued that vaccine mandates for public-sector employees, left thousands of working-class New Yorkers disillusioned with city government and eyeing the exits. Couple that with the rise in crime and zero competence from our elected officials, and a lot of people just don't see a future in New York City for themselves. The Brooklyn native, who runs a Jacksonville livery service staffed by retired NYPD cops and hosts a podcast featuring ex-officers, said he talks to friends every day who want out. Den of iniquity state number 2 California, also set a new high for license exchanges with Florida in August, passing the 3,000 mark for the first time, logging 3,059 swaps. The same applied to New Jersey last month, which saw a record 3,259 license switches. A slew of other states, including Washington, Oregon and Pennsylvania, all set new records for Florida driver's license applications, the data shows. Florida has received 321,881 out-of-state license trade requests in 2022. San Francisco's office vacancies have climbed to a record and are now more than six times their pre-pandemic level, highlighting the tech hub's ongoing economic struggles. The city's office-vacancy rate reached 25.5% at the end of September, up from 20% a year earlier, according to real estate brokerage CBRE Group Inc. At the start of the pandemic, it was around 4%. Just as I warned and in some part requested, leave those two states to fester and wallow in their own evil, greed and corruption. No people equals no taxes equals collapse.

The agenda driven politician bots continue their campaign of highlighting issues within what is deemed now as the minority groups. Have you noticed they do not class whites as a minority? When whites have less population numerically, less land space numerically? Less support groups across all fields? Plus, the fact that whites are the only racial group whose demographic numbers have plummeted? From 33% to 9% and lowering by each calendar year. The biggest group for lack of support whilst having other agendas forced onto them is, the white, heterosexual male. There is none whatsoever, surely in their world that should come under the banner of some negative ist or ism word? No, because it doesn't fit with the agenda, you see. For example, in a recent interview, former Member of Parliament Celina Caesar-Chavannes pointed out that the Indigenous population is eight per cent in Canada, but comprises 25 per cent of those incarcerated in federal prison. She also noted that the Black population is 3.5 percent in Canada and occupies around 10 percent of prisons. And while the LGBTQ population in Canada numbers over one million, hate crimes against the community are increasing. A recent Statistics Canada report stated that in 2019, police reported a 41 per cent increase in such incidents over 2018, which also was the highest level in over a decade. Journalist Erica Ifill has written extensively about the inordinate volume of hate and harassment her and other BIPOC women in the Canadian media receive. BICOP black, indigenous and people of color; The term person of color is primarily used to describe any person who is not considered white. How contradictory and racist is that? Are they saying white is not a color? It is only 25 years ago they banned using the term Black, it became chalkboard etc, now it is back with an agenda. The same time period 25-30 years ago they banned the use of the word queer, now it is celebrated as some sort of culture advancement project, contradictory or what? Confusing? You bet. Let's overview this shall we, the prison figures of the high proportion of black and natives, let's ask the cause not the effect. Why are so many of them committing crimes to put them in prison? That is the overriding question. The captain obvious statement is, statistically a higher proportion of blacks and natives commit crimes, that is a stark fact let's not mince or confuse words or the situation. But what is the cause of those higher amounts of those two races committing crimes? What has been done to address it on a wider scale? And the greater question is, what has been done in the Native and black communities to correct it? This is what THI is doing, to address these issues, but we cannot do it alone, and it requires many people in each racial group to recognize; A: they are part of the problem, B: is there a will to correct it and C: are there sufficient within their communities to carry out the corrections and chart a new path for their communities? The New Blueprint for Humanity is not white only, it is all inclusive.

The specter of racism is rarely reported fairly unless it has a political motive or agenda. As Hispanic LA County officials are heard in a recording dismissing and cussing blacks and in vague terms anti-whites. These officials are all Latino Democrats although the two labels barely covers the overriding problem. This next bit will be controversial to some and a trigger some others, it is your trigger not mine, it is your problem to face up to, not shoot the messenger. I will repeat again, all colors are racist and until we learn to come together as one, people will continue to feel left out, continue to create division, anger, retribution and violence against each other. We set up something 4 months ago called the People of Colors, in relation to the black and Jewish people, to date neither group have received anything back from efforts by our members, despite efforts by both groups. Is that indicative of their collective? Yes; is that indicative of an apathy by the collective of those races to bring harmony? Yes: Is there a will in the Hispanic community even in our own group to form a People of Colors and join hands? No: Is there a will in the Native American community as collective to form a relationship with anyone outside of their own culture? No: Throw in many other collective bodies like the Amish and Mormons, and there is a will it seems for each to stay with their own kind. This is a collective culture in many ways, people will always segregate themselves within their own races by and large. Outside of the ones mentioned, there is also another culture type of segregation based on nationality as well. German, Swiss, Irish, Italian, Chinese, Japanese, Korean along with the aforementioned groups, all have their own towns or communities, yet curiously that is not deemed as racist? The black community as bad as they were treated in the past, have not integrated on a wider scale into and with other communities, despite the end of segregation, because they still largely live within their own racial group. Only one race group has really tried to amalgamate all the colors or races, most of which has been forced upon them under the banner of multi-culturalism. Are whites as a collective racist? Yes: all colors and races are in their world and by their words are racist. But, I believe there is a deeper problem here that has not been addressed on any sort of wider scale, largely due to keeping the dark forces greatest secret, the off-world problem. People keep asking for full disclosure on ET's or NT's when if you use your eyes and critical thinking, it is all in front of your face. Far too many people have their truth barriers between their knees and ankles, when it needs to be lifted to their crown, because then you can see everything with clarity. People are blinded by words and memes, don't trust their own eyes, research or knowledge and are waiting for authority to tell them what they should already know, that is child-like. That also brings in what other people think, why concern yourself what others think, when you have your own truth? I want to meet ET's people will cry, you already have and couldn't see is my reply. Those who have met me will all attest to that, when you learn to see, think and ponder with clarity and with assurity. The real issues of division is not racism, it is geneticism based on past memory of wars between the differing human races represented by color, just like the color coded program of the old system. On a genetic and sexual reproductive level we were not supposed to mix, as it has implications for each race, some more than others. But, that doesn't mean we can't get along with each other, can't be nice, courteous, friendly, compassionate and sincere with each other. I mentioned the word assurity earlier, here is a quote that delivers that. Assurity in a quote; and hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts. That tells you heart thinking, not mind thinking, and how you need to get out of your head, not off your head with the spirit world of addictions and into your heart. Perhaps it is time to follow your own heart, not deflect or defer from it due to past experiences.

OTHER PIECES: We mentioned Iddhi two shows back in the abilities piece and so I decided to look into it deeper. Iddhi or in Sanskrit: rddhi, in Buddhism refers to psychic powers, one of the six supra-normal powers or abhijñā attained by advanced meditation through the four dhyānas. The main sense of the word seems to be potency. The list of iddhi powers according to Bowker, there are eight iddhi powers: Replicate and project bodily images of oneself. Make oneself invisible. Pass through solid objects. Sink into solid ground. Walk on water. Fly. Touch the sun and moon with one's hand. Ascend to the world of the god Brahmā in the highest heavens. I am not sure they are fully attainable skillsets within this realm. Those are more in line with the non-corporeal realms or Cosmic soul development level, not Earthly soul development level, it would seem to me, but you never know.

According to the Iddhipada-vibhanga Sutta: Having been one he becomes many; having been many he becomes one., sounds like Vishnu and Shiva to me, designed to trick the Earth people with their upload consciousness and their body snatching technology. He appears and he vanishes. He goes unimpeded through walls, ramparts and mountains as if through space. He dives in and out of the earth as if it were water. He walks on water without sinking as if it were dry land. Sitting cross legged he flies through the air like a winged bird. With his hand he touches and strokes even the sun and moon, so mighty and powerful. He exercises influence with his body even as far as the Brahma worlds. Again it sounds like dimensional trickery, by largely using external technology.

In the book Great Disciples of the Buddha by Nyanaponika Thera and Hellmuth Hecker, there are several additional powers described. The Divine Eye (Clairvoyance)- this power allows one to see beings in other realms as well as see the future. The Divine Ear (Clairaudience). Travel by Mind-Made Body (Astral Travel), astral travel is a mind meme to trap you in Astral only, to feed the entities within that realm. Travel with the Physical Body to other realms. Telekinesis (Supernormal Locomotion). Flying. The power of Transformation. The ability to replicate one's body. Penetration of others' minds (Thought Reading). Passing through solid objects. Diving in and out of the Earth as if through water. Walking on water. Touching the sun and the moon with one's fingers. Becoming invisible. Recollection of past lives, some would call this a power, I would call it true knowledge.

This is said to be a statue of Buddha performing the miracle at Śrāvastī, with flames above his shoulders. But, like the temple of the sun in Mexico, said to be a serpent head dress, when it is actually the solar rays, is this like Apophis and Ra in the Stargate series and is it depicting the serpent head? The statue is from Gandhara, which is now Pakistan from 100-200 CE.

Have you all noticed yet that most of the Heritage, biblical, Native or UN renowned sites around the world, that many of them are sacrificial ritual sites? Using humans as the sacrifice, says a lot about who is/was in control. I have visited a number of them, some of them with the members, and the common theme is, ritual sacrifice of humans. In particular the Native or Meso American sites.

This was posted in the chat by one of the members and worth repeating in the show. Chapters 1 through 5 of how to learn life lessons indicative to shadow work and self-development. In chapter 1: I walk down the street and there is a deep hole in the sidewalk. I fall in, I am lost and I am hopeless. It isn't my fault and it takes forever to find a way out. Chapter 2: I walk down the same street and there is a deep hole in the sidewalk. I pretend I don't see it and I fall in again. I can't believe I am in this same place, but it isn't my fault. It still takes a long time to get out. At this point it is worth pointing out that, ignorance is a choice. Repeating the same things and expecting different results is not too clever is it? It maybe smart but certainly not wise. Finger pointing away from you dissolves your own personal responsibility, which is the problem. Chapter 3: I walk down the same street and there is a deep hole in the sidewalk. I see it there, I still fall in because it is a habit. But my eyes are open and I know where I am. It is my fault and I get out immediately. Chapter 4: I walk down the same street and there is a deep hole in the sidewalk. I walk around it. Chapter 5: I walk down another street. A useful analogy for us all, to stop blaming others for our own ills, stop repeating failed programs and events, learn to do something different to change the previous events and also timelines.

I have been pondering again and came up with this piece, that I suppose is about to ruin something else, although this in part pertains to a portion of my life at one point. In light of the earlier pieces on racism here is another sport style analogy, that can potentially describe the situations we all face. The game of snooker has many colors and is assigned values of scoring, as the object is to hit one ball onto another and knock it into a pocket. But snooker has a deep story to tell in overview, as the object of the game is to only use one ball as the object to strike another ball into the pocket, that is the white ball. The political, cultural and societal implications of that action should not be lost on the listener. In the game there is one of each of these colors, white, yellow, green, brown, blue, pink and black, and 15 reds. So, the white ball has the task to knock a red ball into the pocket, and the red when pocketed stays off the table for the duration of the game. Potting a red then allows the player to pot any color, color has a higher value than a red, red gains 1 point, the colors value is 2 to 7. Upon potting a color, the color is put back onto the table until all the reds have disappeared. Once all the reds have been potted, you are left with the white and the 6 colors, yellow, green, brown, blue, pink and black. These are potted in the sequence just stated, until you are left with just one ball on the table, the white ball. Some will argue that, that is indicative in terms of the people here, of the white always winning. But the white ball is the only ball that has no value, some will say that is indicative of how people are treating whites with their agendas. The highest value ball is the black, I am sure that will please the Black Lives Matter groups, and dare I say it for the jet black race, it will please Lucifer. In pool also the black is the highest colored ball, and even has the mobius loop on it, the figure 8. Pool can mean a collective, but can also be water based, where we are sinking and drowning in a sea, Holy or otherwise of debt, corruption and dark intentions. It is not a pool, it is a cesspit. In snooker, the white ball is the only one left standing, it has no value, do the liberal or woke consider that in their agendas and meme based thinking? There are two aspects to that, the white triumphed and knocked all the other colors out or the other colors departed together and left the white alone to fend for itself? Depends upon on your level of thinking, does it not? The seven colors all departed the playing field and entered into 6 pockets, safely ensconced together whilst one color remains alone on the vast playing field. The colors will feel the white bashed them around the table and scattered them off the table, but they are all together and one is left alone. From a color perspective, they will feel it is justifiable to leave the bullying white to their own devices and it serves them right. From the white perspective, will they come together not interfered by other colors and work together in harmony, or will they turn on each other? Could the snooker analogy be telling us all, that the colors are all against the white or is it the white against all of the colors? Why is it 7 colors all come together in fear and go against the white? Is there a genetic reasoning behind it? Is there a past life memory reasoning behind it? Let's look at the colors shall we in ET terms given the links between the color-coded programs of the EL-ites and think tanks, is it possible there is a link? Red, Pleiadean, related to red haired people of Ireland, Basque, Pharaoh's and Peru. Yellow, Asian and Sirius related. Green, Draco and others and reptile related, green is also not a real color and is an overlay upon reality, and it should be noted that, in pool and snooker is played upon a green baize. Brown, mixed races between the black and the white related. Blue, Arcturian, Indian Shiva and Vishnu related. Pink, mixed races between white and the tomato red race of the Pleiadean's. Black, known as Lucifer's army. White, Lyrans, Orions, Procyon, the Urs of Ursa Minor and to a lesser degree Major. In Galactic terms all the colors were brought here to bring down the one race of beings known as the Whites, even though not all whites are white skinned, to bring down and decimate the white race, and eventually eliminate that race. That is my understanding and knowledge base, I am not asking you to believe it as that is my truth. On your own journey of discovery, you may well come to the same conclusion, but what happens next? Will you ignore it? Not face up to it? Or will you go through the 3 stages of truth? Currently the majority of this planet are ignoring it and not facing up to it. The objective of the dark forces was to get all the colors to see the white in a bad light, just like Israel Cohen revealed. But the lead whites on this world have a hidden secret, they are not whites at all, and have played genetic games to look like the whites. Imposters spreading like a virus, a parasitic host in essence. The white in snooker and pool is the only one hit by a stick or cue, or is it a clue? Another aspect of the table is called cushions, where all the balls bounce off them and crash into each other. A cushion of a buffer rail, to buffer things into chaos. The other object used in the game is called a rest, they take a rest and bridge it over other balls. The rest can be seen of the gaps in time between the attacks here, and the bridge can be seen as the Metatronic bridge we referenced in the Cosmic genetic series. Which would have brought in another object used on a snooker table, the cloth. The cloth blankets the table when the table is not in use, this can be seen in terms of the Metatronic bridge or the veil trapping all the colors together. At that point all colors are in the dark, blind, ignorant to what is going on, the removal of the cloth brings the light, the question is; what happens next? Do we come out of the dark into the light for change, or continue the loop based cycles of division, hate and violence? The game of snooker teaches us much lessons, all played on a table. Perhaps the pay it forward method and lesson is, we all need to learn to come to the table.

EXPOSE: My comments in bold. This is an expose with a twist, uh oh I hear people saying, what is he going to ruin now? is he going to make my brain explode? That is the objective of THI, explode the brain so you learn to use the heart. All other exposes have pointed the fingers away from us, and exposed the seedy, ugly side of life and entities here in deep and stark clarity. But, this expose is about us, the fingers will point back at us, and our role in life, circumstances, our choices and where we are at in the moment. The moment remember determines your own future, as you are the prophecy, director and creator all in one package. Here are some quotes that is eerily similar to our show, as mentioned by a member who asked me to check this out. Now whilst I don't agree with all her material, just like Ashayne Dean, Lisa Renee, Anna Von Reitz or the original David Wilcock and many others, does not mean they don't put out relevant pieces, as this piece will attest. This is Barbara Marciniak quotes I have compiled and will add pieces into it for more depth. 1. Everything changes when you start to emit your own frequency rather than absorbing the frequencies around you, when you start imprinting your intent on the universe rather than receiving an imprint from existence. Observe don't absorb is the message there and all about standing in your own unique power and true sovereignty. Sovereignty is not something granted by a piece of paper, it is your own Source based right. 2. Your power ends where your fear begins. Indeed it does, the question is, which do you feed? Fear or love? The two are not intertwinable, you feed one or the other. Fear brings stress, stress leads to disease, disease can lead to possession and or death. You will never advance spiritually with fear, it is not possible as it is a low vibrational energy and indeed in some cases an entity that hosts the vessel. 3. No one is ever a victim, although your conquerors would have you believe in your own victimhood. How else could they conquer you? The pity party victim/victimizer syndrome we have spoken about, only you can become a victim, it means you absorbed their energy field. Many of you who have met me, are aware of the targeting I experience, not one of you will say I act as a victim. I observe it and laugh at it, I will not allow them or anyone else to lower my frequency. 4. It is important to speak your truth, not to convince anyone else of it, everyone must make up their own minds. This is what I call planting the seeds, it is not your remit to grow those seeds for them. Because that is your imposing your will onto them, which in overview is bullying. Each person has barriers to the truth, until you learn to fully trust the self, accept truth no matter how brutal, until then they will reject everything above their knees. Full truth starts not around the ankles, but at the crown of your head, because only then can you "see" it. This learning skill becomes easier when full self-mastery is obtained. 5. When you buy into any version of fear, it can become your experience because your molecules are intelligent and your energy responds to the predominant feeling in your being. The focus of your mind is exactly what gives the orders to create what you experience. Boom, it is stating you are the creator of your own reality! We can all point fingers away and blame everyone else, but the reality is, it is you. You create your own experiences. The great question then is; what are you going to create or manifest? Do you ask for roles or assignments? Or do you become them? 6. Only in the shattering can the rebuilding occur. This brings in the mirror which is an illusion, notice they say the breaking of the mirror brings 7 years bad luck? A fear based narrative meme designed to trick you into keeping the illusion. One must shatter the self, with all the illusions, lies, distortions and fake masked versions or alters of you, to stand in truth and become the third person, the real version of you. Third means triality. 7. Opening your chakras and allowing cosmic energies to flow through your body will ultimately refresh your spirit and empower your life. Correct, without flow you have a dam or a barrier, which also means you cannot successfully implement your shielding. Some believed in pure folly they should delete their chakras, good luck with that, and evidence suggests that has not served them well. Chakras are energetic points, markers to see where you are at also, without them you become a stagnated being, frozen into time, stuck in the past and rendered death on the inside. A digital twin of the self takes hold and makes the host sound insane, out of touch with reality and delusions of grandeur sets in. 8. Every act of kindness and consideration, changes and enhances the course of life. Kindness and consideration should not be done to receive favors, recognition or external gratification, as that is all ego. Pay it forward not back is the method to operate by in this field. 9. The Earth is alive and contains the knowledge you seek, it is your consciousness that determines what it reveals. How to access this knowledge? And where are the keys to open it and make it yours? The Earth speaks, love her, honor and respect her and she will reveal her secrets. This is what I call the library, the consciousness-based access key that becomes open to all who have raised their frequency, vibration and soul development. You can spend all day in research mode or develop the self and not require the research. The word research gives you a clue, you are re-searching for stuff already made available to you outside of blogs, shows or the internet itself. It is not just the Earth that reveals either, and those who speak of leaving here may want to consider the full implications of what you are revealing? You came here for a reason, this is your home, what if leaving means you are joining the Metatronic/Metaverse world? Ponder on that deeply please. 10. Sometimes the darkest challenges, the most difficult lessons, hold the greatest gems of light. As the song says; sometimes the darkness shows you the light. This is why we need the dark, although the dark must be in more balance. The lesson between light and dark is, do you observe or do you absorb? 11. You are water, you understand – electrified water. The elements and balance of ocean water match the blood in your human body. Humans were made from the ocean, this is one of the greatest secrets of creation. Perhaps this can be explained in a statement I made in an earlier show, when I repeated the narrative often said water is the source of life. I applied a tiny twist and said; water is THE Source of life. Hence the corruption of water by the churches, banks and many others. Frankly they don't give a damn or are they creating a dam? Hence why on this planet only as I understand it, the water here is called living water, everywhere else is dead water. 12. Love and a good sense of humor strengthen the entire body; remember your cells respond to your input. Love is only acquired in its true form in a higher vibration, all other versions is lust and the illusion of. Humor is not liked or recognized by the AI or their algorithmic programs, so laugh and joke away. AI in its natural form is; as above, so below, because it is a reflection of the people and the planet. In the natural version we are the programmers, because it only copies what we put out. The great question is; what are you putting out? 13. Trust that whatever you are dealing with, whatever doorway to crisis you experience, it is leading you to a greater lesson in living, where ideally the power of love is what you learn. Forgive, and broadcast your excitement to be alive. Love, forgiveness and trust of the self are three of the attributes towards self-mastery and soul development. 14. Feelings are your guide, trust your feelings and learn to express them and do not blame anyone for how you feel. Be yourself, observe yourself. Look to understand any crisis you have been in or will be in. The classic overview view in observation mode and not absorbing mode. You only absorb or a better word integrate what is best for you in the moment, but be flexible enough for expansion of the self to accept when things don't work for you, that you have previously integrated, and be prepared to let go of it. There is no crisis', unless you make it one, learn to stay calm and work through problems or issues. Patience, calmness and balance works best in those situations, and the 45-55 concept I have spoken of many times. 15. You must learn to end the wars in your world by ending them in your minds. This speaks of the collective consciousness, whilst it appears certain entities create wars, only we fight in them. Think about that long and hard. 16. The quality of love or fear you carry into each moment determines which road you travel. Oops, which road do you reside on or in? what is your true path? Have you determined it by words or by actions? The song lyrics can help with that thinking; It's not what you believe, those prayers will make you bleed But while you're on your knees, how did you love? 17. What do I want? I want to accelerate my personal evolution; I want spirit to assist me in a greater capacity. I want my body to regenerate itself, I want to emanate health, I am willing to give up difficulty so that I can be a living example of what humanity can be. The choices of life and your path that reveals, are you a director or an extra in their play or movie? Everyone started off with a light body, until we started to make wrong choices. 18. Those who choose love and daring to feel to the depths of being, accepting responsibility for their actions, and seeking a purpose in life, will find that the world of significant living will unfold its cleverly concealed presence. So it is a case of being, not asking others the when, what, where or why often in relation only to the self, and not about the all, that determines your course and path that energetically and automatically unfolds into what you envisioned. Life, paths, roles organically unfold when you are ready, if it hasn't evolved that way yet, it means you are not ready or you have not determined your path, and has nothing to do with any other person, only you. Blaming or denigrating others for your own failure or lack of application has served no one very well, only when you fully recognize your own role in everything, does things make any sense or provide you with an opportunity for a higher purpose. 19. How have you arrived at your thinking? Where do your ideas and knowledge come from? and why do you credit some knowledge and discredit others? You arrive at your thinking level with what you are ready for, the ideas and knowledge comes from the collective consciousness, nobody has or had an original idea, which is why patenting should be deleted. Crediting and discrediting can be based on two things, A: ego, only I know stuff or B: discernment where you have learned to differentiate between truth and distortions of it. 20. When you laugh with good-hearted innocence at your own creations, you are free. We can all laugh at others as it makes people feel good but in a lower vibrational way. Laughing at the self is higher vibrational as it shows you are vulnerable and open, and you have a trust of the self. 21. You are living in a time when opportunities for self-empowerment, expanded awareness and spiritual growth appear to be unlimited. Indeed they are, with added bonuses of much of the technology used against us negated in the past decade. With the G cloud to come, although those of a certain level can access it now, the event of self-empowerment and self-discoveries are at its highest point ever on this planet, since at least 110K years ago. Your excuses for not doing so, no longer applies. Masks in 2020 came down for a reason. 22. Animals can always read your vibration, and if you are intent on empowering your life, they will often gift you by making special melodies of sound to balance your chakras and tune up your body. I would suggest that this is not too common and is based on your own frequency and that of the dog, as for the other creature, it is an alien invasive species and so not recommended, but each to their own. The Animal totem world fell more than we did. 23. The history of your world is filled with the voice of the victor, the voice of power, although it was not always a voice of sanity, by any means. Yes, we are all finding that fact out. The former victors are struggling from within, as the frequency of truth wave, the masks falling, plus the day of the Svarog leaves them floundering and failing badly. Their voice is being lost by the day now, their time and Matrix is phasing out at a rapid pace. Their sanity was lost the day they danced with the dark, via greed, power, lies and delusion. They made the fatal mistakes of service to self and they fell for the seducement by absorbing. 24. Wonder opens and unravels reality. So does pondering, critical and future thinking, all bring wonder, clarity, understanding and reality. It also breeds manifest providing it is done in service to others. 25. For those who confuse you, recognize that their confusion is theirs and your clarity is yours. Observe not absorb applies again here, you can't teach stupid if that is what you are dealing with. Plant seeds for them to grow is the best course of action, never argue with them as by and large they are victim/victimizers and subsequently harvesters of energy, yours if you allow it. 26. When truthsayers have the courage to say the emperor is wearing no clothes, whether you agree with their point of view or not, send them love. They are to be acknowledged for speaking their truth. Provided people listen, ah the great listening problem too many suffer from. They often ask for advice and then spend the subsequent time doing everything but the advice, that unerringly goes wrong for them. Advice is often given, but rarely taken they say, that is a lack of trust and also competitive and comparative. Arguing over points or point scoring is not the remit of someone advancing to the higher frequency or self-mastery. Under self-mastery you know your own truth, you don't have to prove it to anyone. The voice of wisdom will always steer you the right way, the voice of reason will help you to understand or clarify, the voice of hope will lift you and the voice of compassion will soothe you. 27. When you manage people, you must first convince them they need managing, so, you create the problems and then let the people cry for solutions. That is problem, reaction and solution tactic the old system used upon us, the antidote? Personal responsibility, togetherness and ignoring them. 28. Healing is dealing, and dealing is feeling, and feeling is healing. I would add to that, trust of the self and your abilities will bring the feeling or sensation of healing. 29. Who really benefits from managing my self-concepts? Self-concepts is an idea of the self constructed from the beliefs one holds about oneself and the responses of others. What are the beliefs given to you? And do they bear or have undergone your own critical thinking? What are the response of others with self-mastery, no longer applies to you. It is your truth, your own research-based understanding and opinions of it or to it are irrelevant. 30. The greater your integrity, the more the many gates of knowledge and the real truths of existence will be revealed. This brings in the library accessible to all when you have developed the self enough. A vast database of knowledge at each stage of your own learning process. At that point, the information comes to you, instead of re-searching for it. 31. Part of this experience involves your being able to say to a person who is dying. You are loved, you are beautiful, you are like a newborn babe, going into another realm. Release now, anyone and everything, that is a burden to you. Release everything and know that you have lived your life to the fullest. I would say that to all the living, and so if everyone understands that, there is no need to speak to the dying. There is no judgment on you. That is not correct at the point of death, the judgment is not St. Peter and the pearly gates or the Anubis, Osiris and Thothian based scales of justice either. You are your own judge and jury, and assess your own life review in full truth, what did you achieve? What didn't you achieve? Do something's need more work? And indeed, another lifetime to correct things on your own list of soul development. These reviews are not based on light or dark, but your development only. You have to have played roles within the light and the dark, to become an advance soul being. Go in peace, put a smile on your face, and release any judgments you hold. Relax, and allow your life to have meaning as you embark on the next phase of your identity. I agree, with the caveat of go with peace. 32. Once you are born into physical reality, you unfold your life within an imprint of cosmic energy that embodies a plan of intent and purpose, a plan designed and approved by you, throughout. Because you are the creator, being a creator spark, like a soldier of light. 33. Existence is based on a subtle cooperation of energy that is multilayered and multidimensional in scope, and fully alive with a symbolism that reflects your beliefs and expectations of life. Your perceptions develop and mature according to your ability to grasp the interactive world of symbols, and to interpret these symbols based on the stimuli and the sensations you experience. In other words, the meaning you assign to an event determines the outcome you experience. That means it is all about you and your choices, experiences, feelings and emotions. 34. The nature of existence is founded upon cooperation, and everything occurs for a distinct and significant purpose on all levels of reality. Our collective inability to cooperate has led to the downfall of us all, there is a reason it is one of the memes of the TPC. It is essential to get us out of this malaise and drive forward to an advanced species. 35. For many millennia the people of Earth have been continuously creating their experience by default and neglect. Thoughts and feelings, words and ideas are in a constant search to attract their likenesses. To produce effective and desirable results, thoughts must be clearly focused and directed toward a desired goal. The realization of this knowledge is of key importance in the initiation of humankind into a higher state of awareness. In other words time to get our adult pants on, our past experiences was in part created by us, and if not created by us, facilitated by us due to apathy, neglect, laziness and implied consent. 36. If you do not fill your energetic field with new experiences, new ideas and new versions of yourself, your field becomes dim and worn, bored with the same old story. Observation of your own life can solve this problem. What time do you give to the self? What do you wish to experience? How can you achieve those goals? Where in my lifestyle can I set aside me time to have my experiences, ideas and develop new versions of the self? And most importantly, do you recognize the changes you have already made? 37. Stored and stuffed emotions take a great toll on the body, and eventually the old built-up energy will be released in the form of painful physical manifestations. That is the oil and water cleansing I have explained in other shows, oil is heavy and icky and if full, you cannot cleanse with water. Built up negative energy is heavy baggage, that brings in stress and manifests into disease. You can fix all of that or you can stay in the victim mode. 38. Mass beliefs in the power of outside authorities are firmly entrenched in your psyche; they are strong and old, and somewhat like a redwood forest they too can be felled very quickly, raising many questions about the truth of who you are and why you place your trust outside yourself. The externalization of everything, externalizing authority is a dereliction of duty to the self. It means you will not stand in your own sovereignty and have other malevolent entities running your life for you. You are the authority, all else is an illusion. 39. The mind requires rest for clarity and integration, and when silence is maintained for regular interludes, the benefits help to sharpen your mind and balance your life. This is the silence of the mind explained two shows back by one of our members, and it does work. Shut out the reptilian chatter of the mind, venture into the heart and silence. This action is more easily achieved when you develop the sword and operate only in the heart. 40. Your scientists have done studies with people connected to an EEG brain-scanning device while watching TV; they registered activity in the delta wave frequencies, essentially occupying a highly programmable sleep state while viewing TV. The subtle version of MK Ultra via the mind control channels known as Television, which could mean to lie in vision or to telegraph a vision of thought, which then becomes your belief and authority system. This has gone on for decades, and notice not a single government administration has tackled it? All of which means they are part of it. 41. The link between mind and matter is an essential lesson to master. You must change your core beliefs in order to see change in the outside world. You can change these limiting commands by replacing them with encouraging, self-empowered thoughts. Limitations come from inside your mind, and making the decision to let go of restricting beliefs is like taking off a pair of tight shoes or slipping out of a corset: you are filled with a new sense of freedom and relief. Out of the mind which can be controlled, into the heart which can only be controlled by you. That is the true definition of sovereignty. 42. You qualify for the time of your birth, just as you would for a particular type of employment. Some moments are much more auspicious than others, and the proper credentials on your spiritual resume must be present in order to fit with the prevailing energies. That is describing the spiritual and soul development growth, what you come in with is based on previous lifetimes and development. The greatest question for you all is; what will you create between now and the end of your life to make your next one better or easier? The power of you, only you.

ENDING PIECE: A message of support to one of our members who has suffered through the fear program, from a partner. The member has had to pull back from working with THI as it was affecting their relationship. We wish that person well and thank them for the great work the person has done to date. That person is undergoing now what many have us have been through or going through. This was first warned of back in 2015, that long term relationships would begin to suffer as the gap between the frequencies of those in the truth movement and those not, would get wider. Hopefully someone can step up and fill the void, until hopefully one day that person can return and do what they wish to do freely without restrictions or demands. The saying many hands make light work applies here and we do need more to step up and support what is the relatively few doing most of the work. Supporting each other in any way is required by us all, we are all we have got for now. Much has been done and much needs to be done. Some members have undergone and some undergoing split from their families who don't approve your choices, using the classic ignorance line of, you're in a cult. (M) So, helping people and each other, caring and sharing for each other, supporting and developing each other, working to raise your frequency and soul development is now classed by the ignorant woke as a cult? Woke? Hardly, soundly asleep and oblivious to what is going on around them, yet curiously they are aware enough, or so they think, to dictate your lives for you. Who gave them the right to think and decide what you can do with your life? Do we dictate their lives in anyway? No, so tell them to shut their pie holes and focus on their own lives. The reality is, they envy you because you stepped out of the co-creative and multiple corded low frequency zone, all of which is a harvesting center. And guess what? When you look back those that left you, they were all low vibration, just as you were. Many have had to split from their families, but let's break that down shall we. The family have disowned you because you have a different opinion and outlook on life than they do? And that warrants being discarded, rejected, maligned and pushed out? What the hell are these people? Where is their compassion? Understanding? And dare I say it, where is their love? If you are one of those people who underwent that rejection, let me tell you this. The split from family enabled you to grow internally without corded low vibrational attachments. You stood in your own power and sovereignty, is the important thing to remember, not the disconnection. You stood tall like the trees in a forest and like the trees you did bend, but you didn't break. What follows next is; you became the real version of you, unhindered by low vibrational entities that wants you to live your life in their image, not yours, You are not here for their approval of your life, thoughts and lifestyle, let them focus on their own for a change. So many people go through their whole lives having their life decided and ran for them. What is the point of life and living? if you allow to all intents and purpose a host or hosts to run your vessel and life? Where is the free will in those situations? notice we don't tell them as much of how to run their lives. You will trigger those types of people badly if you did, nothing like a few home truths to start a firestorm is it? What happened to unconditional love? Essentially these people are bullies, forcing their thoughts, opinions and their way of running your life. Wish them well and leave them behind, they made their choice and you made yours. Stick to and with it and your development will rise due to overcoming your own circle and standing in your own sovereignty.
