

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2023-01-05

The first “normal” show of the year, will it be a gentle ease into 2023, as 2022 is now banked in the time matrix? Erm no! this is a THI show, not a smaltzy, fluffy show, there are plenty of them around in alt and MSM. This is not how we do things here, so more ruining, more brutal, hard hitting pieces and more pondering will unfold. I said in a recent show politics will get ugly the next two years, not negating the fact that politics has always been ugly. A self-serving pit of self-righteous buffoons pretending to care about life, people, animals, the environment and worse, people’s health. But they never have, have they? The world of illusion ticks on it seems, not because of politicians, think tanks, agency clowns or the war pigs machine, but because we the people allow it to. We are the problem and only we are the solution. But, that requires people to step out of their heads, their own illusions, the wider illusions, the lies whether internal or external, their programs, their matryoshkas, their fears and dare I say it, themselves. Life like nature is meant to be simple, yet we make everything complicated. From our lifestyles, our love life, our choice of friends, our choice of employment and our way of seeing. We have eyes but don’t see, we have ears but don’t hear, we have hearts but never learn to use them fully, or in some cases at all. All because we allowed ourselves to be created in their image? Did anyone stop to ask, what was the image they were presenting? Did anyone ask who is minding my mind? Did anyone ask am I meant to be happy or sad? Did anyone ask am I a crown of creation or a slave? Did anyone ask why they were branded and bound by a religion with no say in the matter? Did anyone ask why they were branded a corporation by the capitalized name? if so, what are you in-corporating is the question? Did anyone ask why do I give my power, life and love away to a system that only classes you as a dead entity? Did anyone ask what do you want in life? A peaceful existence bound to a system or a vibrant freeing way of life away from it? You will all answer on the positive side of those questions, but you are lying to yourselves on many counts. That is the illusion of talking, but talking brings lies and distortion, your own actions belie those statements and facts, don’t they? As the saying goes, life is lonely at the top, the question is; the top of what? Life is very lonely for the clowns and those of service to self now, their plans and delusions of grandeur no longer work. But, life can be lonely on all levels, particularly for those who dare to speak the truth. The few that do get pulled apart, dissected, pilloried, questioned, ridiculed, projected at, discarded, targeted with disruptions to their life and love, and what for? For having the audacity to help people, elevate people, get people to see, get people to hear, get people away from addictions, fears, low self-worth, get people to love themselves and others, get people to trust themselves and others, get people to come together not divide and conquer, not only each other, but themselves as well. Does that sound like much fun to you? If only closed minds came with closed mouths, how much quieter and better the world would be. Let’s all work hard this year to make life easier for everyone, learn to love more, ignore images, labels and projections, learn life doesn’t revolve around just you, which is selfish, why are you selling fish? Are you an angler? but above all, love, honor, protect and cherish the self and each other.

NEWS: Whilst everyone was celebrating Christmas, the US war pigs machine was provoking China around Taiwan. Let that sink in, nothing ever stops for peace with them psychopaths. It is all about intimidation, deflection and antagonizing other countries. 80+ countries invaded since WW2, which is probably more than the rest of the world combined, outside of the real war pigs, Israel.

If Canada succeeds in selling the seized assets of Roman Abramovich it would put Russian assets in other countries at risk. Just like clowns in panic warned, they would go after the million and billionaires.

Three busses carrying around 110 to 130 migrants arrived outside the Naval Observatory, to Kamala Harris's official residence in Washington, DC, on Christmas eve. Democrats accused Texas governor of endangering people's lives with a cruel stunt, I guess they don't understand irony either. The DNC and GOP are the cruel stunt played on American's daily. Whilst they play games and pretending to care about migrants, in reality land they A: care about no one and B: playing the think tank and globalist pro pagan da games for them, in shutting down their own country, they state they love. These people like the reptilians don't understand what love is.

You wish to know how desperate they are to control the narrative? A lawsuit filed earlier this year by the attorneys general of Missouri and Louisiana alleges that the FBI was not alone, and that officials from no fewer than 12 government agencies met weekly with representatives of Twitter, Facebook, and other Big Tech firms to decide which narratives and users to censor, with topics ranging from alleged election interference to Covid-19. Guess what clowns? It didn't work and won't do. Now or in the future. Time to think different me thinks, because failure after failure must be hard to comprehend.

Further evidence of their ouroboros programs in the flying industry again. Remember I warned there would not be enough pilots? Check out their solution to that. Sara Nelson, International President of the Association of Flight Attendants-CWA, speaks with Yasmin Vossoughian about airlines lobbying Congress. So, what are they lobbying Congress for? for change in rules to allow just one pilot in the cockpit during flights in response to staffing shortages, why the decision would be dangerous, and what more can be done. Perhaps they should lobby Congress and ask why they implemented ridiculous Covid measures that has destroyed every business sector, except where the shekel people are. One pilot then becomes no pilots, is how it works.

This is what dancing with two parasites gets you, so who are the two parasites? Politics; poli means duo and so two, and tics means parasite. The two parasites are Demoncrats and Reptilican's, neither are fit for the purpose, neither remotely care for the people as these next two pieces shows. Social Security is already in the political crosshairs over proposals to raise the retirement age to help stabilize the program's finances. Now another battle is brewing over whether to cut Social Security funding in exchange for an increase in the federal debt ceiling. Let's rewind that shall we? They wish to cut our savings account to increase the wasteful debts they created. None of which those debts belong to the people. Congress will need to raise the debt ceiling in 2023 to prevent the United States from defaulting on its financial obligations. This isn't unusual. Since 1960, Congress has acted 78 different times to permanently raise, temporarily extend or revise the definition of the debt limit, according to the U.S. Department of the Treasury. The ceiling was last raised in December of 2021 to $31.381 trillion, according to the Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget. (M) Hilarious! the Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget? They should all be fired then, as they along with others have been fiscally irresponsible since day one. The $2.5 trillion increase approved then is expected to last until at least July 2023. The problem this time is that key Republicans have hinted that they will not support a higher debt ceiling, unless the plan includes spending cuts to Social Security and Medicare. They point to data showing that the federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund, which pays retirement benefits, will become depleted in 2034. After that, as GOBankingRates has previously reported, payroll taxes will only cover about 78% of retirement benefits. What happens if there is less payroll taxes due to less businesses or less people courtesy of the smokescreen provided by the Covid scam? Yet these parasites not content with looting our government funds, wish to loot again our own savings funds. They have tried to convince you it is a benefit, which means it is a hand out, it is not! That fund is our own savings accounts for our retirement. Remember these same parasites get full retirement at our expense.

An interesting story is developing in New York, as George Santos comes under fire for lying about who he worked for on his resume to becoming a congressman. No change there then, as it seems a pre-requisite to be a liar to become a politician. Every campaign trail reveals that, change and promises all roll off the tongue, yet rarely or never do they come to fruition. But, Mr. Santos is also under fire for claiming to be Jewish, and how his grandparents fled the holocaust to Brazil. When no evidence exists of that nature, another common theme that for these people. Santos is one of many who have blazed the Jewish path, but the great question is; why would people make fake claims about being and Jewish and the holocaust to further their career. Why do those two things hold sway over people 80 years after the alleged event?

Here is another example of people or countries now challenging Israel. Jordan's king says he is prepared for conflict should the status of Jerusalem's holy sites change as Israel prepares to swear in what is likely to be the most right-wing government in its history. Right wing in the Thothian politics game, means Fascist or the real term National Zionism, when shortened becomes Nazi. Now more will get to see what we have said about Israel and their ilk in our book and shows.

Internet warrior and latest savior program for the do nothings Elon Musk, says nearly 100 of its satellite service Starlink receivers are now active in Iran. After admitting he was using them in the Ukraine as well.

The warning I gave out on Tuesday about the royals, which was written early in December, has now begun. King Charles has finally thrown his brother, alleged sex pest Prince Andrew, out of Buckingham Palace, an insider claims. The 62-year-old disgraced prince, who resigned from the Royal Family nearly three years ago over his ties with sex trafficking duo Jeffrey Epstein and Ghislaine Maxwell, will no longer be allowed an office in the castle that serves as the royal headquarters.

Donald Trump's former top adviser and snake in law Jared Kushner, has shown no interest in helping the former president navigate a series of storms that threaten to sink his 2024 campaign, according to a new report. Ivanka also raised eyebrows by swiftly putting out a statement saying in part that, I am choosing to prioritize my young children and the private life we are creating as a family. I do not plan to be involved in politics. Yes, after making $660M whilst in the White House, now it is let's distance ourselves. Or is Kushner and his ilk planning to be a Democrat leader?

Here is an interesting comment, I guess he doesn't get irony either, funny how that happens in the upper echelons isn't it. Pope Francis made a dire warning to the Roman Curia on Thursday, warning them to be ever vigilant of demons lurking in the Vatican. Indeed Francis, of which you are one of them. Truth coming out of all angles now.

The descent of American politics and politicians had been there for all who wish to see. But it reached new lows on Tuesday as after 3 votes to elect a speaker all failed due to the child level fun and games these people offer us. After winning the control of the House, you would expect the Republican candidate Kevin McCarthy to pass smoothly into the role held formerly by Pelosi. But no, 20 so called Republicans decided to not vote for him, which means it was a waste of time winning the House, and also a slap in the face to all of their voters. But then remember there last leader and his sidekick were both Democrats, Trump and Kushner. The update since has gotten worse, it is now 8 ballots and 8 fails. An utterly shambolic display that should enrage all Americans, but sadly too many are like the Arizona Congressman Ruben Gallego who said he was breaking out the popcorn. The country and politicians fiddle whilst American burns it seems. To many politicians it all appears like a game, but then after all the last President was a game show host. Embarrassing and pathetic in equal measure.

MEDICAL: A Swiss study for instance found elevated troponin levels, indicating heart injury across all vaccinated people, with 2.8 percent showing levels associated with subclinical myocarditis. Furthermore, a group of scientists recently conducted a risk-benefit analysis which showed that getting a Covid-19 booster shot, is at least 18 times more dangerous than catching the virus itself for young people under the age of 30. Hence the plethora of heart issues since the jabs came out. As for the under 30 claims, people stupidly forgot when they said at the beginning the younger generations were practically immune. They lied and or were wrong on that.

During 2021, Professor Kerryn Phelps wanted mass Covid vaccinations for adults and kids. Now Phelps has reversed course. She is sounding an urgent alarm about the dangers of the mRNA shots. Phelps, a former president of the Australian Medical Association, pleaded for an Australian parliamentary committee to examine the dangers of the mRNA vaccines. Their risks go far beyond their known dangers of myocarditis, and both she and her wife personally suffered long-term side effects following their Pfizer jabs, she said. I am sorry that she has suffered, but that is kind of karma for putting everyone else at risk, because they didn't do their due diligence. It also points out that people are far too concerned only about themselves. It was fine forcing it upon others, until it affected her and her partner. This is part of a wider problem with society, people only react to situations when it impacts them, wrong choice and requires more to care regardless of something impacting them or not. Phelps also warned medical regulators have censored physicians from talking about Covid vaccine injuries. Regulators are afraid honest discussion might cause the public might lose confidence in the shots, she said. Lose confidence? The great question is; under what circumstances would you gain confidence in an experimental vaccine? Because the government told us? And who made them experts? And the greater question is; why?

It has now emerged that the spike protein used in the vax, required what was described as a clamp to hold the protein together. That clamp added to the protein was, HIV.

Britain has suffered 47,379 excess deaths since the middle of April 2022. There has been a 279% spike in miscarriages, 487% in breast cancer, 551% in Guillaine-Barr syndrome, 269% in myocardial infarction, 468% in Pulmonary Embolism, 291% in Bells Palsy, 437% in Ovarian Dysfunction and 680% in Multiple Sclerosis.

The people of China are having to queue up every day, to get their Covid tests to keep their QR codes on their phone green and it doesn't matter what the weather is. That is out and out fascism, interesting the phone color has to stay green though is it not?

Before the rollout of the vaccine, myocarditis cases were 4 in one million and now stand at 25,000 cases in one million. As a U.S. Doctor testifies under oath that Covid Vaccines are Bioweapons and must be stopped. The FDA and the U.S. Government is experimenting on our children, elderly and the general population. No benefit for vaccines only adverse effects, the Nuremberg code was violated. Jack Nicholson, jabbed, now suffering from neurological effects from the vaccines, described as his mind is gone. Actor Miles Teller suffers blood poisoning and breaks out in hives just after the vaccination. Beverley Hills 90210 actress Denise Dowse, dies of meningitis following weakened immune system following vaccine. Ashton Kutcher suffers autoimmune disease that affected his hearing, vision and mobility following vaccination. Actress Cherie Gil dies of endometrial cancer after diagnosis gained after the vaccine.

The deaths of the famous at a young age continues it seems. Dax Tejera, the executive producer of ABC's This Week with George Stephanopoulos, died of a heart attack Friday evening, just a few weeks shy of his 38th birthday. Another ABC presenter dies in her 30's, Erika Gonzalez. Ronan Vibert, veteran actor of both silver and small screen, has passed away. He was 58. Stephan Bonnar, UFC Hall of Famer, died on Thursday at the age of 45. The grandson of legendary Reggae artist Bob Marley passed away at the age of 31. Joseph Marley, known under his stage name as Jo Mersa, was discovered unresponsive in his vehicle. A cause of death has not been released at this time; however, Florida radio station WZPP claimed he died of an asthma attack. Matt Gogin, the little person actor who starred in the films The New Guy and Made for Each Other, has died of Covid-19 complications, he was 40. A dozen Chinese elites have died in the past week from Covid they say. It is tik tok or tok tik?

SOCIETY: Did you know an I-Phone takes a picture every 5 seconds in infra-red, and so not visible with the naked eye?

President Joe Biden was accused by Fox News hosts of excluding millions of Americans from his recent message of unity on Friday's Outnumbered by not mentioning the name Jesus Christ. He excluded half of America they replied, referring to Christians. The point is, if Jesus was mentioned every other year, what difference did that make to people's lives? Why do they think mentioning him, saves or better's their lives? America's lost its sense of God, by not mentioning Jesus declared one outraged senator. But, Jesus was not god! If religion worked like they say it does, why is the world so violent, filled with greed, envy and bitterness? Does religion cause that? Personally, I think it does. Because if it didn't, the world would be a better place.

As police in Thornton, Colorado, say they found two adults dead after investigating a suspected murder-suicide at a Jehovah's Witnesses Kingdom Hall on Christmas morning. Religion and death again is the point of that sad story.

An article in the Time magazine designed to cause to division has blown up in their faces. It penned an article about a New York teacher who is born to again, who wrote a book proclaiming exercise is now deemed white supremacy. (M) (J) No change there then in the script, it is what I have been warning about since mid-1990's, with the advent of political correctness. She also supports defund the police and Black Lives Matter, which is all very Israel Cohen again. It has all provided a nice Jewish based publicity for her book, as let's not forget the shekels. She works in what is described as a progressive school, that charges $44K a year to educate people with indoctrination programs. $44K a year? You have to be kidding me, why would anyone pay that for education? Our members will all attest they have learned more at THI, than they ever did at school or life in general, and all for free. This is what is wrong with society, nobody pays enough attention to what is going on, and these people just rape and pillage us for our own ignorance and lack of attention. What was pleasing was, the responses to the article, which backfired spectacularly as people are not buying it anymore. If we are not careful with this Black Lives Matter, it will be a number of years before whites trust blacks again, said one person. That is the inherent danger, that a select number of blacks went along with the victim/victimizer program of the Jewish EL-ites to bring the people down. Like medical, government, agencies, police, social services, charities, children's group, all of which will not be trusted for a long time in the near future, the black race will come under the same banner unless they rethink their actions and learn some truth. As a reminder, in 2022 we have had exercising is white supremacy, Daylight savings time is racist, the lottery is a form of systematic racism and the TV series about sharks is racist because all the experts are white. Not to forget all the American heritage statues torn down in 2021, because they were declared as racist also. The death rattle of the country known as America is being stripped apart day by day, rendered embarrassing with child level policies, foreign or domestic, a bully on a global stage and a pariah nation. The problem is twofold A: do Americans really care for their country and B: do you really think the rest of the world will care when America collapses?

A beautiful song no doubt, but this country is being stripped of everything on an hourly basis, whilst people wave flags and thumps their chests believing in the illusion. The land of the free, is it free or three in mental age capacity of the masses, of falling for groundhog day over and over. But, it doesn't have to be that way, if people come together as one and say, you know what, enough is enough.

EXPOSE: Three separate pieces all melded into one with this piece. This is more dot connecting of what they were up to with the fake vaccines, said to combat Covid, but has proven to do no such thing. One has to ask; where is the evidence the jabs prevented Covid infections? Because later they said it doesn't, only lasts for 70 days and a plethora of other excuses and projections. Some of the things in this we also mentioned very early on in our Expose series, most of which was done over two years ago, and the 1-10 was finished in March 2021. Rice University researchers have demonstrated that CRISPR-Cas9, increasingly famous as a gene-editing tool, can be employed in powerful additional ways in human cells. A team led by Rice bioengineer Isaac Hilton and graduate student Kaiyuan Wang used deactivated Cas9 (dCas9) proteins to target key segments of the human genome and synthetically trigger the transcription of human genes. By using dCas9 to recruit proteins that can naturally turn genes on, the Rice team was able to reveal important details about human promoters and enhancers, the pieces of our DNA that coordinate when, and to what extent, our genes are turned on, which in turn controls the behaviors of our cells. Which means if they can turn them on, they can also turn them off. Hilton said: We're using these synthetic biology tools to improve the ability to engineer gene expression and program human cells, and consequently to better understand how our genes work naturally. Engineer gene expression means to manipulate them, program human cells is also manipulating them to their taste or liking. What they are revealing here is the permanent altering of our DNA, by inserting a new program like we are a machine. These types of studies are important because in the long run this knowledge and these technical capabilities can enable better gene and cell therapies and biotechnologies. Biotechnologies equals bio-bots. Hilton said the study in Nucleic Acids Research highlights the growing potential of CRISPR-Cas9-based tools for synthetic gene control and cellular engineering. The team's strategy also demonstrates the power of dCas9 to influence and understand the epigenetic factors that animate the human genome. Only around 2% of our genome contains protein-coding genes, and the remaining 98% is so-called noncoding DNA. What they are saying is, they are terrified of a future event that many of us will begin to turn on our so-called junk DNA. That will trigger a mass awakening and end their rule over us. Enhancers and promoters are key parts of our noncoding genomes and, although the vast majority of these elements do not make conventional genes, there is fascinating genetic variation in noncoding DNA. This variation gives us the magnificent diversity that enables our species to be both amazing and adaptable. Right there reveals their concerns and our potential they are trying to stifle with technology. However, genetic variation in noncoding DNA is also strongly correlated with many diseases, and even subtle differences in these regions can be linked to pathologies. A pressing challenge is that it is often very difficult to pinpoint how these differences influence disease onset and treatments. Not forgetting these same scientists and the medical establishments surrounding them, created many of the diseases to begin with. Backed and supported by off and on world species, who miraculously were immune to widespread contagions, funny that, but also indicative. Our goal and our hope is that technologies and approaches like ours can help researchers get closer to making those important connections, and to ultimately predict and thoughtfully intervene in disease. Intervene in disease, does not necessarily imply they will prevent it does it? Intervene; to come between, intervene; interrupt; stand in the way, oppose, hinder. Or it can mean: interfere, interpose oneself between, act mediatorially. Depends on the definition and purpose does it not? And since when have these Paperclip style scientists ever done anything beneficial for us? By synthetically activating noncoding DNA, the researchers demonstrated how promoters, short DNA sequences that mark the start sites of genes and enhancers can communicate. Enhancers that communicate? Remember the R-6 in the V series of how it can transmit? Transmitting is communicating. Remarkably, enhancers can be thousands of base pairs away from their promoters but can stimulate gene transcription by recruiting activator proteins, and by forming direct physical contacts with associated promoters. Enhancers can also sometimes make mysterious transcripts called enhancer RNAs (eRNAs). Kai showed that CRISPR technologies can be used to turn on these eRNAs, and that in some cases, this fosters a type of genomic tracking, wherein an enhancer can be dragged along DNA to engage with downstream promoters. Tracking, transmitters, to promoters? Who or what are the promoters? It also appears that along the way, vital transcriptional and epigenetic information can be deposited. That is direct data-mining of your DNA, are they trying another round of Cosmic Genetics? It is exciting to speculate that this information could serve as sort of gene expression bookmarking, that reinforces subsequent rounds of transcription in a type of positive epigenetic feedback. Their strategy revealed that enhancers and promoters can have intrinsic reciprocity. But who is the receiver? And what is the real intentions behind it one is entitled to ask. While they knew that signals can be transmitted from an enhancer to a promoter, they learned that this transmission can go the other way as well. We see regulation taking place from a promoter to an upstream enhancer. Mechanistically, that's considered noncanonical and thus rather surprising. They also found that CRISPR activators can increase the frequency of physical contacts between enhancers and promoters, but only when targeted to an enhancer, suggesting a sort of one-way street for increasing physical contacts. We now know that these pieces of DNA can send messages in both directions, but that there appears to be a significant aspect of directionality for physical contact. Very creepy one has to say, almost on the levels of stalking, There is certainly reciprocity, but it seems that the predominant regulatory mode here, is one in which an enhancer tracks toward a corresponding promoter or promoters. All of which means, the promoters become the new god. The researchers said their study is only possible because of CRISPR-Cas9 advances. Without these genomic targeting tools, we would have to use other more invasive and disruptive synthetic methods, like knocking out or genetically modifying a regulatory element. Targeting and synthetic the keywords in that sentence. Our approaches here make it easier to epigenetically hijack or repurpose native cellular mechanisms to precisely understand and engineer how genes are controlled. Hijack and repurpose are the keywords in that sentence, are you grasping that more now with this piece?

Part 2 DNA can be used to reliably store a vast amount of digital data. However, retrieval or manipulation of specific data encoded in these molecules has hitherto been difficult. Retrieval or manipulation the keywords there. Now, researchers from the CNRS and the University of Tokyo have pioneered the application of a new method that harnesses enzymes, offering initial clues as to how these technical obstacles may be overcome. Their findings are reported in Nature, October 2022. Nature has indisputably invented the best solution for storing a massive amount of data: DNA. This understanding has inspired the use of DNA for the storage of digital data, converting binary (0 or 1) numbers into one of the four different DNA letters (A, T, C, or G). The great question is; why would a biological vessel be converted into a digital one? Funny enough I had the perfect DNA marital family, which I didn't realize until early 2000's. As all four members of my family had names beginning with A, T, C & G. But how does one find a specific datum in the library of information stored as DNA? And how can calculations with DNA-encoded data be performed directly, without first converting them back into electronic data? These are the questions that teams from the LIMMS (CNRS / University of Tokyo) and Gulliver (CNRS / ESPCI) research laboratories have sought to answer. They are testing a new approach using enzymes and applying the solutions of artificial neurons and neural networks for direct operations on DNA data. Artificial neurons and neural networks, all suggestive of digital people, does it not. All ready for their Metaverse world. But, if you remember the last piece from last year, have they not been trying to convince us of a 2D world since birth? Specifically, the researchers have made use of the reactions of three enzymes to design chemical neurons, that reproduce the network architecture and ability for complex calculations exhibited by true neurons. Their chemical neurons can execute calculations with data on DNA strands and express the results as fluorescent signals. For fluorescent signals, read transmitters, just like the jabs. The LIMMS and Gulliver teams have also innovated by assembling two layers of the artificial neurons in order to refine calculations. Precision is further enhanced through microfluidic miniaturization of reactions, allowing tens of thousands to take place. The fruit of a decade of cooperation between French biochemists and Japanese microfluidics engineers, these breakthroughs may eventually permit better screening for certain diseases as well as the manipulation of gigantic DNA-encoded databases. Manipulation of gigantic DNA-encoded databases? Seriously? The obvious conclusions can be derived from that statement alone. Who made them god or Source? we have to ask. When kept away from water, air, and light, DNA can be preserved for hundreds of thousands of years, without any energy input. And stored in a capsule a few centimeters in diameter, it can hold up to 500 terabytes of digital data. What they are revealing with that is two things; 1. They will use a collective of humans for data storage, instead of expensive servers and 2. This is digital uploaded consciousness technology. By 2025, the total volume of digital data generated by humans is expected to reach 175 zettabytes. Since current storage media are relatively bulky, fragile, and energy-intensive, DNA may provide a viable alternative, able to contain all existing data within the space of a shoebox. Yep, confirmed right there. The problem is, if they decide your shoe doesn't fit into their proverbial shoebox, you get deleted from the mainframe. Which leaves you floating between space and time, a bit like ghosts. Not remembering whether you are real or digital. Facilitating DNA storage will be the PEPR MolecuArxiv goal, a priority research program provided last May by the CNRS. Who are the CNRS? The French National Centre for Scientific Research is the French state research organization and is the largest fundamental science agency in Europe. Let's just see how many clown based operatives this center is connected to. In 2016, it employed 31,637 staff, including 11,137 tenured researchers, 13,415 engineers and technical staff, and 7,085 contractual workers. It is headquartered in Paris and has administrative offices in Brussels, Beijing, Tokyo, Singapore, Washington, D.C., Bonn, Moscow, Tunis, Johannesburg, Santiago de Chile, Israel, and New Delhi. Brussels, DC, Israel and India say much in my opinion, but there is more. From 2009 to 2016, the CNRS was ranked No. 1 worldwide by the SCImago Institutions Rankings (SIR), an international ranking of research-focused institutions, including universities, national research centers and companies such as Facebook and Google. The CNRS ranked No. 2 between 2017 and 2021, then No. 3 in 2022 in the same SIR, after the Chinese Academy of Sciences and before universities such as Harvard University, MIT, or Stanford University. The CNRS was ranked No. 3 in 2015 and No. 4 in 2017 by the Nature Index, which measures the largest contributors to papers published in 82 leading journals. In May 2021, the CNRS ranked No. 2 in the Nature Index, before the Max Planck Society and Harvard University. Quite a list of clown names there. The effectiveness of the recruitment, compensation, career management, and evaluation procedures of CNRS have been under scrutiny. Governmental projects include the transformation of the CNRS into an organization allocating support to research projects on an ad hoc basis and the reallocation of CNRS researchers to universities. Another controversial plan advanced by the government involves breaking up the CNRS into six separate institutes. These modifications, which were again proposed in 2021 by ultraliberal "think tanks" such as the Institut Montaigne, have been massively rejected by French scientists, leading to multiple protests. Think tanks involved as well.

Part 3 Technocrats are wanting a move towards carbon allowance credits. You would only need technocrats if they are implementing a techno based world. A bank in Canada has become the first in the country to launch a credit card that tracks a customer's carbon emissions, amid concerns that such a scheme could one day be used to restrict purchases. Which reveals the credit card is not only tracking your spending, but it is safe to say is also tracking you as well. In fact we have to presume the current credit cards and passports are doing it now. The question is; when did they ask for our permission to do this? In an effort by the credit union to display its commitment to climate action, Vancity will offer a credit card that links purchases to carbon emissions, allowing customers to compare their monthly carbon footprint to the national average. The bank will also advise customers on how to limit their carbon footprint. We know many Vancity members are looking for ways to reduce the impact they have on the environment, particularly when it comes to the emissions that cause climate change, said Jonathan Fowlie, Vancity's Chief External Relations Officer. Where is the evidence to support those claims? Just because a very few people believe it is needed, does not speak for the masses. This is mob rule by the minority, and this is how they promote things. I guess majority doesn't apply when agendas are rolled out. As a member-owned financial cooperative, we believe it is our job to do everything we can to help, especially when it comes to the decisions people make with their money. This tool will equip Vancity Visa credit cardholders with valuable information on their purchases, and enable them to connect their daily spending decisions to the change they want to see in the world. Nope, that means they are planning to add more taxes to purchases they don't approve of, can you see where this is going? According to research carried out by Visa, more than 50% of Canadians are interested in monitoring their carbon footprint. Again where is the evidence of that claim? That is more Johns Hopkins math me thinks. As we previously highlighted, back in October, Australia's Commonwealth Bank (CBA) also announced a similar scheme, giving the customer the option to pay a fee to offset their carbon footprint, with the average listed as 1,280 kilograms, a long way from the sustainable figure of 200 kilograms. They are going to charge you more just to live is what that reveals, sustainable word used again, which is all very agenda 2030 isn't it? How are people supposed to go from 1280 to 200 with no defined directives? Just like people are expected to transition to the electric vehicles, whilst A: there is no infrastructure to accommodate it and B: they closing down the most prominent of electricity generators globally. The world of no sense prevails in their world. Allied with climate lockdowns, technocrats want to exploit hysteria over climate change to increase financial control over individuals. Such a proposal was presented in the science journal Nature by four environmental experts as a means of reducing global carbon emissions. Experts? (M), so because 4 people out of 8B allegedly want these changes, we all have to go along with it? Everyone would be issued with a carbon allowance card, the vaccine passport was the precursor to that, that would entail all adults receiving an equal tradable carbon allowance that reduces over time in line with national carbon targets. The authors make it clear that the program would be a national mandatory policy. That word mandatory again, except mandatory is not law, true law anywhere, but these Hebrew Anunnaki terraforming psychopaths don't and never will understand true law. Carbon units would be deducted from the personal budget with every payment of transport fuel, home-heating fuels and electricity bills, and anyone going over the limit would be forced to purchase additional units in the personal carbon market from those with excess to sell. Like I said, it is another tax on the people. This would naturally only negatively impact poorer people, with the rich able to buy carbon credits in abundance and still enjoy their lavish, environmentally unfriendly opulent lifestyles. Clowns in panic delivered 3.5 years ago now, was right all along as this piece proves. Techno world with a death currency called crypto, with total surveillance in every aspect of your lives, is that what you wish for? I believe we can defeat this, but people must work harder for their future than just the now. People must also learn to come together far more than they do now, that is the key to it all. A united peoples with a common cause will always defeat the system and the clown minions. They are trying to cheat Source again during the ongoing ascension process, only we can make them fail.

EXPOSE: We have touched upon this a few times, another of the sensitive topics for many people, which means most tend to avoid it. But avoiding the issues has never solved the problem has it? This document piece will go into more detail. This is ugly, real ugly and will likely trigger negative reactions in you, 45-55 is best with this piece. This about the global problem of human trafficking and the sex slavery trade, whilst many things over the past 5 years has de-escalated these practices, we cannot rest until it is practically eradicated. Another related ongoing shameful practice, that's has increased globally is, the harvesting of human organs from war victims and selling them on the black market. It will reveal who the profiteering perpetrators are and the beneficiary nations where organs are trafficked. It also reveals just how profitable to the shekel based Hebrew Anunnaki, that war is. Most people think in terms of war of dropping bombs and shooting each other, and that does occur, but behind the façade, rhetoric and pro pagan da, an even more sinister program is being ran. With the war in Syria still raging in its fifth year, the Damascus university medical doctor heading the newly formed Medical Forensics department Dr. Hussein Nofal, estimates that at least 18,000 Syrians have had organs removed during the war thus far. Since the outbreak of war in 2012, 6.5 million people have been displaced within Syria and another 4.8 million have become refugees, forced to flee to neighboring countries like Turkey and Lebanon or 10% have migrated to Europe. With another 386,000 estimated dead, that's 11.7 million humans in Syria who have violently lost their lives or homes, stunningly over half the total prewar population of 22 million Syrians. Yet how many Americans ask, why are we really in Syria at all? All this tragic human horror only occurs because of an overly aggressive, imperialistic US-Israeli foreign policy creating a path of chaos and destruction across the Middle East and North Africa, secretly supporting Islamic terrorists to fight US-Israeli proxy wars to illegally overthrow sovereign national governments like Assad's. The ruling elite behind the Greater Israel Project, deploys the US Empire to manufacture unlawful wars and the subsequent largest migration crisis since WWII, to willfully and methodically destabilize the world generating such dire human living conditions that expedite the formation of a one world government. Packing people in like sardines, makes them easier to manage you see. And I suspect they will turn many countries into wildlife reserves that are not accessible by the general populace. The all too common human story is, that thousands of Syrians unable to find work trapped in inhumane conditions at migrant refugee camps in adjacent countries, have opted to desperately sell their organs in order to support their families. Parasitic criminal gangs and international cabal rings opportunistically set up thriving predatory operations exploiting the surplus of war refugees, by organizing intricate organ trafficking networks throughout countries like Turkey, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq and Egypt. Notice one country is missing from that geographical list? All those refugees deliberately created and yet ironically but also by criminal design, the two closest neighboring countries most powerful in the region that are most directly responsible for the Islamic terrorists and the MENA wars, Israel and Saudi Arabia, who both refuse to even take in a single refugee from the very same wars they both create and promote. Note that Israel, Saudi Arabia along with the third wheel Turkey as part of the US Empire-led axis-of-evil, longtime regional ally and fellow NATO member Turkey received a $6.6 billion bribe from the bankrupted EU, to manage and control the migration crisis, only to then turn around and unleash yet more waves of refugees pouring into Europe to this day. And it's Turkey and Israel that both also play the most prominent role in the soaring organ trafficking epidemic as well. Similar to Syrians, Palestinians in Israel have also been known to donate kidneys and other organs to feed their impoverished children. See a pattern here? Create extreme economic hardship purposely engineered to manipulate desperate parents trying to provide for their families, endangering themselves to give up their own body parts for sorely needed survival money. That has to be one of the most evil practices ever, forcing people into poverty and asking them to sell their body parts? Just what has society come to? According to Dr. Nofal, donors in Turkey can earn $10,000 for a kidney, while in war torn Iraq the price may be as low as $1,000, whereas in Syria and Lebanon the going rate for selling a kidney is around $3,000. More than a half dozen years ago the largest Swedish daily newspaper the Aftonbladet, reported that Israel engaged in systematic harvesting of organs belonging to Palestinians being killed by the bloodthirsty apartheid government. After the usual anti-Semitic charges from Israel denying such accusations, the Swedish newspaper standing by its original story was then further corroborated by the release of an interview in 2000 with Israel's forensic institute Abu Kabir head Dr. Yehuda Hiss. He stated that in the 1990's the institute harvested skin, corneas, heart valves and bones from deceased Israeli soldiers and civilians, as well as foreign workers and Palestinians without legal consent from their families. Finally, the Israeli Defense Forces admitted the illegal practice but insisted that organ harvesting ceased in 1999, and that family permission is now legally secured prior to any harvested organs for transplants. Just like Bush stating Operation Mockingbird and MK Ultra had ended, they lie through their serpent-based teeth. Meanwhile a number of Palestinian families have registered formal complaints over the years, upon observing the returned bodies of their family members conspicuously missing body parts. A pro-Israeli magazine the Forward confirmed that Israel had been routinely stealing Palestinians' organs for Israeli citizens' spare parts. Isn't highly ironic that they call us all beasts, animals and goyim, yet desperately want our body parts? Finally even the pro-Israeli New York Times has called out the Tel Aviv regime, for its disproportionate role in organ trafficking since 2000. Don't think the New York Times is beneficial, they are two sides of the same coin as far as we are concerned. UC Berkeley professor, anthropologist, activist-author and head of the watchdog group Organ Watch Nancy Scheper-Hughes, who released the 2000 Dr. Hiss interview implicated Israel's nefarious organ harvesting and trafficking program said Israel is at the top. It has tentacles reaching out worldwide, Israeli organ traffickers had and still have a pyramid system at work that's awesome, they have brokers everywhere, bank accounts everywhere; they've got recruiters, they've got translators, they've got travel agents who set up the visas. All of which reveals this is highly organized (pardon the pun) and involves many people in many departments, and yet again proves the sheer folly of trusting medical people. Medic – al, the god medic, like alchemy, the chemist of the gods. The words used tentacles and pyramids should not be lost on the listeners either. Hughes has bluntly described organ harvesting as paying the poor and the hungry to slowly dismantle their bodies. A 2001 BBC report disclosed that Israel per capita stands as the world's largest recipient nation for organ transplants, yet is the country with the fewest organ donors. The problem is additionally compounded by the fact that the Tel Aviv government including the Minister of Defense has historically encouraged the practice, only making organ harvesting and trafficking illegal in 2008. For years, the Israeli healthcare system subsidized transplant holidays up to $80,000 in reimbursement for organ recipients to travel abroad for transplants. Insurance carriers customarily paid the tab on all remaining costs. Hughes has described Israel's leading role in the international crime syndicate, that is organized through a local business corporation in conjunction with a leading transplant surgeon, operating out of a major medical center not far from Tel Aviv. Additional connections include transplant surgeons in Turkey, Russia, Moldova, Estonia, Georgia, Romania, Brazil and New York City. With Israeli Foreign Minister Avigdor Lieberman originating from the poorest nation in Europe Moldova, it's no accident as Scheper-Hughes says, that hundreds of Israelis have created a production line that starts in the villages of Moldova, where men today are walking around with one kidney. Despite organ trafficking being a flagrant international violation of law, Israeli crime rings are still actively harvesting organs from the world's poorest countries. It's a crime condoned in large part by wealthier nations like Israel and America where the affluent can afford to pay extra costs, to get bumped up on multiple waiting lists for livers, kidneys and corneas. Wealthy nations predatorily feed off poor nations and corruption at the highest deep state levels ensure that the guilty parties are never brought to justice. Frequently the criminal body snatchers end up not even paying poor donors the quoted price promised. It bears resemblance to poachers killing endangered species like African hippos and elephants for their ivory tusks, or cutting off shark fins and then leaving the animals bleeding to death. To the traffickers, internal human organs are just another precious commodity worth far more than any donor's human life. A 1984 law made human organ trafficking illegal in America. But the first case in the US occurred in July 2009 when an Israeli citizen living in New York who paid donors in Israel $10,000 was arrested, trying to sell them for $120,000 each to three Americans in need of kidney transplants. Another example of born in and born to. After making millions trafficking in kidneys, he was not deported because his crime was not deemed of moral turpitude, and after the organ peddler served a brief two-and-a-half-year prison sentence, he was released in December 2014. Not deemed moral turpitude? Seriously? Moral turpitude is an act or behavior that gravely violates the sentiment or accepted standard of the community. So, according the fake justice department, selling illegal body parts is not moral turpitude. The convicted Israeli trafficker carried a gun on him and if he encountered misgivings by a potential donor, the kidney smuggler would allegedly point his finger at the donor's head simulating he was pulling the trigger. His illegal racket became the biggest corruption case in New Jersey state history, as it uncovered a money laundering scheme into the millions. A former state assemblyman who was the current NJ Commissioner of Consumer Affairs resigned over his involvement and the supervising FBI agent concluded: New Jersey's corruption problem is one of the worst, if not the worst, in the country. Corruption is a cancer that is destroying the core values of this state and this great nation. That is ironic coming from the FBI, their own corruption has never been addressed in any way shape or form either. Considering how widespread the Israeli crime syndicate rings are, that continue harvesting and trafficking organs at will to this day. The US judicial system's over-the-top leniency in this case amounts to complicit condoning of the international crime operation, and undoubtedly is taken as a green-light for business as usual by the crime cabal responsible for global harvesting and trafficking of both body parts, as well as human slavery. Corruption at the top of the international government crime cabal keeps this sordid criminal epidemic in operation and immune from any accountability, not unlike the obscene profiteering from illegal wars or the international drug trade enjoyed by the US government and the most powerful central banks laundering dirty fed drug money. These blatant high crimes are but symptomatic of a decaying, fast crumbling US-Western Empire nearing its final stages of collapse. Last December another Israeli organ trafficker was arrested by Interpol police at the Istanbul airport. After forty days in Turkish custody, he was extradited back to Israel to face charges. Like Epstein and others who faces sexual abuse charges, those return to Israel knowing they are immune to prosecution. The organ smuggler had made arrangements to tap the large destitute Syrian migrant population in Turkey, to coordinate illegal organ surgeries with local doctors in small private hospitals. He already had charges against him for his illicit operations amongst impoverished organ donors in Kosovo, Azerbaijan and Sri Lanka from 2008-2014. He had also placed ads in Russian newspapers in search of potential donors. As is typical, no information or medical follow-up is ever given to donor victims who often suffer complications. For example, one boy in Kosovo was paralyzed after his kidney removal. Consistent with the evil crime cabal forces that operate in coordinated unison, the US-NATO-EU-Israel-Turkey-Saudi-Gulf State axis-of-evil that is overwhelmingly guilty of not-so-covertly financing, training, supplying and supporting global terrorism in the form of the Takfiri Wahhabis' Islamic State terrorists, which is, IS/ISIL/ISIS/Daesh/al Nusra/al Qaeda. And since Russia in support of the Syrian Army have literally blown up the IS terrorist's main source of revenue funding, stolen oil from Iraq and Syria on its way to Turkey and Israel, the business of organ harvesting and trafficking on that same black market is now becoming big business. Several weeks ago the Spanish daily El Mundo claimed that the Islamic State terrorists are cutting out bodily organs of captured Syrian and Iraqi soldiers, as well as civilians and refugees while still alive, for transplants for either their own wounded jihadists or selling them as a needed source of revenue. ISIS is also reported to be killing even its own seriously injured militants for organ harvesting and trafficking. Additionally, the terrorists are extracting large volumes of blood from Mosul prisoners. Personnel at one Mosul hospital claimed that they have witnessed at least 183 corpses with missing body parts. ISIS has set up a medical team with a German doctor said to be in charge that transports fresh organs to the Syrian and Iraq Kurdistan fronts, for transplants into wounded terrorists or sold on the black market. The UN Iraqi ambassador last year made these same accusations, reporting that the terrorists have executed a dozen doctors for refusing to harvest organs. It was confirmed when shallow mass graves of mutilated bodies missing kidneys were discovered outside Mosul. All of which reveals the UN is a part of it, because they have done absolutely nothing to stop this, indeed in some cases are a part of it. As recent as last November the Palestinian ambassador to the UN, once again accused the Israeli regime with harvesting Palestinians' organs killed in clashes with occupying forces. Then as far back as October 2012 reports that the US backed Free Syrian

Army, had been engaging in this same heinous practice of kidnapping-murder of Syrian civilians for organ harvesting. And then it was confirmed by a January 2011 Council of Europe report, that once again another US-NATO backed ally the Kosovo Liberation Army led by the current president of Kosovo, ran a mafia-like operation smuggling guns, drugs and Serbian body parts into Europe for profit, from the 1990's through the first decade of this century. Recall that the US and CIA financed and deployed al Qaeda terrorists as KLA partners-in-crime during those same 1990's, balkanizing Yugoslavia into a half dozen fragmented US puppet states. Instead of being tried and convicted of war crimes, two months ago the Kosovo parliament rewarded Hashim Thaci by electing him as the current Kosovo Republic president, with his claims he has nothing to hide from the new crimes court in Hague. Thaçi has a nom de guerre, which is a fictional name he goes by called Gjarpëri, which when translated means, the snake. Yet again the serpent reference comes up, like a rising kundalini, all too ready to strike. Thaçi is alleged to have extensive criminal links. During the period of time when he was head of the Kosovo Liberation Army, The Washington Times reported that the KLA was financing its activities by trafficking the illegal drugs of heroin and cocaine into western Europe. Which means he and they are linked to the CIA, so he is another Langley based puppet. Returning to the Turkish-Israeli connection in organ harvesting and trafficking, probably the two most notorious gangsters involved in this despicable crime is a highly skilled Turkish surgeon named Ysef Somnez and the Israeli middleman fixer Moshe Harel. He has ethnic Turkish ties responsible for matching donor organs with recipients and the electronic transfers of millions upon millions of dollars. Both of these criminals were actively involved in the extensive Kosovo smuggling operations, with the Turkish doctor performing thousands of surgeries on both money starved donors from Moldova, Turkey, Kosovo and Russia and wealthy recipients from Israel, the US, Canada and Germany. They also have been indicted in Kosovo, Israel, Turkey as well as by Interpol and despite being international fugitives on the run for nearly a decade, with both having repeatedly been arrested and then released in Israel and Istanbul, both managed to elude prosecution to remain at large. So, it appears that Turkey as well as Israel has a permanent day of atonement. Both Erdogan's Turkish government and Netanyahu's Israeli government are known to be extremely lax towards enforcing organ harvesting and trafficking laws, and it's believed that both nations with US Empire blessings have sheltered and allowed the crime duo to remain free. The Turkish surgeon on both his blog as well as meeting in person with a New York Times reporter in 2011 while sipping Turkish red wine, even boasted that he's performed over 2,400 organ surgeries. He has been awarded a commendation letter he's framed from the Israeli Ministry of Health thanking him for his life-saving work. Again, instead of being behind bars where they belong, this crime pair are super-wealthy jetsetters flying around the world living large as psychopathic criminals with powerful friends allowing them to literally get away with murder. Yet more fake awards they all give to each other on this planet, like the school exam certificate, college certificates, university certificates, PHD'S and the Constitution, they are not worth the paper they are written on. A commendation letter for organ trafficking, when in the real word it should be a condemnation letter and prison. Both Somnez and Harel have cashed in on the Syrian refugee bonanza cutting out Syrian kidneys, livers, hearts, lungs and corneas to make their mass killing in Turkey. Just as Turkey and Israel have bought up the bulk of stolen black market oil from the terrorists they love, and now they profit from stealing human organs from hospitalized Syrian civilians brought to Turkey for treatment. After the surgery, young Syrian victims minus their vital organs are cruelly left bleeding to death. Turkish doctors confirmed that out of the 62,000 wounded Syrian civilians and soldiers treated in Turkish hospitals, over 15,600 of them had internal organs removed and were returned dead on arrival to Syria for burial. The mass murderers Somnez and Harel left their infamous mark in the multibillion-dollar organ trafficking industry in Kosovo, Turkey and Tel Aviv. Every major war in the last two decades from Iraq, Afghanistan, Syria, Libya to Ukraine has been visited by bloodthirsty body snatching ghouls out to make a grotesque profit. Tony Cartalucci writing for New Eastern Outlook drives home the hypocrisy that the US-led axis-of-evil screams foul play with human rights abuses, whenever any force like Russia attempts to stop the menacing Western sponsored terrorists. A common tactic used by agencies, accuse others of doing what they are doing? Once you understand that, it is one of the simplest forms of gathering intel. Yet when the Nazis of Kiev are literally ripping the hearts, lungs and kidneys out of residents in the Donbas region of eastern Ukraine, not a peep is heard from that axis-of-evil. Firsthand accounts from eyewitnesses reporting the rampant killing of civilians in the breakaway provinces by organ snatching mass murderers, are totally blacked out or quickly dismissed by Western mainstream media. The international airport personnel in Boryspil observed many small aircraft chartered with refrigerators for organ transplant storage. A kidney bought for ten grand quickly gets turned over for 150 grand. The overlapping crime ring fingerprints of the same greedy body snatchers from Israel, Turkey and Kosovo keep surfacing whenever and wherever investigators begin poking around on every warfront. The barbaric crimes of a multibillion-dollar gangster business sanctioned and protected by the likes of Israel, Turkey and the United States is yet one more crime against humanity committed daily by the mass murdering cabal. Rather than accept the evils of global slavery and organ trafficking perpetrated by power and profit driven psychopaths with total impunity, the corrupt, criminal victimization of preying on and murdering poor humans to keep a few rich humans alive is morally reprehensible. The perps need to be held accountable while their victims need justice. Is there any end to their evil ways, what is the bottom of the barrel with this? Is there anything they will not make shekels from? Seems not with these evil psychopaths. You do realize this is another event in the Cosmic Genetics skullduggery, don't you? Harvesting skin, corneas, heart valves, bones and organs, all have the potential to be genetic interference games again do they not? Taking our body parts to keep themselves going? All very parasitic and Metatronic isn't it? All that evil exhibited by small group, and yet we are told they are god's chosen ones? Anyone with an ounce of common sense or decency has to now ask, why the hell would god do that? Allow them to commit the most evil of crimes? Give them perpetual days of atonement, which their crimes and sins are then passed onto us. A real god wouldn't, but then the god of the book is not real to begin with, a book written by these same people, or beings. IS/ISIL/ISIS/Daesh/al Nusrah/al Qaeda, you do realize they are the same as the Hyksos, Vikings and Saxons of the Cosmic Genetic series, off world entities. You wish to really know why this planet is evil, because it is being ran by a parasitic off world group of entities. You know what?

OTHER PIECES: Well I've been pondering again. The calendars of Egypt and faraway Peru both had eighteen months of twenty days, with a five-day holiday at year's end. Which accounts for 365 days, the same as we have now, yet previous calendars had 13 months of twenty days, which suggests the planet was closer to the sun. If they were basing it on a solar calendar. That went to 320 days, 325, 360 and now 365.25. The great question is; did the Egyptians and Peru people come from the same planet? Did they just adopt their home world months and days? Another thing is, if you divide 365 by the 13 months as it should be, you get roughly 28 days a month. All of which coincides with the moon cycle, not the solar cycle.

With Christmas just passed for another year, and the religious aspect to it giving way to materialism, what happens next? The whole religious narrative surrounding xmas has largely been discarded in the western world. Despite what religious people may think of that, that is a good thing. But the rampant expense all for one day, really has to be looked at by all people, given the tightened of the fiscal policies, increased fake taxes called inflation and the dwindling money supply all round. People go into great debt to celebrate this holiday, but I am certain that wasn't the intention behind it, apart from the shekel people. But the day marks the end of Jesus they tell us with a crucifixion, and scholars have done everything to try and prove that narrative. The gist is, the sun spelt SUN not SON died on the cross, behind the sun in the night or day sky on winter solstice through xmas day lies the constellation the Southern Cross. So, the SUN dies on the cross for 3 days, and then rises above the horizon on the 25th, and the SUN ascends into the heavens. Perhaps it was in the word all along? Cruc noun plural cruxes or cruces a vital or decisive stage or point, often said in the phrase the crux of the matter. But crux also means cross. A vital stage or point in fiction? Or Crux I fiction, the cross of fiction? A partial destruction of the natural south pole star called the Southern Cross. I guess it was the sign of the Southern Cross all along.

Here is another pondering of mine, given the recent FHSTOS Plus series called the story of the V's. Given the CIA's lack of humanity, we asked are they cia-kars? But another group who do much damage to humanity is the fives eyes group. 5 Anunnaki, 5 regions divided up by Anu, Enki, Enlil and company. After the Illuminati came the 5 factions. Five in Roman numerals is represented by the letter V, V is also the shape of the constellation Taurus, home of the Aldebaran's, V is also the Hebrew sign from Star Trek. Given that knowledge is five eyes a V for visitor based group? Is it five eyes or V eyes? Or both?

We did a whole piece on Sekmet recently and the connection to the lion, or the lion-serpent. Here is a piece from FHSTOS Plus 16 Rites are wrong, which perhaps revealed more than I realized at the time. The wiccan festivals we revealed and November 29: Egyptian Feast of Hathor honoring the Goddess as Horned Mother, and also as Sekhmet the Lion Goddess of the Sun, Bastet, the Cat Goddess of Fertility and Life, Triple Goddess Bast-Hathor-Sekhmet. An all-round spy fest then. Egyptian Lucky Day of Sekmet, Sekmet the ravaging lioness with her burning solar eye, is the destroyer devourer aspect of the goddess. Horned just like Moses was then. As for Hathor, she was known as the seductress, I believe Cleopatra was the avatar version for Hathor. The burning solar eye of course is Ra, which brings in Rahu. When the word is split up as Ra and Hu, and remember the Sumerian Hu means serpent.

Judging by the comments, you all enjoyed getting to know the details of our THI trip in May. A first for me, because the timing was right, and this time I wasn't alone. But, I have had 7 months to assess and dissect what has evolved from that day forward. A quiet steady assessment of the energies, frequencies, the solar output, the effects on our day to day lives. But also assessing how it impacted or affected those 16 who attended as well. What the effects were? Whether positive, negative or neutral had on each member had to be garnered for the next step. For most the impact was positive, a chance to see our own true power without external technology. Some still are in awe of it, but that has to be transmuted into developing their own skill sets. Some struggled and went on a power tripping crusade, which is all too common from my perspective. The psychological impact is important to me to assess where people are at, and are they ready for more responsible roles, some let themselves down. But this in many ways is the remit of the teacher, you can't force people to learn or get it, and requires bundles of patience with all individuals. In essence it is a whole new learning course, and that takes time, but some hold onto the old trusty worn out jacket known as the old world, old ways, the hurts and broken hearts, plus old failed models and programs for dear life. Negating the fact that THI has shown you all, what you hold onto is not life, but anti-life. For the teacher who can see the potential, that can be ultimately frustrating, but in some cases patience and perseverance can still bear fruit. Mind the gap is a common saying, but is the gap minding the mind? Who or what is the gap? If someone else is minding the mind, and you allowed it, you do realize that is implied consent, our own consent book told you that. So, what is the gap? In terms of years it is the difference between 1-39 years or the gap of 2158 years. Do you a-void that? Or in void that? Those that hold onto or dangle in the past do not have an immediate future. Those that fail to let go of their own lies and those presented to them, will also recycle linearly. Those with fear(s) or little to no heart will also be recycled linearly. The path of enlightenment carries many shadows, they have to be integrated. Those too frightened of their own power, will also be recycled. Going to the higher frequency requires all of the above addressed, but there is one key word missing, love. The love frequency is more prevalent in the higher frequency band, if you are not ready to accept higher frequencies and love that will also be a recycle path. You cannot advance not being of and in love, because if you are not of and in it, you reside in the fear frequency band, which is the lower frequency domains. Those are the ways and paths to true enlightenment, not the fake versions we have all been fed. The great question is; who is really blocking you developing? The value of what was done in May, only bears fruit if the people take responsibility for it. Acting in a better way, a more loving way, a more higher frequency based way, a more caring way. Those are the characteristics of true freedom, the characteristics we must ascend to. You can't go into the free-dom-ain with the failures of the past. Are you 2, 3 or 4? I guess no time will tell. What I do or where I go is irrelevant, it is what you do or go that really counts. The path is not to be chained, the pathway is love and all it takes is, you letting go. Will it be fear or love? And remember everything you ever wanted, is on the other side of fear. Pay particular attention to the lyrics of this song, all of you.

Read the lyrics, what are the words saying to you? ENDING PIECE: This was done recently but I think a reminder is in order, not the Masonic Temple of the Omega Order I might add. A masonic group related to the Omega, well I never, not just the Scottish Rite then. This is the original piece with added ponderings, that plays into the last piece I just did. The ability to see and what you don't see is not down to your own abilities, but what you have accepted as your viewing purview. Pur-view, funny word that and means the scope of the influence or concerns of something. The scope of whose influence or influences one may ask? Given before view comes the pur, is that the view of the cat? Is the cat the influencer? What a little Bastet that is lol. Purveu, in law; the body of a statute, the substance of an act, pourvu; provided, past participle of porveoir to provide, from Latin providere look ahead, prepare, supply, act with foresight, from pro ahead + videre to see. From PIE root *weid- to see. Weid is the hypothetical source of/evidence for its existence is provided by: Sanskrit veda I know. But do you know or do you "see"? do you know what you see? Or are you mind memed your whole life? Life is all about perspective it is not? The meme is the single point of the mind, the heart brings in the overview and the 7 angles of perspective, sight and subsequently insight. That type of sight is your real sight, you do realize that? Insight? Your sight within that means, not external sighting. What you see with the eyes is a pre-positioned mind meme provided to you since you were a child. Remember the picture cards when you were young? Produce the picture, memorizing the word and say the word of the object. You do realize they were mind memes? Representations of the world and their images, for us to memorize and supplant as memory or is it meme-ory? A repeat back in a closed loop. Why is it a closed loop? Because the object is dictated by their memes, not your own thinking and understanding. Take for example the apple, is it an apple? Or is it a heart or is it a planet? Remember the apple has a core and a center seed, so is it an apple or a planet? Or can it be both depending upon your view point, perspective and understanding? People will look at the picture as a single point, an object, an image and a shape, just like looking at the sun. In 2D you look at the sun, in higher dimensions you look not at, but through the sun. Because after all it is a portal. But we have been mind-trained to look at things in the sky in 2D only, where is the depth? Because when you apply the depth or 3D to it, then you can really see. You are then seeing what you actually see, not a meme-ory mind view point provided to you by the system of control. I asked in a show some time back, does Australia exist? And most 2d thinkers will say of course it does, it has been in pictures, it is on the telly, been in movies and books, and it is a valid response. But if that was the directive for coming to the truth, please explain the belief in god? Please explain all the mythological creatures? Please explain the mirage above a hot road? Please explain why the railway lines all come to a point? Please explain why the moon appears to be closer to us? Do they exist? Or is that what they have told you exists? But what other people have told you is, their truth or opinion, but it is not yours is it? Like the maps piece earlier, clearly they have overlaid us with their Go -ogle map, well, you can ogle at it all you like, but that is not your version is it? What that means is, your view, understanding and perception of the world and everything, is formed by something or someone else. All created by 2d images, I-mages, mirror magic and supposition. A book, picture or movie are all 2D images that we have accepted as our reality in a supposed 3D world. Assumption like logic, is not fact, it is the pre-disposed positions of other people. Predispose means putting someone in a frame of mind to be willing to do or accept something. Pre means before, then dispose, so before they dispose of you, they get you in a frame of mind, to then be willing or accept your fate. You do realize that, but will you use your real eyes and come to the same conclusion, is that they have been imposing upon us a 2D world and reality. The ultimate in mind memes, the perfect form of subtle devolution, all done by accepting their views and opinions of your world. In essence they have manufactured and overlaid the world how they wish you to see it, what is worse is, we went along with it. If a picture paints a thousand words, who is the painter? I said sometime back this planet is all about shrinking everything into smaller and smaller units. Smaller people, animals, trees, fruits, eyesight, brains, frequencies, heart, feelings, emotions and all to make people believe and stay in the mind. The great question is; who was minding your mind? The planet of devolution not evolution is what has unfolded, let's make man in our image? Plus, is it the case of let's make man believe in our image that we present to them? The 2D world mind meme is another of their overlay worlds, and a devolution program. Now can you see? What do you see? What did you not see? The latter is the main thing. You can't see the forest for the trees, except in the Petrified Forest, there is no trees, so no forest. But everyone who visits there believes it is a forest, but that is their 2D mind meme overlay world perspective, because in 3D and your world, there is no forest. They are creating a movie for you, almost like the Westworld series, an image of the fake reality they wish for you to not only see, but believe in it as well. But it is not real is it? Everything is backwards, everything is upside down applies here, everything stated or produced as external when it is internal, like the blame game it is all pointing away from us. But that is not correcting the issues is it? The solution then can only be, to go within. Nature, nurture, the planet, portals, stargates, a healing machine, treasure, Source the creator, the Universe, a god, the sun, the savior, infinite consciousness, the Universal library, a spaceship, music and love, you do realize all those things are contained within you. The question then becomes: why do you deny yourselves those gifts? Your reality then becomes playing the role of victim/victimizer and the Egyptian river, no not the Styx, but de-nial. Who needs the cabal or controllers when we operate in denial and victimhood? Perhaps a new year's resolution is required? To stop playing the victim and denying ourselves our own power, time then to embrace and become that power, and use it in an all-encompassing way. Those who follow the small part of themselves become small people and devolution, and those who follow the great part of themselves become great people, and ultimately evolution. A reminder from Cosmic Genetics it said: Dimension 2 is 3D Instinct and 3D data relay, the realm of the bio-human bots. Which begs the question; were the rigor mortis people seen on videos recently, just animated figures? So, when not animated they went back into their natural state, of a test dummy. Or where they pulled back into 2D, the realm of the bio-human bots? Connect that to the saying carbon or cardboard cutout, are the 2D animated bots just carbon or cardboard cutouts? Are they now being cut out forever? Remember a 2D world is not carbon based, are you connecting the dots now? The question is; will you go with them or not?
