The People's Colors report: The memes are flowing in magnificent abundance in TPCOLORS this month!! All members are coming up with great ideas. We are now honing our favorite memes with more of a view as to the world we are building. We are increasingly aware of what they are doing and have done. But as the song I believe I can fly states, if I can see it, I can do it! So, we are setting the vision through memes to depict clearly the wonder of what's next, what's possible and our hearts desires are the limit or, better put, our heart's desires are the energetic outflow of creating. We are endeavoring to clearly define attributes of our new world. The indrawn breath and wide-eyed wonder we all experienced from the first Avatar movie (especially those of us who remembered) is what we're after, with a punchline of we have a magnificent plan of how to get there. They will then be directed to THI/TPC as well as our Blueprint. Side note: We are increasingly astounded at the daily encounters of people who are not buying the rhetoric. The ground is very fallow for the sowing! Now's the time!!!

Our media team have now created a telegram channel, please go out and support it and share it far and wide. The address is, https://t.me/THI_SHOW.COM THI and its members just keeps on growing in terms of numbers, but also our skill sets as well. Asking all members to step up and join a team, and display your own skill sets. If not spend a little time each week getting our info out on various other sites. Telegram address has interesting connotations on word play, t.me. Here is a pondering or two, OMG they cry he has only just started the show and he is making me think, sheesh. Indeed. Is it tiny versus ME? Or with the missing letter I in t.me, could it be there is no I in time? Just like there is no I in team.

NEWS: Now the media are turning on ChatGPT, perhaps they heard our warning and are worried about their own jobs? Either way it is nice it is being covered outside of THI. As Laura Ingraham showcases how faculty at Vanderbilt used ChatGPT to write a reflection on the shootings at Michigan State. She said; Sadly, stupidity has become the fastest growing industry in America today and nowhere is this more evident than in the academic world. I agree on both counts and yes it is sad. Now consider the latest embarrassing revelation from the land of higher education at Vanderbilt, one of the hottest universities in the country. Yes, hottest as in hot bed for producing clowns and psychopaths. Two associate deans at the Peabody Schools Office of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion, were caught doing something that would get most students tossed out. After the tragic killings at Michigan State University. Nicole Joseph and Hasina Mohyuddin felt the need to send out a campus wide email to reflect on the shooting. Only one problem, they used the Artificial Intelligence app chatGPT to write it for them. Wow. No big surprise right, that the bot used the typical liberal AI blather and redundant expressions. This was part of it; the recent Michigan shootings are a tragic reminder of the importance of taking care of each other, particularly in the context of creating inclusive environments. Inclusive environments? Ironic coming from the MSM since most of their rhetoric is about dividing people, which is not inclusive. Now, these women were so sloppy and so lazy, that they didn't notice the small print at the end of the actual letter which read; Paraphrase from Open AI's chatGPT AI Language Model Personal Communication February 15th, 2023. I am so pleased this is being highlighted, as a few of you have said to me recently, it seems THI is making the news.

Certainly looks that way, what pleases me is not our recognition, but the narrative is now having to be covered in the MSM.

The Israeli take down forecasted in our show continues to gather pace. What is pleasing from my perspective is, it is not just one place, country or group either, there are many now jumping on it. Government officials in Tel Aviv, have expressed their dismay after the Israeli delegation was kicked out of the African Union summit in the Ethiopian capital Addis Ababa on 18 February, allegedly at the request of Algeria and South Africa. Does or did anyone ask why Israel was attending an African summit to begin with? Since when is a fake state in the Middle East, African? Israel views seriously the incident in which the deputy for Africa, Ambassador Sharon Bar-Li, was removed from the African Union hall despite her status as an accredited observer with access badges, said foreign ministry spokesperson Lior Hayat. Interesting last name she has Bar-Li, is that related to the notorious Li family from China? Hayat blamed Iran for the delegation's expulsion, (M) lamenting that the African Union has been taken hostage by a small number of extremist countries such as Algeria and South Africa, driven by hatred and controlled by Iran. Change the script will ya, blame Iran, as bad as the clowns in the US blaming Russia for everything. An AU official who spoke with AFP said that, the Israeli official who was escorted out by security was not invited to attend the meeting, as the non-transferable invitation was issued to Israel's ambassador to the AU, Aleli Admasu. It is regrettable that the individual in question would abuse such a courtesy, the official said. South African President Cyril Ramaphosa's spokesman Vincent Magwenya, meanwhile, told AFP that Israel must substantiate their claim about Pretoria's alleged involvement in the incident. Israel's accreditation to the 55-member bloc has become a contentious issue for many member states. The 2021 decision by African Union Commission chief Moussa Faki Mahamat triggered a rare dispute within a body that values consensus, with powerful member states who have suffered from apartheid and colonization, notably South Africa, loudly protesting the move. Algeria also protested the move, arguing that it contradicted AU statements of support for the Palestinian territories. Last year's AU summit suspended a debate on whether to withdraw Israel's accreditation and established a committee to address the issue. Following Tel Aviv's accreditation in 2021, the Palestinian resistance group Hamas strongly condemned the decision, describing it as shocking and reprehensible. The decision would legitimize the presence of the occupying Israeli regime on our lands, and would give it more chances to press ahead with its plans to deny Palestinians their rights and to continue its brutal crimes against them. They also called on African states, which it said still suffer from the yoke of colonialism and racism, to expel Israel from the pan-African bloc and to slap it with sanctions until it acquiesces in truth and justice. What a fantastic idea and something we covered in the blueprint. But then several of the African leaders know all about THI, after the Ghanaian president read out whole section of one of our Expose shows. The people are gaining a voice and turning against the fake state now, clock is ticking a lot faster now on ending their hostile takeover of this planet.

A US billionaire financier who helped pioneer the debt-fueled corporate acquisition known as a leveraged buyout has been found dead, his family says. In a statement, Thomas H Lee's family said they were extremely saddened by the 78-year-old's death. The New York Post reports that he died from a self-inflicted gunshot wound at his Manhattan office. The NYPD told the BBC an unnamed 78-year-old man had been found dead on Thursday morning at 767 Fifth Avenue. The address is where the offices of Thomas H Lee Capital LLC are listed. One can never know the circumstances of this incident, but my mind immediately flashed back to June 2019 and our Clowns in Panic show. Where I warned of the system going after millionaires, which has already unfolded. But also low billionaires as well, as this heist ongoing will swallow them all and it is a multi-billionaire game. Is this evidence of such? Time will tell. But the greater question is; are these billionaires now panicked that much of being exposed, they will take their own lives for their part in it? Is it possible we will see a rise in these types of incidents by the ultra-rich? The Blueprint due out in full this month, endeavors to address that.

SOCIETY NEWS: In a move that will likely spark fake outrage, the civil college of the Supreme Court of Cassation in Bulgaria banned any change in a person's gender. SCC's civil college was asked by the high court's chairperson to issue an interpretation ruling in 2020, due to the history of contradictory decisions on this issue. The ruling cited a Constitutional Court decision, issued in 2021 following a request for clarification made by the SCC, which re-affirmed that the concept of gender in the country's constitution referred solely to the biologic aspect. In its ruling, the SCC said that there were no grounds for a court to accept legal proceedings, to change the gender, name and ID number in the civil status acts of a person who claims to be transgender. Civil status acts in Bulgarian legislation are birth, marriage and death certificates. In a statement, human rights group Bulgarian Helsinki Committee said that the high court's ruling contradicted the international standards with regards to human rights. With its ruling, the SCC will trigger a wave of new judgements against the country in the European Court of Human Rights, the European Court of Justice and the UN Human Rights Committee, the group said. Yet the Bulgarian public themselves approve the ruling, isn't that is what democracy is supposed to be all about? Look I don't particular care what gender you wish to label yourself with. What I object to is; having it rammed in our face and running programs on the children in an attempt to corrupt them and the people. These ridiculous minority programs are bringing division amongst the people, that is my issue. People who are gay or transgender, just get on with your life and quit the exhibitionism and just go about your business, and not politicize it.

I mentioned in three separate news pieces last week of a shortage in major countries of the basics. Just why have the people tolerated such conditions? Chatting to one of our members recently I came across the word load shedding, to be honest I thought our member was a farmer of sort with the term load shedding, ya see I don't know everything. Upon a search of it, it seems it is an electric shut down. A rolling blackout, also referred to as rota or rotational load shedding, rota disconnection, feeder rotation or a rotating outage. Awful lot of names for something that shouldn't be happening this day and age, all about a lack of investment due to the shekel people taking dividends out of everything. It is an intentionally engineered electrical power shutdown, in which electricity delivery is stopped for non-overlapping periods of time over different parts of the distribution region. Rolling blackouts are a last-resort measure used by an electric utility company to avoid a total blackout of the power system. Rolling blackouts are a measure of demand response, if the demand for electricity exceeds the power supply capability of the network. Rolling blackouts may be localized to a specific part of the electricity network, or they may be more widespread and affect entire countries and continents. Rolling blackouts generally result from two causes: insufficient generation capacity or inadequate transmission infrastructure to deliver power to where it is needed. Rolling blackouts are also used as a response strategy, to cope with reduced output beyond reserve capacity from power stations taken offline unexpectedly. In developing countries: Rolling blackouts are a common or even a normal daily event in many developing countries, where electricity generation capacity is underfunded or infrastructure is poorly managed. In well managed under-capacity systems, blackouts are scheduled in advance and advertised to allow people to work around them. But in most cases, they happen without warning, typically whenever the transmission frequency falls below the safe limit. These have wide-ranging impacts, and can affect the expectations of communities, for example in Ghana, dumsor describes the widespread expectations for intermittent unexpected power outages due to rolling blackouts. South Africa: Since 2007, South Africa has experienced multiple periods of rolling blackouts, which are locally referred to as load shedding by the government owned energy utility Eskom. This was initially caused by the country's demand for electricity outgrowing its capacity to supply it, and as time progressed, later exacerbated by the aging power infrastructure, poor maintenance and the slow completion of new power plants. This has caused significantly severe damage to the South African economy and has played a large part in limiting the country's economic growth. Interesting it started in 2007 when Marduk pulled the plug, also interesting is Mandela was one of his trustees. Ukraine: Here comes the pity angle, whilst I have massive sympathy for the Ukrainian people and their suffering, they have to realize they are being used as pawns by the Israeli junta and their puppet Zelensky. During 2022 invasion of Ukraine, Russia conducted multiple attacks on energy infrastructure of Ukraine. Not correct, the fascist regime of Zelensky did false flag attacks on their own country, is the real truth as we reported on some time back. On October 23 rolling blackouts were introduced in Kyiv City and Kyiv region. Rolling blackouts were introduced in all Ukrainian regions on October 25. In developed countries: Rolling blackouts in developed countries sometimes occur due to economic forces at the expense of system reliability, such as in the 2000–01 California energy crisis, or during natural disasters such as heat waves. In California rolling blackouts occurred in June 2000 and in January, March and May 2001. The 2021 Texas power crisis involved rolling blackouts caused by the February 13–17, 2021 North American winter storm and lack of winterization. The Late December 2022 North American winter storm resulted in rolling blackouts in parts of the eastern US. Again the effect is the weather, the cause a complete lack of investment due to the shekel people again. 2011 Tōhoku earthquake: After the 2011 Tōhoku earthquake and tsunami, Tokyo Electric Power Company implemented rolling blackouts. Its service area was divided to five blocks and blackouts were implemented from 6:20 to 22:00. Or maybe it was a nuclear weapon detonated on the seabed that was recovered from the Kursk submarine incident. What is interesting is, this piece actually includes something we have spoken a lot about in the past year, the effects and the cause. Collective consciousness in play again? Effects: Intermittent access to electricity causes major economic problems for businesses, which incur costs in the form of lost resources, reduced patronage or curtailed production, if electrical equipment, for example refrigeration, lighting, or machinery abruptly stops working. Businesses in areas that are subject to regular blackouts may invest in backup power generation to avoid these costs, but power backup is itself a cost because generators must be purchased and maintained and fuel must be regularly replenished. Causes: In some countries, generating capacity is chronically below demand. Assorted factors may prevent adequate investment in generation. Alternately, generating capacity may temporarily decrease below demand, due to power station outages or loss of renewable capacity due to the wind dropping or the sun shining less. Natural disasters can also abruptly reduce supply by damaging power plants. A lack of fuel makes some types of power plant useless. Industrial accidents and poor maintenance can also take generation capacity offline. Conflict can disrupt fuel supply, as well as damage or destroy generating and delivery infrastructure. In electricity grids where power generators are paid a flexible market rate, power suppliers sometimes deliberately keep the generating capacity too low, or fake accidents that take capacity offline to jack up prices. How interesting that is included in the report, false flag accident on the power grid? Oh my. Demand spikes can also cause blackouts. Unusually hot or cold weather can cause demand spikes. In other words everything causes them, yet where after 100 years of running and operating these systems is the improvements? Scheduling: When blackouts are scheduled in advance, they are easier to work around. The speed at which blackouts roll may be adjusted so that no blackout lasts longer than a certain limit. For instance, in Italy, the PESSE Emergency plan for national grid safety does not permit a controlled blackout longer than 90 minutes. In Canada, blackouts have been rolled so that no area had to spend more than one hour without power. The top and bottom line is, the shekel harvesting out of the energy companies and little to nothing put back in over successive generations. Crumbling infrastructure in developed nations and inadequate or none in many other countries. Again our blueprint addresses these matters and endeavors to fix it. The greatest move is to have all utilities publicly owned, no CEO's, no fat salaries, no perks, no shares or dividends either and everything put back into provide the best and most efficient service.

Whilst this is grossly unpleasant to read out and hear it, we must not allow the system to quieten it all down and be lost in a swathe of media misdirection. This must be heard loud and clear by everyone, it is not cool to turn round and say I don't want to hear about this stuff. Knowing about it and ignoring it, makes us complicit in it by implied consent. Whether people like that fact or not. As a little girl, Roberta Hill survived four years of physical and sexual abuse in the Mohawk School in Canada, one of 139 residential schools designed to forcibly assimilate Indigenous children. An estimated 6,000 other children did not survive. Ms.Hill, a Mohawk a Turtle Clan elder once known to the nuns as #54, was raped twice by the school's principal, an Anglican priest. There were two ministers at the school, Ms.Hill recounted. One liked the little girls and one liked the little boys. They were pretty brutalized, the boys, and if they weren't getting beaten, they were being raped. The schools were funded by the government and run by churches, primarily the Catholic Church. Don't ya just love the title of church and state? Not! No surprise the Cat-holics or the government are involved as we have exposed both of them heavily in THI shows. Ms.Hill added her story to innumerable accounts of kidnapping, torture, sexual and physical abuse in the residential schools. Children died of starvation, infectious disease, fire and when they tried to escape, exposure. One of three possible punishments awaited children who spoke their Native tongues, Ms.Hill said: a beating with a leather strap, a needle through their tongues or a kerosene-soaked rag in their mouths. The cohens, the nuns and priests are just about the most evil and sadistic element on this planet. In his recent penitential pilgrimage to Canada, Pope Francis begged forgiveness for the catastrophic and deplorable wrongs the Church had committed against these Indigenous children. Begged for forgiveness, erm no, he didn't even turn up at the Kamloops site, where the church and the UK royals stole children from there and never returned them. Forgiveness comes when the Cat-holic church shuts down every single church and donates all the proceeds into humanity improvements for now and the future. Plus tells the public of who they are actually worshipping, then forgiveness can be granted. The cultural genocide and cruelty inflicted on the children seem unthinkable now. But as shocking as the acts themselves is the fact that, at the time, large numbers of people took them to be right and good, even morally necessary. The atrocities were justified by ideas embedded in the worldview of western European civilization and, by extension, in Catholic doctrine. A bit too simple to blame it all on Western Europeans, given that whole culture has been hijacked by the Hebrew Anunnaki cult, of which the Catholic church and indeed Rome itself, were a major front runner for the off world programs. The dreadful lesson is that ideas have powerful consequences. When worldviews go wrong, so do the acts that grow from them. We believe that much of western European philosophy, from ancient Greece to the present, has gone catastrophically wrong, pushing a worldview that justifies practices that will be seen in the future as unthinkably evil. Primary among these are the profit-driven rape and pillage of the planet, and the consequent immiseration of the people. We are two professional philosophers who have been trained to advocate the destructive worldview, that has made world-wrecking practices not only thinkable, but normal, necessary, the way things have to be. Normal is a control structure in and of itself, it cannot be of any value since the word itself is a double negative. We step forward now to ask for forgiveness, western philosophy has made terrible mistakes. We repudiate the destructive ideas, with shame and unambiguously, as the Pope said. Spoken like a true Jewish puppet, passing all the blame onto the western culture. Francis called for the creation of new or the rediscovery of old truths that redeem our species' promise as full members of a shining, resilient, endlessly creative Earth community. That last statement was put forward to him in a call by Kim and I 4.5 years ago, so don't think it is his idea. 4.5 years later he and his ilk have done nothing to correct any of the atrocities they have committed, none. He was also tasked with coming up with a plan to tell the world the truth about religion and the scam that it is. Again we wait for that, but should he wish to relay that project, we at THI have many members of differing backgrounds, cultures and religions to assist him with at. Our members all have the bigger picture to relay it in full. Our door is always open Mr. Francis.

EXPOSE: We haven't visited the shenanigans of Ukraine for a while, but given it is one year on last week here is a detailed report of what really went on. What and who really started it, and how the narrative of the 5 eyes media is falling apart. The conflict in Ukraine was not opened by Russia on February 24, but by Ukraine a week before, the OSCE is a witness to this. This peripheral conflict had been planned by Washington to impose a New World Order from which Russia, then China, were to be excluded. Don't be fooled! Russia's military operations in Ukraine have been going on for more than a month and NATO's propaganda operations for a month and a half. As always, the war pro pagan da of the Anglo-Saxons is coordinated from London. Since the First World War, the British have acquired an unparalleled know-how. In 1914, they had managed to convince their own population that the German army had carried out mass rapes in Belgium, and that it was the duty of every Briton to come to the rescue of these poor women. It was a cleaner version of Kaiser Wilhelm II's attempt to compete with the British colonial empire. At the end of the conflict, the British population demanded that the victims be compensated. A census was taken and it was found that the facts had been extraordinarily exaggerated. Pro pagan da has been running a long time as you can see, likely done by MI8 or 9 at the time, more commonly known as the OSS. This time, in 2022, the British managed to convince the Europeans that on February 24, the Russians had attacked Ukraine to invade and annex it. Moscow was trying to reconstitute the Soviet Union and was preparing to attack all its former possessions in succession. This version is more honorable for the West than evoking the Thucydides trap. In reality, Kiev's troops attacked their own population in Donbass on the afternoon of February 17. Then Ukraine waved a red rag in front of the Russian bull, with President Zelenski's speech to the political and military leaders of NATO gathered in Munich, during which he announced that his country was going to acquire nuclear weapons to protect itself from Russia. Here are the OSCE readings from the Donbass border. There had been no fighting for months, but the observers of the neutral organization observed 1,400 explosions per day as of the afternoon of February 17. That was a week before the alleged invasion, Russia went to protect the Russians and Ukrainians. Immediately, the rebel provinces of Donetsk and Lugansk, which still considered themselves Ukrainian but claimed autonomy within Ukraine, moved more than 100,000 civilians to protect them. Most retreated to the interior of Donbass, others fled to Russia. In 2014 and 2015, when a civil war had pitted Kiev against Donetsk and Lugansk, the material and human damage was only a matter of Ukraine's internal affairs. However, in the course of time, almost the entire Ukrainian population of Donbass considered emigrating and acquired dual Russian citizenship. Therefore, Kiev's attack on the population of Donbass on February 17 was an attack on Ukrainian-Russian citizens. Moscow came to their rescue, in an emergency, from February 24. The chronology is indisputable. It was not Moscow that wanted this war, but Kiev, despite the predictable price it would have to pay. President Zelensky deliberately put his people in danger and bears sole responsibility for what they are enduring today. Why did he do this? Since the beginning of his term, Volodymyr Zelensky has continued the support of the Ukrainian state, which began with his predecessor Petro Poroshenko, for the embezzlement of funds by his American sponsors and for the extremists in his country, the Banderists. President Putin called the former a bunch of drug addicts and the latter a bunch of neo-Nazis. Not only did Volodymyr Zelensky publicly declare that he did not want to solve the conflict in Donbass by implementing the Minsk Agreements, but he banned his fellow citizens from speaking Russian in schools and administrations and, worse, signed a racial law on July 1, 2021, de facto excluding Ukrainians claiming their Slavic origin from the enjoyment of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. The 5 Eyes clown media never revealed that did they? Talk about Fascism right there in your face. The Russian army first invaded Ukrainian territory, not from the Donbass, but from Belarus and Crimea. It destroyed all Ukrainian military installations used by NATO for years and fought the Bandit regiments. It is now dedicated to annihilating them in the east of the country. The OSS propagandists in London and their almost 150 communication agencies around the world assure us that, pushed back by the glorious Ukrainian Resistance, the defeated Russian army has given up its initial goal of taking Kiev. However, at no point did President Putin say that Russia would take Kiev, overthrow the elected President Zelensky and occupy his country. On the contrary, he has always said that his war aims were to denazify Ukraine and eliminate foreign (NATO) weapons stockpiles. This is exactly what he is doing. The Ukrainian population is suffering, war is cruel, and it always kills innocent people. The bots overwhelmed by pro pagan da ignore the Ukrainian attack of February 17, blame the Russians, whom they wrongly call aggressors. The same applies to the simultaneous war in Yemen, its 200,000 dead, including 85,000 children, who died of hunger. But it is true that the Yemenis are, in the eyes of the West, only Arabs. The ignoring of the plight of others declared the enemy by the clown labeling system, is something we at THI have done much to highlight and address. How is such manipulation of the court possible? Ukraine referred to the fact that President Putin, during his speech on the Russian military operation, said that the people of Donbass were victims of genocide. Ukraine and the OSS denied this genocide and accused Russia of having used this argument improperly. In international law, the word genocide no longer refers to the eradication of an ethnic group, but to a massacre ordered by a government. The classic legalese rewording always comes down on the side of the psychopaths. Over the past eight years, between 13,000 and 22,000 civilians have been killed in the Donbass, depending on whether one refers to Ukrainian or Russian government statistics. Russia, which had sent its plea in writing, argues that it is not relying on the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide, but on Article 51 of the UN Charter, which authorizes war in self-defense, as President Putin had explicitly stated in his speech. The Tribunal did not attempt to verify anything, it stuck to the Ukrainian denial. It therefore concluded that Russia had improperly used the Convention as an argument. Moreover, as Russia did not consider it necessary to be physically represented at the Court, the Court used its absence to impose an aberrant provisional measure. Russia, sure of its good right, refused to comply and is demanding a judgment on the merits, which will not be given before the end of September. For a decade, American political scientists have been telling us that the rise of Russia and China will lead to an inevitable war. The political scientist Graham Allison created the concept of the Thucydides trap. He was referring to the Peloponnesian wars that opposed Sparta and Athens in the fourth century BC. The strategist and historian Thucydides analyzed that the wars had become inevitable when Sparta, which dominated Greece, realized that Athens was conquering an empire and could replace its hegemony. The analogy is telling, but false: while Sparta and Athens were close Greek cities, the United States, Russia and China do not have the same culture. China, for example, rejects President Biden's proposal for trade competition, instead, it has the opposite tradition of win-win. In doing so, it is not referring to mutually beneficial trade contracts, but to its history. The "Middle Kingdom" has an extremely large population, and the emperor was forced to delegate his authority to the maximum. Even today China is the most decentralized country in the world. When he issued a decree, it had practical consequences in some provinces, but not in all. The emperor therefore had to make sure that, each local governor would not consider his decree irrelevant and forget his authority. He then offered compensation to those who were not affected by the decree, so that they would still feel subject to his authority. Since the beginning of the Ukrainian crisis, China has not only taken a non-aligned position, but has protected its Russian ally in the UN Security Council. The United States has wrongly feared that Beijing would send weapons to Moscow, not like the US to issue fear or make wrong predictions is it? This has never been the case, although there is logistical assistance in the form of prepared meals for the soldiers, for example. That is a benign thought from the Fisher Price level war games people, feeding people is a war crime to them. Why feed people when you can bomb and pro pagan da them into oblivion. The mind of set of these people are pathetic. China is watching how things are going and deducing how they will go when it tries to get the rebel province of Taiwan back. Beijing has kindly declined Washington's offers. It is thinking in the long term and knows from experience that if it allows Russia to be destroyed, it will once again be plundered by the West. Its salvation is only possible with Russia, even if it must one day challenge it in Siberia. Let's go back to Thucydides' trap, as Russia knows that the United States wants to erase it from the scene. It anticipates a possible invasion/destruction, but its territory is immense and its population insufficiently large. It cannot defend its overly large borders. Apart from the obvious of attacking the white race again, Russia is one of the most self-sufficient countries, something the El-ites and clowns can't tolerate, as they have no leverage. Since the 19th century, it has imagined defending itself by hiding from its adversaries. When Napoleon, then Hitler, attacked her, she moved her population further and further east. It burned its own cities before the invader arrived. Germany found itself unable to supply the troops, they had to face the winter without means and finally retreat. This scorched earth strategy only worked because neither Napoleon nor Hitler had logistical bases nearby. After Tuesday's show, we saw that is not the case for the US Military. Modern Russia knows that it cannot survive if US weapons are stored in Central and Eastern Europe. That is why, at the end of the Soviet Union, Russia demanded that NATO never expand eastward. French President François Mitterrand and German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, who knew history, demanded that the West make this commitment. At the time of German reunification, they drafted and signed a treaty guaranteeing that NATO would never cross the Oder-Neisse line, the German-Polish border. Russia set this commitment in stone in 1999 and in 2010 with the OSCE declarations in Istanbul and Astana. But the United States violated it in 1999 with the accession of the Czech Republic, Hungary and Poland to NATO. Then in 2004 followed Bulgaria, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Romania, Slovakia and Slovenia, in 2009 Albania and Croatia, in 2017 Montenegro and again in 2020 Northern Macedonia. All those violations of international treaties and the stupid people still believe Russia is the problem? The problem is not that all these states have allied themselves with Washington, but that they have stored U.S. weapons at home. No one is criticizing these states for choosing their allies, but Moscow is blaming them for serving as a rear base for the Pentagon in preparation for an attack by Russia. We all know that the Pentagon are fear based clowns, running shekel and control programs on not only all these countries, but America as well. Victoria Nuland who is Jewish, did not know Leo Strauss personally, but was trained in his thinking by her husband, Robert Kagan, who was also Jewish. Together they founded the Project for a New American Century, the think tank that called for a Pearl Harbor-like catastrophe in order to impose their policies. So, yet again we find two Jewish at the head of anti-American institutions and policies. The attacks of September 11, 2001 were a divine surprise for them. Like the war in Ukraine, these despicable attacks did not shake the US power, but on the contrary allowed it to last. In October 2021, the Straussian Victoria Nuland, the State Department's number 2, came to Moscow to urge Russia to accept the deployment of US weapons in Central and Eastern Europe. She promised that Washington would invest in Russia in return. Then she threatened Russia if it did not accept her offer and concluded that he would have President Putin tried before an international tribunal. Typical clown tactic, the seducement and then the threat program for not following their psychotic plans. These people all think the Russians are as stupid as they are, guess what, they are not. Moscow responded with a proposal for a treaty guaranteeing peace, on the basis of respect for the United Nations Charter on December 17. This is what has caused the current storm. Respecting the Charter, which is based on the principle of the equality and sovereignty of states, implies reforming NATO, whose operation is based on a hierarchy among its members. Caught in the Thucydides trap, the United States then fomented the current war in Ukraine. If we admit that their goal is to remove Russia from the international scene, the way the Anglo-Saxons react to the Ukrainian crisis becomes clear. They are not trying to push back the Russian army militarily, nor to embarrass the Russian government, but to wipe out all traces of Russian culture in the West. And secondly, they are trying to weaken the European Union. They started with the freezing of the assets of Russian oligarchs in the West, a measure that was applauded by the Russian population, which considers them illegitimate beneficiaries of the plundering of the USSR. Then they imposed on Western companies to stop their activities with Russia. Finally, they continued by cutting off Russian banks' access to Western banks via the SWIFT system. Which is interesting from a THI knowledge base point of view, as the Trustee told us all she had full control of the SWIFT system. All of which leaves us with 3 options of opinion; 1. Kim Goguen lost control of the SWIFT system 2. Which means she does not have full control as stated and option 3. Is she complicit in handing over the SWIFT system to the clowns? None of those opinions are palatable to hear, but it is what it is and why she no longer has control of anything, despite her claims. Which then goes onto explaining why she is working with two clown systems Alpha and Omega and not the Quantum which supersedes both. I and we would welcome some clarity from her for once in her life, as the Trustee in name only now, she has an obligation to explain her actions as the Trustee since January 2020, when she introduced the Omega system. Forgive me if I don't hold my breath. However, if these financial measures were disastrous for Russian banks, but not for the Russian government, the measures against companies working in Russia are on the contrary favorable to Russia which recovers their investments at lower costs. Why was it bad for Russian banks? The banking war between the Rothschilds and the Black Sun group is why, new boss same as the old boss. Moreover, the Moscow Stock Exchange, which had been closed from February 25 to March 24 2022, recorded an increase as soon as it reopened. The RTS index fell by 4.26% on the first day, but it measures mainly speculative stocks, while the IMOEX index, which measures national economic activity, rose by 4.43%. The real losers of the Western measures are the members of the European Union who had the stupidity to take them. Paul Wolfowitz was introduced to the thought of Leo Strauss by his philosophy professor, Alan Bloom. Both Wolfowitz and Bloom are Jewish. He later became a student of the master, working directly with him at the University of Chicago. Already in 1991, the Straussian Paul Wolfowitz wrote in an official report, that the USA should prevent a power from developing to the point of competing with it. At the time, the USSR was in tatters and so he named the European Union as the potential rival to be destroyed. Which is unfolding now on a financial level, courtesy of another Jew, George Soros. This is exactly what he did in 2003, when, as number 2 in the Pentagon, he forbade Germany and France to participate in the reconstruction of Iraq. This is also what Victoria Nuland talked about in 2014 when she instructed her US ambassador in Kiev to, fuck the European Union. Wolfowitz, Bloom, Nuland and Kagan, all Jewish, all involved in plotting the destruction of not only Russia, but Europe as well, proving our book and series FHSTOS beyond all reasonable doubt. The European Union has now been ordered to stop its imports of Russian hydrocarbons. If it complies with this injunction, Germany will be ruined and with it the whole Union. This will not be collateral damage, but the fruit of structured thinking, clearly expressed for thirty years. The most important thing for Washington is to exclude Russia from all international organizations. It has already managed, in 2014, to exclude it from the G8. The pretext was not the independence of Crimea, which it had been demanding since the dissolution of the USSR, several months before Ukraine thought of its own independence, but its membership in the Russian Federation. Ukraine's alleged aggression provides a pretext for excluding it from the G20. China immediately pointed out that no one could be excluded from an informal forum without a constitution. However, President Biden returned to the charge on March 24 and 25 in Europe. Washington is increasing its contacts to exclude Russia from the World Trade Organization. In any case, the principles of the WTO are being undermined by the unilateral sanctions implemented by the West. For those new, the West is the Jewish Junta that runs the deep state, think tank clowns, unintelligent agencies and the US Military and NATO. Such a decision would be detrimental to both sides. This is where the writings of Paul Wolfowitz come into play. He wrote in 1991 that Washington should not seek to be the best at what it does, but to be the first in relation to others. This implies, he noted, that in order to maintain its hegemony, the United States should not hesitate to hurt itself, if it does much more to others. Which shows that America was also the sacrifice and sacrificial lamb for the Jewish junta. Remember the Ukraine President is also Jewish, how much more evidence is required before people see and deal with this menace to society. We will all pay the price for this way of thinking. The most important thing for the Straussians is to exclude Russia from the United Nations. This is not possible if one respects the UN Charter, but Washington will not bother with it there any more than elsewhere. It has already contacted every member state of the UN with a few exceptions. The Anglo-Saxon propaganda has already succeeded, in making them believe that a member of the Security Council has embarked on a war of conquest against one of its neighbors. If Washington succeeds in convening a special UN General Assembly and changing the statutes, it will succeed. Remember the Saxon group was originally ran by Thoth. A kind of hysteria has taken hold of the West. Everything Russian is being hunted down without thinking about its links with the Ukrainian crisis. Russian artists are forbidden to perform even if they are known to be opposed to President Putin. Here a university bans the study of the anti-Soviet hero Solzhenitsyn from their curriculum, there another bans the writer of debate and free will Dostoyevsky (1821-1881) who opposed the tsarist regime. Here a conductor is deprogrammed because he is Russian and there Tchaikovsky (1840-1893) is removed from the repertoire. Everything Russian must disappear from our consciousness, just as the Roman Empire razed Carthage and methodically destroyed all traces of its existence, to the point that today we know little about this civilization. On March 21, President Biden made no secret of the fact. In front of an audience of business leaders, he said, this is the moment when things change. There is going to be a New World Order and we have to lead it, and we have to unite the rest of the free world to do it. That is not happening fake mask man, it will fail like all your other recent plans. This new order should cut the world into two hermetic blocks; a cut such as we have never known, without comparison with the Iron Curtain of the Cold War. Some states, such as Poland, believe that they can lose a lot like the others, but also gain a little. Thus, General Waldemar Skrzypczak has just demanded that the Russian enclave of Kaliningrad become Polish. I warned the Polish people you are playing a dangerous game not supporting Russia, you will be the next Czechoslovakia or Yugoslavia unless you wake up and smell the tyranny within your own government. All this can be averted if the people get behind the Blueprint.

SPIRITUAL PIECE: Usually we have another expose of sorts in this portion of the show, but with so much going on, on a largely sub-conscious level currently, the expose is replaced with a spiritual piece. The root or sex chakra equals the I am, this is where you define who and what you are. That all feels very simple and yet it is not is it? This is where we send mixed messages and the distortion between sex and love, the two are not in general one and the same. The overt posturing of sexuality that has been thrust upon us all in the past 50 years, was done to add to the confusion. Females flirting more overtly than previous generations has added to the confusion more. Sex of course has been used to entice us to buying stuff via adverts, used to sell movies, magazines and a whole range of things. The selfie culture with the suggestive poses and pouts, all exhibiting a come and get plea, yet that is not what the majority of women are wanting is it? All of which leaves the males confused and frustrated. So, have we really defined the I am and who and what we are? The sacral chakra is the I feel level, but what do you feel? Compassion, love, empathy? Or angst, envy, revenge, greed and fear? The I feel determines the levels of frequency and vibration, which determines your path to the future. From how do you love to how do you feel, what are you feeling? Do you know which feelings dominate your being? What thoughts or actions dominate your energy field? Do you feel only for the self or have you expanded yourself into feeling for others? The last question is a harder one to ask the self in its true form, as most will say they are service to others, yet their actions determine a more service to self-path. The problem is, the lack of role models showing the true path of service to others, because society and think tanks have directed people to look after number one only. That is a survival tactic you are running on yourself, a fear, a defense mechanism. That is not being free or living. The solar plexus is the I do level, but what are you doing? Where is most of your energy going? A good idea can be garnered by writing down what you do on a given day or week. Like a financial assessment of your spending and earning, but based upon where your energy goes. What are you doing? Who is it for? Whose benefit is the task for? What are you thinking of, is it the self or others? It gives you an insight as to where you are, how you can make improvements to your life and soul development. The throat chakra is the I speak level, but do you speak or are you mute? Have you shut yourself down or did your circle do that? If you say the latter, I get that, but ultimately it was you who consented to the silence. In the age of the internet it was much easier to speak out, prior to it, not so much. I spent from around 10 to 34 as the silent man, as I was unable to engage anyone on the stuff I knew back then, nobody would listen. The self-imposed exile from society in a speaking capacity looking back, served me well. But the increase in speaking brought the rolled eyes, derision, rejection and discarding we have all experienced. But moving to America eased that a bit, but coming just after 9/11, Americans did not want to hear from a Brit, that 9/11 was an inside job and the towers were deliberately detonated. It was 2011 when I first posed the question to myself about public speaking, but ran into my own limitation programs. But, a new me arrived and the opportunity to I speak was just around the corner, July 2013 saw me debut the I speak. After a slow start to my hosting it gathered momentum and by the early 2014 I was asked to say more, to which I obliged. Of course three years later required another new me and I speak, with advent of my own show. The rest they say is history, nope our story. The third eye is the I see level, but what do you see? And what do you not see? Has a much deeper meaning to many of you now, does it not? Members, particularly those who live around me or visited me, have all learned to see much more than they ever imagined. Our inability to see, has caused us much pain, sorrow and suffering, merged with our ability to refuse to believe what the two eyes see, it was quite an illusionary world we all created for ourselves. The ability to see, brings in greater trust of the self also, as we tune into this extra sight more, the more we see, the more we understand, the more we envisage and the more we engage of what was the great unseen world. The crown chakra is the level of I understand, not to be mixed in with the mind, the crown supersedes the mind in every way. In essence it goes from understanding with the mind, to innerstanding with the crown. It is a big leap in terms of development, as now you are truly becoming in touch with the self and the power contained within. You are on your way to inner knowing, where there are no questions or answers, just an inner knowing and the connection to the collective consciousness and the great Universal library depending upon your scale of development. From there re-searching ends, inner knowing and even greater trust of the self unfolds. The questions and answers comes to you when you need them, if they don't, you are not ready for it. A bit like the saying when the student is ready, the teacher appears. But in overview, you are the student and the teacher. The 6 chakras covered to date reveals the development levels required to attain higher soul and frequency development, that often requires the external you to get out of your own way. I say external you, because the internal you has been waiting for you all along, inner triggers revealed that. Those frightened of the self and their own power will always be left behind, rightly or wrongly with the steaming masses of crass stupidity and eternal savior programs. We have one chakra left, the ultimate chakra in many ways, the heart. The heart chakra is the I love level and so much more. But did you love? Or did you fake it? Did you love the self? If no, you cannot love someone else and it was all an illusion. The heart is the life giver for the vessel, the ultimate in creation of the soul/spirit package that contains virtually every external technology known to man. But will you develop the self enough to experience those technological marvels? Most don't and so remain stuck in the harvesting based astral level. The heart of course brings in the sword when the other parts are mastered, but a closed heart will bring you pain via the cuts by your own sword. The heart like all the chakras has to be open and clear to work optimally. Operating through the heart is the easiest way to live possible. Because now you trust, love and innerstand the self and also operating in the fullest truth, as no longer can you lie to yourself. Out goes the lower vibrational frequencies and traits and in comes the harmonies of the Universe that when experienced is barely describable. The greatest orchestra you will ever hear, and then in comes the love frequency as well. After that you will know and experience what true love is all about. It is the true freedom to be and live, heart centered which is balance of the heart, means you have removed the mindset creation based upon illusion and what follows is real and reality, all residing within the truth frequency. To be or not to be? That is the question. You do realize to be or not to be is not the question, it is the statement. That, is the actual question, but what is that? What you decide it to be, so in essence it becomes another statement not a question. It just requires your triality based input. I feel, I do, I speak, I see, I understand, I love and therefore when mastered becomes I am. As a higher universal man it is our greatest journey in a 3D world, a journey of self-discovery that has a destination. The chakras are our energy points, like the flow of a river, it stops when dams are put into place. They back up and overflow and out of balance is then underlying the deeper problems. Everyone's task is to get those energy points in alignment and flowing, only then can we gain other benefits that arrive at certain points of development.

MYSTERY SECTION: Carnage the age of Khan? Carnal the Khan god. It is interesting from both perspectives in their word play magic games, but more and more of this is being decoded now and some sense is being made from it. Carnal reveals sexual pleasures, but is it based upon sex magic implicated by the name? Carnage or the age of Khan, just like the age of the Kali Yuga, brings destruction, discord and lives blighted. Carn stands for cairn in their thinking, which means a mound of rough stones built as a memorial or landmark, typically on a hilltop or skyline. A mound of rough stones, which brings in Stonehenge, Avesbury, Shaftesbury and the Hill of Tara, what episodes within time did they create and then corrupt? How would those cairns look if they were not corrupted? Would England and Ireland have played a larger and better role in our story? Khan is also a connection to Cain, of Cain and Abel fame. Cain has interesting words connected to it like, cainotophobia meaning an abnormal fear of newness. This brings in the fear program, the fear of change or newness, which then in turn keeps you in their boxes under their control. Another word is Cainophobia, Cainophobia comes from the Greek καινός, kainos, meaning new or fresh. Phobia comes from Phobos, which happens to be the moon that looks like the death star. What a coincidence that is, Phobos is a Martian moon that just happens to be another of their fake gods, to go with their fake satellite based moon. Phobos has the same anomaly our own moon has, as it only presents one face to the planet Mars. This is unnatural in cosmological fields, which means like our moon, it is a space station. Phobos in Ancient Greek: means fear. Phobos also, is the god and personification of fear and panic in Greek mythology. Phobos was the son of Ares and Aphrodite, and the brother of Deimos. He does not have a major role in mythology outside of being his father's attendant. In Classical Greek mythology, Phobos exists as both the god of and personification of the fear brought by war. In Roman mythology, he has also been referred to as Pavor or Terror. It should be noted that during Imperial Rome, there was temple dedicated to Phobos was located outside of the city. The word phobia derives from phobos, meaning irrational fear. Fear is irrational, as it has no basis for the now, because fear is the future. It is a contract awaiting your acceptance. The antidote? Operate from the heart, don't accept the contract and work on manifest a different outcome. Neophobia is the fear of anything new, especially a persistent and abnormal fear. But how can you fear the new, when the old has failed us all? The worst that can happen is the status quo, but what if that change brings you everything you wanted? In overview, what do you have to lose? People said I would struggle to adapt to living in America, my reply was the worst that can happen is I return, but at least I got to experience it. Isn't life and love all about experiencing it? What is life without a range of experiences? So, why the fear? If you fear life and love how will you go through the gate? With not knowing what is on the other side? So, in Greek Phobos is fear, in Roman it is terror, perhaps a closer look at the term war on terror, brings in additional pondering on an off-world scale? Is that describing another off-world war between the factions? Is that what is playing out here and now? Connect that to the volcanoes and earthquakes going off and who inhabits those regions based on our book, and perhaps a bigger picture emerges?

The 7 internal chakras plus the 5 hidden leads to the 12+1. The 7 chakras also corresponds with the 7 planetary soul development levels as well. Does the 7 chakras relate to the 7 planets as well, yes there is 7 declared now, but was once twelve after another reduction program. But one of our members got thinking and pondering and came up with this piece. Connecting the 7 chakras that align with the 7 continents, although two continents were merged and one left out. But it is interesting the one left out was replaced by the waters. Because at one time in the past we had 7 oceans, which could also be connected to the chakras. The actual earth chakras are 12+1 also, when the 12 chakras are clear, the plus one opens. No coincidence the plus one is Russia. No coincidence that two chakras reside in one country also, Britain. Here is the piece. The 7 chakras that align with the 7 continents. With Africa supposedly being the birthplace of life is in my opinion an allegory, in meaning to only symbolize it's aligned with the 1st-chakra. Everything is energy! Africa is the 1st chakra, the Root signifying tribal and beginning, the dark continent per se. Regardless of ethnicity a person's root or 1st chakra is their tribal-lineage, which could be from any country or continent and not necessarily the current land of their birth. This is supported in some way by some members remembering their past lives as other colors or races. Asia the 2nd chakra being sacral, signifying creative and innovative, doing or being creative endeavors throughout history, very detail oriented and have mastered precision. N/S Americas the 3rd chakra the solar plexus signifying will and power, this is quite telling. The example is, The Americas and individual will-power and the erosion or usurping of those powers and rights. Europe the 4th chakra, the heart, signifying love, romance and easy-going. Australia the 5th chakra the throat, signifying speech, the throat and thymus. N/S Poles the 6th chakra the 3rd eye, as both face outward into space, which means a lot. All oceans, seas and bodies of water are the 7th chakra, the Crown, which is about fluidity, flow, infinity and staying connected to the source of life, just as all waters on the planet are. Without these, one is disconnected from Tara and is essentially a walking-dead or love-less bot. Tara is modified into t-I-ara which is a crown with Jew-el for fake nobility, gods and leaders etc. Or so they thought, not this time it or they won't. So, for example, polluting the waters of the planet is in essence messing, clogging or polluting, one's own internal thinking abilities and the capacity to think clearly. Muddy waters will never bring clarity, all silted up or salted up. Remember we are 70-75% water ourselves, as above so below as within so without. So, if we make our own waters muddy or salty, did that make our oceans replicate it? Ponder long and hard on that. So, the solution to climate change, climate meaning condition, is us.

Tuesday's epic show revealed the broken world and the country known as America. Riddled with fraud, corruption, murder, mass deaths, lies, deceit and an abomination of how to be or act. The sheer volume of bases dotted around the world, said to be for safety and policing (M) seriously, do they think we are all as stupid as they are? 900 control systems subjugating every place they operate, and the Americans wonder why the rest of the world doesn't like them or treats them with derision? Rightly or wrongly those of us who reside in America carry the burden of the psychotic few running the US Military. Remember the US Military is not American at all, Americans and the rest of the world needs to understand that fact. A reminder from our Blueprint; The "US" means municipal government which is the United Nations, and "U.S." indicates the British territorial government, two completely separate forms of government, neither of which is the people's government. The United Nations is actually functioning as another independent international city-state, a municipal government which has been given safe harbor by the city of New York, which also allows NYC another municipal government to exist within its confines. This was set up identically to the district governments, with the British territorial government being housed in the District of Columbia and the municipal government being housed within the confines of the municipality of Washington, DC. We have New York City and within New York City, like a set of nesting dolls, we have NYC and within NYC we have the UN Corporation ensconced in its separate independent international city-state, operating under its own sovereign immunity on our shores, and all without the permission or knowledge of the actual state, New York or its people. America, like many other countries, does not even run its own government services. The 19 or so government services are run by another private corporation called Serco (UK), and some other non-affiliated companies. There are 4 separate constitutions being run simultaneously, none of which are operating for and by the people. The policies of the American government are not being run by the politicians, but by secret organizations like the Council on Foreign Relations, NATO, the UN and the WHO. Other organizations controlling the government are the Club of Rome, the Rothschild's and the banking fraternity, the Federal Reserve, Tavistock, Bilderberger groups, WEF, WTO, the Royal Institute for International Affairs, the Round Table, Rhodes and Milner groups. Other influences in foreign policy making are the US intelligence agencies and US military, neither which are operating for and by the American people. Not to mention the considerable perpetual interference in government policies run by a foreign nation, namely Israel and its army of lobbyists, that operate solely for the benefit of Israel, not America or Americans. That show has to be a line in the sand for all American's, it was purposely done at a time when we will initiate the changes from our Blueprint. The Blueprint in full will be rolled out this coming month, and for those of you in the Military, Agencies and Government Departments who know who I am and we are, we are asking you to spread it far and wide. In fact I am requesting your support in logistics to be able to get it out where it needs to go. Now is not the time for shrinking violets, worrying about your job or back, because the clowns at Langley and their psychotic subsidiaries in Silicon Valley are already working on replacing you all with AI. Don't believe me? Go and listen to our Clowns in Panic show back in 2019, and ask yourselves has it all begun to unfold? Billionaire psychopaths with more money than sense, controlling me, you and everyone else with failed policies. Those with fake stars on your badges, they are badges of dishonor, achieved for killing people. Purple hearts? Hearts are not meant to be purple; it reveals you have darkened your heart by killing people. Most of which was against innocent people at the bequest of the same EL-ite psychopaths. Is that which you stand by? Is that what your soul is telling you to do? Are dark intentions and malevolence your modus operandi? If not, do something, contact me or us and let's change it. Proud to be American you say, but what for? What does America really stand for on a global scale? A group of imbeciles bullying their way around the world all for the off world race known as the Jews. Except these people, and I use the term people very loosely, are not Jews. They are a parasitic imposter that brought down the very country you say you are proud of. Quit with the Disney style illusionary bullshit, wake up and smell the 4th Reich. That is not like the Russians who have been coming to get us since the 1950's, the 4th Reich was in place before you were born for most of you. You wish to know how it was all done, go and listen or read the transcripts of our series FHSTOS, part 1-9 and part 1-19 in the follow up plus series. It is all in your face, but you fell for the illusion world. Well, the illusion world is shattered, it is not coming back and we are tasked with building anew. Only this out of time will be in our image, not theirs. FHSTOS will tell you what theirs was. It doesn't have to be this way for any of us, time for some adult pants to be worn permanently, me thinks. We all lost our way, but the blueprint creates a new path for us all to march down.

ENDING PIECE: There is a phenomena ongoing within our group, that is heavily prevalent at this time. Perhaps members can state whether that is happening on a wider scale at this point as well. I personally don't engage people outside of THI too much, as it is not that conducive for me, although I do speak often within the shows for non THI members. But, events in and around the village, plus the recent Common Sense call is indicative of a purging ongoing within many members. Not the average general traumas, but the deeper hidden layers within themselves. This was expected and it rolls back to the January 21st show, the THI Book of Revelations. That was a deep dive into the psyche of all who listened to it, a shockwave to the system, another warning to get your act together, another jolt to awake you from your own lethargy. We have all pushed things back into time in our lives, trauma and uncomfortable situations all reside within time, that is not going to serve you well holding it in that Matrix. It never served you well anyway, but you held onto to it far longer than was required. Keep purging, keep going through the layers of the onion, keep being brave and facing the self. Why face the self you may ask, because ultimately it is only your shit, others may well have caused it in some cases, but only you held onto it. That means you became the trauma, but, but, but it was blah blah Thomas, he, she or they did this to me. Maybe, but you held onto it and that becomes your responsibility only. The trauma was the effect, the cause is you, an acceptance of that statement will serve everyone well. And yes I expect many to project at that statement, but that is the truth, no matter how brutal you think it is. Holding onto trauma, forget who you think caused it external of you, as that becomes irrelevant, ultimately is you playing victim/victimizer upon yourself. People not fully in tune within themselves, will reject and project at that statement as well, fix it! Let's look at an example shall we; a husband or wife does bad things within the relationship and it goes sour. In comes revenge, retribution, anger etc and that energy spins out for years of your life. In a game of win/lose, who lost? You did, because you held onto the traumas of it. Let it go, let it go, let it go and stop persecuting yourselves. Bad things happen, deal with it, not prolong it into the future. In the old days people used to carry time piece on them with a chain, pain and trauma is the same as that watch and chain. Binding you into time, is that the best use of your life experience here? We ended last week with the question of How did you love? This week we end on how did you fear? How you fear determines how you fare, fear or the anagram of fear, fare. Are you being fair to yourself? If not, change it. Which is it to be? Only you decide, we are all on a path of subtle change that the clowns cannot prevent, it is inner change. External change via protests, campaigns or petitions by and large never worked. Clowns are used to seeing that and use force to stop it. But subtle inner changes cannot be stopped, the inner changes alter the frequency, your vocal changes I touched upon last week changes not only the frequency, but the AI as well. You being a better version of you changes the frequency of people around you, you thinking in better ways changes the dynamics around you, you operating in the heart not the head changes the frequency around you. All of those things combined changes the world, own it. With spring and summer just around the corner. May the sun outer and inner, light up yours and our world.
