St. Patrick's Day is on March 17th, so why did parts of New York have the parade on Sunday March 5th? Are they planning a false flag? Heads up New York and surrounding areas.

Law Group update for Feb: Prepared for and delivered Intro to Law Series Part 11 - Jurisdiction on March 5th. Started planning to deliver a Ucadia Law presentation in March in Farmington if there's interest. This for the purpose of getting the message out on a wider scale and encouraging people to get involved. Adverts for the presentation have already been sent out through local contacts.

The Book Team February report: A German translation is in progress, along with the Bulgarian translation. Edits have been done on Volumes 3 through 5. (DR) The Dutch translation is for sale on Lulu.com and on the website. Web team update: The web team's work has continued in a number of technical areas. The FHSTOS volume 1 Dutch ebook and paperback are now available on thi-show.com. The web and indexing teams have met and discussed the input and technical aspects required to implement the indexing solution for the vast THI archive. This project will require a significant amount of time to prepare and implement due to the sheer size and depth of the information contained within THI shows; discernment as well as summarizing skills are needed to produce the quality input data required by the indexing solution; the technical end result will be of great value for all listeners whose mother tongue is not English as it will allow them to read the show transcript whilst listening to the show. The web team has also continued to work with the media team, new exciting developments are in progress and will be announced soon.

In February the Garden Group discussed their version of the leek project, a deep dive into Alliums, which is the plant family of all onions, mainly grown from bulbs, including garlic and leeks. They talked about the optimal spacing of seedlings for the best yields, focusing on garlic in particular. One member talked about how the older farmers taught her to use body references as measurements, such as hand breadths, and the distance from the elbow to the hand for 8 inches space between the garlic plants and 18 inches between rows. The special presentation on Saturday, inspired an idea to plan the garden layout so that the total plants in the bed and their relative placement result in a mathematical combination that integrates the ideal numbers for abundance. The group discussed the many foods that are being treated like controlled substances, a major one being dairy. The corporate price fixing, the creation of shortages with farm production limits, the destruction of food and the mafia style control of food sales can be corrected as it has been addressed in the blueprint. A form of gardening called electro culture was discussed. Electro culture utilizes carefully placed copper wire and magnets to draw in energy to the ground near plants to facilitate more growth. Group members will be experimenting with this idea of using conductors and etheric antennas in the garden. During the discussions around this concept there was a knowing about the solution for free energy. The obvious and yet stunning realization was that we don't need to wait for free energy because energy is already free. The Gardening Communal Gathering continue to meet by zoom every Saturday Morning at 9:00 am MST or 11:00 am EST The link can be found in the TPC Gardening and Non-GMO Food Communal Gathering under the Zooms Topic.

The media team are pleased with how the Telegram channel is progressing. It is gaining traction and growing each week. We would like to ask those who can to share the channel link, memes and videos to enable the reach of the channel. We are about to launch a Twitter page in the next few weeks, the aims remain the same, to promote the THI, TPC, the book which now is available in Vol 1, 2 and the recent launch of the Dutch version in volume 1. We have memes and videos ready to go for the launch of the Blueprint for Humanity. We are asking anyone within the groups that want to help with content, admin duties or simply give creative ideas to come join us here at the Media Team we would love to have you.

NEWS: Good news coming out of Bulgaria as according to most Bulgarian's the Ukraine war is NATO's fault. Listen to the throat chakra blocking clowns trying to stifle it, but it ain't working. Nothing they do to stifle the truth is working, as people are beginning to think for themselves again. What a joyous occasion that is. Here is their pro pagan da; While the threat from fake news is global, Bulgaria has become ground zero for how such disinformation continues to proliferate, largely unchecked inside the European Union. A steady flow of pro-Russian views floods Bulgaria's debate about the war. To western European eyes, the examples of cascading conspiracy stories and the penetration of pro-Putin views are shocking. For Western read Jewish junta and the 5 eyes clowns. Only 10 percent of Bulgarians think that media in their country is independent, but many are apparently still willing to believe what they read. Yes tired of the lies is why. One of the big problems in Bulgarian society is the lack of critical thinking, said Velislava Popova, editor in chief of the news site Dnevnik.bg.(M) that is hilarious jackass. Ya see I told these people don't get irony. Bulgarians are more likely to trust false news and manipulations, because we don't know to distinguish disinformation. Erm Bulgarians clearly do know how to distinguish, of what is real and what is fake news, which we have found out was created by these same disinformation non-experts. During the pandemic, conspiracy theorists, another word invented by the conspiracy theorists themselves, the agencies, sowed falsehoods around the world and found a particularly receptive audience in Bulgaria, where vaccine hesitancy rates were high. The people are creating conspiracy theories said the conspiracy theorists, haha too funny, we don't have theories, we have facts, something they struggle to comprehend. Facebook is still the most popular social media in Bulgaria, which is important because, according to the Reuters Institute Digital News Report 2021, close to 70 percent of Bulgarians get their news from social media. Which means they don't trust the MSM, interesting it Reuters doing the survey, as they are the conspiracy theorists, the CIA. Facebook said it is fighting propaganda (M) no creating it, in consultation with authorities in Bulgaria. We are taking extensive steps to fight the spread of misinformation, on our services in the region and are continuing to consult with outside experts and public administrations including in Bulgaria, a spokesperson for Facebook's parent company Meta-verse said. This brings me great joy, it shows the people are making them work to put out their pro pagan da and misinformation. That is such a change from pre 2020, but people began to see and they are going to child level tactics to stop it, they won't. Bulgarians and all others should just boycott Facebook altogether.

We have exposed the crimes of the Mormon's many times and here is another example, this time they have been caught and prosecuted. A former Utah city mayor and one-time bishop of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will likely spend the rest of his life in prison. After being sentenced Thursday for child sexual abuse at a hearing in which his victims wept while detailing the torment they endured. Four women, now adults, cried as they detailed how painful it was to watch Carl Matthew Johnson, now 78, live a joyful life while they kept abuse that happened when they were little girls secret for decades. He was arrested last year on charges of abuse dating to the 1980s and 1990s, some of it while he was mayor of West Bountiful, a city just outside of Salt Lake City he led from 1990 until 1997. Yet more church and state crimes, not a good union as far as we the people are concerned. Nice to see the women get some justice, although it never alleviates the pain and trauma they suffered. What is required is, people to vote with their feet and wallets, stop going to their crime based churches and stop paying tithes. Throughout my life I have had an aversion and at times revulsion for authority-based figures. Whether that was parents, family, teachers, police, government or legal people, and was accused of being anti-authority, yes that is a label and one I am proud to wear. There is no authority with personal responsibility, people who exhibit authority because they wear an official badge are part of the problem. They are facilitating the hierarchy system that failed us all, it also encourages a lack of personal responsibility. Now, far too many people abide by the authoritarian figure to mold and sculpt their lives, as that means they don't have to do anything or take responsibility. This has been damaging for us all and it must stop. Here is a classic example of it, a teacher playing a dictator role and authoritarian, when they are there to teach only and guide the children to a better path. A 12-year-old schoolgirl who was denied a trip to the toilet by her teacher, has received an outpour of support from people who branded the decision pathetic and cruel. Rebecca Tregilgas' daughter, a pupil at Holly Lodge Girls' College in West Derby, was allegedly told by a teacher that using the toilet was a privilege, not a right, when she asked for a bathroom break during an afternoon lesson. Do these Nazis ever think before they speak? Clearly not. This is like the totalitarian creep in America, where they tell you a driver's license is a privilege not a right. Then they tell your paid for Social Security and Medicare is a hand out benefit, erm no! It is not a benefit at all, we paid for that. This is why all teachers need to be retrained, in empathy, support, guardianship and enlightenment, not acting like hierarchical Nazis destroying the children's futures. Why do I say destroying the children's futures? Because most of your inner and shadow work is based upon events in your childhood, and these are the types of people who create those traumas, traits like low self-worth is why. One of the major and contentious topics of discussion we have had in THI is, the female issue. That is not to say there are not male issues as well, but the main issues is the female lack of trust of males, which is reciprocated, but they unlike men in general don't trust each other either. I remember back 4-5 years ago, I did a radio show suicide piece again, when I highlighted the female issues with the Feminist piece. I expected a backlash and none was forthcoming, to my pleasant surprise. To date that piece generated the most comments, private chat messages and emails, 95% of which were from females in the group, all were supportive of it. We have gone on to addressing other issues within the women's group and I can see that many of you are working hard to correct the issues within. The MSM of course, perpetuates the divide amongst us all and never provides solutions, we at THI did. And whilst there has been isolated incidents along the way, I can see and feel the progress that has been made. But more and more now of the MSM is reporting on the issues that THI has brought forth into the light, and here is another example. People are starting to take responsibility and face the problems. More women than ever before are running the world's biggest companies, but research shows that the rise in representation has been accompanied by a fall in trust in female leaders. It paints a grim picture for those who manage to break through the metaphorical glass ceiling. In November, new data from The Reykjavik Index for Leadership, an annual survey that compares how men and women are viewed in terms of their suitability for positions of power, showed trust in women leaders has fallen markedly throughout the past year. It's the first decline in this measure since Kantar Public, an evidence and advisory public-policy business, started collecting data in 2018. Across the G7 nations, which include Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the UK and the US, fewer than half of respondents (47%) said they were very comfortable having a woman as CEO of a major company in their country, down from 54% a year earlier. Men were significantly more likely than women to be critical of a female leader, and one in 10 respondents said that they would explicitly not be comfortable with a female CEO. Responses to questions about female political leaders followed a similar pattern: just 45% of those questioned in the G7 said they were very comfortable with a woman at the head of their government, down from 52% in 2021. Though many people are disheartened, academics and experts on leadership and gender are generally not surprised by the research findings, and have different theories on why trust in women leaders has declined. They all warn, however, that fixing the trust gap is critical to eradicating bias that permeates every level of companies and institutions. What this reveals is; A: low self-worth B: old programs of the female being the lesser C: a lack of trust and D: women are not operating as women in these roles, but acting like men. We have a long way to go on ground level, but progress at least within our group is being made. Higher up levels are being addressed in a much more dynamic and radical way, which brings great hope for the future. In overview what it reveals also is, this distinction between the opposite gender roles, does not work. Once we all learn to be in balance with our masculine and feminine, the separate distinction between the two will close. Then it becomes combined in a non-androgynous way, we can look different, but we can all learn to act and be in a more balanced way in a triality, not the duality divisions we have now.

SOCIETY NEWS: Two Republicans are still pushing for the flat tax we put forward 3-4 years ago, although with a much higher rate than we proposed, of 10%. Predictably the shekel maker media applies Johns Hopkins math, fear and pro pagan da to dismiss it. Here is their spiel; If the price level suddenly increased by 10% tomorrow, everything denominated in dollars would rise in price by 10 percent goods and services, wages, profits, etc. Pity there are not concerned about the well above 10% increase of food, energy and other costs of the last 3 years. However, the real value of everything would remain the same. The real value never stays the same, because it is not operated on real value, just market value which is all created and dictated by shekel people. At the same time, government spending would have to rise with the 10% inflation to keep up, otherwise real spending falls, Pomerleau said. Yes, government spending would increase, because for the first time in 110 years, the American taxpayers money would be going to the government, not a private banking enterprise. The fear tactic of 10% inflation, which is another tax, is for the Fed to claw back some funds denied to their collection agency the IRS with this flat tax introduced. There is no valid reason to increase inflation whatsoever. This is roughly the problem with the proponents' original estimates. They assumed that when the tax is levied, it is added to the price of goods and services, prices go up. Yes, but people will have much more money in their pockets, due to not paying illegal income taxes and the plethora of Fed taxes on bills. The lowest deductions on wages of 10% done by your employer, covers the cost increase, moreso if your deductions are higher. But they assumed that government spending doesn't rise at the same time, which means a real reduction in spending. No, the government would have more money to spend and invest in the people. Instead, if the FairTax wanted to break even, it would have to be 39% on the sticker price of goods and services in a world without tax evasion. Zero evidence to support that statement. When factoring in a 17% tax evasion and avoidance rate, the current evasion rate on income tax, the rate would have to be nearly 52% to keep revenue at the same levels. All very simplistic Johns Hopkins math based upon fear. Because if you factor in the 17% tax evasion, which would now be eradicated by the flat tax, then there is no need to increase the tax rate at all, is there? Actually, you would decrease it, due to the extra taxes generated. And, as the authors note, it's optimistic to assume even that low level of evasion, if there's no IRS to crack down on people getting out of paying. There would be no need for crack downs, people pay at the point of purchase. In short, if FairTax wanted to maintain current levels of government revenue and spending, you'd have to pay over 50% more on things like food, electronics, and pretty much anything else you need to buy. That rate could get even higher if there were exemptions for necessities and state and local government taxes, according to Brookings, meaning it'd have to reach 85.5%. According to Brookings, another clown Institute that deals in fear, pro pagan da and zero common sense thinking. Our country doesn't have a revenue problem, it has a spending problem. Not correct, we have a greed problem, courtesy of the shekel people at the fake National bank, the shekel organizers at the fake US Treasury, clown operated people at the top of the fake Military and the same in the fake and double duplicated Agencies. Then we have another problem, is the Fake Fed creating policies of boom and bust which only generates income for them. They also steal the American taxpayers money, making sure the government each year does not have enough funds, roughly 40% each year, and the make the government borrow the shortfall from them at a cost of 10%. The same Fed prints money and charges the government 10% for every dollar. Then when the government can't fully repay the debt, they charge interest at the $750K every 30 seconds. Remember there is no debt, as the only costs to send the Government the money is, the cost of paper, ink, machinery and the printing of it. For that they are charging is $750K every 30 seconds or $1.5M a minute at the current rate. Under President Biden, the federal government has seen record revenue and is still projected to sustain trillion dollar deficits, Rep.Buddy Carter, who introduced the legislation. We need to cut the spending, put money back into Americans' pockets, and simplify our tax code so it works for, not against hardworking taxpayers. Good point, but that is the effect, what is the cause of the excess spending? And which few gain from it is the real issue here. The FAIRTax won't make the government richer, but that's the point. Not true on any level, there would be a massive increase in taxes collected, which means more spending on the people and also a plan to reduce other taxes, duties and levies. Levi-es being the indicative and operative word. Part of the problem is, is too few really understand basic economics, never mind banking and macroeconomics. The higher economics will never make any sense, as it is designed to be complexed and not understandable, to cover the fact it all operates fraudulently. It's not the first GOP tax legislation that would tack billions onto the deficit. No evidence to support that statement. The House GOP's proposal to roll back $80 billion in funding for the IRS would actually add a net $114 billion to the deficit, according to the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office. Nonpartisan means they are bought and paid by the shekel people, remember the shekel people own both the Republican and Democratic parties and so we will ignore their JH math. But don't expect a FairTax emerging or the IRS disappearing anytime soon. The White House has been adamantly opposed to the FairTax legislation, and President Joe Biden has said he'd veto any bills like it if they came to him. The Biden administration also continued to express its disapproval of the plan. White House spokesperson Michael Kikukawa told Insider, only House Republicans could come up with a policy that cuts taxes for the wealthy, increases taxes for working people, and adds $10 trillion to the debt, all at the same time. No evidence to support that statement either, just fear based pro pagan da. They speak of it adding $10T over ten years, yet successive governments have added $32T since the turn of the century. American had a surplus of $5.6B and now a debt approaching $32T in 23 years, and they are suddenly bothered about an alleged $1T a year increase? which is a falsehood. These same clowns are proposing adding to the debt limit again shortly. This is on top of the $3 trillion that Republicans want to add to the debt with tax giveaways to wealthy tax cheats, Big Pharma, big corporations, and other special interests. Just Republicans? Seriously? With $33T overspend in 23 years of both governments and they seriously propose it is a party-based issue? Like I have said it is fitting, as parties are places for clowns. Given Congressional Republicans' claims that they care about the debt while proposing increasing it by trillions of dollars, the American people deserve to know what they plan to cut. Is it Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid and the Affordable Care Act, as they have repeatedly proposed? A typically fear-based rhetoric to end on. How will the flat tax work, and no, not 23% but 10%. This way, the more you earn, the more you spend, the more you pay taxes, the more the government has at its disposal, it is win-win-win all down the line. The only people who don't gain from this are the ones who abused and harvested it over the past 110 years. The plan proposed by Kim, myself and the team of 10% in 2020, showed that after a period of 3 to 5 years with the current budgets in place, was that America would be self-sufficient in a 3-5 year period. The shortfall or balance would be settled by the Trust. Now, if the blueprint for humanity set out by THI, then that 3-5 years self-sufficiency would be drastically reduced, due to the streamlining of defunct departments and a significant pull back on the theft and misuse going on within this country. Part of our New blueprint for Humanity lays out the Tax solution. Here is another potential solution maybe one of the Communal Gatherings can take it up, or set up a new one. For them to get all the emails of the US Politicians and send key pieces of our shows to them, like this one. This then also doubles up for sending a PDF version of the Blueprint. If you are interested contact Todd, Amy or Marnie on Mewe.

EXPOSE: This is another of those pieces done by someone outside of THI, that is having the courage to speak out, and it is increasing as we have mentioned. I will chime in and add background to it as usual. Have you noticed life is all about tests? Both personal and external of you. The Hitler test is the same as the 9/11 test. The same as the Iraq test, the Afghanistan test, the Libya test, the Syria test. The same as the domestic terrorist test, the anybody can be president test, the, your vote counts test, the government is on your side test.(M) the government is on our side, yeah right. No government has been shown over any period of time to be on the side of the people. If you believe what the government says or what big media tells you, your part of the problem. But then we have certain alt media who ignore the captain obvious problem and others who dance around the issue or just ignore it like Alex Jones. Other opposition commentators as Jim Stone, Mike Rivero, Ryan Dawson, Chris Hedges, Dave Hodges, Mike Adams to name only a few, they all fail the Hitler test. They all fall for the Jewish propaganda that Hitlerian is the worst adjective you can apply to any person, any program or any social movement. They and hundreds of others have all fallen for the popular media lie that World War II was the good war, when in reality it was, at the time, the biggest lie ever told. Whether these writers are merely naive or totally corrupt and paid off is for you to decide. In either case, they pretend not to know that Adolf Hitler has been vilified in perpetuity by Jewish media, to cover up some very important facts that are critical to your continued survival. These facts have been concealed for more than a half century. Objective facts prove that Holocaust hysteria is a cynical hoax, meant to create new ways of scamming the public, $13.5 billion in Holocaust reparations, at last count; plus laws in almost all European countries mandating jail for anybody who wishes to even discuss the matter. If they were assured in their truth, the issue would not have to be defended and certainly not become a judicial issue, the latter of which is total Fascism, oh the irony. The two main facts that have been covered up are these. Germany was destroyed in the 1940s because, it was the most serious threat to Jewish worldwide financial hegemony the world has ever seen. While the rest of the world was mired in a Jewish-imposed worldwide depression, and people were starving in the streets everywhere, including the United States. Meanwhile Germany under Adolf Hitler was thriving, because it had freed itself from the shackles of the international bankers and their devastating criminal formula of fractional reserve lending, which is the exact thing that is strangling societies all over the world today. The second most important fact that has been covered up is that, all this ceaseless and maudlin hoopla about 6 million Jews gassed and burned in German concentration camps obscures the real mass murder crime by Jewish allies America, Britain and the Soviet Union, who terminated with extreme prejudice 12 million innocent German citizens, most of them after the war had supposedly ended. After the war had ended is the key factor, remember they slaughtered most of the 10's of millions of Rus after WW1 also, same program, same people and or entities is why. So the most important lessons to be learned from this massive coverup and social engineering program, concocted and reinforced ad nauseum by Jewish media hypocrites, is that anybody who escapes the toxic tentacles of the kosher world bankers guarantees themselves financial independence and domestic harmony, but also runs the risk of being annihilated by the criminals who control the world financial system. Often leaving your choices under this current system of government are either life in prison or instant death. We at THI have not tried to sugar coat this, it is the problem and also this is what everyone in the world is facing right now. This unceasing drivel about Jewish Holocaust victims is best counterbalanced by reading the Thomas Goodrich book, Hellstorm, which details in the goriest of detail what the Americans, Brits and Russians did to innocent German civilians after World War II had ended. By "Russians" they mean the Bolshevik and mercenary based armies, like the NKVD. Pay close attention to the horrific details, because these things are about to happen in the United States and elsewhere to most of you. This is what they planned for America as well, and we must always be wary and stop believing the Jewish media lies. It has been all about maintaining the slander, no longer is Germany called Germany, it is labeled as Nazi Germany. Cast out as a pariah to the world, and yet too few will look critically at the information outside of THI members and listeners. The mind meme has worked on large numbers of people by and large. Who are used, to re-enforce the lie, with devastating consequences. Even after two decades of false flag atrocities Waco, Ruby Ridge, Oklahoma City, WTC1 & 2, and the string of phony wars that followed, a majority of the American people still believes what it hears on TV. Which is why the recent string of choreographed faux massacres has failed to stir the population to revolt, even as it is being slowly exterminated by an endless panoply of malicious methods. Even as consciousness of our government's criminal nature has grown in the minds of many, thanks to the Internet, yet, still only a precious few are willing to recognize the nature of the disease that has turned the country into a terminal cancer patient, even though this sickness has been present since the founding of the republic. Most people, especially the younger generations, have no clue that Holocaust hysteria didn't really get going until after the JFK assassination in 1963, mainly down to the Jewish pro pagan da machine running the education system. Although the rabid hate crimes against the German people have been conducted by American Jews throughout the 20th century, principally in the creation of the Federal Reserve which started World War I, and also the worldwide declaration of war against the Germans by the Jews in 1933. One of the bizarre aspects of this unceasing kosher propaganda blitz, is that the Jews have been using this 6 million dead figure since well before World War II. Not only has the credibility of this tale been demolished in the minds of attentive observers, the shibboleth serves as a telling indicator that the tale, and the cynical public relations onslaught that has followed, have sickened the entire world with its maudlin falsehoods, like dead Jews made into soap and lampshades and thrown into lakes of fire. None of these stories can be proved, but many people still believe them. So, the point being that anybody using Hitlerian as a relevant adjective to describe some incomprehensibly dastardly deed, is actually revealing to the world that their minds are clogged with demented Jewish fairy tales. Whereby nightmare sagas concocted by sobbing hypocrites like Elie Wiesel, whose works have been disseminated throughout the world only because rich Jews control of the publishing industry, the TV networks, most governments and the Nobel Prize nominating committee. People from Putin to Obama are still reinforcing this false stereotype. I was labeled that in my late teens into my early twenties due to certain opinions I had, particularly at the time of Live Aid in 1984. Live Aid was done for several reasons, none of which was to feed the Africans. 1.It gave the stars an opportunity to act fake and caring 2.Line their own pockets and elevate their status 3.To run a massive guilt campaign on mainly the white race and countries 4.It was a money laundering program for EL-ites and bankers. My suggestion was to send the African's condoms and seeds. In overview it seemed to me a complete lack of responsibility by the Africans, of not having enough food and clean water, yet they were all having multiples of children at the same time, designating a life of strife, trauma and lack of for all of their children. The condoms would have addressed that issue, yet none of the overpopulation agenda people at the time mentioned it. Funny that isn't it? All of which proves they are not interested in solving overpopulation which is a myth, and just want to run guilt programs on people and collect more shekels. The condoms was a common sense solution, and that got me labeled a mini Hitler, all of which shows the lack of thinking has gone on a long time. The seeds was for them to learn to grow their own food, again that was too much common sense back then as well. The whole issue with Live Aid that was lost on the non-thinking masses was, you cannot eat or drink money. Nothing was being done on any sort of scale that would convert the money into the 5 basics in life, which many of them lack even 49 years later. Hitler in Mein Kampf was actually right, all that arable land in Africa is being wasted, 98 years later from that book, it hasn't changed has it? But the story didn't happen that way. That's just the way the Jews told that story, and because of their control of the media, that's what most of the world now believes. Hitler never wanted to take over the world like the Jews say he did, he only wanted to reclaim what was stolen from Germany in World War I. There were no gas chambers in the work camps and most of those who died were Poles and other ethnic groups. That number is nothing in comparison to the number of people murdered by the three Jewish allies, the Bolshevik Soviets, the Brits and the United States, who sought to stamp out the biggest threat to Jewish worldwide financial hegemony ever seen. So, all those writers who use Hitler as an example of the greatest arch villain of all time are merely displaying their own brainwashing, or their own contemptible corruption, to all who have eyes to see. We now have seen this process repeating itself endlessly in the killings of Saddam Hussein and Muammar Qaddafi, two leaders who were put in power by the world financial ogre, but who tried to break away and do what was best for their people, only to be obliterated by the same Jewish monster that is now obliterating us. Today we are experiencing unprecedented encroachments on our personal freedom. The TSA has announced it will demand our tax information if we wish to fly on an airplane. The police have usurped the right to enter our homes if we have been determined to be politically incorrect. Our children are poisoned from birth by vaccinations proven to cause permanent brain damage. Yet still most people deny that America has become a snake eating its own tail, driven all the while by Jewish interests who have no interest in working for the public good, but only in fleecing victims their rabbis have labeled as barnyard animals, or, as Menachem Begin once famously said, beasts walking on two legs. More and more people have begun to figure out that the same monster, that devoured the Russian people when the Soviet Union was brought into being by Jewish bankers from New York, has now spread its poisoned attitudes across the United States. Like a colossal vampire, has sunk its fangs into every fiber of American life, strangling the life out of everything that is good and decent. From Einstein to Feinstein, writers, scientists and politicians today seek to get ahead by reinforcing these same stereotypes that are killing us, and foremost among these techniques is summoning up their nightmare vision of Adolf Hitler as a symbol of dark depravity that fills us with fear. The classic boogeyman, when it is the labelers who are the real demons. But like everything the Jews have told us during their takeover of the world, it is a lie. What happened to the Russian people is now happening to Americans, because the same super rich and soulless Jewish bankers are running the world's show. Because what happened to Russia is now happening to America, there is no better place to examine these deadly and tragic parallels than in the work of Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, whose last book, Two Hundred Years Together, the story of the Russians and the Jews. Which has been prevented from being published in the English language by the Jews who control the publishing industry, and by the paid off politicians who condone such censorship. It is all to the benefit of the Jews who bribe them, who blackmail them, to betray the people they are supposed to serve. What happened in the Soviet Union is now happening here, with Jews occupying all the choke points of power, writing laws that benefit only themselves, and above all, killing non-Jews as fast as they possibly can. Relentless terror is what Stalin ordered for the Russian people, and what the American people are experiencing now. Listen to Solzhenitsyn's words taken from http://archive.org/stream/RussianAndJews/WALENDYsolje_djvu.txt. On August 26, 1918 Lenin instructed by telegram: Dubious persons are to be locked up in concentration camps outside of the city and relentless mass terror is to be carried out. Tens of thousands of hostages were killed for deterrence during the 1917-1922 civil war, with hundreds drowned at a time by sinking them on barges in the White Sea in the Arctic. It wasn't civil or a war, it was an extermination program. The Vermin as they were called were naturally the small- and medium-sized farmers, the tradesmen and all homeowners. By resolution of the Defense Council of February 15, 1919 the Cheka and the NKVD were instructed to seize hostages from the farmers of those areas, wherever the clearing of snowdrifts off the railroad tracks is not progressing satisfactorily; in this case, if the work is not done, they can be shot. Again all about the shekels, greed can never happen fast enough. People were also shot recklessly on the basis of arbitrary lists, particularly academics, artists, authors and engineers. With the regulation on forced food-collection of January 1919, the farmers were also targeted. Later, in the 1930s, the mass collectivization of agriculture in Ukraine led to the death by starvation of about 6 million humans. Some will argue, what you read here is a preview of what is coming to America, in fact, what is already here. The general expropriation of the entire population in favor of an illusory people's property, the system of general terror, the pervasive vulnerability of every unprivileged citizen. Their consequence, arrests without measure, deportations into faraway hard labor camp-regions and liquidations, were an integrated and mandatory part of the state ideology of Marxism-Leninism. These historical facts must be acknowledged. As early as January 1918 there were already mass executions under martial law without any procedures or court hearings. These were followed by hundreds and later thousands of innocent hostages being seized, executed in mass nighttime shootings or loaded on ships and sunk with them aboard. Lazar Kaganovich, Genrikh Yagoda and Vyacheslav Molotov pushed their requisition commandos out into the countryside. Soon thereafter, in 1932-33, 5 or 6 million humans died like animals of hunger in Russia and Ukraine, right on the edge of Europe. There were much more than those figures given as we know. But the free press of the free world maintained its perfect silence! Solzhenitsyn's description of the gulags is an accurate description of what is about to take place in the already-built U.S.FEMA camps, or so they think. Make no mistake about the gulags: they were not work forever camps, they were work to death camps, designed to liquidate the occupants, millions were sent to die in them. Solzhenitsyn tells us, however, by the computations of the emigrated statistics professor Kurganov, this relatively light suppression that ran from the beginning of the October Revolution through 1950, cost Russians about 66 million human lives. This is why Adolf Hitler was so intent on stopping the Red Jewish Menace from Russia from invading his own country. What has been stripped from our history books was that Hitler admired the United States and Britain, because he didn't realize they had already been taken over by Jews and turned into monsters. This is the Hitler test that most Americans have utterly failed. I had wrote about this history in my last article titled Pontifex Baphomet Maximus where I explained that Gerbert of Aurillac, AKA Pope Sylvester II (c.945–1003 CE) was the first person ever documented in history to be in possession of this mechanical talking head. Then we can later find several subsequent stories of people in possession of such a device as the Knights Templar (ca.1119–1312), then by Rob Grosseteste (1175-1353), next in line is Saint Albertus Magnus (c.1200–1282 CE), Marquis of Vilêna of Spain (1384-1434), Polander, a disciple of Escotillo an Italian and last but certainly not least, Francis Bacon (22 January 1561 – 9 April 1626). Francis Bacon was royal related and likely a Crown agent, was the actor name of William Shakespeare. A mechanical talking head will come up again later in a big expose way, this is uploaded consciousness technology. These were the first Alchemists and Gnostics in history that were in possession of prophetic devices, made of brass or bronze brazen talking heads that could answer questions put to them by their masters. Pope Sylvester II was even publicly accused by Cardinal Benno for being a sorcerer and an enchanter. William of Malmsbury had told the story of Pope Sylvester II that he made such a head that correlated with the constellations, as above, so below that would speak when spoken to, but that these answers made by the mechanical head were only single words or simply yes or no. The modern image we see now for Baphomet was made infamous by Eliphas Lévi in the 19th century. Had to be a Levi didn't it. Lévi had stated back then, the terrible Baphomet is, in fact, like all monstrous enigmas of ancient science, nothing more than an innocent and even pious hieroglyph. Yeah right. The word hieroglyph comes from the Greek adjective hieroglyphikos, a compound of hierós sacred and glýphō meaning I carve, or engrave; in turn a loan translation of Egyptian medu-netjer god's words. Therefore, Baphomet is not evil, but a tool for a magician to connect to the Lord. Spoken by a true Freemasonic person in complete delusion, but they desire to connect with Lucifer as that is their path. I am fine with them choosing that path, but not fine with them imposing their darkened path onto others. They are just like the church missionaries, imposing their religious dogmas, converting the populace wherever they went. Whether that was Catholic, Jewish, Pilgrims, Calvins, Lutherans or Mormons, if people wish to stay children all of their lives with the comfort blanket of a savior, that's fine. But please leave those of an adult nature who wish to take personal responsibility and be their own savior alone. However, this image is what some Christians might call a pagan idol, even though we can find many of their churches are filled with the same type of idols. This Baphomet would be one of the reasons the Knights Templar who were martyred in the 14th century by French King Phillip the Fair on that fateful day, Friday 13th, 1307. The image we see mostly today of Baphomet I have already demonstrated is a hieroglyph and the brazen mechanical talking head was celestial prophetic sphere that spoke. Hence, what Gerbert, the Templars and Francis Bacon were in possession of was completely different, than the image most often depicted today. They have obediently swallowed the Jewish propaganda and lost their country to people with no conscience, no sense of compassion, and a bloodlust that has drenched the world in tragedy for longer than anybody can really remember. In Russia, 1.7 percent of the population took over the whole government, the percentage is about the same in America. The same Soviet Jews, run by New York bankers, have spawned both the neocons and the progressives. Each new law they conspire to pass is aimed at population reduction. Foreigners with no allegiance to anything except their own insanity are in control of everything now. Since the time of Alexander Hamilton, they never have been Americans, only predator's intent on controlling, robbing and killing. Failing the Hitler test guarantees you either life in prison or an early grave, those are the choices all Americans now face for failing the Hitler test. All those writers who misuse the false term Nazi, consciously or not, are on the side of those now turning the world into a giant prison, in which the dead will outnumber the living. A stirring piece and reminder of the fact that, if the media castigates a figure of the past, they were more than likely a good guy or more prominently the leader of an opposing faction. Recent shows have revealed this menace is being taken to task on an increasing scale, the implementation of the Blueprint will end that menace once and for all. These parasites masquerading as Jews have blighted us all enough, their increased exposure will lead them to scurry like rats underground, but they must be pursued to ensure they never darken our door again. The increasing awareness amongst the population will ensure their plans fail. All a bit late for those who have suffered at the hands of these parasites, but I guess better late than never.

MYSTERY SECTION: Remember we have spoken about the Earth having an inner sun, a classic case of as above so below, as within and so without. Which charts the path between the sky sun, our own inner sun the heart and the planets inner sun. The triality and also another version of the one on one with the one. If scientists adopt the method of as above so below, as within so without, plus focusing on the cause not the effect, then things become a lot easier to grasp and understand. There has been a rise in science pieces in our show, as the MSM is now covering certain science conundrums that our show has made sense of in the past. Here is another example. Researchers have discovered a new, innermost layer nestled inside our planet's inner core, a 400-miles solid metallic ball, that responds to the reverberating shockwaves of earthquakes in an unexpected way. As detailed in a new paper published this week in the journal Nature Communications, a team of two seismologists from the Australian National University found that the Earth has an innermost inner core, which may have been formed following a significant global event from the past. Clearly, the innermost inner core has something different from the outer layer, lead author Thanh-Son Pham, a seismologist at the Australian National University. We think that the way the atoms are packed in these two regions are slightly different. What they are stumbling on, but don't wish to make the leap just yet, is the inner sun. Which is responsible for the heating of the inner planet and the Northern and Southern lights, which emanated out of the poles, not arrive to it.

In a separate piece this past week, scientists have detected and discovered a mysterious heartbeat coming from the sun. A heartbeat from the sun, well I never, as above so below. They also recorded a second heartbeat coming from a flare. That could have deep esoteric, exoteric and philosophical meanings if that is confirmed. Another interesting headline from the BBC on March 4th said this; why the moon is slipping away from our grasp. That has far more meaning than meets the eye also.

The northern lights are not quite so north this week, with reports of them being seen as far down as England. This week's spectacle is the result of increased solar activity that interferes with the atmosphere and creates bright lights in the sky. It is a rare opportunity for people to see them, even if they live in the more southern parts of the country and so are generally away from the event. But that opportunity might not be so rare in the years to come. The Sun's activity goes in a cycle, and that cycle is still on the up. As such, the peak will come over the next two years, which will make such sightings more likely. The Sun's cycle leads to rising and falling activity in its magnetic field, and runs over a period of 11-years. It reached its minimum in 2020, and has been increasing ever since. At busier times, the Sun sets out solar flares, which can be directed towards the earth. If they are, the charged particles collide with Earth's atmosphere, interacting with the oxygen and nitrogen in the air and turning into swirling green and red colors that are visible in the sky. Nice attempt to explain what is unfolding, yet never quite making it. Interesting times on a solar level as events unfold at a quickening pace.

An interesting piece done by one of our members with a few additions into it from me. Hebrew "Baphomet" backwards = Sofia = wisdom. 22 letters in the Hebrew Alpha-Beth, which is 2 x 11. Letter 16 = Saturn 1+6 = 7. So now we have 7 and 11, the store 7/11 is a Jewish kosher establishment. The seventh day of the week = SATURN-day, from which come saturated, satisfied or completed week. From Saturn day comes the festival of darkness at Christmas called Saturnalia day. Out comes Santa or it's anagram Satan. The week starting with the day of the sun, which in their world symbolizes Ra, not anymore it doesn't. The Hebrew 7th letter = G, the symbol of the Freemasons or Saturn. Odin did not lose one eye; he used the lost eye to see inwards. Wisdom through insight or inner sight. Wisdom is gained through spiritual inner work. INNER enlightenment = Gnosis in Greek = through the spirit. Odin gained wisdom from within and from without, from above and from below, like the Baphomet. Hence the way Baphomet is everything, man and woman or at worst = duality. Saturnalia = an old name for Rome, the town of Saturn. Lucifer = the name of one Pope in Rome. The inner eye = the all-seeing eye = Life = resurrection = wisdom = enlightenment = Eye of Horus. Interesting stuff, except the eye of Horus is a tip to the symbiote insertions done by the “Egyptian” overlords. To host and blind us. The Baphomet backwards brings up this piece of interest by Gnostic Warriors it is said.

You anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows. Surely your goodness and love will follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever. What you just read is the end of Psalms 23. It is the Psalm of David who is the TEM OHP AB (Temple omnium hominum pads abba), which is Latin for Father of the Temple. Another example of the mother missing. TEM OHP AB spelled backwards is Baphomet whose meaning we find Ba'al the Lord or Hadad which means Son of Dad or David, Be-dad, or Bon-dad, the son of Dad. Or it means father of the egotistical bible god, replete with anger management issues. The fiery serpent sender. Father of the Edomites, Hadad. David, Daoud, or Dood means the beloved; and as a mythical character the beloved one, the Lord's anointed. Beloved it appears is another one of those names that is pronounced in a particular way. Whereby it is said be-loved, and yet only accented after two letters when English is 4 and American is 3. For example in the UK you would say conc-rete, whilst in America it is con-crete, you will find most difference in American and English have the same 3 and 4 letter changes, but be-loved only has two. But if we use the American 3, it bel-oved, which brings in an interesting split. As Bel is Ba'al and the name for Marduk, which leaves us with oved. Perhaps the meaning of oved has interesting connections. As oved means a male name of Hebrew origin that means worker. Oved as a boys' name is of Hebrew origin, and the other meaning of Oved is worshipper, follower. So bel-oved means Marduk worker or Marduk worshipper or follower. I guess I just ruined that as well lol. Through the construction of a Brazen Head that was a cleverly disguised celestial sphere that mirrored the heavens, a series of magicians had used TEM OHP AB to receive answers to the questions that had perplexed them at the time. Those Master Magicians were in possession of an actual celestial prophetic magickal sphere, that looked like an ugly bearded human head that spoke to them, and the image we see today is simply a hieroglyph made in the 19th century. Unbelievably that is the second reference to a mechanical talking head owned by the dark magicians in one show, yet it won't be the last tonight. The Brazen head perhaps is also linked the Brazen altar, the sacrifice kings of Solomon and Herod used to kill the children. However, in the end, they both represent the same TEM OHP AB, Lord of the Temple or the lord of the templars is a better description. This is the simplest way to explain the meaning behind Baphomet and there is no need to add words to what just is. According to them yes, according to rational non-savior-based peoples, it just is what it is. Classic deflection and denial, as those images and idols have been used in a dark energetic way to devastating effects at times. It is pleasing that more of the once very secretive world of dark intentions, is now heavily coming into the light and augurs well for the future. A future with much less of these dark worshipping malevolents.

ENDING PIECE: The world of digital copies has been interspersed amongst our shows, from the Expose series, some of the ET shows, the references to uploaded consciousness technology and beyond. But the FHSTOS Plus 10 and Is it technology or us? brought that to the fore and the Cosmic Genetics series rubber stamped it. We have spoken about members believing I am sleeping with them in dream time, and it all feels so nice, according to the one's that reported it. But that is not me, that is a digital copy that will

resemble me, but isn't. Some of it plays into our own desires, and we have all had them types of dreams, but this is of a more dangerous ilk. Operating at the higher levels or frequency, that type of act is a complete no-no, unless you wish to fall. Boundaries and personal responsibilities have to be of the highest possible on that level. Remote viewing or bilocation is a perverts dream, but that is going against the person's wishes and boundaries, and that cannot be crossed, or you lose those skill sets. If I was put in situations of that ilk, I would silhouette the person or persons out, so you don't invade people's privacy and personal space. But the line; there is no new technology, perhaps resonates more now than back then. Many think they are developing the Metaverse world, but in reality already have it. There is where the I am comes in, I am me and only me, the copy is the 2D illusion game. I am taken and stand in my own sovereignty, I am my own identity. This is the whole idea behind ID2020, the year people would start to see. They decided they would create a new identity for us, one of which they can stay in control of. Those not wishing to participate, retain their own identity and cannot be controlled anymore by these parasitic dark forces. The copy of the copy can be seen as twinning in overview, a merging of the one which is organic, into the second version which is inorganic. All of which confirms the separation of the overlay wave in Picture A of the When two worlds becomes three extended version. Because if that loop was not "cut" and the wave lines were not separating, why would the dark forces be trying to overlay us again on a personal level, into organic and inorganic worlds? Could it not be looked at with different eyes now, when you put all the shows just mentioned together? Merging organic with inorganic, merging non-corporal entities with corporal, merging uploaded consciousness into another vessel, a vessel hosting an avatar. All of which reveals the one becoming the two, which means it is twinning. A co-joining of the separate into the one in essence, you split the one, make the two like a cell, merge or blur the two into the one, where the one becomes disoriented and not realizing which is which anymore. A cell is also a prison room remember. Life is but a Petri dish to clowns and their lunatic scientists. If we can't win, lets cheat, whether that is financially, scientifically, technologically or cosmologically. All a mask of what is reality. A chat with a member recently brought something else to the fore, the words that are sometimes bandied around within alt media, but derived from an atypical source that has done much to spell cast us all with their word magic, the new age cult. Twin flames was the words. Twin flames, also called mirror souls, are terms used to describe a relationship ideology rooted in new-age spiritualism. The concept has seen increased popularity in recent times. It promotes the idea of an intense soul connection between two people thought to be each other's half. An interesting concept no doubt, but often bandied about far too often, and doesn't bear reality given the short span of many relationships. The fact it is called mirror souls is the giveaway to this concept. The mirror we have covered quite a bit in previous shows, like the mirror, the copy of a copy is the key line in this piece. Another example of the twinning. Mirror souls is based on the idea that sometimes one soul gets split into two bodies.Oops. Mirrored souls is also the remit of the Metaverse is it not? The desire of the off world again, covered in Cosmic genetics and the V series. They have tried to eliminate souls, then install two souls in one body and have failed. This is all connecting to the twinning or hosting of vessels, it is the invasion of the body snatchers again. Of course the name Thomas also means a twin, not sure my mother would have approved giving birth to two of me, or some clowns for that matter. Given a most common saying was to her; where the hell did you get him from! But then my mother was born under the twin zodiac sign of Gemini, which is the stars Castor and Pollux, I said that with a p not a b! Twinning in their world means hosting, remember the high portion of twinning and more with the IVF program? All of this got me pondering, uh oh, I thought that was the pondering? No, that was just the appetizer! The thoughts of twin flame brought up Jesheua 12 in my thinking and Mary, who it was said was his twin flame. But it was also referenced Mary of that time was the other half of his soul, hence the mirror soul concept. This brings into question just who or what was Jesheua 12? He already had a questionable background, given the great teacher as we were told just decided to go through the gate himself and leave everyone else behind, including Mary. But before he left he slept with 6 women who bore his children and arranged for foster fathers for them, and this we were told is divine. Sounds like something out of the ghetto to me. Then it was revealed he has spent the last 2k years trying to get Mary back from the Metatronic world, except Mary was married to Jeshewua 9, so now he is chasing after somebody else's wife as well. More on him later, as now I shift the piece towards frequency waves and another twinning with the overlay wave. There are many cycles within their looping world, you have heard of the 70 year cycle, which is actually linked to Sirius, hence the Hebrew flavor of the 70 days. We have heard of the 100 year loop, 500 years and 1000 years. But, there is also the 2 thousand year loop, the time that Jesus returns, so we are told. A flash of inspiration came forth and I began to match it with previous pieces and words that has been revealed to me over time. In relation to the 2k year cycle that is done on even numbers of 2k BC 0 and then 2k AD, but there was also an event at 1k years ago as well right bang in the middle of it, that also included a Mary Magdalene. Is that an alternative divine couple every 2k years but on an odd number? I then added into the mix the Day and Night of Svarog, which is roughly a thousand years, 1008 to be precise, and then matched them to the events of 0 to 2016/2020AD. Around 2016-17 time, we were told in the Cosmic Genetics of the activation of the BEAST system and also the final war. Just prior to that was the ending of the mobius loops system we have also spoken about in several shows, particularly the when 2 worlds becomes 3 show. The loop was the split of the organic wave that was intersected and overlaid with an inorganic wave. So, with the loop and BEAST dealt with around that time, a person in the Alt Media showed up out of the blue around the same time, is or was that significant? But who or what was Jesus or Jesheua, whether 9 or 12, or the sacrifice clown Arihabi? With Jesheua 12 and Mary being twin souls, a half and half as it were, where they designated as the new Adam and Eve? They say Melchizedek is also known as Michael, another related to the flame, twin or otherwise, but another name is Murdoq. My pondering took me into the Day and Night of the Svarog, and whether the even numbers of the 2K year cycle are switched every thousand years between technology and organic. Was the 0AD time about technology based beings, at 1kAD organic based beings Radomir and Mary Magdalene, and so in 2kAD would see the return of the technology based beings again. Things then started to make some sense, but also brought up disturbing possibilities. 2020 was the Day of the Svarog as was 4AD, the Night of the Svarog was 1012, so on the Days of the Svarog the technology-based beings arrived and on the Night of the Svarog the organic ones arrived. If we assume the technology based beings were fraudsters, then they both were here when the Day of the Svarog took place. So the fraudsters played out in the light. Whilst the organic Radomir and Mary Magdalene had to operate within the Night of the Svarog, which is the dark forces heavy playground. Another cycle of the organic teachers is 500 years it seems, based on Svetlana's book. 1000 saw Radomir and Mary Magdalene and in the 1500's was the teacher Anna, all of which means in the 2000's another light teacher will appear. Blown away yet? Well now we go into a deeper pondering section. My pondering brought a question based on the 2K year cycle, the question was; was Jesheua 12

the Melchizedek actually Marduk? A search revealed this; The holy tablet for the holy book of the Nuwaupians, the Nuwaupians are an African tribe, they revealed this. Question: Ask the Nuwaupians, was Melchizedek, Marduk? Answer: They'll say he's Melchizedek, Marduk is En.Mur.Dug.Gal who is Melchizedek. The Nuwaupians not only worship Marduk, but Anu as well, perhaps revealing their origins. So, now we have revealed two types of names related to Melchizedek with a similar pronunciation but different spelling, of Murdoq and Murdug, both of which sounds like Marduk. Recently we went to the cinema again, a village outing and fact finding mission to watch the latest movie Quantumania, does Quantum have other connotations I pondered. There was a character called Modok, again very similar to Marduk. In the movie the character Modok was just a head in a gold casing, which for those of you have been following our show signifies the uploaded technology game. Another version of hosting and twinning. And the third reference to a talking head this show. Do you all understand now why I repeatedly warning about technology, we have no idea of it's full capabilities, none. None of it is new, it is all ancient and we must fight against it and then balance it. That is why there is a solution to it in the Blueprint. Previous civilizations have destroyed themselves near the end of the loop with technology. The loop ends were 13K years, we are 11,581 years on from the flood, so we are coming to the technological time period again. Now I know for a fact it wasn't the "humans" who destroyed every advanced civilization here, it was the off world to gain control of this planet. Let us not allow them to do that again. They are playing smart with technology, but lets not feel the sting or burn of that smarting. Now 2k years ago Mary went off with Jeshewua 9 who was an avatar, not 12, and Jesheua 12 it was announced was trying to get Mary back in the 2000's, the time of the technology based beings again. Marduk returned in the 2000's again in tow with the Eve, the great question now is; was Mary of 0AD actually Kim Goguen? The person who appeared out of nowhere around the key 2016-17 time. Yet in 2020 just 44 days after the Day of the Svarog appeared, she disappeared in a cloud of wrath. Kim remember worked directly with Marduk, yet curiously said she didn't know who he was. Marduk told her we have done this every 2K years, let's see if we can win this time. Every two thousand years on the even numbers? The technology-based savior beings operating in and around the arrival of the Day of the Svarog? Arriving just before the "EVE" of the Day of Svarog? What where Marduk and Kim supposed to win? Kim told me she remembered being with Jesus in 0AD, and then changed it to stating she was Jesus in 0AD. So if she was the male at that time, was Marduk the female? Was it really maryduk? But, just after Kim's appearance around 2016-17 she requested my support into ending Marduk altogether, which I obliged after she got herself in trouble again with him, and Marduk's demise was finally delivered. Kim started to speak of being designated as having a second child this lifetime, I made the joke it won't be me as I have had the snip, and she said it could always be reversed, which kind of shocked me at the time. But, then one member a few years later said she had had a vision and revealed a plan that she thought was what Kim and Marduk where up to all along, that Kim was planning to have a child with me. I kind of dismissed that at the time, asking why me, but other things have made me take a second look at it. Despite her Clintonesque protestations of me pestering her to sleep with me, they were not the truth. I was more than happy with Chloe, but after Chloe left for the final time, it did come under consideration after numerous leading comments by Kim before, during and after Chloe. Just one week before the split, Kim asked me to put all of our stuff in storage at the end of our separate rental leases, to travel around the country together as partners to see how we get on together, before moving into a shared house. That is the first time publicly I have shared my side of the story, and only because it ties into this piece. I never defended myself since 2020, because the truth doesn't have to defend itself, only lies do. Kim had become more and more agitated from February onwards in 2020, after her CIA/Black Sun handler who she bedded for near two years revealed what their plan was to her and she revealed it to me. The CIA/Black Sun handlers arranged to move me to Durango, get me on board with them with seductions and then install me as the Trustee and I would work for them. Once that was done the two handlers including Kim's boyfriend would then kill Kim and her daughter and end her family line. They didn't of course expect that I don't fall for seductions and neither do I have a price, no matter how much they tried. I am not sure how they knew I would be able to operate the Trust and Quantum system, and still don't understand it, but it is what it is. So my morals and principles saved Kim and her daughter's life, that wasn't the only time I saved Kim's life either as she revealed on the Xmas zoom in 2019, and for that I get lied about in public, via crypto currency shows and shows with a Rothschild ½ human ½ draco being? The same Rothschilds group that killed many of her family in the past, I might add. Does that all really sound like Kim? Kim of course is all about technology with Quantum systems, banking systems and digital wallets or is it digital twin wallets? Marduk of course always had a plan, a safety net and covered his bases with his massive compartmentalization programs. Around 2017 I heard of the chip in Kim's head, another technological reference, this was also confirmed by Anna Von Reitz and her links with Langley 2 agents. That she was taken as a child at just 6 years of age and a chip implanted in her head, presumably at MIT which is close to where she lived in Boston. Coincidentally or not there is a guy who works on the study of brains in MIT, his name? Michael Goguen. The final piece of this puzzle goes back to the aptly named movie called Quantumania, and the character Modok, who was just a head with uploaded consciousness. You know how they have to reveal things in movies, what if Modok or Marduk is the chip in Kim's head? I know the chip is in her head I tried to help her and remove it, but was told from higher up, don't it will kill her. Is there evidence that Kim is now hosted by Marduk? Well she doesn't act feminine, more a bullish masculine type, arrogant, dismissive and wrathful like all the fake gods and goddesses of the past. And indeed just like Marduk himself. Kim, you are IBM, for the sake of your daughter fix it. Some of those traits I witnessed, most were stated by disenfranchised Life Force members. Recent visits to Durango suggests either she is not there, or her frequency has completely disappeared. I know some who listen to her are suggesting she is not real and just a CGI, which I cannot confirm or deny as I have not watched or listened to her since October 2020. But the very sudden shift in her whole demeanor is suggestive of host possession via a corrupted chip. Only she can fix that and that was the reason for attempting to meet her recently, when she didn't turn up. Message to the chip, you had your warning last week, stay out of our way, don't interfere me or anyone around me or consequence of actions will unfold. You will eventually be transported back from where you came, and will remain there or you will be short circuited. This planet is not for conquest, it is not up for sale, to be bargained for or scavaged like the past, it will be returned to its former oasis and harmony, only better. Kim like all others in the programs, like Chloe, Shane, Randy and others are victims of this heinous off world circus game. But that doesn't mean they can victimize others and get away with it. I will continue to fight against their programmers, because that is the right thing to do. I don't care whether you are a Rothschild, Rockefeller, Romanov or any other bloodline family member, what happens to their children is just plain evil, and I will always fight against it, no matter how much wrong those people have done to me. The effect is the poor behavior Kim, Chloe and others exhibited, the cause is something very sinister and wrong. The cause of it must be eradicated. The question now is, if my theory is correct will another teacher couple arrive in this century? And operate in the Day of Svarog with a much weaker dark forces hand to play against? With the Day of the Svarog barely breaking dawn, given the 3rd anniversary is coming up shortly, what can be achieved in the next 1005 years of the light? Will or can we provide a balanced world? A more harmonic world? A more balanced planet and solar system? A planet and its beings in alignment? The 3 suns one on one with the one all in balance and harmony, the sun above, the sun within us and the planets inner sun? The male and female in balance and providing the balance as above so below and as within so without? Will we all shine in the light, not the darkened sun of the past? Will the energy grids flow again with source energy and not be corrupted? Will the imbalance of light and dark be balanced for the first time in 5-600B years? Will the URS and all the teachers arrive here to help and support us? Will people ride the wave, if so, will it be a fast track to become the wayshowers? Everything was diluted, twisted, backward and upside down to fit into the lie and illusion, that will be solved by hearts. Will we all elevate each other higher?
