

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2023-04-20

This will be a different show again in many aspects. The usual are there but in a different format, that will highlight further erosion of the clown world, further exposures now coming to the light as well. Confirmations of past information being noted on a large scale, and further reasons, markers and alignments for our Blueprint. No expose in the original format this evening, instead a deep dive into us, where we at, where are we going, what are we creating from the past and the future. Yes, the usual hammers, common sense, compassion, humor, with a tiny slice of triggers and a whole heap of truth.

Update: It will be important for members to protect all women in this up and coming phase. Men in the group to go easy and look after the females, females need to come together now more than any other time. Protect each other, cherish each other, remain in balance, watch your thoughts, keep shields armed and ignore their divisive and fear programs. If you feel down or sad, do something creative, paint, drawing, gardening etc. anything to keep your vibe up and you energized.

NEWS: Further decline of the old banking system is underway. As The Federal Reserve is technically bankrupt. In 2023 the Fed will post its first operating loss since 1915, of $80B. This loss does not count the $1.3T of unrealized losses on its portfolio. The Federal Reserve should have been closed down in 2012 when their contract to run the money supply ended. Quite how and why the leading banker continues to allow these fraudsters to continue is beyond me. What is worse is, there has been no plan formulated to replace them, outside of our Blueprint.

A meeting took place last week between Ukraine President Vladimir Zelensky with Poland President Andrzej Duda, And a report on the meeting concludes that, Zelensky and his paymasters are trying to split up Ukraine. Well I never. A Kremlin geopolitical analyst Victoria Nikiforova revealed in an open letter. Zelensky has decided to dismember Ukraine and the liquidators have already arrived. She observes about the consequences that China had warned about: For the sake of the desires of their Anglo-Saxon masters in Ukraine, they first renounced history and faith. Then they tried to physically destroy the east of their own country, but in the end they themselves were killed en masse against the Russian army. Now we are talking about the distribution of their territories. Poland is not the only one trying to steal other people's land, as Romania and Hungary have already lined up for the Ukrainian pie. Not surprisingly, millions of people in turn, are happy to flee along with their land, from the disintegrating Ukraine to Russia. Interesting they bring up Anglo-Saxons, which brings up the Saxons in Cosmic Genetics part 1. You had two groups Marduk-Necromiton Anunnaki and the Pleiadian-Niburia-Samjase-Luciferian Anunnaki who then went about raiding the Celtec and Druid races. Marduk hooked up with the Vicherus Annu-Melchizedek and part of them also joined the Pleiadean group under the name Sacheon. The Celtec merged with the Marduk crew and became the Vikings, the Druids merged with the Pleiadeans and became the Saxons. In part 2 we mentioned The Vikings and the Saxons both off world groups being ran by Enoch and Thoth. Remember in another piece we mentioned the Saurian's of Ukraine. More off world chicanery perpetuated by the Hebrew Anunnaki crew. Tick tock.

Here is another tiktok and this smacks of hypocrisy and also conflicts of interest. As Montana has become the first US state to pass legislation banning TikTok on personal devices. TikTok, which is owned by Chinese company ByteDance, has been accused of posing a national security risk through data gathered from users. If signed into law by Governor Greg Gianforte, the ban could come into effect in January. The company has suggested that it would take legal action to fight the Montana bill. The bill, known as SB 419, passed by a vote of 54 to 43. It cites a number of concerns about TikTok, including alleged surveillance from the Chinese government. If only these Montana politicians take note of the national security risk to their fellow Americans? What about the surveillance of our own people, by the same rogue organizations ordering this to keep their monopoly going? What this shows is; more fear by the clowns here as everyone is overtaking them and they are being deemed surplus to requirements.

UK Premier Rishi Sunak's wife is a shareholder in a childcare agency that will benefit from a major new policy announced in the spring budget. The prime minister did not mention Akshata Murthy's links to Koru Kids when he was questioned by MPs, over why the financial announcement favored private firms. The Liberal Democrats said this raises serious questions for Mr.Sunak and called for his ethics adviser, Sir Laurie Magnus, to investigate. This month Chancellor Jeremy Hunt announced a pilot of incentive payments of £600 for childminders joining the profession, a sum that doubles to £1,200 if they sign up through an agency. At parliament's Liaison Committee on Tuesday, Labour MP Catherine McKinnell quizzed Mr.Sunak on the logic behind making the bonus twice as much for childminders who sign up through private agencies. The incestuous world of politics and finance, now being questioned more than ever, which is again a positive. All about the accountability.

More trouble afoot in Israel as the protests have led to a massive climb down by the clown authorities there. Israeli Crime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu reversed course on the firing of Defense Minister Yoav Gallant following massive protests across the country. Netanyahu dismissed Gallant last month after the minister called on him to shelve judicial reform legislation, that has prompted protests from hundreds of thousands of Israeli citizens. But the firing only escalated the situation, drawing widespread outrage by demonstrators in the streets and a strike called by the country's largest trade union. The reinstatement comes as Netanyahu faces pressure over new violence in the region. Be wary Mr.Gallant, of Mossad and other paramilitaries creating an accident for you. Whilst per se I am not in favor of protests, I am pleased to see the people of Israel fighting back and gaining ground. They must continue to protest their leadership though, not just for this case, but the plethora of other issues as well.

Last week, Trump pleaded not guilty to 34 felony charges of falsifying business records to conceal a $130,000 hush money payment. To buy porn star Stormy Daniels' silence before the 2016 election about her alleged affair with him, which he denies. Is that really relevant in the scheme of things? No. How about how Trump sold the American people a total lie for 4 years, about how he was going to fix everything and be the savior. Trump a savior, and this after he was made bankrupt six times, and about to become seven. Why just pick on Trump? What about all the corruption every politician appears to be involved in? What about the generals of all of the Militaries who can't account for the missing $23T? The list could go on in every department, but one man sleeps with a slapper, which is debatable I understand, and that becomes a felony? All whilst all the other criminals walk free? Total distraction and a money making exercise for the Talmudic lawyers.

Whilst the pro pagan da war goes on between Russia, Ukraine and the 5 eyes group, here is an actual update as to what is and has been unfolding. And also what is being prevented by Russia. A briefing of the Russian Ministry of Defense on the analysis of documents related to the military biological activities of the United States April 6, 2023. It continues to analyze the military-biological activities of the United States and its allies in Ukraine and in other regions of the world. Earlier, we have already given the names of participants in American military biological programs. Among them are officials of the US Department of Defense, Pentagon contractors, American biotech corporations, state institutions and private companies of Ukraine. Today we are adding to the list of persons involved in the biological research of the Pentagon. Among them: Eliot Jacobs Perlman, whilst not confirmed sounds like he was born to, head of the non-governmental organization International Institute of HIV and Tuberculosis Problems in Kiev, was directly involved in the creation of a laboratory base for the implementation of military biological research in Ukraine. Remember Fauci was involved in the HIV/Aids so called research as well. Plus another born to Rochelle Walensky who is head of the CDC. Greg Glass, professor at the Institute of New Pathogens at Florida State University, studied the spread of the pathogen tularemia in Ukraine. He was involved in the implementation of the Yu-Pi-8 project, which was the spread of the Congo-Crimean hemorrhagic fever virus and hantaviruses in Ukraine. Andrew Stanley Pecos, Professor of molecular microbiology and immunology at the Johns Hopkins University School of Public Health. Johns Hopkins involved yet again. He was involved as one of the leading consultants in the Yu-Pi-2 project, with the application of geoinformation systems, remote monitoring and laboratory diagnostics for the detection of tularemia and anthrax diseases in humans and animals in Ukraine. Among the performers of American military biological projects and citizens of Ukraine: Natalia Rodina is the Deputy Director General of the state institution, the Kyiv Regional Laboratory Center of the Ministry of Health of Ukraine and a former employee of the American company Black and Veatch. Who we exposed last year of receiving contracts from the DOD. Since 2020, he has been an adviser to the Commander of the Medical Forces of the Armed Forces of Ukraine on laboratory diagnostics. Olena Nesterova is the Director of the Ukrainian Institute for Public Health Research. Who coordinated the activities of the company Labyrinth Global Health, carried out interaction between the state bodies of Ukraine and the company Metabiota. Hiding from responsibility for participation in military biological projects, many defendants left the territory of Ukraine. To prevent the possible leakage of information about the illegal activities of the Pentagon, the US administration is taking urgent measures to search for them and return them. Through the Ukrainian Scientific and Technical Center, work is carried out in two directions: collecting data on the whereabouts of employees who already have experience in participating in so-called Ukrainian projects, as well as searching for new specialists in the field of developing weapons of mass destruction. I would be concerned about those who worked in the projects, as they will go missing permanently at some point, dead people can't talk as they say. Pay attention to the questionnaire distributed through the UNTC website for students in special courses. Just like the Universities here, a playground for the Agencies and Militaries to harvest the students. At the same time, a prerequisite for participation in them is the presence of experience in dual-use research. In the period from April 24 to April 26, 2023, online training will be held with the selected candidates, in parallel, it is planned to organize a face-to-face meeting in Warsaw. During the training sessions, participants will be invited to continue working on closed projects on Ukrainian territory and abroad. We do not rule out that under the guise of such courses, measures may be taken to prepare provocations with biological weapons and to launch an information campaign against the Russian Federation. To implement the tasks set, the Department of Threat Reduction of the US Department of Defense (DITRA) uses the potential of biologists not only from Ukraine, but also from the states of Central Asia and Transcaucasia. Work in this direction is planned by the American administration for a period at least until 2025. There is that date again. Financing of dual-use projects is carried out by the US military department through a grant system. The distribution of funds is entrusted to the UNTC and the International Scientific and Technical Center (ISTC). The organization is headed by the former head of the US Arms Control Agency Ronald Lehman. Here are the names of individual ISTC projects without specifying their territorial affiliation. Project 2410; Assessment of the natural resistance of the causative agent of brucellosis in domestic and wild animals. This is aimed at studying the possibility of transmission of this dangerous pathogen to humans. It is noteworthy that the research was conducted with the participation of specialists from the University of Florida. Within the framework of project 2513, risk factors and molecular properties of virulent enterobacteria resistant in the external environment are being studied. The study is aimed at isolating strains of microorganisms that are immune to all known classes of antibiotics. Who allows this shit to go on with no oversight? Project 2545 provides for modeling the evolutionary changes of certain types of viruses, like bunyaviruses that are highly pathogenic to humans. At the same time, research on the combination of genetic materials of dangerous pathogens, is planned to be carried out with the support of the National Agency for Research and Innovation of Great Britain. Let me remind you that the purpose of the ISTC's biological threat reduction program is to protect the United States, its armed forces and allies. This once again confirms that Washington considers the post-Soviet space as a springboard for the deployment of NATO military units. Using the example of Ukraine, we see how the financing of military biological programs imposed by the collective West, leads to the loss of national biological sovereignty and the undermining of its own scientific and technological potential in the field of biological, food and pharmaceutical security. The Ministry of Defense of the Russian Federation previously informed about the so-called Big Pharma conducted by American pharmaceutical companies, research on directed evolution, as well as on corruption and collusion with US government agencies related to the development and production of vaccine preparations. It was noted that representatives of regulatory authorities lobby the commercial interests of companies to the detriment of current safety and quality standards. By authorizing the use of drugs without undergoing control procedures, federal agency officials subsequently occupy key positions in pharmaceutical corporations. Among them are former employees of the Food and Drug Administration of the US Department of Health: Mark McClellan, current member of the Board of Directors of Johnson & Johnson, Scott Gottlieb, member of the Board of Directors of Pfizer, Stephen Khan – the chief physician of the company Flagship Engineering, directly related to Moderna. According to the information available to us, collusion between officials and manufacturers of the Pfizer anti-cancer vaccine, allowed drugs with serious side effects to be put into circulation. At the same time, at the time of approval of the vaccine, Pfizer had real evidence confirming an increased risk of serious pathologies of the cardiovascular system after vaccination. The company's closed report quotes: There is evidence that patients receiving the Covid-19 vaccine are at increased risk of developing myocarditis. Since April 2021, Moderna has also reported an increase in cases of myocarditis cases as well. A very seedy tale of programs, greed, control and shekels games now being unearthed into the light. These types of reports would not have made the light of day 10 years ago, now they are becoming common, and that is a positive.

MEDICAL NEWS: More positive news about the jabs and also more evidence of people questioning it. As Switzerland stops all the Covid vaccinations: All vaccination recommendations have been withdrawn, doctors can only administer the controversial vaccines in individual cases under certain conditions, but then bear the risk of liability for vaccination damage. The husband of BBC presenter and journalist Lisa Shaw is set to take legal action in the UK, after his wife died a week after her AstraZeneca vaccine. Lisa, who worked for BBC Radio Newcastle and previously Century and Real Radio, died in May 2021 due to complications from her first jab. At the time, her family claimed that the 44-year-old had developed blood clots due to the AstraZeneca vaccine. Now, her husband, Gareth Eve is set to take legal action. He said despite trying to engage with the government, MPs and three prime ministers, but no-one had reached out in return. Funny that isn't it, they can all burble on when presented with scripts to read, yet when they are asked a question, crickets. Or 1.They are too stupid to answer and 2: their paymasters shut them up. Gareth told the BBC: It's not in my make-up to turn around and say I want to sue somebody, but for almost two years we've tried to engage with the government and tried to engage with MPs since Lisa died, and not one of them has reached out or engaged with us at all. Any engagement is fleeting at best, so that's the reason that we're left with no alternative. If the government or AstraZeneca don't want to engage with us then what else are we supposed to do? He said all he wanted was some sort of acknowledgement or recognition that these deaths have occurred. Why would you need acknowledgement when they have occurred? The question is not of acknowledgement but why they were allowed in the first place? In some ways, although I am not aware of Lisa's personal stance, is it not ironic that newsreaders died after heavily promoting these death and maim jabs so much? Mr.Eve added: We're not crackpots or conspiracy theorists, we're husbands and wives and family members who have lost somebody, that's all it is. Well Mr.Eve it was the so-called crackpots and conspiracy theorists who were right all along, and if people would have listened to them, their loved ones would not have died. Mr.Eve said: These things have happened to too many people and we're made to feel like it's a dirty secret, that we're talking about something we shouldn't be talking about. It's established it's been caused by AstraZeneca's Covid vaccination, it's not about Covid, it's not about how many lives the Covid vaccination has saved, it's about what this vaccination has done to Lisa and other families and not about how successful it was or whether somebody is anti-vax. A very sad case, but it focuses much on the effects, the cause is people believing government and experts, with zero critical thinking skills.

SOCIETY NEWS: More ridiculous woke culture practices occurring in the MSM, who are complicit in it and so are the justice system it seems. The Chicago-based 7th U.S.Circuit Court of Appeals upheld a lower court's decision on Friday. An Indiana music theory teacher was pushed out of his job, for refusing to call transgender students their preferred names and pronouns. He took a hit from a federal judge Friday, who upheld a lower court's ruling that the school district did not violate his rights. Former Brownsburg High School teacher John Kluge sued the school district alleging religious discrimination, after he cited his personal religious convictions for refusing to abide by the name and pronoun policy, opting to address transgender students by their last names instead. I get the plea, but it is not religious discrimination, it is just based on retarded policies and should have been thrown out for that alone. The school district, after enacting the policy in 2017, initially agreed to let Kluge use last names to address the students instead, according to The Associated Press. Some students alleged the move created an uncomfortable classroom experience and singled out students who identified as transgender and reported their concerns. Singled out students? Are they not singling themselves out by choosing made up pronouns that everyone is being forced to use? Kluge said he later resigned in 2018, after the school reevaluated the last name policy and told him he would be fired if he did not comply with the preferred name and pronoun rule on the books. He sued with the help of conservative legal group Alliance Defending Freedom a year later, alleging workplace discrimination while requesting his job back and unspecified money damages. The Chicago-based 7th U.S.Circuit Court of Appeals ruled on Friday that Kluge's religious convictions on the issue disrupted classroom operations, upholding an Indiana federal judge's previous ruling that the refusal created an undue hardship on the district. What a load of utter waffle that was, not saying pronouns disrupted the class? And undue hardship on the district? Who knew pronouns would cause such utter devastation? Embarrassing behavior all round. Here is a pronoun for the policy makers, you, it, she or he are complete retards. Brownsburg has demonstrated as a matter of law that, the requested accommodation worked an undue burden on the school's educational mission by harming transgender students and negatively impacting the learning environment for transgender students, for other students in Kluge's classes and in the school generally, and for faculty, the court's opinion read. Are you kidding me? Are people that sensitive these days? Offended by everything? Kluge's attorney Rory Gray maintains that the ousting was unlawful, writing in a statement, Congress passed Title VII to prevent employers from forcing workers to abandon their beliefs to keep their jobs. Unless of course it applies to an agenda, then like the National Security Act, it becomes redacted. In this case, Mr.Kluge went out of his way to accommodate his students and treat them all with respect. The school district even permitted this accommodation before unlawfully punishing Mr.Kluge for his religious beliefs. The development follows other instances of school officials facing penalties for refusing to abide by certain transgender name and pronoun policies, including former teacher Peter Vlaming. Who alleged the Virginia West Point School District terminated him for refusing to use pronouns that did not correspond with a student's biological sex, and former teacher Vivian Geraghty who made similar allegations about her school district in Ohio. Fox News Digital reached out to Alliance Defending Freedom and Brownsburg Community School Corporation. Brownsburg Community School Corporation said they do not comment on pending litigation, just like the school boards over the forced jabs and masks for the children. While Rory Gray, Alliance Defending Freedom Senior Counsel, provided the following statement: The 7th Circuit's ruling shows why the Supreme Court needs to fix the standard for accommodating religious employees under Title VII. And it has the opportunity to do so in the Groff case, which is scheduled for argument later this month. Congress passed Title VII to prevent employers from forcing workers to abandon their beliefs to keep their jobs. Have you ever heard such utter nonsense as this, it defies belief. Like I said, their world is going to get real ugly. We on the other hand can focus on rebuilding whilst they takedown the old world.

Appears all is not well in America NHL league either, as players finally got a backbone on something and have started to react to a program. In response to an increasing number of players engaging in silent protests against the NHL's Pride Nights, a new report claims the league is re-evaluating the events which may lead to them being canceled. Currently, all of the teams in the NHL hold Pride nights, however some now do so without the themed jerseys as the events are planned by the individual teams, not the league. League commissioner Gary Bettman said when asked about the players that have refused to wear Pride-themed jerseys this season, this is the first time we've experienced that, and I think it's something that we're going to have to evaluate in the offseason. Citing religious beliefs, several players have declined to participate in pre-game warmups while wearing Pride-themed jerseys. Bettman told the outlet, this is one issue where players for a variety of reasons may not feel comfortable wearing the uniform as a form of endorsement. If only the bulk of these players did that with the fake Covid masks as well. The commissioner continued, I think that's become more of a distraction now, because the substance of what our teams and we have been doing and stand for, is really being pushed to the side for what is a handful of players basically have made personal decisions, and you have to respect that as well. Recently Florida Panthers players Eric and Marc Staal refused to wear the jerseys citing their Christian beliefs. The pair said in a statement, we carry no judgement on how people choose to live their lives, and believe that all people should be welcome in all aspects of the game of hockey. Having said that, we feel that by us wearing a Pride jersey, it goes against our Christian beliefs. Other players have taken similar actions for their religious beliefs such as Philadelphia Flyers defenseman Ivan Provorov and San Jose Sharks goalie James Reimer. After refusing to wear the Pride jersey, Provorov jerseys immediately sold out online. Buffalo Sabres defenseman Ilya Lyubushkin has announced that he would not take part in the pregame warmup, because the team is scheduled to wear Pride jerseys due to fears of retribution at home in Russia because of the Kremlin's anti-gay law. The Chicago Blackhawks opted for their players not to wear the Pride-night jerseys citing Russia's anti-gay law, stating that they were concerned for their players safety when they return home. Nothing like a media report to change the script is it. From in part addressing people not accepting a program, to referencing another program as a distraction, anti-Russia. Nice to see people standing up, but I can think of dozens of more worthy causes than not wearing a pride shirt.

Here is another ridiculous program being exposed, and yet again the US military is behind it all. Army Majors currently attending ILE (intermediate level education) at the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, are being taught that only the dominant racial group can be racist, the whites, and all other ethnicities are simply prejudiced in their actions. Oh really? How selective of them to run the Jewish EL-ite program on us. The course is also teaching that gender is a social construct, while sex is a biological category given at birth. According to students going through the course right now, an individual who is white and male is not allowed to feel like someone is racist or sexist towards them, because they're in the majority. Woke based political non correctness in its full retarded form. Army Majors attend ILE as a prerequisite to become eligible for promotion to Lieutenant Colonel. According to their mission statement, The United States Army Command and General Staff College educates and develops leaders for full spectrum joint, interagency and multinational operations; Which means it promotes pro pagan da in a divisive manner and promotes everything that is non-white. It acts as lead agent for the Army's leader development program; and advances the art and science of the profession of arms in support of Army operational requirements. They don't teach operational requirements too well, given the US Army has lost virtually every ground war they have ever taken part in. ILE is a ten month, graduate level program which teaches leadership philosophy, military history, which is all fake, military planning all of which is poor at best and decision making processes, which they have proven incapable of, think withdrawal from Afghanistan as a prime example. Dr. Angela Riotto teaches the course which is titled; Race and Gender in U.S.Military History. The course description states, an effective military only functions under the principles of equality and inclusion. An effective planet only functions under the principles of equality and inclusion, not bombing half of it into oblivion. Manpower policy regarding inclusion and equality has only changed when forced to by the necessities of war or from outside social and political influence. This course will examine the history of service of minority groups and women in the U.S.Military, major amendments to manpower policy and historic problems with presenting a less than unified force. One of the course vignettes covers the definitions for prejudice, racism, gender and sex. According to the slide, racism is a complex system of beliefs and behaviors that result in the oppression of people of color and benefit the dominant group. Well the dominant group on the planet are Chinese, not whites, followed by blacks and browns, so how can whites be the dominant group? Except should it not be the case that whites are most prevalent in a pre-dominantly white country? It's Johns Hopkins math again. And people sit there and listen to this drivel? Riotto is white, yet is allowing and indeed teaching fake math and pro pagan da to run down her own race? What is wrong with people? The Merriam-Webster's Dictionary has a very different definition of racism, however: a belief that race is a fundamental determinant of human traits and capacities and that racial differences produce an inherent superiority of a particular race. There is no mention of people of color, being the only allowable targets of racism nor any mention of a dominant group. If we are talking about race superiority, look no further than the Jewish race, we are the chosen ones. Under their directives is that not a full definition of racism? The topic of wokeness in the Department of Defense is currently a hot button issue, which has resulted in numerous congressional hearings, where members of the GOP have questioned senior DOD officials regarding a wide range of topics. The DOD has pushed back against the accusations by either condoning the topics or flat out denying they're aware of their existence. Simple solution to the Military stonewalling is; slash their budget. Regardless of one's opinion on the material, there is undoubtedly a war for the minds of America's military leadership. The curriculum under fire often has little to do with honing the warfighting and leadership of the military, and more to do with the kind of indoctrination present across college campuses nationwide. Lethality is no longer the objective of our Armed Forces, just indoctrination and pro pagan da. Simple solution to this is, for all whites to leave the Military full stop. Why would white people send their children into the Military in the first place amazes me. Why would you want your child to fight endless wars, with a high chance of them being killed? In overview it is utterly mindboggling, it is on a par with sending your children to church in my opinion. It wouldn't take much to bring that war machine down, as they are already struggling to recruit. This of course means, no military equals no wars.

In the past we did a piece about a dramatic decline in sperm count globally that could threaten mankind's survival. How the sperm count has dropped by 62% from 1973 to 2018. Additionally, we have done numerous articles on the negative effect of Covid injections have on both male and female fertility, as well as the drop in birth rates and increase in miscarriages and stillbirths after mass vaccination campaigns began. The population numbers are plummeting, it is only a matter of time before the masses not only take notice, but start to question everything. A recent chat relayed to me of the stark problem of the vast numbers of Native Americans that are dying off and quickly. That has been noticed here as well as there is a reservation close to Farmington, and the south side of the town is beginning to empty out. So, what are the clowns up to or is it a silver lining? Well they are never short of madcap ideas, particularly in the field of science and medical. After creating the problem, well, voila! There's a solution looming on the horizon they say, the solution? artificial wombs. So many people simply do not understand how fast humanity is being transformed or what's coming, the article stated. The following are excerpts from EctoLife: Concept unveiled for the world's first artificial womb facility' published by Science and Stuff on 9 December 2022. Except it is not the first at all. They with off world entities, have been using artificial wombs to grow types of humans in very large test tubes for quite some time. One of the main places for that was, Dulce New Mexico and also Area 51 in Nevada. In 2017, scientists created a BioBag that functioned as an artificial womb, and they used it to grow a baby lamb. The bio bag idea came from the underground bases. Now, a new concept has been unveiled showing how the same could be done for humans. It is not new; nothing is ever new with the mad scientists. In recently released footage, Hashem Al-Ghaili shows what childbirth might look like tomorrow. Specifically, he created an artificial womb facility named EctoLife. What does ecto mean? The prefix ecto- comes from the Greek ektos, which means outer, external, out, or outside. And so it means outside life, is that not the definition of an extra-terrestrial? Al-Ghaili who I am not sure a single member of our group has heard about, yet he is said to get 5M Facebook hits weekly. I guess he is promoted by Go-ogle and the hits are all bots. Its purpose? Al-Ghaili says he thinks the EctoLife concept could one day supplant traditional birth. In so doing, he said society would finally be able to meet the needs of parents, who are tired of waiting for a response from an adoption agency and those who are worried about pregnancy complications. Adoption agencies by and large take babies, not hand them out. But most importantly, he says EctoLife could allow us to confront the infertility crisis head-on. All whilst ignoring the fact, it was scientists themselves who created the rise in infertility in the first place. Another group who don't get irony it seems. EctoLife could one day supplant traditional birth. Which is another revealing of how they wish to replace Source with machine based beings. Where is the church and their army of followers on this subject? Currently, the World Health Organization estimates that 15% of reproductive-aged couples worldwide are affected by infertility. Indeed, over the last 70 years, fertility rates worldwide have decreased by a staggering 50%. Reasons for this decline include, women's increased education, increases in employment, the high cost of raising children and a drop in global sperm count. Well you can thank the Feminist movement for the first three issues. 23 countries are already at risk, with Japan, Spain, Portugal, Thailand and South Korea at the forefront of the crisis. According to Al-Ghaili, the artificial womb concept of EctoLife would be life-changing for many who struggle to conceive. It's a perfect solution for women who have had their uterus surgically removed due to cancer or other complications. It could also help solve issues that stem from low sperm count. He also said that the EctoLife concept, or technologies like it, could ultimately make miscarriage a thing of the past. Let's just overview that shall we? When scientists and their ilk are eliminating swathes of the population, think tank clowns are warning of over population and the need to reduce it, then suddenly they produce technology to increase the birth rates? Does this make any sense whatsoever? Is it more ourorobos programs, when they now finally realize that their old plans didn't work? So, with less people, all their economic, financial and business models are all going to fail with a reduced population, so now let's reverse the failed policy and reboot everything. It seems probable that we are only several years away from testing artificial wombs on human subjects, Social Ethics and Policy Academic Elizabeth Chloe Romanis wrote in the BMJ's Journal of Medical Ethics. You are kidding no one Ms. Romanis with your several years away bs, it is ancient technology. Meanwhile, Dr. Carlo Bulletti, Associate Professor at Yale University's Obstetrics, Gynaecology, and Reproductive Science Department, thinks that a fully functioning artificial womb could be realized within the next 10 years. It is about to get worse though, listen to this lunacy program added onto it. EctoLife: Reinventing evolution. The EctoLife video shows that the first step prospective parents must take is, having their eggs and sperm combined via in vitro fertilization. Ah the IVF program, now raises another concern on top of what we revealed on that. This would allow them to select only viable and genetically superior embryos, superior to whom? More of the chosen ones again? Or more of the whites with inserted genetic coding of other races, whether human or not? Al-Ghaili clarifies that genetically superior embryos are primarily, those which are free from genetic issues that would result in miscarriage. Which is interesting as, it was the same scientists who meddled genetically with people who are jabbed. However, he notes that the process could also be used to screen for birth defects, as is already common practice in most IVF treatments. Clearly the same scientists don't check for birth defects amongst their own, like checking for psychopathy. But that's not all. This would also offer parents the ability to genetically engineer their embryo, before implanting it into the artificial womb through the use of the CRISPR-Cas 9 gene editing tool. Ah the CRISPR-Cas9 we referenced in the Covid jabs. The great question is: Have with some batches of the Covid jabs, for the ones designated to survive, inserted some sort of coding whereby the mothers can only get pregnant via this technology? This they say, would create the opportunity to fix any inherited genetic diseases that are part of your family history, so that your baby and their offspring will live a healthy, comfortable life free of genetic diseases. Notice they do not say how they know it will achieve this scientific magic? If they say an artificial womb is a decade away, how can they make such fantastic claims of how it will work? The answer is it A: bullshit or B: a lie-based seducement program again or C: they have already perfected it. This may seem far-fetched; however, Al-Ghaili pointed out that CRISPR has already been used, to correct a genetic mutation in human embryos that is linked to a condition known as hypertrophic cardiomyopathy, which causes the heart muscle to thicken. According to Al-Ghaili, the EctoLife facility is also envisioned as making extensive use of artificial intelligence, with one of its uses being to provide each baby with custom nutrients tailored to their needs. Now why would they do that? Given they have stripped the nutrients and vitamins out of food for the past 50 years. Leading to a marketing strategy to get people to think healthy, which in most cases is not healthy, and buy useless supplements and vitamins which clearly don't work otherwise more people would be healthy. If you have to take anything longer than a month, it doesn't work. How can it? Because the body recognizes the intention behind it and produces its own remedy, all of which means taking tablets long term is at best a placebo and at worst damaging. Another use of AI in the EctoLife concept would be to monitor the physical features of your baby and report any potential abnormalities for deviations from normal gestation. The seducement and the convenience tactic again, of how things are going to be so much easier. All whilst you slip further and further away from Source. The role of the mother then becomes irrelevant as the machines will do it for you. Once a baby reaches full maturity? According to the video, the birth process can be done with just the push of a button, which will cause the faux amniotic fluid to drain from the growth pod. The growth pod, is what the pods under Dulce and other places were doing, like the Fire in the Sky documentary. The impact on humanity could be profound. The great question then is; Will they be Homo sapiens? How much will a baby made-to-order cost? Is there a cheaper version if no customization or modification is requested? Is there a return for faulty goods policy? The answers to these questions don't bear thinking about. It is one of the most disgusting and dehumanizing notions the technocrats have devised so far. What they are describing are, bot births, just like the movie Extinction half human half machine. The bots then will be the transforming transformers, who mechanically go through life short circuiting, whilst eking out a control based existence of never having to do anything themselves. All of which is like the majority of the masses is it not? Maybe this is not the future but the past? Maybe the collective consciousness of the organics will short fuse them? Maybe the G cloud will make them irrelevant? And maybe they were just actors in a bad B Movie all along? A movie where we finally become our own directors.

PSYCHOLOGY SECTION: What is trust? How do you trust? The world of trust whether personal or the collective plays a key role in how we all go about life. Too few realize that it determines our futures on a minute by minute basis. It is something so important and yet how we all neglect this key aspect of our lives. Trust factors in our lives are out of balance, like most aspects of our lives. It is far too easy to not trust than too trust, far too easy to lose trust than to gain it. So, what is that saying about us? Or will you point the finger away from yourself and blame others? This then plays into self-mastery does it not? Because ultimately the most common form of mistrust of others, lies within the mistrust of the self. And yes we will blame others, but ultimately it is down to how we act, behave or trust is it not? But I don't trust such and such a person, but why is that? What is your role within that trusting connection? Too few overview it on a non-personal level to then define what is your role and what is the other's role in it. I have been accused of being too trusting and letting people go too far, whether that is a working, love or friendship relationship. Yes I have been betrayed a lot in all three categories, but the questions then are; what was my role in it? Did I act in the right manner? Was I too trusting? Ultimately in my cases my putting trust in people was right, it is not my issue if the people I trusted abused it. That is solely down to them and their failures. So then I can distance myself away from those poor actions of others and carry on my path largely unhindered. This is what the self-mastery brings. Some people thought I was finished as a person and show host following the split from Kim, time has shown I took it to a new level. Why? because it wasn't my issue or my lesson, it was hers, the overview aspect brings much clarity to that particular issue. In that situation time has shown she needed me far more than I ever needed her. But the desire to be the one singular over powered her, her own mistrust means everyone is a threat to her. In overview she was a threat only to herself, due to a lack of inner trust. Being too trusting is fine, as long as you keep the person or situation outside of your field. The problem is people trust and love others with them inside of their field, and so when things go wrong, chaos ensues. Because both people are in each other's fields, and if one of those people are in chaos, anger, rage or out of balance, then both are. How to deal with trust: I likened it to a music graphic equalizer, where you have a above side and a lower side and in the middle is the balance. Everything on the above side is not you, everything on the lower side is you. Whilst the graphic equalizer is also known as a mixer, you on the other hand must never mix the two. On the lower side on the trust scale, you must work on you and push your sliding scale to the maximum. That then means you have mastered you, and your sliding scale on the lower side goes close to but not touching the balance in the middle. On the above side is everyone else, and you will slide that scale up or down based on your experiences with each individual only. Never base your trust of someone else based upon the judgement of others. Yes take advice from others, but ultimately everyone should decide their levels of interactions with people themselves. That is a key aspect of life, as an example: if people talk to Team bubba or even Kim for example, I am the world's worst person to them. But those who meet me will say the opposite, that is their own personal judgement, which is yours and the best judgement. Far too often we base our trust or lack of trust from reports or the opinions of others, but that is a lazy assed way of operating. What it reveals is, you won't trust yourself and allow somebody else's opinions to then determine whether you like someone or not. Wrong thinking and actions, because that has caused us no end of division between us all. That is not taking personal responsibility is it? Because person A said person B is not nice, does not mean they are does it? where is your personal input on person B? So, the above trust sliding scale should be pushed up or down based on your interactions only. Again like the lower section, the maximum trust of a person is close to the balance line but must never cross it. Below it is your space only, above is their space and you then learn to control your field. What happens in their field is then their issue and you retain your I am. Trust when it comes to love relationship plays a key role in life, that is largely distorted out of shape and balance based upon previous relationships. Because it is based on previous, this then puts your current or future relationships on sticky ground. Trust of the partner is lowered to all-time lows and then the thinking pattern changes and you become over judgmental, not based on your current partner, but your previous. This reveals not an issue with previous partners, but an issue with the self. Because he or she was bad to you or didn't treat you right, unless fully addressed, the next partner then has to endure the previous ones bad or wrong behavior. This is why so many relationships fail, as the baggage of the previous carries over into the new one. In overview, the new partner is then sleeping with or connected to all the previous ones, all of which sounds like a Mormon lifestyle to me, haha. This all comes down to a lack of trust, we must learn to let go of the past to then create a blank slate for all new partners in our life. Healthy boundaries must be set with all relationships and the graphic equalizer analogy will help with that immensely. Being too trusting is fine, as long as it doesn't cross the balance line, as you retain the you aspect. Having low trust is not good for anybody, because what it says is, you do not trust yourself. If you do not trust yourself, you can never trust anybody else. If you don't trust anybody else, you will A: never develop relationships whether working, love or friendships and B: live a very lonely life. You cannot care and share without trust, you cannot be cooperative without trust and you cannot be fully in love without trust. I would suggest we all work on your trust issues, find out why, what is your role in it? What is their role in it? How was your reaction to it? Was it chaotic or balanced? Ask yourself why you would deny your future happiness based upon bad experiences and people of the past? Are they not living in our head rent free? Why would we allow that? In the game of win and lose in a competitive sense, are they not winning? because they are determining your life and path in the now? Developing your intuition also erodes the trust issues, things, situations and people will always go wrong at times, but how you react to it is, what ultimately counts.

So, to all of you out there seeking a new partner or friendship, the great question before that is; how do you trust? Because that dictates and decides your future. Your future is determined by you only, or you can continue to traverse through life leaving a trail of baggage and destruction. What is your version of I am?

I did this piece back in June 10th 2021 and some took it the wrong way or misinterpreted the intention or meaning behind it. Given the details of the last piece, the understanding garnered from it and the near two years has passed since, I suspect your thinking of this piece will have drastically changed. I said back then; Many of our group now are experiencing or have experienced discontent with their love partners at the moment. Some have left and some are leaving, some are pondering on doing it. I mentioned this would happen as far back as May 2015, I have made several other veiled references to it along the way, and a cryptic line of maybe the frequencies of the past are now returning. So, what is the cause of these splits in relationships? The answer is simple, but also hard to accept and comprehend at times, but don't react to it, ponder on it and arrive at the conclusion. This world has a pandemic of low vibration, low self-worth and insecurity people, these are the vast majority of descriptions of people around the world. It is the real pandemic and why we have to stop dragging each other down, and lift each other up. People met each other because they were both low vibration, low self-worth and insecure people, it is the magnetic attraction effect, the frequency effect, you were attracted to the same frequency. When you understand everything is about frequency, this makes more sense. But, here is the kicker, love is a higher vibrational frequency, so how can love operate in a low vibrational field? the answer is it can't. It is a version of love we adapted to on a low vibrational scale, but it's not real love, it is a copy, a mirror image, an illusion of what is real. We have spoken in the past of you either choose love or fear, fear is low vibrational and an absence of love, love is higher vibrational and an absence of fear. So, you cannot love in a low vibrational, low self-worth and personally insecure status or frequency, you are only imagining it. How do we know that? because they tell you in their words, they tell you to fall in love or you fell in love. Why do you need to fall to be in love? you don't and you can't, so we all need to rise to be in love, change the terminology I rose in love, I have risen in love, I have elevated in love. Many of our members have gone from those low vibrational states including me, into a higher vibrational state, they have shifted from the fear realm to the love realm. But their partners haven't matched that change, and so their partners are seen in a different light, which is also a frequency, and they no longer have that magnetic attraction anymore. Those that seek new partners in the higher vibrational frequency must be aware that, your field of matching partners are very few, it is a lonely space. But don't despair should that be the case, it gives you more time to develop, process, heal the self and when the time is right, he or she will arrive. Given the low numbers of elevated frequency people, maybe in purely overview terms the polyamorous lifestyles will be the way forward? Not polygamy which is marrying two people, marriage is a binding agreement and in the overview way, encourages ownership. This is the description of polyamorous. A polyamorous relationship is a relationship that involves multiple people involved with one another, with everyone understanding each other. It does not have to mean a sexual union, just loving, caring and sharing. A lifestyle with more than one partner can teach one to love themselves in different perspectives, and can teach one how to love others deeply all at the same time, in a way that involves loving one another together. Polyamorous relationships are not solely about sex or not about having sex at all, but rather what one person could give you emotionally, and in terms of connection that the other person could not. If one cannot feel these connections towards that person, there could not be an attraction sexually. It is interesting to note that the Millennials, known to some as starseeds, or those that came in with more memory and extra DNA are highly open and prevalent in polyamorous circles, maybe that is telling us something? With extra memory these are known as born in sin, the god of knowledge is Sin, we are their predecessors as we are the sin eaters. This must not also be mistaken for open relationships either, the term open relationship means one or both partners are seeking external sexual partners, this is not the way for polyamorous relationships. Polyamory is about multiple relationships intertwining based on love and emotional connections, which is no different to our TPC memes, or in overview the interconnectedness of combining our PSI fields. Now I suspect you are all understanding that better than in 2021, that is progress. The females automatically jumped into the thinking it was all about sex, but it said twice it was nothing to do with sex. The great non-listening problem again! But part of the problem the female must overcome is, men only want you for sex, it is a negative and destructive thought form and again plays into the trust problem mentioned earlier. The notion of, only men want sex is a complete misnomer, a fallacy and a falsehood. Let's call it as it is shall we and shatter that myth. We shouldn't be operating this way and only we can change that. All of the people in the village will tell you we have developed deep loving relationships that are not based on having sex. A mutual love and bonding of each other in a non-competitive or intimidating way. A free flowing connection between us all, that has brought deep friendships and love amongst us all. Whether that is male/female, female/female or male/male, this is how life should be. What we have developed here also is, a deep trust of each other and a deeper trust of the self. Free of the awkwardness that pervades many relationships outside of here. Ultimately everyone has to decide for themselves which is the best way to be and live. We all doubted there was an alternative, we in the village have shown what is possible with trust. The power of love a force from above, cleaning my soul, love is like an energy, which is a frequency, make love your goal.

MYSTERY SECTION: We have spoken many times about the Urs and where they are from and the connection to Perun and Tara. Remember the Ursa constellation is named Makosh, but perhaps we should consider if Makosh is another name for Tara? Also, couldn't find the Polish version of the Vedas and realized that in Polish other name for Perun is Tur, which is how you call the extinct species of forest aurochs and maybe why Hindu cows are considered holy? The aurochs is an extinct cattle species and considered to be the wild ancestor of modern domestic cattle. Which sounds similar to Arcturus too. In Polish Arcturus is Wolarz, synonymous with the word Wół meaning Ox. Arcturus has some interesting name associations with it. The traditional name Arcturus is Latinized from the ancient Greek Arktouros and it means guardian of the bear, ultimately from arktos meaning bear and ouros meaning watcher or guardian. The guardian of the bear is interesting in relation to Ursa Major and Minor, given they are called the great and little bear. As one of the brightest stars in the sky, Arcturus has been significant to observers since antiquity. In ancient Mesopotamia, it was linked to the god Enlil. In Indian astronomy, which is actually Vedic astronomy, Arcturus is called Swati or Svati, which is one of the four palaces or constellations connected to the Crystal Needles gateway. From Makosh to Mokosh, who is a Slavic goddess mentioned in the Primary Chronicle, a protector of women's work and women's destiny. She watches over spinning and weaving, shearing of sheep and protects women in childbirth. Mokosh is the Mother Goddess. Mokošh was the only female deity whose idol was erected by Vladimir the Great in his Kiev sanctuary, along with statues of other major gods Perun, Hors, Dažbog, Stribog and Simargl. All of which were the URS and who supplied the original Vedic texts, that was shared with the Kali Ma Hindus and later hijacked into the Hindu Vedic texts. Etymology and origin: Mokosh probably means moisture. According to Max Vasmer, her name is derived from the same root as Slavic words mokry meaning wet, and moknut(i) meaning get wet or to dive deeply into something. She may have originated among the northern Finnic peoples of the Vogul, who worship the divinity Moksha. Family relations: According to ancient Slav belief, this deity had some connection to thunder god Perun. Her consorts are probably both the god of thunder Perun and his opponent Veles. Veles, also known as Volos, is a major god of earth, waters, livestock and the underworld in Slavic paganism. His mythology and powers are similar, though not identical, to those of among other deities like Odin, Loki and Hermes. According to reconstruction by some researchers, Veles is the opponent of the supreme thunder god Perun. As such he probably has been imagined as a dragon, which in the belief of the pagan Slavs is, a chimeric being resembling a cross between a bear and a snake that devours livestock. The chimeras again, and the story of the warrior slaying the dragon, that has played out in many cultures and languages over time. Among Western Slavs, the name can be principally found in 15th and 16th century Czech records, where it means either dragon or devil. One wonders whether the Slavic language is slightly mistranslated, is it dragon or dracon they are referring to? In saying, the former Katičić follows Ivanov and Toporov (1983) without further corroborating their claim. Katičić also points to the possibility that as goddess Vela she is the consort of Veles, and might even be interpreted as another form of the polymorph god Veles himself. Polymorph is an organism or inorganic object or material which takes various forms. Chimeric, avatar or host entity that could signify. Mokosh is also the mother of the twin siblings Jarilo and Morana. Jarilo is a later name given the letter J, could it be Yarilo? Which is the Vedic name of the sun. A key myth in Slavic mythology is the divine battle between Perun and Veles. Some authors including Ivanov and Toporov believe the abduction of Mokosh causes the struggle. Later worship: As late as the 19th century, she was worshipped as a force of fertility and the ruler of death. The great duality choice again life and death, but what about in between? The triality? The you choice? Not these harvesters of our energy promoting themselves above everyone. Over time, people should have seen for themselves that doesn't work. Worshipers prayed to Mokosh-stones or breast-shaped boulders that held power over the land and its people. More fear-based tactics and more energy harvesting of the followers. The people are the power and the land belongs to us all. In Eastern Europe, Mokosh is still popular as a powerful life-giving force and protector of women, with villages are named after her. She shows up in embroidery, represented as a woman with uplifted hands and flanked by two plow horses. She has been claimed to be shown with male sexual organs, as the deity in charge of male potency, however no visual proof has been provided. Not the transsexual aspect again? Or is it the androgyny side of us? Is it a symbol of male/female balance? Or another one of their avatar games again? Christianization: During the Christianization of Kievan Rus', she was replaced by the cult of the Virgin Mary and St. Paraskevia. Saint Paraskeva of the Balkans was an ascetic female saint of the 10th century. The Balkans? Is that the Khans of Ba'al? an overlay name after they took over the region? She was born in Epivates, near present-day Istanbul, and had visions of the Virgin Mary. After living in Chalcedon and Heraclea Pontica, she settled in a convent in the desert near the Jordan River, where she died at the age of 27. Is that another example of the famed dying at that age?

27. The cult of Saint Paraskeva began to spread in the 14th century from Bulgaria into the Romanian principalities of Wallachia and Moldavia. There was confusion over her identity and attributes because her Greek name paraskevi means Friday. Translations in other languages, such as Romanian and Serbian, were Saint Friday. Is that relating to the Norse god of Friday, Frigg or Freyja? Depending upon the translation of, or in most cases the mistranslation of, determines the path and understanding behind the name. It has also been suggested that the names Freyja and Frigg may stem from a common linguistic source. This theory, however, is rejected by most linguists in the field, who interpret the name Frigg as related to the Proto-Germanic verb frijōn which means to love. So it could mean Friday or to love, or both as everyone loves Friday as it means the weekend is arriving. Also stemming from a substantivized feminine of the adjective frijaz meaning free, whereas Freyja is regarded as descending from a feminine form of frawjōn meaning the lord. Quite a difference is translation there, and how and why it has led to much confusion. It is deliberately confusing so we don't work out who are the bad guys and their actors and actresses in the game. Her cult continues to be celebrated in many Orthodox countries, and her feast day is commemorated on October 14 in the Eastern Orthodox Church. Archeological evidence: Archeological evidence of Mokosh dates back to the 7th century BC. Boris Rybakov, in his 1987 work Paganism of Ancient Rus, conjectures that Mokosh is represented on one of the sides of the Zbruch Idol. There is another mind control meme based upon the myth of the Rus being Paganism, it was not. The true Rus did not come under any of their falsely created labels, so we can ignore that. In toponymy: Scholarship considers that traces of Mokosh exist in the toponymy of Slavic countries: Slovenia: a village name Makoše in the vicinity of Ribnica, historically known as Makoša or Makoš; river name Mokoš in the Prekmurje region. Croatia: village Makoše near Dubrovnik; suburb areas of Nova and Stara Mokošica. Czech Republic: a village and river name Mokošín in Pardubice Region, Eastern Bohemia. Bosnia and Herzegovina: a hill named Mukušina near Ravno village; hill name Mukoša South of Mostar. Polabian: place name Muuks/Mukus. Poland: Mokosz, Mokosza, Mokoszyn, Mokosznica. Russia: Old Russian village Mokošina. Belarus: A marsh named Mókšava balóta. That is not the last of the Rus references for this show.

It is time for another song piece, of interpreting the lyrics and or formulating them into an understandable path and interpretation. This song has popped up a few times now, and originally I overlooked it a bit, but some members kept pushing it and so I took a look. Maybe it has more significance now, no time will tell. The song is from a band called Foreigner and the name of the song is starrider. I stole a ride on a passing star, not knowing where I was going, how near or how far. That is the journey of discovery, how far will the star or the sun take you though? Is ultimately your own decision. The helical solar model will make more sense understanding that line. Through years of light, lands of future and past. But light being a year is a construct, light has no time at its deepest level. So, what is the future and what is the past? Have you defined it? What will you manifest for the future? Or will you recreate your past? Will you bring beneficial lessons from the past, or traumas and pains? Until the heavenly gates were sighted at last, ah the celestial needles we speak of the FHSTOS shows and book. But that is the external version, what about your own heavenly gates? Are they open? Are they free and flowing? The chorus says: Starrider, rider, rider take me to the stars. Starrider, rider, rider show me where you are? We are the stars of the past birthed out of the star dust. Show me where you are? Have you defined where you have been to then know, where you are? In Verse 2 it says; Northern lights flashed by and then they were gone. Yes because they interfered with the energy grids and the free flowing nature of it. No mention of the southern lights, where is the sign of the Southern Cross? And as old stars would die, so the new ones were born. The cycle of life birth and death then re-birth. Stardust, energy particles, consciousness all coming together in a transmutional way to form life. And ever on I sailed, celestial ways and in the light of my years, shone the rest of my days. Life and the celestial ways echoes the line of another song, come sail away with me, are you ready for the journey or will doubts, fears and your non-shining hamper your days and future? Speed increasing, speed like time can be seen as an illusion, because everything is in the moment and now. It is still, paused and at a standstill, a momentary spark of creation formed by consciousness and the collective. We are mere actors or actresses in the roles, or observers of those playing their roles. All control is in the hands of those who know, will they help us grow to one day be starrider. Those who know are the elders, the way showers, the teachers. Teaching you to initially be a starrider, but ultimately going on to be the star itself. That is what unfolds with your soul development. Starrider, heavenly gates, northern lights and the celestial needles. What is that telling us at this juncture? The great question is; are the northern and southern lights remnants of the celestial needles? And with an increase in the observation of them, what is that revealing to us all?

ENDING PIECE: A big pondering on that last question and I suspect it may have triggered quite a few, it may have popped a few brain cells as well. With the obvious questions to follow like, what if? This is dedicated to every human who looks different, feels different and thinks different. Stay different, as our world needs the difference we will make. In a world of repetitive behaviors and algorithms, difference is essential for growth. Their world now is done, falling apart and we don't need to fix it, save it or facilitate it. It served its purpose of realizing how far we all went away from Source, reality and life itself. Filled with greed and hate, division and anger, violence and strife, an infinite mass of rank stupidity, and child level actors seeking a permanent parent. Our task is to steer the proverbial TPC boat into calmer waters as above so below, and make land and start anew. Using maturity where small talk no longer interests you, you learn to forgive more, you are more open minded, you respect difference, you don't force love you become it. Where you can accept heartaches, betrayals and disappointment and move on in balance, you don't judge easily, you prefer to be silent than engage with a low vibrational conflict, you seek peace not war, both external and internal of you. All lessons of observe not absorb, plus your happiness is not dependent on people, wealth or materialistic things, but your inner self. Those listed are the new paths forward for us all. Have enough courage to fight the battles you need, and ignore the ones you don't. Seek and ye shall find, upon your own journey of discovery. The love I am feeling going on in all the gatherings, zooms and chats is a joy to behold, please keep it going as love is the way forward. The frequencies here in the village are so high and lovely right now, I wish you could all experience it. As the spring winds blows away the lengthy winter, we are ready to come out and bloom in a big way. Feel into the new energies, embrace them, integrate them and be happy on an inner level. The external level is the smile, let it beam and shine. Observe don't absorb highly prevalent now, those not shining are falling rapidly now. But remember that is their choice, not ours. Stay strong in your conviction, exude inner strength and remember the progress you have all made. Hold onto it tightly and protect you, love you and cherish you. We have all come a long way, suffered abuse and rejection, but we kept going. That is the lasting memory to keep. Let the love flow within you and external of you.
