

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2023-06-01

Take the time for you to see you're the one who holds the key, you always did. You can act on that fact or let sailing ships pass you by. Spread your wings so you can see that you control your destiny, again you always did, but will you allow yourself to? You are the sailing ship remember.

COMMUNAL GATHERING UPDATES: The All Women's group has changed their meeting time to the off week, still on Wednesdays at noon, MT, in order to better accommodate women due to the recent time changes. We have discussed how everyone is doing with the new energies coming in, how people are continuing to define the feminine and adjust and embrace all of that. We then looked at how we are all contributing to the Blueprint. Some women are not comfortable, or do not feel they have skills with technology to be able to do some of the work that requires computer skills. As an answer to that, two women had ideas for leaflets to generate interest in the medical and educational areas, so they will put their ideas together and present them to the group. Once we have all agreed upon what should be in the leaflets, we will all do energetic work together within the group to manifest and support the ideas presented. That way, everyone can contribute on some level. The frequencies held by the women has been exciting and extremely positive and we are looking forward to sharing those frequencies in a larger arena.

The Indexing team has completed 2018, 19, and 20 and are currently almost halfway through 2021. Our volunteer staff has declined significantly, but the few who are left have stepped up their efforts in order to make up for that. We are working diligently and hope to make great progress in the coming weeks.

The translators are still working on Volume 1 or, in some cases, the Blueprint. We are awaiting the Bulgarian translation next. The proofreading and formatting processes are ongoing. A partial translation of Spanish is expected within a week or two. For the Blueprint and we have two proofreaders to check it. If all is well, the rest of the translation will then be completed. The German translator has gotten to the second chapter and has a proofreader helping her.

The Research Team has gathered a large number of influencer names, and some of their addresses, both from transcripts and from member suggestions. The mailers are being finalized and will require approval. The cost of mailing will be available when the Blueprint book weight is known. The means to track the mailings and responses is being created.

The Peoples Colors update: The members have been focusing on the Blueprint Zoom calls. Our next call is scheduled for Monday June 5th 10:00 AM PST.

Media team update for May We are still producing content for all the platforms currently opened. We would love to see people sharing the posts on their own social media or mewe page, this will really help to spread the word further. The Twitter Blueprint account is pushing out links to the solutions, whilst engaging and tagging influencers with a solution that correlates with their agenda. We ask anyone with a Twitter account to please retweet the threads. People can also read the hashtags and participate in the Twitter conversation from their own Twitter accounts. We aim to revamp the YouTube channel in the next few weeks and are currently looking at Tik Tok as a possible platform with the aim of reaching a younger audience.

Web team update for May 2023 Good progress was made on the new THI archive website; various elements such as show audio files, transcripts and indexing data are coming together nicely. To deliver the user-friendly functionality envisioned; we want to say thank you to a new web team member who is helping in this process. Further collaboration with the indexing team is expected in the near future as well as the need for data input contributors; if you have good IT skills, attention to detail and would like to help us, please private message Ovidiu on MeWe. The other project which is also progressing well is the new gardening website; the main website structure is almost complete and the new website will be showcased to the gardening team soon. Just like with the THI archive website, help with data input is also required for the gardening website, so again, if you can help, please get in touch, we are most grateful for the contribution you can make. Thank you.

The Law Group facilitated the final part of the Intro to Law series in May - Volition, Remedy and Law. This piece went into how free will (volition) is at the heart of everything that has been done, and how through deceptive means we are tricked into freely consenting to the presumptions they make to prove our incompetence. Once we see through the deceptive language, false history, fraud and fear, we can turn the tables on their legal system, prove the fraud and deception, and find remedy when we understand trust law and how trusts operate. On June 25, by popular request, we will be hosting a Zoom to review Wills and Testaments. This will be a deep dive into Cestui Que Vie trusts and how they created fictional persons, “legally” dead, with no mind or will, hence the need to create a written will of the “dead” fiction. It will explain how through statutes created in 19th C, everyone dies “intestate”, as a person’s written Will is never perfected, thus remains private and in dispute, giving the BAR association the legal means to administer unclaimed property and steal our wealth before releasing any remaining property to heirs and successors. The Roman cult could not eliminate the 4,000-year-old custom of oral Testament and inheritance by the eldest son or daughter, so they created legal fictions 500 years ago and stripped every one of property ownership. With ownership in dispute, the BAR can justify their claimed power of attorney to administer property according to their rules (statutes), as long as the property remains in dispute or is unclaimed. Join us in Sunday, June 25 to learn more, details are posted on the Universal Law MeWe main page.

Blue Print Action Group: Holly and Roger hosted 2 Blue Print Zoom calls while Thomas was away. Those who attended had some great discussions and came up with a few new ideas:

1. Youth a. Create a youth friendly web site that appeals to younger people, and include:
 - i. Blogs to encourage communication
 - ii. Search engine capability to enable youth to search THI transcripts by topics of interest
 - iii. Links to Top 10 conspiracy, sci-fi. shows, movies that appeal to youth, to help illustrate how these are in fact full disclosure of our story and conspiracies
- b. Set up a THI Youth Outreach Team of THI

volunteers: i.willing to connect with youth locally or globally to make it easier for young people to interact with us ii.Engage, listen and provide relevant answers to the issues that youth care about iii.Help get young people more engaged with the THI community

2.Media/Web a.Set up Tik Tok, You Tube accounts to share the Blueprint b.Improve search engine capabilities so people can search for specific topics in the shows and transcripts c.Create Blogs to encourage 2-way dialogue, make it easy to connect to THI Ambassadors d.Set up an FAQ section to address common issues

3.Newcomers a.“Meet them where they are”, connect new members with existing members who have knowledge/experience in their area (i.e.military, farming, medical staff etc.).This helps build trust and links THI information with specific areas, helps address the feeling of being overwhelmed by so much THI information b.Schedule welcome Zooms with select THI members to greet newcomers, answer questions, build relationships c.Post short videos from members giving examples of what we are doing, combine into a longer video, call the section “I am TPC”!!

4.Outreach: a.Identify and reach out to independent musicians with a large online audience b.Canadian rapper Tom MacDonald was suggested as a good start c.Continue to develop Twitter threads and inject BP ideas into relevant conversations for presidential candidates, influencers d.Talk to people in the street, in stores if you hear them complaining about their concerns.Talk up the Blueprint, Solutions, get people engaged, direct them to the show and Blueprint website e.Non-compliance, refuse to use auto-checkouts, deal with humans explain why, you are protecting their jobs f.Create community farms, engage local communities who are growing vegetables, support farmers markets g.Create a Blueprint Action Youth Outreach Team, start engaging youth, listening to and share how we can address their concerns, get them engaged

I wish to give thanks to all those who are taking part in making THI and TPC go forward. I appreciate you all for the hard work and time you are devoting to these projects on an enormous scale. More are joining now to hopefully help those out who are overloaded. Everyone can and should be a part of it, this is yours and our future we are compiling here. Changing the world takes much effort by us all, it cannot be achieved sitting on fences, playing little me and limitation games, playing I don't like this person or idea, playing waiting clubs games, we are not servers in a restaurant, we are doers. This is about us all contributing in whatever way we can. You all owe it to yourselves and future generations, to take this opportunity to change this planet and it's varying races onto a better path with much reduced dark forces hampering it. This is yours and our time in no time.

NEWS: A mainstream headline recently stated the Ukraine leader Zelensky met the Pope. Their story was of seeking to end the war, our story is, one Nazi meeting another.

In other news it has been revealed Giuliani and Trump were selling pardons for criminals for $2M to be split between them. All about the shekels if true. But another more serious issue Trump has to deal with is, his apparent rape of a minor, the girl was 13. A lawsuit was filed and subsequently dropped just before the 2016 election, apparently due to threats made against the family of the girl. This has now resurfaced. A conversation with an MI6 agent with Kim revealed they had two videos incriminating Trump, one for underage sex and another involving Trump peeing on a female. Which possibly suggests the MI6 released this evidence.

The next set of reports are all showing corruption that has long been covered by the alt media, plus this show. It seems the heat is being turned on and the faction wars are throwing each other wildly under the bus. This augurs well for the blueprint and I have been pondering again. What are members thoughts if we do shows every other week and I spend time initially with the setting up and delivering of the blueprints were they need to go? I am thinking it could take 2-3 months and we can get everything up and running by then, enough for the members to run it in the background after that. I will be open then to also attend other radio shows and maybe some hand delivered blueprints were they are needed. Asking what you all think, and for a response on the mewe chat, the speaker chat or by email upon hearing this please.

A recent report from The Wall Street Journal revealed that President Joe Biden's CIA director William Burns met with Jeffrey Epstein in 2014. So, what does The New York Times do based on that report? The Gray Lady published a glossy profile of Burns that ran cover for both America's top spook as well as Epstein. In late April, The Journal reported that Burns met with Epstein three times in 2014. Epstein pleaded guilty in 2008 to procuring a minor for prostitution and received a lenient punishment. That raised the question, how and why did Burns, who was deputy secretary of state at the time, meet with Epstein? CIA spokeswoman Tammy Kupperman Thorp defended the meetings. The director did not know anything about him, other than that he was introduced as an expert in the financial services sector and offered general advice on the transition to the private sector, she told The Journal. They had no relationship, pull the other one lady, it's got balls on. A CIA transition to the private sector? What does that entail and why didn't the media question that statement? Are they not private enough with their "contractors"? Do the lead people of the CIA often meet with people they don't know anything about? Seriously are they expecting us to believe that fairy tale? High-ranking officials are typically more cautious with who they meet and certainly don't take meetings with just anybody off the street, so of course the media world has demanded more answers. On Tuesday, the Times paper published a story, titled, William Burns, a C.I.A. spymaster with unusual powers. Mr. Burns, a key figure in bolstering the Biden administration's support for Ukraine, has amassed influence beyond most previous spy chiefs. So, how did The Times address Burns' connections to Epstein? Here are the two paragraphs, and let's see if the audience can catch what The Times did incorrectly: As Mr. Burns prepared to step down from government service in 2014, a mutual friend introduced him to Jeffrey Epstein, the financial consultant who would later be convicted of multiple sex crimes. A spokeswoman for the C.I.A. said that Mr. Burns met twice with Mr. Epstein, both times to discuss private sector opportunities, and did not socialize with him. In a statement to The New York Times, Mr. Burns said that he deeply regrets having met with Mr. Epstein and did not know who he was, adding, I wish I had done my homework first. The first thing the paper did wrong is incorrectly characterize Epstein's convictions. The impression left is that Burns met with Epstein prior to any convictions. Yet as mentioned, in 2008, Epstein pleaded guilty to procuring a minor for prostitution and was a registered sex offender. The second thing the paper did wrong was that they apparently did not dig for more information and took that excuse at face value. Does it give you much confidence that a deputy secretary of state was meeting with sex offenders, unaware of who he was speaking with? Does Burns' excuse seem believable to you? The profile goes on to speculate that Burns will be tapped as Biden's secretary of state in a second term if Biden is re-elected. Lapdog media outlets such as The Times don't exist to report the truth. Their existence is to act as the propaganda arm of the Democratic Party. It should be noted that; Epstein was the epicenter of influence operations for both the CIA and Mossad, he had dirt on everyone. The seedy world of the intelligence agencies along with the FBI, has never been exposed as much as now. The key is that it all gets addressed and remember we have a solution for that. The Times is not the only one who are a pro pagan da arm of the Demoncrat party for clowns.

The FBI has refused to give Congress an informant file alleging that President Biden took bribes while he was vice president, setting up a possible showdown over access to the information. House Oversight Committee Chairman James Comer (R-Ky.) issued a legally binding subpoena recently requiring the FBI to turn over the file, but the bureau instead replied with a six-page letter raising various objections. Information from confidential human sources is unverified and, by definition, incomplete, wrote FBI acting assistant director for congressional affairs Christopher Dunham, who also argued that informant reports must also be kept private to protect sources. Unless your name is Christopher Steele it seems, Steele wrote the fake account of Russian collusion that the FBI and others couldn't wait to put out, despite never verifying it. As is clear from the name itself, confidentiality is definitional to the FBI's Confidential Human Source program, Dunham wrote.(M) Confidential human sources often provide information to the FBI at great risk to themselves and their loved ones. The information they provide also can create significant risks to others who may be referenced in their reporting. The FBI official concluded: We hope this helps you understand that keeping this kind of source information free from the perception or reality of improper influence. Preventing the redirection of this information for non-law enforcement or non-intelligence uses, is necessary for the FBI's effective execution of our law enforcement and national security responsibilities. Funny that as they said the same about Hunter Biden and his Ukrainian connections. Comer slammed the FBI's stonewalling, but he did not immediately announce further steps to acquire the document. Congress has the power to apply financial pressure to agencies and can also use litigation to enforce its orders, or attempt to shame officials through contempt votes. It's clear from the FBI's response that the unclassified record the Oversight Committee subpoenaed exists, but they are refusing to provide it to the Committee, Comer said. Then the FBI like all other agencies needs to be reined in. How can a police department and intelligence agencies get away with picking and choosing what they reveal to the Government? Simple solution is, cut their funding until they comply with requests the Government and subsequently the people demands and expects. The trust in and of the FBI erodes by the day, they are proving to be as corrupt as the criminals they are charged with stopping.

The Israeli death march continues it seems, but the change now is, that many more are reporting it and they are being exposed. Five days into the worst fighting in months between Israel and militant groups in Gaza, concern is mounting about the humanitarian situation in the Palestinian territory.

It is estimated that more than 200 patients, mostly with cancer, are unable to leave for urgently needed treatment, that includes children. Israel controls two crossings with Gaza used for people and goods, which have been closed since the start of its recent military operation. Operators of the sole power plant in the impoverished strip, which relied on Israeli fuel imports, which is stolen from other countries, say it will be forced to close. A spokesman told the BBC this would lead to an exacerbation of the humanitarian problems. This would lead to? What about the past humanitarian problems, they speak of it like it has just started. In reality land the Israel project of anti-humanitarianism started a long time back, but escalated in 1919. The plant supplies about half of the electricity in the territory, where some 2.3 million Palestinians live.

MEDICAL NEWS: Dutch people dying mysteriously posted in a mainstream newspaper. Every week hundreds of Dutch people die more than normal and nobody knows why, it says. But we do and these will be difficult times for many people around the world. Observe it as best you can, try not to absorb it. The majority chose their path of jabbing, that was their free will choice to make. It is not our remit to block their choices and paths, remember that.

SOCIETY NEWS: This is an opinion piece by Josh Hawley a Missouri Senator on Fox News, that plays into many of our pieces, particularly the Society section we introduced last year. This is kind of a follow up to the piece Candice Owens did just 16 hours after our show highlighted it. This is an attack on the feminization of men, the running down of men and the lack of value placed upon men particularly since the turn of the century. He said; Of all the things this country needs right now, like stronger borders, better-paying jobs, some basic safety on our streets, but above all, America needs stronger men. The left has spent decades running men down, blaming them for everything from climate change to the patriarchy. Patriarchy and Matriarchy are two sides of the same coin, neither serve the people well as they are both steeped in hierarchy. They're wrong, strong men aren't the problem. For America, stronger, better men are the solution, but all is not well with men in this country. The numbers tell the tale. Men are lonelier than ever before. They're dropping out of the labor force in greater numbers than ever before. They're struggling more with drug abuse and alcohol. They increasingly forego a college education, even as they delay getting married and having kids. If any other demographic group was struggling to this extent, we'd call it a national crisis. And it is, but the left doesn't see it that way as they blame boys and men for the sins of the world. I agree with all of that and would add more men are committing suicide than ever before. I would also add, I wish people would stop putting an illusionary label on the problem it is counterproductive. There is no left or right politics, they are fake created labels meant to divide people. All done by the same people who cast men out of society, in terms of consideration. They say all masculinity is toxic, that simply to be a man is to make the world a worse place. They propose to do away with traditional masculinity altogether. The left's campaign to re-educate men begins as early as preschool, where too many boys are punished for aggressive play and if they don't comply, medicated out of their boyishness. As young men, they're denied the manufacturing jobs that allowed their fathers to earn good wages. The governing class having long ago shipped those jobs overseas, and set adrift on college campuses filled with activists who despise them. Popular culture relentlessly bangs this same drum: when men aren't morons, they're actively evil. At bottom, this critique of men is rooted in a lie: that men shouldn't be leaders, creators and heroes, but just consumers looking out for themselves. The truth is just the opposite. We need men to step up. America's men have the power to transform this country for the better. Want to curb the epidemic of child poverty? Get a father to start contributing to his wife and children. Want to address the cataclysm of youth violence? Put a father in the picture. Men can help bring peace and order to a nation wracked by crises. They can change the destiny of their families and whole neighborhoods. Their power, once tapped, can be a mighty and world-shaping thing. Power alone, though, isn't enough. Power only becomes true strength, a force for good, when it's used in the right ways, for the right reasons. What we need is a guide, a roadmap for what it means to be a good man. We at THI have been the only show that has focused on these types of issues, and it is nice to see some of our politicians taking up the baton so to speak. We at THI have done much to help the men and women in our group, help highlight the real issues and it is pleasing to see these are now being addressed in the mainstream.

Here is another thing we highlighted many years back and provided all the evidence in the FHSTOS Part 9. Again it is pleasing to see it being covered in the mainstream, but the next step is the full discourse into fixing it and that requires the blueprint going public and viral. The blueprint is designed to change everything on this planet, and end the divisiveness, programs and agendas ran on us. The article says; not many people have 10 children, but Elon Musk does. If people don't have more children, civilization is going to crumble, he declared dramatically in 2021, just after we did FHSTOS Part 9, coincidence? Musk, it seems, is worried about the labor force declining. Low birth rates and a worldwide decline in fertility concern many others besides Musk, but he has the money to pay for the IVF treatments which produced his twins and triplets and for a surrogate to produce a second child with Grimes. Is this a model we should aspire to? Miriam Cates MP sounded a similar alarm at the National Conservatism conference, claiming that our falling birth rate was a bigger threat to the West than Russia, China or climate change. Indeed, but politicians spend too much time focusing on soundbites to get votes, than on policies. She blamed liberal individualism for failing to deliver enough babies. Just like the last piece she blames a label, no, the problem is bad people in think tanks and agencies dictating policies. Liberalism plus left and right blames the people, the people are the effect, the cause is the think tanks, agencies and appointed academics creating fake labels and policies. She then went on about cultural Marxism as such people do, as it is more important to hold on to a fantasy about why people are having fewer children than get to grips with the reality. Are the OMG! I forgot to have children generation, selfish women who have been stripped of hope by destructive Left-wing ideology or are they in fact making decisions based on much more mundane stuff? Stuff like not being able to afford a home of their own, the huge cost of childcare, the shortage of men who want to parent with them. Better thinking, but more importantly no mentions of the cause of those issues. Curiously they run out of labels when it comes to them, that has to change. Tories such as Cates and Daniel Hannan who are voicing these concerns are echoing those of far-Right leaders, such as Italy's Georgia Meloni and Hungary's Viktor Orban who are explicit about the need to replace their populations. A certain number of babies have to be born in order to support an ageing population. If this doesn't happen and it is not happening here, we need immigrants to help us manage. That is a hard thing for the Right to acknowledge, but in the UK we would need the average woman to have 2.1 kids and the figure is currently 1.58 in England and Wales and 1.29 in Scotland. Lower birth rates and falling fertility is a worldwide phenomenon. In Europe, France had the highest birth rate; the southern European countries like Italy, Portugal and Spain, who are the lowest. South Korea, Japan, Singapore and Hong Kong are all very worried about population decline. We can see clearly, looking at the figures, that in countries where women are responsible for most of the childcare and domestic work, then the less willing they are to have children. In Japan, many women are flat out refusing traditional roles. In Italy, where many men go back to their mother's house to eat, women rarely have more than one child. Partners become an added burdensome awkward responsibility. Why would women want even more? In countries like Norway and Sweden, where men help more with housework and childcare and there is less gender disparity, birth rates are not in such steep decline. So, it went from blaming left, right and liberalism to blaming men for not doing household chores? And they think that circular argument will fix it? It won't. Neglecting the causes never solves problems, allowing El-ites, Billionaire clubs, think tanks, agencies and bought and paid for Academics to dictate all policies that have an ouroboros program inserted into them, is the real issue here. I said we would see an increase of the issues highlighted by THI go mainstream, as the MSM has no news now and are losing audiences by the day. This song goes out to Daniel.

EXPOSE: This is part 2 of an Expose we started in the last show. It detailed the origins of the WEF, it's links to the Club of Rome and also how all of it is a rehash of much older programs. James Burnham remained a Trotskyist intellectual from 1934 until 1940, using militant Trotskyist tactics against competing Marxist movements by turning their loyalties and ransacking their best talent. Although Burnham worked six years for the Trotskyists, as the new decade began, he renounced both Trotsky and the philosophy of Marxism dialectical materialism altogether. Perhaps Burnham was aware that the walls were closing in on Trotsky, and that it would only be a matter of six months from Burnham's first renouncement that Trotsky would be assassinated by August 1940, at his compound outside Mexico City. Typical agent and service to self, was probably a double agent anyway. In February 1940 Burnham wrote Science and Style: A reply to comrade Trotsky, in which he broke with dialectical materialism, stressing the importance of the work of Bertrand Russell who was a Zionist and Alfred North Whitehead's approach: Do you wish me to prepare a reading list, comrade Trotsky? It would be long, ranging from the work of the brilliant mathematicians and logicians of the middle of the last century, to one climax in the monumental Principia Mathematica of Russell and Whitehead, which was said to be the historic turning point in modern logic. Then spreading out in many directions and one of the most fruitful, represented by the scientists, mathematicians and logicians now cooperating in the new Encyclopedia of Unified Science. Unified by whom? Probably the church again, given they took over the control of all the sciences back in the middle of the last millennia. He summed up his feelings in a letter of resignation from the Workers Party on May 21, 1940: I reject, as you know, the philosophy of Marxism, dialectical materialism. The general Marxian theory of universal history, to the extent that it has any empirical content, seems to me disproved by modern historical and anthropological investigation. Marxian economics seems to me for the most part either false or obsolete or meaningless in application to contemporary economic phenomena. Those aspects of Marxian economics which retain validity do not seem to me to justify the theoretical structure of the economics. That was probably due to the new type of economics employed by the Federal Reserve, outright theft of the peoples and the countries. The new economics was based solely by 1940 in harvesting, all of which was further advanced 4 years later with the Bretton Woods agreement. Funny how they never allow any ordinary people into those crucial meetings, given it is the people's money they are discussing. Not only do I believe it meaningless to say that socialism is inevitable, and false that socialism is the only alternative to capitalism; Socialism and capitalism are one and the same thing, just like Communism, Fascism and Zionism. Burnham said; I consider that on the basis of the evidence now available to us, a new form of exploitive society, which I call managerial society is not only possible, but is a more probable outcome of the present than socialism. Exploitive society? We the people were those they were exploiting. On no ideological, theoretic or political ground, then, can I recognize, or do I feel, any bond or allegiance to the Workers Party or to any other Marxist party. That is simply the case, and I can no longer pretend about it, either to myself or to others. In reality, those ideologies were just fronts for a much larger heist in my opinion. Using the fear of Communism to create it, all whilst operating the Zionist policies. In 1941, Burnham would publish The Managerial Revolution: What is happening in the World, bringing him fame and fortune, listed by Henry Luce's Life magazine as one of the top 100 outstanding books of 1924-1944. Luce was another of those who went to Yale. The Managerial Revolution: James Burnham said; We cannot understand the revolution by restricting our analysis to the war WWII; we must understand the war as a phase in the development of the revolution. He makes the case that if socialism were possible, it would have occurred as an outcome of the Bolshevik Revolution. What happened instead was neither a reversion back to a capitalist system nor a transition to a socialist system, but rather a formation of a new organizational structure made up of an elite managerial class, the type of society he believed was in the process of replacing capitalism on a world scale. What he has just explained is, Zionism and the birth of it in our more modern age. The stupid media, scholars and academics all neglect this, because A: they are bought and paid for or B: too blind and stupid to see beyond the directed scripts provided to them. He goes on to make the case that as seen with the transition from a feudal to a capitalist state being inevitable, so too will the transition from a capitalist to managerial state occur. That ownership rights of production capabilities will no longer be owned by individuals but rather the state or institutions. This is borne out by the statement of Klaus Schwab of, you will own nothing and be happy. Burnham says: Effective class domination and privilege does, it is true, require control over the instruments of production; but this need not be exercised through individual private property rights. It can be done through what might be called corporate rights, possessed not by individuals as such but by institutions: as was the case conspicuously with many societies in which a priestly class was dominant. So the cor-pirates took over from the priestly class, a classic case of new boss same as the old boss. The old two sides of the same coin essentially, as the priestly class of Cohens was replaced by another version of Cohens. Burnham proceeds to write: If, in a managerial society, no individuals are to hold comparable property rights, how can any group of individuals constitute a ruling class? The answer is comparatively simple, and as already noted, not without historical analogues. The managers will exercise their control over the instruments of production and gain preference in the distribution of the products, not directly, through property rights vested in them as individuals, but indirectly, through their control of the state which in turn will own and control the instruments of production. Remember Finkelstein and Rosenthal stating we own both sides of the political divides, hence owning the state. The state, that is the institutions which comprise the state, will be the property of the managers. That will be quite enough to place them in the position of the ruling class, or so they think. The issue here is implied consent, the blueprint counteracts that and applies what we wish and consent to only, on behalf of we the people. Burnham concedes that the ideologies required to facilitate this transition have not yet been fully worked out, which reveals they have no overall plan as we have stated. But it goes on to say that they can be approximated: from several different but similar directions, by, for example: Leninism-Stalinism; fascism-nazism; Lenin and Stalin were both Jews as well. That line also confirms FHSTOS that Fascism and Nazism are connected to one organization, that is not German, but Jewish. At a more primitive level, by New Dealism and such less influential at the time, American ideologies as technocracy. Technocracy is a form of government in which the decision-makers are selected based on their expertise in a given area of responsibility, particularly with regard to scientific or technical knowledge. This system explicitly contrasts with representative democracy, the notion that elected representatives should be the primary decision-makers in government. The great question is: who voted for this? This, then, is the skeleton of the theory, expressed in the language of the struggle for power. As Burnham sees it, all these different avenues are methods in which to achieve his vision of a managerial society, because each form stresses the importance of the state as the central coordinating power, and that such a state will be governed by his managers. The people thought they were electing politicians, but it is CEO's and managers they really vote for, courtesy of USA Inc. Burnham considers the different moral implications in each scenario irrelevant, as he makes clear early on in his book, he has chosen to detach himself from such questions. Typical of the establishment, as that allows for no accountability then. But all those splinters in their ass for fence sitting, will come back to bite in the near future. Burnham goes to explain that the support of the masses is necessary for the success of any revolution, this is why the masses must be led to believe that they will benefit from such a revolution, when in fact it is only to replace one ruling class with another and nothing changes for the underdog. Yet the stupid masses pay no attention or little to what is going on outside of their small life bubble. Meanwhile clowns, think tanks and dark forces plays with them and their lives on a massive scale. A play which has been repeated over and over again, yet they miss it every time. We at THI have done more than most to expose their evil plans and patterns, the line find the pattern as it always repeats has enabled many of you to see through their illusions placed on our path. He explains that this is the case with the dream of a socialist state, that the universal equality promised by socialism is just a fairy tale. A nasty fairy tale at that, and one that keeps playing out, allowing Zionism the real culprits to play behind the scenes. All told to the people so that they fight for the establishment of a new ruling class, then they are told that achieving a socialist state will take many decades, and that essentially, a managerial system must be put in place in the meantime. Burnham makes the case that this is what happened in both Nazi Germany and Bolshevik Russia: what a coincidence that is. Nazi and Bolshevik are also one and the same word, Zionism which is borne out of the word National Zionism, just take the first two letters of those two words, and you have Nazi. Nevertheless, it may still turn out that the new form of economy will be called socialist. In those nations - Russia and Germany which have advanced furthest toward the new managerial economy, socialism or national socialism is the term ordinarily used. The motivation for this terminology is not, naturally, the wish for scientific clarity but just the opposite. The word socialism is used for ideological purposes in order to manipulate the favorable mass emotions attached to the historic socialist ideal of a free, classless and international society, which is an illusion with clowns and Zionists in charge. But also to hide the fact that the managerial economy is in actuality the basis for a new kind of exploiting, class society. Which means a harvesting society, regardless of class at the lower levels. I warned in Clowns in Panic, all the lower classes would be eliminated, and only a large billionaire class would be pushed forward. This has taken place since, but now you have an enlarged section of society who have been pushed aside and are fighting back. Burnham continues: Those Nations - Bolshevik Russia, Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy, which have advanced furthest toward the managerial social structure are all of them, at present are totalitarian dictatorships. Totalitarian means to remove all Aryans. What distinguishes totalitarian dictatorship is the number of facets of life subject to the impact of the dictatorial rule. It is not merely political actions, in the narrower sense that are involved; nearly every side of life, business, art, science, education, religion, recreation and morality are not merely influenced by, but directly subjected to the totalitarian regime. You will notice all those facets of life are controlled by El-ite and billionaire Jewish. It should be noted that a totalitarian type of dictatorship would not have been possible in any age previous to our own. Totalitarianism presupposes the development of modern technology, especially of rapid communication and transportation. Without these latter, no government, no matter what its intentions, would have had at its disposal the physical means for coordinating so intimately so many of the aspects of life. Without rapid transportation and communication, it was comparatively easy for men to keep many of their lives, out of the reach of the government. This is no longer possible, or possible only to a much smaller degree, when governments today make deliberate use of the possibilities of modern technology. Orwell's second thoughts on Burnham: Burnham would go on to state in his The Managerial Revolution that the Russian Revolution, WWI and its aftermath, the Versailles Treaty gave final proof that capitalist world politics could no longer work and had come to an end. He described WWI as the last war of the capitalists and WWII as the first, but not last war, of the managerial society. Burnham made it clear that many more wars would have to be fought after WWII before a managerial society could finally fully take hold. Hence the US Military invading over 80 countries since, plus the 80 or more incursions by their paymasters and controllers Israel, was all designed to set the stage. This ongoing war would lead to the destruction of sovereign nation states, such that only a small number of great nations would survive, culminating into the nuclei of three super-states, which Burnham predicted would be centered around the United States, Germany and Japan. Germany is controlled by NATO and Japan the US establishment. He goes on to predict that these super-states will never be able to conquer the other and will be engaged in permanent war until some unforeseeable time. Repeating the never-ending wars of the past that went on for billions of years, all done by fake gods that they worship. Not once stopping to think, hey, this is not working and we are wasting our resources and our people and beings in record numbers. I said in a council meeting back in 2013, how about we try something different like peace and working together. You would think I had worked out the machinations of the multiverse given the reactions, but all it was, was basic common sense coming from a non-personal overview aspect. Something most people and beings needs to learn quickly in my opinion. The old methods have never worked, let's try something new for once. He predicts that Russia would be broken in two, with the west being incorporated into the German sphere and the east into the Japanese sphere. Note that this book was published in 1941, such that Burnham was clearly of the view that Nazi Germany and fascist Japan would be the victors of WWII, he was wrong then and now. Why? because he didn't understand who created the wars, the labels of Nazis, Fascists, Communists, creating boogeyman and pariah countries is why. All of it done by those who call themselves Jews, yet they are the Hebrew Anunnaki, an off world group destroying our planet for aeons. Burnham states that sovereignty will be restricted to the few super-states. In fact, he goes so far as to state early on in his book that the managerial revolution is not a prediction of something that will occur in the future, it is something that has already begun and is in fact, in its final stages of becoming, that it has already successfully implemented itself worldwide and that the battle is essentially over. The Bretton Woods agreement saw to that. The National Review, founded by James Burnham and William F. Buckley, would like to put the veneer that, although Orwell was critical of Burnham's views that he was ultimately creatively inspired to write about it in his 1984 novel. Yes, inspired is one way to put it, or more aptly put, that he was horrified by Burnham's vision and wrote his novel as a stark warning as to what would ultimately be the outcome of such monstrous theorizations, which he would to this day organize the zeitgeist of thought, to be suspicious of anything resembling his neologisms such as Big Brother, Thought Police, Two Minutes Hate, Room 101, memory hole, Newspeak, doublethink, unperson, thoughtcrime and groupthink. George Orwell, (real name Eric Arthur Blair), first published his Second Thoughts on James Burnham in May 1946. The novel 1984 would be published in 1949. In his essay he dissects Burnham's proposed ideology that he outlines in his The Managerial Revolution and The Machiavellians subtitled Defenders of Freedom. Orwell writes: It is clear that Burnham is fascinated by the spectacle of power, and that his sympathies were with Germany, so long as Germany appeared to be winning the war...curiously enough, when one examines the predictions which Burnham has based on his general theory, one finds that in so far as they are verifiable, they have been falsified. It will be seen that Burnham's predictions have not merely, when they were verifiable, turned out to be wrong, but that they have sometimes contradicted one another in a sensational way. Political predictions are usually wrong, because they are usually based on wish-thinking. Often the revealing factor is the date at which they are made, suggesting Orwell had worked out the patterns they create, none of which is original. It will be seen that at each point Burnham is predicting a continuation of the thing that is happening, the tendency to do this is not simply a bad habit. Like inaccuracy or exaggeration, it is a major mental disease, and its roots lie partly in cowardice and partly in the worship of power, which is not fully separable from cowardice. Exactly, the power of power is always corrupting unless you operate for the all. Power worship blurs political judgement because it leads, almost unavoidably, to the belief that present trends will continue. Whoever is winning at the moment will always seem to be invincible. But another all-consuming power comes forth and knocks off the invincible and the cycle continues. All at the expense of the people. If the Japanese have conquered south Asia, then they will keep south Asia forever, if the Germans have captured Tobruk, they will infallibly capture Cairo. The rise and fall of empires, the disappearance of cultures and religions, are expected to happen with earthquake suddenness, and processes which have barely started are talked about as though they were already at an end. Burnham's writings are full of apocalyptic visions. Within the space of five years Burnham foretold the domination of Russia by Germany and of Germany by Russia. Except as our series has proven, both are ran by the psychopathic Jewish EL-ites. They say it is all hidden in plain sight, yet why do so few see? Is the world's greatest largely unanswered question. In each case he was obeying the same instinct: the instinct to bow down before the conqueror of the moment, to accept the existing trend as irreversible. Interestingly, and happily we hear, George Orwell does not take Burnham's predictions of a managerial revolution as set in stone, but rather, has shown itself within a short period of time to be a little too full of wishful thinking and bent on worshipping the power of the moment. However, this does not mean we must not take heed to the orchestrations of such mad men. Burnham was in the OSS and then the CIA, he became the founder of the neo-conservative movement which led to the Great Reset initiative. OSS and CIA as we stated in part 7 of FHSTOS have a lot to answer for. The antidote to all of this is; a return to love, yet many reject it, discard it and deny it, and yet are you not lying to yourself with those actions, leaving you in fear, which is the absence of love.

OTHER PIECES: This is an interesting piece regardless of the source of the information, as it has and does play into the hidden world of skullduggery. Both in terms of the past and indeed the present. What must be achieved is, none of these or their counterparts survive in any significant numbers into our future. This is a series of secret militaries formed around the world, operating in secrecy and combining acquired off world skillsets and technologies. It also plays into our series From his story to our story. Kruger Military- Formed in 1815 by Gabriel Kruger. German and Jewish Ashkenazic name, no surprise there. This surname is also found in France Alsace and Lorraine, which connects back to the Merovingians, Carolingians and Franks, all of whom were Jewish as well. But it is by far most common in South Africa, hence the Kruger National Park. Out of Germany, with a mission to train and raise a highly classified group of super soldiers. Super soldiers in 1815, and you all thought it was a recent event. These super soldiers would be augmented with great strength, speed, agility and super human intelligence. These are considered Jason Bourne types. Regarding Jason Bourne, there are tablets called Jason Bourne's that are alleged to bring these types of people back from the dead. Also used in CIA higher circles for special ops people or entities.

Cyber life Military- Formed in 1650. This group specializes in artificial robots called androids. AI-Tech has been around for thousands of years on this planet, not everyone you see is human. Cyber life has been mass producing robots or AI technology for hundreds of years. Today they are working on how to turn a living and breathing human being into a robot, as they cooperate with other militaries. This supports what I have said previously, there is no new technology and robots are far more advanced than people think. Technology is more in the past, how dangerous it is and it is not science fiction but science fact. Not all people are human it stated, another statement said in this show many times. Perhaps now you understand the term bots? With the advancement of bots, the great question is; just how many of them operate in the so-called higher echelons of our society? Do they come equipped with uploaded consciousness technology, allowing those with physical bodies to live beyond their years here? Think Queen Elizabeth, her mother and Henry Kissinger for examples. Remember Bill Gates said the job was a software upgrade? Connecting the dots now? But this begs a deeper question, something that may sound unpalatable to most, particularly those who have military within their families. We have already spoken in the soldier return solution in the Blueprint, and how many returning from fake battles and wars are just not the same people, the question is; what if they are not the same at all? What if they are the robot version of themselves? How would that work? Two ways, A: the soldier died and they replaced them based on their skills and experience or B: they removed the soldier, use them as life force batteries and harvest them, plus the human experimental trials for the pharma industry. Far-fetched? Depends upon your understanding and levels of evil does it not? FHSTOS and the Cosmic Genetics series told you deeper levels of evil than you can imagine. Applying your morals and principles of life will never lead you to understanding the depth of evil from the dark forces. We must think different and observe them deeply, but never immerse yourself in it. Ignoring it has never made it go away, it has to be tackled head on and brought into the light for the end of it and healing.

Shoreline Military is over 5000 years old. Which means the Rus teachers of the Kali Ma worshippers will have encountered these. Dealing in the information highway, as this group is set up to extract information from the media, individuals and other species. Achieving their goals by using non matter energetic fields. This is done by performing an astral integration and an intelligent data absorption to extract the data from an individual indirect. Shoreline often collaborates with special super soldiers to share this information. In order to protect some of the most valuable information on the planet. For more modern-day versions, think social media, smartphones, laptops, desktops, fridges, home security systems. All of which is used to collect and sell data, despite the restrictions in place that should prevent it. With their old AI system down permanently, they have been desperate to get a new one going in the past 6-7 years, hence the push about AI systems. That is and will be failing as well.

The Trinity Military- formed an 1881. Their mission goal is recovering ancient technologies from around the world and repairing them into an operating state. This ancient technology that can be found around the planet are more advanced than anything humans have seen date. Our new technology is nothing more than the universe's old technology, As humans, we are far behind the rest of the universe when it comes to technology. One of Trinity's main initiatives lately is to stabilize the corruption of the electromagnetic fields throughout the Solar System using this ancient technology. Their particular method on how to re-aligning the magnetic field, would not benefit humans on this planet. Well that emphatically has failed on their part, their magnetic field manipulation games are over, as is their Saturn/Moon Matrix games. A new trinity came forth and shattered their programs.

Delphi Military- Formed in 1918 by Peter Mason As a response to the heavy use of chemical warfare in World War I. This group also coin the phrased weapons of mass destruction. This group was tasked with forming chemical weapons, for future wars on civilians. This group does testing and experiments on humans in order to upgrade the credibility of their weapons. Militaries are aware that any conflict could and does use chemical weapons. This group also has the ability to clean up any type of nuclear waste accident or nuclear waste site around the world. Often this group spent it's time in underground milabs, again doing experiments on humans for the military. These sites are called Dumbs or deep underground Military Bases. This group I suspect will be connected to the SSP, working with small and tall greys given the experimentation program.

Typhoon Military Group- formed after World War II. This group is based out of Germany. This group deals with alternative timelines, no information on what this group is working on today. Not much it seems, as the alternative timelines have been defined for them, whether they like that or not.

Monarch Military- This group goes back as far as 6000 years. This group is known as the oldest and the worst conglomerate on the planet. When it comes to its overall negativity and ill-intent towards humans and the planet. Monarch currently has one specific goal, to create the ultimate slave system that would control and dominate humanity. Well they and others achieved that, but that is now ending. Monarch of course is also the name of an MK Ultra program, and was likely connected to them and given to the CIA to enact. CIAKars seems more apt by the year. Monarch is also a honey pot program, where they use pretty females to attach to a target. There has been many of them in the Alt Media, including many in our group in the past. It is suspected by many in our group that the Trustee was one of these, Chloe and Eva Moore/Brockabrader as well. The actual agents are not always aware they are Monarchs due to the MK Ultra training, they are victims as well let's not forget. Whenever you see a younger female with a prominent official, they are likely Monarchs, the most recent being Melania Trump, who was given to Trump as a gift by the original Putin.

Mobius Military- Formed as far back as 4000 years. Mobius specializes in the ability to manipulate the fabric and configuration of our reality and the context of our existence. Mobius does this by trapping humanity in a false reality. One method is by using 18th altering drugs, through pharmaceutical and MK Ultra programs. That illusion world is being shattered by the day now, as people learn to see again. Except those doing drugs. Taking drugs is a curious thing to me, some of them say they do it to escape reality, and yet many have not worked out day to day reality they seek to avoid.

Murkoff Military Group- Formed in the Soviet Union in 1923 by Alexander Murkoff. Murkoff was a psychiatric doctor, believed to be the world most crazy and extreme doctor ever to walk the planet. Dr.Green program and Mengele would question that. A lot of the experiments coming out of Murkoff, involved large brutal inhumane and sadistic types of experiments on milab abductee's and super soldiers. The majority of what Murkoff was working on, most would consider madness. He also created project wall writer, this project would allow Murkoff too capture ones soul essence. By doing this he would then create a collective consciousness or a hive mind type astral beings. Thankfully the soul capture technology was largely and possibly permanently shut down.

Umbrella Corp- This group was heavily into making viruses. Umbrella Corp was scattered throughout the world, at times working on chemical warfare. They continue today to work with all militaries, as well as release viruses throughout the civilian population.

Shaw House Military- Shaw house is neither a company or a corporation, rather a blood line family based club. A group with many prominent members of society, they cover a wide range of illegal and business activities around the world. Such as Human trafficking, Prospect, slavery and Human Organ harvesting.

Also sale information to various intelligence services, along with cutting edge technology in weapons to the marketplace.

Arasaka Military Group- Formed and located in Japan in 1915. A manufacturer organization specializing in computers, security equipment, as well as fento-tech and nano-tech, the majority of this technology would be placed in vaccines.

Quran Corporation- Unknown formed date, mostly maintained and located in the Middle East. Largely involved in the digitalizing of one's brain, as well as technology interface by the year 2084. Also, by this date they hope to have implantable brain chips, similar to neurolink technology but much more advanced. This technology would be mandatory for the civilian population of Earth. They are trying to get that before 2084, it will fail. This group is also deeply involved in crypto currency, running crypto currency as well stealing from it. The latter of which the Trustee should have stopped.

Tai Young Medical Corp-Formed by and located in China. Specializing in cyber genetics mainly body parts, as far back as the early seventies. This group runs illegal activities around the world, such as the SSP (Secret Space P/Force) in China. As well as the Politburo (All Politics) equivalent to a shadow government. This is the military complex we were warned of, by president Dwight D.Eisenhower. These are secret Military groups located around the world, with the help of every major Country and there pay to play corporations. These Groups are well hidden from the public eye, in underground bases called Dumbs. Most Bases are housed with secret labs called milabs, were experiments are carried out daily. To the American's, do you still think so highly of the US Military? As you can see these Military's have been working on highly advanced technology for 1000 of years. How is that possible? Many will ask. It is possible when the history you have been taught is a complete lie, along with propped up governments that are only meant to entertain and subdue the civilian population. Each night their propaganda is show cased on the heavily controlled nightly news. The majority of the people know they are being lied to, but these same people are not willing or even know how to find the truth. But, slowly but surely the dark truths are making it into the light now, Pandoras dark box is now opened and cannot be closed again.

The Sacred Divine Feminine: The divine feminine comes in all sizes, shapes and color. She is whole, perfect, beautiful, joyful, blissful, harmonious, kind, inspiring, confident, adventurous, fun, nurturing. A creator, a leader in her own right, equal, full of wisdom, elegant and graceful, with a touch of a wild streak tomboy at times of fancy. She is the one with the divine love, being the oneness of the all. She starts off as the little girl with charm and innocence and curiosity for life around her. Being full of joy and wonder. Her laughter trickles across the pathways, as she dances her way into the magical world of life. She approaches adolescent with dignity and cherishes her growing body. She discovers her unique talents with love and care that brings much joy in her heart. She learns about her divine mind and the oneness with the all. She remains joyful and full of life and a new experience of being. As a young woman, she learns her body is a temple, to be cherished and respected on all levels. When she enters a room, she shines her very unique special star sector with elegance and grace, which is felt by all. She reaches the level of inspiration in unity with the oneness of it all, creativity is on a new level of maturity and being.

No longer is it done that a woman has to marry or bare children because that is the thing to do. No, she follows her bliss, her joy, what makes her heart sing with glee and dance. New adventures are the way forward to self-discovery on every level. Her love mate will match her frequency on a special connection with the purity of the divine love at their heart points. No longer required to have many to find the one true love. The two, becomes the oneness with the all, and oh how their hearts beat to the rhythm of joy, bliss and divine love. Seeking to love, inspire, nurture, care, make love from pureness and new adventures to experience the total fullness of life and joy together in unity and respect for one another and creativity on another level. Experience the being of pure love. Reaching the maturity level of the divine feminine, she remains young at heart and full of life, continuing to explore the even more wonders of life on a different level of creativity. Life experiences does not end or become stagnant. There are endless possibilities to become, enjoy and experience the fullness of life on every level of being with the oneness of the all and her love mate. When the times arrives to end this game of life, she gracefully and happily leaves her smile behind and returns home, from whence she came before she decided to come to planet earth to experience the joy of being a beautiful human with the oneness of the all and experience the absolute enjoyment of being a human. That piece should be taught in schools before puberty to give females the full opportunity and responsibilities they carry. This then would lead less of them going astray from their divine purpose in life.

This was written by a member in divine feminine mode. Love is all there is and all there will ever be, as the oneness of the experiences it all through us, our beautiful soul essence which is cherished beyond time and space, always. This is what the divine love has always desired to be and dream it into being. Well, I desire it and choose to bring it into being. I love you all, oneness always. She rises in divine love of oneness to awaken the world in a new way of freedom to experience the one true life with divine love in our hearts, as it was meant to be from the beginning of creation. And so it shall be, I promise this. It was decided a long time ago, the game changer. Love is the way, it always was, it was just forgotten. Remember, remember, remember. We chose this and now it is time for the divine masculine and feminine to shine. A stirring piece that should inspire us all to embrace it and ourselves.

The mission of the divine masculine and feminine journey is to harmonize and unite in the physical to help change the vibrational frequency of the planet. This is a journey of uniting as one in physical life on Earth. It is a journey of emanating unconditional love and Divine creativity through the process of unification and rejuvenation. The purpose of the divine masculine and feminine uniting in the physical is, to bring in the higher frequency of Divine love on Earth during this no time period of the great frequency shift and the possibility of Ascension. In emanating Divine love, the divine masculine and feminine frequencies union is also establishing a new way for HU-mans to join in soul mate sacred unions. This is a pathway beyond the fear-based 3D relationship template of conflict, control and separation that manifests in co-dependent relationships. The divine masculine and feminine sacred union are a partnership in a pure harmonic flow of unconditional love that is a higher dimensional-based frequency being anchored here. The divine masculine and feminine union are about the freedom of love and trust. This is a developing understanding that goes beyond conditional expectations. It is a pathway of Divine surrender to a new pure harmony and creativity. Note it is a pathway, that is not a get out of jail free card to continue your former path, you have to manifest onto the new path of enlightenment. You have to walk that path, no one can do it for you and no one can drag you onto that path. Free will choice allows you the choice, it is important to you only and no one else. The path can be shown, and indeed, it has now been created after a long hiatus, but only you can walk it. The divine masculine and feminine union have an eternal soul bond that connects you by choice and them beyond the physical realm into the higher spiritual realm. When in unification with the divine masculine and feminine, you are able to vibrate on a much higher love vibrational frequency that can elevate your spiritual and soul growth. This expands your consciousness and your perception of reality. This leads those in connection with the divine masculine and feminine on a path of enlightenment and a deeper spiritual awakening. Those in connection with the divine masculine and feminine can help each other to heal and harness Divine unconditional love from Source. Twin souls are not how described in the Cosmic Genetics series and Jesheua, it is a collection of souls who resonate together on a higher level frequency that transcends general unions, hence the term soul family. Twin souls, which are those who are able to tap into the divine masculine and feminine energy streams, are able to connect on a deeper spiritual, mental and physical level than soul mates. This is because twin souls can be the metamorphosis of one's spiritual growth and the mirror of their Soul. A twin soul is the perfect reflection of your self-revealing and all of your deepest fears and inner shadows. But it will also show you your greatest strengths, needs, desires and dreams. A twin soul will relate to you who you truly are and this then opens a deeper Soul connection within you, allowing you to connect more to your outer and inner self. This expansion opens twin souls' spiritual body for more spiritual energy, that helps to rejuvenate their chakras and energy points within the body. Twin souls can help each other to transition into the God-Goddess Soul unification. But it is important to remember that, the god-goddess are not titles of ego or to be competitive and comparative, they are markers of higher soul growth only. It is the latter aspect we all aspire to, and it takes much inner work to achieve, do not waste it by applying ego to the title as you will fall as fast as many of those who went before you, indeed it may have been you in a previous lifetime. The sacred union of the Divine masculine and feminine transcends twin souls from the physical reality and takes those on the right path towards Ascension into the higher frequency, dimensional and energy realms. The words not connected to this are; mistrust, lack of love and support, fears, shadows, traumas, no inner work, chaos, mind, barriers and division. The words connected to this is, embrace, integrate, trust, caring and sharing, cooperative, alignments, heart, being, flow, unity and love.

ENDING PIECE: The line from that song of life brings you down but life brings you up as well, the latter is the main focus. Life will always throw disappointments, chaos and disturbances your way, but how you react to it is the key. The past month I have taken trips on behalf of us all, that turned out to be very successful. The energies and frequencies have gone up considerably, particularly for the feminine aspect. It is important that you all embrace those energies and increased frequencies and anchor it. My trips took me traveling on three continents, included 9 flights, 4 separate cars, 6 states, 10 airports, meeting 19 amazing people, people from 9 different countries, 2400 miles of driving and 32197 air miles. Having previously been blocked from flying, it is now open for business and I and we may have to take other trips to hammer home our message. Alignments, anchoring, reclamations, deletions and so much more took place within the past month. A frequency that was buried and blocked long in the past, is now anchored here in small doses and will be increased. The night sky particularly around Polaris, Ursa Minor and Major and the Southern Cross are changing, could be noticeable to those who are observing them. The Southern Cross in real terms when the alignment is completed, will actually be the northern pole, not southern. That is another example of a 180 turn, and not a pole shift or any fears to be attached to it. All of which leaves us in a much better place and position now, all of which we must take advantage of. Greenwich will no longer be mean with time as an old time stamp and line from the past has returned. It is imperative we take a stand now to re-enforce our position, stance and extra energies and frequencies and take us and this planet forward onto a better path. Whilst many of you could not take part in what unfolded, you all can do something to push forward the blueprint, which is of the utmost importance now. We have stated our claim and it has been honored, but we must get the message out far and wide now and in the future. It is important we all play a role in it, for our lives and that of all other people and beings that will be left on the planet. Everything is better, the games they play are irrelevant. Their dark forces plans all failed, indeed one could say lia fail. They are the past, do not allow them into your now and your future. Energy is important now, please mind where yours is going. Their harvesting of ours is closing, and up to us all to keep that door closed. The lines wherever they may lay and portals are closed for harvesting and interference purposes. The lines in particular are vibrating much higher now for our benefit, don't waste it. Love, trust and balance are the key markers going forward now, running, hiding or ego will not serve you well short or long term. Big choices are being made now on a cosmic level, collective level and within you all. Will you move on from the void or void yourself? Our destiny was never set in stone, if we took the correct responsibility and acted upon it. We came, we saw and we conquered.

A magical gathering of THI members took place, a few days that all who attended will never forget, and yet again like their American members, all got along so well together, a joy to see and experience. A song that has played out in my head for well over a month, became symbolic with the past month and these times. Whilst I cannot reveal all what has taken place at this time, there are clues for you all to ponder on and take forward with you. Mama, they try and break me, yes the systems of control, but you do realize we co-created that, it's beyond time to end it. The window burns to light the way back home, (that is the sun, you do realize it is a portal? But a portal to where is your choice to make.) A light that warms, no matter where they've gone (the sun warms no matter where you reside) They're off to find the hero of the day, (the hero of the day is you, when you grasp and comprehend that, stop seeking external of you) But what if they should fall by someone's wicked way? (the seducement programs mired in dogma and ego, that over time has proven to be pure folly)

Still the window burns, time so slowly turns (that is describing the now, time is slowly stopping, what will you create or manifest with no time?) And someone there is sighing, (why? because we took too long to realize our collective mistakes and errant ways) Keepers of the flames, do you feel your name? (who are the keepers of the flames? And do you feel your names and responsibilities on an internal or external level?) Did you hear your babies crying? (we are all children on some level, some more than others, we are all crying due to the pain of our experiences, it was never meant to be this way.)

Mama, they try and break me Still they try and break me, (on a personal level that failed spectacularly, the key is for you all to attain that power within yourselves) Excuse me while I tend to how I feel, (how I feel is indescribable currently due to the frequencies and energies, open up your hearts and you experience it as well) These things return to me that still seem real, (that is the world of illusion trying to pull you all back in) Now, deservingly, this easy chair, but the rocking stopped by wheels of despair, (a chair can be a throne, will you be the king or queen of that chair? A king and queen is not some privileged or self-entitled position, it resides within us all, when despair and disparity is closed down).

Don't want your aid, (we all require aid until we learn to aid ourselves and then aid others) But the fist I make for years can't hold or feel, (the anger, aggression has never served us all too well, change it) No, I'm not all me, (we are never whole in here, this is just a fragment of you in the totality of the Soul. The multi-dimensional aspect of us all is chronically overlooked and hampered with limitation programs, and so you became not all me) So please excuse me while I tend to how I feel (only you decide how you feel, never allow others to decide for you) But now the dreams and waking screams, that ever last the night So build the wall, behind it crawl and hide until it's light, (that is you playing into the fears and hiding, again that never served us well. We can operate within the light and dark as light beings, if you so choose. It all comes down to what you choose, love or fear? that dictates those outcomes and your futures. So can you hear your babies crying now? (With events that have unfolded recently, that line should change now to; can you hear your babies laughing and can you see your babies smiling.) Mama they tried to break me, well that failed spectacularly, this person is not for breaking no matter who or what they throw at me, that is what self-mastery brings. As for my own mama, she is basking in the increased frequencies now, over joyed at her surprise birthday present arriving on her doorstep. With a better knowledge of who I am and what I stand for, and a greater appreciation for what we at THI are doing. I guess I was her hero of the day.
