NEWS: A House hearing on hundreds of billions of dollars' worth of fraud perpetrated by pandemic aid scammers was hobbled Thursday when a key Biden administration official opted to skip her appearance. Isabella Casillas Guzman, head of the Small Business Administration, turned down an invite to appear before the House Small Business Committee, citing scheduling conflicts. As a result, lawmakers were left scrambling to rectify the vast gap between the SBA's $36 billion estimate of Covid-19 fraud and the $200 billion projection from its Office of Inspector General, led by Hannibal Ware. Then she should be fired for a dereliction of duty and questioned as to whether others told her not to turn up. If so, the names of those people, groups or lobbyists needs to be outed to the public, whom let us not forget, they are supposed to serve.

A compelling Security Council (SC) report circulating in the Kremlin today first noting top Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov announcing: The Black Sea agreements are no longer in effect. The deadline, as the Russian president said earlier, was 17 July. Unfortunately, the part of the Black Sea agreement that concerns Russia has not yet been fulfilled, as a result, it has been terminated. As soon as the Russian part of the deal is fulfilled, the Russian side will immediately return to the implementation of this deal, says the Black Sea Grain Agreement covering the transport of over one-third of the world's grain produced in Russia and Ukraine, as well as Russian fertilizer. The world's leading global supplier, has been constantly sabotaged by the socialist Western colonial powers since its signing last year, who sent Ukrainian grain to Europe instead of its African country intended destinations. While blocking all Russian grain and fertilizer from reaching the starving peoples in Africa, after the United Nations and Turkey failed to stop this Western crime against the peoples of Africa. It saw President Putin most factually observing: what we see is more audacious deceit, the West did not deceive us: they deceived the international community, their partners in Africa and other countries that desperately needed food. The Western deception is set to cost their already bankrupt puppet state Ukraine the $500 million, it made from this now terminated grain deal every month. Who gains? The Chinese Jewish EL-ites, as it is their plan to take over the whole of Africa for their next looting stage to keep them going. Russia, like it did for America's aid twice in the 1800's is sending food, but the Jewish puppet Zelensky is blocking everything at the request of the West. The West is not British, America and Europe et al, it is an Israelite based cult hellbent on world domination, just as they have always done. But it is falling apart day by day now, the question to the agents of the 5 eyes plus the hidden hook Mossad is; which side will you be on when the changes unfold? What will be your legacy?

The push back on the fake state Israel continues at a pace, now it is even in Congress. Israeli President Isaac Herzog pushed back against criticism of Israel from some progressive Democrats, after the lawmakers vowed to protest his address to Congress and sparked a firestorm in recent days. Republicans and fellow Democrats have targeted some members of Congress' left flank over their criticism of Israel's human rights record. Several progressive Democrats, including Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, D-N.Y., announced they would boycott Herzog's address over Israel's treatment of Palestinians. Rep. Ilhan Omar, D-Minn., said last week that there is no way in hell she would attend Herzog's address in Congress. Rep. Rashida Tlaib, D-Mich., and Cori Bush, D-Mo., announced they would join the boycott in a joint statement Wednesday morning, in which they declared that Israel is an apartheid state. Speculation continues to mount as to whether or not former House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-CA) will seek reelection to keep her long-held seat in Congress. Meanwhile she has collected millions in donations, will she send them all back if she doesn't? This is the same woman who demanded $250K to have a call with her, when I was working with the Trustee. All about the corruption and the shekels with her. The woman with the face that makes the Spitting Image puppets look life-like.

In overview this is hilarious, the so-called Elites and privileged complaining about how their lives are going to be impacted. They should have listened to the Clowns in Panic show, I told you all 4 years ago what would unfold. But this highlights again the complete lack of empathy with the plight of others, until it impacts your tiny world. This is why the world is a mess, everyone kept ignoring the problems, strife, struggles and maladies faced by others. That is why we have the news section, to highlight all the issues for all the people, not just your own. That is a total lack of empathy and is not the way for the one is the all. Hollywood actors are striking for the first time in 43 years, bringing the American movie and television business to a halt, partly over fears about the impact of artificial intelligence (AI). Jason Sudeikis, Susan Sarandon and thousands of actors have joined screenwriters on Hollywood picket lines in its biggest strike in over 60 years. Writers walked off the job in May, frustrated over pay, working conditions and a lack of protections from advances in artificial intelligence. Major films in production including the Avatar and Gladiator sequels may be affected by the shutdown. While the strike lasts, actors cannot appear in films or even promote movies. Brian Cox, the lead actor on HBO's Succession, told the BBC the strike could last until the end of the year. The whole streaming thing has shifted the paradigm. They are trying to freeze us out and beat us into the ground, because there's a lot of money to be made in streaming and the desire is, not to share it with the writers or the performers. Hollywood people are a vacuous bunch of cretins in the main. The irony of this piece is, the harvesters have now become the harvested.

THE WELL I NEVER SECTION: Elected officials want to make it more difficult for their addresses to be found amid what they say is the very real risk of violence and intimidation. Members of Liverpool Council have revealed the extent to which they have received intimidating communication amid their addresses being posted online. It has now been recommended those standing for public office should not have to publicly disclose where they live. The people are coming for you just as we warned, time for the Blueprint. The Biden administration has halted the Wuhan Institute of Virology's access to federal funding after the lab failed to provide documents about safety and security measures. The Department of Health and Human Services notified the Wuhan Institute on Monday of the suspension, and also told the lab it's seeking to cut it off permanently, according to the memo. Oh really?

Rep. Clay Higgins (R-LA) ripped the Department of Defense's finances for failing its fifth consecutive audit and inability to account for 61% of its $3.5 trillion in assets. The most ravenous Leviathan of our government that devours the people's wealth is the Department of Defense, Higgins said in an impassioned speech during a House Committee on Oversight and Accountability hearing on the DOD's failed audit, financial management practices. Higgins called the DOD's spending an arrogantly abusive culture that devours the people's wealth. Sounds like a THI speech, interesting choice of word, Leviathan. Add name to Blueprint list please.

Study casts doubts on electric vehicles and climate effect, the costs won't achieve desired effect. Israeli legislation will devastate the healthcare. Millions lose popular 401K tax break. Doctors warn US they are exaggerating benefits of gender realignment. Russia neutralizes NATO HIMARS. Hawks attacking residents of Austin, Texas. LAPD Union tells cops to leave the city and get a job elsewhere. Walgreens in San Francisco chaining freezers to stop theft, Home Depot and Lowes also saying theft on a steep rise. Tickets in America to watch an aging soccer player costing $110K. Gang violence in Mexico erupts. Transgender swimmer wears Antifa shirt in a ceremony. Black transgender activist tells women you don't own womanhood and periods. Ukraine and West facing devastating defeat. Putin and the RUS has set 35,000+ children free from Ukraine. In a CNN exclusive, Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis joins Jake Tapper to discuss his new military policy. Which was all very Blueprint I have to say. A video showing two women being paraded naked by a mob in the north-eastern state of Manipur, hit by violent ethnic clashes, has sparked outrage in India. Their treatment of women is beyond shameful and country should be boycotted until they learn to become proper adults.

MEDICAL NEWS: This report came out in the past week and sets the stage for the next 12-24 months of brutal truth for the masses. How they react to it will be my observations, one hopes violence does not ensue, but is more likely than not. Concurring with Republicans in Florida that the Covid virus is; a biological and technological weapon, this report notes, is top Democrat Party presidential candidate Robert Kennedy Jr., who yesterday horrifyingly exposed the truth: Covid-19 is targeted to attack Caucasians and Black people. The people who are most immune are Ashkenazi Jews and Chinese. Socialist Vice President Kamala Harris openly calling for population reduction, quickly after which, warning messages appeared like: Kamala just said that reducing population is a goal of the climate change movement. They aren't hiding it anymore, you are the carbon they want to eliminate, truly evil. A: Robert Kennedy Jr did not out it, people outed that 3 years ago. B: The fact that type of information is now making MSM is a triumph for those who relayed that many years ago in relation to the races issue. C: Nice to see politicians finally stick their necks out and get in touch with reality. More on that piece later.

SOCIETY NEWS: Here is something we had discussed on our show and solutions some time back. A long-awaited data from the large-scale UK four-day workweek pilot arrived in February – and results were overwhelmingly positive. Among the 60-plus companies that participated in the trial, from marketing agencies to financial firms, education services to fish and chip shops, 92% of employers said they would continue with a shorter workweek following the program – with 30% making the change permanent. Among nearly 3,000 employees, 71% reported feeling reduced levels of burnout; there were also improvements in physical health and wellbeing. In many cases, firms that participated in the pilot, organized by non-profit 4 Day Week Global, reported their workers have been able to spend more time with their families, pursue hobbies and take greater personal care. Our staff have had the intensity of their work ramp up following the pandemic and cost of living crisis, explains Alison Dunn, chief executive of consumer-advice helpline Citizens Advice in Gateshead. Burnout has been an issue, so the four-day week has given them space to decompress: we've had people spend their extra day off with their children, take forest walks and monetize their hobbies. Employers on the trial also say a truncated workweek has boosted productivity and output. When people enjoy having an extra day off, that creates better work-life balance which, in turn, makes people happier and less stressed and happier people perform better at work says Claire Daniels, CEO of Leeds-based digital marketing agency Trio Media. Yet, despite these headline-grabbing results, the trial didn't work for every business. Some firms abandoned the experiment; others haven't yet made the move to adopt the format full-time. Even those firms continuing with reduced hours are navigating new challenges arising from shortened workweeks. Though this reflects a small portion of the trial's participants, it means the four-day workweek isn't an automatic solution for all. In June 2022, Mark Roderick's engineering and industrial supplies company Allcap joined the UK four-day workweek trial. After operating at full tilt through the pandemic, the managing director of the Gloucester-based firm hoped that the six-month pilot program would mean being able to offer his 40-strong team extra rest days. We rushed it through the business, says Roderick. We joined the program late and knew it would be a challenge implementing it across five sites. But we wanted to be able to give our staff time off during the summer. Except it came all about the shekels with this company as you will see, rather than ease the work week they increased it. Rather than offer workers a three-day weekend like most of the 61 companies on the scheme, Allcap employees would have one workday off every fortnight. We're a trading business, customers call up all the time for manufacturing and construction components, says Roderick. We were already on a slightly reduced headcount, so we couldn't afford to give staff one day off every week. But even with this bespoke four-day week model, Roderick says his firm quickly ran into problems. As opposed to 10 normal workdays, we found that employees would have nine extreme ones, once they got to their scheduled day off, they were exhausted. Once we factored in holidays, sickness and caring responsibilities, we also struggled to find cover for an employee on their rest day. As a result, Allcap abandoned its trial two months early at its three main trade sites, its warehouse and manufacturing centers have the resources to cope with a four-day week. Alongside staffing issues, Roderick says the nature of his industry has made the four-day week harder to implement. If you're in professional services, you often have project-based work that affords greater flexibility in meeting deadlines. Here, we have milling machines, a trade counter and around-the-clock deliveries, working from home is impossible, so you need a minimum number of staff on site, or you don't have a business. Indeed, as Allcap found, a typical trade-off for a three-day weekend is a more intense four-day workweek. Without having a fifth day to catch up on work, there's generally more stress now during the week in order to have a longer weekend, says Laura White, projects and research manager at London-based charity Waterwise. Therein lies the problem, the have to catch up on work is a slave program. The company could just target less profits and happier staff, those who set these work targets and schedules are only interested in the bottom line. Companies are making extra as they all state of increased productivity, why is that not enough? And for businesses maintaining regular opening hours, a third day off for staff usually requires workers covering shifts and subsequently increased workloads. We found that when it was someone's turn for their day off, the buck passed to a colleague and they were left under pressure, says Roderick. Someone's absence would come up to management, so we'd effectively have to just do daily tasks, our longer-term projects and strategic work went out the window. Or you can think different, that life is not all about work and shekels. Here is another good idea and extension of the 4 day week. Instead of a fixed four-day approach, Abigail Marks, professor of the future of work at Newcastle University Business School, believes this model of shortened workweeks and flexibility could bring the biggest gains to the workforce. Without reducing the intensity of workloads and tackling overworking more broadly, a mass scale four-day week risks intensifying already intense workloads, she says. A six-hour workday may be more effective than a four-day week among organizations that are able to do so. And although 100% of firms in the trial didn't immediately move to implement the model, the general success of the four-day week trial points to more employers acknowledging that the traditional nine-to-five isn't working, says Marks. It's another experiment in the post-pandemic world of work. It's showing that people are realizing that long hours culture isn't healthy or sustainable. For now, while a four-day week may be an experiment worth keeping on a permanent basis for some companies, it may not be realistic for all.

Polls continue to show a slow decline in various forms of support for Black Lives Matter. A recent poll from Pew Research Center found that backing for the movement is now at its lowest point in three years, down to 51% from 67% in 2020. Another fake program failing.

Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg's new Twitter competitor, Threads, has seen a drop in half of all site traffic only two weeks after its launch, according to The Messenger. Meta's new Twitter-like platform Threads has seen a 25.4 million drop in active users, with traffic falling from 49 million active users to 23.6 million active users in just a week, according to The Messenger. Threads originally saw 100 million new users in its first five days, with 30 million of those coming in just the first day. 100 million sheep or bots addicted to their mind control in the first place is the concern. But with so many leaving, that is encouraging.

Nikcole Cunningham, a member of San Francisco's reparations committee, has called White men a menace to society. Who gives these people these levels of jobs? What an embarrassment to black people she is. She went on to explain that these men are privileged and accused them of being serial killers, justifying the accusation with the fact that most serial killers fall into their demographic. If anything, they pose more of a harm than support and help. Their ancestors are the ones who were standing out here in their Sunday best watching Black people hang and burn, she said. White supremacy is ingrained in the DNA in the country and definitely in this city. California State Senator, Scott Weiner, recently confirmed that he supports reparations for Black people. He believes it's important to make good on the harm that was done, claiming there's always a way to afford it. He went on to refer to the state's current budget as disastrous but argued it would change with time. No it the finance won't improve at all in California Mr. Weiner, you people have bankrupt that State. Weiner is a dick, figuratively and literally and a circumcised one as well, given he is Jewish.

The good news is that the Texas Legislature has recently passed SB 17 authored by Tex. Rep. Brandon Creighton which takes effect on Jan. 2024. SB 17 prohibits Texas universities, supported by Texas taxpayers' dollars from hiring people to staff a Diversity Equity Inclusion (DEI) office. SB 17 also blocks these universities from implementing training, activities, and policies which push race, color, or ethnicity. Universities all over Texas are presently reviewing their policies on DEI and shutting them down. Besides that, on June 29, 2003, the U.S. Supreme Court banned the consideration of race in college admissions which effectively ended affirmative action in colleges and universities. I guess people have had enough bs.

Dimona, a city on the edge of the nation of Israel's Negev Desert, has been her home for 24 years. Her eight children were born here and know no other country. Now, she and 130 other undocumented members of the African Hebrew Israelites of Jerusalem face deportation. Receiving the order to leave two years ago was a moment of disbelief, I feel like the government has been merciless to me and my children, she said. They always have, but you ignored it as it didn't affect your bubble. This is a big problem for many people, many only joined the alt media because something went wrong in their lives, the key is to fight injustice at all times, not just if it affects you. One is the all. The Hebrew Israelites, as the spiritual community's members are commonly known, first made their way to Israel from the United States in the 1960s. While members do not consider themselves Jewish, they claim an ancestral connection to Israel. All because of a book, which contains little to no proof of who wrote it or whether it was telling the truth. Around 3,000 Hebrew Israelites live in remote, hardscrabble towns in southern Israel. Over decades, the Hebrew Israelites have made gradual inroads into Israeli society. After years of bureaucratic wrangling, about 500 members hold Israeli citizenship, and most of the rest have permanent residency. But about 130 have no formal status and now face deportation. Some don't have foreign passports and say they have spent their entire adult lives in Israel and have nowhere to go. The community's long fight to secure its status shines a light on Israel's strict immigration policy, which grants people it considers Jewish automatic citizenship but limits entry to others who don't fall under its definition. These are the people the racist elements of the Jews call shleppers, and yet curiously no negative labels are created for that. The African Hebrew Israelites are one of a group of Black religious groups in the U.S. that emerged in the late 19th and 20th centuries and encompass a wide spectrum of Christian and Jewish-inspired beliefs. Some fringe Black Hebrew groups in the U.S. hold extremist or antisemitic views, according to the ADL and the Southern Poverty Law Center. What they dare to question the corrupt Jewish narrative? Criticizing people for wrong and poor behavior is everyone's remit. The great question is why is only one race immune to that? The question then becomes; what are they hiding?

EXPOSE: Here is another desperate example of news media coverage, pre-empting news, throw in pity party tactics and the barrier to truth and common sense is negated again, or so they think. This time it is not working, people are speaking out in record numbers and it can't be stopped. What this piece reveals is their worst nightmare, spoken of by Finkelstein and many others, of the people finding out who and what they are, the latter will be a bombshell of epic proportions. We at THI have been fed a steady stream of this type of information over time, that has allowed you all to see things in a greater clarity. This piece confirms their main emotion is, fear. It has been well noted that, whatever their starting points, conspiracy theorists sooner or later get around to blaming the Jews. The opening line is to ridicule the narrative and play the victim card, when they are the victimizers. During a press dinner in New York last week, Robert F. Kennedy Jr., who is hoping to ride his portfolio of chuckleheaded conspiracy theories about Covid-19 and all sorts of other things into a presidential campaign, went there last week. We've put hundreds of millions of dollars into ethnically targeted microbes, he said, delivering his spiel to dining companions who heard him out with increasingly evident discomfiture. In fact, Covid-19 there is an argument that it is ethnically targeted, Covid-19 is targeted to attack Caucasians and Black people. The people who are most immune are Ashkenazi Jews and Chinese. Well I never, just as our book stated. What an extraordinary statement that is, who would have thought that would be said in public at this time? THI did, we stated in the past few months things have changed on a large scale and the truth will unfold exponentially now. Even in Hitler's Germany, you could cross the Alps into Switzerland. You could hide in an attic, as Anne Frank did, today, the mechanisms are being put in place that will make it so none of us can run and none of us can hide. Robert F. Kennedy Jr. said that in 2022. But they can't run or hide Mr. Kennedy and neither can your affiliation with the Black Sun escape either. The truth frequency and its spiral dance waltzes throughout the world now. The dinner took place Tuesday, but videos from the event were first published by the New York Post over the weekend. Interesting, it was what has been labeled as Jew York Times jumped on it, all to steer the narrative. Ironically and this should be treated with much laughter, is that in recent times articles have appeared accusing the New York Times and the BBC, a bastion of Jewish controlling figures, of being anti-Semitic! It's hilarious, the attempts at deflection. Kennedy tried to backtrack with a tweet Saturday but, as I'll show, that fell into the category of erecting what Winston Churchill might have called a bodyguard of lies. Despite his subsequent disclaimer, the import of his words was that Jews were using the pandemic for their own sinister purposes. A read of FHSTOS Parts 1 through 9, plus FHSTOS Plus 4, 5 and 7 in particular will reveal that to be the case, just like they have done for thousands of years. Notwithstanding his defense that he was just pointing out facts, none of his assertions were factual. Did the author provide proof to the contrary? NO! just making blanket statements like they are the authority of truth. Yet where is their evidence of truth on any subject, not just this? And the assurances from sycophants like Rabbi Shmuley Boteach that he's no anti-Semite, Kennedy's remarks were truly and unmistakably antisemitic: He specified that Jews are a population relatively protected from a virus that some unnamed sinister force is targeting to ethnic groups. What else would you call this? Again our shows have revealed they have levels of immunity, that the rest of the races just don't have. What is interesting is, this time they threw in Chinese as well, was the added Chinese just a deflection to somehow lessen the fact the "Jewish" were immune to many of the plagues in the past 1000 years? Now why is that? Should one not deduce over time, maybe the ones who are immune, are the ones implementing the plagues? It's tempting to say that Kennedy crossed the Rubicon with his comments, but that would suggest that this was a one-time thing. Interesting phrase they used there, Crossing the Rubicon. The phrase crossing the Rubicon is an idiom that means passing a point of no return, indeed we are. The meaning behind it could also be a prophecy. The crossing of the river Rubicon by Julius Caesar in early January 49 BC, his crossing of the river precipitated Caesar's civil war, which ultimately led to Caesar's becoming dictator for life. A dictator is of the darkened variety. This country needs a dictator as they call it, an enlightened despot is the true definition to turn this country around. Civil war leading to a dictator? Think about that. But Rubicon has another meaning; Operation Rubicon, until the late 1980s called Operation Thesaurus, was a secret operation by the West German Federal Intelligence Service (BND) and the CIA, lasting from 1970 to 1993 and 2018, respectively, to gather communication intelligence of encrypted government communications of other countries. Actually, Kennedy has exploited antisemitic tropes before. At a Sacramento appearance in 2015, for example, he called the purported epidemic of autism caused by childhood vaccinations, a connection that has been conclusively debunked, a holocaust, using a term that has come to signify the murder of 6 million European Jews by the Nazis. Oh dear, a holocaust means a burnt offering or sacrifice and the term was not introduced until the late 1950's and then tied into the narrative we know today. The real holocaust in the past 100 years or so was the murder of 90M Russians, but his story never reveals that. Why? because the same racial group crying victim, where the ones who perpetrated it all, via the Zidomasons, NKVD and the Bolsheviks. Debunked means to deflect the truth, done by social media platforms, humanity sellouts like factcheckers and think tanks. No Autism is directly caused by vaccines, period. At an anti-vaccine rally last year in Washington, he said that surveillance technologies being promoted by Bill Gates would make Americans less free than were Jews under the Nazis. Be-ill Gates is also Jewish as well, said to be an expert of body viruses, yet can't fix the computer viruses of his own company, funny that. Has anyone asked, where is the proof Gates is an expert on virus? therein lies the problem and how they are able to pass themselves off into acting roles, as the authority. Kennedy's Covid-19 claim and the others in which he used antisemitic observations to advance his world view, reflect a long history in which anti-science claims and antisemitism have been handmaidens. Linking antisemitism to anti-science has a basis deeply rooted in European history going back to the 1300s, writes vaccine scientist Peter Hotez, a veteran debunker of pseudoscientific claims about disease and vaccines, in an upcoming paper. What an interesting line that is, thanks for the reveal of that. Perhaps if people listened 700 years ago, this planet would not have descended into the pit like it is today. Millions of lives would have been saved Mr. Hotez, but then they are only cattle lives and have no value, as per your Talmudic book. Mr. Hotez who got wheeled out as an expert on many MSM channels during the past 3 years, comes as no surprise the fact he was born to Jewish parents. I brought this point up on Saturday, why is it the Jewish people are declared experts on all subjects that become contentious? The Aryan piece referenced them several times, what has the Aryan people got to do with the Jewish? Will you ever see white, black or yellow races being asked to chime in on Jewish narratives? No chance, so why do we always have to listen to them? Hotez works as a director for vaccine development in a children's hospital in Texas, now that is a concern right there. Hotez attended and worked at Yale, Rockefeller University, a member of the WHO and a member of the NIH, quite a list Mr. Hotez. He is the co-author of the reference work called Parasitic Diseases, funny that you would write a book about your own kind Mr. Hotez. But when challenged and not hiding behind a computer or MSM tv screen, things change very quickly. Last month he tweeted his concerns about Robert F. Kennedy Jr. sharing misinformation about vaccines on Joe Rogan's podcast. Rogan, RFK Jr., and Twitter owner Elon Musk asked Hotez participate in a debate on the podcast; upon declining, he was harassed by their fans, with anti-vaccine activists confronting him at his home. That last line pleases me, that is true activism, getting right in their faces. This is now increasing and people are turning against the old establishment now in greater numbers. This I warned of sometime back and it does not augur well for people like Mr. Hotez peddling lies against the people. One hopes the activists acted responsibly though. For too long these peddlers of lies, suffering and death have gone about their lives with impunity, that is no longer the case and that pleases me immensely. The practice intensified under Nazi Germany and Stalinist Russia. The Nazis vilified Albert Einstein, burning his books and papers in Berlin and forcing him into exile eventually in the U.S. His theory of relativity was denounced as a Jewish fraud. Interesting, given it was the Jewish cult that ransacked both countries and they even killed their own as our episodes in FHSTOS revealed. The theory of relativity is perhaps lost on these perpetual victims acting in a role, because their story is never relative whether a theory or not. Einstein's theory, which is an opinion remember as theory is not fact, was only 80% correct the remaining 20% was filled with their faulty math. Still a fantastic achievement, but remember Einstein came to America to develop the nuclear bomb and was part of the Manhattan project with several other leading Jews, like Oppenheimer. Today's attack on biomedical science, Hotez adds, increasingly embraces both Nazi imagery and Holocaust denialism. Actually, those two labels are a complete deflection designed to throw people away from questioning their narrative. What is wrong with people questioning the science community? Why is that discounted? Everybody should be accountable like we the people are for everything. Yet these fake victims think that no one should challenge their authority, you know what that means? Let's throw another of their labels in shall we, it means they are a Fascist dictatorship. Anti-vaccine activists today have accused Jews of creating the SARS-CoV-2 virus, which causes Covid and profiting from sales of vaccines or other Covid-19 prevention measures. But is it not the case Mr. Hotez, that the top end of the medical establishment is ran largely by Jews, despite being a minority group? Look at Walensky head of the CDC, Bill Gates and his input and many others, all Jews. Why is Walensky and Gates not allowed to face questions that damaged the public? People have been killed in record numbers, maimed in record numbers mostly attributed to the vaccines and people are not allowed to ask why, in case they upset some Jew? Hotez, who is Jewish, has himself been compared to Josef Mengele for developing vaccines or being a vaccine advocate, he writes. In overview; Hotez or Mengele had the same outcome, deaths for the public. He and other vaccine advocates have been threatened with Nuremberg-style trials or execution, a common threat levied against doctors by the anti-vaccine movement. Well, if they are found out breaking the law, should that not be the obvious conclusion? The Blueprint offers a better solution to that problem. The way I see it is, if you are placing yourselves in key positions of authority, you have to face up to that position being a responsibility and when things go wrong, be prepared to face the music, ire or consequences of those actions or non-actions. Except in their world of perpetual day of atonement, they can do no wrong in their eyes. For years the public have not made them personally responsible enough, thankfully now they are. The truth never fears investigation Mr. Hotez, so put your adult pants on and front up. Antisemitism has also moved into the Republican Party mainstream, which also has a long history of anti-science policy-making. In a tweet on Oct. 23, 2018, Rep. Kevin McCarthy (R-Bakersfield), now the House speaker, issued a tweet accusing George Soros, Michael Bloomberg and Tom Steyer, three Jewish billionaires, of trying to buy this election. That echoed the ancient accusation that Jews plot secretly to rule the world, an allegation that has been so focused on Soros in recent years that this name alone serves as an antisemitic dog whistle to the Republican base. Except if you actually did some research Mr. Hotez, you will find out that to be true. One look of who the Soros Foundation or the Bloomberg group fund will reveal that to be a fact. If you find one donation sent, no matter which party, that is evidence of manipulating elections. Go and ask AIPAC of how they influence elections, yet again they are Jewish based Mr. Hotez. Are you seeing the pattern yet? In a 2018 Facebook post, right-wing crackpot Marjorie Taylor Greene, right-wing crackpot? Amazing how they can throw negative labels at people and yet when it is returned, they scream blue murder? Greene a Republican from Georgia who was elected to the House in 2021 and is now part of McCarthy's inner circle, associated the California wildfires that year with financial gains enjoyed by Rothschild Inc., another historical target of anti-Semites. But like the vaccine companies, Rothschild's Inc also made lots of money out of both sad events. Greene conjectured that the fires were caused by lasers or blue beams of light coming down to Earth, I guess. Greene's argument has been ridiculed as the Jewish space laser theory, but its antisemitic content shouldn't be minimized. But video evidence has been available showing the deliberate stoking or creating of fires from unknown aerial objects, again fact is overlooked. I suspect Mr. Hotez believes the conspiracy theory that there is a new type of fire, that cuts houses in half, incinerates concrete, mortar and cinder block, but leaves trees untouched and creates straight lines in fields with remarkable accuracy, like it was installing boundaries. Greene also has called Soros a Nazi collaborator, even though he was not yet 2 years old when the Nazis first came to power in the German Reichstag and 15 when World War II ended. What a ridiculous argument that is, but then Hotez wouldn't understand the history of anything, as his story was written in favor of the people he represents, as our book and series revealed. That series did not set out with an agenda, other than to reveal the truth to the people. I asked the people did their narrative make sense? They then decided for themselves, although the evidence of such was eventually overwhelming. The most damaging of which was the three episodes Plus 4, 5 and 7, which was done by Jewish rabbis. Because if you had doubts prior to those episodes, those 3 discounted the doubts in emphatic fashion, spoken by the Jewish themselves. That brings us back to Robert F. Kennedy Jr. Despite his family's long association with the liberal wing of the Democratic Party, his father, a one-time U.S. senator from New York was slain in 1968 as he launched a campaign for president. His uncles were President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), his pronouncements on vaccines and Covid-19 hew closely to GOP and right-wing orthodoxy. In his defensive tweet Saturday, Kennedy disputed the New York Post's assertion, that he said Covid may have been ethnically targeted to spare Jews. He tweeted; I have never, ever suggested that the Covid-19 virus was targeted to spare Jews. Rather, he wrote, I accurately pointed out, that the U.S. and other governments are developing ethnically targeted bioweapons and that a 2021 study of the Covid-19 virus shows that, Covid-19 appears to disproportionately affect certain races since the furin cleave docking site, is most compatible with Blacks and Caucasians and least compatible with ethnic Chinese, Finns and Ashkenazi Jews. I do not believe and never implied that the ethnic effect was deliberately engineered. He linked to the study he said was the basis for his assertion. Robert Kennedy may well backtrack, but the evidence of the death's ratios, says otherwise. The virus said to have started in China and Wuhan, yet where is the mass deaths in Wuhan? There is none. Yet the second outbreak in Italy produced many deaths, does that make any sense? The author then said let's wade into this hurricane of lies. To begin with, the study he cited was not from 2021, but 2020. It was submitted to the journal BMC Medicine in April that year, scarcely four months after the first outbreak of Covid-19 was reported in China and therefore an early analysis of the SARS-CoV-2 genome at best. Yet where were the mass deaths in China? There was none and still isn't, how is that possible? In any case, the paper doesn't say what Kennedy claimed. The paper was based on DNA lab analyses, not on any findings about ethnic susceptibility to the virus. It came to no conclusions about any disproportionate effects of the virus, but only noted that some groups have different genetic characteristics that may or may not affect their susceptibility to infection. The paper's authors wrote that these factors are largely unknown. The authors did emphasize, however, that mortality and morbidity related to Covid-19 were closely tied to factors such as age and co-existing health conditions, including cancer and cardiovascular diseases, findings that have held up over time. Or they knew in advance based upon the vaccine of which by this time was already produced, no matter what trust the science and MSM liars will tell you. The Pentagon had thousands of PPE kits ready to rob the American public blind, by charging $7 a mask, in December of 2019, before the virus or pandemic even started. To the contrary, no evidence has surfaced relating the genetic factors the paper referred to, and that Kennedy ran with, to the course of the pandemic. To validate Kennedy's claims that different genetic features of human cells contribute to infection by the SARS-CoV-2 virus, you would need to show that that actually mattered in the real world of human beings, says John P. Moore, professor of microbiology and immunology at Weill Cornell Medical College in New York. In the three years since that paper, I'm not aware of any evidence that different human cells and different human populations in cell culture, differ in any significant way in their ability to support SARS-CoV-2 infection. He was not aware he said, that doesn't mean that no one else was aware. Moore has history of denial though, he spent years battling denialism that HIV caused AIDS, except he was wrong, wasn't he. Perhaps he should ask two other puppets of death on that fact, Dr. Fauci and Walensky, as both were involved in the HIV/AIDS program. There is no scientific basis that is out there for what Kennedy is saying, Moore says. There has been so much research on the implications of genetic diversity for the Covid pandemic, he says, that we would know for sure if what Kennedy is saying was true and there is no such evidence. Except there is Mr. Moore, overwhelming evidence that is denied by people like you because A: you are a puppet B: not clever enough to work it out or C: controlled enough to say what the system tells you for fear of losing your job and D: scientists and medical experts think they are gods in some cases, so they feel they can never be wrong. Yet thousands of lawsuits against the medical profession, testifies they are rarely right. Kennedy's plea that he never, ever suggested that the Covid-19 virus was targeted to spare Jews is undermined by his own words, as recorded in the published video clip. The implications of what he says are crystal clear. In his defensive tweet, Kennedy ignored the questions of who he thought was doing the targeting of Covid-19 and why it would be targeted at Caucasians and Black people. He failed to elucidate why he singled out Ashkenazi Jews and Chinese in his rundown of supposed immunities. The paper, however, makes no mention of the Chinese, but only mentions DNA analyses of South Asian and East Asian populations, which encompass many other populations in addition to ethnic Chinese. Because the Ashkenazi Jews were immune to all plagues of the past, learn some history. Bit of a pedantic argument mentioning South and East Asians may not be Chinese, given the virus started there. And why mention Ashkenazi Jews? Ashkenazis generally trace their origins to Western and Central Europe. Again learn some history, their origins are traced to Asia and proof of that is in their DNA and their particular Haplogroup. There is no evidence they came from Europe or the Middle East either. As distinguished from Sephardic Jews, who trace theirs to the Iberian peninsula and North Africa. Put it all together, and Kennedy is reaching to paint an ethnic picture of the Covid pandemic that is profoundly at odds with actual infection, death rates of nations and ethnic communities worldwide. He does so by treating the rough findings of a study of ethnic genome variations as though they were firm conclusions based on hard evidence, and joins them to claims mired in sheer fantasy about research into ethnically targeted microbes. Clearly this was written by a journalist, because what he has just described is how they do the news. You can garner much from information if you reverse it. The whole Covid scam let us not forget, was based upon faulty math from Johns Hopkins school of retards and the world went into panic, because people at Johns Hopkins didn't know where to place a decimal point. Then the same people listened intently and parroted every word of someone from the computer industry, like he was some sort of medical god. Has Kennedy now gone too far in his effort to base a presidential bid on conspiracy-mongering? Moore draws a lesson from the eventual defeat of HIV denialists, you didn't, though did you? Just like a journalist, blanket statements and no proof to the contrary. We used to expose the stupidity of some of the leaders of the AIDS denialists, by pointing out that they also believe 9/11 was a Mossad/CIA hoax. Yet another deflection, did you notice? You may have pointed it out and mocked the people Mr. Hotez, but again later proven there was insiders pulling off that detonation of three buildings, despite there only being two "planes". That the Loch Ness Monster was real, et cetera he says. That kind of cross-conspiracy craziness costs credibility, not with the hard core but with the subset that is persuadable. Kennedy's appeal to antisemitism may indeed narrow his appeal, which appears to be exaggerated anyway. The question is who was listening to him, even before this. The question is Mr. Moore; who is listening to your conspiracy theories anymore, because to use your own words, you have narrowed your appeal. Because people in larger numbers now are just not buying the horse manure you spread. Like your official narrative it stinks to high heaven. What I would like is, for the Jewish members in our group approach him and maybe even send a pdf of our book written in Jewish, maybe then he can reconsider his false belief pattern. Because people like him are going to be targeted just like I warned, because they are either part of it or participate knowing or unknowingly in the cover up of it. As always Mr. Moore, Hotez and others, the truth never fears investigation. The fact you a reduced to name calling and labels, proves you will not discuss or disprove the topics. All of which means you have something to hide.

MYSTERY SECTION: As many of you will now know, I don't frequent the alt media due to the agencies and program members that run the majority of it. But people send me stuff from time to time that bears looking at or laughing at, we all like a bit of humor after all. Here is an example: Beginning on July 27th today Planet earth will undergo a dramatic change as we move into the 5th dimension and our new golden age with a new financial system. That's hilarious, as Earth moved into a new frequency on 1/1/13 and as for the only valid financial system, that was closed in December 2020 due to misuse of it by the custodian and won't be opening any time soon. The announcement of NESARA/GESARA, which was to occur on 9/11 at 10 a.m. Haha even more hilarious, I discounted both of them 9 years ago and people or agents still follow this bs? Question for the idiots following this; where is the money coming from to pay for all of this? The end of taxation and planned parenthood which was used to kill babies to feed the reptilians. All frauds like financials, medical, historical, science and education will change. This period of modification will last 120 days until November 3rd. The old world of the 1950's is being restored regarding prices and value systems in September. In the 1950's the Fed owned the whole country, do we stay with that? In the 1050's child trafficking, faulty science and the worst education system in the Western world, Agencies were killing, poisoning and experimenting on their own people, should we continue with that as well? In the 1950's we were blitzing Korea and many other countries into banking subservience, should that continue as well? In the 1950's some of the worst racism ever seen took place with agency organized crime groups called the KKK, should we continue with that as well? All because with the advancing of years it appears to be better, that harsh answer is; it was not better, just that you fell for the illusion more. Utterly delusional, we need a blank slate not go back in time, well some will as that is what they deserve for being delusional. The 432 hertz wave form will begin, a new wave form began some time back, not that people who follow this shit will notice. The DUMBS contained enough food to feed the planet for 50 years. The key perpetrators are Jesuits/Khazarian Mafia/Rockefellers/Rothschilds/Dutch Royal Family/Black Rock/Vanguard and supporting forces. They are responsible for the pandemic, world wars, human trafficking, weapons trades and bio weapons and labs. Notice it misses out the US Military and Agencies? Embarrassing that people who think they are awake still follow that utter drivel. It is a savior based narrative the majority of which has been "happening" or not since the early 2000's. That somehow magically there is a group of people in clown arenas who gain a conscience and will fix everything for you whilst you sit at your computer or phone, utterly embarrassing. The change will only come from the people demanding it, not agency based puppets on blogs or podcasts. If only the people who follow the multitude of crap within the alt media supported the only true way of changing things, the Blueprint, then we will get what we wish, true change. Not based on how much debt you eradicate or how many free pieces of paper you think you are going to get, all of them are service to self, it won't work, it hasn't worked and will never work. Awake? Turn it in, you are half a rung up from the MSM, not on the ladder, but the snake.

Another interesting science reversal after our show had said some time back, that the Universe and this planet is many billions of years older than what they have stated. The Universe is almost twice as old as we thought, according to a new study that challenges the leading cosmological model. Experts from the University of Ottawa have devised a new model and claim that the Big Bang happened 26.7 billion years ago. This is almost twice as old as previous estimates, which suggest that our universe dates back 13.7 billion years, said Professor Rajendra Gupta, an author of the study. Until now, scientists have calculated the age of our universe by studying the oldest stars based on the redshift of light coming from distant galaxies. In 2021, they came up with an age of 13.797 billion years for our galaxy based on this model. However, many experts have been puzzled by the existence of stars that appear to be even older than this. For example, Methuselah, a star in the constellation Libra, is estimated to be between 13.65 billion and 15.25 billion years old. Nice to see they are expanding their horizons. It is my understanding that Earth is between a minimum of 13B years old and up to a maximum of around 23B years. My understanding is that this planet was built in Ursa Major and was brought here by an advanced race called the URS. The moon said to have developed according to scientists, by a fragment of rock crashing into Earth, then why are some moon samples being uncovered as pre-dating the Earth itself? My understanding and those of Native Americans is, the current moon was brought here also around the time of the last flood. My understanding is, that moon is or was an imposter satellite, like a giant space station of sorts. Trust the science? I don't think so.

Well I have been pondering again; With Netanyahu going in for a pacemaker this past week, I wonder how many other lead clowns will face heart issues in the coming months? Those operating more in the head than the heart will face major issues with the frequencies spiraling around the world. People can talk of operating from the heart, but actions and frequencies will provide a clearer picture always. Those with darkened hearts will likely suffer more due to consequences of actions.

Two recent movies I watched, neither are particularly great, but both bring deep ponderings. The first one is called Coma about a world split into differing dimensions and the laws of gravity no longer applying. The second one Discontinued is a deep psychological test for you all to get you pondering, what would you do in the same scenario? Overview both movies and what are they telling you or us?.

There is a lot of chatter now on the subject of extra-terrestrials, but no mention of the non-terrestrials. Given there is 39 varieties of other species here, where is the discourse on them? Suddenly experts have popped up from everywhere, most of whom are bought and paid for agents with an agenda. So why is it all so popular now? What is the agenda behind it? Is it another datamining test to see how many are following it? Is it a total distraction? For us at THI, the answer is the latter. We have already had disclosure in bucketloads, some who are around me or met me have witnessed stuff for themselves, which means they do not require public disclosure. The desire to have public disclosure is for those not comfortable enough in their own skin, all to prove to their circle they were right. You don't need external proof, only your own internal proof. Too much of the chatter is based upon people proving their own point, I have yet to see the discussions of the implications of it or the impacts it will do to people. Where is the structure in place to address people's concerns? their mental wellbeing? The potential loss of belief in religion? Zero, which means we will enter another period of chaos. It needs careful discussion, not with their experts but people who have a real background with them. Not somebody who just believes in it and read internet blogs or videos, made money under false pretenses just like the Ancient Aliens crew. The ET thing became a cottage industry for people who just talked the narrative, whilst the majority have never directly experienced it themselves. Because ultimately if we keep sugar coating the alien narrative, we are again setting ourselves up for another round of the fake savior "gods". Governments, Agencies, think tanks, Media, Militaries plus their contractors should never be allowed near those talks in the future as they were the ones who covered it all up, often to gain personally from it at the expense of the people. It also needs to be assessed as to whether the people themselves could handle engaging directly with other species. I have witnessed people who thought they could handle it, completely lose it. A very careful assessment and structure needs to be put in place before being ready for announcements.

This was formulated and written some time ago around 2014, as we discussed the work ahead and the ponderings that came forth. Why spirit travels in spirals, traversing the con-centric circles which is the 3-ring circuit/circus. The circle of life is limited, whilst the vortexes of energy of creation is infinite and constantly expanding. Un-unfolding old from new- a closed circuit does not allow energy in it to be renewed. A spiral system is maintained only if two vital Suns or more are connected to it, one being taken out, binary vital suns taken down, reduced to one weakens the one vital sun to be able to de-nature all. Originally by Habitov we were managed by Orion, then it became Sirius as spiders came in black sun of Sirius, the brown dwarf of Nemesis the actual name of Nibiru sun, with Herculobus, Nibiru and other planets that orbited it originally. So, who these planets orbit now, that these program members think are rolling by us, is doubly a ghost echo. Not anymore, they don't. A program member is the children of the bloodline and EL-ite families, plus many children born in Military settings or had parents in the Military, who underwent MK Ultra training, male and female. The alt media is littered with them, including many prominent show hosts. Plus many monarchs as well. Spirit origin; this current version of human, reconnected to Source. Prime Creation energy travels in spirals across the con-centric rings of dimensions. We bring with us the energy of all planes we already exist on, into the one we are on, in fractionalized form. This is why they were so thorough to try to take so many of us out. There is no dimension per se, only planes of existence we are already on, which is achieved by vibrational frequency. Rings of concentric dimensions imply a defined area of frequency that does not apply to spirit, spirit can be in many planes of existence simultaneously. The Draco, Mantids and Nanunnaki humanoid elves, the Abraxan cannot, because they are not the same as us in spirit origin. The first generation human neither earned nor could at birth, do what this version human can. Con-centric rings are fixed hollow shells, that we fill with our energy, that crosses all with our will and imagination to explore life in the spiral path of free will of choice. The circle of life is a lie, it is a loop that became twisted into the mobius of this Ai copied 13,000-year time loop. All who are trapped in part or in whole in other timelines have a choice and free will to act and integrate themselves to the rightful place, they have earned with each thought, action and choice. To be compared or judged only by their original mission here, that they themselves chose, not anyone else. This mission may have altered given the realized conditions in here, as the deceptions were thick from the start, so many knew not what they came into, but answered the call none the less. So, by circuitous paths, spirals of pure Spirit energy un-inverted to not feed the vampires, the black sun, we return to the dance of creations, as creator beings. From the mind to the heart is the path of the light, never forget that.

MYSTERY SECTION 2: This next piece is part of a book that is available for free at the THI-show.com bookstore. It was written by a few THI people and then formulated together by our book team, I hope you get much out of it and enjoy it. More importantly though, embrace it.

Defining Male and Female: There is no valid confusion with regard to male and female, for they are genetic and expressed in human beings as specific physiological characteristics. The purpose of male and female is equally simple: procreation through sexual reproduction.

The Concept of Sexual Orientation: The cause of what is currently labeled sexual orientation and transgenderism has been obscured, despite its identification decades ago, by psychologists and centuries ago by indigenous groups that referred to those exhibiting non-heterosexual tendencies as two-spirits. Past lifetimes and their traumas can also complicate one's experience of gender, but here we will seek to understand those who have a noncorporeal attachment-an unseen energy being living vicariously through the corporeal host. When this is of the opposite sex, the individual may be attracted to members of their own sex and/or otherwise experience a sense of not fitting into their own male or female body. In the early twentieth century, de-possession was the treatment used successfully by many psychologists who freed their patients of the influence of parasitic entities, whether that influence was expressed as sexual preference, addiction, violence or other traits. However, the pharmaceutical industry promoted drugs as the primary treatment for all maladies, with the co-opted medical establishment adopting surgery and other invasive treatments as the only alternatives. A fact suppressed for some time is that, many human beings have unknowingly become bound to beings without bodies-beings that hunger for physical existence and that attach themselves to the unwary in order to siphon energy and thereby experience the pleasures of physicality. Any who suspect they may have such a "hitchhiker" can deny consent to be attached by any non-corporeal entity. In the words of a child who suffered such an invasion: "I love you, but you have to go now." The child repeated that mantra nightly and thanks to the Universal Law of free will, the entity had to leave. Non-corporeal entities do try to use fear or inducements or trickery to keep or renew the connection to the host, including through dreams, but they must obey if the host or potential host continues to deny consent. Note that living, corporeal people can also bind others, effectively becoming energy vampires, whether on the astral level in dreams or on the unconscious level, often through pressing one's buttons of guilt or shame, fear or anger in waking interaction. Regardless of the form parasitic energy harvesting may take, human beings always have ultimate control and power through denial of consent. Prevention is achieved through learning to shield one's energy field and through addressing traumas and other weaknesses that affect the psi field.

Defining Masculine and Feminine: Men and women are not the same in terms of their physical, emotional and mental characteristics, nor in their respective roles in procreation, but they are equally valuable members of the human race. Although various cultures have imposed roles and designated characteristics they define as masculine and feminine, coercing men and women to adapt to cultural expectations of behavior in order to fit into society and also excusing devaluation of women in particular, masculinity and femininity are more accurately defined as qualities of energy. In reality, all human males and females have within them both forms of energy, the masculine and the feminine. The difference is only a matter of the relative proportion and that proportion is unique to each individual. Thus, not only do men tend to have a greater percentage of masculine energy and women a greater percentage of feminine energy, but individual men may have a greater share of masculine energy than others and individual women may have a greater amount of feminine energy than others. There is no right or wrong amount or proportion of sexed energy as an isolated quality. Balance is not quantity of masculine or feminine energies, but the true acceptance within each individual of his or her natural traits. To paraphrase a line from a movie, Source loves infinite variety. That being said, while we each must recognize and honor variations among us, the goal of soul development is to achieve and integrate a 45/55 balance of all energies in the soul/spirit package to include the balance of the masculine and feminine within us. As within so without: this also goes for any pairing of male and female energies combined and embodied in two people in sacred union with Source.

The traits of Sacred energies: The Divine Masculine and Feminine are not something we become, they are something we are. In accepting, embracing and integrating these qualities, we allow ourselves to be the true versions of ourselves.

The Divine Masculine: The most common traits of the masculine are the protector and the warrior. The Divine Masculine man is guardian of the family, tribe, group or people. As the protector and warrior, he must show courage and be fearless in his pursuit of his calling and status as the protector. He stands in power-not external power but internal power and strength. He learns to understand his power and endeavors never to abuse it. He brings calm, harmony, and peace to every situation he faces, with the fierce inner determination of protecting at all costs. He deals with all types of conflicts in a balanced manner and exhibits no anger, rage or weakness. He seeks to resolve issues, concerns and conflicts, not to escalate them. He teaches the other males not yet ready for full responsibilities how to be, how to act, how to engage, by setting the example. He is the beacon of trust for those he is designated to protect. He becomes a pillar of the family, tribe, group or people by caring, nurturing and supporting all of those around him. He brings confidence, trust and surety to all. He behaves with the utmost respect; he shows honor to all around him and to all who put their trust and faith in him. He acts at all times with decency, common courtesy and integrity. He speaks and operates in truth and honesty at all times. He acts with a purpose, shows strength, is responsible and demonstrates good leadership qualities. He leads not with an iron fist, but with a calmness, openness, assured manner and in cooperation with the all. He acts in kindness, consideration and love. He recognizes, protects and honors the Divine aspect of the feminine, so that they may complement and embrace each other as equals.

The Divine Feminine: Like her Masculine counterpart, the Divine Feminine comes in all sizes, shapes, and colors. She is whole, perfect, beautiful, joyful, blissful, harmonious, kind, inspiring, confident, adventurous, fun and nurturing. She is a creator, a leader in her own right, equal and full of wisdom. She is elegant and graceful, with a touch of wildness and may be a tomboy at times of fancy. She is one with Divine Love, which is the Oneness of the all. She starts off as the little girl with charm and innocence and curiosity for life around her, being full of joy and wonder. Her laughter trickles across the pathways as she dances her way into the magical world of life. She approaches adolescence with dignity and cherishes her growing body. She discovers her unique talents with love and care that brings much joy into her heart. She learns about her Divine Mind and the Oneness with the all. She remains joyful and full of life in this new experience of being. As a young woman, she learns her body is a temple to be cherished and respected on all levels. When she enters a room, she shines her very unique special star with an elegance and grace that is felt by all. She reaches new heights of inspiration in unity with the Oneness of it all, her creativity and her being now on a higher level of maturity. No longer is it done that a woman has to marry or bare children just because that is the thing to do. No, the Divine Feminine follows her bliss, her joy, what makes her heart sing with delight and dance with vitality. New adventures are the way forward to self-discovery on every level. No longer required to have many to find her one true love, she honors the Divine Masculine and knows her love-mate will match her frequency in a special connection with the purity of Divine Love at their heart points. The two united become the Oneness with the all-and how their hearts beat to the rhythm of joy, bliss, and Divine Love! Seeking to love, inspire, nurture, care, make love from pureness and new adventures, to experience the total fullness of life and joy together in unity and respect for one another and creativity on a whole new level, they experience the being of pure love. As she reaches the maturity level of the Divine Feminine, she remains young at heart and full of life, continuing to explore even more wonders of life on a different level of creativity. Life experiences do not end or become stagnant. There are endless possibilities to become, enjoy and experience the fullness of life on every level of being with the Oneness of the all and with her lovemate. When the times arrives to end this game of life, she gracefully and happily leaves her smile behind and returns home, from whence she came, before she decided to come to planet Earth to experience the absolute enjoyment of being a human.

The purpose of the journey: The mission of the Divine Masculine and Feminine is to harmonize and change the vibrational frequency of this planet. It is a uniting-as-one in physical life on Earth, a journey on which to emanate unconditional Love and Divine Creativity through the process of unification and rejuvenation. The purpose of uniting in the physical is to bring in the higher frequency of Divine Love on Earth during this period of the great frequency shift and the possibility of Ascension. In emanating Divine Love, the union of Divine Masculine and Divine Feminine frequencies is also establishing a new way for HU-mans (Higher Universal man) to join in soul-mate sacred unions. This is a pathway beyond the fear-based third-dimensional relationship template of conflict, control and separation that manifests in codependent relationships. The sacred union of the Divine Masculine and Divine Feminine is a partnership in a pure harmonic flow of unconditional Love. It is a frequency on a higher dimension being anchored here. The union of the Divine Masculine and Divine Feminine is about the freedom of love and trust, developing understanding that goes beyond conditional expectations. It is a pathway of Divine surrender to a new pure harmony and creativity. Note that it is a pathway, a journey, not a get-out-of-jail-free card. There is no hierarchy within this true system. Everything is equal, everything in balance, everything in harmony and harmonic. So, together we become the beacons we were always meant to be.

What does mental, physical emotional and spiritual balance look, feel like? It's your mind in balance with your heart, if it is not you will find yourself reacting badly, in ways you regret to life stresses, you will find yourself not making the right decisions. Neutral heart-based choices (not emotional) which keep you and all around you in mind, pun intended. It's being grounded, calm because you are coming from an inner knowing that this is all an illusion, we are not separate from our Source, from ourselves or each-other, we are safe and loved. If we are not grounded, we spin inversely, wobbling, the hot mess-depression is a sign to make us notice we need to ground. We may fight these realizations, that's our choice. We may have external attacks that are 'them' trying to make us stay inversely spinning wildly. Gossip, comparative mind, fighting the wrong battles, being distracted easily can cease in a moment if we choose to go within. Spirals; Its each energy center flowing in the right direction and at the rate in resonance to your personal frequency. The Egg is the sphere of your influence, it's all your bodies centered in the present moment, on the fulcrum, the point of power within, in your grounded shield. The Celtic cross: The circle in the middle is your sphere of influence, it is also your level on your vertical and horizontal crossroad of the you here, aligned and clear with all the different versions of you, in all of Creation. Pointing up is the vertical axis to no time. With the planet almost completing a 180, what was East is now heading West, inner knowing and vibrational frequency will determine that path.

ENDING PIECE: A couple of messages before the final piece, this coming Saturday July 29th at noon MT is the Common Sense zoom talk with me, which is available with a subscription charge. On Sunday July 30th there is an open zoom, which means all can attend and it will not be recorded, at noon MT again. The purpose or reason for that is, I am celebrating my 10th anniversary of being a radio show host. It is bound to be a fun event, bring your stories, favorite pieces and questions and all will be revealed. We will end tonight's show and talk a bit about the show last Saturday, The story of the Aryans. A story which tied into the Rus piece from our last THI show and will roll into a third and potentially 4 and 5 parts. Sounds like a book in play to me. Was that show triggering? You bet, why did it trigger you? Because you, not me have unaddressed shadow aspects. That is what this show is all about, triggering you out of your unaddressed shadows, inner work and alters. And yes I am the projection screen everyone spits at from time to time, but in essence I am only revealing what you already know deep down inside. You know what the biggest fear of being triggered is, those who are triggered have to do something themselves. Doing stuff for ourselves it seems, terrifies people. The competitive and comparative may raise their heads amongst the races of color. The inferiority complex may kick in as well. The labels racist and racist connotations may crop up when deciding upon the information. Yet have we not stated in many shows, there is no racism only geneticism. What it reveals to the races of color is, your history is a lie, but no more of a lie than the white race history. We have all been lied to and that is as clear as day now. Does it bother you that in the past there was a superior version of human? Does it bother you that a race was better in the past than now? Does it bother you that they were more spiritually advanced than now? Does it bother you that in the past those humans were largely white, although people in Afghanistan, Pakistan, Iran, Iraq and parts of Syria were not, but are a part of that race? Does it bother you that your race was not as advanced? To the modern whites does it bother you that you also are inferior in actions and ways to your ancestors? So you see, it affects all races not just one. These are all valid questions, but not relevant to feeling anxiety, anger, revulsion, inferior or just pissed off in the now. It comes down to not what you were in the past, but what you aspire to do and be in the future. Our role, no matter which color you are is to emulate those achievements, spiritual status, morals, principles and simple laws in the now and the future. Remember the URS, Aryans and Rus came as teachers to you all, not just the whites, is that not a good thing? So, how can they be white supremacists if they wished to teach and help the all? In life there are teachers and students, is the teacher superior? No, just has more knowledge than the students. Do you denigrate the teacher because he knows more than you? No again, that is counterproductive to your own learning. Is it the problem because it is the whites and the Jewish El-ites and MSM have told you they were responsible for all the ills? And now suddenly your whole existence and knowledge base is threatened? But the information is true or true enough, otherwise you would not have been triggered in the first place. What if you were to find out all in FHSTOS Plus 20 is true, would you not share that knowledge with your own races? Or will you be called out, threatened and abused like all who have dared to challenge the system of lies? Telling the truth on this planet should come with a health warning, as people will react badly to you, for having the audacity to shatter their own illusions. The truth is the truth even if you are in a minority of one. What it does to people who receive it, depends on how high the truth barrier is on the receiver. Only the self-sets that truth barrier, no one else. It should not reflect on the few who have the courage to speak it. It is an internal process, not external. The greatest thing to do internally is, raise your self-worth, because then many external interactions of a negative trait, will disappear. I'm sorry for the people who are triggered, but will never apologize for saying the truth or what needs to be said. THI came in on the principal of, I will tell you what you need to hear, not what you want to hear. It will never veer away from that principle. We have all race colors in our group including Jewish members, why do they stay, if I was just attacking their belief systems? The answer is I am giving them the truth and they are willing to listen and learn, no matter how brutal it is. All I have done is redress the balance between lies and truth in a common-sense interactive way. I stated in the show that no race is collectively acting or being in the right way currently, funny enough that includes the whites and those who act like they are white when they are not. So no one got left out and in essence it is a tabula rasa, a chance to wipe the slate clean and let's all start again on the right footing, as equals in personage. To do that, we all require knowledge, understanding, balance, caring and a desire to improve the self. Some people will always be better at certain things than others, that is a fact of life, but in no way does that make them superior? No, that is ego. What is important is not being important, as that is ego, but doing the important work. If people want to label me a racist and white supremacist, that is fine I do not care for what they think. My own inner knowing serves me well and so the labels do not enter my field of vision or thinking. My energy goes into improving this world for the benefit of us all, not wasting my time with people trotting out mind memes supplied to them by think tanks and social media algorithms. We at THI have shown the way of how a group of people from numerous countries, differing colors and cultures, different religions, differing wealth, ages, genders and backgrounds, can all come together and work for a common and worthy cause. The evidence of that is overwhelming and is produced every two weeks with the Blueprint show. All whilst helping, supporting and loving each other. That is who we are and that is what we stand for.
