

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2023-12-14

The same old song and dance is a hamster wheel and also a loop, just saying. Repeating things and expecting different has not worked, so let us continue to change it on a personal and collective level.

NEWS: A few stories about the current banking crisis that cannot be fixed without a tabula rasa on all levels, just as we stated in THI 5-6 years ago. Another non-listening problem it seems. But on March 17, 2022, the Federal Reserve began its interest rate hiking cycle, which has, thus far, evolved into 10 consecutive rate hikes, making it the fastest rate increases in 40 years. Why? To pay for the Ukraine war. The Fed's actions to tame inflation included four consecutive interest rate hikes of an aggressive 75 basis point hike (three quarters of one percent) on June 16, July 28, September 22 and November 3 of last year. At that point, every trading veteran on Wall Street was scratching their head and asking themselves the same question: why aren't we hearing about interest rate derivatives blowing up and taking down either a U.S. mega bank, or its counterparty on the wrong side of the trade? According to the quarterly derivative reports released by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), the regulator of national banks, as of December 31, 2021, four mega commercial banks held $118 trillion notional (face amount) of interest rate derivatives. That $118 trillion represented an astounding 91percent of all interest rate derivatives held by all commercial banks in the United States. Remember before the removing of rogue accounts back into the Trust, the global GDP was $123T, to put that into perspective. Those four banks and their interest rate derivatives as of December 31, 2021, are as follows: JPMorgan Chase Bank, $45.47 trillion in interest rate derivatives; Goldman Sachs Bank USA with $34.24 trillion; Citigroup's Citibank N.A. with $25.88 trillion; and Bank of America N.A. with $12.58 trillion. 4 clown banks, with only Wells the Fargo missing. But here is where things really get interesting. As of December 31, 2021 – prior to the March 17, 2022, launch of the fastest Fed rate hikes in 40 years, those same four banks were holding a combined $18 trillion notional in interest rate derivative contracts, which had a maturity of more than five years. Exactly how does one get out of these contracts, or find a counterparty to hedge them with, once the Fed starts tightening and shows no signs of stopping? Did all four banks have a magical crystal ball and make bets in those 5+year contracts that interest rates would be skyrocketing? Of the four banks named above, Goldman Sachs Bank USA had the largest exposure to interest rate derivative contracts with a maturity of more than five years. Its exposure was $6.7 trillion notional. You see, inflation is a tax on the people to pay for their debts. Goldman Sachs Bank USA now seems to be in a desperate bid to raise cash, using the Apple brand to seduce customers into a savings account paying a high rate of interest. Adding to our curiosity as to how everybody landed on the correct side of the interest rate derivative trades during the fastest rate hikes in 40 years, is a chart in the most recent OCC derivatives report for the first quarter of this year. It shows how much commercial banks have charged off quarterly for derivative losses since 2000. Following the financial crisis of 2008, the charge-offs spiked to as high as $1.6 billion in 2011 but have been absolutely tame in the past two years. How is this possible? According to Table 16 in the current OCC report, through the use of bilateral netting, those four mega banks mentioned above have reduced their total derivative contracts (interest rate, credit, equities, precious metals, foreign exchange, etc.) for the purpose of calculating total credit exposure to capital, as follows: JPMorgan Chase Bank's total derivatives went from $59.8 trillion to $317.4 billion. Goldman Sachs Bank USA's total derivatives went from $56.5 trillion to $76.34 billion. Citibank's total derivatives went from $55 trillion to $181 billion. Bank of America's total derivatives dived from $22 trillion to a very tame $100 billion. What that reveals is, the banks have heisted the people's money yet again. Yet again the people said nothing and yet again the various committees and departments did and said nothing.

More financial troubles this time in China. As foreign businesses have been pulling money out of China at a faster rate than they have been putting it in, official data shows. The country's slowing economy, low interest rates and a geopolitical tussle with the US, have sparked doubt about its economic potential. All eyes will be on a crucial meeting between Chinese leader Xi Jinping and US President Joe Biden. But businesses appear to be already erring on the side of caution. Anxieties around geopolitical risk, domestic policy uncertainty and slower growth are pushing companies to think about alternative markets, says Nick Marro from the Economist Intelligence Unit (EIU). China recorded a deficit of $11.8bn (£9.6bn) in foreign investment in the three months to the end of September, for the first time since records began in 1998. This suggests that foreign companies are not reinvesting their profits in China, rather they are moving the money out of the country. You know why they are pulling out? Because the transfer of the monies over to the East has not materialized as we forecasted back in 2016. Following the end of the Fed agreement in 2011, the Fed, the UN and all other major corporations were moving to China, as agreed back in 1911. But it never materialized and now they are paying the cost for it. Rothschild's and the Black Sun group have failed to change the geopolitical landscape around the finances. Both China and America will collapse financially under the current model. We need a new one and we have that new model under wraps, until common sense prevails.

Bank customers in the US have been left angry after their accounts were suddenly closed in the latest round of debanking across the US. Many Americans who have been the victim of debanking say, they receive vague responses from their banks over the closures. Banks are said to blame an account agreement, which means they can close an account for any reason at any time. An investigation of more than 500 debanking cases by the New York Times revealed, that many people don't know what you're under suspicion for. Simple solution to this is, we should all remove our money from the bank in support of these people. Sadly people won't though as too convenient applies again. But these same banks have raped and robbed us blind, yet we allow it to continue? The people coming together ends all this, because if the people remove their money, the banks have none and they go away. Then we can create a new bank without the rape and pillage of the previous system of harvesting. Banks are no different to other institutions, they run ouroboros programs.

Last month, Washington, D.C., became the latest municipality in which most consumer-facing businesses must accept cash as payment. The law, which went into effect October 1, 2023, represents a growing backlash by cities across the country against businesses that want to accept noncash payments only, such as credit card and digital payments. Philadelphia and New York City have similar rules in place and Los Angeles is considering a similar measure. That is pleasing to see, both the people and the regulators not kow-towing to the control system programs. Cash you see, in general terms, cannot be traced and that freaks out those who like to know and control everything. Cards creates debt and so they collect the shekels from it. But with cash, you can only spend what you have and so in essence it is stopping the person overspending. If everyone went to the bank of the mattress, you do realize these banks will all collapse? The point is, in general we don't need banks to keep our money, we only do so out of fear due to criminals in our midst. So the whole system of banking operates within the fear spectrum. And yet too few see, the biggest money based criminals are the very organizations you entrust your money to. We need the Peoples Bank, devoid of theft, greed and clownery. With the cash flow stifled the shekel people have a problem, of not enough cash flow to keep their debt and interest shekel system going. More people are keeping hold of cash, which means the people control the economy, not the bankers.

Recently we highlighted a story in Arizona about the Saudis taking vast quantities of water, well that narrative has now changed. As Arizona has taken a stand on irresponsible groundwater use, canceling the lease of Saudi-owned farm Fondomonte, which had essentially unrestricted access to Arizona water supplies. After the farm violated lease terms, the state determined that Fondomonte would no longer have unchecked access to groundwater for its alfalfa farms, plus three more similar leases under the company's name would also not be renewed next year. The Arizona Governor Katie Hobbs said the excessive amounts of water being pumped from the land was unacceptable. It is especially troubling for a state that has seen increased drought in recent years as a result of global heating. Haha global heating! Which is funny since Russian scientist recently re-affirmed we are headed into a global cooling period sometime in the next decade. Nice to see some common-sense policies being applied.

Florida Senator Rick Scott has called for an investigation into garlic imported from China, saying that production methods mean the food could pose a national security risk. (M) There is a severe public health concern over the quality and safety of garlic grown in foreign countries, most notably, garlic grown in Communist China. Scott urged the department to open an investigation into the security risk posed by all forms of Chinese-imported garlic. The world and this country is collapsing and this idiot is focusing on Chinese garlic? What about the policies to fix this country Mr. Scott? Oh I forgot, you have none, embarrassing. The Blueprint provides the solution to that issue, each country produces their own goods, end of problem.

New York's cops continue to bolt from the job at an alarming rate, according to new data. Some cops worry the exodus will only get worse, because the city plans to cancel the next five Police Academy classes, shrinking the nation's largest police force to the smallest it's been in decades. A total of 2,516 NYPD cops have left so far this year, the fourth highest number in the past decade and 43% more than the 1,750 who hightailed it in 2018, before the pandemic and crime spikes hit the city. The number of cops quitting before they reach the 20 years required to receive their full pensions, also skyrocketed from 509 in 2020 to 1,040 so far this year, an alarming 104% increase the data shows. The years of departures and lack of replacements are now taking a toll, forcing the cops who remain on the job, to work inhumane amounts of forced overtime, the Police Benevolent Association President Patrick Hendry said. This was inevitable as the people began to wake up to reality. New York itself took the lead in classic ouroboros policy fashion of, let's defund the police and other woke states followed. The problem is multi-fold and not easily fixed. Increase in crime and criminals due to high inflation and poor economy, increase in threats to the police themselves as people are beginning to fight back and not respect their authority, plus people also being sick of cops not doing their jobs. In many ways the cops are part of the criminal underworld, yet many always state the cops they know are good guys. I'm sure there are some, but we the people are not seeing the evidence of it, too much. Part of the overview problem of the cops is what most of them are signed into. The Fraternity or Freemasonic cult, where protect the "brother" turns into a get out of free jail card for many of the criminals masquerading as a cop. No one speaks up due to the fear, full disclosure for full disclaimer ends that charade. The cops also wear the 6 pointed star badge of the Jewish and Alpha Draconis battle symbol. I also warned they would suffer due to the new frequencies within their radios, near a decade ago and warned they would become more agitated and violent, they have. So, a cops life is overburdened with the Freemasonic brotherhood and government policies that protects the criminals, rather than remove them. Relatively low pay, given they risk their lives potentially on every shift adds to low morale, anxiety and depression. It is no coincidence they have the highest rates of domestic abuse. No one likes or supports the police, but they haven't exactly helped themselves in their interactions with the public. So it has become an us versus them stand off and with the public now waking up, that divide will get wider and the public will turn on them first. I asked a police chief who warned of this cop crisis eight years ago to come on our show, he ignored it. Ignoring the problem now, will not augur well for the police force in the near or far future.

Here is a solution to the criminal problem, the issue of immigrants and or descendants of immigrants. Why is there a higher propensity for criminals within those categories? Some may deny it protecting their own labels, but the truth is self-evident. Yes the black culture can point to police prejudice, but ignore the facts they have a higher rate of criminals within their communities. This may seem controversial and radical, but it requires a radical fix as all other solutions haven't worked. The solution? Apply three strikes and out. Three convicted charges means you leave the country and return to your home land of birth or your ancestors. Because that will solve several problems, less victims of crime, less insurance payments to cover crime, safer streets and a less fear free lives. The responsibility is then passed onto the criminals, not the people who have to endure their criminality. Why should Americans tolerate and pay for, because we the people have to pay for their incarceration, lawyers and police time? Why should we have to tolerate criminals from Africa, Jamaica, Puerto Rico, Mexicans and many other Central American countries? The largest amount of criminals in our midst yet are barely labeled as such, is the Jewish. If they can't behave, then they should pay for it, not us. The same applies in Europe with the immigrants there, notice it is the white countries that they target. White privilege? My arse it is.

Much has been said about the new Argentine president and how he is a far right and subsequently more Nazi oriented. We at THI know who the real Nazis were and are, but we have many new listeners now and perhaps they are still led to believe they were all Germans. Perhaps this piece will get you to look at it more closely. In November, Milei won a presidential run-off, pitting his libertarian platform against the left-wing Peronist candidate, Sergio Massa. Milei is a self-proclaimed anarcho-capitalist, whose campaign emphasized anti-establishment rhetoric combined with media stunts, such as wielding a chainsaw to highlight his desire to cut taxes and governmental bloat. Milei has proposed cutting eleven of the South American nation's 19 governmental agencies and adopting the U.S. dollar as Argentina's currency reels from hyperinflation. All of which sounds great, particularly the anti-establishment rhetoric. But is that anti-establishment rhetoric faction based? Javier Milei, the newly-elected Argentinian president and staunch advocate of Israel, is reportedly planning on converting to Judaism. The incoming president made his first post-election visit to the United States last week to meet with American officials and members of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) in the nation's capital. However, Milei first stopped in Brooklyn, N.Y., home of the Orthodox Jewish Chabad Lubavitch headquarters and prayed at the gravesite of the movement's former spiritual leader. Argentina is home to the continent's largest Jewish community, composed of more than 200,000 Jews, primarily centered in Buenos Aires and other major cities. Remember Argentina is largely a white race country, something that is often overlooked. Hence why the Jewish contingent and the heavy involvement of the agencies there, particularly the CIA and P2 Lodge. The link between the Nazis and the Israelis was highlighted further, as a man was arrested on a pro-Palestinian march in London for suggesting the same thing. The arrest confirms it in essence, describing it as offensive. What is really offensive is, not allowing other opinions and evading the truth. Remember, the truth never fears investigation.

More than a quarter of people injected with mRNA Covid jabs suffered an unintended immune response created by a glitch in the way the vaccine was read by the body, a study has found. The glitch is because you are interfering with a Source creation, do people understand that? Same applies to sex changes. No adverse effects were created by the error, data showed. How can you say the jabs had unintended immune responses and then say no adverse effects were created by the error? Delusional in the extreme, do these people actually think before speaking? Contradicting their no contradictions? Worse than Drake. But Cambridge scientists found such vaccines were not perfect and sometimes led to nonsense proteins being made instead of the desired Covid spike, which mimics infection and leads to antibody production. All of which means that IS an adverse effect. mRNA jabs, such as the ones created by Moderna and Pfizer, use a string of genetic material to tell the body to create a specific protein that safely imitates an infection. Genetic material or Cosmic genetic material? Research in the field, spanning decades, had been slow work and it often stalled because RNA itself, is often attacked by the body as a foreign invader. So RNA is seen as a foreign invader and it is labeled M. Was M the foreign invader?

Common sense is breaking out on unprecedented scales within American politics it seems. Here is another program breaking down as well. Republican representative Thomas Massie claims that the money being sent to Kiev ultimately ends up in the pockets of stockholders, well I never! The US Congress is continuing to vote in favor of sending billions of dollars to Ukraine because a lot of that money ends up being laundered back into the US military-industrial complex, Kentucky Representative Thomas Massie has said. In an interview with Tucker Carlson, the politician was asked to explain why Washington continued to push for more funding for Ukraine despite it becoming obvious that Kiev's forces cannot win. Massie, who has repeatedly voted against funding Kiev's military operations, alleged that a lot of the funds that are sent to Ukraine ultimately end up enriching people within specific US districts and stockholders, some of whom are congressmen. Oh my, the THI collective consciousness plus the truth frequency is bursting out everywhere now.

SOCIETY SECTION: Yet more ass backward clown based reverse psychology programming, this time running in Ireland. As the police in Ireland are investigating graffiti daubed there, saying Irish lives matter, which predictably, the same as white lives matter and all lives matter, is now declared as a hate crime. In overview and in light of previous retarded crimes like thought crime, are the authorities actually exhibiting themselves as racists and also showing their thought crimes, because Irish lives don't matter? Me thinks the authorities need to be arrested under their own directives. The problem is people don't think about it, only react to the statement. But under their own laws, they are racists and thought criminals. An Irish politician called the phrase a racist slogan, which is directly counterpoised to movements against the oppression faced by black people and other ethnic minorities. Someone needs to tell that jackass, you are in that position to serve all Irish people, not just black or minorities. In fact, why is the color even referenced? Again that is divisive racism. Officials in northern Ireland are investigating an act of graffiti, the scrawling of the phrase Irish Lives Matter on a wall in West Belfast, as a potential hate crime, as the anti-immigration protests continued today in downtown Dublin. There was also signage posted around West Belfast declaring, the residents will no longer accept the re-housing of illegal immigrants. Police are said to be looking into the source of the concerning graffiti and signs, which come a week after violent far-right protests broke out in Dublin after four people were injured in a knife attack outside a school. Far right? What is that supposed to mean? Was everybody leaning over?

This is hilarious and something I said many years back when I warned of it. I said all those in favor of the ban, have just increased your own tax bills to pay for it, it did just that. But now in classic ouroboros fashion it is about to be reversed, ironically to fund tax cuts, well I never! New Zealand's new government says it plans to scrap the nation's world-leading smoking ban to fund tax cuts. The legislation, introduced under the previous Jacinda Ardern-led government, would have banned cigarette sales next year to anyone born after 2008.

Smoking is the leading cause of preventable deaths in New Zealand and the policy had aimed to stop young generations from picking up the habit. No it is not the leading cause at all, plus it had massive benefits with the Covid situation, as few smokers actually got it. Health experts have strongly criticized the sudden reversal. Well A: there are no experts and B: their advice has been proven to be at best misleading and worst, criminally negligent. We are appalled and disgusted, touché with your Covid advice. This is an incredibly retrograde step on world-leading, absolutely excellent health measures, said Prof Richard Edwards, a tobacco control researcher and public health expert at the University of Otago. Most health groups in New Zealand are appalled by what the government's done and are calling on them to backtrack. Ultimately you see, it all comes down to the shekels.

So, why are policies like this being reversed? Because their original plan is all failing. With the funds in the pot now dwindling, with the populations now dwindling, there are less funds to go around. Banks are struggling to cope with the figure juggling, the cost of all the programs ran on the people is now beginning to bite. The cost of trying to stop the public finding out the truth is now becoming a burden to them and the system. The need for a tabula rasa and the Blueprint is marching forward at a pace. When that happens, only time will tell. Pride, belligerence and arrogance has to fall before then, but inexorably it will have to. When that arrives we have to be ready for it.

Here is the ultimate in programs failing and this is fantastic to see. In a new corporate disclosure, Disney acknowledges that its controversial political and social agenda is costing the company and shareholders. The question is how long Disney or its shareholders, can tolerate falling revenues tied to its misalignment with the public. It is a massive corporation and it can lose billions before facing any truly dire decisions, he added. The company has faced backlash over its woke movies and declining revenues, prompting CEO Bob Iger to consider toning down the company's involvement in culture wars. Disney as we highlighted in past shows is not just involved in woke cultures, but deep dark agendas and child abuse programs. Now they are being hurt by the shekels, perhaps they will do a 180 and provide wholesome entertainment for people without the former hidden dark agendas as well. One suspects you will have to empty the whole board and shareholders of the Jewish who run that agenda, before that 180 can occur. More church abuse of children now coming to the light and this is the story of a young black boy being abused. Charles Richardson gradually lost his eyesight to complications from diabetes, certain childhood memories haunted him even more. The Catholic priest appeared vividly in his mind's eye, the one who promised him a spot on a travel basketball team, took him out for burgers and helped him with homework. The one, Richardson alleges, who sexually assaulted him for more than a year. I've been seeing him a lot lately, Richardson said. As a Black middle schooler in Baltimore in the 1970s, Richardson started spending time with the Rev. Henry Zerhusen, a charismatic white cleric, but is it white? Zerhusen's nationality was not revealed, but suspect he was Jewish given the name and other priests of similar Jewish names reported as working at the same church and abusing the children. The names Belschner, Helowicz, Bauernfeind, Lentz and Heilman portray a wider picture. In total 12 priests were charged with abuse in this one church. Zerhusen's parish was a fixture in a neighborhood experiencing white flight and rapidly becoming majority-Black. Zerhusen welcomed his church's racial integration and implemented programs for struggling families, including Richardson's. Black survivors like Richardson have been nearly invisible in the Catholic Church sexual abuse crisis, even in Baltimore, home to an historic Black Catholic community in the nation's oldest archdiocese. Cases of clergy abuse among African Americans are underreported, experts say, and the U.S. Catholic Church generally does not publicly track the race or ethnicity of victims. Without that data, the full scope of the abuse and its effects is unknown. Now why is that I wonder? Persons of color have suffered a long legacy of neglect and marginalization in the Catholic Church, said the Rev. Bryan Massingale, a Black Catholic priest and Fordham University professor whose research has focused on the issue. We need to correct the idea that all or most of the victims of this abuse have been white and male, he said. No, we need to focus on those who were abused, regardless of color, under a banner of all children matter. Earlier this year, the Maryland attorney general's office released a scathing report on child sex abuse within the Baltimore archdiocese. The report documents more than 600 abuse cases but leaves out any context about race. There are clues, however, in the names of priests and churches listed. Out of 27 parishes in the archdiocese that have significant Black populations, at least 70% previously had priests on staff accused of sexual abuse. Just how is that allowed to unfold? Permanent day of atonement for priests as well? For parishes that experienced demographic shifts, these abusers were in residence in the years after Black membership increased and white membership declined. In 2013, Zerhusen faced accusations from another former parishioner, the grandson of a woman who had worked at St. Ambrose. The archdiocese settled with the victim for $32,500 and added Zerhusen to their list of credibly accused priests. Christian Kendzierski, an archdiocese spokesperson, said he was just learning of Richardson's allegation about Zerhusen, who died in 2003, when contacted by the AP. The last time Zerhusen abused him, Richardson jumped out a stained-glass window to escape, he still bears scars that he attributes to the fall. But the emotional scars have never healed. Until recently, he had never told his family about the assaults. As Black men, we have a reputation we have to carry with us, a façade, Richardson said. Something like this is one of the worst things, to say you have been raped or touched by another man. That applies to all men though, as men are told to suck it up and tough things out, whilst suffering emotionally inside often leading to addictions and or worse, suicide. After the attorney general's report, Maryland lawmakers voted to repeal the statute of limitations for child victims to sue. At age 58, Richardson retained a lawyer and decided to go public. Ray Kelly, chair of the pastoral council at St. Peter Claver, a Black Baltimore parish, said the archdiocese has failed to address racial disparities. The Americanized Catholic Church still sees the Black population as a perpetual charity case, so to speak. The predators are going to go where the prey is and Black communities relying on the church for support. The great question is, why are any communities relying on the church for support? Where is the evidence they do anything to support the people? In overview they are revealing the church is like another parent for them, it is childlike thinking. Abuse also came from within Baltimore's Black community as well. When he was ordained in 1974, Maurice Blackwell was a celebrated rarity: a homegrown Black priest. Since then, he has been accused of sexually abusing at least 10 boys under 18, most at majority-Black parishes. Darrell Carter alleges he was one of Blackwell's victims, now 63, he decided to sue under the new state law. As a teen, Carter visited two of Blackwell's parishes looking for odd jobs, instead, he was sexually abused for four years and paid him $25 each time. Carter said Blackwell brandished a gun and threatened to kill him if he told anyone. Carter said he reported the abuse to the archdiocese several years later, but nothing came of it. The archdiocese said it received a report of Carter's abuse in 2019 and reported it to law enforcement. In 2002, another of Blackwell's victims, Dontee Stokes, confronted and shot Blackwell after he refused to apologize. The shooting became a defining event in Baltimore's mishandling of clergy sex abuse claims, just as the scope of the crisis was breaking open in Boston. Blackwell survived; Stokes was later acquitted of attempted murder. He served 18 months of home detention for gun charges. Stokes had reported the abuse nearly a decade before the shooting, but police never filed charges. Which means the police are protecting the church pedophiles. Although the archdiocese found his claims credible, its leaders returned Blackwell to the ministry. Blackwell was finally removed in 1998 after another victim came forward. But it was only after the 2002 shooting that Blackwell was formally expelled from the priesthood and criminally charged. Despite being convicted of three counts of child sexual abuse, he was granted a new trial because of the improper testimony about possible other victims. Prosecutors ultimately declined to retry him. So now we have the legalese people protecting pedophiles. In 1990, not long before Blackwell was first publicly accused, Gloria Webster's daughter became suicidal and admitted she had been sexually abused by her youth pastor, the Rev. Richard Deakin, starting when she was 13. It was like I was suing God, said Webster, who pursued criminal and civil charges against Deakin. These people are not gods or their messengers and it is high time society saw through that illusion. All my friends turned against me, she said. So now we have the public protecting the pedophiles, seeing a pattern now? Deakin pleaded guilty to second-degree rape and child sex abuse, receiving no jail time with a suspended sentence and probation. He later became a social worker at a Department of Veterans Affairs facility in Pennsylvania. So now we have Government departments harboring pedophiles. In 1993, the Websters settled out of court for $2.7 million, a staggering sum for the archdiocese, where most settlements fall under $100,000. Survivors coming forward now will likely receive smaller settlements since the archdiocese declared bankruptcy. But for his part, Richardson recently found solace in telling his daughter about the abuse: A great weight has been lifted off my shoulders, he said. A sad story, but the number of groups of people covering this up, should alarm everyone.

EXPOSE: The ongoing reporting of the Israeli/Gazan war, which is not just playing out in the Middle East, but globally.

Police and protesters clashed outside of the Democratic Party's national headquarters, forcing dozens of lawmakers to be evacuated. Let's just look at how the media portray it. Officials said the pro-Palestinian organizers calling for a ceasefire in Gaza were gathered illegally and violently. Illegal and violent? Funny how the opposition protests are not declared illegal and always reported as peaceful. Protesters said they were provoked by police in riot gear who rushed them without warning. Six officers were treated for injuries and a protester was arrested. The incident unfolded on the front steps of the Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington DC, where political leaders, including the highest-ranking House Democrat, had gathered for a reception. Chants of ceasefire now from roughly 150 protesters outside the event resounded in the halls. Capitol Police swiftly descended on the crowd to block off the building's entrance and exit. Protesters said the policing quickly turned aggressive. Video footage of the incident appears to show protesters shouting and screaming as the police barrel in to restrain them. It is shameful the way that nonviolent protesters and members of our community were met with violence tonight, Dani Noble, a demonstrator who arrived from Philadelphia. He said police were pulling on folks that are disabled or have chronic illnesses, pulling people to the ground. Meanwhile, officers said they were pepper sprayed and punched by people in the crowd. Yet more biased reporting in favor of one fake state. There was a time when journalists and news people reported just the news, now they create the views. Views that always go counterproductive to the people. Does anybody ask as to why people wish to stop violence by shouting ceasefire, but are labeled as violent before the protest begins?

Here is an interesting piece on a wider scale, potentially suggesting a split within the Jewish faction. Footage showing climate activist Greta Thunberg chanting crush Zionism at a recent pro-Palestinian rally in Sweden, is provoking harsh-worded criticism of her by prominent Jewish environmentalists. Thunberg is a vocal supporter of Palestinians and has posted photos of herself with signs supporting Gaza, including ones reading: Stop the Holocaust and Jews for the liberation of Palestine. This was another thing forecasted some time back, but has now escalated. Over the last weeks, we have seen a disturbing rise in antisemitism on college campuses. One of the early incidents that brought this issue to the forefront of the national consciousness occurred at Cornell University, where a student allegedly made a series of online threats, including promising to shoot up a mostly kosher dining hall. Does anyone ask why we need a kosher dining hall to begin with? Surely that is exclusive and not inclusive? The student was quickly taken into custody and brought up on federal charges, but similar incidents have occurred at schools across the country. Several college presidents have decried the presence of antisemitism and taken measures to protect Jewish students, and local law enforcement authorities indicated that, they would intervene to prevent violence against Jewish students. Meanwhile, representatives of the federal government have met with Jewish leaders and instituted a series of programs to minimize campus antisemitism. These are all steps in the right direction, but they are not uniform, nor are they adequate. They treat the symptoms of antisemitism, but not the root cause, the article said. I sympathize greatly with Erwin Chemerinsky, the dean of UC Berkeley School of Law, who said that since the attack he has experienced overt antisemitism for the first time in his life. Even so, Chemerinsky appears to be naïve about what has been brewing on college campuses including Berkeley for decades. Harvard University President Claudine Gay acknowledged as much when she addressed a group of about a thousand Jewish students, as well as alumni, donors and members of the faculty, at a Shabbat dinner the week after the attacks. Gay told the assembled crowd that she had learned that week about the pain and grief that many of you've been experiencing on our campus for years. One has to remember colleges and universities are ran by Jewish funding and intelligence agencies. Intelligence agencies also run the MSM media, again with Jewish funding. So are these pieces real or just another version of the incessant pity party game? Always the victims and never their fault? The arguments over the river to the sea, perpetuates the myth that all nations and people around Israel wants it obliterated off the map. The same applied to statements coming from Iran, but where is the evidence of such? But if you were a person from around that zone and thought that, is it actually justified that line of thinking? After having your children, parents, grandparents, husbands, wives, friends, businesses, supermarkets and olive groves blitzed by bombs, tanks and soldiers for the past 80 years. Is that thinking so bad in those circumstances? Look at the reaction of the Israelis to just 1200 people being killed, they have blitzed the Gazans and others from the river to the sea. One speaks of it, but the other one has done it for 75 years and moreso in the last two months. If you were a Gazan, would you not think the same? It is not just Palestinians they are targeting as this next sentence states. Earlier this month, Columbia University suspended two student groups, Students for Justice in Palestine and Jewish Voice for Peace, until the end of the fall semester, for what it said were violations of the university policy, including threatening rhetoric and intimidation. So now they are threatening their own people for daring to want peace and daring to believe that Palestinian lives are important. I think the Jewish voice for peace are fantastic and I applaud them immensely, but now they are labeled as terrorists for not wanting violence? Does that make any sense? They are labeled as threats for wanting peace? Does that make any sense? Makes about as much sense as their biblical rhetoric – zero.

Update 12/1 Gaza's Hamas-run health ministry says more than 14,800 people have been killed in Israel's retaliatory campaign, including about 6,000 children.

More leading figures speaking out, remember Spain had their own issues with certain Jewish groups in the 1400's and had to throw them all out. Or did they move them all out deliberately and into the Americas under the banner of Conquistadors? Spanish Prime Minister Pedro Sánchez has deepened a diplomatic row with Israel, after he said he had serious doubts that Israel is complying with international humanitarian law. No shit sherlock! The greater question is, why doesn't any law apply to them? His comments came days after he accused Israel of indiscriminate killing of Palestinians during its military operation in the Gaza Strip. Israel has condemned his latest remarks as outrageous. Israel says it aims to eliminate Hamas following its deadly attack on Israel. At least 1,200 people were killed and more than 240 taken hostage as militants broke through the border fence between Israel and Gaza on 7 October. Since then, more than 15,000 Palestinians have been killed during Israel's retaliation, the Hamas-run health ministry says. For the second time in a week, Spain's ambassador to Israel was summoned for a rebuke. Rebukes are no use to these people, expulsion from all International trade, global organizations and international treaties. Plus ban all of their products outside of Israel, plus don't sell any products to them either. You have to hit them with the shekels, it is the only thing these people live for and by. Isolate them, not rebuke or your country will be next. 6K innocent children slaughtered and people think it is ok to rebuke them?

Now the faction war is really heating up, as they expose each other and give the people further disclosures. For THI it is just further confirmation of what was already revealed or is this a clever ploy to launder money? Soros himself is dead and has been for a few years, if the 4 year loop applies they may announce it in the next 12 months. Left-wing activist billionaire George Soros is facing intense criticism from Israel's ambassador to the U.N., for pumping over $15 million into a network of nongovernmental organizations that allegedly support Hamas. George Soros donations to organizations that seek the destruction of the State of Israel as a Jewish state is shameful. However, I am not surprised, said Israeli ambassador Gilad Erdan. For years, Soros has backed and transferred money to organizations supporting BDS that want to isolate Israel, added Erdan, who has been leading the diplomatic campaign at the U.N. to spell out Hamas' crimes against humanity, oh the irony of that statement. They have never been about real peace or any solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, said Rachel Ehrenfeld, author of The Soros Agenda, irony is lost on her too it seems. Support of pro-Hamas, pro-Palestinian groups in the U.S. is not limited to foreign entities, it also comes directly and indirectly from U.S.-based foundations and George and Alexander Soros' Open Society Foundations (OSF) is one of them. Soon after he settled in the White House, Biden appointed Robert Malley as his special envoy to Iran. Malley is the former president and CEO of the Soros-funded, Brussels-based International Crisis Group, which, like Soros, has been criticizing Israel and praising Hamas. The U.S. and the European Union have designated Hamas a foreign terrorist organization. A number of recent probes claimed to show OSF funneled significant funds into virulently anti-Israel NGOs that are allegedly pro-Hamas. Yet Hamas are the Israelis, so that is why I said, is it money laundering? Soros' son, Alex, recently took over the reins of his father's $25 billion fortune, which is confirmation George is dead. In June, Israel's minister of diaspora affairs and social equality, Amichai Chikli, it looks like the son is a replica of his father. We have no expectation that his son will be a big Zionist, indeed. What a tale they weave, calling each other out whilst being the benefactors, the losers are the people of all races.

More evidence of controlled and deliberate genocide. Israel ordered Palestinians to leave parts of the main southern city in the Gaza Strip on December 4th, even as its bombs rained down on areas where it had told them to go. Israeli troops and tanks also pressed the ground campaign against Hamas militants in the south of the enclave, after having largely gained control of the now-devastated north. Israel's military posted a map on social media platform X with around a quarter of the city of Khan Younis marked off in yellow, as territory that must be evacuated at once. Three arrows pointed south and west, telling people to head towards the Mediterranean coast and towards Rafah, near the Egyptian border. Israel then bombed that very region where people were fleeing.

Update on death December 6th: Gaza's health ministry said that at least 15,899 Palestinians, 70% of them women or under 18s, have now been killed in Israeli air and artillery strikes on the enclave since Oct. 7. Thousands more are missing and feared buried in rubble. Yet the worlds governments just sit there? At least the people themselves are now stirring and questioning it, plus calling it out. __Where there is war, there are shekels to be made, all of which reveals who instigated and started the war to begin with. Behind every war there are the shekel makers, the bankers, the investors and the Cohens. Look at the current two wars, Ukrainian Jewish President and then there is Netanyahu. Both are utter psychopaths, both involved in criminality and fraud and both were under investigations. All of which allows for leverage by the Jewish Order or EL-ites. Remember 9/11 and the Jewish involvement in that, remember there was dodgy shekel dealing before the staged attack? One academic study had suggested investors betting against the Israeli economy made large sums. It said it found significant short-selling in the run-up to the attacks on October 7th. In comes the Jewish Order military thought police. There is no evidence some investors profited from knowledge of Hamas's attack on Israel before it took place on 7 October, the Israel Securities Authority (ISA) has said. But the report has since been called inaccurate and irresponsible by the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange (TASE). The ISA said it was dropping its investigation into the matter. All whilst providing no evidence to the contrary again, seeing the pattern now? Short-selling is when investors try to make money on shares, bonds or other financial instruments that they think will fall in price. They arrange to sell shares they do not yet own at the current price, hoping to buy them later at a cheaper price before the shares change hands, so they can then bank the difference. Days before the attack, traders appeared to anticipate the events to come, researchers Robert Jackson Jr from New York University and Joshua Mitts of Columbia University had stated. The researchers said they had identified a dramatic increase in investors seeking to sell shares in Israeli companies on the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange. But the stock exchange said the claims made in the academic paper since were inaccurate, labelling them irresponsible. TASE said the authors of the report had miscalculated the sums, showing the value of the share prices in agorot, similar to pennies, instead of Israeli shekels. Seriously? Is that all they have to offer? What difference does it make if it is in agorot, dollars or yuan, when they are all shekels to these types of people. Therefore they calculate a profit of NIS 3.2bn (£680m) when in practice the profit was only NIS 32m (£6.8m), TASE's head of trade Yaniv Pagot. Notice the decimal point moved two places down from £680M to £6.8M. Funny when they are covering up they move the decimal point down twice, yet when creating fear pandemics like Covid, they moved the decimal point up one. All very Johns Hopkins math to me. He also said claims of a sudden spike in trading before the attack were divorced from reality. Which is actually a correct statement by them, as they don't operate within reality, only illusion. A story I came across recently highlights the fear of the authorities first and secondly the Israeli junta imposing their goose-stepping Nazi boots on other countries and their policies. This happened in England, where a disabled woman had her home ram raided and was subsequently arrested under one of their Stazi type sections, labeled as terrorism. Her terrorism act was defined as, supporting Hamas and Palestinians. She was arrested in front of her children, was watched by police officers going to the toilet and getting dressed. They removed her phone and other electronics, her hydroponics garden and other things and bundled her on the floor of a police van with no water. They arrested her mainly for reposting other people's comments and her support of those comments. She was driven an hour and half to Swindon police station where she was officially arrested. They stated to her if she denounces Hamas and Palestine her charges may go away, she refused. Round of applause of appreciation and also sympathy for her plight against the Stazi tactics for Fiona Ryan. People need to find out what that station is and remind the police there, you work for we the people not Israel. Now you know why police officers were being sent to Israel for “training”, training my arse, more like indoctrination. Notice again the one sided nature of it all, because if it is wrong to support Hamas and Palestine, why isn’t it wrong to support Israel? Particularly in the light of Israel committing dozens of genocidal attacks on various countries. The people in the UK need to remind their government, you operate for British people not Israelis or we vote you all out. Bursting into people’s homes for having an opinion should disturb everyone, whether you support Israel or not. It sets a dangerous precedent of which there is no coming back. What’s next arrested for not supporting climate change? arrested for eating meat? Arrested for smoking? It is not as farfetched as people would like to believe, as this woman was arrested for not supporting genocide. These tactics are not democracy, we never had democracy. These tactics are not freedom of speech, we have never had that to a degree either. Due to their abject fear, they are now launching operation shit our pants tactics, where you are not allowed to hear about evil, speak about evil or see evil for what it is. This is the final battle now, of we the people and the war against evil and all should be on board. Do not cower to their fear programs, stand up and fight back for they are weak, not powerful like they think they are.

FHSTOS SECTION: An offspring of the word Hamas which we covered in a recent show, is Haram and we will delve deeper into that with this piece. Hamas was also mentioned in the Bible and New testament as we revealed, so one has to ask as to why a so-called Israeli opposition group would be using a Jewish name or title? Perhaps this piece reveals why? The Hebrew Bible and the New Testament both contain narratives, poems and instructions which describe, encourage, command, condemn, reward, punish and regulate violent actions by God, individuals, groups, governments and nation-states. Among the violent acts included are war, human sacrifice, animal sacrifice, murder, rape, genocide and criminal punishment. The texts have a history of interpretation within the Abrahamic religions and Western culture that includes both justification of and opposition to acts of violence. The Hebrew verb ḥāram connotes complete annihilation, the New Revised Standard Version, utterly destroy Deut. 7:2; the noun which is derived from it ḥērem is sometimes translated as meaning the ban and it denotes the separation, exclusion and dedication of persons or objects, which may be specially set apart for destruction to God (Deuteronomy 7:26; Leviticus 27:28-29). Historian Susan Niditch says the root h-r-m links together several biblical non-war and war usages of the term, all under the heading of sacrifice. Who would have thought that term would come up again, I say sarcastically. Why is sacrifice so prevalent in these narratives? From the Indian Kali Mali, tribal peoples and all related to the Jewish culture, whether biblical or not. The early usage of the term indicates that the Israelites were not allowed to touch, possess or redeem these devoted things. However, the later usage of the term, such as its usage in Numbers 18:14-17 and Deuteronomy 7, indicates that items and first-born children were supposed to be set aside as ḥērem, so that they could be redeemed by the Priests. Ah the lovely Cohens again – not. Yet the world watches and worships on oblivious to the hidden agendas and bad intentions. The Hebrew scholar Baruch A. Levine notes that Deut.7:1-11 shows that Hebrew ideology has evolved since the writing of Exodus 33:5-16, with its addition of the ban see Exodus 20:19,20. Levine concludes that this is one of several indications, including extra-biblical evidence, that ḥērem was a later addition to Hebrew thought. Levine says this indicates that Israel was still, as late as Deuteronomy, making ideological adjustments with regard to the importation of the foreign practice of ḥērem, from its source in the surrounding Near Eastern nations. That line confirms our book further, the reference to Near East nations is India and also the exodus or the expulsion of the sub gray race out of that region and starting their cult up again in the Middle East. Over half the occurrences of the verb and noun for the root ḥ-r-m are concerned with the destruction of nations in war, but other terms which are associated with actions which the Old Testament scholar Eric Siebert considers divine violence, may or may not include war. What a misnomer that is, divine violence, violence is only necessary with defensive actions. But calling violence divine will not be coming from the light forces, only dark forces. Listen to the description of it, it's telling. Siebert says that divine violence is, violence which God is said to have perpetrated, caused, or sanctioned. Specifically, this includes (1) violence which God commits without the use of human agents, for example sending down fire on Sodom and Gomorrah; (2) violence God commissions, typically unbeknownst to those who are being commissioned, for example using Babylon to punish the people of Judah for their sins; and (3) violence which God directly commands, for example ordering the Israelites to wipe out the Canaanites. What type of god is that? Serious anger management and ego issues, with zero personal responsibility. All of which means it is not a god or the god, as a true god would not act in that way. For example, concerning those who worship idols, Deuteronomy 7:16 uses akal meaning consume, when saying: You must destroy or consume all the peoples the Lord your God gives over to you. Destroy, consume and sacrifice, what lovely so-called holy words they are – not. It beggars belief how people cannot see through all this. Deuteronomy 7:24, on the other hand, uses abad when saying: you shall make their name perish from under heaven. While Deuteronomy 20:10-18 says: you shall not leave alive anything that breathes. But you shall utterly destroy (ha-harem taharimem) them, the Hittite and the Amorite, the Canaanite and the Perizzite, the Hivite and the Jebusite, as the Lord your God has commanded you. Amos 1:3–2:3 uses akal to indict Israel's neighbors for various acts of cruelty during war, for example the Ammonites ripped open pregnant women in Gilead in order to enlarge their territory in 1:13. And uses those war crimes of surrounding peoples to draw a parallel with Israel's mistreatment of the poor, thus elevating economic injustice to the level of war crimes in 2:6–8). Other terms are: šamat meaning put an end to, exterminate or annihilate; shamad destroy, exterminate; nakah to strike fatally, kill, in manslaughter, murder as retaliation in warfare, conquest, combat, attack or rout; aqar pluck up, often in the violent sense; qatsah to cut off, in a destructive sense; shabat with zeker can refer to one's memory being blotted out. Memory wipes? Oh my. But in another idiom it means to be blotted out from the earth, to be exterminated, be destroyed, perish and kalah in Qal can mean be finished, be destroyed. What a collection of negative dark force rhetoric that all is, yet people follow these books, passed off as teaching, turn it in. It is a lesson in how not to be, the antithesis of the light forces and the Santies. All of which reveals, those who wrote these books did so on behalf of the Koshey's as they were called back then, now, Hebrew Anunnaki. You know how they love to switch their vowels around and mistranslate. Herem the sacrifice of children and others, became harem the sacrifice of women as sex slaves.

A lot of interesting or ponderings of Japan has come my way recently, which is suggestive of I have to look deeper into it. The series the Invasion added more to it and things are expanding on it. I have asked the question, are the Japanese a distant relative of the white race? Certainly their skin color is more towards being white than yellow. I guess it all comes down to how many channels they have and what is contained within their DNA. This report came in from one of our treasured members in response to a recent show, it said this. Last night's show touching upon the Japanese racism against nearby Asian nations, I can give my input on this. Yes that is very true, we are not very keen on Koreans, Chinese and other fellow yellow nationalities stretching to the Philippines. My friend in Japan was a second-generation Korean, she was hiding her roots afraid of prejudice she may encounter. In fact many Koreans change their family names hoping to quietly mingle in the society, the older generation Japanese tend to consider Koreans or Chinese as aliens amongst us. What an interesting line that is, aliens, could that become indicative? Time will tell. But the strange thing is, we the Japanese have an admiration for the white race. When it comes to white skin the tone changes completely. For example there was a half Japanese/American girl in our secondary school, she was like a celebrity, everyone wanted to know her and be friends with her. Which is strange given world war two and all the dark events that brought. We had some kind of curiosity, excitement to have her in our school. It won't be the same if she was from the African continent or middle east, I can tell you. I was thinking about our fascination towards the white a while ago. I jokingly said to my friend, maybe in the long distant past the white race visited our planet to assist us to free from trouble and it is in our DNA. Are we open to international marriage? That is hard to say, it all depends on the parents view. Generally you will need to consult or receive some sort of acknowledgment from your parents beforehand. If you are from a very traditional family of Japanese arts, forget it, there is no chance of marrying a non-Japanese. It is all about keeping the family line, you are totally bound, your hands are tied. Regarding Japanese parents not approving same sex relationship claiming it is damaging the soul doing that, I am not familiar of this saying. I imagine it is more likely the mother said the soul become dirty and this destroys the family lineage. Interesting stuff. Part of the problem the old system had with Japan was, they were or are secular. Secular meaning worldly rather than spiritual, not relating to religion or to a religious body, nonreligious, not bound by the full monastic rule of a religious order and not within the control of the Church. All of which is more related to the Rus and the Santies. I guess time will tell.

MYSTERY SECTION: Recently there have been videos posted surrounding the artificial sun project. Typically the alt media characters portray it as a fear porn event and ooh were all going to die spiel. One day they will get more understanding and learn what is real and what is not. Like I have said, the majority of the alt media are half a rung up the ladder from MSM. Sensational headline – check, provide no proof or overview – check, do pieces that only creates fear – check, lacks broader overview and knowledge – check. How are they that different to MSM? The only difference is they will talk more about the hidden agendas, but even MSM are doing that now. Why is there no discernable difference? Because both are ran by the CIA Mockingbird program. Let's overview this shall we, where is the technology coming from to build this? Why is it being done or proposed? Who or what is affected by it? Who or what gains from it? Isn't that changing the climate? Why would you change the climate? Isn't that interfering with nature and why would you interfere with nature and it's natural cycles? It's all fear and we can play into it or change it. There is often discussions about addictions via drugs, alcohol, eating etc but rarely do we address other addictions, that are not labeled as addictions, but are. The largest addictions for we the people are fear, victimhood and low self-worth. People will say how can you be addicted to low self-worth? Well, why do we hold onto it for so long, if we are not in some way addicted to it? Victimhood is the same, it becomes an addiction where people would sooner denigrate and abuse themselves, than be happy. But the fear is the greatest addiction and the most damaging. It controls you, your life and your future in a devastatingly poor way of living. People often talk about being free, but the reason they are not is due to their own prison like creation of fear, victimhood and low self-worth. Like I said recently, the hardest prison to escape is, your own mind. I say let them do it, the solar ray, because then any illusion of how bad these clowns are, will dissipate overnight. It won't work as they planned anyway. More is the point, why would you listen to or trust science anyway? We have just gone through three years of rank stupidity courtesy of scientists remember.

Here is another example of them dancing around a subject, but not owning it due to prejudice or pre-conceived ideas. How can you expand your knowledge base with rigid structures in place? The answer is you can't, hence why Science hasn't advanced in over a 100 years as the EBE stated. Scientists have identified two possible exoplanets, where aliens could have lived for five billion years before life on Earth ever began. The discovery of the potential planets has been made by an astronomer at Cardiff University. Professor Jane Greaves has identified two planets that hypothetically have been orbiting stars between 70 and 110 light-years away. The planets could exist in our own Milky Way galaxy and share many similarities with planet Earth, allowing for a civilization to thrive. It has long been held the belief that if there is alien life out there in the universe, it would likely be much less advanced than human kind and would more likely be closer to microbes than mammals. That is why scientists are stuck in a bubble of illusion, notwithstanding that statement is pure arrogance. Wait until they find out we are not that advanced to begin with, a child level species hampered by dogma, religion and a lack of willingness to develop ourselves and each other. But there is the possibility that planets like ours, with water and oxygen exist, if they are older than planet earth, their civilization could have had a major head start. All that study and they are speculating whether water and oxygen exists elsewhere, do they realize how stupid that sounds? Next comes the fear component of any article like this. This would mean the planets hosted life more evolved than humans, and such a civilization would likely have the capacity to wipe out humanity if it so desired. Oh dear, we have gone from a potential of other life to were all going to die. Does that sound advanced? Many astronomers believe that if we were to find extra-terrestrial life like this, they would share many similarities with life on earth with limbs, heads and bodies. What a leap of faith that is! they might have limbs, heads and bodies, just embarrassing.

This is an addition to the Cosmic Genetics series and also FHSTOS Plus 22 in certain ways. One of the first 3 Founder Races created by the Breneau Collectives of Density-5, dimensions 13,14 and 15 manifested in the pre-matter Hydroplasmic Christos Liquid Light Field of dimension 12, the entry point into densification of matter. Those on the last trip will get more out of that opening line, aha moments. The dimensions of 13, 14 and 15 are through the open gate at the top of the Merkaba, ours was closed remember with only 12, was not is. These founder races were long before creation of the Human genetic line in our Time Matrix. The Amethyst Order Bra-Ha-Rama (sometimes referred as the Amethyst Order Ur) Maji DNA Template embodies the full spectrum of the Triadic Codes, the Fire Letters, corresponding to the second level of individualization from Source, the Triadic Level of the Energy Matrix. The fire letters is of interest to the village, the fire letters are brought to you today by the letters A-M-Y. One has to ask, is the Bra-Ha-Rama an overlay of the Ra-M-Ha the creator god of the UR's? Given is was stated as the Amethyst Order Ur, which is the UR's themselves. Remember the UR's dropped the Melchizedek Order, due to their failings and wrong paths. An anagram of Bra-Ha-Rama is Ra Abraham, is Abraham another avatar of Ra the fake solar god? They are legitimately considered Level-3 Ascended Masters. Polarc DNA coding allows an embodied being to run one-third of the Khundaray Primal sound currents, said to be the violet flame tones through the physical body, when the Triadic DNA Codes are activated. Me personally I am not convinced on a 3D level whether the violet tones are the ones coming through, more like the golden tones. But on a soul level you are able to notice the difference and the choices will be more pure and true. Violet flames is all a bit Blavatsky and the new age program to me, it is the lower form of energy when the higher form is required in my opinion. The question then becomes, is the violet flame activation designed to keep us and the planet within the lower densities? Since when have the Jewish Order ever given us, the goyim, good advice or direction? Blavatsky who was Jewish, was one of their Order. Remember they wrote his story for us all to follow, whilst the vessel and the mind may accept that contract, the soul aspect never will. Is it just more computer coding for the machines to repeat - ad nauseum, which is a hypnotic dance to slavery.

Let's have a THI look at the word Empire shall we. From Old French empire; rule, authority, kingdom, imperial rule (11c.). From Latin imperium a rule, a command; authority, control, power; supreme power, sole dominion. Military authority; a dominion, realm, from imperare to command. In other words everything that has been wrong here, because all those descriptions are equal to a maniacal dictatorship. That doesn't and hasn't served the people too well. Not etymologically restricted to territory ruled by an emperor, but was used that way. The Empire, meaning the British Empire was first recorded 1772, it officially devolved into The Commonwealth in 1931 and before that it meant the Holy Roman Empire in the 1670s. So the empire of Rome which was the Draco, then gave way to the British Israelite empire and onto the Commonwealth. The Commonwealth of Nations is an international association of 56 member states, the vast majority of which are former territories of the British Empire from which it developed. No change there then was there? Those 56 member states as part of the Commonwealth have all gained independence as they call it, more like hidden control as we know it. As those 56 states of the commonwealth must vote with the mother country, Britain, at the UN. But in 1834 an American state was labeled an empire as well, was that indicative? Yes, it was New York again who became the empire state and most of the hideous nature of all that is wrong with this planet, emanates from that State. Recently we had the empire of the medical profession exerting their power and authority over us, is it connected? Empirical 1560s, originally in medicine, pertaining to or derived from experience or experiments. From Latin empiricus, a physician guided by experience, from Greek emperikos meaning experienced, except they were not experienced at all, then or now. Because the next reference to the word tells you exactly what empirical medicine is really all about. Empeiria experience; mere experience or practice without knowledge, especially in medicine. Practice without knowledge? Oh my. But they do tell us that is the case at the doctors or clinics, it says it is a practice. The great question then is, how can you be an expert if you are practicing without knowledge? But there is another aspect to all of this when the word is split into two. Pire means the worst, but who is or was Em? So in essence the word empire means, Marduk the worst. The Blueprint is all about correcting the worst, not having an emperor or main ruler, it ends the hostile takeover of our planet by off world entities and shows people the path of taking collective responsibility to fix the worst the empires had to offer.

A member wrote this and I will add my input into it, it said. When you see yourself as part of it rather than a result of things going on, the awareness of voluntary vs. involuntary actions becomes indiscernible in a way. When allowing myself to feel outside of the meat suit, feeling the same energy flow through the grass outside, that is making my heart beat and my lungs take in breath, but it's a bit unnerving. The sensation always makes me recoil back into this vessel. I'm not sure how to continue developing in this way, but I know for certain that the more I open myself, the more things that aren't meant to be there pours out and makes room for more love and understanding. Thank you for being an inspiration for me and many others and leading by example from the heart. Unnerving and recoil? Who said you had to do that? Why is that the natural reaction? When there is nothing natural about recoiling from your own development and experiences. This suggests you like many others are frightened of your own power, frightened of having a pleasant interactive experience with nature and denial of your own wellbeing. I will repeat again, who said you should do that? The answer to that question then is, why? This also adds to the last piece of fear, victimhood and low self-worth. Stand in and of your own power for source sakes, it is what you were created for. How can you live if you are frightened by life itself? Embrace your difference, rejoice in you, that you are not normal and just flow. The question is, not, why me? the question and the question and the answer is, why not you? Nobody should be higher than your own heart, so why give your power away? People have an epidemic of circumspection. Circumspection: the quality of being wary and unwilling to take risks; prudence. But how can soul development be a risk? the risk part is down to being frightened of your own power, is it not? That is always my nemesis so I use self-doubt to negate myself instead of self-belief, but I always assumed we were not fully embodied. Instead of self-belief we need soul belief. The self and the soul are not separate, that is the illusion created by the mind. So is, the illusion on a 3D level of the higher self-aspect, about how it is separate from you. If we have created a separate higher self, where is the lower self? As above so below remember. Where is the lower self? There is none, but you just created one, you. Again it is being frightened of the self and your own power. You do realize by being separated you are open to host possession? If you operate from the mind aspect, that is host possession of your own vessel, all done by yourself. The heart/soul/spirit is the all-encompassing self. This life is not about “ascension” as it is largely understood. It is not an external goal or a place to go to. But perhaps this needs refinement? As we travel inward and onward, developing congruity with our vessel/frequency/multi-dimensional selves, do we not actually gather in the dimensions in a slipstream, through which all is possible? We are continually in motion and carry the dimensionality within us. In overview we are not fully embodied due to the oversoul factor and the multi-dimensionality of us all. Only a fragment of the oversoul resides here and in the now, as the 1st, 2nd and 3rd density are too dense or small to fit all of the oversoul within this frequency band and vibration. The search for meaning is not always in the answer, it is the process of seeking that can enlighten ones understanding. This will not always be your life, but it is your life now. You must discard the various you’s of the past, but take with you the lessons to safeguard your future. The shadows are you, a broken you, the humpty dumpty and only you can return all the missing pieces of this and other lives. Remember your choices, define your path and then chart your own path. Decisions in the now determines your future, what will you create and what will you then manifest? In a world filled with sadness and heartache, happiness is just a smile, a thought and a decision away.

ENDING PIECE: Final part tonight, perhaps it is time for a deep pondering again, uh oh you all cry, he’s going to make me think again and splatter my brains on the floor. The brains you spill on the floor are your own illusions, because here, we deal in reality. But what is reality has become a mass of confusion, has it not and we all bought into the illusion. Well here is another tiny reality check, the family. Corralled into loving people who by and large damage us, traumatize us, malign us and reject us and we tolerate it because it is our family after all. Bound by blood and all that, in overview being bound by blood and then being treated badly becomes another blood sacrifice in essence, ponder on that thought. But what if I told you, there are no families as that was an illusion as well? Oh Janey, oh hell no, good lord, holy shit and other sayings burst forth now, I hear you! Mom and Dad created us and so we are family, no mom and dad created a meat suit. The soul comes into the meat suit at the point of delivery, but mom and dad did not create the soul, Source did. So, there is no earthly 3D family is there? The family is on a soul level and does not necessarily come from being birthed here. The real family is Source, the one on one with the one. Yes I can hear holy shit again as you realize or the use of your real eyes, dawns upon you all.

Life can be seen as a conveyor belt of linear time and at certain junctions in your life, you have the chance to elevate off the conveyor belt which can only go around and repeat. Elevation or leap of faith applies in many situations in our lives, but too few see it and less act to carry it out. It happens in society, between friends and lovers or those in relationships. They run their lives like a factory conveyor belt and on that conveyor belt is the same content always, nothing is ever different. And as that belt goes round and round, which is a hamster wheel, the same contents, do the same thing hour after, day after day, week after week and year after year. A loop of sameness, yet people find it all so exhilarating watching and participating in the conveyor belt of life, don't they? Well no Thomas that is and would be boring and I agree. But it can't be can it? because you all do it and repeat it over and over again. Opportunities arise to correct a portion of your dilemma, but it is rarely taken is it? All too content to ride the conveyor belt, because heaven forbid, life could be so much different or worse better. People falling out with each other, why has it got to be bitter? Where is the honor in that? Yet when someone offers an olive branch, why is it always snapped in two? Hello Kim, classic example. Because people are addicted to the hurt, pain and suffering of the discord is why. So, they repeat it and ride the carousel of pain, separation and self-abuse. Disagreements and arguments spin out, riding the same conveyor belt. Yet where is the leap of faith off of the conveyor belt of linear time? How can you do vertical time if you won't change the ever-repeating situations? The answer is you won't, why? Because you didn't learn the lesson that each interaction or disagreement brought you. The I don't like person A, B or C because they wronged me or others in the past, keeps the conveyor belt of anti-life running. Where is the time-space for those people to correct it? Where is the compassion? Where is the love? Where is the humility? Well, you will never find that on a conveyor belt, as it was never programmed to do that, ever. You do realize when you see with your real eyes, Vertical time is the Golden path. Linear time is following the yellow brick road, but it is filled with fake realities, the tin man and the scarecrow. Tin man has no heart, the scarecrow is the boogeyman that runs the fear program. You do realize, you are the scarecrow? Life always throws up opportunities, but will you take them? Or will you ride the endless caravan, bonded and sold as a slave. But the slave aspect was not external, but internal as the chains that bind you were self-administered. The power of what has been before, rises to trap you within. Sleep with the devil and then you must pay, sleep with the devil, the devil will take you away. Until you realize the devil was within always and you are the key to stopping it. The word devil is the reverse of the word lived, have we lived or just existed? Became bedeviled? It is "time" to 180 that as well.
