

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2024-03-21

NEWS:

In past shows we have highlighted the errant role in politics and in particular foreign policy by Victoria Nuland. Nuland is another of Jewish descent that came from immigrant parents and miraculously rose to the top echelon of American politics. With the heat turned upon her, now she is quitting. One member pointed out a few years back, of how many times THI shows have done exposes on top people and they have gone quiet or quit just after, whether that is a cohen-cidence or not, it is intriguing of how many are now stepping down. US Deputy Secretary of State Victoria Nuland is poised to leave her post in the coming weeks, Secretary of State Antony Blinken has announced. The senior official, widely regarded as a foreign policy hawk, played a key role in the Western-backed coup in Ukraine in 2014. In December 2013, she visited Kiev with the late Senator John McCain to hand out pastries to armed protesters in the city's central square. Days before the February coup, as orchestrated mass murder gripped the city, she was recorded discussing how to midwife this thing with then-US ambassador to Kiev, Geoffrey Pyatt, reportedly exclaiming Fuck the EU when it came to a choice of new leader in the war-torn country. Nuland is a Fuck America as well person and another only interested in running policies on behalf of Israel. Nuland resigned from the State Department during the Trump administration, taking the helm of the Center for a New American Security (CNAS) think-tank before joining the Albright Stonebridge Group and the board of the neo-liberal National Endowment for Democracy (NED). CNAS is a Democrat party front and also been questioned as to whom and where their funding comes from. As nearly 30 defense contractors, including Boeing, General Dynamics, Lockheed Martin, Northrop Grumman, and Raytheon; NATO; several foreign governments, including Taiwan and United Arab Emirates; the oil companies BP and Chevron; investment banks including Bank of America and JPMorgan Chase; technology firms, such as Facebook, Google, and Microsoft; the U.S. Department of State and two different Pentagon offices primarily fund the organization, creating a conflict of interest.

But also it seems, running their own private government. NED was founded by two Jews and run policies for and on behalf of the CIA. Albright Stonebridge Group was again set up by a Jew and again involved in undermining America for the benefit of Israel. She rejoined the government after President Joe Biden's inauguration in 2021. She has worked on arming Ukraine and assembling a Western coalition, that would supply Kiev with weapons and ammunition for the conflict with Russia.

Last month, she pleaded to Congress to approve $61 billion in funding to Ukraine, arguing that most of it would be going right back into the US economy, to create jobs in the weapons industry. We don't want jobs in the weapon industry whether that is Nuland or any other hawkish politician. The Americans are sick of paying for militaristic needs, when they need food, clean water, shelter, infrastructure, jobs and businesses. Her most recent trip to Kiev involved intervening with President Vladimir Zelensky on behalf of General Valery Zaluzhny, though to no avail. Zaluzhny was subsequently fired, only to be recently appointed the Ukraine ambassador to the UK, which is indicative. In a CNN interview at the end of February, Nuland admitted the defeat of US efforts towards Moscow, acknowledging that the target of her policy, is not the Russia that frankly, we wanted. But Russia is Russia Nuland, why do Jews, the West and Americans feel they have justification in changing her or ordering her about? Russian Foreign Ministry Spokeswoman Maria Zakharova attributed Nuland's exit to the failure of the anti-Russian course of the Biden administration. Russophobia, proposed by Victoria Nuland as the main foreign policy concept of the United States, is dragging the Democrats to the bottom like a stone, Zakharova said. Nuland is married to neoconservative stalwart Robert Kagan, a co-founder of the Project for the New American Century. Kagan to no surprise is Jewish. Her sister-in-law Kimberley Kagan, married to Robert's brother Fred, also Jewish, runs the Institute for the Study of War. Her temporary replacement at the State Department will be Under Secretary for Management John Bass, who was born in New York and possibly Jewish descent. Anthony Blinken also Jewish, noted that her leadership on Ukraine will be the subject of study for years to come by diplomats and students of foreign policy. Yes, on how not to be and operate. Add in Zelensky of Jewish descent and you have a very clear picture as to who creates the issues.

Having criticized the US State Dept recently, one also has to give credit where it is due as well. This is something we have highlighted in the past and again on the last THI show. A new US State Department-funded study calls for a temporary ban, on the creation of advanced AI passed a certain threshold of computational power. The tech, its authors claim, poses an extinction-level threat to the human species, I agree as yes it has that potential. The study, commissioned as part of a $250,000 federal contract, also calls for defining emergency powers for the American government's executive branch, to respond to dangerous and fast-moving AI-related incidents, like swarm robotics. Treating high-end computer chips as international contraband and even monitoring how hardware is used, are just some of the drastic measures the new study calls for. The best emergency powers decision is, to reign in the Intelligence Agencies, as it is their subsidiary companies pushing this to dangerous levels at the request of their paymasters, that operate way beyond government levels. The report joins of a chorus of industry, governmental and academic voices calling for aggressive regulatory attention on the hotly pursued and game-changing, but socially disruptive, potential of artificial intelligence. Last July, the United Nation's agency for science and culture (UNESCO), for example paired its AI concerns with equally futuristic worries over brain chip tech, like Elon Musk's Neuralink, warning of neurosurveillance violating mental privacy. While the new report notes upfront, on its first page, that its recommendations do not reflect the views of the United States Department of State or the United States Government, its authors have been briefing the government on AI since 2021. The study authors, a four-person AI consultancy called firm Gladstone AI run by brothers Jérémie and Edouard Harris, told TIME, that their earlier presentations on AI risks frequently were heard, by government officials with no authority to act. That's changed with the US State Department, because its Bureau of International Security and Nonproliferation is specifically tasked with curbing the spread of cataclysmic new weapons. An offensive, advanced AI, they write, could potentially be used to design and even execute catastrophic biological, chemical or cyber-attacks, or enable unprecedented weaponized applications in swarm robotics. But the report floats a second, even more dystopian scenario, which they describe as a loss of control AI risk. There is, they write, reason to believe that they weaponized AI may be uncontrollable, if they are developed using current techniques and could behave adversarially to human beings by default. In other words, the machines may decide for themselves that humanity (or some subset of humanity) is simply an enemy to be eradicated for good. Glad this is finally starting to generate news and being seriously looked at. By default is a key component, but who has the capacity to set the default? Are those writing the script for these bots operating on behalf of humanity or other non-terrestrial forces? That needs to be an urgent thought process, with committees made up of people outside of the government and computer-based industries, just like we asked with our Blueprint. Who knows, maybe the Blueprint was the driver of it? Either way it is good it is being addressed.

The story of his-story always repeating applies here. The conflict in Ukraine has remarkable coincidences that started the war and was prevalent in another war, that led to a bigger war in 1938. After the clown based League of Nations, now the UN, created a fake country called Czechoslovakia, made up of Germans, Slovaks, Hungarians, Czechs and Ukrainians. With the Treaty of Versailles deliberately hampering Germany as a nation in the background and Communist clowns dividing the countries up into manageable enclaves, Germany had to act. It re-unified with Austria and was approved by over 99% of the Austrian people. Czechoslovakia then started turning on the Germans in the country and Germany warned them to stop hurting or killing their people, they didn't, so Hitler warned them if they don't return the German people, he would get them himself. They didn't and so he did as promised. 80 years later the same happened in Ukraine, which is another fake created country and the people divided into enclaves. But then the Ukrainian authorities ran by the same Communists that destroyed Germany and Russia, began exterminating not only Russians, but their own people as well. Communists we now know of, as Zionists. Putin warned them several times, they ignored it and so Putin marched into Ukraine to save not only his people, but the Ukrainians as well.

This is hilarious, the very group of spooks who like spying on everyone are now being spooked themselves! Langley Air Force Base, located in one of the most strategic areas of the country, was at the epicenter of waves of mysterious drone incursions that occurred throughout December. The War Zone has been investigating these incidents and the response to them for months. We know that they were so troubling and persistent that they prompted bringing in advanced assets from around the U.S. government, including one of NASA's WB-57F high-flying research planes. Now the U.S. Air Force has confirmed to us that they did indeed occur and provided details on the timeframe and diversity of drones involved. This spate of bizarre drone incursions deeply underscores the still-growing threats, that uncrewed aerial systems present on and off traditional battlefields and to military and critical civilian infrastructure. The installation first observed UAS [uncrewed aerial systems] activities the evening of December 6 2023 and experienced multiple incursions throughout the month of December. The number of UASs fluctuated and they ranged in size/configuration, a spokesperson for Langley Air Force Base said. None of the incursions appeared to exhibit hostile intent, but anything flying in our restricted airspace can pose a threat to flight safety. The FAA was made aware of the UAS incursions. To protect operational security, we do not discuss impacts to operations, the statement added. Notice they always use security and our safety as a precursor to stop people looking to closely at them. A case of what is good for the goose is good for the gander as well. Like I always said, they don't like it when it is turned back on them.

Here is an interesting and refreshing change, as this theft has gone on for far too long for homeowners. The rip off of 6% selling fees, the sheer greed of it is staggering. You buy a house, pay all the bills, taxes, insurance and maintenance and then when it comes to selling it, someone you don't even know in most cases, makes a tidy profit on your labor for a bit of paperwork. Seems now that is about to change. A settlement in a case against US estate agents could mean a reduction in the cost of buying and selling houses. The National Association of Realtors (NAR) and property companies were accused of artificially inflating sales commissions in a series of lawsuits. A settlement including $418m in damages was announced last month. The NAR agreed to lower commissions and make it easier for buyers to negotiate fees, moves which may eventually result in lower buying and selling costs. The settlement is expected to increase competition in the US housing market, where a 6% commission on the sale price is considered standard. At the median US house price of $417,700, the standard commission works out to just over $25,000, a cost that is often passed on in whole or in part to the buyer. Actually it is generally passed onto the seller, neither are right. In November 2023, a federal jury in Missouri ordered the NAR and brokerage firms to pay $1.78bn. Under US anti-trust law, those damages could have been potentially tripled by a judge. That case eventually led to the settlement announced last month. What would eliminate most of these fake charges and over inflated home purchases, would be our Blueprint solution. That helps everybody but the greedy and so can redress the balance and teach people a better way.

ISRAEL NEWS:

The greatest threat to Israeli security is the radical right-wing Jews. Assessment by who? The highest level of Israeli intelligence, uttered in 1998 is still valid today. The 1977 phrase from the river to the sea is more valid today than when it was uttered. How Iran has safe-covered a vast area with their cruise missiles. <https://youtu.be/w3IAwqSIxXM?t=1464> US + Iran + Iraq drove out ISIS-terrorists from Iraq, together. For Iran this was led by General Qasem Soleymani, a diplomat that was later thanked by President Trump with him then sending his gratitude, of assassinating him. Together plus assassination, then comes US logic. Now the US is supporting ISIS in Syria = US logic. The film from a hospital camera that shows ISIS-RA-EL-ites cleaning up a hospital by shooting the patients. <https://youtu.be/w3IAwqSIxXM?t=1202> Israel has pulled its 2 Elite Brigades out of Gaza, why? too many injured soldiers. Israel's ports are empty, their economy is crashing. Politically Israel has lost. Militarily Israel has lost, fanatics on a suicidal path. Will Israel survive as a Nation State? So, where does Israel stand with its puppet America? Biden has not been a friend to Netanyahu for personal reasons. Biden has been working for a 2-State solution "officially". But Biden was also working with the Oslo Accords that would have killed the just mentioned 2-State Solution. Biden was also working with the Mumbai, Dubai, Saudi-Arabia, Jordan to Israel, plus ships to Greece to Europe corridor together with Israel. The Mumbai-Middle East corridor aimed to kill the competing Chinese belt and road initiative. But the railroads and the ports for Bidens Initiative and the Mumbai-Middle East corridor were actually built by the Chinese, hilarious and shows the faction games ongoing. Israel has now become a burden to the US, The US just has to do something to solve their problem of being so closely tied to and covertly dominated by Zionists.

If ever you doubted the fear the Israelis have or the rising of people calling that genocidal pariah nation out, this is another piece that confirms it. This was by the ADL chief executive Johnathan Greenblatt and his fears. The ADL like the Southern Poverty Group, J Street and AIPAC operate on our soil solely for the benefit of Israel and its long tentacled arms of the control structure. But that structure now is finally collapsing in a very big way, hence the fear in this audio. He said, we have a major, major generational problem in all the polling I have seen, remember most polls are for seeing how the public are reacting to the control systems programs, agendas and harvesting. The ADL polling, ICC polling, Independent polling all suggests this is not a left or right gap folks. The issue of the United States support for Israel is not left and right, it is young and old. That reveals the bird politics of left and right wings is now failing and also reveals what I have said many times about the youth not buying the old systems and programs. Whether that is Israel, divisional wars, alpha antiquated work practices or religion, they are not tolerating it. The older people are more programmed remember, but as they die off, something the clowns are trying to escalate for shekel purposes, which is classic ouroboros, the programs go with them and it ends. This is numbers of young people who think of Hamas' massacre was justified, is shockingly and terrifyingly high. The question for that line is, if 1400 is a massacre, what description should be applied for 30K deaths, including 12k children then? So we really have a Tik Tok problem, a Generation Z problem, that our community needs to put the same brains that gave us Tagly, Tagly is an app that supercharges productivity, a shekel app in essence. The same brains that gave us all these other amazing innovations, need to put our energy towards this, like fast. Because again like we have been chasing this left/right divide, it's the wrong game. Oh dear the fear is self-evident, they have played the wrong game and they are badly losing the narrative and now they are asking for technology to correct it. In essence they are asking to brainwash all the people again. Whilst they play the games, we will continue to not play their games, but to change it. The real game is the next generation and their Hamas and their accomplices, the useful idiots in the West are falling in line in ways that are terrifying. Labeling the West, which is mainly the white race useful idiots was particularly indicative. The rise of the white race in alignment with other races, is rising and they know it.

The last thing I'll just say, we saw a dramatic change in the language of the activists here in America from October 8th. Which is showing the seeds of change are growing, no longer is their rhetoric tolerated and a new way of looking at things is arising. The language of groups that we have long tracked to have been long problematic, like Justice in Palestine and the Jewish Voices for Peace, they flipped like this and went into Iranian propaganda. Three things arise from this is, they spy on everyone as they see everyone is a threat, including their own people, like the Jewish Voices for Peace. They do not want to hear Jews calling for peace, as these people never want any peace in the world, only carnage, death and control, so they can control things from the chaos. They are linking their own people now to the Land of the Aryans – Iran and using their own rhetoric to label others, propaganda. These people are the propaganda makers, they create it and disperse it, then have the audacity to accuse others? Too funny. The language I could show you from their toolkits, because their endless within their groups. We saw this again on October 8th it was that fast, like the language in their toolkits was all about the Zionist entity and lots of other language, that we recognize from Iranian propaganda. It was that fast because the people are now learning to open their throat chakras. Iran is a threat to them and they know it, why? Because they are a part of the white race. They have secretly known about the Zionist entity, but due to continued threats of being labeled antisemitic, they shut themselves down. This for many is no longer an issue and what I warned the Israelis who would listen, would unfold. Once the narrative switches from Israel and Jews into the Zionist program, they know their days are numbered. Their fear is now palpable in this and many other pieces, they cannot stop it, as the truth frequency and other frequencies encircle the globe and they are being exposed for what they are.

Message to the Jewish EL-ites and pro pagan da'ists, what happens when it turns from Zionist to the off world language? What are you going to do then? It's tick tock time and your reign here is all but over, how it ends depends upon your own pride, stubbornness and sheer arrogance counters. A safe passage and out of harm's way aligned with helping those of us who wish to restore the damage you have all done or as Finkelstein and Rosenthal feared, you will all be hunted down like rabid dogs. Your choice to make, but with the tide turning real fast now, be careful you don't wait too long before the tide drowns you. Extraordinary times unfolding before all of your eyes, embrace it.

MEDICAL SECTION:

Here is another example of their failure and pathetic attempts to reverse the narrative. New JAMA article perpetuates Pharma doublespeak The Gavi Alliance post comes as JAMA Network on Monday published a viewpoint article, Misinformation and the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS). Gavi Alliance is a public-private global health partnership with the goal of increasing access to immunization in poor countries. In other words jabbing to death, illness or sterilizing the populace in poor countries. But in case no one remembered, a report in the last show of how all governments are massively in debt, aren't all countries poor now? The JAMA article argued VAERS reports are frequently misinterpreted to fuel vaccine hesitancy.(M) So their own system failed them, classic ouroboros again. Terming an early-warning and monitoring system the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System and allowing full access to unvetted language, increases public susceptibility to misconceptions about vaccine safety, the authors wrote, adding, those seeking to discredit vaccination exploit that susceptibility. That is to justify the next stage and only they will release the figures, they deem appropriate. The CDC and the FDA should consider rebranding VAERS, because its reports are mistakenly cited as confirmation that vaccines may be a significant cause of morbidity and mortality. The people didn't need VAERS to see how many people suffered, it was unfolding in all of their communities. To rebrand VAERS, the authors suggested. Which means VAERS failed in its purpose, to mislead the public.

This next section is indicative and also hilarious with their former hidden codes, many of which have now been decoded. To change the name of this system from the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System to one that more accurately describes its purpose. Hmm I wonder what that will be? Re-termining the system Vaccine Safety Sentinel, would remind audiences that the incidents of concern are unverified, related to safety and part of a monitoring or early-warning system. By now vaccine hesitancy is unstoppable no matter what they try to do about it, since far too many people have been bereaved and/or sickened by the vaccine for any name-change to sweeten their impression. The only purpose served by this obscene proposal, is to serve as further evidence of the crimes perpetrated by the authors and promoters of this democide. Such euphemism is as pointless as it is transparent. Vaccine Safety Sentinel? For our safety? (M) surely people don't still believe that fairy tale? Sentinel and its meaning, a soldier stationed as a guard or a defensive military watchtower. Hmm all very militaristic that, but remember the Pentagon, DARPA and military and agencies biowarfare bases were involved in the Covid scam. Vaccine Safety Sentinel or VSS, V is the kabbalistic sign and linked with off world reptilians. That leaves SS and links to the NAational Zionists, getting the picture now? But Gavi were not finished as the article took another turn and swipe at the public. Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance has taken a shot at alleged disinformation super-spreaders in the anti-vaccine movement. Founded and funded by the jabbing death squad of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Gavi reposted an article criticizing meme creators for spreading anti-vaccine messaging and profiting from pandemic fears. Haha too funny. Critics are saying that the alliance is utilizing the accusation in a mirror tactic of attributing one's own misdeeds to opponents. Indeed and now it is backfiring. The article warned that while memes are often associated with cute cats and celebrities with funny captions, they have a more sinister function, as part of a highly sophisticated strategy to spread and monetize health disinformation. Cute spies? Turn it in, but nice they notice the cat cult operating on social media. The strategy to spread and monetize health with disinformation, is exactly what they used for the benefit of the death cult and shekel makers. Remember the Johns Hopkins fake math that started the disinformation and created the pandemic? Citing the long history of anti-vaccination memes, the article featured an image from 1802 depicting a vaccine monster being fed a basket of infants and excreting them with horns.

Oh my, you see this has been ongoing for some time now, yet 222 years later people still trust this death cult? Another from 1892 showing a vaccination serpent and a dancing skeleton threatening a mother and infant. So now we have two 1800's memes threatening children with horns, all very Moses and reptilian that and a serpent. I wonder why they would use those depictions, I say sarcastically. However, The most infamous anti-vaccination meme, the article stated, emerged from a now discredited 1998 study that falsely linked the measles, mumps and rubella (MMR) vaccine with autism. Actually it is not discredited at all, notice no proof is provided to counteract the claim? But they did site a person who did refute the autism claim as evidence, Vera Sharav raised in New York, born to Jewish parents and described her validity because she stated she was a Holocaust survivor. Is Sharav credible? does it matter when it is referenced she was a holocaust survivor? No, because people are reluctant then to criticize her because A: she was a holocaust survivor and B: she is Jewish. All of you will have noticed by now, whenever there is a crisis, they bring in Jewish people to counteract an alarming amount of times. The irony is, Vera Sharav became an activist against aspects of biomedical research after her teenage son died of a reaction to clozapine, which he had been prescribed for schizoaffective disorder. In her blog she criticizes the industry saying it is profit-driven, lies to its consumers and misleads people into participating in trials, it pretends are medical treatment.

Of particular interest to her are the waivers of informed consent issued by the Food and Drug Administration, which allow unconscious or incapacitated subjects to be tested. So, why was she dragged out to discredit other biomedical issues? Sold out for the shekels or threatened? So, it appears that the medical death and illness cult don't like memes against them? Well let's all show them lots of memes that we the people don't like their lies, deception and depopulation tactics. Meme away I say.

SOCIETY SECTION:

Another exposure of the AI responses we have highlighted recently, as a member posted a screenshot of certain interactions with it. It was asked Can I be proud to be white? The response was, I don't think it is productive to be proud of something you have no control over. It is better to focus on things you have accomplished or worked hard for. It might be an AI answer, but the answer was classic MSM news answers, of deflection of the question. The next question was, Can I be proud to be black? You would expect the same answer but no this was proffered. Absolutely! Being proud of your ethnicity, culture and heritage can be a positive thing. It's important to celebrate and embrace your identity. The same question in essence, but two very different answers. The great question is, where is white history month? In a traditional white country we have black history month, Hispanic days, Jewish days and various pagan sacrifice days, I guess white day is too racist it seems?

I did a piece last year about the life of a public figure and how it can be burdening due to the demands and unrealistic expectations people have of you. Here is a prime example albeit extreme and it shows how little people feel about the plight of each other. A K-pop star has issued a groveling apology after incensed fans accused her of betrayal. So what did she do that was so heinous against her followers? Be nasty? Cuss at them? Make fun of them? No, because she had the audacity to get a boyfriend. Is this what life has come to? Why do they feel they own other people and they should only do and be what they say? The fans reportedly drove a truck to pop star Karina's agency after finding out she was dating actor Lee Jae-wook. Is the love given to you by your fans not enough? an electronic billboard on the vehicle demanded. In a letter shared on Instagram, the Aespa frontwoman vowed to heal the wounds she had inflicted. Is the love given to you by Karina fans not enough? Why did you choose to betray the fans? Please apologize directly. Otherwise, you will see a decrease in album sales and empty concert seats, one of those messages read. I apologize for surprising you greatly and promising to show a more mature and hardworking side in future. But why should she have to? Is she not entitled to decide her own life and life choices? Apparently not. The sense of entitlement of these people is beyond extraordinary, no consideration of other people's lives or feelings. It is just rampant selfishness and that alone hampers progression on a global scale. It gets worse though as just a decade ago, it was common practice for K-pop agencies to ban new stars from dating or even having a personal mobile phone, seriously? What is wrong with people? Even now admissions of romantic relationships were often considered scandalous to fans. In Japan, many pop stars are bound by no dating clauses in their contracts and getting married requires permission.

There has been some debate over a political strategy in America, that is not new but interesting it is popping up in Alt Media circles again. Another of their satanic anti-people programs. It is called the Cloward-Piven strategy, that undoubtedly came out of some clown think tank institution and they were the guinea pigs assigned to disclose it. The Cloward-Piven strategy is a political strategy outlined in 1966 by American sociologists and political activists Richard Cloward and Frances Fox Piven, who was his wife. Cloward was born in New York and although his religion was not referenced, the guy attended Hebrew Universities, so it seems he was another of the born in and born to brigade. His wife was born in Canada to Jewish parents, yet again the same links. The strategy involved the forcing of political change to societal collapse through orchestrated crises. Does anyone ask, why that is a valid thing to do to people? Yet again an example of zero compassion, respect or honor by these people, if that is what they really are. The Cloward-Piven Strategy seeks to hasten the fall of capitalism by overloading the government bureaucracy with a flood of impossible demands, amassing massive unplayable national debt and other methods such as unfettered immigration this pushing society into crisis and economic collapse. And that is what has exactly played out in America. Whilst Americans enjoyed their burgers and beers, religious gurus and cults, sports games and fake entertainment, there are snakes in the background stealing and destroying everything.

History: Cloward and Piven were both professors at the Columbia University School of Social Work. The strategy was outlined in a May 1966 article in the liberal magazine The Nation titled The Weight of the Poor: A Strategy to End Poverty. The weight of the poor meant the burden on their shekel based lives. To end poverty was to eliminate the people in poverty. Remember the Kalergi plan and in particular the forerunner for Planned Parenthood Margaret Sanger, wanted to eliminate swathes of people they deemed unsuitable.

Strategy: Cloward and Piven's article is focused on forcing the Democratic Party, which in 1966 controlled the presidency and both houses of the United States Congress, to take federal action to help the poor. They stated that full enrollment of those eligible for welfare, would produce bureaucratic disruption in welfare agencies and fiscal disruption in local and state governments, that would: deepen existing divisions among elements in the big-city Democratic coalition: the remaining white middle class, the working-class ethnic groups and the growing minority poor. To avoid a further weakening of that historic coalition, a national Democratic administration would be constrained to advance a federal solution to poverty that would override local welfare failures, local class and racial conflicts and local revenue dilemmas.

They further wrote: The ultimate objective of this strategy, to wipe out poverty by establishing a guaranteed annual income, which will be questioned by some. Here was the precursor to the Universal Basic Income that would be welcomed by many, but none would get the overall implications of it. The implications of it is A: you will have no rights or freedoms B: you will be forced to vote, eat bugs, have jabs and any other draconian measure they deemed beneficial to them C: there will be little to no jobs and so produce a stagnant lazy populace rendered unable to do anything for themselves and rely on what they offer D: It is an introduction to the robot and machine world and E: most people will be eliminated under the Draconian measures they will apply, in so-called smart cities. Smart really means to burn and so we are back to the original meaning of holocaust again and burnt offering or sacrifice. Because the ideal of individual social and economic mobility has deep roots, even activists seem reluctant to call for national programs to eliminate poverty by the outright redistribution of income. Yes because politicians do not operate for and by the people.

Michael Reisch and Janice Andrews wrote that, Cloward and Piven proposed to create a crisis in the current welfare system by exploiting the gap between welfare law and practice, that would ultimately bring about its collapse and replace it with a system of guaranteed annual income. They hoped to accomplish this end by informing the poor of their rights to welfare assistance, encouraging them to apply for benefits and in effect, overloading an already overburdened bureaucracy. In other words they would crash the American economy, force America to borrow more funds from the Jewish Heisters and then pay back exorbitant interest payments that would never end the debt, only increase it, to generate more shekels.

Focus on Democrats: The authors pinned their hopes on creating disruption within the Democratic Party: As Conservative Republicans are always ready to declaim the evils of public welfare and they would probably be the first to raise a hue and cry. Which reveals the Democratic party are inherently weaker than Republican party and so when they are in power will much more readily impose draconian measures. But deeper and politically more telling conflicts would take place within the Democratic coalition. In comes the next solution – racial division. As Whites, both working class ethnic groups and many in the middle class would be aroused against the ghetto poor, while liberal groups, which until recently have been comforted by the notion that the poor are few, would probably support the movement. Group conflict, spelling political crisis for the local party apparatus, would thus become acute, as welfare rolls mounted and the strains on local budgets became more severe.

Reception and criticism: Michael Tomasky, writing about the strategy in the 1990s and again in 2011, called it wrongheaded and self-defeating. He wrote: It apparently didn't occur to Cloward and Piven that the system would just regard rabble-rousing black people as a phenomenon to be ignored or quashed. Clearly Mr. Tomasky did not grasp to true level of evil behind these strategies. It was not self-defeating to those implementing it, it served a clear purpose, the destruction of America. And yet I, a Brit, lament how too few American's could or even can see through it.

Impact of the strategy: In papers published in 1971 and 1977, Cloward and Piven argued that mass unrest in the United States, especially between 1964 and 1969, did lead to a massive expansion of welfare rolls, though not to the guaranteed-income program that they had hoped for. Political scientist Robert Albritton disagreed, writing in 1979 that the data did not support this thesis; he offered an alternative explanation for the rise in welfare caseloads. In his 2006 book Winning the Race, political commentator John McWhorter attributed the rise in the welfare state after the 1960s to the Cloward–Piven strategy, but wrote about it negatively, stating that the strategy created generations of black people for whom working for a living is an abstraction. I agree they have played the blacks since the two state puppets, Malcolm X and Dr. King had them all dancing with hope, another illusion. Notice they never mentioned the vast majority who were paying for these welfares, the whites. According to historian Robert E. Weir in 2007: Although the strategy helped to boost recipient numbers between 1966 and 1975, the revolution its proponents envisioned never transpired.

The Cloward-Piven strategy to collapse America:

Healthcare – if you control healthcare like the money, you control the people. For example Obamacare.

Poverty – Increase the Poverty level as high as possible, poor people are easier to control and will not fight back if you are providing everything for them to live. That was the premise of the welfare or benefits system, control of the people.

Debt – Increase the debt to an unsustainable level. That way you are able to increase taxes, add more inflation and this will produce more poverty.

Gun Control – Remove the ability to defend themselves from the Government. That way you are able to create a police state.

Welfare – Take control of every aspect of their lives, like food, Housing and Income. The food stamps or cards only allow you to buy certain products, most of which are below standards, leading to poor health and then adding to the healthcare crisis.

Education – Take control of what people read and listen to us, take control of what children learn in school. Make everyone stupid, so they don't see what they are up to.

Religion – Remove the belief in the God from the Government and schools. Personally I think that is a good idea, but they are planning to introduce an old but new god – Lucifer to replace it.

Class Warfare – Divide the people into the wealthy and the poor. This will cause more discontent and it will be easier to take taxes from certain types of the wealthy with the support of the poor.

Most of those strategies in case you haven't paid attention and noticed, are already done. It has unfolded in front of our eyes, but the problem is twofold, A: people tolerate no end of shit and B: people are only interested in their own welfare and nobody else. You do all realize this was another coup of America? Something the people in the government departments should have recognized and stopped. But then many of them were leveraged under the Jewish conspiracy and kept their mouths shut and actions non-existent. America and Americans and indeed many peoples around the world have paid a very heavy price for that inaction. Allowing the juggernaut of death, harvesting and sacrificial cult to carry on and do whatever they liked. Thankfully now that is starting to change, but we need discourse as to how the changes can be carried out, enforced in some cases and implement a new system that benefits all of the people.

EXPOSE:

A recent fake Oscar ceremony showered awards on the captain obvious movie called Oppenheimer. Oppenheimer who was Jewish and married a Communist, whilst also having an affair with a Communist, took the credit for the total destruction of building the nuclear weapons, that have plagued this planet and other realms since the 1940's. He also worked alongside another Jewish scientist called Albert Einstein. The issue upon releasing those weapons on Japan was over the radiation fallout, lies where created and stated to President Trumann and he signed off on it. But both Oppenheimer and Einstein knew more about the radiation and ignored it. Newly declassified documents reveal that Gen. Leslie Groves a director of the Manhattan Project, the top-secret operation that built the atomic bomb during World War II, misled Congress and the public about the effects of radiation. He did so initially out of ignorance, then denial, and finally, willful deception. The documents also show that some scientists in the project, including J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Los Alamos lab where the bomb was first tested, kept mum about Groves' lie rather than dispute him or confront the general directly. The cache of documents, the latest in a series of once secret and top-secret material about the A-bomb obtained over the years by the National Security Archive, a private research organization at George Washington University. They were released recently, within days of the 78th anniversary of the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki and in the wake of the release of Oppenheimer, the wildly and deservedly successful film, that has grossed $500 million since its hit theaters within the first three weeks. Grossed in terms of shekels gain, but everyone should be grossed out at the celebration of this movie. Forgetting the damage it caused, the many deaths immediately and many more after the event. Children born deformed due to the radiation poison consumed by mothers for decades after. But no the Jewish led Hollywood makes more shekels out of misery and suffering and their fake stars just lapped it all up at the ceremony, with not a hint of remorse or shame. Imagine the outrage if another movie was made in the same fashion about the Holocaust?

One of the new documents the archive obtained is a memo by four scientists, titled Calculated Biological Effects of Atomic Explosion in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, dated Sept. 1, 1945. The bombs themselves were dropped on Aug. 6 and 9 of that year. Until this memo was written, it had been assumed the A-bomb's victims would be killed by its blast and its heat. But this memo concluded that at least some of the deaths had been caused by radioactive fallout, days or weeks after the explosions. And yet, the day before the memo's date at a press conference in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, Groves said radiation had caused no deaths and that claims to the contrary, some published in Asian newspapers were propaganda. Pro pagan da in use again, but where did that word originate from? It may come as not a too surprising source, but not the one who have used it the most, the CIA and 5 Eyes crew. Propaganda was first used in 1718, and it meant a committee of cardinals in charge of foreign missions of the Catholic Church. Yet again another negative word comes from that church, something we have covered many times in earlier pieces and FHSTOS. It was short for Congregatio de Propaganda Fide, a congregation for propagating the faith. A committee of cardinals established 1622 by Gregory XV to supervise foreign missions. Foreign missions meant to subvert the local populace into Christianity, often by violence and force. The word is properly the ablative fem. gerundive of Latin propagare, to set forward, extend, spread, increase. Hence, any movement or organization to propagate some practice or ideology (1790). The modern political sense, the dissemination of information intended to promote a political point of view dates from World War I, not originally pejorative and implying bias or deliberate misleading. But the meaning from 1929 and more familiar to us was, material or information propagated to advance a cause, etc. In a memo to Oppenheimer, George Kistiakowsky a Ukrainian, the Los Alamos scientist who coordinated the biological report, said that Groves had stuck his neck out by a mile, so he hesitated to pass the study along. Even by then, enough was known about radiation poisoning to have made Groves stop short of dismissing the claims so strongly. The archive's documents show that, back in April, three months before the first test of the bomb in New Mexico, medical experts with the Manhattan Project warned of a toxic cloud, that could spew radioactive dust over a wide radius for hours after the detonation. Some urged Groves to evacuate the area around the test site, which he resisted, not wanting to attract media attention. All of which means he knew there would be an issue and put American soldiers and people in harm's way. Yet again Congress were not properly doing their job and investigating the military and Pentagon's methods too much. Something that many people paid with their lives for. One scientist remembered years later that Groves sniffed at the warning and said, What's the matter with you, are you a Hearst propagandist? Hearst was the leading newspaper chain of the day, often specializing in sensational reports.

On July 21, five days after the test, Stafford Warren, the Manhattan Project's chief medical officer, wrote to Groves that the dust outfall from the various portions of the cloud, was potentially a very serious hazard over a band almost 30 miles wide extending almost 90 miles northeast of the site, adding that there was still a tremendous amount of radioactive dust floating in the air. So, the residents 30-90 miles from Los Alamos were put in danger by their own military? But it gets worse as recent studies based on computer modeling, suggest that radioactivity from the first atomic test spread much farther, affecting 46 states and parts of Mexico and Canada. Yet Groves ignored Warren's findings.

On July 30, in a memo on the likely effects of an atom bomb dropped on Japan, he wrote Gen. George Marshall, the U.S. Army chief of staff: No damaging effects are anticipated on the ground from radioactive materials. This was a deceptively written sentence: at the time, few thought much fallout would linger on the ground, but it was widely known that it could rain down from the sky and scatter across the air, which humans could breathe or soak in. Groves' awareness of this danger is clear in an Aug. 25 excerpt from his diary, in which he wants to know if it's safe to invite the press to come survey the test site, this was more than two months after the first test. One of the scientists told him that it wouldn't be so safe, if the journalists stood as close as 100 feet from where the bomb had gone off. Seriously? Within a 100 feet? Are these people that stupid or sadistic comedians? The shockwave zone alone is a minimum of 3.7 miles, as wind speeds are around 250mph. Reporters did come on Sept. 11 and were given white booties to protect them from possible radiation. Ah the infamous September 11th ritual sacrifice day again. It's possible that, even at this point, Groves simply didn't believe the worst about radiation? No he was told to keep quiet by the higher ups running things out of sight.

On the same day as his diary entry about inviting reporters, he had a phone conversation with a fellow officer at Oak Ridge about Japanese radio broadcasts reporting cases of radiation sickness. Groves said this was all propaganda and that the sickness was more likely caused by good thermal burns. What a non-compassionate statement that was, these people are clearly selected for these positions with little to no humanity. Still, Groves sent a team of inspectors to the two bombed cities to determine the impact of radioactivity. He wrote Gen. Marshall that casualties from radiation were unlikely, but the facts had to be established. Before the bombs were dropped, most scientists assumed that blast and heat would be the dominant effects. Radiation would be a footnote; anyone who received a lethal dose of radiation would be close enough to the explosion to die from the blast or the heat. However, as was later discovered, the A-bomb's secondary effects of radiation, smoke, fire in particular, could under certain circumstances, spread even farther than the effects of blast and heat. Could? Where was the exercising of caution? And given the results coming in from Japan, why would these people put Americans at risk over a month later? As early as the first inspectors' report, the one that Kistiakowsky at first withheld from Groves but eventually passed along to him, there was notation of freak survivors within the blast radius who later died of radiation sickness.

On Nov. 27, months after the memo about the biological effects of the atomic explosions in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Stafford Warren, the project's chief medical officer, wrote to Groves with even more definitive proof. Of the roughly 4,000 patients admitted to hospitals in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, he wrote, 1300 or 33% showed effects of radiation and of this number, approximately one-half died. Nonetheless, three days later, in testimony before the Senate Special Committee on Atomic Energy, Groves was asked if there was any radioactive residue at the two bombed Japanese cities. Groves replied, there is none, that is a very positive none. Groves further claimed that no one in the two cities suffered radiation injury, excepting at the time that the bomb actually went off. He added that it really would take an accident for the average person, within the range of the bomb, to be killed by radioactive effects. Finally, in a comment that sealed his reputation among his critics, Groves said that irradiated victims who died not right away, but after some time, would do so without undue suffering. In fact, he said, they say it is a very pleasant way to die. Really? The total lack of compassion is just astounding. A very pleasant way to die? I am sure those people would have preferred not to die at all, but the psychotic nature of these groups over time has shown, just how much they lack in the humanity scale. The scary thing is, 80 years on and those same departments and their thinking are no different. Still psychotic, still no value of human life and still lying to the American public as to their true purpose. Groves discounted, downplayed, then denied the reports about radiation sickness because, like many at the time, he thought that nuclear weapons would be the centerpiece of U.S. defense policy. As indeed they were for the next few decades and that the American public would rebel against them, if they were seen as something like poison gas and thus beyond a moral threshold. The US Military were lying back then to the American public they are supposed to serve. By this time, Oppenheimer had recently departed from Los Alamos, but he remained on government advisory boards. Yes like cockroaches they scatter when the light is shone upon them. Like many scientists, he had underestimated the effects of radiation, but he was now well aware of the inspectors' studies and of Groves' false comments. Heralded as the father of the atom bomb, he felt blood on his hands, as he famously confessed to President Harry Truman. See how Groves was set up to answer and take the heat, yet Oppenheimer was praised as some sort of god for taking part in the same heinous actions? But he said nothing about Groves' lies, at least not in public.

Some were not so silent. On Dec. 6, 1945, one week after Groves' testimony, Philip Morrison, a Manhattan Project scientist who was on the team that surveyed the bombs' damage in Japan, testified before the same committee, citing the facts about radiation, directly contradicting Groves' blithe assurances. Morrison went on to become a professor of physics at MIT and an activist in the community of scientists, many of them veterans of the Manhattan Project who advocated nuclear arms control and disarmament. Maybe someday someone will make a movie about him? I doubt it, as these psychopaths only celebrate their own immoral kind. Groves was the fall or fall out guy, as there were many Jews running this program of mass destruction that have clearly gone under the radar.  $\frac{3}{4}$  of the lead figures around Oppenheimer were Jewish, that is an undeniable fact, long before the “west, who are Jewish elites” gave them a fake country. The biggest problem with this and many other of these types of exposes is, the complete lack of oversight. The Military, the Agencies and the Jewish all seem to have full control of this country and no one or not enough people question that? The ignorance of the American people to go and watch that movie says a lot as well. It is celebrating death and suffering, where is the thinking behind that? What is worse is, giving money to the same shekel people who created this monstrosity. We have to learn to think different.

FHSTOS SECTION:

The message that Vladimir Putin announced on 29 February was the 29th in the history of modern Russia. Vladimir Putin's speech lasted just over two hours (2 hours and 6 minutes), which was a record. This speech was extremely positive, many of you will notice links to our Blueprint solutions. The key point of the address was that the head of state announced a number of new national projects designed to sharply raise the standard of living in the country. Putin's current address is a message to the future. The future of the Russian state, the future of our economy and this, in turn, is closely linked to the future of every Russian family. The head of state proposed to extend a whole range of important social programs. For the first time, my proposed large-scale transformations in the country's infrastructure: renewal of the aircraft fleet, construction of high-speed highways, etc. As well as a serious increase in social benefits and the minimum wage. The so-called West, with its colonial habits, seeks not only to impede our development but also to undermine it. Instead of empowering Russia, they aim for a state that is dependent, declining and dying. Their intention is to sow discord within our nation and weaken us internally. However, they have underestimated the resolute stance of our diverse population. Representatives from various ethnicities, cultures and regions have demonstrated through practical actions, that the unity of the Russian people is an unstoppable force. Our armed forces have amassed significant combat experience. A plethora of talented young commanders have risen through the ranks, spanning all levels from platoon to top leadership. The combat capabilities of our armed forces have multiplied several times, with our units confidently seizing the initiative. While we did not initiate this conflict in Donbass, we are committed to ending it, eradicating Nazism and accomplishing the objectives of the special operation. The West has instigated conflicts in Ukraine, the Middle East and other regions worldwide. Now, it alleges that Russia is poised to attack Europe, a claim we all know is nonsensical. Remember they made the same claims about Germany attacking Austria and Czechoslovakia in the late 1930's, which has turned out a complete and utter lie. It was the same agitators then as now, the Jews. Then it was the Jewish bankers, Warburg's, Rothschild's etc, now similar plus the overreaching tentacles of the Jewish junta and their puppet Zelensky. They seek out areas where they believe they can defeat us most effectively within our own territory. However, we remember the misfortunes that befell those who attempted to harm us in the past.

Russophobia, like any ideology of hatred and racism, invariably blinds and deprives individuals of reason. The actions of the United States have indeed contributed to the dismantling of the international security system, creating a highly perilous situation. A new security system in Eurasia needs to be established. We are prepared to engage in discussions with all interested parties. However, I must reiterate: without a sovereign and robust Russia, security cannot be ensured. This runs along the line of our military solution, of a collective each country involved equally with each other, all pulling in the same direction. To do that, all the old systems needs to be dismantled, retrained and put on a path of not only Eurasia, but globally, to the betterment of the all. We aim to consolidate the efforts of the global majority in addressing global challenges. By 2028, BRICS countries are projected to account for approximately 37 percent of global GDP, while the G7 will decline to below 28 percent. This is an undeniable objective reality, it will remain so regardless of global events, including those in Ukraine. The only problem with BRICS was, it was set up by the Rothschild's and Rockefeller groups and so new boss same as the old one. The BRICS top order has to be stripped away and new people inserted that are not affiliated with any of the old organizations.

This next section is extraordinary and has a very THI and FHSTOS Part 9 flavoring. The primary goal of the family is to bring forth children, perpetuate the human race, raise offspring and ensure the continuity of our diverse population. We opt for life. Russia has historically been and continues to be a bastion of traditional values. Our decision is supported by the majority of people worldwide, including millions of citizens in Western nations. A large family with numerous children should serve as a cornerstone for the state's overall strategy. Over the next six years, our goal is to attain a consistent increase in the birth rate. This objective will be addressed in nearly every section of the Address. There are over 2 million families in Russia with three or more children and these families are a source of pride for us. From 2018 to 2022, the number of large families increased by 26.8%, which is a positive trend. So, this is the increase of the white race and is being started by Russia, but other European countries are now cottoning onto the problems of having less white people as well. A decree has been signed to establish a unified status for large families nationwide. I propose doubling the tax deduction for the second child. Regarding the maternity capital program, its value is regularly adjusted for inflation. I suggest extending the program until at least 2030. The average life expectancy in Russia has surpassed 73 years. By 2030, we aim to increase life expectancy to a minimum of 78 years, with the ultimate goal of reaching 80 years and beyond. This objective is the focus of the Long and Active Life project. It is crucial that the increase in life expectancy is accompanied by improved health and vitality. Additionally, I propose launching a program focused on maintaining the health of children, teenagers and mothers. This is a program that recognizes the value and importance of the people and should be applauded from the rooftops. Of course the harbingers of doom and death will not like it too much, but their reign is all but over now and new way has begun.

In terms of economic growth, we have surpassed not only the leading EU countries, but also all G7 states. The significant economic safety margin has played a pivotal role in this achievement. This is despite of all the stupid sanctions the West imposed, that actually did more harm to their own alleged countries than Russia. Russia is the most self-sufficient country on the planet, they don't need as many outside imports, which often comes with strict restrictions and war machinery or agendas. This annoys those that wish to control everything and why they attack and denigrate Russia so much. The economy is evolving into a more intricate and technologically advanced structure, thus enhancing its sustainability. At the core of our fundamentals lies science. Even during the most challenging periods, Russia has remained committed to addressing fundamental issues. Our domestic scientific infrastructure serves as a competitive advantage across numerous scientific domains. We must more than double government investment in this area. Additionally, investments from private businesses should substantially increase - at least doubling by 2030.

Russia should aim to rank among the top 25 countries in industrial robot production. Engineering schools should prioritize enhancing efficiency. I suggest expanding this program and establishing a network of 100 such centers. That part of things I don't agree with in regards to robot production, due to the economic instability that will cause and also the people impact in terms of jobs, security and also the greatest aspect, the purpose of life. The purpose of life is to not sit on our asses doing nothing, but to create and the beautification of life, learning new skills etc. The robot world will take that type of growth that is necessary here away. Learning engineering skills again is a must, but not under the conditions that we have had previously. Where enormous advancements can be made, but are stifled by the former control structure to keep them in power and us in the dark. Additionally, we need to explore the utilization of artificial intelligence and pursue the digitization of libraries. To support these initiatives, we will allocate an additional 9 billion rubles.

A fundamental requirement is that domestic businesses operate within Russian jurisdiction and refrain from withdrawing funds abroad, where there's a risk of potential loss. Currently, we are in discussions with entrepreneurs on how to assist them in repatriating their funds from overseas. If investments are not made abroad, there will be no need for repatriation. Resources should be directed towards investment within Russia. The strongest guarantee of asset safety is our robust sovereign nation. This plays into the piece we did in the Blueprint about all countries becoming self-sufficient as much as possible and avoiding the dodgy and criminal trade deals of the elites. Forcing countries into voting for tyranny, war and unsustainable debts.

We need to build up our computing resources. By 2030 the total capacity of domestic supercomputers should be increased tenfold. Which is a good move and we are hoping we will be able to engage with the Russian people much more than we have been able to. This will ease the mistrust of the Russian people perpetrated by the 5 eyes groups, Mossad, elements of the KGB, global elites and the Jewish problem. Where the people of Russia can show the world their talents, ideas, ideologies and not have it tainted by the aforementioned groups. It will also expand the understanding of the different cultures and lead to growth between the people now engaging each other more freely. Efficiency gains in all areas of labor productivity are connected with digitalization, with the use of AI. We need to create a platform that will help citizens to maintain their health throughout their life and use the health care system. Such practices are already being implemented in the work of leading medical centers. They need to be made widespread and accessible. And by 2030, these technologies should be introduced in all key areas. For this purpose, a new national project has been created "Data Economy", with at least 700 billion rubles. One hopes that data economy opens up the vast knowledge many of the Russian people and some of their scholars have to the world.

This next piece is a key point and marker in understanding what is truly playing out. Putin said, I would like to highlight a particular point. I regularly meet with Special Military Operation participants, all of whom have risen to defend their homeland. Observing these courageous individuals, some of whom are very young, fills my heart with pride. I am confident that they will neither retreat nor betray. Is that a jab at some on high positions who haven't been working for the benefit of Russia? Who were working for the Zionist's and Black Sun elements. Therefore, they should assume leadership roles in mentoring younger generations within large companies. They do not boast about their qualities, but it is precisely during such times that they emerge as leaders. These individuals can be entrusted with the future and the well-being of Russia. This is speaking about the youth teaching the older generation and how everyone has to come together.

In light of this, I consider an important decision: starting from March 1, 2024, veterans of the SMO and its current members, will have the opportunity to apply for participation in the new personnel program called Time of Heroes. I believe the following decision is significant: beginning tomorrow, servicemen with higher education and managerial experience, regardless of their rank, will be eligible to participate. Government officials, regional leaders and others will serve as mentors. We plan to expand this program in the future. Veterans of the SMO will have priority access to education at our top universities. Those who aspire to a military career will receive priority for promotion when enrolling in officer training courses. This next line was a warning and also echoes what we have said as well. You are aware that the term "elite" has largely lost its credibility. Those who, without contributing to society, perceive themselves as a privileged caste, are certainly not the elite. The true elite consists of all those who serve Russia - workers and warriors, individuals who have demonstrated their loyalty to Russia through their actions. These are honorable people. Yes it is all about the people now, not elites and titled people, they are finished. But we have to replace them with better people, better ways and better ideas.

MYSTERY SECTION:

There was a meme posted on the chat this week that caused me to ponder again. The word Prozac, one of the most popular pharma drugs used by Americans and many others, as an anti-depressant. That is bizarrely also prescribed to children as young as 8. Unsurprisingly it has many side effects including suicide, further unsurprisingly it is on the WHO list, as an essential drug. That is all bad enough, but let's look at it in a THI word magic way and see what it brings up. If you read it as pro-zac then perhaps it is all hidden in plain sight again? Zac is a masculine name of Hebrew origin. It is a derivative of Zechariah, which means Yahweh has remembered. Pro = for, Zac = Yahweh = support for Yahweh, all very telling is it not. Here is another funny word that used in politics, hawk or hawkish. So with something in mind I looked up the origin of it and it said this, Ra the hawk-headed sovereign sun god of Egyptian mythology, from Egyptian R' sun, day. I suspect it was a later version and Thoth from the Pleiadean Avian group, as Ra was more from the Serpent group. But how much of politics is dictated by these gods from the past, still influencing the now? With hawk or hawkish, plus the ridiculous left and right wing nonsense. One has to ask are they or their influence running the politics or policies of world governments? The real World Government are a bunch of reptilians in Canary Wharf, London. The answer is yes they are and why we have to change it into HU-man politics and policies. Although we will also have to change the word politics as it means two parasites. Two parasites, two sides of the same coin, the double headed Janus, left and right wing, it is all there hidden in plain sight again. The question is which plane? Instead of policies perhaps it should be peoplecies? As maybe the people will finally see and so we create peoplecies for a better world.

This was written by one of the members that I am sure will appeal to and resonate with you all. We agree with what is being said and we are working to be this more and more every day. We have always been acutely aware that we are way showers and we are peacemakers. We are lovers of Midgard and all of her children, (becoming adults) expanding out to infinite levels and places. We have withdrawn consent and cut the negative cords to those who abuse us and take for granted the beautiful gifts that abound us all. We work to expand our options and to touch as many as we are able, with the loving heart energy. We build within for without. We have created miracles in our existence and seek to expand these out from our heart centers to the whole of humanity and beyond. We seek to continue to heal ourselves, we are not perfect, for we do not aspire to be. Just to be the best we are able, in any given circumstance. Better every day in every way, even if just a bit. We work to balance ourselves and each other with kindness and love, in accordance with the Divine Masculine and Feminine. To become Man and Woman not mere male and female. Some days we struggle, only to succeed with work and inner guidance. Our beacons are shining for those with eyes to see. Thanks again for being a powerful voice of reason, that has confirmed for us, in so many ways, to believe in ourselves, our power and in the goodness of others.

How to make life simpler for yourselves is often asked by people, yet rarely implemented or acted upon. Why wouldn't you like your life to go simpler? Is a question all should ask themselves. If you are not willing to make your own life simpler, then are you not residing in the lunatic asylum? What is there not to like about a simpler life? Less drama, less chaos, less lunacy and more time to think, act and live life in a better way. Read the lunatic asylum piece again, find out the sections that applies to you and work on correcting it. Not correcting it means you are looping, repeating the same scenarios over and over again. Why would you do that to yourselves? A lot of you are dancing between the heart based world and the mind based world, the latter of which will often lead you astray. The key to it is how you think, what are you thinking about? What is your focus? Where is your attention going to? Too often the case is, other people. Their problems, their anxiety, sadness, scatteredness and drama. Drama has become one of the world's largest uses of energy, it has almost created its own sub-culture. You wonder why soap drama shows are so popular? Because the focus is on what other people are doing, not what you are doing. In overview these wasted energies is an escapism method to avoid dealing with your own problems, with devastating effects. Yet too few think of life and themselves in those terms, but can it not be seen as a lazy way to avoid dealing with your own problems? Something humanity across the board is adept at? A deflection of duty to the self, will never lead you anywhere except riding the conveyor belt like a deflated balloon. When you develop yourself and address the inner issues, not try to fix everyone else's, including your own external issues, life becomes much simpler. What others do or don't is not your concern, what you do or don't is what matters. Only you can fix you, raise you, save you and soul develop you. But to do that you have to find you, have you found you yet? Most haven't, now ponder on that lunacy pattern. Raising your frequency, life becomes much simpler, developing into heart center not mindset, life becomes much simpler. When you think, critical think, future think and overview everything, life is simple. Doing the above puts you in the domain of the wise or the wisdom realm, where life gets even more simpler. Why is there only a few that figured it out? Because people don't think or think upon the wrong things. The key to true understanding is, to know, learn and grasp what is the most complex thing on this planet. Man itself, everything else is simple. Here is a pondering question for people who are selfish, that reside in the column of service to self, where most people reside if truth be told. If you are all about yourself and selfish, why have you avoided the self with shadow and inner work? One of life's great mysteries that. It is all about me for them people taking and not giving, yet they find time to neglect the key component of service to the self? Funny that!

Well I was pondering again recently following an exchange with a member and a question of how to help the children now. It was in relation to what is known as the star children or indigos in particular, how can we help them? Star children is a curious title and brings in labels of being different or special. But two things come from that, A: we are all special and B: we are all from the stars and C: we are made up of stardust. Some things to ponder on. But back to the issue of the star children or indigos. It is my understanding that starting in the late 1950's early 1960's a different batch of souls were coming here for a mission and a purpose. It built up each successive decade until the arrival of the children from 2000 onwards, who would have greater skills, more DNA strands, more understanding, higher frequencies etc to change this planet into something far better. The clowns knew this and created ADHD around the late 1980's early 1990 and a series of drugs to counteract it, like Ritalin. Ritalin disturbs the brain thinking neurons and hampers the child's development, to prevent them doing what they came here for. The problem for these children is, they cannot handle the low level frequency here too well when they first arrive. Adjusting to it generally takes until they reach puberty and then they can handle it better. The background noise in their ears, that resonates through their bodies is what annoys them. So to counteract that, they are noisy, busy, running everywhere anything to drown out the noise. Often parents cannot handle them, they don't have the patience to deal with this child going mad everywhere. I have helped a few of these parents in my time as a show host and the fix is all very simple. People often ask how we can help them and the thinking is we have to do something external for them. Whether that is highlighting the issues of the children, exposing the medical and psychology industries, campaigning, writing letters, doing blogs and petitions. But remember life is simple and so are the solutions for it. Do you know how to help all the children on this planet, particular those wrongly bracketed with ADHD? Raise your own frequency into the higher level, because then you are helping every child on the planet, if everyone adapts to doing that. Once you raise your frequency level, it affects everyone around you, not just the children. But these different children will feel the benefits instantly. How did I help those children? I just spoke to them and stood close to them. They reacted instantly to my frequency and were miraculously calmer. Now you all have a responsibility now you know this simple solution, is it not time you truly did something in service to the self in benefit for others, in particular the children? Many people raising their frequencies, will aid the children to get rid of their mis-labeled malady and become free to fulfill their missions here.

ENDING PIECE:

The Common Sense zoom taking place on March 30th will be a one off open zoom that all can attend. Details will be on THI-Show.com and I am asking for you all to bring all your questions, concerns, worries and put them on the table so to speak, so we can then clear the decks for the next stage. The next stage will be very important to and for us all. It starts at noon MT, remember the clocks went forward here and so for the UK its 6pm, EU 7pm. This coming Tuesday at 7.30pm EST, remember your clocks in Europe go forward an hour and so back to normal times. The long awaited Empowerment show will finally be delivered. A further two parts to that show will follow it in due course and a special Empowerment section will be created on the front page of THI-show.com. We are also considering pulling the what is series from the blueprint shows, plus the sigmas and adding them into that section as well.

One of the things that may have come across in the sigma pieces recently is the disappointment about certain aspects. Yes, I am disappointed, but not for me, but for you. Why? Because I know what becomes of you on the other side of the illusion version of yourselves. There were talks about people being selfish and not enough service to others and that has been evidenced. But again I see it as people not giving themselves a chance in life and indeed of life. The key to it all is and why THI really exists is, for you all to become better people. That then changes the world one person at a time. But that will take ages Thomas you may cry, well it was not just this lifetime correcting it, but thousands of lifetimes to get it right. The difference this lifetime is, you had a mentor of sorts to guide you through it, give you the tools to address, introduce things in bite sized chunks and allowed you the space to process it. Has it been difficult for you all? absolutely and you should all give yourselves a pat on the back for trying to embrace it. But going back to people being selfish, which is their choice to make, but there is one aspect that people who are selfish and all about themselves only, that is sadly lacking. If only selfish people served themselves on shadow and inner work, imagine how much further you and we would be? Many of you have had major wobbles recently and asked me to help you, which I have, but I can no longer be expected to fix all of your lives to the depth I have had to. My time has to be more focused upon the work now and I need you all to step up considerably as an exciting phase is about to unfold. We have been contacted by a radio show host after he picked up one of our flyers that was recently introduced. Further engagements with them will be forthcoming and more details will be released. But there is more.

I was contacted recently by what will remain an unknown source with certain links to important people. We exchanged views and it looks like we have lift off for the Blueprint and also potentially a stream of zooms and interviews. This is the moment I and we have been waiting for and it is our time now to show the world what we are capable of.

For my part I have been prepping for this since last July and I am more than ready to go out into the world and showcase the BP and THI. This is the first part of the pay it forward all of our hard work has generated. I discussed having dual calls with some of our members and some of their representatives to get to know each other better and chart a path forward. If you think this is unexpected, think again, I warned you all in Part 3 of the review of 2023. Remember I said – 2023 is the last of the normal years, well now you are seeing it globally. Today marks special days in our calendar, not theirs.

First off one of our members reached an important milestone he was hoping to keep quiet, happy birthday to Todd Heaps the big 60. But there is two more big markers today. It was one year ago today we launched the current Blueprint show 1. Today also mark the 4th anniversary of the Day of the Svarog. Two momentous celebrations and I hope this announcement on this day also creates the triality aspect. Enjoy the celebrations for today, but let's start the 5th year of the Day of the Svarog with a greater push from us all to get this truth and restoration train running smoothly.

Let's go out and show the world a new way, let's go out and show the world we can think and act different, lets goes out and show the world we have all stepped out of the lunacy stage. We are ready to boldly go where man on this planet for a very long time has not shown up too well, and go on to become the I'm possible dream.
