

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2024-04-11

What about us it says, indeed. Well this show is all about us, the work of us, the solutions of us, the development of us and the collaboration of us. We started off as a collection of islands all cut off from the main land, the promised land as such. But the islands began to emerge and co-join and assembled together awaiting for the land mass to rise up out of the mist, fog and the sea of illusion, to eventually co-join us.

The Blueprint Episode 19 Teams Report weekending 7th April 2024.

The Agenda: This week's meeting was well attended, and it was a joy to see new people come in with their own suggestions and thoughts, on what they feel is needed or could contribute towards spreading the blueprint word, or even developing a project that may be a great addition that we need moving forward. Some of the items discussed where as follows.

Activist plan for research and volunteer groups: This covered our ongoing efforts to target recent people that received the blueprint pdf, there is more on this in our reports.

Writing legislation based on the Blueprint ideas: The purpose behind this is to be ready with replacements of their law and bring back into being RITA law, the golden rule of law and the true rule of law. Work is underway to have an additional website that will contain this information. We already have references to this within the blueprint document, which addresses why we need this and who it will benefit, us the people. The old powers that have complicated law so much it became impossible for the common man and woman to understand it. All done on purpose to control and corrupt systems. Replacing new systems will need laws and protections set in place, but they must serve the people not the elites. The Vedas and Santies tell us how to live our lives in simple and harmonious ways. The laws of the land should be and are quite simple, this is what we all need to learn and live by. Having a website will help people to understand just how far removed we have come from what really matters. We also realize that we govern ourselves when we master ourselves, therefore there is merely only a need for a reminder of a code of conduct and morals, that encourage this way of life and living together on this planet.

Alternative book printing company: Currently we are using Lulu as a platform to print and distribute the books. While it is working very well, we are always looking at ways to cut costs to the customers and make it affordable and easy to access. This is why there is also an alternative of a very cheap and affordable pdf available to download. Shipping costs can bump up the overall price of the book, so we try to make sure we are providing an affordable service and also one that can deal with translations, as we now have many of the FHSTOS and Blueprint books translated into many languages. This is a wonderful achievement with time given by many members in many countries. If anyone has any information on such a platform that may service our needs better, they can contact us. We are always happy to explore new and better alternatives.

Blueprint calling card:

A member has created a calling card for promotion of TNBFH, THI and TPC. It is a double-sided card in a standard business card size, with the different websites listed on the back. This is an easy way to spread the word around - hand them out or simply leave them where they can easily be found. The pdf's are provided in various size formats and can be downloaded from the BE forum. The pdf can be send to your local printer or uploaded to a card printing website.

Blueprint business card:

It also shows that we have a need for merchandising of the blueprint and while we have had several suggestions in the last few months, other things had to take priority. We also have the blueprint leaflet available to download for anyone wanting to pass this on and we have some phone wallpapers, which is also a great way to promote the blueprint as it can be seen whenever you leave your phone down in company and it may spark a conversation. A group will now be set up to accommodate these ideas and any new ones that members have. So if you have any ideas and suggestions on this topic, we would love to hear from you, contact any member on the new be platform or in the main THI chat group. This is just a small overview of some of the lively topics we cover at these meetings. As things are speeding up now, we are realizing how much expansion we may need within our existing groups and also the need for new groups to emerge. So do not be shy, drop in to our meetings to share your thoughts or just to listen in, you will always be welcomed.

Book Team:

The New Blueprint For Humanity print version on Lulu.com is now reduced in price, making it more affordable at $22.50 in all currencies served by Lulu. This will particularly benefit countries that have been suffering significant inflation engineered by the old system. The Swedish translation of the Blueprint has been delayed by unforeseen and unfortunate events. From His Story to Our Story Volume 4 is undergoing another edit, given the need to clarify some portions of the material. The cover text, keywords and the short description required by sales channels have been prepared, as has the index. Like everyone else, the team is gearing up for spring.

Research Team:

Forums on the Be.thenewblueprintforhumanity.org has been a great place to exchange ideas and report progress. The number of Influencers contacted so far in 2024 are 18 mailed books, 143 PDF emails and 1200 mass Emails, totaling 1361 contacts. The individual initiatives and the Web Team really keep those PDF Emails flowing. The 40 PDFs emailed from the Blueprint site in the past two weeks include:

Sarah Long: Doctor of Pediatrics at Drexel University College of Medicine and Emeritus Chief of the Section of Infectious Diseases at St. Christopher's Hospital for Children in Philadelphia. She also participates in the Consortium on Law and Values in Health, Environment and the Life Sciences at the University of Minnesota.

Veronica McNall: Founded the Fanny Strong Foundation and I Vaccinate that promotes vaccinations during early childhood. The purpose of these organizations is to promote pertussis (whooping cough) awareness and boost childhood immunization rates for all vaccine-preventable diseases, with the belief that regional health is threatened by low vaccine rates.

Alyssa Farrah Griffin: Is an American political strategist and television personality. She was the Director of Strategic Communication and Assistant to the President during the presidency of Donald Trump. Prior to that, she was the Press Secretary for VP Mike Pence. She was the youngest press secretary for the Pentagon. Currently she co-hosts The View on ABC television, which provides a female perspective on the day's headlines and other contemporary topics, including food, fashion and health.

Vitalik Buterin: Is a Russian Canadian, who cofounded the cryptocurrency Ethereum. Along with Glen Weyl, he coauthored Liberation Through Radical Decentralization, which is a manifesto around Buterin's work on cryptocurrencies and Weyl's work on market-based solutions to social problems.

Simon Ateba: Is a Cameroon journalist. He is the owner and sole employee of the website Today News Africa, for which he was a White House correspondent. Before coming to the United States in 2017, Ateba was a journalist in Nigeria, working for P.M. News and The NEWS magazine. He investigated the link between religion and money in Nigeria and was detained briefly in Cameroon where he was accused of spying for Boko Haram.

Josie Glabach: Is The Redheaded Libertarian on X (formerly Twitter) and is a Times News Contributor. She talks about culture war and current events with her passion for Revolutionary History, often hosting Twitter Spaces dedicated to teaching that era based on period letters, documents, pamphlets, minutes and newspapers.

Max Otte: Is a dual German and American citizen. Professionally, he is an economist, publicist and political activist. He is currently a fund manager and he has authored several bestsellers, mainly on financial policy topics. He described the prevailing economic order as loot capitalism for the benefit of the super-rich and called for financial income to be taxed like labor income. He described the prevailing opinion of many economists as a religion of hyper capitalism that is oriented only toward self-interest.

Boris Reitschuster: Is a German journalist and author. He is considered an expert on Eastern Europe and known for his books on contemporary Russia. His on-line platform, reitschuster.de, has the motto critical journalism, without attitude, without instruction, without ideology. He provided Covid belittlers with a podium for a critical look at the federal government policies. His page is among the most shared profiles by the German group Alternative for Germany aka A f D, alongside that of the German offshoot of the Russian state broadcaster.

Candace Lighter: Founded one of the largest activist organization, Mothers against Drunk Driving (MADD), after her daughter died in a drunk driving accident. Lightner's ability to empower people to move beyond their grief and make a difference in their community and state earned her national acclaim as a victims' right advocate.

This month a creative Canadian member sent the Blueprint PDFs to 30 Farm Magazines (31 Editors). These contacts include:

Holly Jackson: Is Editor of Beef in BC Magazine. Since 1986, the British Columbia magazine has been providing the ranching community with updates on industry issues as well as arts and culture profiles.

Paul Nolan: Is a Publisher and Editorial Director for Better Farming Magazine. Better Farming is a new magazine produced by experienced writers and editors and dedicated to the interests of the farmers of Ontario. Their goal is to be forward-looking and responsive to the province's ultimate entrepreneurs: the farmers whom they serve.

Graham Dyer: Is the President and CEO of Farms.com Ltd. Their vision is to be the essential partner to global agriculture and food industry customers; by exceeding their expectations through value-added and integrated information-driven services and solutions enabled by technology. Farms.com Ltd. is a leading provider of innovative information products and services for the global agriculture and food industries. The Farms.com family includes AgCareers.com, the leading human resources website for the agriculture and food industry; and PigCHAMP Inc., the leading swine industry software and knowledge management company, as well as a Farms.com Risk Management. Which is a crop and livestock marketing advisory service to producers across North America which assists them to effectively address their price risk management. It also includes Farms.com Professional Services, a full-service interactive technology firm specializing in the agriculture, food and natural resource sectors.

Derek Clouthier: Is West Editor in the region of Alberta for Top Crop Manager Magazine. His counterpart in the region of Ontario is:

Alex Barnard: Known as the East Editor. Top Crop Manager is a magazine of crop production and technology, as well as a specialty agricultural trade publication. In the most general terms, their annual issues address agronomic and industry-related topics with an eye on what is to come in the next one to three years. Specifically, they offer insights and in-depth information on plant breeding, research and development, fertility and nutrients, the seed and chemical industries, farm equipment, trends and technologies, markets and business management issues.

Steve Maxwell: Is Editor of Home and Farm for Harrowsmith Magazine. Harrowsmith magazine is a trusted source of information and inspiration for those who love to make, grow, sustain and share. It focuses on sustainability, nature, gardening, home cooking, astronomy, slow travel, do-it-yourself projects and home repairs. Harrowsmith brings together a community of like-minded individuals who share a passion for living closer to the land.

Pat Ottman and Tim Ottmann: Are Publishers of Farming for Tomorrow. Farming for Tomorrow speaks to topics of current importance to farmers and ranchers in Western Canada as they arise. With content focused on encouraging the entrepreneurial spirit of those that care for the land, their readers develop and learn ways of creating a more productive and sustainable future. Farming for Tomorrow believes in preserving the inherent features of the agricultural community including a return to farming tradition.

Tommy Wilson: Is Content Manager for GrainsWest Magazine. GrainsWest connects farmers, food and ideas.

Amy Kouniakis: Is Editor of Greenhouse Canada Magazine. Greenhouse Canada is the only national business magazine published exclusively for commercial greenhouse growers in Canada. Their goal is to help the commercial greenhouse sector grow in profitability and realize market opportunities, through the magazine as well as their expanding publishing, bookstore and web-based services.

Michael Raines: Editor of The Western Producer. The Western Producer is the leading agricultural publication targeted for Western Canadian farmers and ranchers and has been a staple in the agricultural industry since 1923. Each week they cover the latest developments in agricultural news, production, technology, markets, finance, livestock and rural lifestyles. The Producer provides specialized coverage of the seed industry, canola and pulse industry and farm equipment.

Gord Gilmour: Senior Editor of Alberta Farmer Express. Serving Canada's second-largest agricultural province. It is widely recognized as the place where Alberta farmers and ranchers find out what is happening in agriculture, whether it is on local farms or on farms around the world.

Kristy Nudds: Is the Editor of Farmtario magazine. It is a new source of farming information for Ontario backed by leading and experienced farm journalists and content creators. They provide the most useful independent insight for Ontario farmers, including news, crop and livestock production, markets, and a deep understanding of how technology and data are being adopted on farms.

Editor of Ontario Farmer Online Magazine: Their publication provides farming and agriculture news and videos, and includes articles about worldwide events that highlight agriculture, from the EU farm demonstrations to London Ontario's Children's Museum soon opening in a new location and featuring a Farm Works exhibit.

Tom Button: Is the Editor of Country Guide. Each of their issues are divided into four sections of information. In the Profiles section they state: No two farms are the same, partly because no two people are the same. Whether it is the CEO of an international chemical or machinery company or the young farm couple starting a specialty operation, you will learn what they're thinking here. The Products section is a quick look at what is new in equipment, grouped by category in order to allow a little comparison shopping before heading to the dealer. The People section discusses how some farms are adapting in traditional commodity agriculture and how others are taking steps into new crops and services. In the Guide section, they cover the unique challenges and benefits of living, working and raising a family in a rural community.

Dave Bedard: Is the Daily News Editor of AG Canada. They tout their publication as powered by Canada's premier agricultural network. AgCanada has everything you need in one place from breaking news, market updates, weather reports and more, all personalized to match your interests.

Kari Belanger: Is the Editor of Grainews. Grainews is about putting theory into practice on the farm, whether it is choosing the right herbicide, finding the latest in farm machinery or navigating the accounting intricacies of the latest farm program. Grainews is written for farmers and often by farmers, in a style they understand. Each issue also features Cattleman's Corner, with practical tips targeted for cow-calf producers and farmers with mixed cattle and grain operations.

Lisa Guenther: Is Editor of the Canadian Cattlemen. These days, some of the most interesting and revolutionary thinking in agriculture is found in the cattle business.

Yvon Therien: Is the Agronomics Editor for Le Bulletin des Agriculteurs, that monitors trends, innovations and the latest advancements in the field of crops, farms and the best specialists. Their mission is the transfer of knowledge and innovation to grow the agricultural enterprises of Quebec.

Randy Eros: Is Editor and Publisher of Sheep Canada Magazine. Sheep Canada is a quarterly magazine, for and about shepherds and sheep production in Canada. Each edition is packed with articles and information aimed at helping producers increase their productivity, reduce their cost of production and help keep them informed of new and emerging trends. Sheep Canada features articles on health, genetics, behavior and nutrition, as well as producer profiles, sheep research from around the world and advice for beginners.

Editor of Canadian Farm News: It focuses heavily on articles related to legislation and programs that affect the agricultural community. It includes blogs submitted through a website and links to a site that offers mortgages for a wide variety of agricultural purposes.

Cathy Glover: Is the Publisher of Country Life in BC. It has been the agricultural news source for BC's farmers and ranchers for over 100 years. From berries to beef, dairy to dirt, fruit to feathers and everything in between if it is farmed in BC, it is on their radar.

Roger Sipe: Is Group Editor of Hobby Farms. At Hobby Farms, they know that growing healthy food and maintaining a sustainable farm hold top priority in your life. Whether you are getting your hands dirty in a city plot or on your land's back 40, their do-it-yourself guides and tips from other small-scale farmers will provide the inspiration and support you need to start your next farm project from scratch.

Eric Nonacs: Is Executive Director of Modern Farmer, which is a nonprofit initiative, made possible by the Food Industry Intelligence Network established in 2015. It is dedicated to raising awareness and catalyzing action at the intersection of food, agriculture and society. Through storytelling, community building and partnerships, they educate, inform and drive positive change in the interest of a more resilient and equitable food system in North America.

Patrick Meagher: Is the Publisher and Managing Editor of both Farmers Forum and Eastern Ontario Farmers Forum. They are independent farm newspapers started in 1992 in Kemptville, Ontario, as a retirement project for Kemptville College communications instructor Terry Meagher. The newspaper continued to grow and moved again to its current location in Ottawa's east end and now has a circulation of more than 14,000 in 18 counties. Farmers Forum unearths the issues that affect farm life and presents the news in a meaningful way to local farmers.

Lynne R. Miller: Is the Editor/Publisher/Founder of Small Farmers Journal. Supported 100% by its readership, this folksy and feisty publication is a true clarion of free speech in the best old sense of the phrase. It is vibrant and said to be an exciting platform for engaging far-flung ideas about anything pertinent to the small family farm experience. Livestock, Crops, Barns, Farming Systems, Equipment, Recipes, Kids pages, Marketing, Poetry, Stories and Political Updates.

Marissa Ames: Is the Editorial Director of the famous Mother Earth News. The most popular and longest-running sustainable-lifestyle magazine. Mother Earth News provides wide-ranging, expert editorial coverage of organic foods, country living, green transportation, renewable energy, natural health and green building.

Karmin Garrison: Is Senior Editor of Grit Magazine published by Ogden Publishing in Topeka, Kansas, but distributed in both Canada and the U.S. Its subtitle is Rural American Know-How. The magazine offers articles on crafts, crops, husbandry of all manner of domestic animals, building farm structures and recipes, as well as humorous and nostalgic stories.

Ann Tom: Is the Editor of Countryside, she lives in northwestern Wisconsin. The magazine team is small, but mighty. They nurture and grow Countryside from their small-town offices and even right from their own homesteads.

Paul Berg: Editor of Small Farm Today. With circulation concentrated mainly in the Midwestern states, Small Farm Today provides small farmers and rural Americans with information they can use in their lives and on their farms.

That concludes the names reading section. To finish the team report, our last meeting updates are that Research Volunteers are now focusing on Think-Tank contacts for Thomas' mailings and PDF emails. Team members are also making online Web Form contacts of Influencers. This research is labor-intensive and our volunteers are a real treasure to the team. We have a database of influencers to last into this summer, so we have a brief pause on Influencer suggestions while many volunteers are away.

We have a new member of the team who is lightening the load of many people: He has already been following-up on Influencer questions and phone contacts with Thomas. This increases the chances of an Influencer inviting them to an Interview. He is getting direct contact with those emailing questions to THI and the Blueprint Website as well. He can delegate specialty questions to other members. He is training to send emails from the Blueprint Website and backup the Team Leader as well. All THI members were invited to a Zoom on March 30th to discuss whatever was on their minds and clear the decks for moving ahead.

We got our first feedback on the new Blueprint Brochure which members are informally distributing. This reply came from putting the brochure on some windshields at the beach. They can be left on a seat in buses or waiting rooms for people looking for a distraction during their wait. The Blueprint Brochure can be printed at the Download PDF section of the Blueprint website. In closing, the Research Team asks all members, Can you print a few to distribute yourself?

Media team:

The media team have been quite busy implementing the new regime with new styles on the three main categories, the Blueprint, THI and the questioning memes that incorporate both THI and the Blueprint shows. These seem to be having an effect in terms of increase in views, likes and comments to each platform. As this is just the first few weeks it is not always easy to tell what the overall affect will be. Nonetheless we will prevail. Instagram got a great monthly report however, with its followers increasing by 10.5 percent on the blueprintforhumanity111 account. We have increased the accounts we are following also by 40 percent, which now brings us in line with all those who have received the pdf from the Instagram influencer list. The Thishow111 account also saw a steady increase of followers last month this is up by 8.5 percent. All accounts have improved overall in the last month, which is great news and we will continue to build on this going forward.

Here is a small overview of some of the influencers that we targeted with comments over the last few weeks on the twitter platform.

Robert F. Kennedy Jr.

Candace Owens

Elon Musk

Viktor Orban

Kevin Annett

Marjorie Taylor Greene

RebelNews

Western Standard News

Polly St. George, she was recently replied to a post re Jews with FHSTOS meme.

Maxime Bernier

Tucker Carlson

These were targeted through personal accounts and while there were no replies back from these influencers to date, the account holder increased their own following. We see this as a win, as the more notice we get whether it comes to the main accounts or to our members accounts, we are still spreading and planting the seeds.

Here is a short synopsis of how we are commenting on influencers posts. You have received The New Blueprint For Humanity with solutions from politics to food. Will you help implement it for the benefit of us all? Have you read your copy of The New Blueprint For Humanity? If not, why not? We have a Solution for this, have you? Check it out @thenewblueprintforhumanity.org. Feel free to make up your own, if it contains the word blueprint in the comment, as we are then affecting the algorithms in our favor. You can also target these above people yourself, as the more people that leave a comment on that particular influencer, the more likely it is that their followers will take notice. You can also reply by leaving one of our memes as a comment. This is also a very quick way to hop to several influencers without having to type replies. We are also still banned from posting the shows on You tube, this was originally meant to be a week only ban. It seems you tube do John Hopkins math also as we are now a month into the one-week ban. As soon as this is lifted, we will catch up on the shows. We will prevail with this and keep going. If you want to become part of the growing team of twitter, Instagram or tik tok commentors please get in touch, we can share those that are on the target list for the coming week. A big thank you to all of you that have stepped up your game to get the word out, it is a great help to us as we are just a few people.

European Blueprint team:

We went through a quarter of the Solutions together:

The Countries Solution

The Global Shortages Solution

The I.T. Solution

The Bloodline Families Solution

The Rogue Elements Solution

The Tax Solution

The Insurance to Assurance Solution

The Production, Income and Fair Wage Solution and finalized the editing for those.

In Overview:

As we endeavor to come together more now within the main blueprint groups and we are beginning to attract new people to this forum. We are becoming more conscious of becoming more unified in our efforts, as many of the same topics now seem to flow within several of the groups. The teams are realizing the need to communicate across the board with several ideas that are naturally emerging within the groups, as they all contain an element of what another team has separately trying to achieve. This cohesion is in effect the creation and unfolding of a unified field of consciousness. Our thoughts and ideas as we work on the blueprint have a common theme, and therefore will blend and emerge say into the media teams work, the research team or the book teams work. Crossovers will occur naturally, an organic movement of thought that is gathering speed and force. The flower of life symbolizes this occurrence, as each petal is joined to the next all stemming from a central point and growing exponentially creating the full flower. The four forces that make up a unified field are called the strong force, the weak force, the gravitational force and the electromagnetic force. These are known in the physics field as the fundamental forces. These are the standard model of particle physics. Yes, even the weak force is mighty in its entirety. It brings balance within the structure and provides a much-needed levelling space, none greater than the other, all united. In reality it is the field of consciousness, where once a framework is set in place i.e. the blueprint for humanity document, that thought then generates its own field of force. Once it is combined by the power of many, it creates its own life force that gathers momentum and soon it is not only seen in our physical reality, it is also felt in the subconscious of the all. Then apply as above, so below, as within so without. The mainframe of THI contains this thought form of as within, so without, as above, so below. But how many of us may never have really sat down and thought about it, then taken into account the affect we have on the as above, so below theory. Just exactly who do you give your power to? Or the other way around who is generating your force field? Are we in essence creating the symphony of us? Each one of us a note on the scale of that symphony, a harmonic resonance that produces its own sound waves that are then creating its own dance. A beautiful spiral of movement that connects the hearts of many, as they tune in. They too then activate and generate their own sound wave and in unison we create a pulse wave that began within and then resonates without, affecting the as above and so below. Then picture those sounds of the symphony in color, tiny explosions of color like a firework going off. See it emerging from every child, mother, father and person you know. Imagine people coming together in this colorful union, working for the all, returning to who and what they are, see the happiness and joy that emanates from each one, a joyous union a celebration of each other and the planet. If you have ever experienced a firework display you may remember the joy and surprise you felt. You may also remember how your heart soared with the breathtaking beauty of the sound and sights it brought you; it may have affected your heart and left a lingering memory. Now take that feeling of awe and magnify it by the population of the world. You are the spark now in that display, you are that pulse wave that is needed right now, you are a tour de force in the grand scheme of things. A beautiful unification of what is possible. The grand and magical explosive event that is changing the world, the symphony of us. And in my imagination, I wonder maybe just maybe we are affecting the music of the spheres, by changing this planet one thought at a time, one heart at a time and returning the true heartbeat of our planet Midgard. Will that become a more beautiful symphony created by us that enhances the music of the spheres? Unity is and always was the answer.

Here is the next section of our What is series, a fairly powerful look at life with reality glasses on, not illusion based false reality. This is called What is awakening? The awakening begins when you are birthed here, as many came in with the extra knowledge, yet for whatever reason did not go on to developing it. So we will start with childhood. Childhood is the period in life when others chart your life for you, parents are there to protect, develop and save you, but that is rarely fulfilled on the higher development path. Teachers corral you into learning stuff not much of which has any real value. Adults are charting your path because you are just a child, wrong thinking. Adulthood is the period in life when you chart your own course, you protect, save, pay for and determine your own path with your rules and conditions, not by parents or teachers. Which is it to be? what is your path? In age terms you are an adult, but are you living an adult based life structure? It matters not which age you are, if you are allowing others to chart your life and path, you will always stay in the childhood section of life. If you are unwilling to learn anything beyond what you were taught in school or college, you will remain in a child's level of development. Being frightened of making your own choices, having little to no trust of others, but more importantly yourself, frightened of change and riddled in fear, begging for the system to look after and save you. These people are not adults, they are children who have never had the courage to develop, mired in savior programs and stuck in a cycle of fear and insecurity. Which one are you? The key is to put that practice to work and gain mastery, it always disturbs me that they called the doctors work center a practice, a practice is for the non-learned is it not, all in the words. We are all still learning, that is called progression, the old learning ways was stagnation, it was designed that way. If you stagnate on linear time, you go backwards, on vertical time you stand still, most people currently operate on linear time, but like the see saw analogy the key is to climb or rise, not stagnate.

Humanity are facing their very own D Day and their version of the Dunkirk landing, were we come out of the sea, having been declared dead at sea under the maritime law. The sea with all its fury surrounded by a mist of fog, so no one could even see the beach, never mind landing on it. That fog or is it the mist of time? is now clearing rapidly for many and the beach is in sight and in reach. Once you have achieved that and are now out of the sea and away from all the sloshing about of the waves, endlessly tossing and turning, frothing at the beach edge, undecided whether to land or go back into the sea of illusion with the masses, you will run a new gauntlet up the beach, will you avoid that by putting your head in the sand and subsequently be washed out to sea again? Or plough forward regardless, but running up the steep and hazardous beach with people firing at you, not with guns or bombs, but with words, lies and projections thrown at you, all designed to pull you back into the swirling frothing mass of the sea. Once at the top of the beach or the fulcrum, you then have another test. Do you sail down the other side and join the hidden hand of darkness in the pit? or do you become the non-hidden hand and reach out and pull others out of the sea of discontent? Some will say you can't reach the people from the top of the beach, I will say not on your own you can't, but if you use your imagination, you will join hands with others on the beach and form a chain to reach your goal. Whether you are on the land or the sea, we are creating a new blueprint of what it means to be human, all other attempts failed, because they repeated the same process. When the we becomes the I on the internal, and the I becomes the we on the external, the path of the sword is forged. We all fell for the sickness - that is why the word is called ILL usion, because we all became sick on it.

There are two and maybe even three types of awakening, the first hurdle of awakening has happened to all who listen to this show, otherwise you wouldn't be here. First awakening is accepting the narratives we have been told on many subjects that pervades through our lives and lifestyles, were all based on lies, half-truths and spell magic. The lowest form of awakening is politics and realizing all that is a scam and illusion on the people. Politicians are not even on the map of the control system, neither were we. The illiterate for this century will not be those who can't read or write, it will be those who cannot unlearn the lies. The first can be and is in many cases the most painful, when you learn schools, doctors, judges, police, governments are all operating against us, not for us, a harsh and sobering reality is garnered over time as to the sheer depth of it, and that type of awakening is still ongoing. You will only learn a fraction of what is and has gone on, on this planet in this lifetime, so don't be too hard on yourselves for not knowing everything, or feel too stupid for missing the obvious, the signs, symbols and words were all there to see, yet many couldn't and many still don't. How and why is that? programming is the pure and simple answer. We were programmed from childhood to believe in narrow fields of knowledge and consciousness. For many of you going back 10 years ago, the idea that vaccines are bs, some famous people are different sexes than they portray, some people are not what you thought, due to body doubles, clones or other beings. The idea that governments would poison us with chemtrails, fluoride, GMO's, big pharma, psychedelics drugs, medical experts are not what you thought either. Everyone is spying on us, false flags etc all seems a world away from your knowledge base now. It's been some journey of expanding your mind and thinking and yet you have achieved it. Yet so few of you recognize your own development on that level, instead of admiring how far you have come, too many focus on what they don't know, glass half full or half empty. It is beyond extraordinary what we have all achieved in just a decade and many of you are in a stage we would call the later stages of your life. Decades and decades of programming, wiped out in under a decade from you and yet do you ever stop and look in the mirror and say, wow what an achievement I have done with my life? People have no idea how difficult unlearning the lies is and unhooking from the programs, I was fortunate or destined I never bought into the mind control programs, but too many did. Those that did are either on the slide down the letter N, described in the Empowerment show or now on the right-hand path. Despite not engaging most of the programming, even I have still been on a journey of discovery of how deep the lies go, will that rabbit hole end? No! there are too many of them. Rabbit hole is another mind meme trap, a trap set for predators who lurk in the hole. As the song says, don't go chasing white rabbits. The key is to observe from a distance not go down holes, which are portals and you never know whether you are going to escape. Those rabbit holes have layer upon layer, that goes way deeper and further than you all imagined.

THI from my point of view, has given you a glimpse closer to the bigger picture than many of the other shows. Some of my information relayed is not new, but the connecting of the dots between the shows is in many ways. We have all learned from each other, but the connecting of the dots, which is the key to begin to understanding what is and has gone on here is, packaged in a way all levels of learning can feel they can get some sort of grip on it, that is the essence of THI, tying things together. As the story book style must listen to shows proves, it is the only way disclosure can be delivered, those shows are spanning 8-9 years and yet there is still way more to learn and understand. The next stage after the unlearning the lies and determining the truth is, what happens next? What are you going to do with that knowledge? Store it all up or use the knowledge to determine a better path, future and deeper understanding of life. Or will you provide solutions to yours and our future?

Awakening two is recognizing you are not just a meat suit; you are also spirit and soul. This in and of itself can be a difficult concept to absorb, more so for the religious fraternity. As everything about that program is about being outside of yourself, when the focus needs to be what's on the inside. The vessel is not you, you are the soul and spirit contained within it. The key to this aspect is the I and we that we covered in the Empowerment show. On the external the I or me, myself and I as in service to self only, must become the we as in service to others. On the internal the we must become the I, as you master the two dueling hemispheres that argue incessantly and develop it into a single exchange which comes from the heart, which is the real you. During this awakening you learn dream time is not about being asleep, but actually another part of you is awake, only the suit sleeps. During this phase depending upon where your soul development has reached. Do you face the demons, all kinds of nasties chasing you, battles ensuing, traps set like an ancient Greek maze, people and things attacking you or using you as a sex object? Suggestive programming inserted into your mind and also the potential for vessel infestation, are all part of the learning curve of being in the real hologram and trap set called lower astral, the real place of hell. Much of humanity is stuck in lower astral due to lower vibrational thinking and acting patterns, everyone themselves can correct this, with a little bit of effort, the shadow and inner work is key to that. During this awakening you may also experience higher astral where the bliss, harmony and indescribable feelings of love abound, that is higher astral and it is where the biblical heaven resides. Except that is a trap also, it is the guarding gate to the real higher developmental stage known as the mental planes. To reach the mental planes you have to take a leap of faith, do not apply 3D thinking to that leap of faith. Should you escape that realm then another awakening occurs, a real awakening of some magnitude, as some of your so-called junk DNA starts to switch on. No longer are battles a part of the every night scene during your dream time, suddenly you realize your own powers and you are only limited by your own imagination, at these levels the interference with you can reduce drastically. As your own abilities can now counteract their dark magic, narrow viewing and hearing fields. Your senses beyond the physical 5 get ramped up exponentially, depending upon your input into it. It is not a magic sponge, like shadow and inner work, it requires you to work on it. From moving solar systems to avoiding rock wars, rescuing beings off other worlds, transporting yourself to new worlds, in this universe and beyond. Meeting or seeing creatures you never thought possible, involved in missions to fix things here and outside, attending meetings of galactic and beyond situations. Flying above the earth to see it in its full splendor, dealing with rogue elements who have played games here a long time, maybe even finding out and visiting your original home world and much more. But the key is you find your own power and importance in the scheme of things, where you went wrong in past lives and this, how much you have brought on yourself here in this lifetime. Then once you gain that understanding the question is, how hard will you go to correct the future, not the past. But these abilities have to be used in balance and the ultimate in personal responsibility, as some of them will be retained within the vessel also, not just the spirit. More 3D earth based abilities will manifest, healing self and others, either by being with them or from an infinite distance, weather manipulation, bilocation, remote viewing are some of the examples.

Too often in the past and present, people have turned themselves into the modern version of a god, I am all powerful blah blah, a true warrior never brags what he or she can do, just acts out quietly to affect the desired changes required at a given time. Sometimes when on this level of activity, some expect they will and should be active each night, that is not the case, you may go months with no recall of activity and then bang lots of it. It's called horses for courses, you will dip in when it is time only. The point is, we are all a god if we work on ourselves, we are part of source and part of all creation, god just means higher evolved being, not the lord Anu or the almighty and we all bow down to them, NO, never put anyone or anything above your own heart. That is the message of source, all-encompassing and developing, not all bow down to Draco Reptilian kings, as proposed in many of the scriptures they wrote, not what we wrote. So, if you gain your abilities and you are thinking I am a god or the Neo, you are going badly astray, that is the unbalanced ego thinking and that ultimately leads to your own downfall. Your downfall also impacts everyone else on the planet, as so few reach those abilities stage and hold onto them, that the dark forces have less to encounter.

Forget about being the NEO and a person of one, the object is for as many as possible becoming Neo's to restore the balance here and produce a supply line of higher evolved beings for the future. In reality land, the majority of people are Smiths on this planet, whether people like that analysis or not, many are not deliberately being Smiths but just going along with the plan. Just like the Q movement of trust the plan, but most never asked what was the plan did they? The same applied with trust the science, but nobody asked which science we are supposed to trust. Did they give us the details of the jabs? No! so how can you trust the science if we don't know what the science is? But people will just copy, then become a copy of a copy and in essence a Smith. Trust the plan? But the plan was we all fail though, operating service to self and in a competitive dog eat dog world, cheating, stealing, hiding behind masks, is all being a Smith. Then you have the other ones operating in unbalanced ego thinking they are the NEO, the only one, the chosen one, that NEO is a mask hiding a Smith. The key is to teach millions to be Neo's not Neo, where we all strive for the greater good, all willing to put ourselves and lives on the line for the greater good, not just the one. The bloodless self-sacrifice spoken of in the Santies, is the path of righteousness and also redemption. That is the real hidden message within The Matrix movie, it is not about striving to be the one and the hero, it is about potentially sacrificing yourself for the benefit of the all. But remember at the end Neo merged into Smith, that was not defeating it, but recognizing we are both aspects. Two characters in the one vessel, which one do you choose? Neither you choose the triality. Same with blue and red pill, the answer is neither as A: I am not sick, so I don't need pills and B: Where is your choice?

This level of awakening can be all so magic but it comes with a warning, defend not attack, you can't just go around wiping out Draco, Mantids or Grays that is going down to their level and that will cost you your abilities. The advanced stage of dealing with certain types of entities is to transmute them, not kill them. To do that you use higher dimensional thinking and your own unlimited imagination. Using your power over others for your own ends, again will cost you your abilities, why? because you are misusing it for the self. When it is about service by, for and to others at that level, to teach the others to gain a higher evolutionary path, not elevate yourself above and at the expense of others and become the new god. It requires the highest forms of discipline, reactionary moves is not conducive to higher evolution, thinking in the now and the future is, for the benefit, for as many of the all as possible. To try to help, teach and save as many of the all as possible, to try and progress for the many of the all as possible, me, myself and I have to be cast aside for the we and the us. That is the challenge every being faces, a tough school in many ways, but the benefits are fulfilling. Should you take on the task to improve and develop yourself, remember only you can do that, nobody else can fix it for you. There is no magic pill, cheat or frequency wave that will magically develop your own soul development, that can only be done by you, only you can save you, perhaps now makes more sense, I am sincerely hoping.

All 3 of these awakenings will have the effect of you losing interest in certain pastimes, changes of lifestyle and a change of scenery is generally required. One that is more conducive to the new you and yet you also may be called to go to certain places and just be or perform certain tasks within those regions. Nothing is by accident or coincidence when on that level, the inner trust of you will guide you were you need to be and do. People complain mainly of one thing though on this path, that they have lost people. Yes you have lost people because they are not on same frequency as you anymore and that is a good thing. You cannot be around lower vibrational people for too long when in this phase, it is painful being around or amongst them with their negative drama laden chatter. Observe them, but never absorb them, no matter who they are. The masses will always try to drag you back into the gutter, encourage them to rise instead of you falling for their own illusion game. Too often people speak of their loss and rarely their gains, yet you should consider this, yes you lost people, but ultimately you gained yourself. To achieve all of this, one only has to follow their heart.
