NEWS:

The news is again dominated by one subject, Israel. As the claims and counter claims continues now globally and this is a good thing. The more people speak out, the less they can use the term antisemite as a deflection tool to cover their crimes. A couple of interesting news headlines, the first says Biden has no Israel policy. Question 1: why do we need an Israeli policy? Q2: Why is an Israel policy so important to America? And Q3: Does Biden or anyone in the false government have any policies?

The media as we all know can wax lyrical about all things Israel and also label other countries in the Middle East and elsewhere as terrorists, antisemitic and various names. All without impunity I might add. Yet suddenly when the people decide to defend certain countries or people's, out comes the junta to shut it down. As the former advisor to Barack Obama and Marblehead native Robert Wolf, warned that free speech is beginning to turn into threatening speech, during a segment about protests throughout the country against the Israel-Hamas war that aired on Fox News. Why do they feel the need to discuss only for the benefit of one side? A true and free press or media would never be so biased. But this is all part of the pro pagan da the media are self-absorbed in.

Here is another example of biased behaviors and again favoring just one country. The US vetoed a United Nations Security Council resolution on Thursday, that would have allowed Palestine to be admitted as a full member of the international body and effectively recognized its statehood. All of which means the two-state solution is utter rubbish, all in favor of Israel again. The Biden administration said that while it supports Palestinian statehood, (M) do they seriously believe we believe that at this point? It could only be granted as part of wide-ranging peace negotiations with Israel. The same peace agreements that Israel ignores? It remains the US view that the most expeditious path toward statehood for the Palestinian people, is through direct negotiations between Israel and the Palestinian Authority with the support of the United States and other partners, Vedant Patel, the State Department spokesman said. But what has the United States got to do with returning land back to the Palestinian's? Why do they have to interfere? The 15-member council voted on a draft resolution that would have recommended to the 193-member UN General Assembly, that the State of Palestine be admitted to membership of the United Nations. Twelve members voted in favor, two abstained and the US vetoed. It needed at least nine votes to pass and no vetoes from the five permanent members, the United States, Britain, France, Russia and China. Which means that not only Israel is a pariah nation, so is the United States. Why are politicians and State Departments voting against their own people, as if it went to a vote by American people, 80-90% would approve of this measure. Currently, Palestine only holds non-member observer status, which it gained in 2012. That status is a de facto recognition of statehood but does not allow it to vote on UN resolutions. The UN Security Council has in the past voted in favor of resolutions calling on Israel to withdraw from territory it has occupied since the 1967 war, which would form a future Palestinian state. But Israel has continued to build settlements on that land, making a two-state solution increasingly unviable. Then the UN is completely unfit for purpose and should be replaced with a majority vote only. The US has repeatedly used its veto to block resolutions critical of its close ally Israel, including numerous times against calls for an immediate ceasefire in Gaza. Ziad Abu Amr, special representative of the Palestinian president, said adopting the resolution will give the Palestinian people hope for a decent life within an independent state. We are still longing to practice our right to self-determination, to live in freedom, security and peace in an independent state similar to other countries around the world, he said. The plight of the Palestinian people started over a century ago and is still ongoing, we have made every possible genuine effort, we have made unimaginable historic concessions in order to achieve a peace, that is based on the two-state solution. Israel's ambassador to the UN, Gilad Erdan, said that a vote on the resolution was a prize to terrorists involved in the Hamas attack against Israel on October 7. A typical response that is, and if that is what he thinks, then many of the rest of the world thinks the no vote is a resolution for genocidal maniacs. But then the fear tactic was ramped up. If this resolution passes, God forbid, this should no longer be known as the Security Council but as the terror council, he said. No it is just an inept and unfit for purpose council, that is incapable of resolving anything, particularly if it involves the two main terror states, United States, which is not America and Israel State, which is a fake country. China and Russia condemned the American veto. The veto once again demonstrated what they really think of the Palestinians, according to Russian UN ambassador Vassily Nebenzia. The US position towards Palestine, they are only a barrier on the path towards realizing the interests of Israel. Exactly and here is the solution. All world leaders need to come together and reject the UN Council and create a new one. Endorse the Palestine state, return their borders back to 1967 minimum, remove Israelis not wanted in the settlements and install a peace force there to enforce it.

I mentioned in the previous piece about the government going against the wishes of the people, well here is the proof. A growing number believe the president isn't doing enough to help the Palestinian people. Some 60% of US voters are unhappy with President Joe Biden's handling of the Israel-Hamas war, a new survey by the Wall Street Journal has found. A growing number also believe the US is not doing enough to help the Palestinian people. The WSJ poll found that disapproval of Biden's handling of the conflict is at 60%, eight points higher than it was in a December poll. Just over 30% of respondents said they backed the president on the issue. The survey also found that 33% of voters believe the US is doing too little to help Palestinians, a number that was up from 26% in December. At the same time, some 30% said the US was doing too much to help the Israeli people, compared with 22% who said the same in December. Overall, the poll showed that 42% of Americans believe Israel has gone too far in Gaza. A smaller proportion, 19%, said Israel hasn't gone far enough, 19% are complete psychopaths then. 24% said Israel's response to Hamas has been about right, 1200 dead compared to 33k, including 13K children, is about right? Are you kidding me? Johns Hopkins Math and non-thinking applies to that category. The longer this goes on, there is a shift toward more sympathy toward the Palestinians and less toward Israel, pollster Michael Bocian said. Yes because more people are seeing Israel for what it is, is why.

A high level of disapproval of Biden and his anti- Palestinian stance, has made its way to the ballot box, with more than 100,000 people voting uncommitted in Michigan's Democratic presidential primary last week, many in protest at the president's policies on Israel. I don't believe it is just Israel, the government like all the previous ones have done nothing for the people. Now the people are not voting at all in protest. The solution is the Blueprint. A government operating solely for the benefit of the people is the way forward for us all.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken has warned Washington will act if China does not stop supplying Russia with items used in its assault on Ukraine. Double standards or what? The sheer arrogance of it is astounding. We (the US) can send weapons and hardware to Ukraine, but China or no one else can support Russia? Sounds like a child playground bully speak to me. Speaking to the BBC in Beijing, the US's top diplomat said he had made clear to his counterparts they were helping fuel the biggest threat to European security since the Cold War. No the biggest threat to European security is NATO, but Blinken being a Jewish puppet would not recognize that fact. He did not say what measures the US was prepared to take. But Mr. Blinken was also keen to stress progress had been made in some areas. Actually no progress has been made in Ukraine in relation to the US and Israel. Mr. Blinken said that one of the key routes for better relations between China and both the US and Europe, would be for Beijing or some of its enterprises to stop providing critical components that help Russia make more munitions. Touche Mr. Blinken as the US should stop sending the same components to Ukraine at American taxpayer's expense. The components include items such as machine tools, micro-electronics, and optics. It's helping Russia perpetuate its aggression against Ukraine, but it's also creating a growing threat to Europe because of Russia's aggression, he explained. What about the 81 countries the US has invaded since WW2? Doesn't that constitute a greater threat? We've taken action already against Chinese entities that are engaged in this, he said. And what I make clear today is that if China won't act, we will. No you won't, as despite the pro pagan da, the US is not capable of taking on Russia or China. Mr. Blinken hinted at sanctions as a possible route, good luck with that as China is one of the US' biggest imports, just stupid rhetoric. He was keen to stress that China was not directly supplying Russia with weapons, unlike the US who have. In his interview Mr. Blinken said it remained important to see if the two countries could build greater cooperation in areas where we have mutual interest, including artificial intelligence and military communications. Notice he never mentioned any mutual interest outside of war strategies? Which says it all really.

The Israeli government called an emergency discussion' over concerns the International Criminal Court could be preparing an arrest warrant for Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and other Israeli leaders, over alleged breaches of international law in Gaza, it has been revealed. Three ministers and several government legal experts met at the Prime Minister's Office on Tuesday, to discuss how they would manage arrest warrants after reportedly receiving information such orders could be issued imminently. Israel reportedly fears that arrest warrants would be brought on the basis of the humanitarian crisis in Gaza, where rights groups and international bodies continue to warn of impending manmade famine, alleging deliberate restrictions of aid into the Strip. All of which is the truth, yet Israelis are deciding to debate on how to protect their criminals, rather than address a human rights issue, all very telling if you ask me. Israel faces a number of allegations pertaining to breaches of international law over its conduct in Gaza since October 2023. The key request, the cessation of hostilities altogether, was not granted, but the Court did order Israel to prevent and punish direct and public incitement to genocide. The Genocide Convention defines genocide by acts committed with intent to destroy, in whole or part, a national, ethnical, racial or religious group. Genocide, conspiracy to commit genocide, direct and public incitement to commit genocide, attempt to commit genocide and complicity in genocide are all punishable, according to the Convention. Which is fine, but punishable by what measures? Are they enforceable and if so, who will enforce it? Where are the sanctions against Israel? Sanctions for N. Korea, Russia and Iran, yet they haven't committed genocide, unlike the Israelis. Talk is cheap to Israelis, they just unleash their media army, but where are the actions against genocide? Same applies to the Jewish led genocide in Ukraine also.

The CEO of Alphabet Inc, which is the agency term for Go-ogle, Sundar Pichai, has weighed in on the debate over the relative values of political expression and workplace coexistence by ordering employees to leave their political opinions at home. A day after firing 28 workers for participating in a sit-in protest of the tech giant's cloud contract with Israel, Pichai warned staff that the office is not a place to fight over disruptive issues or debate politics in a company blog post. Notice he is Indian? More and more Indians are rising in prominent positions in traditional white countries, which is fine if it was reciprocated, but it's not. India of course is linked with Israel via our book and series FHSTOS. Would he fire 28 employees if they were Israeli supporters? Never and therein lies the problem. Freedom of speech and the choice in this is becoming as rare as common sense. But these stories do expose Israel has over the populace and that program must end if America is to prosper.

Here is another Israeli based company that likes to curtail free speech as well, but seems they continue to struggle in the shekel department. Meta's share price has fallen almost $200 billion in the wake of an announcement by Mark Zuckerberg. The company reported its results overnight, which showed higher costs and smaller-than-expected revenues. Much of that was the result of investment in artificial intelligence. Which is great as we don't need their programs. During those results, chief executive Mark Zuckerberg said, that it could take several years for its work on AI to scale up and start making money. That led to fears among investors that the company's huge investments in artificial intelligence may not pay off, and that the company's fortunes might be weaker than previously thought. OOPS. That triggered a sell-off that saw Meta shares fall $190 billion when trading opened last Thursday, and its value fell almost 15 per cent. The worry about Meta also led to falling share prices at other social networks. Snap fell 4.8 per cent, while Alphabet, Amazon and Microsoft were down between 1.5 per cent and 2.7 per cent. Mr Zuckerberg had looked to reassure his investors that there would be money to be made from its AI products, even if that revenue is not arriving yet. I wouldn't count on that Mr. Zuckerberg.

SOCIETY SECTION:

This is something we have heavily warned about in relation to schools and schooling, things just not going too well in that sector. Which is a good thing as it needs to be ripped up and started again, with some actual teaching, not pro pagan da book reading. Here are just some of the headlines in the MSM in the past week. American schools are facing layoffs as enrollment falls and pandemic-era aid dries up. Seattle schools shut down gifted and talented programs. Teachers leaving the profession increased by 42% from last year. Teachers are also using A.I. in the classroom. So less enrollment means less funding, means less teachers and means less schools. Crisis management will be the order of the day for most Government departments, as most are less than 50% staffed. So their stupid Covid program backfired, and people have taken stock and are refusing to go back to jobs that are not fulfilling. Teachers using AI in the classrooms, if only they had the brains to realize that AI they are using, will eventually replace them unless we act.

Which rolls us nicely into the next story of the rise in poor behavior of female teachers. Sex with youngsters has often been described as a male trait, but this is no longer the case as the piece shows. Dozens of female teachers have been arrested this year across America for sex crimes involving students, as the seeming number of what is described as, 'cougars in the classroom' continues to grow. A long line of female teachers allegedly involved with youngsters across the country dominates headlines. DailyMail.com discovered that 25 female teachers had been arrested in 16 states in only the last 12 months and it is feared to be merely the tip of the iceberg, as there appears to be no centralized data collection to track this disturbing trend. In the last month, married New Jersey teacher Jessica Sawicki, 37, was arrested after cops found her half-naked in the back seat of a teen's car at a wildlife center. The mother-of-two allegedly admitted to police she and the student had unprotected sex at least five times. Many of the accused female teachers charged in the last year are married and one was even named teacher of the year.

The teachers are enticing students with sexually charged texts, nude photos and videos, before and during physical encounters, police say. The descent into the selfie culture, created by social media for the purpose of social engineering in my opinion and is added to by a leading child psychologist Dr. Michael Oberschneider, of Ashburn Psychological Services. He said social media influence has contributed to the abuse dynamic and rise in number of cases. Social media can serve to blur the lines between the student-teacher relationship, which can in turn open the doors to more inappropriate outcomes, he said. He explained that students have more access to their teachers through various online formats, which can lead to inappropriate communication and even inappropriate relationships of a sexual nature. As we've seen in the news, some female teachers are choosing to put out sexually focused content on sites like OnlyFans, Loyalfans, Fansly and other similar platforms that students can then see and be part of, Oberschneider explained. In his estimation, 80 percent of teachers who abuse students, are still predominantly male. He explained the research shows, males are more opportunistic, more predatory and more aggressive with the motivation being focused on sex. While female teachers tend to be motivated, it seems, to abuse their students in different ways and for different reasons. It often revolves around emotional conflict, unmet intimacy needs, personal issues, loneliness and feelings of isolation. You can add to that the role of social media and people's desire to be popular, that can overstep the boundaries as in these cases. It all boils down to people's lack of care and concern for each other, leading to isolation, desperation and the feeling of being unwanted. Which can then lead to people making wrong choices to satisfy their needs. Sex sells we know that, but are people that desperate for attention, that sex becomes a tool for being popular as well? Even when it risks your career, marriage, standing in the community and potential loss of freedom? People may think this is a sexual problem, but actually it is a society problem.

MEDICAL SECTION:

This is more like an expose in overview as it highlights two more stories and further atrocities committed by the medical junta. More horrendous medical experiments have come to light, albeit from around 50 years ago, but proves how long these fake medical experts have been meddling with the public. This involves using deliberately infected blood products, with devastating consequences. The true scale of the number of medical trials using infected blood products on children in the 1970s and 80s has been revealed by documents seen by BBC News. They reveal a secret world of unsafe clinical testing involving children in the UK, as doctors placed research goals ahead of patients' needs. They continued for more than 15 years, involved hundreds of people and infected most with hepatitis C and HIV. One surviving patient told the BBC he was treated like a guinea pig. In reality, most patients have been treated like guinea pigs for a range of medical experiments. The trials involved children with blood clotting disorders, when families had often not consented to them taking part. The majority of the children who enrolled are now dead. Documents also show that doctors in hemophilia centers across the country used blood products, even though they were widely known as likely to be contaminated. A shortage of blood products in the UK in the 1970s and 80s meant they were imported from the US. No surprise there, as the US exported many tragic items and programs over the past 100 years. High-risk donors such as prisoners and drug addicts provided the plasma for the treatments, that were infected with potentially fatal viruses including hepatitis C, which attacks the liver resulting in cirrhosis and cancer and HIV. One blood product, known as Factor VIII, was seen to be highly effective for stopping bleeding, but also widely known to be contaminated with viruses. A public inquiry is under way into the scandal and the final report is due in May. Another reason why the whole medical industry needs a full overhaul and all experimentation stopped until proven to be valid.

The Guinea pig:

Luke O'Shea-Phillips, 42, has mild hemophilia, a blood clotting disorder that means he bruises and bleeds more easily than most. He caught the potentially lethal viral infection hepatitis C while being treated at the Middlesex Hospital, in central London, which was administered because of a small cut to his mouth, aged three, in 1985. Documents seen by the BBC suggest he was deliberately given the blood product, which his doctor knew might have been infected, so he could be enrolled in a clinical trial. The doctor wanted to find out how likely patients were to catch diseases from a new version of heat-treated Factor VIII. These doctors are utter psychopaths, using people like they don't matter. Though he had never been treated for his condition before, Luke was given heat-treated Factor VIII to stop his mouth bleeding. A letter from Luke's doctor, Samuel Machin, to another expert in hemophilia, was submitted in evidence to the public inquiry into the infected blood scandal. Writing to Peter Kernoff at London's Royal Free Hospital, Dr Machin detailed the treatment of Luke and another boy, asking: I hope they will be suitable for your heat-treated trial. Months earlier, Dr Kernoff had called on fellow doctors in the field to identify patients suitable for clinical trials. Specifically, he said, they had to be previously untreated patients, known as PUPs in the medical community. They were also nicknamed virgin hemophiliacs, a term written on Luke's medical record by Dr Machin. They take the piss out of people in private before they render harm to them? Where is the humanity aspect in this? I was a guinea pig in clinical trials that could have killed me, Luke told the BBC. There is no other way to explain it, my treatment was changed so I could be enrolled in clinical trials. This change in medication gave me a fatal disease, hepatitis C, yet my mother was never even told. Deliberately making people ill to test things out, all of which resembles these doctors playing God with our lives. To the scientific world, it was an incredible benefit being a virgin hemophiliac, to be a clean petri dish to understand science through, I was without question a part of that. What is the infected blood scandal?: Parents and pupils kept in the dark at blood scandal school. So now we have the schools involved, is there any doubt in our statement first said in the last decade, we should never trust a single institution? Infected blood scandal: Boy, 7, died from Aids after doctor ignored rules In the following years, as the medical trial reached its conclusions, Luke had many blood tests. Doctors said they were monitoring him and, at the time, his mother, Shelagh O'Shea, was grateful. In their findings, published in 1987, Dr Kernoff and Dr Machin concluded, heat treatment had little or no effect in reducing the risk of hepatitis C. Both Dr Kernoff and Dr Machin are now dead, how convenient. Before he died, Dr Machin gave evidence to the public inquiry, when he confirmed that Luke had been recruited to Dr Kernoff's study. He denied this had been done without Luke's mother's knowledge. This would have been discussed with his mother, although I acknowledge that standards of consent in the 1980's were quite different to what it is now, Dr Machin said. However, Mrs. O'Shea told the inquiry she was absolutely not told about the trial. With an innocent child of three and a half, I would not have considered such an action. I would never ever have allowed my child to be part of a trial, never. Documents reveal doctors knew Luke had contracted hepatitis C as early as 1993, but he was not told until 1997. So not only did they deliberately infect him, but they also covered it up for 4 years and let the infection fester. Beyond evil these people. One medical record state a positive test result and says: Have not discussed with patient or family. Luke is now clear of the infection after successful treatment. Except Hepatitis C has ramifications for the rest of your life, given the damage to the liver.

Laboratory rats:

However, evidence of the clinical trials has raised wider concerns. A patient should always be given the best possible treatment, and they should always have given informed consent, if those two factors haven't been achieved, then a trial would be seen as very problematic, says Professor Emma Cave, Professor of Healthcare Law at Durham University. If only that commonsense approach was applied to the Covid jabs? Given there were very few trials and most of them caused a high percentage of deaths Professor Edward Tuddenham, who was a hemophilia doctor at the Royal Free Hospital in the 1980s, confirmed these fears. When asked if he thought ethical standards had been met during clinical trials in the 1980s, he simply answered: No. The BBC's investigation has revealed that Dr Machin and Dr Kernoff were among a community of doctors with similar research ambitions. A specialist school near Alton, in Hampshire, was attended by a large cohort of hemophiliac boys. The school for disabled children had an NHS hemophilia unit on site, so boys who had bleeds could be treated quickly and then return to lessons. Their doctor, Dr Anthony Aronstam who has also since died, used his unique cohort of boys for extensive clinical trials. One series of experiments considered whether using three to four times more Factor VIII than normally required by a child, would help to reduce the number of bleeds he had. This was said to be preventative treatment, known as prophylaxis, and involved repeated injections with infected Factor VIII products and follow-up blood tests. The high concentrations of infected blood products were administered to the boys without their, or their parents' consent. Of the 122 pupils attending Treloar's College between 1974-1987, 75 have so far died of HIV and hepatitis C infections. Despite knowing the product was riddled with hepatitis, they started a trial that required us to have way more of it than we needed, says Gary Webster, who was unknowingly enrolled. Ade Goodyear, a pupil at Treloar's from 1980 to 1989, added: We were treated like lab rats. There was a plethora of studies that we were all enrolled in for the decade we were at the school. Controversially, another trial involved placebo treatments. This meant that some boys, who thought they had been given Factor VIII to prevent bleeds, had in fact been given a saline solution. When you think you've been given a treatment, this changes your behavior, Gary said. You run more; you play more rough in football. For a hemophiliac, you feel a bit invincible for a short window after a jab. But with a placebo you are just risking your life by changing your behavior. He told the BBC he was punished at school if he missed injections. Punished for missing injections? These are not trials at all, they were playing upon innocent kids and the adults around this, where complicit in it. Yet again the zero compassion or empathy kicks in, that prompts deeper ponderings. Just how many on this planet have true human traits? It would have meant their trials would have been flawed and so we, us kids, were made to toe the line. Documents just released show the government in 1973 knew about the trials at Treloars and covered some costs. Dr Kernoff's pursuit of clinical advancement through research was rigorous, as was his hunt for suitable subjects for trials, PUPs and virgin hemophiliacs, which led to those involved getting younger and younger. A four-month-old baby was also involved in a trial. Among his studies was one that compared the infectiousness of another blood plasma product, Cryoprecipitate (Cryo) to Factor VIII concentrates. Cryo was used for treating mild blood clotting conditions. It contained the Factor VIII protein, but at lower concentrations and from fewer donors, it was therefore thought to be less risky. Remember the same people thought the MRNA jabs were less risky. Dr Kernoff's search for suitable subjects led him to Mark Stewart, his brother and his father, who all had very mild cases of von Willebrand's disease, another type of blood clotting disorder. Their usual treatment was cryo. As part of his test, Dr Kernoff gave them all Factor VIII concentrates instead. Your life in their hands springs to mind. Until we were given concentrates it would be once a month you'd have a little nose bleed, and you'd go up and have cryo and that was that. All three contracted hepatitis C. Mark's brother and father have both died of liver cancer after the infection attacked the organ. Neither were told they had contracted the disease until it was too late for treatment. So, deliberately poisoning them was not enough it seems, once the disease kicked in, they ignored it as well. Angry is an understatement, Mark said. Your dad is in the front carriage, your brother is in the second carriage, and you are in the third carriage, so you know what is coming. It won't veer off that track, this is how hep C works, it will get you. A statement from Treloar's said: We await the publication of the infected blood inquiry, which we hope will provide our former pupils with the answers they have been waiting for. But why haven't they had answers before the public inquiry? The inquiry into the wider infected blood scandal will conclude on 20 May. There will always be psychopaths in science, particularly in the medical field. But where is the oversight of these trials? Why does it take the people involved to die, before bringing it to light? Where is an actual organization looking out for the people only? This level of mistreatment of people involves large numbers of people and organizations, this needs to be addressed by all people, not just those who are labeled conspiracy theorists. This could be your child, your family and your friends who suffer these barbaric treatments ongoing within the medical fraternity. Medical, the medics of the gods, perhaps that will make you think deeper? Are these people truly human? Schools, Social Services, Hospitals and Government were all involved in this, why does the public trust these organizations so much? Public trust? You should be joking. There is absolutely nothing to trust within these medical fraternities, zero, zip, nada. The Covid debacle should have removed the last remnants of trust within those organizations. All of their medications and treatments should come under far greater scrutiny by the public. Just what are they actually feeding us with?

Here is another example of heinous programs committed against the people, without their consent. This also plays into the Margaret Sanger and the Planned Parenthood group we covered in FHSTOS. Over 100 Inuit claim they were forcibly fitted with contraceptive devices. A group of indigenous women in Greenland have sued Denmark, over an involuntary contraception campaign aimed at limiting the birth rate in the Arctic territory in the 1960s and 1970s, the Danish broadcaster DR reported. The 143 Inuit women claim Danish health authorities violated their human rights, when they fitted them with intrauterine contraceptive coil devices. The women are seeking total compensation of nearly $6.3 million. The lawsuit was filed because they received no reply to their request for compensation in October, the lawyer for the plaintiffs, Mads Pramming, said. Their human rights were violated, they are the living proof. In October, 67 women, now in their 70s and 80s, demanded compensation of $44,000 each. Records based on data from the national archives disclosed by the Danish broadcaster in 2022 revealed that 4,500 indigenous women, reportedly half of the fertile women in Greenland, became part of the involuntary contraception campaign. Coil implants were fitted between 1966 and 1970 to women and girls as young as 13, without their consent or even knowledge in some cases. The small device, made from plastic and copper and fitted in the uterus, makes it difficult for sperm to fertilize an egg. Denmark carried out the campaign secretly, with the alleged purpose of limiting the rate of birth in Greenland by preventing pregnancies, the outlet said. The population on the Arctic island was booming at the time because of high living standards and better health care. In September 2022, the governments of Denmark and Greenland launched an investigation into the program, with Danish Health Minister Sophie Lohde pledging to get to the bottom of this deeply unfortunate case. The probe's conclusions are expected to be made public next year. However, Naja Lyberth, who was 14 when she had a coil fitted, said the group could not wait until then and that the women would seek justice in court. The oldest of us are over 80 years old and therefore we cannot wait any longer. As long as we live, we want to regain our self-respect and respect for our wombs. The case is not the first time Greenlandic people say they have suffered at the hands of Danish authorities. In 2022, Denmark apologized and paid compensation to Inuit's more than 70 years after a failed social experiment. In 1951, 22 Inuit children were taken from their homeland to Denmark, enticed with the promise of a good education worthy of the country's future elite. Copenhagen intended for the children to return home as role models for Greenland. Only six are still alive today, all in their 70s. Greenland was a Danish colony until 1953, after which it acquired home rule. As the article mentioned, it is not the only failed social experiment. In 1941, while Greenland was still under Danish colonial rule, the Danish authorities gave the US permission to military bases on Greenland, which has had the potential to put the people of Greenland in the crosshairs if a nuclear conflict would erupt. In 1968, a US bomber with 4 nuclear weapons crashed in Greenland causing a nuclear fallout. This was despite Denmark's claim to be a nuclear free zone and something which the US had no interest in honoring. The case was covered up but caused a scandal when it broke in 1995. Greenland is an autonomous territory of the Kingdom of Denmark and all the citizens of Greenland are also full citizens of Denmark. The population is just over 56000 of which 89.5% are Inuit. Greenland has 2 members in the Danish Parliament. Greenland is a part of the original Da 'Arya. One wonders just how many more of these types of cases will come to light. It seemed after WW2 the medical and scientific psychopaths, some of which were in Operation Paperclip in 1947, have gone about their business destroying people's lives with full impunity it seems. Again the problem is the people ignoring the issues, because it didn't happen to them, is why these programs continue. As there is zero pushback from the people themselves. That has to change going forward.

EXPOSE:

These two separate stories highlight further the problems the world has with the entity known as Israel. But this piece was written by a Jewish person and also signals that they also, have had enough of those that speak for them. But remarks by Israel's minister of national security, Itamar Ben-Gvir, saying his rights are superior to those of Arabs, portrays all the arrogance and divisive rhetoric we have become accustomed to from there. He received the precise reaction he wanted, his comments were posted and repeated everywhere. His face was shown, and the video of him making these comments made waves worldwide. He, of course, knew that this would happen, and he is undoubtedly very pleased with himself, it provides a nice media-led distraction you see. As the world begins to turn against the media and Israel, they provide soundbites to distract from their current crisis. Israel has a seventy-five-year history of dispossessing, murdering, stealing and imposing a supremacist apartheid regime on Palestinians. Now, one government minister who cannot get enough of the limelight says, what has been the practice since the Jewish supremacist regime has been in place. People all over the political spectrum are excited. Instead of giving him the attention, we would do well to focus on what needs to be done to get rid of Ben-Gvir, bring the cruel Zionist regime to an end and once and for all free Palestinians from the brutality they are subjected to.

War Criminals:

Every Israeli cabinet since the state was established was made of racist war criminals. Barely three years had passed since the genocide of the Jews of Europe by the Nazis had ended, before the Zionists commenced their crimes against humanity and the ethnic cleansing of Palestine; the massacres and the theft of both private and public property by the Zionists and the apartheid regime, begun shortly after the collapse of the Third Reich. What happens when he finds out, it was the same Zionists in Germany that killed their so-called own people? What Ben-Gvir said is nothing new or of any particular interest. Palestinians have experienced Jewish supremacy as the Zionists have enforced it for generations. Most Palestinians alive today were born into this reality, as was Ben-Gvir. What is important to remember and state is, that he and his constituents are no different than the early Zionists. The first generation of immigrants and their children committed the crimes of 1948, and they were all perfectly comfortable leading their lives as masters of a land they stole.

Golda Meir:

If anyone thinks that Ben-Gvir is any worse than Golda Meir, they are sorely mistaken. A new movie portraying the arrogant, ignorant, racist war criminal Golda Meir is now out. Following on from the Oppenheimer movie, who was also Jewish and a psychopath launching weapons of mass destruction on Japan, America and many other places around the world. Before being elected as prime minister, Golda Meir served in many important roles as a member of the Zionist elite. She was a member of the pre-state provincial government. During several fundraising trips to the United States, she raised millions of dollars to contribute to the so-called war effort, better known as the ethnic cleansing of Palestine. Just like the modern day raising of billions of dollars for the war effort in Ukraine, where ethnic cleansing is also taking place and has done since 2014. Coincidentally Meir is a fake name, it was Mabovitch and her husband's name was Meyerson. Meir was also born in Ukraine, but her father moved to New York and she developed in America. She represented the Apartheid state internationally and as an ambassador before becoming foreign minister. Then, in 1969, she became Prime Minister of Israel and remained in power until she was forced to resign in 1974 due to the 1973 October War. Why people worldwide talk about her with admiration is a mystery; she certainly did nothing to deserve it. Her role as prime minister during the war is the focus of the new movie, falsely portraying her as a great leader. The October War was the only war in which Israel took part but did not initiate, and the Israeli army was hit very hard. The Israeli government at the time was led by Golda Meir, who served as prime minister and Moshe Dayan, the famous general with the eye patch, as a minister of defense, and it was the pair's arrogant policies and complete disinterest in peace that led to the war. The Egyptian overtures to make peace with Israel began in earnest almost immediately after Anwar Sadat became president of Egypt in 1970, following the death of Gamal Abdel-Naser. The Israeli government, led by Golda Meir, mocked these overtures and demonstrated no interest in peace with Egypt. Then, on October 6, 1973, the Egyptian and Syrian armies coordinated a brilliant joint attack that took Israel by surprise. The Egyptian military built bridges and crossed the Suez Canal, catching the few sleepy Israeli soldiers stationed there by surprise. The Syrian army rolled through the Golan Heights, nearly reaching the Sea of Galilee. Anecdotal evidence suggests the Syrians stopped for fear that they were entering into an ambush. But there was no ambush, only an arrogant army asleep at the wheel. The Israeli military was not prepared, and this led to a massive number of Israeli casualties and prisoners of war. The Israeli military under Golda Meir's watch, with arrogant commanders she appointed leading the charge, was nearly annihilated, with thousands of Israeli soldiers killed due to her criminal negligence. Heroism is the last thing that characterizes Golda Meir at that moment in time. Clearly, she was not only a war criminal due to her role in the crimes against the Palestinians, but also a failed prime minister of Israel with her disregard for the lives of Israelis. That is what people have to understand, they don't care about their own people. They have used them as pawns for public relations, to create settlements, to take over lands and even for pro pagan da. The latter of which has seen many Jewish killed for the purpose of the controlling elite.

Old Guard vs. New Guard:

Golda Meir contributed far more to the suffering of Palestinians than the racist loudmouth Itamar Ben-Gvir. It would be a grave mistake to think that the more liberal Zionists are less criminal than Ben-Gvir. The liberal Zionists make up the pilots, commanders and generals, far more than the more fanatic settlers and while their rhetoric may seem gentler, their actions are far more deadly. An unbiased look at the progression within Israeli politics shows, that there is a clear and direct line between the early Zionists like Golda Meir and Shimon Peres, and today's Zionists Ben-Gvir and his vile constituency of racists. Liberal Zionists love the so-called old guard of the Zionist establishment. Yes, because no other race here lives in the past more than the Zionists or the Jewish themselves. People like Golda Meir, Shimon Peres, Ariel Sharon and others. However, claiming they are less criminal, less racist or less violent than the Ben-Gvir settlers is nonsense. The old guard of Zionists, those who established the State of Israel, were deadly, and it was they who cultivated and brought about the Ben-Gvir settlers. Adoring Golda Meir and despising Itamar Ben-Gvir means legitimizing the crimes of 1948 and pretending that the Ben-Gvir settler Zionists are just a problem of a few bad apples. But the new, young Zionist zealots militia who terrorize Palestinian communities throughout Palestine, are the direct successors of the old guard. Just like there is no legitimacy to the Two-state solution idea, there should be no legitimacy given to the early Zionists. Both represent attempts to hide the true face and the horrors of Zionism. A great piece and understanding of who the real problems are and nice to see others, particularly the Jewish now seeing the light from a very dark tunnel. Ben-Gvir and Netanyahu are just low level puppets fulfilling a dark agenda for those who hide in shadows.

I mentioned in the previous piece about what happens to the Jewish people when they find out, that WW2 and the Nazis were actually the Zionists themselves. Germany at the time was undergoing a boom economy because they went self-sufficient like Russia. But the Zionists and their shekel games could not allow that, as this piece will reveal in deeper measure. Under the 1935 Nuremberg Laws, only two flags were permitted in Nazi Germany. One was the swastika; the other was the blue and white banner of Zionism. According to Lenni Brenner's book, the Zionist party was the only other political party in Nazi Germany, that enjoyed a measure of freedom and could publish a newspaper. The reason: Zionists and Nazis had a common interest, making German Jews go to Palestine. History is not always what you'd expect. There are more shocking examples in Brenner's book in Chapters 24 & 25. Remember I said they will sacrifice Jews for pro pagan da? Here is another example. For instance, in November 1942, Rabbi Michael Dov-Ber Weismandel, a Jewish activist in Slovakia approached Adolph Eichmann's representative, Dieter Wisliceny: How much money would be needed for all the European Jews to be saved? Wisliceny went to Berlin and returned with an answer. For a mere $2 million they could have all the Jews in Western Europe and the Balkans. Weismandel sent a courier to the World Zionist Organization in Switzerland. His request was refused. The official, Nathan Schwab sent enough money to save only Weismandel and his cadre. All too typical, this was around the time that Hitler, Churchill and Begin tried to arrange the removal of Jews out of Europe and into Palestine, Begin refused. A second offering of removing all the Jews, was likely the event just mentioned and was offered to the Rothschild's, who declined as well. Which means the World Zionist Organization in Switzerland, is ran by the Rothschild clan. Weismandel wrote: About the cries coming from your country, we should know that all the Allied nations are spilling much of their blood. And if we do not sacrifice any blood, by what right shall we merit coming before the bargaining table, when they divide nations and lands at the war's end? for only with blood shall we get the land. (p.237) Brenner writes that Zionism had come full turn. Instead of Zionism being the hope of the Jews, their blood was to be the political salvation of Zionism. (p.238). Zionism brings nobody but psychopaths hope, again people clinging to a savior program that works against them. But essentially what was revealed here by the Zionists, is they will readily kill their own people to fulfill their own agendas. This is what the Jewish people need to understand, you are sacrificial pawns only.

Here is the proof of that statement in a typically elitist way. In Chapter 25, Brenner relates how Zionist leader Rezső Kasztner made a deal with Adolph Eichmann to save a few thousand handpicked Zionists and wealthy Jews, in return for deceiving and leading more than 750,000 Hungarian Jews to their doom. In 1954, when Kasztner was accused of collaborating, the Israeli government sprang to his defense. Brenner documents how the Zionist and World Jewish leadership prevaricated and obstructed all efforts to save the Jews of Europe, who apparently were worth more to them dead than alive. Again all about the shekels and pro pagan da, which our book has stated many times. The author said, I am Jewish, and my family suffered from Nazi persecution. When I first heard this information, I immediately rejected it, it boggles the mind.

However, as I learned more about the Illuminati's ancient plan for world domination, with its satanic overtones and Masonic plan for rebuilding Solomon's Temple, I became more receptive. I came to the conclusion that Jews must be skeptical of Zionist leaders, who have used the holocaust to gain undeserved moral authority and to bludgeon Jews and others into hysterical unthinking conformity. It is possible that Israel was set up for purposes that have nothing to do with the Jewish people, and that Israelis and Jews in general are being duped. A difficult statement to make for any Jewish person, that being the chosen ones is not going the way they thought or assumed. That has been a big mistake, you were chosen alright, but chosen to be sacrificial pawns to fulfill the desire of the psychopaths within their own midst. But maybe these Zionists, who were also the Fascists in Germany are just not who you assumed them to be. One has serious reservations whether these people are people as we know it, at all. Their complete lack of basic human traits renders them in the category of sub-human or worse, alien.

But here is another deflection, despite realizing the plot against Jews. This selective truth is what hampers and damages all Jews, except the Zionists and the shekel EL-ites. This is by way of introduction to a 2002 controversy, which cut to the heart of Jewish-Arab mistrust. It is over a lavishly produced 14-part television series based on the Protocols of the Elders of Zion. It was aired nightly during the peak viewing period of the Muslim Ramadan by the state-run Egyptian station, and a private satellite channel. For Jews, the series entitled A Rider Without a Horse is proof of the Arabs' inveterate antisemitism. For Jews, the Protocols is an anti-Semitic booklet written in 1905 by Czar Nicholas II's secret police, which describes an imaginary Jewish plot to take over the world. For Arabs, the Protocols are confirmation of a Jewish desire to spread materialist values, destroy Islam and colonize the Middle East. Except how can it be imaginary when it has unfolded before everyone's eyes? At this stage it is delusional to think otherwise, given the levels of control they have over every major sector of society. According to Hebrew University professor Meir Litvak, many Arab and Muslim writers see globalization as a threat to Arab culture and identity, and fear that it will increase Western control of their economies and political systems. Associating globalization with Jewish intrigues makes it easier for the Arabs to explain why they lag behind in economics, technology and science, says Litvak. The reason they lag behind is due to where the funding goes, what was it the Rothschild banker stated? Give me control of a country's monetary supply and I care not who makes their rules. Shekels talk you see, aligned with people's obsession over money and to do anything to obtain it, allows unscrupulous people to take advantage of it. Calls from the US government to cancel the program on the grounds that it stokes hatred and bigotry were rebuffed by Cairo. So too were appeals to Arab leaders to condemn the anti-Semitism rife in the Egyptian media. All convenient deflections again and not addressing the issue. A protest demonstration by Jewish organizations took place outside the Egyptian embassy in Washington. An Arab League spokesman rejected Israeli charges that the series is a violation of Cairo's commitment under the peace accord to shun anti-Israel incitement. Egyptian Information Minister Safwat el-Sherif declared that he could not see what the fuss was about. He denied that Rider had any anti-Semitic content at all, our media policy is to respect all monotheistic religions. I don't know about the miniseries, but I invite you to read the Protocols of the Elders of Zion online and decide about its authenticity and anti-Semitism. In my opinion, the Protocols are a master plan for what already has largely taken place. Nesta Webster (World Revolution, pp.288-298) has shown that the Protocols are typical of many other Illuminati writings. It's true that the Protocols identify the source as largely Jewish. This may be a false scent, an attempt to scapegoat the whole Jewish people in order to protect a few bankers, their lackeys and allies. Historically the Illuminati is an occult secret society with strong aristocratic British, Aryan German, as well as Jewish financial and revolutionary elements. If Jews became familiar with, the history of the New World Order, we would recognize that Muslims are correct, that globalization is a mask for a bizarre plot to enshrine the rule of the superrich under the aegis of Lucifer. Indeed it is and always has been, but nice to see others recognizing it.

Islam is one of the last bastions of genuine God worship, the last major obstacle to pagan World Religion. I am not sure about that, as what happens when the Muslim's find out they are just a sect of Christendom, and the Christians are a sect of the Torah book. The attack on Iran is another step in the plan to destroy Islam, monopolize world resources and enslave humanity. The cry of anti-Semitism is being used to divert the world from this diabolical plot. By accepting the role of some apostate Jews and their dupes, God-fearing Jews could unite with Muslims and Christians to bring the burnt offering to an end. Interesting wording, burnt offering to an end, as burnt offering is a holocaust. In the sequel, it might well be the Zionist Jews who will be sacrificed by the International Judenstaat. I think it is the Eurasian Jews and their Eurasian Project which now have the Green Light of the Judenstaat for the construction of their world empire and its communist state, just as the Zionist Jews, the Western ZOGs / USSR had the green light in the financing of Hitler, when the levers of state were being pulled for WW II. For WW III, it looks to me like, the still covert Apex of the World Pyramid, the International Judenstaat is directing the Israel / Hamas / Middle East conflict on the Soviet-Israel and Soviet-Islam axes of their Great Revolution. The Soviet invasion of Ukraine with its Zionist imposed gov't was probably the first decisive move against a weak ZOG. ZOG is Zionist imposed government and there are many of them, yet Israel has the audacity to complain when other countries have issues with them or try to stop their genocide programs. If so, the objectives of the Judaic Imperium will be: the destruction of the Western Bloc of ZOG nations in WW3 and the eradication of Christians world-wide and even the Christian idea in accordance with the Protocols of Zion. Don't make the mistake thinking because the Zionists want to eradicate the Christian program, that it has value, it doesn't. The Christian sect was created by these very same people, with a divide and conquer program. The Christian sect has run its course and now they wish to place you into their one world religion, of all hail Lucifer. Which is the remit of all their religions including Christian, Muslim, freemasonry, Mormonism, they are all under the banner of Luciferianism. It is the two sides of the same coin game again, well if the Jews dont like a,b or c, that means it must be good. That is an emphatic no, because they are the a, b and c. I think the Directorate of the Princes of Jewry would be quite willing to sacrifice Zionist Jews in Israel and the Western ZOGs in order to eradicate Christianity world-wide. I think they always go for these Two-fers in the main objectives. That sentence backs up our book and series, they have always sacrificed Jews for their greater good. All Jewish people need to accept this very quickly, then come and join the perceived enemy, the non-Jews, in eradicating this program and the entities running it.

Look for the Islamic Al Mahdi to come to power, perhaps through the UN Accord to be ratified by the World Health Assembly May 2024. The term Mahdi is derived from the Arabic root h-d-y, commonly used to mean divine guidance. You should know what is coming next, the savior program again in a different flavor. The Mahdi the Guided is a prominent figure in Islamic eschatology, who is believed to appear at the End of Time to rid the world of evil and injustice. He is said to be a descendant of Muhammad, who will appear shortly before Jesus and will lead the Muslim Ummah to rule the entire world. Oh dear, not more messianic prophecies, when will the people of this world grow up? Repeating the same tired worn-out script over and over again is beyond tedious. For 2-3 thousand years now, some varying savior has been returning to save everyone, it didn't happen and won't be happening. Why? Because the savior was here all along, you. The book which confirms that this scenario as a distinct possibility conforming to and extending your thesis on the Allied / Axis conflict of WWII playbook is: You Will Have No Place to Run. Islam is the Broom of Israel. Rabbi Rav Touitou. <https://archive.org/details/you-will-have-no-place-to-run.-islam-is-the-broom-of-israel.-rabbi-rav-touitou> Except Islam is Israel. Islam means Isis hidden, Israel is, Isis, Ra and EL. No coincidence they used a terrorist group name called ISIS. Why is ISIS so prominent? Because everything including Jewish rule came out of Egypt and the off-world brethren. I think the Judaic Imperium, which owns the UN as a platform expects to eradicate even the Christian idea on the Soviet-Islam Axis under the Chi Xi Stigma of Apoc 13:18. This is of course the Mark, the name, the Number of the Beast, the Al Mahdi of Islam. You can read it in Aramaic and Greek on the Bismillah where the Chi Xi Stigma is clearly written, the numerical value of which is 666, the number of their Babylonian Sexigesimal System. The Rus, not the Soviets will remove the Christian idea, as it was a program to denigrate and isolate all of the white race. We will endeavor to return to the old ways that worked for all races here. Restore some morality and principles, the true rule of law RITA, a sense of belonging and understanding, justice and equality. We don't need saviors from the sky to undertake that, we are the blueprint, the guidelines and the path. What we all have to do is follow it.

FHSTOS SECTION:

Further evidence to support Part 9 of our book and show in this piece, it seems more and more people are beginning to get a grasp of the seriousness of this topic. Women in the US are having children at the lowest rate since record-keeping began, the National Center for Health Statistics has revealed. Only 3.59 million births were recorded in the country in 2023, the lowest since the 3.4 million figures recorded in 1979, a report by the NCHS has noted. The US population was 225 million at the time, compared to almost 335 million now. The general fertility rate fell 3% from the year before to 54.4 births per 1,000 women of childbearing age, which is defined as age 15-44. The total fertility rate was just 1.61, down 2% from 2022. The US birth rate has been below the replacement level of 2.1 since 2007. Which means the population is going down not up. So why the increase in population? Migrants. One positive note of the figures is up next. Unplanned pregnancies, mostly among teenagers, have fallen by 2% from the previous year, representing a 68% decline from 2007 levels. Birth rates for the 20-24 age bracket have dropped by almost 50% since 2007 as well. The only demographic that saw an increase in birth rates was Hispanic women, with a modest 1% gain from 2022. The NCHS is a unit of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

It relies on birth certificates to provide a snapshot of US population trends and does not look at the underlying factors, said Brady Hamilton, the lead author of the report. Karen Guzzo, a demographer at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, has pointed to research that shows young Americans are delaying family formation for financial reasons. Among the factors Americans have cited for waiting or not having children at all, are economic strain, work instability, political polarization, student loans, healthcare cost and accessibility, climate change and global conflicts, Guzzo told the Wall Street Journal. US birth rates rose slightly right before the 2008 financial crisis but have declined by 11% overall since 2000. Guzzo has pointed to unstable work hours and lack of paid leave in the gig economy that has arisen since the Great Recession. Demographers such as Guzzo have argued that Americans need paid family leave and other benefits to promote the standard of living for young families. US surveys have persistently shown frustration with the skyrocketing cost of healthcare and childcare as well. Birth rates in many wealthy nations with arguably better social support have been declining as well, however, which demographers have commonly attributed to uncertainty and economic instability. What is not taken into account by the demographers is, the deliberate sterilization program going on globally, but typically in white and Hispanic races, that ultimately takes a toll on the numbers. The lack of financial support within the so-called richer countries is markedly noticeable, although Russia has taken steps to improve their support for Russian families. How could Gaddafi pay $50k support for each child, yet other richer countries provide none? The same applies in Finland, Japan, China, Australia, and Estonia.

Why is it being addressed now? Because the clown's depopulation programs in mainly white countries is having a major shekel effect. The el-ites were moving everything over to the East and the Soros group wanted to destroy all the economies of Europe to facilitate the transfer over to the East. But the East transfer did not unfold and so the countries of Europe and their financiers are in a panic now. As a: there are not enough workers b: many now choose to work part time c: after covid many decided to not work at all. This leaves the bankers with a dwindling pot, low birth rates and nothing to replenish it with, panic now ensues. So now there is a massive problem underlying and underpinning all the white race countries, as the less than the required number of children of 2.1 per mother fails to meet its target each year, the more the chance of the country collapsing and going bankrupt. The Social Security or National Insurance programs are affected by it as well. All of which makes the banking fraternity more uncomfortable, as less people equal less shekels, I guess they never thought of that did they? Less people equal less productivity, which in turn leads to their economies failing. That would allow the two most populace countries to take over most of the world's trade by their sheer numbers, that being India and China, and that is what is unfolding now, too much chagrin of the EU bankers. I guess they didn't future think much, or too blindsided by the promise of riches in China. But now the China boom is over, what happens next? Well it won't be America as they produce little to nothing now, except weapons and war machines. As for the white countries, whether they like the idea or not, we need a Lebensborn program to repopulate the white race. Another generation of low birth rates will plunge the money countries into a backward growth pattern and necessitate their downfall. This is why they are flooding those countries with immigrants, to boost the numbers, the same numbers they worked to reduce in classic ouroboros style. Meanwhile, the countries with the highest birth rates in the world in 2023 were all in sub-Saharan Africa: Niger (6.73), Angola (5.76) and the Democratic Republic of the Congo (5.56). Nice to see it is getting a lot more attention these days, even if it is bankers concerns.

With the Irish people in mutiny and railing against their authorities, the authorities have done their best to stoke the flames of sectarianism again. Boatloads of immigrants coming through the UK are being sent to Ireland, but the people are rejecting them and calling out the politicians and media. So, the authorities decided they would send the immigrants into Ireland through N. Ireland instead. This will inflame the tensions between the two peoples, given the limited or no knowledge of their own history. Hopefully the Irish people will see through that plot and smokescreen and learn to come together as one people. Perhaps it can all become one country, but not be named Ireland, as that will not be approved by the Northerners. Perhaps if both people's learn to become as one, it can go back to the original name of Scotia.

MYSTERY SECTION:

We have spoken of just how selfish some people are, a lack of real caring, a lack of sharing, a lack of empathy, a lack of compassion and concerns for the plight of others. Many of you have spoken of disappointment in people both inside and outside of the group, displaying some of these traits. Often I am asked how I keep going despite disappointments and poor behavior, the key to it is, how you react. I recognize that people have their own free will and it is not my role to drag people down paths or soul develop them. I just plant the seeds of growth, not water or grow them into life. We at all times must take stock of our lives and also, our path now and our future path. Where are we going? Where have we been? Have we developed? Have we remembered? These are all important steps and thoughts to make and take. Often cliches of THI come up now, in general conversation between members, but also increasingly now with people outside of THI. The latter is where you find out just how much ahead in terms of knowledge you all truly are. THI has prepared you all for the difficult times ahead, why difficult you may ask? Because people, including awake people struggle to adapt to change. You will notice people always asking for change, including yourselves, but change means you must change as well. How can you expect change and it not involve you? It can't, because you will dam up the flow. For real change to occur, all or most have to go with the flow, otherwise you are the beaver on a river that is damming up. People often ask me how that change looks? But the greater question is, how does it look to you, not me. Where is your vision? Your ideas? Your plans? And your input into the greater vision for us all. The Blueprint was designed in a way that makes everyone responsible to and for it, all encompassing, all adapting to personal responsibility, all having a say and all playing a part. It is or should be the most prominent thing on all your minds now and not something you do when you feel like it. The world is in a mess and we have the solutions to fix it, but it needs to be spread far and wide now and that is everyone's role and remit to deliver.

So what do we all need going forward? More love, less fear, standing in your own power, more self-sacrifice and less survival mode. There are people who are guided by higher purpose, those people must reach higher now. There are those who are guided by physicality and must strive to find the higher purpose with which to guide their actions. But all must rise to meet the challenges we face ahead. Failure is not an option for all concerned, evil and injustice must be ended for most people to prosper. There are three types of evil in the world: evil caused by nature, evil that people bring upon others and evil that man brings upon himself. The first type of evil is the rarest form, but arguably of the most necessary, the balance of life and death in both the human and animal worlds itself. The second type of evil is relatively rare, and that humanity brings it upon itself. Being competitive and comparative, greed not need, lack of caring and sharing. The third type of evil humans bring upon themselves and is the source of most of the ills of the world. These are the result of people's falling victim to their physical desires, service to self and shekel chasing. To prevent the majority of evil which stems from harm one does to the self, one must learn how to respond to external urges and to go within.

I am reminded of another cliché of THI, light your beacons. So many people focus on the light or lack of light of other people's beacons, when their own is the most important. Why your own? Because how can you be a way shower if your own beacon is not well lit? So many have dimmed their beacons to a low light that too few can see in the dark anymore. How can we expect to extinguish the dark if we are not lighting up? People ask, how do I know if my beacon is lit enough? again these types of questions are of a personal nature and not subject to approval from others. Often that answer brings gnashing of teeth or fingers pointing at me, but I am not you and where is your own inner trust of the self? Often I say just be, which brings in puzzled looks and inner thoughts of just be what? Erm you, is the captain obvious answer. Just be you is me saying you must trust yourself, because when you trust your own inner guidance, you just know the path to take and not to take. It is the same as knowing what is right and what is wrong, what is left or right, what is up or down and what is forward or backward, your own inner guidance system will steer you onto the right path in the right way, if you will listen to it. So what is a good analogy of just being and lighting up? The lighthouse. The lighthouse beacon shines its light far and wide, whether ships are sailing by or not. The lighthouse does not turn off its light if no ships are passing, it is just being itself. The lighthouse just shines and affects those in its vicinity, but if your light shines like a beacon, then you also affect those within your vicinity. Although unlike the lighthouse, you are not in a fixed position and so as you move your light goes with you. So if you have an enlightened beacon, you just have to be. Just being is enough when you have inner trust, it does not require external validation or thought processes of how to be, it just is what it is. What happens if you don't shine your light? Well, it won't just be sailing ships that will pass you by, it will be your own life as well.

ENDING PIECE:

This piece is a reminder and should speak to us all in a very deep and lasting way. Ignore it at your own peril, is my advice, but each to their own devices always applies. It all comes down to the choices you make, and everyone is free to make their choices in life, despite the external tyranny artists that reside not just in clown realms, but amongst we the people as well. The journey through life brings many hurdles, waves and barriers, and the great questions are; will you jump, surf and step over or through each of the three? or crash, rise and fall and eventually stall? These are the day-to-day challenges we all face, on all levels of learning. In shadow terms, you have never beaten it all, because A: it is not a game and B: there is always learning to do, in this and other lifetimes, until you get a greater perspective, understanding and being. There is no I have done all my shadow work, it is a learning open spiral curve, that goes into a new spiral, that is called progression. Shadow work done in the loop never ends either, but on that level, you are destined to repeat the same old failings. Perspective plays a large role and a member said this recently. My point is that we are forced to perceive in ways that do not reflect reality. Once we manage our own perception everything changes. But often your own perception gets clouded by your own level of learning and thinking, and if matched with a lower level of shadow and inner work, that can bring a perception of reality, more virtual than real. The lower the level of learning and shadow work, the more you are in your head. The aptly named band title the Zombies said, feed your head, that was a clue that it was a mind control song. The head fights with you, like the double headed Janus, so which head is yours? In my observations those that talk about shadow and inner work a lot, are the ones who are actually not doing the work or not as much as they profess, because every time I have engaged or observed those types of people, they are the ones who eventually fall or transgress. So at that point one has to ask who is managing who's perception? Is it the organic version of you or the machine? Often people fight battles externally with others, but that is the sign of internal struggles always. The battles, fighting, arguing, put downs and competitiveness, are all inner signs of turmoil from within. People can carry on denying it, but in observation mode it becomes obvious and indicative. We have all witnessed those types of people, and we have witnessed it within ourselves on our own journey of self-discovery. Those people cannot be helped until they realize they are the problem, their problem is within, not without. Only when the aptly named title of soul searching is completed can wounds on the internal and external be mended.

It all comes down to, do you operate within the heart or the head? A reminder between the two. The heart makes life simple - whilst the head complicates things. The heart balances everything – whilst the head swings wildly like a metronome. The heart all encompasses – whilst the head divides and conquers and is comparative and competitive. The heart brings a balanced ego – whilst the head swings it from low self-worth to braggard. The heart has inner approval – whilst the head seeks external approval. The heart soothes everything – whilst the head battles and rages. The heart brings calmness – whilst the head operates within the chaos realms. The heart knows when to let go of things – whilst the head holds on for dear life, often at great cost to the host. The heart doesn't run or hide – whilst the head does both. The heart cannot be retarded – whilst the head can. The heart loves – whilst the head operates and is filled with fears. The heart speaks in melodic tones – whilst the head speaks in forked tongues. The heart has the music of the spheres – whilst the head h ME conflict has static and filled with reptilian chatter. In anagram, the heart is Earth and becomes your law, the head or brain is in BAR and their law. Brain is one letter short of binary, heart is the trinary. The heart can and will be hurt but it rebounds, it self-heals and becomes anew. The head can be hurt as well, but it never rebounds, it just crashes and then repeats the same programs. The heart brings more service to others, the head brings more service to self, why? because it can be controlled and if not checked, becomes someone else's head. The heart only belongs to you, it can't be controlled. These are the two choices we make, but isn't that a binary choice Thomas? Where is the trinary? It can be thought of that way, but a little pondering on it can change that perception again. When you complete your own sword, the head becomes one with the third eye and the heart. There is your trinary, like the worlds in essence, the two becomes three, and then becomes the one. They warned in the Foundation tv series something we should all pay attention to here and now. It was stated; There is something that is far more important, you understand that this fight is for our future, and that is what this cause needs more than anything. I can't echo or emphasize that statement enough, and all who listen to this needs to wrap their heads and hearts behind that statement. This is what THI and the TPC is all about, fighting for our futures, and also the future of our species. This is not a game; this is about us and our very existence. Remember, we didn't come here to play their game, we came to change it, and all of us should follow that directive.
