The Blueprint Episode 21 Teams Report week ending 5th May 2024.

The People's Club Gardening and Non-GMO Food Communal Gathering Monthly Update for April 2024. During the month of April, the gardening group had many solutions-oriented discussions, supporting members through changes and the challenges we all face as we build our new realities. As usual the garden group went down lots of rabbit holes. A powerful conclusion was that harmony is more powerful than science, especially when it comes to farming practices. Observing, not absorbing and not allowing others into our PSI field becomes critical in the process of finding harmony in silence, which allows us to tune in to the music of the spheres. When we hear that music and allow it to flow through us, we vibrate and respond. We become the garden. With spring in the air, there is new growth and projects under way to experiment and learn more about Korean Natural Farming methods, as applied in the various growing zones where the garden group members reside. Many seeds have been planted. In order to facilitate some new projects that garden group members are engaging in, we have changed our weekly meetings from Saturday to Sunday Mornings at 9.00 am M.S.T. The zoom link can be found in the Community Gatherings Forum under the Gardening CG Zoom Link Topic.

THE AGENDA:

This week's meeting had more of a flavor of where we are at and how we move forward. With a lot of the previous agenda items now dealt with and operational, it was time to change things up a bit within some of the main groups. The Research team will now focus on more current influencers and target people like David Ike who has resurfaced again. It is also bringing new influencer's forward that have up to now been silent, some of these have worked in institutions that were part of the dark agenda, and now are using their voices to speak up and out. Many military and Jewish people are also coming forward, these are ideal targets to receive the blueprint pdf. Targeting political leaders is of importance with the up-and-coming elections. Many are beginning to speak out on topics that align with the blueprint, it is now time to see who really wants change and who is just currying favor with the public. A large list of think tank organizations is also now ready for the next up and coming emails that will soon be sent out. The new activist group is now also ready to begin their tasks of targeting those that have already received the pdf's and have not to date responded. The aim is to make them accountable and to make their followers aware that 1. There is an option for change and 2. More importantly the people you are following seem to hold double standards. For if they really wanted change, they should take up the mantel and get in touch with us. As things are moving at a quicker pace now, it has become more apparent that the groups need to become more cohesive, and communication between them needed on a higher level. With that now a priority the media team, the research team and the activism group will now meet once a month to correlate information, which will speed up the process with decision making and in effect create a more cohesive flow. Any member of THI is welcome to attend our meetings, bring ideas or join any group, as we are growing it creates a need for more roles and more hands-on deck. We would love to see you there.

RESEARCH TEAM:

The focus of the April 21st meeting of the Research Team was to prepare for the May Blueprint Show name reports continuity, considering another heavy travel schedule and absences of the team leads. A report list of 100 influencers names will provide 20 for each of the next five shows, which includes this one. The database has enough names to handle this without more outreach for names. Our team greatly appreciates the ease of collaboration with the Media, Web, Village and Activists teams and their efforts in coordinating outreach efforts with us. Our mutual successes to report this week begin with emails sent to Canadian transportation companies. We will attempt to highlight some U.S. ones soon.

Canadian Trucking Association (CTA) Created in 2009, is a non-profit organization that uses all the funds collected back into the bottom line, helping truckers. From day one, CTA and their members have stood tall against injustices and unfair treatment of the truckers at ground zero and of the trucking companies that keep the Canadian economy so vibrant. Their vision is to see the trucking industry and government policies work for the average truck driver and trucking company.

Canadian Trucking Alliance (a different CTA) Stephen Laskowski, President The Canadian Trucking Alliance is a federation of provincial trucking associations. They represent a broad cross-section of the trucking industry with 4,5000 carriers, owner-operators, and industry suppliers. CTA works toward mutually beneficial partnerships with customers, employees, owner-operators, suppliers, and the public while operating in a safe, environmentally, and socially responsible manner.

Alberta Motor Transport Association Doug Paisley, Chair Alberta Motor Transport Association: Since 1938 they have been the connectors, the movers, the carriers, the pulse, the guardians of the highway. They, with their members have advanced the commercial transportation industry through safety programs, progressive policy, and partnerships. Whether it's shaping vital legislation, new regulations, or business practices, the AMTA is on the ground floor, helping command the future of the transportation industry.

Atlantic Provinces Trucking The Atlantic Provinces Trucking Association (APTA) is the trusted and effective voice of the road transport industry that supports its members. Founded in 1956, the APTA is an Atlantic-wide non-profit industry association formed to advocate on advancing and improving the commercial trucking industry in Atlantic Canada. Their vision is a connected Atlantic Canada with the mission of a unified voice for a sustainable transportation industry.

BC Trucking Doug Sutherland, Chairperson BC Trucking Association is a member-based, province-wide, non-partisan, non-profit motor carrier association formed solely to advance the interests of British Columbia motor carriers. Founded in 1913, BCTA membership comprises for-hire and private carriers hauling every conceivable type of freight, including manufactured goods, heavy specialized commodities, bulk products, household goods, and general freight. They also represent motor coach, courier, and waste-management companies, as well as suppliers to the industry.

Manitoba Trucking Association Aaron Dolyniuk, Executive Director Manitoba Trucking Association is an Advocacy Group working on behalf of the Trucking Industry that plays a vital role in Manitoba's economy. There are over 28,000 Manitobans directly employed in the truck transportation sector, and figures show that for every ten jobs created in the trucking industry, seven jobs are created in associated industries. The transportation and warehousing industry employ 5.7% of Manitoba's labor force, and consistently makes up 6 to 7% of the provincial GDP. Not only is trucking a major contributor to Manitoba's economy, but it is also a critical service provider to the rest of the industries driving the Manitoban economy, such as wholesale and retail trade, manufacturing, construction, and agriculture.

Ontario Trucking Association James Steed, CEO Since 1926, OTA has been the voice of responsible trucking in Ontario. Reflecting the size and importance of the Ontario marketplace, OTA is one of the largest trucking associations in North America. It is also considered by politicians and media to be one of the most overall effective, dedicated, and respected trade associations in the province.

Quebec Trucking Association (Association du camionnage du Québec) Martin Lavoie, President The Quebec trucking Association (ACQ) represents more than 500 members, carriers, and public or private providers of products and services whose operations combined represent almost 80% of the transport operations for remuneration in Quebec, and a turnover of 2.5 billion dollars annually. The ACQ acts as the principal voice of the trucking industry with government bodies, institutions of training, committees, and on panel discussions to explore and defend the interests of truckers and the issues facing our industry.

Saskatchewan Trucking Association Susan Ewart, Executive Director In the year 1937, with only 132 miles of paved roads amidst 2,402 miles of gravel roads in Saskatchewan, a dedicated group of truckers recognized the importance of a unified voice in their dealings with the provincial government. Thus, the Saskatchewan Motor Transport Association (SMTA) was born. In the late 1950s, the organization underwent a name change and became the Saskatchewan Trucking Association (STA). Over the years, STA has been a stalwart advocate for the trucking industry, championing various causes from deregulation to weight and dimension standards.

Canada Truck Operators Association Jaskaran Sandhu, executive director is a not a trucker but a lawyer and former executive director of the World Sikh Organization of Canada. The Canada Truck Operators Association (CTOA) is the newest and fastest-growing trucking association in Canada, with members from across the country. It is comprised largely of trucking companies run by people with South Asian backgrounds, promised inclusivity as it demands a seat at the tables where policy and legislation affecting its members are created. The trucking industry has grown immensely over the years, with many new drivers, carriers, and suppliers bringing incredible diversity to a critical part of Canada's economy. Their members move much of Canada's goods every year.

UK Column The UK Column is an independent news organization founded in 2006 by Brian Gerrish, who is a co-editor. Established with no financial backing or external investment, the UK Column remains completely independent of any advertisers, foundations, and political parties. All their funding comes from our viewers, listeners and readers who support them through memberships and donations. Why should I trust the UK Column? Put simply, you shouldn't. The question of whether to trust a news organization is a false choice. It is based on the principle that if you trust the media organization you are visiting, there is no need for you to check the information they present. So, they ask you not to trust them. Instead, view everything published here with a critical eye. Where possible, primary source material is made available for everything they publish: check it; make up your own mind.

We received an interesting email on April 28th from our Australia member. Billy told us, things are getting very concerning in Australia. They rammed through legislation just a few weeks ago for digital ID, the foundation for central bank digital currencies. which I'd say they are looking at introducing in the next 12 to 36 months. So, I attached on the names list a senator who is trying to get the legislation repealed. ANZ bank in Australia has gone 70 percent cashless at branches and you can only withdraw 2000 max per day from atm machine at branches. They have no tellers anymore for example and they are making their move for the introduction of CBDC's. The next Research meeting will be on Sunday May 5th at noon:30 Eastern.

THE HANDOUT FOR HUMANITY

The Handout For Humanity is an on-going effort. It is a brochure you can download, fold in half, and leave behind at the places you visit during your day, such as the coffee shop, waiting room, community bulletin boards, etc., or share with others. Two new Handouts have been created in collaboration with a Canadian member, with a third possibly soon to follow. These handouts take a more direct approach, high-lighting issues specific but not necessarily limited to Canadians. These new Canadian Handouts are posted at MeWe and the be. forum sites, or message Allison Azulay. It's gratifying to see the effect the Handout is having, even within the group. Others are bringing their ideas forward, such as the Blueprint Calling Cards, a new and easy way to bring attention to the Blueprint and the various THI websites as well. We would like to continue to encourage everyone to document with the posting of a photo, or a story being shared regarding a Handout experience. Such as the recent example of a Handout being given to someone who then visited the New Blueprint website, liked what they saw and even downloaded the Blueprint Book. The original Handout is available on the New Blueprint for Humanity website, where a link can be found for downloading the Handout pdf. You can also find it posted on MeWe and the be. forum sites, or message David Adams. Thanks to all the members who are participating!

MEDIA TEAM

The media team have been over-viewing and going back to basics this week. As things are changing with new members coming into the team, we decided to look at everything and go over our original strategy. This gives new members a chance to see how and why we do things. This way we are ensuring we stay aligned with the blueprint and THI. Our real purpose is to plant the seeds of the frequency that the blueprint holds, and the message of truth seeded within the THI shows. As new members join us now, it was an opportunity to give them an overview of why this is needed and why we work in the way that we do. Plus, how they can help with new suggestions while staying aligned to the strategy that is in place. What is important however, is the dedication of the team who show up diligently and never miss an opportunity to create something wonderful daily. Showing great flexibility to roll with the changes and adjust accordingly. Paying it forward and maintaining the ethos of THI and the TPC, which is not always easy as we navigate the changes on a personal level too. When you are working with social media, as it is constantly changing, we have learned to overview this process, rather than taking it personally if certain things don't do well on the accounts. So, we have learned to leave our ego out of it and we just keep moving forward. Shadow banning plays a big part in our accounts not been seen, and we have been depending on the support of the members to break that barrier. Members using their own platforms may not seem beneficial, but one member is receiving very high views by posting our memes on her twitter account, while ours still remain on the low side. It may seem like a small thing, and many may overlook the part they can play in bringing down their system and creating a new one. In the end the biggest change will be to bring down the mainstream media and replace it with ours. So, we are in the training ground for when that time comes, and it will. Thanks to the teachings in the shows, THI members have all the tools it takes to do this, whilst some of us still struggle with the p word. Yes patience, we are learning that everything has its own timing. Changing people's minds is not a one size fits all, it is a process and takes time. But like their programs it takes repetitive actions and persistence. In essence we are reprogramming in reverse using our memes to create a new narrative that benefits the people. The media team are merely like messengers leaving a trail in many places and those that align with that message will find it. It is time for all of us to up our game now and be the way showers to those who need it, even a small act of posting a meme on your own account. Or become part of the new activist team which are coming together using their own personal accounts, to target those that have received a copy of the book or the pdf recently. This can and will make a difference. If you want to be part of the campaign or simply want to use the memes for your own accounts, let us know and we will make them available to you. We post memes every day on the THI main page. You are free to take these and use them where you see fit.

EUROPEAN BLUEPRINT TEAM

We discussed the Military and Defense Industry Solution. NATO will be included in the solutions to be abolished and replaced. It is not acting according to its original purpose, on the contrary. We decided to review this solution and discuss it further in the next meeting.

LAW TEAM

The Law Team is launching a number of initiatives to help make the Law more accessible and easier to understand. Whilst learning how the BAR system has been designed is important to break the illusion of Law that they have created, the complexity can be discouraging. The current system operates on force, fear, fraud and the false hope that the system is corrupt or broken, so we can find remedy and justice will prevail if we persevere. It is designed this way, with enough internet gurus giving out enough truth to confuse and lead us down dead-end alleys, so we never look up to see the truth. Their system is doing what it was designed to do, giving enough hope to keep us in it; for it needs our energy and our consent to keep it alive. The Team met the week of April 21 and have devised the following plan: We will engage the Web Team to start building the Universal Law website where all future content and links will be posted.

We will be writing transcripts and creating presentations referencing the 13-part Intro to Law Series. The idea is to simplify the key points and make it easier to grasp the concepts.

1. Those interested can then continue with deeper studies should they choose to. We are also considering creating a new series of videos from the transcripts that will be easier to follow.
2. We will partner with the Research and Media Teams to create a list of what Common Law and other Law groups, websites and social media platforms on the internet we can find.
3. We will then create memes asking pertinent questions to promote deeper thinking and offer links to THI and the THI Universal Law website.
4. We hope to attract more people to engage with us and study the True Rule of Law and Rita Law.
5. This work will also help us prepare ourselves for future conversations with BP contactees, as it will help us deepen our knowledge and improve on how we communicate concepts, to those who may be unfamiliar with the knowledge or are still bought into the old system.

We will be meeting bi-weekly to track progress. We invite anyone interested in helping out to join the Universal Law group on the be. forum: however, our words of caution, if you want to help, it will require self-study and self-development to the level that you can simplify and explain concepts of Law and Rita Law; there are no short cuts on this journey.

IN OVERVIEW

This week we are going back to basics, a retrospective look at where we are at in the groups and what will work better moving forward. Why is this needed? Simply there are now many overlaps in the groups with varying areas needing more communication together to keep the flow going. It also cuts out on duplications and managing time in a better way, which frees us up to get the work done. In overview it helps serve as a reminder that we are staying on track, keeping our focus, but mostly it increases the energy of the flow. So, in essence, just like the blueprint we must be in the action of creating what we started, and like all projects it keeps evolving and requiring changes. We are levelling up now and focusing on our main strategy becomes vital during this time, we are becoming all-inclusive. At this juncture it is all too easy to fall back to type and get distracted with outside influences, narratives and if not corrected then we have stepped back into the old ways. The old thinking and their programs soon become evident and this in turn has an outward effect. The reminder also of how much shadow work we have or have not yet done. Their world was designed to keep us trapped and looping in their patterns specially created with our consent, and our free will given to them on a plate. But now, as the blueprint states in the first few lines of the preface and it might be a good time for us all to remind ourselves again.

Why is this needed: This world is collapsing under its own weight of failure, fraud, corruption and deceit. It has failed us all and cannot be fixed. We need to build anew in an all-inclusive way that is not based on the failures of the past in any way, shape or form. Their world is indeed collapsing, and we must now learn to pay less attention to their world and focus on what is next, that is creating our own world. And yet we seem to revert back to type very quickly, operating from the head, their program and not the heart, the center of divine creation, the tool that holds the key to freedom and unity and a better way to be. Their divisive programs keep us separated for a good reason, to prevent people of like minds and open hearts from finding each other. They know we hold the true power and spend all their time here, rolling those programs out in one shape or form every few years. We in THI and the blueprint action groups are easily targeted in many ways. Why? because we are converting back to our true selves and removing the harvesting programs from them. We are starving them of our life force, and they don't like it. But they will strengthen their forces and if we are not careful, we end up back in their world, each distraction that ramps up, is our test, will we stay on our path or stray. In overview, it begs the question have we truly recognized the significance of what we are doing or are we still waiting for someone else to step in to take the lead? Are we strong enough to become the leaders of the future, the way showers and the guardians of this planet. Or is our belief system still meandering in the savior programs that are two a penny in their world. First you save yourself, then you save the world, and with that being said, how much attention do you pay to yourself daily. Are you still putting other things as your priority, instead of embracing the new you, and showing up in the world as the blueprint frequency. The blueprint is a unique and simple way, filled with common sense solutions to take back what is ours and begin the task of restoring this planet. This planet also needs Hu mans, Higher Universal Man, men and women that have the real knowledge, the faith, and the providence that will be needed soon by many. We have been given all that through the weekly shows, each one a seed planted within us, what we do with that seed is now on us. We are the first prototype if you like in this current epoch of how to be and how not to be. We are the builders and the planners of the solutions otherwise it remains simply a document. The blueprint for humanity holds a higher frequency and we in turn become that frequency, we vibrate higher becoming the seeds and then the flower. This gives us a chance to become the real power of the true change that is needed to restore what was taken from us. We are learning to remember what we were, and we are now integrating all of this to become the flower. Every time we set out in our day, we as the light bearers the beacons, the way showers shine the light for others that are still jailed in their programs. We do this by simply being our true selves, we are the new future and the representation of the past so that we do not repeat their patterns. It takes time to create new patterns, it takes time to integrate all of who you are, and we are now in the prime time to get this right. To become all of what was missing, become the change that is needed. How much time you spend doing this is down to you and you alone, you have and will always have your free will, what you do with it is now a choice, that choice is yours. Will you take up the challenge the blueprint offers you, and break the patterns of the past, or will you revert back to their type and wait for someone else to save you. What's next, you decide.

The next two episodes of the What is series covers one topic in two parts. A deeper look back and timely reminder of a past show, that hopefully steers you all onto greater heights. This is called What is a guardian? Have we defined it? Well, it was stated clearly enough within the Blueprint document to define it, but the greater question is, have we learned yet to embrace it?

The Guardians

What is the purpose of this document?

To define in a better, proper and lawful way under RITA or Universal Law, our definitions of man, our status and declaration of our claim and sovereignty. Throughout history we have had things determined for us, by people with the intent of controlling and enslaving us whilst harvesting our life force energies, with no fair return in exchange. This is essentially classing man as inferior to certain others, when under the guidance of Source, we are all born as equals. The claiming of people (and souls) as chattel, with our U.N Security cattle code. This is a denigration of man, who is denied the true knowledge and meaning of that transaction. Our wealth which is created at birth is placed into a fund with a CUSIP number and has been cruelly denied to us, by declaring us all dead without our knowledge or consent. This is why they ask us to capitalize our names, notice all headstones are written in the same way. The controllers created, then determined, the meaning of words to a level whereby the average man, woman or child is oblivious to it's actual meaning. This is fraud and deception against humanity of the highest order and major corrections have to be made to rectify not only this situation, but the global collapse situation that is imminent. Our wealth can never be paid back. We are aware of the total collapse of the old banking systems and how all banks are bankrupt due to the secretive double banking system called the front and back systems. The wealth can be paid forward in a way that is fair and transparent, with the will of people to endeavor that all get as near equal share as possible. Our solution to fix that is in our New Blueprint for Humanity.

The definitions:

Person:

1. A person is a 16th century created word defining a fictional form of property, rights and title enclosing certain characteristics and appearances as the identity of one or more living men or women.
2. A person is formed through the valid entry and registration record on a roll. The highest roll defines the greatest rights for a type of person.
3. The word person comes from the Latin word persona, meaning mask, character or part of a play.
4. The invention of person enabled the enclosure of the bodies of living flesh and the alienation of natural rights associated to them, and viewed as a type of property which could be sold, purchased, seized or surrendered.
5. A person may possess greater or lesser authority, powers, rights than another and a natural man or woman may be associated to more than one person.
6. A person may hold beneficial rights of use, but may not lawfully or legally be the holder of title. As an example, a mortgage deed states that clearly; it reveals you are not the homeowner, but you are a tenant.
7. First person is the highest form of person when they possess the competent mind of a natural living man or woman.
8. All-natural living men and women are true persons possessing natural rights associated with a divine trust, when the divine individual spirit conveys these rights on incarnation as a living flesh man or woman, with a mind, body and spirit.
9. Failure to recognize a valid, properly constituted and formed person or the claim of superior jurisdiction by an inferior person cannot ecclesiastically, legally, lawfully or sensibly be sustained without force and coercion; therefore, any subsequent judgement is null and void from the beginning. As well, a natural person attributed to less than a living man or woman or higher order life form is automatically null and void. Attributing a natural or artificial person to an animal, notion or thing is an unnatural and unlawful act.
10. A natural person can never be depreciated to a separate class attributing they possess the lesser form of an animal and any law, precept or decree that separates them into a lesser class of animals is automatically null and void from the beginning.

We the people declare our version of people to be the new and lasting version; All-natural living men and women are true persons possessing natural rights associated with a divine trust, when the divine individual spirit conveys these rights on incarnation as a living flesh man or woman, with a mind, body and spirit. All other meanings, definitions and characterizations placed upon us, as null and void.

Subject:

1. A subject is a 16th century word describing one who owes their allegiance to a higher office or body politic and accepts the jurisdiction (subject jurisdiction) of their laws.
2. The word subject derives from the Latin word subjectio meaning: to submit; to surrender. The word enabled it to replace the concept of vassal and serf (slave) into one word.

We the people reject this definition of us being subjects and declare us all as equals.

Citizen and Denizen:

1 The terms citizen and denizen are 18th century modified terms defining legal effect of the two possible types of status, title, rights, person and estate, when the name of a subject or stranger or alien is registered and enumerated:

a) A denizen (also listed in the United States since 1790 as a lower-case citizen) is a non-resident alien enfranchised by the sovereign power, retaining full possession of their name, therefore, their person and any associated title and derivatives thereof, enabling the enjoyment to rights of property ownership, commerce and to hold office or dignity. However, a denizen may not inherit lands by descent.

b) A citizen is a naturalized or natural born resident, surrendering ownership of their name; therefore, their person or any associated title and derivatives thereof, but granted certain rights and privileges such as right of property ownership, commerce and to hold certain offices of dignities as well as to inherit the use of lands by descent.

2. The original creation of citizen referred to the 14th century members of the Livery Companies in London (known as guilds, such as the BAR Guild today), who were known collectively as the citizens of London.

3. The word denizen was originally formed in the 16th century to permit strangers and aliens to acquire property, titles and official positions in England. The word comes from 2 Latin words: deni, meaning ten or ten times and zona, meaning belt, sash or girdle; hence, literally meaning: one who possesses ten times the skill (belt, sash, girdle) than a natural born citizen. This enabled the Venetian/Khazar exiles from Pisa and Venice and the noble families to become the most influential families in England.

4. The first use of citizen in statute was in the 1787 Constitution of the United States, and was in lower case. The creation of upper-case Citizens was through a US Congress Act in 1790 providing for the enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States, which used marshals and militia as well as massive fines and threat of violence to enforce people to register for the census and identify themselves as upper-case Citizens.

5. The US Congress Chapter XXXIV, an act making provisions for the payment of the debt of the United States in 1790, then introduced the notion of annuities hidden as bonds and contributors hidden as subscribers against names, lives and persons listed as upper-case Citizens. The annuities under the guise of bonds were a means of financing such things as war efforts, the accumulating debts of which continues to be passed onto the Citizens themselves.

6. In the 18th century the meaning of citizen and denizen as well as the etymological roots were modified using the Basque language to change the meaning:

a) The word citizen was redefined from 2 words, cito (kito) meaning finished, over, terminated and izen, meaning name; hence, Citizen or CITIZEN mean one without ownership or possession of a name, without control of their own estate.

b) The word denizen was redefined from 2 words, dena meaning everything, all and izen meaning name; hence, Denizen means one who possesses everything and all associated with the name, without control of their own estate.

7. From the early 20th century, a quasi-form of citizen was formed as the CITIZEN or corporate member, equivalent to an upper-case Citizen of a state or country, but for a corporation. This applies to the U.S. government citizenship, as the U.S. government is not a government at all, but a corporation operating as the said government, under the auspices of USA Incorporated.

8. The legal meaning and application of citizen, Citizen, CITIZEN remains central to the claimed legitimacy of the global bonds, annuities, estates, birth certificates and cestui que vie structure, that underpins the hidden model of enslavement of people on behalf of certain private banks.

We the people do not accept our roles as denizen or citizen upper or lower case, which was perpetrated by fraud and deceit and declare it null and void. We declare and claim our equal rights, annuities, estates, bonds and birth certificates under the cestui que vie, and demand a proportional share, equal to that of all others.

Resident:

1. The word resident is a legal form describing a particular status of a person as bound to certain fiduciary obligations, attached to an office or a dwelling by virtue of occupation, intention and demonstration of use of such property.

2. The word originates from the 16th century from 2 Latin words res meaning property, thing, object, form, matter and sedere, meaning seat (of office). The word referred to the formalization of benefices, or official estates associated with certain offices of parsons; whereby, those appointed to such positions were duty-bound to be present to attend to their duties.

3. Resiant, a similar word to resident, was also created in the 17th century as a return to feudal law that bound serfs (slaves) to the lands of their lords, by describing the obligations and benefit of being a tenant at will. The concept that once the tenant accepted the benefit of the tenancy, occupied and used the land, the tenant was obligated to remain on their lot and could not travel without permission from their lord. In other words they were imprisoned at the behest of the lord.

4. In the 18th century with the replacement of tenancy at will with copyhold tenancies, the term resiant was replaced with resident to describe the obligation of tenants to remain on the land of their landlord, subject to the jurisdiction of the law and not travel unless in possession of a certificate or warrant; this is the origin of the birth certificate.

5. At the same time landlords and senior officials were granted the description of non-residents, meaning they were not bound to their benefice and could travel freely within certain bounds without need of certificates or permission.

We the people do not accept these roles as residents, which was perpetrated by fraud and deceit and declare it null and void.

Public:

1. Public is a 16th century created legal term describing a new form of ownership, rights and conditions of agreement, whereby true owners are hidden or presumed to be not known, while the community of slaves determines its own affairs as the people or shares power (through parliament) with a ruling class as part of a state.

2. The word public is derived from conjoining of the Latin word pube(s), meaning age of majority, young adult or adult population and liceo, meaning to be for sale, to have a price/value; hence the literal meaning of public is: an adult population for sale. An adult population possessing value as property for community commerce. A self-governing community of hidden commercial slaves.

3. Since the 18th century, the Roman church claim of absolute ownership of all men and women, open slavery was abolished and replaced with the continued and hidden voluntary slavery.

We the people are not public servants or slaves, which was perpetrated by fraud and deceit and declare it null and void.

Private:

1. Private is a 16th century created legal term describing a special and secretive form of ownership, rights or conditions of agreement or action whereby one or more persons are legally permitted to deprive rights of others.
2. The word private is derived from combining the Latin words privo, meaning to deprive, rob, steal, take away, and -atus, a Latin suffix equivalent to -ed in English; hence the literal meaning of private is: legal deprivation, robbing, stealing or seizure.
3. The most common form of the secretive form of private right is called a Letter of Marque. One who holds or possesses a Letter of Marque is normally termed a privateer and one who acts in such a manner without a proper Letter of Marque is called a pirate. The pirates of the seas came onto the land and claimed Maritime Law, in essence.

We the people are not privates, nor do we accept the role of privateers. Pirates are criminals and so under law many criminals have no rights in relation to others, and so it is null and void.

State:

A state is a 16th century political term meaning the formal recognition of a country or a territory as, a legitimate independent sovereign entity by virtue of an act of recognition by statute from a body politic or another country.

1. The word state is derived from the Latin word statuo, connected to the word statute. Hence, a state literally means a body formed through statute.
2. A state remains the highest formal recognition of sovereignty.
3. A nation cannot formally be recognized as a state. A state subsequently recognized as a nation by definition surrenders its sovereign status as a state in the process.

We the people reject the use of states declared under false premises, and hence, is null and void. We the people wish for the country known as America (not US or U.S.) to be declared as a sovereign nation, with all inhabitants thereof, to be of equal rights.

Republic:

1. A republic is a 16th century legal term describing an aristocratic form of government which derives all of its power directly or indirectly from the consent of an elite body of members known as the people, in which executive power is lodged in certain offices to which qualified members are then chosen by the general population for a limited period.

2. The word republic is derived from the 16th century conjoining of the Latin words res, meaning interest, from affairs, business, matter, wealth; pube(s) meaning age of majority, young adult or adult population and liceo, meaning to be for sale, to have a price/value; hence, the literal meaning of republic is community wealth, commonwealth. The concept of commonwealth and republic are one and the same. Which means America is under the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth and a subsidiary of The Crown agents of London.

People:

We the people, not citizens of any form of government, sovereign people with a free will choice that are not connected or corded to any organization, political or otherwise.

Human:

There are 3 versions of hu-man; The hu in human has three meanings: higher universal, the Sumerian Anunnaki term hu means serpent, in Sanskrit it means dragon. We are defining and declaring our new version as hu, meaning higher universal man, not serpent or dragon man. Our freedom to choose what version to be is a universal right, not an Earth-based privilege.

We the people reject all legal terms and their definitions. Legalese means the language of babble or baby talk, and hence, it makes no sense. This means those that operate in it are not of sound mind, they are to be declared incompetent and unable to operate or administer it under natural or RITA law. As sovereign beings and guardians we claim and take full responsibility for the restoration plan, on behalf of the collective and on behalf of the planet herself until a global referendum can be initiated.

The definitions and the defining of all of the above back to its original intentions and meaning, is our declaration of sovereignty and our claim of equal rights to other people, equal rights in terms of wealth distribution and equal rights in our claim of a fair share of all minerals of the Earth given to us by the Creator.

Claim of Title

Before any higher order society, religion or civilization existed within the star system called the solar system, or any other star system; before the first thoughts, symbols or words were ever conceived, drawn or spoken by the ancestors of human beings alive today; and, before even life or matter existed, the idea of existence did exist in the form of that ideal called god (Source), the universal, the absolute, the divine unique collective awareness. It is to this unifying and singular force that the ancestors of human beings alive today directed their invocations. It is this one, true and absolute divine creator of all existence who bestowed in trust, to all living men and women, certain irrevocable rights and obligations in perpetual remembrance as trustees and guardians, for all life on planet Earth. Every unique unit of spirit that separates from the divine unique collective awareness, to experience itself as an individual is equal in abilities and full rights of ownership of itself, have been conveyed to it in trust by the divine unique collective awareness. When a unique spirit decides to incarnate on any planet, it conveys full rights of ownership and use of the mind and the physical body in trust. The divine unique collective awareness is the divine creator of all things in the universe. As the creator of planet Earth, the divine creator can be the only owner of the planet; thus, when a unique spirit incarnates on planet Earth, the divine creator, as grantor, conveys full rights of ownership and use of all resources on the planet to each individual spirit, mind and body; thus, each individual spirit is general executor, sovereign of its mind and body and the planet. Each individual mind is the trustee, with full title of ownership of the body. The body is the beneficiary, enjoying the right of use of all resources equally with every other unique individual living on planet Earth. As trustees and beneficiaries, all individual living men and women share these rights and obligations equally.

Each individual living man and woman has the absolute right of free will and choice. As individuals do not live alone, no individual being with a conscious mind and self-awareness has the right to usurp this absolute right of another individual being. As guardians of planet Earth, each individual living man and woman has equal claim of right of use of all resources on planet Earth; therefore, each individual has the obligation to ensure they use only what resources are needed to live a fulfilling and productive life, in order to sustain life, exercise their creativity and develop their natural abilities to the fullest extent. By incarnating on planet Earth, each individual living man and woman has given their express consent, to be self-responsible and has consented to their obligations to ensure planet Earth is cared for, so that all resources on the planet are shared equally, sustained and available for future generations. Rights of use of the necessities of life (water, food, shelter, energy and clothing) are to be shared equally. No individual living man or woman may enclose these absolute rights to control and profit from them unequally.

Any conscious, self-aware being that denies these absolute truths and works to usurp the free will and choice of others through the creation of models and systems designed to enslave, whether by voluntary or involuntary means that presume implied consent, denies the existence of the divine unique collective awareness and demonstrate complete incompetence of mind. In doing so, these entities lose all rights and entitlements, and any claimed authority or titles are null and void from the beginning. In this instance, all individual, self-responsible and self-aware beings with competent minds, have the obligation and right to claim their absolute rights and restore the true rule of law on planet Earth. It will take time to develop and implement such systems; hence, an undefined transition period; whereby, the old system remains functional, will be required to minimize suffering as the new systems are phased in. Any use of existing systems is out of necessity and does not imply consent to any statutes, rules, regulations, ordinances or presumptions made by the existing authorities. Full disclosure has never been given. Consent requires full disclosure in order for a conscious being to exercise their free will and choice based on the truth; therefore, consent cannot be implied nor presumed to have been given when using the existing systems out of necessity due to the lack of disclosure and the occult nature of the model and systems.

Sovereignty

What does it mean to be sovereign, and how do we claim sovereignty? To answer this question, we must define what the original meaning of the word sovereign is, and how ideas in motion (models and systems) influence our ability to be sovereign. Sovereign is an 8th century CE word first defined in Sacre Loi (sacred law of the Carolingians) to describe one anointed by god as having supreme, independent authority to rule a political region known as a realm. The word is derived from the combination of two ancient Latin words, sover meaning saviour, and regno meaning to rule, to be supreme lord. Hence, a sovereign literally means, by its original etymology, to rule and reign as a saviour. Meaning we are our own savior.

By this definition, any man or woman claiming or appointed to such high office is obligated to the three ancient and primary tasks, being: to protect the realm, protect the law and protect the people:

- i) To protect and defend a realm is the first obligation of a sovereign as a legally defined entity, defined territory, possessing its own personality and rights.
- ii) To protect and defend the law of a realm is the second obligation of a sovereign to ensure rule of law, justice and equality prevail.
- iii) To protect, defend and teach the people of a realm is the third sacred obligation.

To claim oneself sovereign and claim sovereignty of the land we occupy is a tremendous responsibility. It is not something done merely through filing papers or notices through the courts. We first must be sovereign of spirit, mind and body. Being sovereign takes knowing you are significant, you are powerful, you have an eternal divine mind/spirit that can never die. That of your own free volition (free will), you accept the obligations that come from accepting the absolute sovereignty of your spirit, mind and body, when claiming the natural rights and rights of use of this planet that were conveyed at birth. Sovereigns are entrusted as guardians to only take what is needed and to look after the planet as well as our family and community, for current and future generations. It takes living a life of virtue, moral courage, integrity, competence, joy and compassion and a will to serve others for the benefit of all. As we claim our sovereignty, it is helpful to define the models and systems that influence our daily lives and impact our ability to be sovereign. Life is a dream, and the dreams have rules, dreams become ideas, ideas become things, models and systems. The world is full of models and systems that originate with dreams and ideas. A model can be described as an idea in motion. Society operates on manufactured ideas in motion (models and systems). Legal, health, financial and transport systems etc. abound and are the collection of ideas originating from many people that change and adapt over time. This is a natural process.

The greatest natural process of all is, just follow your heart. A change of show night for next week's show, it will be on a different night as I have another engagement, the show will be 5.30pm MT on Wednesday May 15th.
