

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2024-06-20

The Blueprint Episode 24 Teams Report week ending 16th June 2024.

The Agenda:

On this week's agenda some of the topics discussed were as follows: Strategy for contacting US politicians who did not receive AIPAC money. As these contacts require us to fill in a contact form with name, home address, email and contact, phone number we are asking if anyone in the following states, Hawaii, Vermont, Kentucky, West Virginia, and two officials in California, would assist with this information. It will be kept private, and you can fill in the details yourself if you prefer. If you want to help, please contact us on the be. platform or the main mewe chat.

Merchandise, T shirts.

Suzanne found a US clothing printer who is willing to print T-shirts in multiple colors, without setup fees, and for only $10 with both front and back graphics. Mama Z put up $200 for the initial run. The shipping seems to be between 6 to 7 bucks. Any inspiring print ideas should be submitted in png format. Printing outside the US would likely be cheaper/wiser if done in the local countries, so foreign volunteers or printers can still be contacted. An interest in hoodies and stickers was also widely expressed.

Ideas to attract more members to join our group:

With the above-mentioned clothing and stickers to promote our vibe and message, members discussed personal interactions and follow-up with local folks in our community. Starting conversations with those we come across in daily life, and finding common ground quickly seemed to be working well, as it always has. Reaching out to influential folks (podcasters, youtubers, journalists, etc) organically and suggesting an interview with Thomas came up. If a dozen or so different people recommend the same topics/person, they're more likely to notice and take interest or action. The phrases "Planting Seeds," "We are the Change," and "Think Differently" were used a lot during this discussion. The power of listening was also emphasized. We are always looking to attract new members to our lively blueprint meetings, so if you have been pondering on some ideas lately, feel free to come and join in the conversations every second Thursday at 12.30 MT time. You will find the link to the zoom in the Be.platform in the Blueprint Action meeting group section. We look forward to seeing you.

Book Team:

The Book Team discussed the impact of the Blueprint handouts. One member described the enthusiastic reaction to one created specifically to focus on the issues uppermost in the minds of members of her community. So, another member has decided to write alternative text for her country, in response to feedback she has been receiving. The new version will be sent to the handout designer as soon as possible. The Hebrew and German translators are working on From His Story to Our Story Volume 2. From His Story to Our Story Volume 4 has been sent for final approval and initial formatting has begun. The Romanian version of the Consent booklet has been completed and sent to the Web Team and will soon be on thinkdifferent.thepeoplesclub.org.

Research Team:

Last month the Research Team prepared for the absence of the database manager and his wife, our team secretary. The advance preparation progressed well with another forty pdf emails sent and several contact forms completed with links to the website and pdf included. These helped us have names, contact and biographical information for two more shows with twenty names each show until we are a full team again. Regular business matters included the team revisiting the ‘Help Wanted’ ad created by a member. It was important to have placement arenas identified and volunteer task assignments clarified before posting it. We determined that the Be Forum THI section and the THI Mewe main chat will be the best placement sites. We created a guideline / task list for new team members that we plan to also post on the Be Forum after a final edit in our next meeting. We hope it will help potential volunteers see how easy it is to help us by doing a simple online search, then cutting and pasting information into an email to send off to the database manager. It helps the team spread the work out rather than relying on just a few people to do hours of work on hundreds of names. We are happy to report that three new members joined the team in response to the ad.

Regarding time, we discussed how to individually trim down the time we give our research mission each week and month. Many of our team members, as well as the show listeners, are on multiple teams that also have bi-weekly zoom meetings and other tasks for those teams. It is the responsibility of each member to arrange their personal and team tasks based on their personal priorities, to effectively manage the amount of volunteer time they have available daily, weekly, monthly, or bi-monthly. It will vary with each member, but it is important to prioritize self-care. It is helpful to the team to know they are not overloading members and be able to divide up tasks whenever necessary. Our goal is to enjoy helping spread the Blueprint around the globe. The team touched on some internal and external, intra and inter Team communication changes to smooth exchanges, facilitate record keeping and help to meet reporting deadlines.

Adding some sunlight glitter to the research ocean were several positive Twitter responses to outreach by our team members. A Canadian politician is now Twitter following our female member who sent him an email, then followed up with a Twitter Blueprint meme. A prominent young rapper is following one of our grandmotherly members who sent him the #newblueprintforhumanity. She also received a nice return email from another group she had filled out a contact form at High Wire.com to reach Del Bigtree. You will hear more about him further on in this report. The response was:

Thank you for your email and information. We will forward this to our team and if we have further questions, we will be in touch with you. We are honored to hear your ideas and for you to reach out to us. It is this kind of collaboration that moves us forward. Respectfully, Kari Black ICAN (icandecide.org)

Another Canadian member saw an interesting article in an online news site called The Post Millennial. It was about the 'My Child June 3rd Movement' and its leader Kamal El-Cheikh written by the lead journalist David Krayden. We quote David here from his last week (June 3rd) article: The headline was, Schools Must Stop Indoctrinating Our Children: Join the My Child June 3rd -5th School Walk-Out. The subheading was, Enough of Pride Month! Let children be children and stop the abuse, the politics, and the propaganda at school. Hands Off Our Children is the group leading the movement. It is run by the Ottawa businessman and Muslim Kamel El-Cheikh. They just think the schools should be teaching their children how to read and write and not how to experiment with a cornucopia of sexual experience. Our Canadian member also took immediate action, found Kamel on Linked In and promptly sent him the link to the BP website.

Our Portugal member sent a copy of the book to someone he felt was an influencer and that specific gentleman has now been connected with our Thomas, so interesting things are going on in the background. We applaud our members and listeners for taking the personal initiative to respond so promptly when inspired by their hearts to action. We also especially appreciate that they let the Research Team know about their outreach, so we can add the information to the database and let listeners hear more about success stories.

We are always finding new ways to make this report better and more exciting. The questions we ask for each influencer are: What did this person do that makes them stand out as in alignment with our ideas for change in the Blueprint? Do they have a large audience or strong podium that we believe they can shout the merits of our solutions from? Can we imagine Thomas on their show or podcast sharing it from that rooftop?

Here are the influencers meeting that criteria for this episode with props going out to the Activist Team and the Media Team for discovering and suggesting the first 5 trenders.

Jesus Enrique Rosas: Is Venezuelan born, living in Florida. He is known as the body language guy on YouTube. He has 613K subscribers, 356 videos, with 95,636,954 views since April 12, 2018. He calls himself a Human Behavior Analyst – Lord of Memes. His most popular clip is, How Prince Andrew accidentally revealed his filthiest secret with over 1.5 million downloads. He uses Proprietary AI software to analyze facial expressions to break down where and when a person is most likely being deceitful. He combines that with his body language expertise and has the distinction of being the first person in his field to start a training and certification program for body language coaches.

Eritrean President Isaias Afwerki: Eritrea is one of the least developed countries in the world, ranked last out of 180 countries by Reporters Without Borders in 2022 in their Press Freedom Index. It moved up to 174th in 2023. Eritrea, officially called the State of Eritrea, is a country in the Horn of Africa region of Eastern Africa, with its capital and largest city at Asmara. It shares its borders with Sudan on the west, Ethiopia to the south, and Djibouti to the southeast. Its eastern and northeastern coastline lies along the Red Sea. The country is a unitary one-party presidential republic in which national legislative and presidential elections have never been held. Isaias Afwerki has served as president since shortly after he led the Eritrean People's Liberation Front to victory on 24 May 1991, ending the 30-year-old war for independence from Ethiopia. In addition to being president, Isaias has been the Chairman of Eritrea's sole legal political party, the People's Front for Democracy and Justice. Eritrea has never had a functioning constitution, no elections, no legislature and no published budget. Afwerki has been the sole power in the country, controlling its judiciary and military. Hence, scholars and historians view him as a dictator and describe his regime as totalitarian, by way of forced conscription. The United Nations and Amnesty International cite him for human rights violations. Making enemies with them, in our THI Blueprint world, is NOT a terrible thing. It is a sign he could be one of the enlightened best recipients of the Blueprint, as he and we strive to change most everything we have grown up knowing and fighting, which is the global corrupt system. We present his own words at a recent global conference released in a short TikTok video that shows him speaking, then jumps to Vladimir Putin intently listening to him as he campaigns and pleads for acceptance of the country he so loves and wants it respected on the world stage. Imagine this tiny Eritrea is being contained by them, we are being punished with their sanctions. Every time, we have to be punished, because we are not bowing to their conditions. We are a very small threat, we are not even a threat to them, but they have to contain us. Sanctions, sanctions, sanctions, sanctions, conflict here, conflict there. No. I think we need to strategize and I say Russia will have to lead this strategy. Russia will have to design a plan on facing this declared war not only on Russia, but it is a global war. Everybody should come and join Russia on this strategy. The sooner the better, the easier way we can control this hegemonistic strategy and frustrate that strategy. We will get peace, development will come, nobody is going to bother us. Do our listeners agree that our Blueprint could help him help his country? The common problems and the creative solutions in it are what we will use to improve ours and what we are preparing to implement in the very near future. The man is trying to think differently. As the THI motto reminds us: A Hand-Up over a Hand-Out and our Blueprint has made it to his email inbox for that very purpose.

Grace Naledi Mandisa Pandor: Is a South African politician, educator and academic serving as the Minister of International Relations and Cooperation since 2019. She has served as a Member of Parliament for the African National Congress since 1994. She is fighting the same dark with Afwerki and ourselves.

Warren Smith: He is the Founder of the Secret Scholar Society on YouTube and discusses The Art of Thinking Critically. He offers lessons on critical thinking. Journalist Lou Dobbs wrote a news article about Warren titled: Censorship in the classroom. Teacher allegedly fired for committing the most heinous crime of encouraging his students to think critically. Thinking critically? Well, I never. Our THI listeners understand very well the importance of thinking differently and critically.

The final of our top five “trenders” is a suggestion by the Irish member of the Media Team. Youth-demand.org: Eleven years ago, back in 2013, some middle school students in New York City started a petition that inspired students in London. All those students would have been 13 to 14 years old then and are now 24 to 25. Initially, the NYC group started their campaign this way: We are four eighth graders, from LREI in NYC, trying to stop gun violence in America. We took on the Social Justice topic of Gun Violence because we are very passionate about this topic and too many people are dying. We have met with various anti-gun violence organizations throughout the United States and will continue to make our voice heard. That campaign led to their NYC Mayor Eric Adams issuing a Blueprint to End Gun Violence, creating a Gun Violence Prevention Task Force, setting up an office in the city’s Criminal Justice Dept. to prevent gun violence and created A Blueprint for Community Safety. The UK Youth Demand.org group website tells us the most about their efforts: A group of young people are stepping into resistance and will be taking action in London on the 1st of June and 22nd of June [2024] and causing mass disruption every Saturday in July. There can be no ‘business as usual’ until Palestine is free! We at THI have done and continue doing our part to wake up the collective consciousness. We send our congratulations to the Youth Demand group and the other four influencers mentioned for acting with Truth, Honor, and Integrity. We see the wheels of justice beginning to turn. We feel the energy and frequency rising.

Next are a few select others joining the tsunami of change:

Neil Oliver: To quote the YouTuber Scotsman directly, It's going to get ugly! Just what we've been saying! The enemy is angry and frightened, angry and frightened as never before. Wounded predators are lashing out. In the end, in spite of all the chaos caused, the enemy is just pissing in the wind, in the end there is nothing in there, an empty void. Furthermore, the enemy is weaker now than ever been, it's more exposed than ever been, therefore likely sometime to come to be more distractive and meddlesome than ever been. But if enough of us hold the line now, by so doing encouraging others to wake up and do likewise the enemy is going down. Not today, not tomorrow, but in the end the enemy is going down.

Moms Across America: Is a national coalition of unstoppable moms. They accomplish this by doing what they do best: Caring about their families and community and sharing with them about food, GMOs, pesticides and health. They have an opportunity to bring awareness about health issues to our neighbors, communities and nation and stand together, thousands in our hometowns and millions nationally, empowered, and unified, for our kids' healthy future.

Valeria Wasserman Chomsky: Is a Brazilian translator. She is the second and current wife of American linguist, author, philosopher, and social critic, Noam Chomsky. He said in an interview If the Nuremberg principles were applied, every post WW2 president would be indicted on war crimes.

A15 Action Group: Is a new worldwide freedom group formed early in 2024 to fight fascism and to end occupation of Palestine. By blocking arteries of capitalism and jamming wheels of production to disrupt the global economy that is complicit in genocide.

Derrick Broze: Founded The Conscious Resistance Network and serves as its editor-in-chief. It is an independent media organization focused on empowering individuals through education, philosophy, health and community organizing. They work to create a world where corporate and state power do not rule over the lives of free human beings.

Dan Astin-Gregory: Is the Founding Director of Free Humanity. His mission is to elevate humanity and enrich the world. Over the past decade, Dan has directly impacted the lives of more than 100,000 entrepreneurs and business leaders from over ninety different countries with his work in human potential, leadership and entrepreneurship. He is also the Founder of Elevate International, a change making organization dedicated to creating thought-provoking podcasts to address some of the most pressing issues facing humankind. He is currently campaigning to Say No to the WHO. Organized the Road to Geneva group.

Del Bigtree: Is the one whose team responded to our members contact form submission. He was also in the Road to Geneva group. He is an American television and film producer who is the CEO of the anti-vaccination group Informed Consent Action Network. He produced the film Vaxxed: From Cover-Up to Catastrophe based on opinions of Andrew Wakefield and proposes a connection between vaccines and autism. His podcast, The High Wire with Del Bigtree, describes itself as high above the circus of mainstream media spin, with death-defying talk without the corporate safety net. At the beginning of his show, he describes his media channel as follows: Have you noticed that this show does not have any commercials? I am not selling you diapers or vitamins or smoothies cause I do not want any corporate sponsors telling me what I can investigate or what I can say instead. You are the sponsors. This is the production by our non-profit informed consent action network.

Robert Verkerk, PhD: Also joined in the Road to Geneva freedom convoy. Dr Verkerk founded the Alliance for Natural Health International and serves as its executive and scientific director. He has directed legal actions to protect the right to natural health, been at the forefront of developing science-based approaches to evaluating risks and benefits of natural therapies. He has been the principal scientist developing a new model for proactive, health regeneration and health system sustainability. They call themselves The Alliance for Natural Health USA for a reason. As a grassroots advocacy organization, they align themselves with citizens from across the United States to stand up for the right of all Americans to choose natural and regenerative, optimum health for people and the planet. They also work collaboratively with other organizations with similar goals to maximize their reach and the pressure they can exert on policymakers.

Abby Marti: Is a journalist, TV presenter and activist. Her husband Mike Prysner is a political activist and a U.S. Army veteran who served in Iraq as a specialist. She developed the Empire Files to record a world shaped by war and inequality from the inside perspective of history's biggest empire.

David 'Avocado' Wolfe: Is a speaker, author, biodynamic organic farmer, earth activist, peak performance coach, adventurer. He describes himself as the rock star and Indiana Jones of the superfoods and longevity multiverse. He promotes raw foodism, alternative medicine and anti-vaccine sentiment. In keeping with his commitment to a sustainable planet and lifestyle, Wolfe is the founder of the non-profit Fruit Tree Planting Foundation, whose goal is to plant 18- billion fruit trees on planet Earth. He gained his nickname in 2004, when he starred as "Avocado" in the reality television show Mad-Mad House, which aired on the Science Fiction Channel. Since then, he has become an underground celebrity with what his website states as inspired and informative clips on YouTube.

Ty Bollinger: Is a health freedom advocate, cancer researcher, former competitive bodybuilder, documentary film producer, radio show host and author. After losing several family members to cancer, he refused to accept the notion that chemotherapy, radiation and surgery, were the most effective treatments available for cancer patients. He began a quest to learn all he possibly could about alternative cancer treatments and the medical industry. Ty has now made it his life mission to share the most remarkable conclusion he has drawn from his quest. He believes the vast majority of all diseases, including cancer, can be easily prevented and even cured without drugs or surgery.

Anastasija Rebecca Blasband: Works with clients in several areas, including detoxification of the Central Nervous System, overall health, recovery from illness and injuries, personal evolution and energy wellness. In addition, Anastasija works with an emphasis on brain development and neurological repair for people whose systems are compromised by physical trauma, recreational or pharmaceutical drugs, and children who have been identified as autistic or functioning autistic. She also focuses on women's reproductive issues, including hormonal imbalance, infertility, and Polycystic ovary syndrome. She works with the whole person, spirit and mind, using the Levashov Method. She worked with and studied with Nicolai Levashov for 20 years.

Greg Stoker: Is an activist, anti-imperialist, veteran. He hosts, along with Mark Wayne, as a YouTube podcaster self-titled as Colonial Outcasts, to talk about history, anthropology, military science and whatever else gets the point across.

Richard A Werner: Is a Member of Linacre College, Oxford and is a university professor in banking and finance. He is also a founding chair of Local First, a community interest company establishing not-for-profit community banks in the UK (including the Hampshire Community Bank). His recommended charity is the Association for Research on Banking and the Economy. On his YouTube channel he discusses how money is made out of thin air. He has gone back 5,000 years researching the banking system. Our FHSTOS goes back even further!

Our final influencer concludes the Research Team Report, she is: Chantelle Meyburgh: The YouTube host of Aquarius Rising Africa and Solutions with Aquarius Rising Africa, sharing inconvenient truths. She is a soul alchemist, healer, alchemical coach, animal whisperer, yoga teacher, author, founder of SunKidz SoulSchool and Source Academy. Hosting talks, facilitating individual healing sessions and transformational workshops for adults and kids. One of her frequent show guests is an illuminati insider & whistleblower named Jesse Czetobar.

Media Team:

With things really ramping up now on the social media and mainstream media front, there is direct evidence to support a huge turn in people's opinions towards the governments and the hidden agendas the elites have been playing on the people. Truth seekers are coming out now more and more as they pick up their courage and are either exposing those involved or giving out their own personal experiences within certain high-ranking organizations and corporations. This has given us the media team a chance to cash in now. This week we discussed a new approach that may lead us closer to attracting their attention. How can we do this is to bypass the way the platforms want us to use our posts? Which is dependent on them to put it out into the algorithm or do we use a different tactic? One that goes the more personal approach, and one that we have more control over. An example of this is the recent surge in follow trains, whereby you follow people that comment on a follow train post, they then follow your account and vice versa. This increases your followers who then see your posts in their feeds daily, which sets the stage for planting the Blueprint into their subconscious, whether they happen to like your type of content or not. Thus creating a broader section of the general public, that would not normally be interested in the deeper levels of the truth about this planet and the fat controllers. We have taken this even further by connecting with those that take the time to follow us. By first liking their posts, and then asking them to go and like ours back. This then improves our visibility on the platform as each like pushes your account higher in the algorithm. We then ramped it up a bit more by introducing who we are, what we do and sending a link to the Blueprint or advising them of a show they might like, if they are covering a certain topic that aligns with THI. This has been having a great response and has brought back the human interaction to using social media, it creates a connection that is organic and does not depend on the bots in any way. AI and social media, have come between us, by making us believe that followers and likes matter more than a five-minute interaction with a human, blocking the human touch as it were. These people may then go on to speak to others about that conversation or become more interested in learning more about us and the blueprint for humanity. It is the one thing they do not want us to do, come together, they want us separated by a screen, and this bypasses the true heart connection, that in person meet ups create. Chatting even online gives you a sense of a person, you can read their frequency, and gain a broader perspective of them and they you. Whether or not they become your best friend or avid follower does not really matter, as the engagement has left an impression, far more than reading a meme can do. It is far more enjoyable than simply posting something and waiting for someone to click like. We also discussed whether we should open a Blueprint account for each European country and put out the memes in their language. While this is a great idea, it would take far more time for us at this time to manage it all. So, the suggestion was made for anyone in Europe that wants to go this route that they can look at opening a twitter, TikTok or Instagram account in their own name or a username and post the same memes or any they like from the vast array of them we have now. It seems that personal accounts are getting far more traction than the main accounts, as we are heavily shadow banned for one. It also gives the viewer a more personal perspective of how the Blueprint has already reached individuals and is making an impact. This is promoting the Blueprint in a more personal way and will aid our reach far wider in many more countries. If anyone would like to follow along with this, please get in touch and we will make sure you have the memes and videos necessary to post on your own pages. This is a great way to help us out at the media team, and the translated memes make it more personal to each country. If you want to get involved, get in touch with us through the be. platform or the main chat on Mewe.

Law Team:

Work continues on editing the transcripts and developing presentations of the Fundamentals of Law Series for the new website. It takes about a week to fully edit each unit, so it will take 6 to 8 weeks to complete the series, then work can start on the presentations to match the transcripts. Part 1, The Fundamentals of Law, is complete and Part 2, What is a Trust, what are Rights and how to claim them will be completed soon. Editing the material led to the question, why is it important to know what a Trust is, what Rights are and how to claim them? Many people think of these concepts as legalese and of no import. Whilst it feels good to claim I do not consent to something, and claim I have natural rights, how does this have meaning and application in life if all we do is yell? Actions speak louder than words, words remain empty if we do not have the knowledge that empowers positive action that can bring about change for the better. So, why is the knowledge of where the concepts of a Trust and Rights came from, what a Trust is, what are Rights and how to claim them important? When we accept the notion that a Divine Creator created the Universe, the galaxies, stars and planets, including our solar system and planet Earth, a question we may ask is who owns the Earth and everything on it? Rule of Sequence states that an object or concept created cannot exist before the object or concept that created it; thus, the Divine Creator, the Unique Collective Awareness, came first and created the objects and concepts. Rule of Relation states that an object or concept cannot be greater than its creator. A creation can have no more or greater power or rights than its creator, from where they were derived, just as a child has no greater power or rights than its parents who created it. When the Divine Creator decides to separate a single unit of itself to have an individual experience, it creates an immeasurable spirit that is a piece of itself, with equal rights and powers conveyed to it in a Divine Trust. When an individual immeasurable spirit decides to incarnate upon the Earth in a physical body, it conveys all rights to the living man or woman in a True Trust. Logic determines that a creator owns its creation; thus, the Divine Creator owns all that it created. Those that use someone else's creation cannot own it, but can have rights of use of the creation conveyed to them. In other words, no one can own the land or the Earth as we did not create it; however, we can live upon the Earth with equal rights of use of everything upon it. This is an important concept that underpins thousands of years of law relating to the use of land, the rights to a domicile, water, food and rights of use of the fruits produced on the land. Thus, it is an absurdity to state that the Divine Creator promised land to one group of people only. All are created equal with equal rights and equal rights of use of the land. Living men and women did not create the Earth nor any living being nor any other objects or resources upon it. A soul/spirit animates a flesh and blood body of a living man or woman that it did not create but was created for it by its parents. Thus, rights of ownership and use of the body, and rights of use of the Earth and everything upon it are conveyed to each individual for a temporary period of time in order to sustain physical life. The rights held in trust by the living man or woman form a bond between each individual and the Divine Creator. Through its own volition, free will, a spirit decides to experience a physical life, and in doing so consents to the full rights, obligations and responsibilities that come with it; hence, a trust is formed. Trust in the Divine Creator granting equal rights to all, and the trust placed in each living man and woman consenting to live in a self-responsible manner, as individual Guardians and Trustees of the planet by choosing to be born here. The concepts of Trusts and Rights are Divine concepts. They are a natural occurrence through the process of the Divine Creator experiencing itself, as an infinite number of individual units of itself, having unique, individual experiences as living men and women. These concepts were usurped by a small group of people who consider themselves the elite. They have taken divine concepts and manipulated them to create a voluntary enslavement system, that has kept them in power for many centuries. Our problem is, we face such deep programming that many people keep reverting back to what they hope is true, instead of accepting that the Western Roman system is a no way-out system. To accomplish their plan, the elite group created imposter history and religions full of lies, with bizarre and contradictory statements. They created fake books and stories that they claim are the words of the Divine Creator. Unbeknownst to them, those that believe these stories are acknowledging that they are suffering from the mind virus, created in order to keep the world enslaved. This gives the elite plausible deniability and the justification they need to claim that the people are too ignorant and must be treated as infants, under the guardianship of the few. In the 17th Century, the elite merchant pirate banking and slave trading families, devised a global model whereby they became the gods to be hidden from view, with the child molesting priests of the Roman Curia to be the trustees for the benefit of the masses. As stupid, cowardly and fearful animals that were allowed to periodically own scraps between harvesting and inventories. For it to work, all they need is enough people who are treacherous, simple minded and greedy enough to want to be pirates, slave enforcers, to help enslave their own families, their own cultures and communities, with the people simply too weak minded and fearful to ever stage a successful uprising. It would appear that the elite have been right for the last few hundred years, with evidence of the lack of participation in real social change to go on as a measure, as many people prefer comfort and time-wasting activities it would seem. The only way out is through knowledge and truth of who we are, what are our rights, how we claim them. How we can fulfill our potential and how we can restore balance in our dream by taking self-responsibility to learn the truth, develop the knowledge needed and use it to bring about the positive change in the world that we desire.

The hard work needs doing more than ever now, if we are to survive as self-aware beings and restore our place as a high-level species within communities of star systems and galaxies, we are a part of.

Activist team:

After three weeks, our general action group meeting netted a few wonderful tidbits to help us be more inspiring, relevant, build communication and show the value in what we're sharing online. We are implementing that advice into our 5x5 strategy. In Week 4 we asked people to like and share instead of the more generic join us words of encouragement. We are also posting and attending Twitter live shows when possible and adding our BP content and links. Even if we don't have time to attend the entire thing, we post the BP link on the live chats asking others to join us. There are several live shows on Twitter daily, so we do our best to alert each other on Mewe to get 1-2 people in there together to build momentum. One poster got several comments with NBPFH links into the Alex Jones' live shows and used the debate on Trump's conviction raging all over Facebook to post strategically on that platform too.

Week 5 Names for our 5x5 were:

Jarrold Fidden

Henry Makow

Hi Rez the Rapper

Alex Newman

Rebel News Online

Freedom Alliance with over 5K followers liked one member's post with hashtag tnbpfh and is now following the Blueprint main account on Twitter. Also, Alex Newman liked 2 of his posts with hashtag tnbpfh. The same person had a reply from Richard Vobes within a couple of hours, thanking him for the link to the blueprint. Richard Vobes has a YouTube following of over 200K, has also been sent the BP in hard copy to which he has responded and follow up activity is underway. Another member received lots of likes, followers and reposts, including one from Ivor Cummins. Overall, we realized many more likes and shares. One poster noted her followers have almost quadrupled in the last 4 weeks, with two reposts by new followers and about 20 views a day on all posts with some likes. The BP account itself is posting to or messaging each influencer, if possible, to let them know that they may recognize BP follower activity on their account over a period of the next few days. An invitation to read the BP follows along with pinpointing what in our 40-year plan seems most relevant to their most recent content.

Some of the Blueprint library memes posted within the Day 1-5 prompts include:

If you lead life in love and care you will prevail.

There is not a single organization on this planet that runs or operates on the premise of helping the people... except for The Peoples Club.

I do not Consent.

Why should people whose ancestors got rich through plunder be allowed to control our world with ill-gotten gains?

The People's Colors, we rise together.

Life on this planet has to return to a more fair, balanced and lawful way.

Caring and Sharing

Cooperative not comparative or competitive

Let's leave this place a better world than we found it.

Will you be the change?

In Overview:

There was a lively discussion at this week's meeting, as the teams explored the possibilities of taking our own power back by overriding their AI systems and getting back to brass tacks by simply going the direct route and making personal contact with people. Having face to face discussions was one possibility and being open to listening to people rather than striking up a direct conversation about the Blueprint. This is one way to take back your power, returning to an energetic exchange and allowing a space for developing a connection that is organic rather than their inorganic system, of simply marketing your product and become a faceless entity or a brand. While we all need technology in many ways, for one we would not have the shows, or the mewe groups without it, and when our internet fails, we go into panic mode, feeling cut off and isolated from everyone. But as previous shows have told us, we are enhancing their AI control system by unimplied or implied consent and that is now taking over every aspect of our lives. From using our private information to sell us things, to controlling our bank accounts, and as the last show pointed out, even using children's voices for nefarious purposes. But have we missed the real affect it produced, it has been controlling and manipulating our thoughts, which then becomes energy in motion in the collective consciousness. A very tidy control system, all designed to play on our lower chakra systems, and create a co-dependant state of mind. The slave system, which needs a saviour, leader, governments and banks, which then takes over and dumbs down who and what we really are, a free higher universal man, not a bot slave as they would have us believe.

Working from co-dependency to co-creation and addressing the shadows, restores us back to the more organic version of the self. The real journey kicks in as thinking different is probably the first step to opening the heart, the door to your real Authentic Intelligent already built in inner guidance system. This becomes the real journey of self-discovery, outwitting them as they have controlled our lower chakras with their technology and programs. Which has taken what our original form was and brought it from being balanced which works in our favour, to out of balance which then creates the perfect breeding ground for all the vices they love us to depend upon. So how do we break free from their systems and create our own? Firstly, we must learn and innerstand what co-dependency really is and recognise it's affects within us on a personal level, then expand that knowledge outwards and view it as the collective consciousness in flow. Yes, it is a flow, but it is a negative form of their flow system. So, what is the relationship between operating from the lower scale of consciousness, or in effect the lower chakra system, or the control system?

The lower chakras are our foundation, the first being aptly called the root chakra, which operates our survival instincts, the most basic aspect of our human function. It operates our adrenal glands and if over stimulated will increase our sense fear, leading to anxious state of mind and completely out of the 45/55 range. It also operates how we trust in the world and more importantly it is how we ground ourselves, to become aligned and centred. But what are we grounding too? And what have we placed our trust in? I would suggest certainly not in ourselves. Next is the sacral chakra, which governs our creativity, sexual aspects and is the key to abundance and flow or the opposite a lack mentality and stuck. It also governs our feelings or emotions. The perfect tool to set up an addictive nature, dampen our true manifestation abilities and confuse our sexual orientation, does that sound familiar? That is why they bombard us with porn images, drink adverts and attractive financial arrangements. The biggest traps that lead us to addiction and feeling out of control, so they can step in with their offers of their control system, or the five hooks, drugs, alcohol, sex, religion, financial, the sixth as Thomas added in, is the ego or Alpha. The third chakra is the solar plexus chakra, which governs our power, vitality and our manifestation abilities, located behind the belly button. It is our I do button if you like, but instead of I do, they switched it to the you will do as I say button. All cleverly manipulated to become the perfect trinary system of co-dependency, or the saviour program.

With these chakras heavily controlled it prevents the rise to the next chakra, the heart and your true authentic guidance and operating in balance system. They have especially in the last century turned our heads with technology having us believe that a machine is better than us, can achieve more than we can and dumbs us down to such a level that we hold no value of the self. Yet we identify with anything outside us that looks better, feels better and seems to be better than us, all their illusion. The line from the book FHSTOS states their quote, we will make man in our image becomes clearer when you take a step back and overview the situation. They have no creativity and do not want us to realise that we are the true creators on this planet. What they do not want is us becoming balanced and aligned with our true operating system because when you are balanced you think different, become more dependent on the self and your inner guidance, knowledge and true abilities kick in. Never put anyone or anything above your heart, has also been stated many times in the shows, maybe we forgot that applies to technology and anything that dumbs your true potential down. At this important juncture of this awakening journey, we need to not only think different but act different also. It is time to operate freely in a balanced and more heart centered way, the heart will restore your true creative spark. It sets up a space that includes a more organic way of operating and turns on the beacon of light within you, that attracts what you truly want to manifest for our great future. When we are in alignment within, that becomes the frequency that we send without. And so, we will override their AI systems with the very thing they do not want us to have, personal interactions, which creates an energetic wave that spirals upwards, the rise they have done everything to block. Balancing out our chakras and inner standing they are our natural Authentic Intelligence system, then takes us back to a place where we get in touch with our inner knowledge, our inner wisdom and organic creative system. Once we return to balance, we can just be who we are, be what we are meant to be, the true spark of creation. They keep us attached to hooks and external because they do not have what we have. A true connection to Source. What humans thrive on is real heart connection, separation is their game, so let us take back what is ours and reconnect firstly with ourselves and then each other. We are an unstoppable force; all we need to do is stand in our own power the very thing they desperately fight to control. It is time to just be you, a human Be-Ing.

This is an interesting piece posted on the chat and pleasing to see more and more now, that other people are getting it. It highlights our lack of input and voice into the mix, not just pointing fingers away. It is very convenient to blame Israel for the genocide in Gaza, but it is not enough. It is very convenient to blame Zionists for the genocide in Gaza, but it is not enough. It is very convenient to blame Biden, Blinken, Sunak, Scholz, Macron, but it is not enough. It is very convenient to blame the World Economic Forum for the genocide in Gaza, but it is not enough. It is very convenient to blame the inaction of the UN for the genocide in Gaza, but it is not enough. It is very convenient to blame corporate media for the genocide in Gaza, but it is not enough. It is very convenient to blame the social media company owners for the genocide in Gaza, but it is not enough. This genocide could only take place with the full collaboration and cooperation of the entire Western system of power. This genocide is taking place because practically the entirety of the Western oligarchy, political system, media, finance, and business are supporting it. To stop Israel, we need to stop the entire system of power of the West. To stop the system of power of the West, we need to stop legitimizing the political class, we need to stop pretending they represent anything but genocide. Do not comply with the system of power which relies on your tacit silence to continue functioning. Withdraw your consent in the mass depopulation of the human race. Nobody represents you but yourself. Use your voice. Use your intelligence. Use your creativity. Put a spanner in the wheels of NATO's genocide/s. #### NEWS:

Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu urged the government of Qatar to continue the transfer of money to Gaza, in a secret letter sent to the Qatari leadership in 2018 and only seen by a handful of people since. In the letter, Netanyahu explained that the funding would reduce the motivation of terror groups there to carry out attacks, would prevent a humanitarian crisis and was vital for preserving regional stability. There are two different time periods for Qatari funding of the Gaza Strip, which allowed Hamas to grow from an insignificant terror organization into a military empire with battalions, an underground network of tunnels and the fire power of a small army. Between 2007 and 2014, Qatar provided Hamas with funds, away from any international oversight or review. From 2014 on, funding from Qatar was coordinated with the United States and Israel. Once those two are involved you know there is an agenda and also a scam being ran. The 2014 war in Gaza was the turning point. The U.S., UN, Israel and Qatar decided soon after the war, to set up a new system in which $30 million would be delivered to the coastal strip by Doha each month. Paid for by whom we may ask?

Some $10 million was to buy fuel from Israel, needed to operate Gaza's power station, $10 million to pay the salaries of government employees and the final $10 million was to be given in $100 stipends to some 100,000 Gazan families in need. That was the time when the notion that Hamas would back away from its intent to destroy Israel, as long as it accumulates governing and economic assets took root in Israel. Who owns the fuel companies in Israel? Until 2018, Qatari funds were not given to Gaza on a regular basis and delivered only occasionally with approval from Israel and the Palestinian Authority. Dr. Udi Levi, who was the Mossad official charged with fighting the funding of terror until 2016, said: The PA said it would no longer agree to fund Hamas and rather than let the terror group collapse, Israel decided on an alternative route for its funding. So, the Palestinian authority did not want Hamas around, yet the Israelis did based upon that narrative. That was part of Israel's policy to buy quiet. Hamas demanded that the $30 million per month would be delivered directly to the ruling faction. It was naïve to believe Hamas would provide the money to the population in Gaza, the Mossad agent said. Then-U.S. Secretary of the Treasury Steve Mnuchin, who was in charge of finance for the campaign to reelect Donald Trump and who is Jewish, agreed to a request from Netanyahu and sent an additional letter to Doha, this time from Washington, in effect, ensuring Qatar, that the funding of Hamas would not be considered funding terror. Notice Munchkin has disappeared from the scene since he was exposed heavily on this show? Him and Kushner.

The question now is, who are Hamas? Who do they operate for? Is this and are they a money laundering group? Like ISIS and Al Queda. Notice those two alleged terror organizations are no longer mentioned? Because they were getting exposed is why. Hamas is just the latest in a long line of engineered terror groups designed to create division, war and collect shekels. Why would Israel want to fund so-called enemies? Does this make any sense? NO, it's a program then. A program that is costing the lives of Palestinians and Jews alike.

This piece is a precursor for the piece to follow.

Russian President Vladimir Putin was in Sochi last month to address an international forum, according to a report in the South China Morning Post. At that event, he reportedly pledged to increase security and economic cooperation with China while denouncing Western elites. As Russia and China continue to strengthen their alliance, along with the other so-called BRICS nations, many Americans are wondering whether there's about to be a global power shift? In fact, at the end of the group's summer summit, along with Russia and China, the leaders of Brazil, India and South Africa jointly announced that Saudi Arabia, Iran, Egypt, the United Arab Emirates, Ethiopia and Argentina would all be invited to join their ranks. Many observers see these developments as potentially catastrophic for the U.S. economy. Among them is Kevin from Nashville, who called into The Ramsey Show for advice about how to plan for the worst-case scenario. Kevin was likely an agent.

What is BRICS and why is it seen as a threat?

BRICS came together in 2009 as an informal association of countries that regularly discuss trade, economic co-operation and security issues. Some in the West see it as intended to confront U.S. and Europe-orbiting multilateral organizations like NATO and the G7. BRICS was set up by the Rothschild's and Rockefellers as a way to bring down America and Europe and transfer everything over to the East. There was an official agreement done by the same banking fraternities for the Federal Reserve to be housed in America for 100 years and then to be transferred to China for 100 years in 2012. That was prevented and then CIA agents in the alt media presented BRICS as a way to bring down the control system, except it is just the same as the old system. Same people and same entities. Prior to the August summit, Saudi Arabia's Finance Minister, Mohammed Al-Jadaan, had publicly stated that his nation was considering dropping the U.S. dollar as the currency it uses for trading oil, the country's primary and most valuable natural resource. If Saudi Arabia drops the dollar, Kevin theorized to hosts Dave Ramsey and Jade Warshaw, that all the nations holding Treasury bonds to buy oil from the Saudis, would ditch their dollars by selling the bonds. Remember the Saud(is) are Jewish and their plan is to sink America. Thus, trillions worth of U.S. dollars would come home, effectively increasing the domestic money supply and creating conditions for catastrophic inflation. The question he posed to Ramsey was: How likely is this to happen? And if it does, how do you prepare for the total destruction of the U.S. economy? Never underestimate the power of greed and more importantly the power of power also. Remember these clowns in their pursuit of absolute power, always end up doing ouroboros programs, that ultimately leads to the dual destruction. BRICS in its original format was there to transfer the wealth, which is the power, to the East. So it is new boss same as the old boss. For true change you have to remove all the bosses and create a new and fair system that is run by the power of the all, not the few.

BRICS won't destroy the US:

Kevin's call came before it was announced that Saudi Arabia had been invited to join BRICS, but even then Ramsey was confident that the move wouldn't lead to the country dropping the U.S. dollar immediately. As he told his listeners, the Saudis are probably way too smart to think they're going to undermine the U.S. economy. These countries, which represent 40% of the global population, are reliant on the U.S. economy and its vast consumer market, Ramsey argued, so destroying the U.S. would destroy BRICS in the process. But people don't future think, in other words they have no thought of projection. With no thought of the projection, where it is going? where it leads to? then failure will repeat again. Secondly, the idea that you can get all those communists to line up and not shoot each other is gonna be humorous, he quipped. The BRICS nations may be working on a scheme to destroy the dollar, but Ramsey believes it's unlikely to happen in our lifetimes. Well it is unfolding and it is all about how we manage the situation.

Apocalyptic planning:

Ramsey went on to say that he doesn't have a meteorite plan. I don't have a plan for apocalypse like you're talking about, he said, addressing his guest. What you would have then is a total economic and governmental collapse, and the only plan then that works is bottled water and bullets. Under such conditions, in which the economy as we know it ceases to exist and the government and its laws no longer have any control over society, your money would mean nothing, Ramsey said. You couldn't even find a safe haven in gold because no one trades gold bars in the middle of a collapsed economy. What they do is shoot you for your property, he said. All of which is true.

Control the controllables:

However, he continued, all this catastrophe planning is a waste of physical and emotional energy. A better strategy, according to Ramsey and Warshaw, is to focus on controlling the controllables. You can't control what Saudi Arabia or the BRICS nations do, so there's no sense in worrying about it. Instead, keep your focus on what is in your control, such as how much you spend, save and invest. It's understandable to be afraid of worst-case scenarios, but taking your eye off of your own financial health out of fear of the apocalypse, is only going to reduce the likelihood that you experience your best-case scenario. So many things wrong in that statement, but a few things are correct, but that is also negated in overview. Control the controllables in essence is correct, you have to look after you to then support and help others. But the worst aspect is ignoring anything, as that is what led us into this mess to begin with. All that is describing is, a limitation and non-responsibility program, all of which serves the dark forces amongst us. If a percentage of the people go against or reject any individual item, then that item has to change to accommodate. So, by the people taking on a failed item, let's say the government, the government itself has to change. Why? Because the people created a vacuum and that space has to be filled, as nature doesn't like vacuums. The question then is, what are you going to create or manifest in its place? THI already has the space with which to fill, it's called the Blueprint. But what it lacks is, the people creating the vacuum for which the Blueprint is then installed. Remember apocalyptic is not a fear, it is a revealing. If what it reveals is ugly, not nice or not fit for purpose, then it is up to us to create that vacuum and then replace it with something better.

I gave two financial warning in a recent show of the trouble in the United States, that was a heads up for those listening. The United States is about to get a massive hit and culture shock to the finances, as the world is finally turning against the entity known as the United States. I suspect it will create a sharp downward trend on the stock market and with the housing market bubble about to pop as well, things look dire. But this is an opportunity again for a reset of the finances as advocated in our Blueprint. This is why. It appears that the dominance of the US dollar is over as more countries divest from it and now Saudi Arabia has informed the Biden Administration, that they won't renew the petro-dollar agreement on June

9th. The Saudi prince has laid out that the agreement will not be renewed and they no longer will be accepting USD. In the month of May, BRICS founding members China and India made significant strides in moving further and further away from the U.S. dollar in domestic and global trade. Now they and other allied nations are doing the same by exiting the dollar for trade and imports. India, in agreement with Nigeria, which is seeking formal BRICS membership is strengthening its economic ties together with a local-currency debt settlement. Their agreement, overseen at the second session of the India-Nigeria Joint Trade Committee (JTC) held in the Nigerian capital, Abuja, also includes local currency trade for energy, pharmaceuticals and transportation. Nigeria is India's second largest trading partner. According to an International Monetary Fund (IMF) outlook, India and China are poised to see the highest economic growth this year with other BRICS members not too far behind, while the U.S. and other G7 nations are projected to have stagnate growth. It's just a matter of time before the US economy crashes and shocks the world, even though it shouldn't be a shock at this point. All one has to do is look at rising food prices, the crashing car markets, the businesses that can't pay their rent (48% last month) and the rising crime rates and you can see the writing on the wall. The problem is that nobody wants to face the reality that it's over for the U.S. and the West. Just as we warned the Generals and other government departments in 2016. America is about to enter into a period of steep decline and Covid measures were used to escalate it. In reality, America never recovered from the 2007-8 decline, as trade outside weaponry has plummeted, all by design. The folly of letting the manufacturing base go, is still reverberating everywhere. What that does is, makes the country vulnerable as most goods are imported. What happens when the other countries decide to trade with each other and ignore America? Well that is not a future event, it has been happening over the last 30 years or so. Our failure to address the Israel problem, the banker problem, the agencies and the military plus the secret society problems, is now coming home to roost. The only thing to save this country and put it back on the right path is, The Blueprint.

Warning from Edward Snowden backing up our technology warning, he said: They have gone full mask off (which is another sign of their panic) do not ever trust OpenAI or its products ChatGPT. There is only one reason for appointing an NSA Director to your board. This is a willful and calculated betrayal of the rights of every person on Earth. You have been warned, he said. They are trying to corral us back under control with technology, but if we stand strong and use our internal technology we will easily defeat them.

Yes we warned of the folly of installing or accepting the installing of a foreign person in Argentina, moreso when that person is Jewish and already issues have begun. Riot police in Argentina's capital Buenos Aires fired tear gas and water cannon to disperse protesters outside Congress, before lawmakers gave an initial approval to budget-slashing reforms in the country's Senate on Wednesday. Demonstrators who say the measures will hurt millions of Argentines, threw petrol bombs and stones, setting one car alight. A number of people were reported injured, with local media describing the scene on Wednesday as a battlefield. The reform package, proposed by right-wing President Javier Milei to revive the country's flagging economy, includes declaring a state of economic emergency, cutting pensions and watering down labor rights. The measures are opposed by leftist political parties, labor unions and social organizations. But the motion, which was initially tied 36-36 in the Senate, was preliminarily passed on Wednesday after the head of the chamber, Vice President Victoria Villarruel, broke the tie. One has to question if these protesters were legitimate or another example of organized chaos to produce a bad solution?

Meanwhile Mexico Jewish president is pushing judicial reform just like Netanyahu is in Israel.

What happens when the UK sleep walk from an Indian to a Jewish leader? The same that happens in America, puppet state of Israel.

Just as a reminder: While our eyes were on Rafah's Block 2371, the small area in south Gaza which the Israeli military designated as a safe humanitarian zone on May 22 but went on to bomb just four days later, massacring at least 45 civilians sheltering in tents.

A reminder there is another war going on in the Middle East behind the glare of Gaza in Beirut. Eight months of unbridled war, widespread death, destruction and suffering in Gaza have captured the world's attention. But across its northern border with Lebanon, Israel has also been engaged in a much more subdued conflict with a different Iran-backed militia. This lower-level fighting, when compared to the combat in Gaza, has nevertheless led to lethal violence on an almost daily basis, with regular rocket fire from Hezbollah and artillery and airstrikes from Israel. Hundreds of people have died and tens of thousands of people have been displaced from their homes on both sides of the border. In the past several weeks, the fighting has ratcheted up, with Hezbollah using increasingly sophisticated weapons to fire far deeper into Israel. On Wednesday it launched a massive barrage of rockets, which the militant group's Al-Manar TV station said the barrage was in retaliation for Israel's killing of one of its commanders, Taleb Sami Abdullah. Israel has been firing back with greater frequency and its leadership has become increasingly bellicose, threatening to invade Lebanon once again and take Hezbollah head-on. But this conflict comes with a built-in stopgap: Experts say the fighting has not exploded into an all-out war because of unique rules of the game, that have governed the fighting between the two sides for almost three decades, keeping it restrained for the most part but preserving the potential for a much more serious conflict. You do realize at this point they are sweeping out not only Palestine, but Northern Egypt, Lebanon, Syria and along the southern border of Turkey? Just as I forecasted some years ago and people dismissed it, well it is unfolding. Guess where the refugees are going to be placed? Europe.

Final piece tonight and a revisit to a recent show.

A word on the true horrors of the world Part 1 and its harrowing contents that will most certainly have tipped the stomach for many of you. It is easy to get enraged, angry and the words revenge and retribution along with wishing violence upon others, it is the most natural process. But that process is ultimately borne out of various programs we have all endured, by the very same things committing these atrocities. They thrive on the discord, the disconnect and the imbalance of us all, as that is there sustenance. But over millennia that disconnect of us all, has not served us well and we have to try something different. We will never advance with following such low vibrational traits they have imposed upon us. They made us act like in their image and we must disconnect from that in every way, shape or form. Is it easy? No, but just because it is not, does not mean we continue to allow them to have power over us. With low vibration they hold power over us, when we elevate our vibration we hold power over them, always. The key to listening to that show was, observe not absorb. Absorbing it brings it internal of you and you are embracing their energy traits, not your own. The horrors of evil and its true depth, scope and levels are missed by most people around the world, as they refuse to contemplate those levels of evil as being possible. That is a big mistake and a costly one to the victims, mainly the children. But the abuse of children goes on not just in elite circles, but in our own homes. How many mothers knows their husband is interfering with her children and yet ignores it? How many parents are aware someone in their church was interfering with their children and yet ignored it? The problem is, the public themselves, as they will not entertain someone who is a public figure being less than lily white. The hero worship of the stars, masks off any sort of questioning of these individuals. The Queen would never do that, film stars would never do that, the Pope is all holy, but why would you have that steadfast opinion, when you have never met them? The illusion that these stars have fantasy lives, all pure and honest is beyond worshipping, it is abject lunacy. How can you form an opinion based on pictures and tv screen images? How can you make an assured opinion based upon just that level of interaction? You can't. It's the Milgram experiment on a mass scale, of accepting fake authority of people in positions. The same trust and honor system applies to politicians, medical people, teachers, police, social services and child protection groups. Again we ask, why would you trust them over people you know? In reality land you wouldn't, but the majority live in an illusionary based fantasy land that allows predators covered in the show a free license to do whatever they want. Elites are interfering with our children and what happens when you tell your friends, family, neighbors? Don't talk shit, you sound like a conspiracy theorist. Not an ounce of curiosity, just an instant dismissal. Why? Because it pops their illusionary bubble world falsely created inside their own heads. Everyone owes a debt to the children lost, none more so than those who refused to listen. But we can in some way the right to pay it forward, by fighting for the children of the now and the future, all whilst removing the evil ones. As always, you must follow your heart.
