This is Part 2 of this series called The true horrors of the World. In part 1 we heard some very gruesome stories that could literally turn the stomach. Many of you wrote to me with your own personal stories and I managed to check in with a few of you by phone. It is harrowing to hear and also to read, but as I said in Part 1, not as harrowing as it was for the little children, whether they survived or not. The sheer terror of it all is a deep twist of the psyche for those involved and brings life long memories that are not easily dispersed. But privately, I have worked with many of you to lessen the pain of the traumas you have faced and strive to move on with your lives, in the best way possible. The same applied when we did the private Astral rape zoom a few years back and around 12 turned up all ashen faced and concerned how they would be received. All of them were crying at regular intervals during that zoom, but most left with a smile on their face knowing someone finally has listened to them and believed what they were saying. But this is how and why these heinous things continued for so long. People frightened to speak out and when they do, no one believes them with devastating consequences. We need to listen more to the children and quit the arrogant adult attitude of, we know best, in many cases we don't. Why would most parents refuse to believe their own children? Because they cannot face the reality of what they are hearing, is why. Weak child level parenting has created a lifetime of traumas for many of the children. I remember saying in one show, that in overview it is a blessing when only sex is involved. That was not to diminish that horrible act in any way, but maybe after Part 1 you will understand that quote better. It is horrific and deeply barbaric, in fact it is difficult to put into words to describe that sheer level of evil. A level of evil not grasped by the lazy disbelieving masses. Out of the darkness into the light, which subsequently sucks the energy away from it and then reduces the events substantially. Once again thank you Joachim Hapogian for having the courage to not only face this, but write and reveal it to the public who wish to hear about these atrocities.

Plenty has already been documented in the three journalists Marie-Jeanne Van Heeswyck, Annemie Bulté and Douglas De Coninck's 1999 exposé The X-Dossiers, based primarily on victim-witness testimony published a half decade ahead of the show trial. Their accounts maintain repeated reference to satanic ritual abuse, torture and sacrifice that is also further supported by the majority of scandals already presented in this book. All involving members of the world's aristocratic and political elite, particularly from European black nobility bloodlines like the Windsor's and Rothschilds, all belonging to the same worldwide Luciferian death cult. Which involve the names we covered extensively in our own book, the Illuminati, Freemasonry, Red Garter, Knights Templar, Knights of Malta, Jesuits and Opus Dei. Where secret occult rituals involving blood sacrifice of children are typically held in castles and estates throughout Europe and the world, especially black masses on satanic holidays. No surprise or accident that abuse survivor Regina Louf, known as X1 in the X-Files, and a number of other X numbered victim-witnesses independently make these same corroborative allegations against the same high powered members of this Belgium pedophilia network. It bears repeating that a country of little more than 11 million people had 1,300 missing children cases reported from 1991 to 1996 alone, with the demonic appetite for small children sacrificed by this satanic death cult nothing short of compulsive and voracious. Regina Louf provided testimony as a witness of several girls' murders, providing details that helped solve missing persons' cases. In the early 1990s when Regina was in her 20s and married with children, pimp Tony vanden Bogaert wanted to make sure she would never go to the police and talk. So he forced her to participate in the killing of 15-year old Katrien de Cuyper, sacrificed in a snuff scene at Castle Kattenhof. Just to let her know he still owned her, between 1990 and 1995, well over a dozen times, the pimp transported Regina to this particular crime scene castle until her mid-20s. The inhumane agony and torture of her trapped imprisonment grew intolerable, so despite countless death threats toward her and her immediate family should she ever report mafia network crimes to police. But through a friend in 1994 Regina was in contact with gendarmerie officers to make a statement: In 1994, Regina indirectly contacted the gendarmerie/police after Tony had threatened her at her new home. The two inspectors that went to visit her at her home, told they know something was going on, but were not willing to burn their fingers and that was the end of it. Just shameful and cowardly behaviors. So even prior to Dutroux's arrest, police refused to get involved, knowing full well the dangerously high stakes of their corrupt mafia system, and what happens to those who try to uncover it. Then two years later came the 1996 arrest of Dutroux and Nihoul, and her close friend coaxed her to respond to Magistrate Jean-Marc Connerotte's open call request for information from available witnesses at large.

Providing witness testimony as X1, the first to bravely come forward, Regina was presented with police photos of missing girls and pointed out 15-year old Katrien de Cuyper. Who had disappeared on the evening of December 17, 1991, seven months later was found dead near the Antwerp harbor docks on June 19, 1992. Regina explained to police in 1997 that her pimp Tony vanden Bogaert brought her to the castle where Katrien was murdered. Because Regina had been to this same location 15 to 20 times, her description of the crime scene was detailed enough for police investigators to trace it to the Castle Kattenhof just northeast of Antwerp, belonging to a Belgian family of nobility, the de Caters. Cercle de Wallonië member Patrick de Caters along with uncles and cousins own the castle. Castles are typically a convenient venue for either pure diabolical sex and death, lust or more formalized satanic ritual abuse topped off by an eyes wide shut blood sacrifice. Regina Louf identified Michel Nihoul as the primary organizer of most of these events, where she was forced to witness several murders of her fellow sex slaves. But this one proved even more traumatic. Regina stated that a janitor's quarters on the sprawling property doubled as a makeshift snuff studio, where she maintained that she was forced to kill Katrien de Cuyper. Because Regina's testimony implicated so many powerful pedophiles atop the government, it was never believed by corrupt authorities determined to cover-up the nationwide network. Those pedophiles who were present that allegedly forced Regina to kill her peer, were Michel Nihoul and Anne Bouty, his former companion and a disbarred lawyer who regularly accompanied the ringleader at sex orgies. According to Regina, others present during the snuff killing included Count Leopold Lippens, who died in 2021. He was the former mayor of Regina's hometown, the coastal municipality of Knokke-Heist. Leopold's brother Count Maurice Lippens was a Bilderberger and the Lippens brothers have been described by multiple witnesses, as vicious pedophiles involved in the snuff movies. Regina stated that ex-attorney and longtime abuser Michel Vander Elst also witnessed the killing inside the castle janitor's home. As another pedo-party regular, Vander Elst became an infamous member of the Haemers gang responsible for the fake kidnapping of former Belgian prime minister and notorious fellow pedophile friend Paul Vanden Boeynants. Vender Elst was sentenced to 8 years in prison for his complicity in the kidnapping, but also testified at the Dutroux-Nihoul trial, providing a likely false alibi for Nihoul's acquittal in the Laeticia Delhez abduction. Vander Elst also assisted Nihoul in establishing a shady offshore shell company as a tax haven that ran afoul, causing Nihoul to run up a debt of over a million dollars in unpaid taxes. Which no doubt was written off by the elite clowns operating these heinous crimes. Among the most widely read mainstream newspapers in Britain, the Sunday Times, in December 1996 just ahead of Belgium imposing major censorship and the official lone wacko narrative. Thus monopolizing all further coverage of the Dutroux affair. The explosive Times headline read Satanic Links to Belgian Murder Trial, opening with the following shocking revelation: Satanic sects involved in bizarre rites including human sacrifice, are being linked by Belgian police with this summer's string of grisly pedophile murders, in which at least four children died. Five witnesses came forward last week and described how black masses were held, at which children were killed in front of audiences, said to have included prominent members of Belgian society. One investigator said it was like going back to the Middle Ages. People will often ask is this stuff new, the answer is a definitive no. Are things worse now than say 50 years ago? No, either.

This revealing, sensationalizing, yet accurate piece, goes on to assert that Belgium's highly organized satanic pedo-network possesses tentacles extending across its borders to the Netherlands and Germany all the way to America. Brave victim-witnesses like Regina Louf and others receiving death threats explained in their X-File police dossier, that sacrificed babies were voluntarily handed over to the powerful death cult for money, while other children used in blood sacrifice rituals were abducted. How do you comprehend the mindset of people voluntarily handing over their children to these monsters? How do you comprehend the mind set of those who abduct children? It is beyond comprehension, but sadly a very dark and sinister reality too few will face up to. In Chapter 31 it was revealed that the satanic ceremonial operation of trafficked infants smuggled in from foreign countries and having their throats slashed by the Hampstead UK Luciferian cult, that also held rituals in secret specially built rooms. Similar if not identical mind control-sexual torture-murder sacrifice is/was being practiced the world over. That has elements of the MK Ultra programs. X-Dossier witnesses independently confirmed that photographs were taken of ritual participants, accompanied by threats that if police were contacted, the incriminating photos would be handed over to law enforcement. The leverage and blackmail operation that is always ran by Intelligence Agencies, most prominently, Mossad in Israel. Again, this is consistent with accounts, that the Belgian pedophile web was a sexual blackmail operation with heavy police and security forces involvement. The Satanic Order of Abrasax that Dutroux's attorney Magnee accused of participating in the crimes, is headquartered in the village Forchies-la-Marche, within very close proximity to Dutroux's own southern Belgium city Charleroi, each located not far from both the shared border with France and Luxembourg. On December 21, 1996, the police raided the Abrasax compound and reportedly removed human skulls and other artifacts used in black magic rituals. The raid of the satanic headquarters was prompted by a recovered letter found in the personal effects of the home of Dutroux's accomplice, Frenchman Bernard Weinstein, who Dutroux admitted to killing. His body was found having been drugged and buried alive next to the two eight-year old victims at another of Dutroux's properties in the town of Sars La Buisserie, southwest of Charleroi. The undated letter from Abrasax addressed to Bernard was: Asking him to remind someone else, that a special ceremony was approaching and to remember a special gift. Der Spiegel added this information that apparently was sent with Weinstein's above reminder request: Attached was a sort of order form for 17 people between the ages of 2 and 20 who were used for anal, oral and vaginal sexual practices. The personal note was signed Anubis, an ancient Egyptian god represented by the Abrasax sect's priest, the now deceased Francis Desmet. It always involves Egypt, just like the Freemasonic and Mormon orders of Satanic cults. The Abraxas is a name of an off world race of humanoid beings, notorious for being evil and deceitful. It was mentioned in the Harry Potter series and also Jupiter Ascending. The word Abraxas is not really understood according to the limited AI search engines these days. But it is linked to the Great Archon and possibly a code name for Amon Ra, hence the Egyptian links. It is also referenced heavily in the Jewish/Hebrew encyclopedia, linked to a demon in some quarters as well. The term special gift refers to abducted children to be used in sacrificial ritual. Also recovered in the police raid was an Abrasax document, providing a rundown specifying age and gender requirements of blood sacrifice victims according to the particular satanic holiday.

Ordering humans just like it is some restaurant menu? These people are beyond sick. The police raid was timed on the evening of the 1996 winter solstice, normally a black mass holiday, but the building was quiet and no further incriminating evidence was known to have resulted from any police efforts to connect Dutroux crimes to Abrasax. However, on the day before the raid, a witness observed: On December 20, 1996, a moving van with the Museum of the Royal Arts of Brussels printed on it, with six men and one woman made two trips back and forth to the Abrasax building. Each time hauling out filled cartons of materials, as if the satanic temple had been tipped off that a police raid was eminently forthcoming the next day. No surprise the arts, royal or otherwise is involved, that avenue is used to pick up and abuse many young aspiring artists. No wonder we have the term, the dark arts, also known as dark magic. An added piece to this puzzle is four Charleroi police officers were Abrasax members, one was even the satanic cult's treasurer, as the likely source providing Abrasax with advance notice. No surprise overall cops are involved in this, given many of them are enrolled in the satanic brotherhoods and or fraternities upon enrollment as a cop. Most commonly known as the Masonic Brotherhood, which is a big part of underground satanic cults who worship Lucifer. The American cops even have the 6 pointed star and the pedophile spiral code on their badges. All in your face once you "see". Just hours before the planned raid, the named witness actually went to police on December 21 to report the strange occurrence from the day before. Despite a police record made of the reporting, apparently the police never followed up on this crucial information. That would explain why the raid turned out a fruitlessly wasted effort that only made police look bad. With Judge Langlois at the helm, tasked with official cover-up of the wider satanic network, this dead-end outcome may have been a planned ruse by design, offering plausible deniability since never again was there further probing into any satanic connection. Another revealing twist, among the most notorious known members of this satanic Abrasax cult, and a close friend of its priest and priestess, is one Armand van Ghyseghem, a purported Belgian businessman apparently with political connections protecting his known criminal habits. His employee filed a police report on record, that states Ghyseghem told him that he regularly has sex with five-year old little girls locked up in iron cages. Of course police were already aware of abducted children in hidden cages at Dutroux's house in Charleroi not far away. Ghysseghem was also known to brag about his sexual exploits with underage girls in Thailand and the police report states that he was actively involved in trafficking girls from Thailand to Belgium. He was reportedly also a friend of the notorious John Stamford, the British defrocked priest who founded Spartacus International, a pedophile publication promoting pedo-tourism in nations like Thailand. Three witnesses actually made police statements outing this alleged protected pedophile. The Sunday Times article also stated: Police have long suspected that Dutroux, a convicted pedophile, was part of an international network which abducted children, sexually abused them and then killed them. Their activities appear to have been financed by the sale of pornographic videos filmed by members of the ring. This is obviously not the workings of an isolated pervert at all, unlike the lies of Liege Prosecutor General Anne Thily, the provincial judicial boss overseeing Judge Langlois' cover-up operation. The Sunday Times mentioned a Belgian paper publishing an article just the day before in December 1996 that stated: A former European Commissioner was among a group of judges, senior politicians, lawyers and policemen, who attended orgies held in a Belgian chateau and organized by Michel Nihoul, one of Dutroux's alleged accomplices. La Dernière Heure, which claimed to have a guest list, did not name the commissioner but said he came with a girl, Josette, nicknamed JoJo, the bomb. Also nearby Dutroux's Charleroi home where the 8-year olds starved to death is the world infamous chateau called the Mother of Darkness Castle, otherwise known as Chateau des Amerois. It's been referred to as the epicenter for the Illuminati underworld, where satanic rituals involving high level Monarch mind control programming is said to occur. Pedophile NWO Luciferian ex-CIA Director George HW Bush's 1000 Points of Light, was allegedly inspired by a ritual ceremony he attended at the Chateau des Amerois cathedral, featuring a dome ceiling displaying a thousand lights. David Icke, famous for uncovering the cabal's not-so-hidden control matrix devotes much of his Chapter 15 entitled Satan's Children, in his 1999 The Biggest Secret to Belgium and its connection, with what he refers to as the Satanic Brotherhood death cult.

The reason that Belgium is a headquarters for Satanism and so many Brotherhood institutions is very simple. The Brotherhood created Belgium for just this reason in 1831 and they imposed upon it a reptilian royal line, the House of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. The bloodline of the British royal family and through its branch in Prussia, the supporters of Adam Weishaupt, the founder of the Bavarian Illuminati. Adam Weishaupt is on American dollar notes, said to be George Washington, it's not, it's Weishaupt. In Belgium's X-Dossiers exposé written by journalists Jean Nicolas and Frédéric Lavachery based upon eyewitness accounts and police records, they mention this same castle on page 259. It addresses a police report referring to a letter written by a retired gendarme, who allegedly hosted a visiting Mexican priest in April 1996, several months prior to Dutroux's final arrest. A Dutch friend of the priest spoke of an American assigned to NATO in Brussels, who allegedly attended a function at the Mother of Darkness castle and was appalled by what he observed, an apparent blood sacrifice of children. The priest told the retired cop he was staying with, who then formally reported it to a senior police commandant. Again, more than one of the X victims testified, that they had been trafficked to Chateau des Amerois and been tortured by members of the elite with corroborating accounts that they too witnessed children murdered. Formerly owned by the Saxe-Coburg-Gotha family, aka the royal Windsor imposters, today's Chateau des Amerois castle owners are the powerful Solvay family of Solvay Pharmaceuticals. For over a century and a half, the Solvay clan has been a dominant force in the Big Pharma industry. In more recent decades as a manufacturer of Prozac, often prescribed to minors linked to mass shootings. Solvay also sells many fluoride products, the harmful neurotoxin dumped into tap water systems proven to lower human IQ. So no surprise that the eyes wide shut family home where children are allegedly sacrificed at night by day, are professionally pushing poisonous products for profit that kill both brain cells and gunshot victims.

In 1903, Ernest Solvay founded the Solvay Business School which is also part of the Free University of Brussels, with some interesting names we have covered in the FHSTOS series. In 1911, he began a series of important conferences in physics, known as the Solvay Conferences, whose participants included Max Planck, Ernest Rutherford, Maria Skłodowska-Curie, Henri Poincaré, and then only 32 years old Albert Einstein. In Chapter 33, the former Illuminati Mother Goddess Arizona Wilder's wild description of satanic rituals she conducted at this same Belgian castle, involving shapeshifters and onetime owners of the castle, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Charles displaying poor reptilian etiquette, prematurely ripping apart children's flesh and blood prior to completion of the satanic ritual. So who is Arizona Wilder? She was formerly known as Jennifer Greene, who was programmed and trained by Josef Mengele or lesser known as Dr. Green. Green is the color code of the program of mind control and torture. So, I don't suspect Jennifer Greene is her real name either, just possibly a code name. Because another person came forward to the Alt Media in 2018 called Erin Hicks or full title Erin Green Hicks, aka Erin Rothschild. She tells her story from the perspective of time travel and her experience growing up as a Rothschild, being tortured and put through illuminati mind control and satanic rituals. Mengele known as the Angel of Death in the Nazi concentration camps, to conduct Satanic rituals for some of the most famous people in the world, including the British Royal Family. In Arizona's interview with David Icke, she describes how she conducted rituals at Glamis Castle and Balmoral in which the Queen, the Queen Mother and other members of the Royal Family sacrificed children in satanic ceremonies. She talks of the same experiences with Henry Kissinger, George Bush, Bill Clinton, members of the Rockefeller and Rothschild families and a host of the most famous names in the United States and the United Kingdom. When confronted by investigative reporter-filmmaker Olenka Frenkiel with cameras rolling, Prosecutor General of Liege Anne Thily out-and-out lied, insisting that the condition of the two 8-year olds' bodies was in such a putrefied state, that no DNA testing was possible. Yet the autopsy report clearly specifies that the corpses were not severely decomposed, that samples were in fact collected but they somehow disappeared, as is the case in every scandal cover-up. Thus, the DNA material that could have traced the identity of other potential perpetrators even years after the girls' deaths, was undoubtedly lost or destroyed to promote the false narrative that Dutroux was a lone operator.

Additionally, claims that hair collected from the dungeon was never sent for forensic analysis, because after removing the first magistrate Jean-Marc Connerotte, his replacement Judge Jacques Langlois refused to allow it, overriding the vehement protestations of the incorruptible prosecutor Michel Bourlet. Yet Dutroux's lawyer again insisted that hair DNA testing was completed, proving that up to 25 other guilty parties may have also been involved. Clearly corrupt police, Langlois and Thily were caught perverting the course of justice by overtly protecting the elite's pedophile ring. Anne Thily showed herself on camera to be a proven liar, in so many words also calling victim-witness Regina Louf crazy, despite assessments from independent psychologists and psychiatrists stating the opposite. With Regina's reputation libelously ruined by numerous state agents committing criminal cover-up, as if previous pedovore agents of the state mercilessly beating and raping her for years a decade earlier weren't horrific enough. Regina as a potential state witness testifying at the 2004 Dutroux trial was definitely out of the question. Similar to Nihoul, had she testified at the trial, armed with enough dirt to bring down the government, it would've been over the gatekeeping Prosecutor General's dead body. Recognizing that the establishment was sitting on a potential PR powder keg about to blast, with its extensive international criminal operation wide open, it was Prosecutor General in charge Anne Thily's bright idea, to diffuse the impending volatility of the exposed Eastern European organized crime connection. Thily separated Nihoul and Dutroux's Slovakian stolen car trafficking operation from their Slovakian stolen rape victim trafficking operation, that they already were immersed in by the time of their August 1996 arrest. This highly damaging piece needed to be buried ASAP, in order to protect the guilty power players atop the Belgian government and criminally suppress any further evidence of the larger international operation flourishing in Belgium. Ms. Thily is a real piece of work, steeped eyeball deep in obstruction and perversion of justice. When Olenka Frenkiel asked her in the interview why no hair from the cages went to the lab for DNA testing, the cabal henchwoman's emphatic reply: There was no need to get the hairs analyzed as no one else entered the cage. There was no network, so there was no need to look for evidence of one. In any case, the hairs have all now been analyzed, all 5,000. Olenka: And the results of this analysis? Thily flashing Olenka an arrogantly triumphant smile said: Nothing. No evidence of any relevance in the Dutroux affair. Which proves, of course, that Judge Langlois was right all along. Another obvious lie as sources close to the investigation confirmed that no DNA analysis had been done. Analyzing Thily's overreaction, it seems pretty certain she was doing her gatekeeping best to put the lid on the cover-up, guarding the elite's pedophilia network operating in Belgium and greater Europe. We're left with abounding contradictions and conflicting statements galore. What seems incontrovertibly certain though, is the Belgian government withheld crucial evidence that Dutroux and Nihoul were never acting alone. That the pedo-network extended to Eastern Europe and the Balkans where the US, the UN, NATO and DynCorp were all busily carving up, euphemistically balkanizing and destroying the once sovereign nation Yugoslavia. That was broken up into a half dozen weakened pieces as imperialistic fair game makeover into more NATO puppet states pointing missiles at Russia, amidst the international crime cabal's booming chessboard business of war making, arms and drug dealing as well as emerging major portals for trafficking of children and human organs.

When Michel Nihoul, Marc Dutroux and Dutroux's accomplice Michel Lelievre, a petty thief and drug addict, were in prison together in 1996, Lelievre stated that Nihoul and Dutroux often met in the exercise yard, in parley to lay out their next criminal move. Their big gig was trafficking contraband from Slovakia, never mind that it was stolen cars and underage girls. They were already immersed in the East-West Euro trade of human cargo. Human cargo? Oh where is the humanity?

This next section defies belief and humanity. Right after his arrest, accomplice Michel Lelievre also shared with police that the two abducted 8-year old girls were kidnapped to order, for someone else, that someone else was either middleman boss Nihoul or perhaps original purchaser of the order. According to Lelievre's testimony: Marc always told me that he kidnapped girls for people who had placed an order with him. Placed an order like it is your local chippy or dare I say it, Amazon store, just staggering. Accomplice Michel Lelievre said that the second pair of older murdered teenage girls, An Marchal and Eefje Lambrecks, were done away with, because the customer had changed his mind. Just like that? Oh sorry I don't want them today so just do away with them? Absolutely zero consideration, just discarding children like they are yesterday's trash. In Lelievre's words, they weren't interested in them, perhaps because their pedophile clientele had a limited hankering for prepubescent girls only. Dutroux's main man, primary customer and otherwise boss was Michel Nihoul who allegedly paid Dutroux $5,000 per girl. After his initial jail confessions, Lelievre told police he had to stop talking, offering the excuse that his life had just been threatened, wanting to avert the same murderous fate as another Dutroux accomplice Bernard Weinstein. Again, the kidnapping of victims in response to incoming purchase orders, gives away the fact that Dutroux was part of a much larger European network supplying girls and boys for elite sick fucks. These people are running the continent and world, who knew that the false narrative of the lone wacko had to be aggressively pursued for 8 long years before a softened up, battle fatigued public could even withstand a trial. Meanwhile, by the time the trial began in March 2004, the credibility and reputations of victim-witnesses and their testimony had been repeatedly attacked, undermined and destroyed, only Dutroux's attorney Xavier Magnee, Dutroux himself and his co-defendant Lelievre were still insisting they had operated within a wider, highly organized pedophilia network. Additionally, at Dutroux's trial Prosecutor Michel Bourlet, who'd been butting heads with Magistrate Langlois the last seven years, also leaned toward Dutroux operating within a larger network, claiming evidence a pedophile ring for the wealthy and powerful had been protected for the last 25 years.

According to a March 2004 Telegraph article: The prosecutor appeared to give some credence to allegations of a wider criminal network, asserting that Dutroux and others raped, abused and murdered the girls. Further giving evidence to the above allegation, during the trial the Independent mentioned that Michel Bourlet revealed: Dutroux admitted kidnapping and abusing girls on trips to Slovakia, and that the rape of a young girl is visible on a seized video. Clearly both Dutroux and Nihoul operated within the much larger international pedophilia network. As is typical of virtually every pedo-scandal cover-up to date, when the tip of the iceberg initially surfaces in the first few weeks of breaking headlines, prior to the government's first wave of damage control censorship and suppression as the nuts and bolts ingredients of all cover-ups, often significant truth is inadvertently released just ahead of the news blackouts and disinformation. For instance, upon arresting the fourth suspect, Michel Nihoul, on August 21, 1996 the Sunday Times ran a story entitled Belgium Police Link Child Sex Victims to Trade with East, disclosing: Belgian police are investigating the possibility of a major East-West link in the European child sex business after charging a fourth suspected member of a pedophile ring. Clearly at this point the world's media are complicit in the cover up. Under the golden rule of do no harm, they are as guilty as the perpetrators. Complicit under the facts that they knew there was a wider network yet covered it all up. Meaning more children suffered and died. The media has way more to answer for than meets the eye. While Nihoul had already sent Dutroux on a number of trips to Slovakia, to lay the groundwork for trafficking girls from Eastern Europe to be served on a platter to Belgian ruling class child rapists, possessing a predilection for brutal S&M kink involving torture and murder in Belgium. At that exact same time, DynCorp, the multibillion dollar US military contractor, was fully engaged in active partnership with the UN and US military (See Chapter 11), trafficking underage girls and women near the same stomping grounds in Eastern Europe. Dyncorp are CIA Contractors out of Virginia, more on them in another show. The media also reported that police suspected that Dutroux was involved in abducting and selling girls from Belgium into sexual slavery in Eastern Europe as well. From an August 31, 1996, Independent article: Belgian police are going to Bratislava and Prague to search for missing Belgian children. Dutroux has been named in Bratislava as a suspect in the murder of a young Slovak woman. The head of the Interpol office in Slovak, Rudolf Gajdos, in late August 1996, just days after the Dutroux and Nihoul arrests, confirmed that as recently as the month before in July, Dutroux had made his most recent trip to Slovakia.

Additionally, it appears that Dutroux drugged, raped and trafficked about ten girls to Belgium. When questioned, their memories were blurred and according to Gajdos, his office was investigating whether Dutroux drugged and then filmed them being raped, which is what Bourlet alluded to at the trial. Which was Dutroux's customary, highly lucrative pastime, making and peddling child porn. In fact, among Dutroux's criminal charges was raping three young women from Slovakia. A May 2002 BBC article reported: Investigators believe Dutroux and Nihoul were planning a long distance prostitution trafficking network involving cars and the import of girls from Slovakia. Only it was well past the planning stage. Long before the Belgian authorities were able to formulate their false narrative and cover-up agenda, depicting Dutroux as another lone wolf, early contradictory evidence had already emerged to firmly establish he was irrefutably not, clearly showing that Dutroux and Nihoul were procuring underage victims from Eastern Europe, in addition to trafficking and abusing local girls as sex slaves. Before CNN turned revisionist and removed its reporting that Dutroux sold girls abroad, observant Dave McGowan in his seminal Pedophocracy passed on for posterity this CNN tidbit: Police ignored tips from an informant who said Dutroux was building secret cellars to hold girls before selling them abroad. You can always rely on CNN Clown News Network to fudge the truth and often outright lie. So Dutroux was in the business of both procuring underage victims for local VIP abuse, as well as trafficking them to other locations throughout Europe. Evidence confirms that Michel Nihoul was the middleman brokering deals at the highest levels, buying underage girls from smalltime hustlers like Dutroux and then selling them to his wealthy clientele who run the world. Dutroux simply procured girls for Nihoul to host at his fancy soirees, sadomasochistic orgies that his crime boss hosted for the Belgian and European elite for sexual blackmail purposes. You can add Mossad into that list also, their agent Epstein was setting people up for sexual blackmail, hence why they have Trump over a barrel. Again, Nihoul admitted, if not bragged, that he organized an orgy at a local chateau attended by such distinguished guests, as a former European Union Commissioner and top government personnel, including former prime ministers and senior police officials. No doubt Nihoul as a Luciferian, had a hand organizing blood sacrifice black mass rituals at various chateaus as well. Balmoral Castle

Scotland was popular for that I have been informed. The criminal network went far and wide. With participation and cooperation as well as protection from police, Dutroux and Nihoul were in the organized crime business of selling and trafficking abducted girls into sexual slavery throughout Europe. With some evidence that Belgian girls were sold in Eastern Europe and other European markets, as well as evidence Dutroux trafficked Slovakian girls westward sold in Belgium. Meanwhile, with so many participants attending their orgies and satanic rituals upstanding members of royalty, prominent political, judicial, police and business figures, they were regularly filmed and photographed for potential sexual blackmail. As such, it's noted that security services such as the CIA, Mossad, MI6 and of course Belgium's BOB all utilized this blackmail leverage to their own benefits. Bottom line, this is anything but a one-man isolated pervert operation, but peripherally through the perverse, deadly machinations of Dutroux's affairs, the entire international pedo-cabal mafia is deeply exposed more than any other child sex abuse scandal in modern history. Thus, its attempt at cover-up is transparently futile.

David McGowan in his The Pedophocracy, Part 1 anonymously quotes a political insider making the key point that since Dutroux's 1996 imprisonment, elite child raping orgies still go on unabated, underscoring the reality that the worldwide pedophilia scourge as a means of VIP sexual blackmail control, still remains an endemic constant virtually everywhere on this planet: A Belgian senator would note, quite accurately, that such parties were part of a system, which operates to this day and is used to blackmail the highly placed people who take part. The veracity of the Belgian senator's statement that the pedo-network in Belgium still operates today, was borne out by revelations over a decade after Dutroux's incarceration. That the 4-year old English girl Madeleine McCann, snatched from her hotel room in Portugal in 2007 the day after crime boss Nihoul's prison release, may have been stolen on order from the still entrenched Belgian pedophile ring. A Scotland Yard email warned: Intelligence suggests that a pedophile ring in Belgium made an order for a young girl three days before Madeleine McCann was taken. Somebody connected to this group saw Madeleine and took a photograph of her. The purchaser agreed that the girl was suitable and Madeleine was taken. Inexplicably, London police failed to pass this highly urgent message on to detectives in Portugal for six long weeks. Madeleine McCann has links to the British royals I was informed. Are all these intelligence services in conspiratorial collusion?

In addition, a sighting of the little girl was reported in Brussels within 12 days after her abduction, as well as sightings in Amsterdam. That lost time of six weeks was critical, again as in the Dutroux case, police acted in ways that protect the guilty. Yet another piece demonstrating that the enduring international pedophilia network centered in Belgium is still more robust than ever. In 2020 an East Flanders criminal court ruled on one of the largest cases of sexual abuse of minors ever known. The Pedo-cabal's alive and still unwell in the sicko head. And as always, the corporate controlled mainstream media is complicit in the cover-up. Not only did they destroy and silence victims of the Belgium pedo-network, they aggressively went after any journalists attempting to uncover the truth. British reporter Olenka Frenkiel stated: The truth is that those journalists who tell the story complain that they have been harassed, sacked, threatened and many say they have been forced to stop reporting on this issue to continue working. That's why the three bold journalists who gave voice to the even bolder victims' testimony in X-Files: What Belgium Was Not Supposed to Know About the Dutroux

Affair, is so important, because it shows what the cabal was determined to keep secretly buried from the public. Perhaps the most significant and courageous truth teller of our century so far, has been the much maligned Julian Assange and his WikiLeaks. In April 2009 WikiLeaks released 1,235-pages of assorted documents pertaining to the Dutroux case in the French language dated from 1986 to 1996. It succinctly summarized its findings: Dutroux was a figure in the European criminal underworld and the case had connections to other underworld figures, to police corruption and from there to Belgian political figures. The WikiLeaks records confirm that Dutroux maintained close illicit business ties to career crime boss Michel Nihoul, whose name is listed over 800 times. The WikiLeaks documents also demonstrate that Dutroux received payments for services rendered from multiple sources, publishing incriminating financial transactions, and exposing payments from such foreign national governments as Morocco and Saudi Arabia, either directly in person to his wife or directly into Dutroux's bank account. One of the WikiLeaks documents indicates that Dutroux asked his brother to help push a car with bodies in it, into the canal, indicating that Nihoul's crime syndicate involving Dutroux as his low level grunt boy body snatcher-gofer-disposer included far more violent and lecherous crimes than those either was prosecuted for. One wonders whether this was why Assange was locked up? Nothing to do with him disseminating military papers, but maybe for exposing the pedo elites? Documentation identifying major VIP players involved in Belgium's massive international pedo-ring operation, confirm that underage girls were routinely kidnapped, deplorably caged in hidden underground dungeons as mind controlled sex slaves, and trafficked to various specific locations around the country and beyond for decades. They were/are systematically drugged, sold, tortured sexually as well as physically, and ultimately killed as part of the elite's sordid operation used for sexual blackmail of targeted puppet politicians and influential VIPs, for blackmail and commercial exploitation including snuff porn. Based on her own experience and observations, Regina Louf disclosed that underage girls trapped in Belgium's network, were tortured with razor blade and knife mutilation of their private parts. Other despicable acts such as, severe enough insertions made to cause death in some cases, have pieces of their labia cut off and fed to the dogs, or frequently forced to engage in sex with animals such as dogs, or have snakes placed in their vaginas. Also at gunpoint be forced to eat feces, harm or even murder other children, or get murdered themselves. All horrifyingly captured on film and photos, distributed and sold globally in the vast underground black market, that's thriving more than ever today.

From Regina's police testimony: Pere forced me back on my knees, pushed me with my face on the cool table surface, and the other tied my left and right wrist to the bed. I was unable to move in any direction and was forced to stay in this humiliating position. Everything is ready, the lamps are pushed in the right position, the light intensity is measured. What is about to happen, I don't know, but the tension is building in my stomach. What's the deal with those dogs? I feel how the paws of the rough haired dog are pressing into my sides. I feel how he's panting into my neck, drool from his tongue is dripping on my back. I scream as I feel how he enters me, how his paws clasp me, his nails press into my skin. Get him off me, I scream. My cries are lost in an enthusiastic cheer, when the dog lets something wet run down my legs. It was the first photo shoot with dogs in a long line. Just absolutely despicable and beyond words, beyond evil and has no place on this or any other planet. People getting off on seeing that level of fear and torture are terribly deranged, I am not sure whether a trip back to Source is beneficial to them people, maybe a return to stardust in a black hole is best. Can you imagine the fear of that child? Terrified to her wits whilst being violated by a dog, whilst they “enthusiastically cheered”, what is wrong with these people? Are they people? At this point I am lost for what to label them, as evil just doesn’t cut it. The oldest of the dozen X-File witnesses, X3, was allegedly abused as a young child from 1950 to about 1962, signifying that the satanic mutilation with razor blades, rape and sacrifice of children at orgies and hunting parties committed by Belgium’s powerful elite from royalty to prime ministers have been practiced for a very long time. This victim described incidents of being raped by King Baudouin while he was in his 20s during the 1950s. Baudouin died in 1993 when his younger brother who also participated was crowned King Albert II. The now 57-year old Anneke Lucas experienced almost a half dozen years of pure, unimaginable hell on earth, repeatedly raped nearly every day in 1969 from age 6 when her mother sold her into the Belgian slavery network, until age 12. Sold by her mother? Are you kidding me? What type of mother does that? She suffered unthinkable evil at the hands of this same elite web of satanic ritual abusers, comprised of the same royal family members, heads of state and government ministers. Trafficked to a castle for an S&M sex orgy, her first introduction to the pedophilia network was wearing an iron dog collar while forced to eat human feces.

In recent years approaching her mid-fifties, Anneke Lucas has courageously gone public to tell her incredible shocking story. She never reported her ordeal to police, because she witnessed too many victims slaughtered as a warning for those who might. What an indictment of the police that is. This is why most are in the Brotherhood of Freemasonry, another satanic cult worshipping the Egypt/Israel cult. When she was 11 and about to be sacrificed herself, the boy that negotiated to spare her life with the state minister in charge of the pedo-ring, ultimately paid for it as a murder victim himself. After struggling to come to grips with her painfully tormented dark past, undergoing years of therapy paralleled by tremendous psychological and spiritual growth and transformation. She has managed to emerge a humble, relatively healthy, graciously mindful, extremely strong individual, a successful yoga instructor, mother and role model for all abuse victims, women and human beings everywhere on the planet. Again, society should make the Regina Loufs and Anneke Lucases of the world heroes for their strength, will to survive and overcome such unfathomable adversity and pain. I agree, whistleblowers of any kind, but in particular these kinds are true heroes to humanity. To out and rout out all evil, if only many more had the damn courage to speak up, much of this would end sooner. Sexual blackmail, child sex trafficking and child snuff pornography today comprise enormous international Big Business, owned and operated by the same Luciferian elite still in control currently running our world into the ground. This is the dark underbelly bottom line truth of the so called Dutroux affair that the Windsor’s, Rothschilds and Rockefellers from black nobility bloodlines kill to ensure the world remains in the dark, completely ignorant and oblivious of the depraved depths of the earth’s ungodly Luciferian controllers. In her witness testimony, Regina Louf explained the spider in the web blackmailing sequence this way: Politicians were fed drunk at a party, then brought to a brothel having 18 year-old girls. Then it was said: Upstairs is a surprise for you. The politicians would then go upstairs, and find an underage girl naked on a bed. All set up by Intelligence agents like the CIA and Mossad, being the most prominent, but I imagine all the 5 or 9 eyes are involved in it. The pedo-mafia that included Regina's pimp Tony van den Bogaert, insisted that Regina was still a mafia sex slave, even as an adult after marrying the love of her life Erwin in 1988, and was busily raising her own family of four children, as much as humanly possible trying to move on from her brutally painful past. Erwin was a truck driver and often on the road, while Tony the pimp would often take advantage. Once in the mafia death cult, as an expendable victim or untouchable inner club member alike, it's virtually impossible to voluntarily get out, alive at least. And to drive that point home, even in her twenties, she'd be picked up and forcibly brought to yet more scenes of horror, torture and murder. Knowing the life of her kids meant everything to her, Tony would regularly warn her his accomplice will come and murder her family. The pimp often bragged of the famous people he knew, and his gendarme officer friends protecting him as well. One in Antwerp actually was assigned to investigating and discrediting clean cop Patrick De Baets' findings. On the same day Dutroux escaped custody for a few hours, April 23, 1998, gendarme officers in Gent called both Van der Bogaert and Regina in for questioning over her De Baets testimony, apologizing to her pimp for the bother. The criminal shamelessly admits he raped her at 12, knowing law enforcement was on his side. Remember me saying many years ago never to trust any of their institutions or departments? Now you know why.

By far the most incisive, in-depth single account of the Dutroux affair available online is a series of well documented articles from Joel van der Reijden's Institute for the Study of Globalization and Covert Politics (ISGP). His takeaway comment from this sordid Belgian affair, becomes the applied template for how virtually all governments everywhere cover-up their dirty laundry of sexually abusing children: The power of the Dutroux affair and its X-Dossiers, is that it will enable anyone to see how a state can be controlled and undermined by a cabal, that is able to place its members in crucial positions in any investigation that might lead to its own exposure. Hence, cover-up of every tip-of-the-iceberg scandal is standard fare in every corrupt nation on the planet, owned and operated by child rapists and cherry-picked gatekeeping enablers. Despite such gross obstruction and perversion of justice deployed by the Criminal Establishment, in order to desperately cover-up its vast pedophilia operations, a beaten down majority of Belgian people. In the same way that most Britons are also painfully aware, that the corrupt elite always attempt to cover its tracks in every scandal to-date, through any and all criminal means necessary. Be it arbitrarily evoking a 100-year censorship rule (See Dunblane Massacre Chapter 25), issuing infamous D-notices (Chapter 23) or murder-at-will (recall dozens of assassinations eliminating those in the know, from Chapter 13's US Franklin scandal, Chapter 21's Savile-BBC scandal, Chapter 30's North Wales scandal to this Belgian scandal. In the end with the passage of time, the VIP pedophiles count on every scandal becoming blurred, obscured, buried and forgotten, before the guilty escape this earthly life punishment-free. For the sake of so many harmed children, we cannot allow this blight on humanity any longer, especially since evidence identifying the criminals has never been more known and plain to see. When 24/7 media propaganda suppression of the truth isn't quite sufficient, assassination is commonly used to silence and bury the truth with every dead truth-teller. If the ruling psychopaths are evil enough to sodomize and slaughter defenseless little children, murdering without conscience any and all perceived threats, is also their racket M.O.

In their twisted, grotesquely psychopathic killer minds, the more dead, the merrier, thus creating perpetual war, weaponized killer viruses, worldwide economic collapse, all subversive, highly destructive, megalomaniacal tactics, deployed to facilitate today's dystopian Orwellian nightmare come true. With the Coronavirus, the controllers smell blood, exploiting it to gain ultimate and absolute draconian tyranny and control over all the masses. Again, it's never been so obvious. Active resistance and opposition is our best response, as axiomatic illustration that the best defense is a good offense. And our biggest weapon is simply the truth, even if it makes us criminals in their upside down world. Sadly for Joachim and us, the people exhibited just how blind, deaf, mute and stupid they really are with the Covid debacle. Because early on in August 1996, Magistrate Jean-Marc Connerotte, carrying out his duties investigating the Dutroux case, correctly identified Michel Nihoul as the brains of the operation, Connerotte had to go. The honest judge was reportedly digging up names of top government officials, recognized on the police confiscated videotapes of derelicts caught in the act, raping and torturing children, the same tapes that police absurdly claim they never got around to watching. A September 2, 1996, Los Angeles Times article exposed the commercial child pornography angle of Dutroux's hundreds of confiscated videotapes and the known pedo-consumers the Belgian Justice Ministry apparently chose to protect: A highly regarded children's activist, Marie-France Botte, claims that the Justice Ministry is sitting on a politically sensitive list of customers of pedophile videotapes produced by Melissa and Julie's accused abductors. And as of the summer of 1998, with Marcel Vervloesem's Vandvoort File exposure, that list just grew a lot longer. Yet, other than suppression, the corrupt legal systems in Belgium and Netherlands have brought no action to those members on those lists, because they lead directly to kings and prime ministers. The passionate plea of a wary father of Melissa, Gino Russo, shortly after his 14-month frantic search for his deceased daughter ended, had this to say nearly a quarter century ago: Our only hope for change is to build on the guilt everyone is feeling right now. Everyone knows now that these pedophile networks exist. They are not just the problems of the pedophiles or the police, but of the people that live in a system that allows them to be. I agree 100%, the indifference, intolerance and abject refusal of members of our own families, friends or work colleagues to listen to this and take action is frighteningly scary. They just don't care, can't see, won't see, can't hear and won't hear. In my mind that makes them complicit. Because the entire pedophilia network involved some of the most powerful figures in Belgium and Europe, just as in all of British pedo-scandals, too much was at stake for the diabolical mafia cabal to let their horrifying filth be exposed to the public. Judge Connerotte's valiant efforts to uncover the scum instantly made him a target of death threats for assassination and a hero to the people for locking up one pedo-killer and freeing two of his latest young victims. But the odds were stacked against him, Belgium's children and the right of the people to know as cover-up of child sex abuse scandals, as always remains top priority #1 for the guilty pedophile-saturated Establishment. Horrific that people are not allowed to do their own jobs they are paid for, because of the EL-ites global National Security Act to cover up their crimes against humanity. Ultimately, eight long drawn out, anguishing years later, the designated lone wacko Dutroux was sentenced to life imprisonment, while named and known VIPs dodged yet another scandalous bullet, protected by yet another rigged, corrupt hall of (in)justice and complicit media. Again, order following police and judges did everything in their ruthless power to undermine, sabotage and obstruct the case, as the Establishment was once again caught red-handed, self-servingly shielding its fully compromised and controlled worst wacko sickos at the top of the demonic predator food chain. Because of Connerotte's teamwork, on August 15, 1996, two girls Sabine Dardenne, 12, and Laeticia Delhez, 14, were rescued from one of Dutroux's basements, just two days after the jailed culprit's arrest and confession. Because their psychopathic kidnapper had brainwashed them into believing he was their sole savior keeping them alive from certain death by his killer boss, when Dutroux led police to their dungeon, the two girls pathetically rushed to hug and kiss him in gratitude. Stockholm syndrome on full display. Freeing the two kidnapped girls brought the entire nation to jubilant celebration, but it proved short-lived, as two days later Belgium plunged into shock and grief. Dutroux admitted to burying the two eight year olds that died of starvation, and then two weeks later in September 1996, he disclosed that he wrapped up the two still alive drugged teenage girls in plastic the year before and buried them in his garden at another of his many homes. At least he showed some remorse at the end, nothing worse for people who have lost loved ones, that never find out where they died or were buried. A small mercy for the families.

Despite the August 1996 arrests of at least a half dozen suspects in the first several days of the Dutroux investigation, including the arrest of at least one senior police officer, nearly a decade later when the trial of the century, finally couldn't be delayed any longer. It's as if all these other suspects from years earlier just vanished into thin air, as if all those earlier arrests of police and others never even happened. This rather conspicuous loose end again smacks of cover-up, adding to the plethora of other loose end anomalies. It's no different from the zillion absurd inconsistencies and impossibilities defying all laws of science behind the 9/11 mother cover-up of cover-ups or the granddaddy cover-up, the JFK assassination. Let's face it, for eons of time evil Luciferian fucks have always been in charge, controlling virtually every nation on earth, during the last millennium particularly in the West. But as of late, they're finding it more difficult to keep lying their way out of all their constantly exposed crimes against humanity, mainly because a growing percentage of people around the world know better than to continue blindly accepting them. The jig is up for the longtime owners of the international crime cabal! Yes it is and brave stories like this increasing, will escalate their downfall. It may well take a mini war to finally end their reign here, then we have the long road back to redemption and recovery. The long road back to healing as well. Province Judge Jean-Mark Connerotte, proved to be a rare breed in the Belgian judicial system, despite being besieged by death threats, demonstrating his resolute intent on gathering as much evidence to convict all guilty perpetrators involved, regardless of position or power. Assigned to assist him in this most daunting task was highly motivated, competent, ethical prosecutor Michel Bourlet. Connerotte selected one of his best Gendarmerie detectives in Patrick De Baets. It was these honest men whose leadership was responsible for Dutroux's arrest and eliciting his confession, that led to the heralded rescue of Sabine Dardenne abducted nearly three months earlier and Laeticia Delhez held captive for nearly two weeks. Thanks to two on the ground eyewitnesses, a sharp young man with a passion for vehicle makes and models and an elderly nun, both possessing good memory recall, reported to local police the first digits of a license plate of a suspicious white van seen patrolling near the same time and at the place of Laeticia's abduction, enabling the provincial investigative team to trace the van belonging to Dutroux. On August 13, 1996, Dutroux, his wife and accomplice Michel Levietre were arrested and placed into custody, and succumbing to pressure under police interrogation, both the wife and Levietre spilled the beans. This in turn ratcheted up pressure on Dutroux to come clean, giving up his two latest abductees sitting alive in their cages at his Charleroi residence, as his earlier dead slaves. Celebration turned to sorrow just four days after the arrest on August 17, 1996, when police dug up the bodies of the two 8-year old girls who starved to death. Next to their unearthened corpses was the body of Dutroux's former accomplice Bernard Weinstein, who Dutroux admittedly murdered, falsely claiming it was because he failed to keep the girls alive, after he had given money to feed them. Like his notorious namesake Harvey, turns out Bernard Weinstein also had links to the Mossad. Independent researchers have uncovered evidence that Bernard Weinstein was connected to the infamous Mossad spy agent Zev William Barkan (aka Bruckenstein) and sometime Israeli diplomat, for years involved in international espionage, including insurrection, fraud and assassination spanning the globe, in Austria, Dubai, Mumbai, Belgium, Holland, New Zealand and Canada. It's been reported that Zev hooked Weinstein up with Dutroux, subversively using him to gain sexual blackmail leverage over powerful members of the European pedophilia network. It's been speculated that when Dutroux found out, he killed Weinstein. A more probable motive was fear Weinstein would talk upon his pending arrest. Yet again a vast criminal network is operated by the Israelis, using every devious method known to man or beast. With the net closing in these entities that go under the banner of Israelis, their capture and the shutting down of all of their facilities, will end a very dark chapter on this planet. Their propensity to be involved in every act of skullduggery, is only nearly matched by the CIA, who at this point appears to be a puppet organization of the Israelis.

These levels of crime go way beyond antisemitic cat calls, we are dealing with demonic and satanic beings who have no regards for life. Just as the team was digging to uncover dead corpses along with the massive nationwide pedophilia web, one by one, key members of the investigative team were unwarrantedly picked off, wrongly sacking first the head magistrate Judge Connerotte, several months later the lead Detective De Baets, leaving only Prosecutor Michel Bourlet to bitterly clash alone for the next seven years with Connerotte's corrupt replacement, Judge Jacques Langlois in his assigned role to ensure massive cover-up. Detective Rudi Hoskens, the team leader that Patrick De Baets selected to reopen an unsolved murder case that implicated Dutroux and Nihoul's larger pedophile ring, stated that he found victim Regina Louf's testimony highly credible, particularly in solving the first of two possible murder cases, that for years had previously gone cold: She gave us some details that made us think it's impossible to give without having been there at that place, the way the body of Christine van Hees was found at that time, and the way she described the person who was killed. With this breakthrough, it was clear that major headway to busting Belgium's child sex trafficking network wide open was close at hand. But just like clockwork, in every scandal when closing in on VIP arrests, without explanation suddenly the police investigation gets abruptly halted every single time overwhelming evidence gets uncovered. Prematurely shutting down police probes to protect the higher-ups is another standard trademark used in every pedo-scandal playbook the world over. The Guardian also reported that important DNA evidence from Melissa and Julie's bodies had suddenly come up missing, yet another tall tale sign right out of that same playbook cover-up. After removing virtually all the honest investigators from the case and suspending any further inquiry, dirty police told key witness Regina Louf that from now on the burden of proof would be on her, to determine the veracity of her scorned and tampered version of events. The new batch of police officers that don't play by the rules, made the false claim that the previous investigative team was terminated because they manipulated the evidence of Louf, which is exactly what the corrupt new cops were ordered to do. The oldest trick in the book is blaming the innocent for what the guilty party commits. Yes indeed, straight out of the classic agency tactic book of subversion.

The X-Files book concluded: The suspicion grew that De Baets and others formed part of a sect bent on destabilizing the kingdom, by simply telling the truth. Gendarmerie Commandant Jean-Luc Determe interrogated the witnesses already suffering from Dissociative Identity Disorder and Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, mercilessly grilling them until they broke down and several chose to quit under the re-traumatizing abuse. Just shocking, having survived that level of abuse and torture, grown men and women go about grilling and mental torturing them again, all to cover for some so-called important people. I guess the true rule of law, the golden rule and some basic morals and principles will never apply with these people. In an unprecedented move in response to removing Connerotte as a blatant ploy to sabotage the entire case, within the week up to 400,000 very upset Belgian citizens spontaneously flooded the streets of Brussels in defiant mass protest and solidarity. In what's been called the White March on October 20, 1996, accurately suspecting that authorities removed Connerotte because he was getting too close to exposing the pedo-Establishment. The Belgian government assigned a brand new, completely inexperienced novice replacement as a total slap-in-the-face betrayal toward not only all abuse victims and their families, but all the grieving, good people of Belgium as well. The flimsy rationale the corrupt Brussels supreme court used to rid Connerotte, was his attendance at a fundraiser for the parents of 14 still missing girls, thereby conveniently giving the powers-that-be the flimsy excuse to allege conflict of interest. Yet again the snake oil lawyers subverting justice. Connerotte claimed he was never informed he was attending a fundraising event. Though dismissed as investigative magistrate in October 1996, Judge Connerotte was called in as a trial witness. The Telegraph covered his testimony: The Belgian judge who saved two young girls from Marc Dutroux's pedophile dungeon broke down in the witness box yesterday, alleging high-level murder plots to stop his investigation into a child-sex mafia. What is often lost in these cases is, the impact on the lives of those investigating these heinous crimes, you can't unsee things and the trauma aspect to those investigators is largely overlooked. They have to live with what they have seen or experienced for the rest of their lives as well. All whilst utter cowards hide behind the fake authorities to get off scot free, or so they think. They are in for a shock upon their deaths this time.

Obviously everyone with half a brain in Belgium, recognized that the removal of such an important figure in the nation's biggest legal case in history, was used as the thinly veiled pretense to protect the nation's most powerful child rapists and murderers within the child-sex mafia that was clearly running the country. In reaction to the history-making demonstration, the Establishment feared a national insurrection on its hands since the public accurately perceived the actions of the Belgian justice system as a disreputable, putridly corrupt cover-up scam. To appease its citizenry's mounting anger and outrage, the Belgian parliament promptly set up a Nihoul-Dutroux commission to further investigate the intentionally botched, highly explosive case. But in 1997 the commission cited gross incompetence by the legal authorities rather than admit gross cover-up. A commission in their world means to cover up further and the people let them off the hook. I have never advocated for vigilantes, but the way these snake people operate, slithering through decades of the most heinous of crimes untouched, it may come to pass that, that action becomes a necessary. Marc Verwilghen, the 1997 parliamentary commission's investigative chair, two years later admitted that the commission's conclusive finding, that there was no actual evidence of top level government involvement in the Dutroux affair, was actually false. Though the commission report identified 30 officials who failed to uncover Dutroux's misdeeds, none were demoted or consequence, some were even promoted. Many Belgians regarded the parliamentary conclusions as more evidence of a whitewash. Promotions in their world means you are more corrupt, not more of a better standing. I hope you all see that now; high level promotions are a testimony of their corruption and puppetery. Marc Verwilghem agreed, frustrated that his efforts to get to the bottom were severely hampered and undermined. His conclusion: The Dutroux affair is a question of organized crime. The Guardian revealed that the nation's most popular politician after leading the 1997 parliamentary commission exploring the mishandling of the Dutroux case, claimed in a book published in 1999 that: The Belgian establishment, including heads of the government, sought to stifle and ridicule his report. The Belgian Establishment is Brussels, in charge of running the whole of Europe with lunatic policies, now you know why. Between Belgium and Switzerland, two total dens of iniquity.

Verwilghen accused those in power of willfully sabotaging and censoring the judiciary and law enforcement leaders, from even answering certain questions posed by his inquiry. A full half decade prior to the Dutroux trial, Marc Verwilghen specifically called out the magistrate in charge, Judge Jacques Langlois, for refusing to hand over evidence of official protection for Mr. Dutroux. Instead Langlois served his cover-up function by squelching damaging evidence of a nationwide pedo-web, stalling Dutroux's trial by sending police out on diversionary dead-ends and willfully planting disinformation in the press. He and his corrupt government clearly violated criminal law with gross obstruction of justice and widespread suppression of incriminating evidence. If questions had been honestly answered and evidence not buried, exposure of the elite's direct involvement in a nationwide and planet-wide pedophilia epidemic, would have caused open rebellion and the Belgian Establishment would assuredly have collapsed. Verwilghem also confronted the incumbent Prime Minister since 1991 Jean-Luc Dehaene for his passive complicity: He knows the problems of the justice system but he has done nothing. Things are getting worse and Dehaene is content to just watch. These terrible events have left him cold. He hasn't budged. Largely because of the Dutroux debacle, Prime Minister Jean-Luc Dehaene was voted out of office later that same year 1999 and by July 1999, Marc Verwilghem was sworn in as new Belgian minister of justice. Though Verwilghem served as top officer of Belgium's judicial system for the next four years until 2003, that same stonewalled Dutroux trial never happened on his watch either. After leaving his post in July, it took another seven months before the Dutroux trial even started in early March 2004. But a half dozen years prior, aside from a do-nothing prime minister, a January 3, 1998, LA Times piece took aim at two and a half dozen more obstructionists of Belgian justice: In April 1997, the parliamentary panel named 30 officials it said had failed to uncover Dutroux's misdeeds. None so far has been punished, and Melchior Wathelet, then the justice minister, has been elevated to the European Court of Justice. The Times' very next sentence maintained: The conviction amongst the public, remains stubbornly widespread that members of the upper crust -government ministers, the Roman Catholic Church, the court of King Albert II – belonged to child sex rings or protected them. In reaction to victims’ allegations, public speculation and rampant rumors circulating, that King Albert II himself was involved in pedophile orgies where underage children were abused, tortured and murdered. In September 2001 the Belgian royal family were forced to make an unprecedented public denial that any members ever attended pedo-parties. That was done in the same week as the New York 9/11 cover up began and so was lost to history, due to people’s inherent inability to focus on one thing, as distractions always pervade them. No it was not a coincidence it was the same week as 9/11. All buried by collapsing towers showed around the world.

Yet journalist-co-authors Frederic Lavachery and Jean Nicolas’ 2001 book Pedophilia Dossier – The Scandal of the Dutroux Affair, published five years after the Dutroux arrest, with his trial still nowhere in sight, argued the case had been intentionally stonewalled for fear that King Albert and other public figures would be exposed as guilty parties. Nicolas asserted that as a prince, Albert not only participated in child sex orgies, but even organized them. Because the exposé had a French publishing company and Nicolas is a resident of Luxembourg, the Belgian government threatened a lawsuit against the publisher and the Belgian media along with many citizens felt it a cheap shot low blow against their nation and king. You see how quickly the citizens turned and supported the criminals? From mass demonstrations to apathetic support. Despite the book exposing the truth, Belgium’s reactionary, self-indignant criticism based on tangible documents and testimonies indicate, that then Prince Albert during the 1970s and 1980s was in fact a participant at pedophilia crime scenes, along with numerous other unindicted high profile players. Yet not one of the over one hundred accused prominent society members of the elite has ever been contacted, much less questioned by police, as none have been called to answer for their alleged crimes, all comfortably secure in safety, painlessly passing through life, completely shielded by the impenetrable monstrous wall of untouchability and impunity, as privileged members of the godless Luciferian ruling class. Another buried nefarious chapter of Belgian ruling class decadence only scratched the superficial surface at the 1997 parliamentary commission, spawning public speculation and rumors from over a decade before. Senior judicial police commissioner, Georges Marnette, testified at a March 1997 parliamentary hearing, how he led an undercover team of police officers infiltrating the Brussels elitist sex clubs in what’s been labeled the ballets roses. Marnette disclosed in a March 1997 Telegraph article: Yes, we used to go the bars, the gay and lesbian clubs and the sex parties. Infiltrating such establishments was no easy matter; it was not a job to be done wearing jeans and a leather jacket. I wasn’t going to hang round wearing my holster while everyone else was either naked or in dressing-gowns. But if I was in a dressing gown, that didn’t mean that I was doing any sexual acrobatics myself. Highly credible victim-survivors bravely risking their lives as X-File witnesses to testify to the brutal degradation and trauma they were forced to endure, clearly demonstrate that what may be one person’s lighthearted frivolity expressed by a dirty cop, becomes another’s bloody rape and murder. Disgustingly perverted sexual acrobatics with minors at orgies is exactly what some of Marnette’s victims accuse him of. This corrupt senior officer was often seen in the company of coke sniffing fellow pedophiles at the infamous nightclubs Platos, Dolo and Les Atribates, hobnobbing with pedo-organizer, flesh and drug dealer friend Michel Nihoul, whom he protected while smearing the reputations and credibility of the courageous X-File witnesses.

The same Telegraph piece goes on: It is a world of outwardly respectable private clubs in discreet suburbs of Brussels, Antwerp and Liège, but where, on arrival, members remove not just their coats, but their tops, bottoms and underwear as well. Though Police Commissioner Marnette's anecdotal testimony above may have provided a fleeting moment of comic relief at the Parliamentary Commission, amidst a near revolt in revulsion reverberating across Belgium at the time. The Telegraph piece re-focused attention on the darker underbelly of out of control debauchery and shameless cesspit of violent criminality toward horrifically exploited, tortured and murdered minors, that degenerated into mere, taken-for-granted, titillating ruling class entertainment: For the ballet rose is also the perfect metaphor for the corruption, freemasonry and the vulnerability to blackmail, of the country's political elite. Commissioner Marnette is the epitome of the crooked pedophilic cop assigned as gatekeeper of the network. Marnette denied that police had in possession videos revealing VIP perps abusing children when he reportedly stole them from his underling. One of the detectives that worked with witness X2, stated how he believes that Brussels police commissioner Marnette was in cahoots, regularly leaking disinformation to a journalist friend at La Dernière Heure in order to discredit the entire police investigation and the X witnesses. Marnette was one of those look-the-other-way gatekeepers in law enforcement, protecting VIP pedophiles, starting with Nihoul and the pink ballets since the 1970s.

At least one witness even accused Marnette of raping her. And Georges Marnette wasn't the only enabling protector sitting atop Brussels police, there was Commissioner Zimmer and the disgraced convicted Brussels Police Chief Superintendent Frans Reyniers. Within this rancidly corrupt culture, the pedo-mafia cabal rules to this day. Also in March 1997 at the time of the Commission, Parliamentarian Alexandra Cohen poignantly wrote: Rumors about the sex parties, the so-called Pink Ballets or the Ballets Roses, have been rampant in Belgium for about two decades. The names of prominent politicians and even the present Belgian King, Albert, who succeeded his brother in 1993 and used to have a reputation for being a playboy, had been mentioned in this connection, but nobody had been able to prove anything. Rumors about the Pink Ballets persisted, but many journalists denounced them as being the Belgian political equivalent of the Loch Ness monster. The pink ballet was simply another diversion allowing the guilty to go free. If all the so called famous sickos never brought to justice were ever actually tried in a real court of law, measured against hard evidence, in a heartbeat the cabal Establishment would in fact be brought down. The exact same high stakes in Britain, America and every other nation where pedo-scandals emerge, reflexively prompt those in power to continue covering-up all evidence whenever tip of the iceberg scandals get exposed. The exact same outcome recurs everywhere the crime cabal continues blocking the pedophilia truth from full light of day. Bottom line, VIP sodomites know their international crime cabal will inevitably come tumbling down once enough of their sleazy filth is unveiled, mobilizing an informed, educated public citizenry to initiate and demand decisive corrective measures through truth and reconciliation commissions, to get to the bottom of what's been going on at the top for eons of time. Sooner than later, we will do what's never been accomplished before in the history of humankind, and that's hold accountable the murderous pedophilic slave masters guilty of unthinkable crimes, while living like gods above the law. Sooner than later, your day of reckoning and judgment is coming.

Here is a warning from the author that has been echoing through many years of THI. Even though the disempowered public in every nation, knowing that its government is constantly lying to its citizens, covering up its pervasively heinous criminality and corruption. Whilst forced to live in a culture of impotence and ignorance, due to continual withholding of truth, inevitably the public complacently resigns itself to passive acceptance of status quo. Thus over time, the Establishment in Britain and Belgium and around the globe manages to dodge another bullet and remain intact, surviving scandal after scandal. So the superficial, less than half truth, fake findings of the UK's Home Office controlled Independent Inquiry into Child Sexual Abuse (IICSA) and Belgium's 1997 parliamentary commission never fail to placate the once riled up, mutinous masses morphed into a permanent state of reluctant acquiescence. The public may simply grow more cynical towards its government's total lack of credibility, yet left too disempowered to impact any real or substantive change in the rotten-to-the-core system. As the global pedophilia cabal continues operating and destroying thousands more children's lives every single day. But the latest draconian tyranny brought on by the worldwide Coronavirus false flag is reaching the breaking point among the masses, that are no longer willing to blindly accept the lies and injustice of genocidal democide currently being committed against children and humanity by the lawless ruling one world cabal mafia. Though the Belgian people were stuck with a shamefully bitter aftertaste in the post-Dutroux era, the torrent of open rebellion, angry revolt and steadfast solidarity displayed magnanimously in the near half million White March on Brussels streets back on October 20, 1996 was effectively quelled by the corrupt Establishment. In effect, the public was subsequently numbed down over the next seven plus years of in-your-face, brazen cover-up. Like in Britain and America after their worst scandals, the pedo-Establishment ruling over Belgium and all Western nations gradually reverts back to pedo-business as usual. Only more covertly hidden underground and sneakily concealed out of sight and out of mind to avoid detection and getting caught once again, till the next scandal gets exposed. And on and on ad nauseam we go, until we citizens of the world finally say enough is enough to this sick madness plaguing our planet forever.

Meanwhile, with this highly dysfunctional pattern historically kept in place to maintain the shackles of unchanging status quo, child sexual abuse and global sex slave trafficking have now reached an all-time, unprecedented scale. We now know too much and can no longer afford to complacently tolerate this holocaust against innocents any longer. The decade long, gut-wrenching ordeal had taken its toll, and Belgians didn't want to be reminded of their shameful government and past any longer. In Britain, earth's pedo-epicenter, we've seen this exact same appeasement method played out time and time again, in the face of so many scandalous cover-ups, all 16 chapters' worth. Yet bizarrely the people cynically acquiesce to a state of numbed, shell-shocked submission. Therein lies the problems we face, an apathetic public who ignore all the problems and even denigrate the few that point the problems out. A surefire recipe for disaster. It's how the international crime cabal survives, disempowering and deadening the people with nonstop cover-up saturation and lies. Time for the awakened and empowered world citizenry to unite behind an unstoppable, committed resolve to protect all of our children from the coldblooded killing ruling class. So after just five months in prison, by early 1997 with all his nefarious connections to head of state cronies and black nobility rapists, pedophile ringleader Michel Nihoul was once again a free man, escaping justice, obviously because had he remained in jail, he may have explicitly divulged the atrocities of his rich and powerful friends. During a May 2002 interview over lunch with award winning reporter-documentarian Olenka Frenkiel, Michel Nihoul brazenly introduced himself as the Monster of Belgium. Apparently tantalized by his own notoriety and perverse self-aggrandizement, claiming the label given most often to his lackey Marc Dutroux. Olenka wrote in her article that he proudly boasted: His case will never come to court, he said, because the information he has about important people in Belgium could bring the government down. A year earlier in an interview with the German magazine Spiegel, as a BOB (security services) informant, Nihoul was even more arrogant flexing his mafia boss muscle: I control the government. Everyone has compromising dossiers on one another, to be used as leverage in the right situation. This is the Belgian disease; give me another 20,000 marks and I give you a serving minister who is embroiled in a murder. I know the killer and will have him contact the minister by telephone. You can listen along, okay? The voice recorder turned off for a 6-digit sum. I will give you a picture on which then Prince Albert jumps a 16-year-old girl naked. It was shot at the second floor of the Mirano Club 20 years ago, where a pedophile blackmail ring allegedly was situated, according to other witnesses. Then I do have to leave Belgium. While King Albert's claim of innocence in 2001 was in response to a book's assumption of guilt, this ballsy bastard Nihoul actually called the king out, close to two decades before the crime boss' demise. He knew he held checkmate power over the king, because he had the dirt on everyone who was anyone in Belgium and beyond. Even though 3 years later, he ran into another prison rendezvous of three more years in 2004 for human trafficking, drug trafficking and a fraud conviction, yet he was acquitted for child abduction, child rape and conspiracy. Considering all the vile unspeakable crimes he got away with, he did almost live above the law. Once again, evil elite sodomites in Belgium and around the globe remain untouchable till death do them part, in this self-proclaimed Belgian monster's case, till 2019 at age 78. I wonder if Joachim knows about the Day of Atonement act these monsters practice every year and pass their karma onto the people? All Jews, plus certain Muslims and Christians have that Day of Atonement.

We at THI revoked that consent for our members and more should do it and pass their karma back. Pedo-ringleader Jean Michel Nihoul was out of prison in less than three years by May 2007, living his last dozen years on earth as once again a free man, as diabolical as he was. Ironically, with the alleged Belgian order for little Madeleine McCann's May 4, 1997, abduction in Portugal a day after the career criminal's release, who knows, maybe she was his get out of jail welcome home gift. Considering it was Nihoul who ran the pedo-show and owned Belgian royals, police, judges and politicians through his sexual blackmail operation, he maintained elite contacts with countless unpunished members of his exclusive S&M child orgy-snuff network. Had he spilled the beans on all he knew, he most definitely would have brought down the Belgian Establishment. But because he was treated so leniently, not unlike another well-connected blackmailer Epstein, he also knew, if he did tell all, a contract would've been instantly put out on his life and another dead man don't tell tales postscript. After his final jail stint, he lived for another dozen years, expiring a year and a half short of his 80th birthday. Another psychopathic monster of Belgium no doubt free to live out his much longer, largely protected life than hundreds of his innocent lifelong-suffering victims. In response to Dutroux's arrest, abducted girls' rescue and Magistrate Connerotte's public request for victims to come forth and report their experience.

By the spring of 1997, a number of witnesses were working with police detectives, confirming that Dutroux never acted alone, and that he was merely a low-level procurer of underage girls, a minor cog in the vast criminal wheel of a much larger network flourishing across Europe throughout the 1980s and 1990s. Regina Louf, the first victim witness known as X1, testified that spring along with eight other alleged victims, in what's been dubbed Belgium's X Files. Among numerous harrowing incidents, Regina described in the minutest details an abandoned mushroom farm location where she witnessed her friend and peer Christine van Hees tortured and murdered, roped and tied in such a way as to choke herself to death. Regina stated Dutroux was present as a passive observer but Michel Nihoul played a far more active role, along with several other men involved in the murder of 15-year old Christine. Based on Regina's detailed description of the crime scene property, in addition to honest police investigators, the former owner of the farm was also absolutely certain that she'd been there. The Christine van Hees murder case languished unsolved in Brussels Judge Van Espen's court for a full dozen years. Van Espen was friends with Michel Nihoul, having represented Nihoul's ex-wife Anne Bouty on a case. Van Espen's sister was godmother to Nihoul's child. When Regina Louf accused Nihoul and his wife of murdering her friend, despite the blatant criminal conflict of interest, Van Espen refused to recuse himself. In 2000, a journalist publicly outed the ultra-cozy relationship between Van Espen and his murdering friend Nihoul. But it was only after it first came to light in 1998 did Judge Van Espen ultimately resign from the case, things are really rotten in Belgium.

SUMMARY:

The great sadness of this story is that so many knew, yet so many remained mute. How can we leave the children to suffer like this, whilst adults stood back and did nothing. The sheer arrogance of them and no fear, is also symptomatic of a public that doesn't care enough about the plight of others. There are many ways to deal with these people, despite them having an air of being untouchable. As for the royal aspect, they have many public engagements, if only none of the people turned up instead of going all starry eyed at psychotic killers. Why would you want to be seen around these royals? Makes a great selfie some will think and their own delusion of 15 minutes of fame. But it is not fame they are getting; it is a badge of dishonor to the children and humanity. Why would you wish to stand next to a killer and a pedo, just because someone decided they were famous? We must really re-invent what fame really is, fame is the ones who care and look after children, not for those who abuse them. This miniseries also proves at great lengths what THI said many years ago, all the institutions are corrupt. But this stuff goes way beyond being corrupt and into some of the most evil practices ever on this planet. Judges, police, royals, politicians, lawyers, church, child protection and social services, all involved in it and or the cover up. Leaving little doubt as to our other statement of, there is not a single organization on this planet for the benefit of humanity. They are all run by and for the benefit of satanic psychopaths who have clearly gone too far in the quest for darkness. Yet these monstrosities are held up and revered as by the people as some sort of gods. Stockholm syndrome doesn't even begin to describe it, it just doesn't. People revile at pedophiles, yet not when it is someone deemed as famous or a church person? Why is that? Why the double standards? What have these elites ever done to warrant such admiration? I will tell what it describes, total lunacy on behalf of the people. You can guarantee Joachim went through ridicule, being shunned and abused all for the heinous crime of telling the truth. Like I have said, this planet is a lunatic asylum, that needs urgent attention. Which is why our book is called a New Blueprint for Humanity, because it is urgently needed. Ignoring the few of us brave enough to stand up to the system and the lies has not served humanity well, in fact it has been a disaster. The I can't handle hearing about this, people, utterly pathetic and morosely selfish. Because whilst your too weak to hear it, children suffer the consequences of not enough people standing up for them. A complete dereliction of duty if you're a mother or father. Your role is to be guardians for all children, not deaf, blind and mute. Like I said in the last show, if Source was dead, he would be turning in his grave now. Often people cry for help from the ET's, whether that is the URs, Pleiadean's, Arcturian's, Lyran's or some others. But why would they come here to save us, when we can't even be responsible for the children? If you were in their shoes, would you come here and save us? What are they actually saving? Is the great question.

Why are we as a species allowing these perverts and murderers to operate amongst us? And worse rule over us? When all it takes is more people with courage to fight back and for people to come together and decide, we will not tolerate this in our society or on our planet. When are we as a species going to learn to protect each other and save ourselves? Until we do learn, then more atrocities like this will continue to unfold and the children will continue to cry, suffer and die.
