NEWS:

So the mask man operating as Joe Biden bowed to pressure within his own party ranks and stepped down. Step forward Kamala Harris another of the corrupt line of families as we exposed in the August 25th 2022 show. You do realize Kamala Harris' family was one of the largest owners of slaves and another of those of Indian descent installed into prominent positions, it's increasing, FHSTOS reveals why. She is linked to the California mafia crew of what was Brown, Feinstein, Pelosi and Newsome. An incestuous crew linked to the Clinton and Soros Foundations as the show revealed. Harris has barely done and said nothing for the past 4 years as Vice-President, ridiculed at times for her incompetence and yet now stands on the precipice of becoming the President. Incompetence against a felon who gets involved in false flags, what a non-choice that is. Both are favorable to the Jewish junta and so the continuation of the collapse of America will continue. The country has the perfect opportunity now with two divisive candidates to change the landscape once and for all. The solution is the Blueprint.

Here is an interesting reveal from Anna Von Reitz, exposing Trump's running mate. J.D. Vance is a good candidate for the vice-president as he is another of the Skull and Bones graduates of Yale University. Who also worked for Ambrosia a company selling adrenochrome products, wrapped up in a blood transfusion service charging $8K for a pint of young blood. Also an attorney who worked for the Sidney Austin Law Firm, which also employed Barack Obama and his spouse. Even J.D. Vance's wife is a perfect helpmate, a Gates Foundation beneficiary and devotee. She is also law clerk for John Roberts and Brett Kavanaugh, educated at Cambridge, so the Brits have their dedicated spy and influencer on the inside, calling shots for them at the highest levels. J.D Vance's wife Usha is another one of the Indian people thrust into key positions, we have mentioned quite a bit of recently. Do not mistake the word Brits for the people, the government, the Royals as it is all the Jewish led Crown, something Anna has never referenced once. This is more evidence of Trump working with the EL-ite and their choices and organizations. Yet, bizarrely people think he is a man of the people?

In the week since the attempted assassination of Donald Trump, details have emerged about sniper positions and Secret Service agents, witnesses and warnings. But the answer to the biggest question remains elusive: Why? So far, investigators say, they have found little evidence of an ideology driving the shooter, Thomas Matthew Crooks, a 20-year-old nursing home aide who was killed at the scene. The information gleaned from his phone, family and friends doesn't offer a motive, national security analysts say, and the absence of a quick explanation, has left room for the rapid-fire spread of partisan and conspiratorial theories shaping how millions of Americans view the attack. If all that is true, then what we are facing is, another 3 barreled named lone shooter out of the MK Ultra and Manchurian candidate brigade. That is the only thing that makes sense of that situation. Given the whole thing appeared staged, is the alleged shooter actually dead? Or did he exit the stage once everyone was cleared away? If he underwent MK Ultra, he wouldn't know what took place anyway.

But the media got their distraction based story they wanted and then they do what they always do best, create a Hollywood/Disney scene out of it, as this sentence proves. The shot that killed the man who attempted to assassinate former President Trump at a rally in Butler, Pennsylvania, last Saturday was a one-in-a-million shot, according to a source familiar with the investigation into the shooting. They do love their heroic storylines in this American, don't be surprised if the security agent is declared as some sort of national holiday in honor of him. It is the kind of schmaltzy headlines far too many people buy into in this country. All the world is a stage and all the world is a rally it seems. A rally means, bring together or into order again by urgent effort. Bring people into order? All very Fascist to me.

The new Republican American slogan is make American great once again? Or magoa. Magoa means sorrow, grief and hurt. I would suggest that is what we will get, as some people are sleep walking into deeper tyranny unless they wake up.

Was this a shot across the bow and a warning? Or is it a consequences of actions warning? Or both? As a blazing 34,000 mile-per-hour meteor lit up the New York sky on Tuesday, shaking the city and leaving residents in awe. As authorities scrambled to uncover the source, theories ranged from cosmic to military. The mystery deepened with no clear evidence of an earthquake, keeping New Yorkers on edge. A 34,000 mile-per-hour meteor streaked past the Statue of Liberty on Tuesday, disintegrating over New York City. NASA confirmed the event, describing it as a fiery spectacle above the bustling metropolis. New York best start to clean up their act I would suggest. They can start by telling the people the truth about that fake statue and also Cleopatra's needle in Central Park. Because when the full truth comes out at some point, both those statues will come down anyway.

Was this a first sign of the collapse of the old world systems? Or more clown shenanigans if you follow the money? As a massive tech outage swept the globe on Friday, knocking out operations for banks, companies and emergency services, whilst forcing airlines to ground flights, exposing the fragility and interdependence of global digital technology. A single update from CrowdStrike, a major provider of cybersecurity software, caused outages for millions of users of Microsoft Windows devices worldwide. Major airlines including Delta Air Lines, United Airlines and American Airlines halted departures overnight. Windows computers and tablets crashed in countries from the U.S. to China and Australia, with reports of forced device restarts spreading across social media. Many affected machines were unable to restart, instead showing a blue error screen sometimes called the blue screen of death. The outage touched almost every industry. Multiple financial institutions, government entities and corporations reported tech issues. Some hospitals and school districts said computers were down, and courthouses around the U.S. either closed or delayed trial proceedings. But despite all that, financial markets were largely operating as normal. Now isn't that funny? the shekel machines just keep on rolling whilst everywhere else collapses. That one update from a single provider could plunge so many companies, from airlines' check-in desks to consultants' conference rooms into a digital dark age, serves as a fresh warning of the world's technological dependence. While past outages, like a Google failure in 2020, have also locked millions out of tools they need, companies' and individuals' increasing reliance on automated tools powered by artificial intelligence makes each new disruption feel more ominous.

Finally it seems the authorities are beginning to turn and see who the real problem is on this planet. The UN's top court has said Israel's occupation of Palestinian territories is against international law, in a landmark opinion. The International Court of Justice (ICJ) said Israel should stop settlement activity in the occupied West Bank and East Jerusalem and end its illegal occupation of those areas and the Gaza Strip as soon as possible. In response, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said the court had made a decision of lies. The court's advisory opinion is not legally binding but still carries significant political weight. It marks the first time the ICJ has delivered a position on the legality of the 57-year occupation. The ICJ, based at The Hague in the Netherlands, has been examining the issue since the beginning of last year, at the request of the UN General Assembly. The court was specifically asked to give its view on Israel's policies and practices towards the Palestinians, and on the legal status of the occupation. Delivering the court's findings, ICJ President Nawaf Salam said it had found that Israel's continued presence in the Occupied Palestinian Territory is illegal. The State of Israel is under the obligation to bring an end to its unlawful presence in the Occupied Palestinian Territory as rapidly as possible, he said. He said Israel's withdrawal from the Gaza Strip in 2005 did not bring Israel's occupation of that area to an end, because it still exercises effective control over it. The court also said Israel should evacuate all of its settlers from the West Bank and East Jerusalem and pay reparations to Palestinians for damages caused by the occupation. I agree as it is not their land and never was. If they dispute it, I would ask them for proof, not proof from some fake book, but authentic documented proof the land belongs to them. Because until then, they are just making undocumented claims with no foundation. It is like someone walking up to the District of Columbia and saying god gave me this land and you have to leave. Would they allow that person to move in, no chance. Then the same applies to Israel. Israel has built about 160 settlements housing some 700,000 Jews in the West Bank and East Jerusalem since 1967. The court said the settlements were illegal. Israel has consistently disputed that they are against international law.

The ICJ said Israel's policies and practices amount to annexation of large parts of the Occupied Palestinian Territory, which it said was against international law, adding that Israel was not entitled to sovereignty over any part of the occupied territories. Israel claims sovereignty over the whole of Jerusalem, the eastern half of which it captured in the 1967 Middle East war. It considers the city its indivisible capital, something which is not accepted by the vast majority of the international community. Among its other far-reaching conclusions, the court said Israeli restrictions on Palestinians in the occupied territories constituted systemic discrimination based on, inter alia, race, religion or ethnic origin. It also said Israel had illegally exploited the Palestinians' natural resources and violated their right to self-determination. Remember the ICJ is part of the secret Royals club we did in a recent show. The court also advised states to avoid any actions, including providing aid or assistance, that would maintain the current situation. Israel's prime minister swiftly issued a blunt statement rejecting what the court had determined. The Jewish people are not occupiers in their own land, not in our eternal capital Jerusalem, nor in our ancestral heritage of Judea and Samaria the West Bank, Netanyahu said. No decision of lies in The Hague will distort this historical truth, and similarly, the legality of Israeli settlements in all parts of our homeland cannot be disputed. Then please provide documented proof of such jurisdiction and precedence then. But the court's findings were welcomed by the Palestinians. Hussein Al Sheikh, the secretary general of the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), called it a historic victory for the rights of the Palestinian people and their right to self-determination. Plus the collapse and defeat of the Judaization project through confiscation, settlement, displacement and racist practices against a people under occupation. The international community must respect the opinion of international justice and force Israel to end its occupation of the Palestinian territories, he said. The court's findings will now go to the UN General Assembly, which will decide how to respond, including the option of adopting a resolution. That would be significant and could constitute a catalyst for negotiations and set the legal parameters for a future negotiated settlement. This case is separate from another active case brought to the ICJ by South Africa accusing Israel of committing genocide against the Palestinians in the war in Gaza. The words are great, but they need to decide the enforcement options and quickly before more people are genocided. I believe this event is a turning point and many countries and organizations are now going after the Israeli junta. It will inevitably lead to a war in that region, due to the psychotic nature of Israeli leaders, who are hellbent on destroying this planet and its people's. The solution is, A: Remove all Israelis and their business back to their 1967 borders B: pay reparations to the Palestinians C: Send in a multi-national peacekeeping force that does not include the UN, the US, UK or NATO D: Make Israel pay for all the infrastructure damage and rebuild all the towns they have destroyed in Palestine, Yemen, Syria, Jordan and the Lebanon. E: Sanction them via trade until A through D is accomplished F: Remove all the ports they have taken over globally and return to original countries and G: build a wall around them and make them self-contained and self-sustaining until they learn how to live in peace with other races.

Yet more atrocities exhibited by the Israeli junta and also the continuation of the plan to move people into so-called safe zones and then blitz them all in one strike. The Hamas-run health ministry in Gaza says at least 90 Palestinians have been killed in an Israeli air strike on a designated humanitarian area. About 300 people have been injured, according to the health ministry's statement, in an attack which Israel says targeted senior Hamas leader Mohammed Deif and his deputy Rafa Salama. In a news conference on Saturday evening, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said there was no certainty that either of them had been killed. Which means that is a war crime, as you cannot target a group with a set purpose and then glibly dismiss it, with statements like we don't know whether they have been killed or not. The strike hit the al-Mawasi area near Khan Younis, which the Israeli military has designated as a humanitarian zone. Netanyahu said he gave the order for the operation to go ahead after being briefed by his general security forces. He said he wanted to know there were no hostages nearby, the extent of the collateral damage and what kinds of weapons would be used. Having heard the plan, he wished them the best of luck. If there was two leaders they were targeting in there, why didn't they go into that zone on the ground and remove them? But you should see by now, these people have no compunction at all and discard people's lives all so easily. That psychopath at the time of writing is visiting America to address Congress, when he should be arrested by the Secret Service for war crimes against humanity.

Firefighting teams on Monday struggled to contain a massive blaze at Yemen's rebel-held Hodeida port, days after a deadly Israeli strike damaged oil storage facilities and endangered aid ships in the harbor. Heavy flames and black smoke spiraled into the sky for a third consecutive day following the strike on Saturday. Firefighters appeared to have made little progress, with the blaze seemingly expanding in some parts of the port, amid fears it could reach food storage facilities. The strike on Saturday was the first by Israel on the Arabian Peninsula's poorest country and came in response to a Huthi rebel drone strike that breached Israel's air defenses, killing one person in Tel Aviv the day before. It was not the first at all, Israel is fully involved in that war along with Saudi Arabia. Beirut 2020 and the Yemen port 2024 Jewish merchants of death and destruction strikes again. Yet again it appears to be a deliberate ploy to stopping aid ships coming in and killing humanitarian workers.

Here is another potential for a wfff event this time in France. As Israeli Olympians taking part in Paris 2024 have received death threats, hate messages, and vitriol online over the last few days, Israeli and foreign media reported on Saturday. It was reported that, over the weekend, Israeli athletes received online messages written in poor Hebrew. Many also received calls from foreign numbers. On Thursday and Friday, 15 athletes and their teams received identical death threats via email, warning them they would be killed if they arrived in France, Walla reported. The anonymous email said that the sender intended to harm any Israeli presence at the Olympics, and said that if any Israeli delegates attended, they would be harmed. The email threatened to repeat the action of Munich 1972 and told the athletes to prepare for the intifada! During the Munich 1972 Olympics, 11 Israelis were murdered by the Palestinian terrorist group Black September. A ceremony, the date and location of which are not yet known, will take place during the Paris Games to commemorate those killed, reported French publication Le Point. Why do we always have to endure death ceremonies decades later for the alleged deaths of Israelis? Mind memery is what is in play here, to guilt trip everybody and re-enforce the false notion that Jews are more important than anyone else. Whilst I do not condone the violence mentioned in these reports, it is encouraging that more and more people are turning against the Israeli people and their war mad rulers. One hopes more Jewish people begin to see it and work against their rulers, as currently they are sitting ducks for the anger people have against their system. The Olympics begins on July 26th and ends on August 11th.

From July 1776 the beginning of a failed project called the American dream, but in reality was a Jewish enclave to rape and pillage, through to July 24th 2024 – the day America officially died on its own cross. That date should be looked upon in total infamy, as it was the day America and in particular its politicians, media and other dignitaries, all bowed to a homicidal maniac like he was a new demi god. A shameful and disgraceful display filled with lies, history revision, begging bowls and an evil display of a psychopath prowling its next victim. He had the audacity to label Iran as an axis of terror, what lies that is, where is the proof to support it? Are they genociding everyone close to its borders like Israel? No. Let us not forget it was Iraq, a puppet of the West who attacked Iran killing a quarter of a million Iranians, not the other way round. The real reason he and they hate Iran is because they are part of the white race, let's call it as it is. Iran means land of the Aryans, who were part of the white race, these entities known as Jews have hunted down for many millennia. Those are the facts, no matter what the Jewish pro pagan da machine states. But what should concern every American is the behavior of their politicians. Except the 39 who never attended plus the lone protestor in the room Tlaib Rashida, who had a placard saying war criminal on one side and guilty of genocide on another. But yet again it is a person born outside of America complaining, where are the Americans? Be it politicians or the masses, and yes I am aware of the demonstrations, but there was not enough.

Another $64B of our money has just gone out the backdoor to kill more people and increase the spread of the cancer of the Israelis and their settlements. Because if anyone thinks the Israelis will go back to the borders prior to October 2023, you are beyond deluded at this point. New details have emerged of Israeli snipers gunning down large volumes of children, with deliberate shots to the temple and heart. What they are doing is deleting the youth and so there is never a large demographic of Palestinians for at least two generations, no children grow up into parents and so no children produced. I will repeat again for the hard of hearing, weak people and the ignorant, they are deliberately targeting and killing the children, whilst you all focus on someone with an alleged cut ear. The seven trumpets or Trump ET's are calling and our focus is on a fake election? Where is the honor and integrity in that? Never mind the truth. Wake up! This impunity act of the Israelis is all down to many people following a book, no one knows who wrote, there is no actual proof of its validity and in reality it is worshipping Lucifer, whether you are Jewish, Christian or Mormon. The righteous people who reject war and genocidal maniacs, the protestors, where of course treated to more Nazi policing of tazing, water cannons and violence, do people think this is normal in a so-called democratic country? All US Government departments are complicit in allowing this murderous psychopath on our soil, threatening our peace and security and all should resign in dereliction of duty to the American public. As for the American public, quit following a book and follow life, values, morals and principles. Follow life and love not death and evil, wrong is wrong no matter who commits it. You carry the blood of the innocent as well, for believing in a fake state, fake people and a fake book, that apparently allows those connected with it full impunity. Yet the world sits there, politicians happy clap, Premiers silent, too many Americans silent, despite it being their money spent to kill these children. Well enough is enough. Others may be frightened of calling it out, I won't, this is a truth and reality show and a 2D illusion game, so Fuck Israel, Fuck Mossad, Fuck AIPAC and Fuck Netanyahu, you people do not belong on this planet, now or in the future. The world will be a safer place without you and your evil, murderous and psychopath brethren.

MEDICAL SECTION:

Remember the Event 201, the war game or as they called it a tabletop exercise that took place at the Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security and faulty math on Oct. 15, 2019, cosponsored by that outfit, along with Bill/Melinda Gates and the Rockefeller Foundation? If you do remember that event, you might also recall the rollout of the coronavirus three months later. That interesting coincidence suggests that we, or those of us who didn't much enjoy the last pandemic and want intensely not to see another one play out, then we need to pay close attention to the date of this next predatory confab: October 3/4. If indeed the past is prologue, those dates suggest the possibility that bird flu will start to be disseminated around the world in early January. Could that timing indicate an elite intention to distract a population raging at the cancellation of this year's elections, and justify a national crackdown on bird flu denialists, or better known as anti-vaxxers? On the agendas this year is stated to be Mass Fatality Management Planning and delivery of vaccine and Antiviral medication. Johns Hopkins has already had three meetings there this year, all with a similar theme. February 8, 2024: The Capitol Hill Steering Committee on Pandemic Preparedness & Health Security: Policy Frontiers: Realizing the Benefits, Managing the Risks of Artificial Intelligence-Driven Biotechnology. April 10, 2024: Capitol Hill Steering Committee on Pandemic Preparedness and Health Security: Preventing and Preparing for the Next Pandemic: A Focus on Funding Priorities. May 15, 2024 | Capitol Hill Steering Committee on Pandemic Preparedness and Health Security: Strengthening US Defense Capabilities Against Deliberate Biological Threats: What Congress Needs to Know. What I would like to know is, who protects the people from the biological threats from the US Military? Given their track record of using biological weapons on the people for the past 105 years at least. Predictably Johns Hopkins are not advertising the October 3/4th event on their website yet, which suggests a cover up of sorts. Maybe it is time for all activists to shut down that event and that building for crimes against humanity. We cannot continue to allow them to make plans for our destruction without fighting back. Too often they have these events and we pay no attention to them, that has to stop. I suggest we must highlight this in our Media and Activist sections.

It is all coming out now as data from the Office for National Statistics in the UK, show that the proportion of total deaths in England among unvaccinated people dropped sharply in early 2022, even as excess deaths soared. The proportion then remained low throughout the following two years, indicating that the additional deaths during this period were concentrated in the vaccinated. Is this why the authorities continue to resist releasing the full data on deaths by vaccination status? A cross-party group of 21 MPs and peers are the latest to write to request the data be released. Are the authorities refusing because they know the data show excess deaths predominantly in the vaccinated? The striking effect was seen in every age group. Excess deaths since 2022 were primarily in the vaccinated, official data suggest, fueling fears that the Covid vaccines may be playing a significant role in the high excess deaths in recent years. The folly of following news media and non-medical experts will hit home sharply now, as we are getting close to the original estimates time range for deaths due to these jabs, of 2-5 years. Other estimates range from 2-10 years. But added to the report of reducing population rates earlier, it seems this planet is in for a sharp decline in the population overall. That must not be seen as a fear piece, but it should spark within you an opportunity to manifest a different outcome following the mass departures. It is all about how you view life is it not? Could it be those people were due to disappear because of the frequency changes anyway? And Covid was a cover up for that? As the authorities would have great difficulty trying to explain why so many people disappeared. The question you should all ask to yourselves is, is what is playing out now and the near future beneficial to the planet? Will the planet benefit from less low vibrational people? Will the people left, benefit from less low vibration people as well? We have to stop thinking just about ourselves and ponder upon the bigger picture and what will be the solutions for every potential outcome.

SOCIETY SECTION:

This is one of the most insidious money programs developed by the greedy El-ites, coming on top of all the other rapes of our wealth and life force. This is a program that assigns to children a lifetime of debt before barely starting their adult life and yet curiously parents went along with it, in many cases burdening them as well. The double or triple irony is, you are paying for their education, to be indoctrinated away from being a human being into a programmable robot with no rights or free will choices. Adults should be up in arms over this, but yet again ignore the theft, rape and mind control damage done to their children, that is a dereliction of duty as a guardian to the children. Almost 1.8 million people are now in at least £50,000 of UK student debt. More than 61,000 have balances of above £100,000, figures from the Student Loans Company (SLC) also show, while another 50 people each owe upwards of £200,000. The statistics were released after a Freedom of Information (FOI) request for the number of loan holders with above average debts who are eligible to start repayments. The SLC previously said the average balance for loan holders in England when they start making repayments was less than £45,000. New government data shows that amount has now risen to £48,470. Balances can be significantly higher for those who study multiple or lengthy courses and often rise rapidly with interest. In 2023/24, some 2.8 million people in England made a student loan repayment, according to government figures released after the FOI response. That means only a small fraction of those repaying their balances are in more than £100,000 of debt, but the majority do owe more than £50,000. It has been revealed earlier this year that the highest UK student debt was more than £231,000. Around three months later, that figure has now hit £252,000. Personal finance expert Martin Lewis said the debts should be seen more like a limited form of graduate tax. Speaking on Radio 4's Today program, he explained: Student finance for the vast majority of students is not about what you owe, but what you earn, you repay 9% of everything above a threshold. Spoken like a typical shekel maker, where is the humanity levels in this Mr. Lewis? life is not all about shekels.

For example, those on Plan 2 loans would pay 9% of everything earned over £27,295. Yet the average UK wage is 28K before tax, which in my opinion is deliberate. Why? Because the average person cannot repay any of the debt as their wages are too low, and so the interest on the payments increases. It is pure theft. Debts are written off at the end of loan terms, regardless of how much is owed by that point. The terms are often 30 or 40 years, but depend on your course and start date. Just like a mortgage which is a valuable object who is dead. Heavily-indebted graduates have also spoken to BBC News about their concerns with the current system. Titi, a senior electrical engineer from Croydon, saw his student debt, which stands at more than £128,200, rise by £788.11 between 6 April and 6 June this year. No matter how much I pay it is always increasing, he said, referencing the near 8% interest rate on accounts like his, which is driven by high inflation. High inflation that is caused by the very same entities coming up with these theft schemes. The father-of-one, 43, told the BBC he feels it is impossible to pay back the balance in full following his four-year course at London South Bank University and two years studying for a Higher National Diploma. It seems like a money-making avenue when you look at the interest rates applied to the loans, he said. Titi said he fears some people may be discouraged from higher education, when they do the calculations and consider what they could earn without a degree. There is another problem, they are not educated enough to understand the math behind it all and so sleep walk into these programs pushed by ignorant parents, who in my opinion are pushing their child into a failure program. They are setting their child up to fail, yes by ignorance, but why haven't they bothered to look into it for the benefit of their children? Saying but I thought I could trust the school system is not a valid option and a lame excuse, why would you trust it when you haven't bothered researching it?

Here is a great report that echoes much of THI in the content, which is ironic as THI relayed much of this writers content in recent shows. The report states: The Gen-Z demonstrating on college campuses are often portrayed as pro-Hamas terrorist supporters, and a criminal threat to society. Don't be fooled by these lies and falsehoods used to usher in hate speech antisemitic laws. Meanwhile, last week's story of nearly 400 Palestinian mass graves at Gaza's hospitals is quickly buried and largely swept under the rug. Again, this hybrid war is between truth and lies, good and evil, human rights and tyranny, life and death, take your pick. All this is so predictable because we've seen this movie rerun many times before. This long-planned unfolding scenario today becomes the current fascist Marxist totalitarian regime's excuse, to throw out America's free speech First Amendment rights as our God-given fundamental human liberties, guaranteed by our Founding Fathers' Constitution as a constitutional republic. He needs to be updated on that last claim, Founding Fathers were part of the problem. The brand-new antisemitism law passed on Wednesday May 1st, plus Congress legislating a ban against TikTok has drawn criticism, not only as a free speech violation for 170 million TikTok users in the US, but also to ban dissent against Israeli genocide. The bill was heavily backed and lobbied by strong support from both ADL and Jewish Federations of North America. Which people again forget, that is a foreign State interfering with our policies and process. How this has been allowed to continue is because of these fearers of truth interfering with Amendment 1 and stifling of our free speech, even against politicians. In the face of mounting evidence of genocide and the International Criminal Court's investigation of genocide, at the end of March, the US just sent another batch of fresh one ton and 500 pound bombs as part of Israel's $3.8 billion annual military aid. But that cash cow giveaway also included a longstanding provision limiting aid to the West Bank's governing body, the Palestinian Authority, specifying: If Palestinians initiate an International Criminal Court (ICC) judicially authorized investigation, or actively supports an investigation, that subjects Israeli nationals to an investigation for alleged crimes against Palestinians. This clearly shows how under threat of withholding Palestinian aid and starvation, the US government insidiously shields Israel from all criminal accountability under the auspices of the UN's International Criminal Court, while sending yet more bombs. The world's great unanswered question, is why Israel and Jews are never allowed to be questioned? Is that not a definition of Fascism? Yes, why? Because they were the Fascists all along and the world owes Germany and its people a massive apology. This is the same court that Bibi the Butcher Netanyahu just asked Biden to intercede on his behalf, to prevent the ICC from issuing Netanyahu and his government an arrest warrant for genocidal war crimes.

Then last Wednesday April 24th, Biden signed into law an aid package passed by the House by a 366-58 margin, rewarding Israel another whopping $26.4 billion for its heinous genocide, on top of passing a law the same day banning TikTok in the US and now this week's antisemitism act. These laws are all over-the-top pro-Israel, pro-genocide, in total defiance of the will of the American people, overriding their constitutional right to freely criticize this Jewish rogue State, that enjoys complete immunity from prosecution for its flagrant violations of international law. This jam-packed pro-Israel legislation within seven days of each other reminds America and world, the US government works far more on behalf of Israel than it does America. Moreover, it's an overtly dangerous indication that the US federal government is aggressively silencing and outlawing Americans' right to dissent, protest and exercise free speech, while condoning and protecting Israeli genocide and war crime atrocities in favor of unconstitutional censorship, suppression and unlawful criminalization. All Americans should be joining the college students in mass protests against our own government's all too obvious treasonous betrayal in addition to the genocide. We the People need to hold both the Israeli government as well as the US government to account for their appallingly egregious, thus far unprosecuted crimes. The US and Israel should not be above the law, but if no court, agency or organization with the legal, political and economic will, clout and teeth is in place to hold them accountable, then they can and still will get away with murder and genocide. The Blueprint of course addresses all of those issues. With the geopolitical and economic power dynamics shifting currently from unipolar kingpin America led Western bloc to the multipolar Global South nation majority led by Eastern powers Russia and China, gradually the international community is in a position to effectively hold them and in fact, any nation that flagrantly violates international law accountable. Other nations are gradually becoming more empowered and assertive enough to be openly critical of the US hegemony, for the first time able to exercise their voice autonomously without fearing US sanctions, regime change or invasion. For example, at least on a rotational basis, members outside the five permanent UN Security Council nations are now included. A number of new members have been welcomed into the expanding BRICS economic and strategic alliance as a competing alternative to Western G20 dominance and a new gold back currency, surpassing G20 in both GDP holding over half the world population. Perhaps in compensation, the African Union is now a permanent member of G20. All these recent changes reflect the global balance of power moving away from US/Western hegemony towards a multipolar world plurality. Whether these two pariah nations, US and Israel, can finally be held accountable as Russia and China ascend to global leadership roles in this polarizing multipolar world remains to be seen. Yes they will, as the old world has to go for a new one to be reborn.

Clearly, provocation by the globalist controlled Western bloc currently with its strength rapidly waning both economically and geopolitically, is undergoing militarized mobilization, seemingly instigating at the elite's behest, an insane World War III against the Eastern bloc of nations. The Eastern axis, comprised of Russia, China, Iran and North Korea, with either neutral or tacit support from the Global South majority, if the approaching world war remains short of strategic nuclear exchange, the Eastern powers will decisively defeat the West. I agree with him, but I am not certain the nukes are operable anymore and if they are, I believe they will be mitigated on another level. The longer it goes on, the more likely war will take place in my opinion, but it may be contained within smaller theaters rather than full scale war. Whilst people fear war which I totally understand, you have to remember this is only one lifetime of many you will experience and so the overview aspect has to be the most prevalent, rather than the personal aspect. The goal was to change the dynamics of the planet and the people, tyranny has reigned for far too long and whatever measures are required, they have to be taken. This destructive outcome appears to be the deliberate intention of the globalists, to destroy the West through drastic depopulation, and with only a half to one million survivors left on earth. The bloodline elites hope to attain their coveted totalitarian technocratic one world government wielding absolute power and control. Meanwhile, the polarizing pathway now in process has the South American nation Colombia taking the lead, after South Africa in recent months presented its evidence of Israel genocide to the International Court of Justice, which largely deferred the case. But on Wednesday May 1st, this ongoing, near 7-month Gaza genocide compelled Colombian President Gustavo Petro to announce that his country is severing its diplomatic ties with Israel. Hopefully many more nations will follow suit. President Petro declared: Here, in front of you as the president of the republic, I announce that tomorrow, on May 2, we will break off diplomatic relations with Israel for having a genocidal government. A time of genocide, of an extermination of an entire nation before our eyes, cannot return. If Palestine dies, humanity dies. Exactly all for one and one for all is the path forward. We need more people like myself and the author who is Joachim Hapogian, the author of our series the true horrors of the world to speak out and speak up. Much of the external damage can be mitigated that way and the road to freedom be far less bumpy. What is missing currently? The people themselves.

We are now living in a more truth based world. But what does that mean? Basically, that trust in our interpreters of truth, the elites, the mediating class and various other names has begun to evaporate. The majority in America don't believe the presidents anymore as the leading group during elections now is the non-voting group. We no longer believe the news media and other organs of information, as their viewing figures have plummeted to record lows. More so since the advent of the fake Covid-19 plandemic, and since then many have stopped believing our institutions of science. But truth isn't the sum of many facts, it works the other way around. We erect frameworks of understanding which the facts must fit into or modify. A healthy society will debate the relationship between a given fact and its role in our understanding of the world. The catastrophic failure of the mediators means that we now debate the frameworks and their meanings among ourselves. In this rolling chaos, interpretations have turned tendentious and partial. Reality has splintered into a million pieces. That's the post-truth condition. Our cognitive need for a framework carries an interesting consequence. Information doesn't occur spontaneously in nature, to be picked like a wildflower for our delectation. This subjective element in information is usually treated with suspicion, for good reason: as we tend to distort reality in our favor or what we are comfortable in receiving at that point in time. But considered as a sort of universal framework, a boundary condition of truth, it can open a door out of our present predicament. To ask, Is this information right or wrong? is to be plunged instantly into the struggle of the frameworks and the twisting labyrinth of post-truth. But to ask, what is this information for? then begins a trail of explanations that could, with luck, lead to understanding. Having the knowledge is one thing, it is what you do with it is what matters.

FHSTOS SECTION:

In FHSTOS Plus 25 we mentioned about a Loka, in particular the Krishna Loka. Which I questioned because of the name details now, but also the possibility of it being an overlay. Here are some details and pictures of the Lokas. Loka Sanskrit: which means planet is a concept in Hinduism and other Indian religions, that may be translated as a planet, the universe, a plane, or a realm of existence. In some philosophies, it may also be interpreted as a mental state that one can experience. Just like the misinterpreted word heaven, heaven is a state within you, not external of you. A primary concept in several Indian religions is the idea that different lokas are home to various divine beings, and one takes birth in such realms based on their karma. But already the words have taken on an Indian format, when that is the corrupted overlay aspect of the information. This applies to all peoples of the white race being wrapped into what they call Indo- European. But the Europeans were here long before the Indians and Dravidia as it was called. What they are describing is the realms of the gods, the mental state is misinterpreted as the brain state, when a mental state is actually the soul development levels, in my opinion.

In Hinduism there are Three Lokas. The most common classification of Lokas in Hinduism is the Trailokya, or the three worlds. The concept of the three worlds has a number of different interpretations in Hindu cosmology. In Hindu literature, the three worlds refer to either the earth (Bhuloka), heaven (Svarga), and hell (Naraka), or the earth (Bhuloka), heaven (Svarga), and the netherworld (Patala) What they have just described is Yav, Nav and Prav.

Bhuloka:

In the Narada Purana, Bhuloka is identified with the planet Earth, the world of human beings. It is described to be split up into seven regions, referred to as dvipas (islands). These regions are known as Jambudvipa, Plakshadvipa, Shalmaladvipa, Kushadvipa, Krounchadvipa, Shakadvipa, and Pushkaradvipa. Of special significance is the Indian subcontinent, referred to as Bharatavarsha, which is a land where the fruits of one's actions allows one passage into either Svarga or Naraka. Bhuloka also has seven oceans, namely, Lavana, Ikshu, Sura, Sarpih, Dadhi, Dughdha, and Jala. The 7 islands are the 7 continents and the seven oceans are what we had here, now missing the Milk Ocean which was displaced by the Himalayas. But the Indian subcontinent is no more special than anywhere else, except to the sub-gray race.

Svarga:

Generally translated as heaven, Svarga is identified with the realm of Indra and the devas in contemporary Hinduism. The Vedas offer the reward of Svarga as one's destination for the proper practice of sacrificial rituals on earth. No they didn't, the only sacrifices they spoke of was bloodless sacrifices, which is service to others. In Vedic mythology, Svarga is filled with the nectar of immortality, amrita, with lakes containing lotuses, pools of wine, milk and ghee, as well as streams that are replete with honey. It is not filled with immortality either, although amrita makes you look younger and prolongs your life, but it is not an immortality elixir. It is abundant with food and refreshments, and equal opportunity is offered to all of its denizens. It is described to be an infinite, complete, as well as an immortal realm, offering pleasure to those rare few who are able to ascend to it. It is sometimes associated with Pitṛloka, the realm of one's ancestors, but this association is not present in all literature.

Naraka:

Naraka is generally translated as hell, and refers to the Loka that humans are sent to, to be punished for their sins. Ruled by Yama, sinners are offered appropriate punishments for their sins on earth, and after a period of time, reborn on Earth with bad vipāka, which is the effect of bad karma. The Bhagavata Purana enumerates the following 28 Narakas: Tamisra, Andhatamisra, Raurava, Maharaurava, Kumbhipaka, Kalasutra, Asipatravana, Sukaramukha, Andhakupa, Krimibhojana, Samdamsa, Taptasurmi, Vajrakantaka-salmali, Vaitarani, Puyoda, Pranarodha, Visasana, Lalabhaksa, Sarameyadana, Avichi, Ayahpana, Ksharakardama, Raksogana-bhojana, Sulaprota, Dandasuka, Avata-nirodhana, Paryavartana, and Suchimukha. The Brahmanda Purana conceives them to be Bhūta (past), Bhavya (future) and Bhavat (present).

The scholar Deborah Soifer describes the development of the concept of Lokas as follows: The concept of a Loka or Lokas develops in the Vedic literature. Influenced by the special connotations that a word for space might have for a nomadic people, Loka in the Veda did not simply mean place or world, but had a positive valuation: it was a place or position of religious or psychological interest with a special value or function of its own. Hence, inherent in the 'Loka' concept in the earliest literature was a double aspect; that is, coexistent with spatiality was a religious or soteriological meaning, which could exist independent of a spatial notion, an immaterial significance. The most common cosmological conception of Lokas in the Veda was that of the trailokya or triple world: three worlds consisting of earth, atmosphere or sky, and heaven, making up the universe. The difference between the Indian interpretation of the Vedas and the Rus is marked. One is a guideline to enlightenment, the Indian is a descent into hell, guilt and shame.

Fourteen Lokas:

In the Puranas and in the Atharvaveda, there are 14 worlds, seven higher ones Vyahrtis and seven lower ones Pātālas, viz. bhu, bhuvā, svar, mahas, janas, tapas, and satya above and atala, vitala, sutala, rasatala, talatala, makatala, pātāla and naraka at the bottom. The higher Lokas (1-7) are described as the heavens, populated by higher gods and full of truth. The lower Lokas (8-14) constitute the different hells. In each of these realms are different deities and beings living out their karmic trajectories. Those beings in the higher realms have attained a temporary spiritual liberation due to their positive merits for having strengthened their detachment to the mind, ego and sense objects. In other words, they went into the heart and developed themselves on a soul development planetary level. However, ultimate liberation moksha is regarded as the highest goal in human life, in which one achieves ultimate union with God. Moksha, in turn, requires total liberation/detachment from worldly objects and desires. In other words you become a god, not the god and go onto teaching those in the lower levels.

The lower seven Lokas

In Buddhism there are the six Lokas. Six Lokas:

In the Tibetan and Tantric schools, Six Lokas refers to a Bönpo and Nyingmapa spiritual practice or discipline that works with the chakras, and the six dimensions or classes of beings in the Bhavachakra. In Buddhist cosmology, Kama-Loka, Rupa-Loka, Arupa-Loka are the realms that are inhabited by various beings. Additionally, those who inhabit these realms will identify with the characteristics of that realm. For example, a being that resides in Kama-Loka experiences predominantly sensual desires, whereas a being in Rupa-loka will experience deep meditation. Sensual desires can be seen as the external path and the meditation as the internal path. Various early suttas also suggest that there is a close relationship between psychology and cosmology, equating to different levels of existence in the cosmos, which can be interpreted as the aforementioned Lokas. That is explaining the relation of the mind being connected to certain lower levels, whilst being in the heart connects you to the higher levels.

Three Lokas:

There is a cosmological view in Buddhism called Trailokya. In early Buddhism, based upon the Pali Canon and related Agamas, there are three distinct realms: First the Kama Loka, or the world of sensuality, in which humans, animals and some devas reside. Devas are described as heavenly, divine, terrestrial things of high excellence, exalted, shining ones. The concept also is used to refer to deity. There is little evidence of any of these still residing here currently. The second is Rupadhatu Loka, or the world of material existence, in which certain beings mastering specific meditative attainments reside. That is dancing between the two worlds, the physical body still exists in the first world, but part of the body exists in the second world as well. That is done through your own soul development and will bring many of the skills detailed in the Empowerment show. The one most familiar would be the bi-location skill set. The third is Arupadhatu Loka, or the immaterial, formless world, in which formless spirits reside. That is the non-corporeal realm. Arahants, who have attained the highest goal of Nirvana have unbound themselves from individual existence in any form, in any realm and cannot be found here, there or in between. i.e., they are found in no Loka whatsoever. It is said they have transcended the endless rebirth cycle and so live longer life spans. But not the immortality as we have been fed to believe in. The early suttas also contain information regarding another important domain known as the supramundane realm, lokottara/lokuttara, meaning beyond the world, which is described as being experienced by awakened noble beings. I would suggest that is what we know as, the Golden path.

Jainism:

Universe structure as told by Kevalins. See image “Universe structure.jpg” in Downloads section on the show page.

In the picture on the transcript available at THI-show.com, at the top is a sun which is golden, hence the Golden Path of the Sun. In Jain texts, the universe is referred to as Loka. Although Loka originally means open space, Jain teachers preferred to derive it from the verbal root lok, which means to see. What do you see and what do you not see springs to mind there. They explain Loka as that which is seen by the omniscient ones. Jain cosmology postulates an eternal and ever-existing Loka which works on universal natural laws, there being no creator and destroyer deity. Which is an interesting concept and plays into our warning of dancing within the duality field, creator and destroyer entities. Where is the triality? What is the triality? We did have a dark destroyer in our Universe, but my understanding is that was dealt with in 2019. Perhaps for a balanced Universe we need the third aspect, which is the neutrality and the balance. Which means you are not assigned as a light or dark being, but balanced in both in the 45-55 range.

According to the Jain cosmology, the universe is divided into three parts:

Urdhva Loka - the realms of the gods or heavens.

Madhya Loka – the realms of the humans, animals and plants.

Adho Loka – the realms of the hellish beings or the infernal regions.

Jain cosmology uses the terms Loka and aloka to describe the inhabitable and uninhabitable spaces in the universe. The philosophy describes how inhabitable space Loka will never penetrate into the uninhabitable space aloka and vice versa, both of which are a subdivision of space ākāśa. That is based upon the frequency of the region of space we covered in Humanity Unplugged 1 and 2. Not all of space is habitable, the frequency has to be right for life to be sustainable. An example of this maybe is the black holes, but as above so below, there has to be a white hole. Scientists are only recently beginning to understand this. The space between the differing Universes has a pliable membrane separating each Universe. The black hole is a portal to which ascending galaxies and solar systems can traverse through into a Universe that has the frequency to receive the higher ascension bodies. These galaxies and solar systems when ready, go through the black hole and into the next Universe. As an observer in the Universe they are transitioning into, they will see an explosion of light. Our scientists describe it as the Big Bang and speak of the explosion similar to a supernova, but they are missing the key point. Why? Because they focus on the effect and the effect is a big explosion of light. But the explosion of light is all the suns and galaxies coming out of the dark, because it is the next Universe and into the new Universe. In the aloka, there is nothing except strong winds. Which adds more meaning to the line in the song, yes there are two paths you can go by but in the long run, your stairway lies on the whispering wind, not the strong wind. In Jain cosmology, on achieving moksha, the soul becomes free of the worldly realm, once the fruits of all good and bad karmas have been received. Theosophy:

The concept of Lokas was adopted by Theosophy, and can be found in the writings of Blavatsky and G. de Purucker. One of Blavatsky's three worlds are kamaloka (world of desires), which is like a temporary after-life state or an astral plane, according to the teachings of Blavatsky, Leadbeater and Steiner. In other words a harvesting chamber. The fashion of going with Indian, Buddhist and Jainism must stop if we are to truly begin to evolve on this planet. These guru style practices just hasn't worked, otherwise they would have produced numerous gods living on this planet, they haven't. The last true gods that where here were from the UR's, Rus and Norse and they left us all the Blueprint of life called the Santies and the Vedas. The rest of them are in part copies and in many parts complete distortions of the teachings. My understanding is there was 9 realms, 4 above and 4 below and Midgard is in the middle. The realms above and below are collapsing and only Midgard will be left. This was due to the fall of above and below and perhaps leaves Midgard as the neutrality option.

MYSTERY SECTION:

This piece is hilarious and further evidence of the stupidity of scientists and the cover up of our past history by the same group destroying our present story. The Great Sphinx of Giza in Egypt, a massive structure carved from a single rock, has long fascinated visitors and experts alike. While many believed that the imposing statue, with its human head and lion's body, was created by humans during the ancient kingdom of Egypt around 2600 BC, its true origins remained shrouded in mystery. There is the first lie, it was not 2600BC but prior to 48KBC, as I understand the Sphinx was built before the Pyramids built in 48KBC. But many people are starting to question the official narrative and so they provide another cover story to try and cover up the anomalies. Here is the latest from and predictably by New York and Jewish installments of the cover up. A recent study conducted by scientists from New York University, published in the journal Physical Review Fluids, provides insight into how this extraordinary statue was formed over 4,500 years ago. As now Israeli scientists are suggesting the whole thing was created by wind erosion! Amazingly stupid even by scientist standards when connected with archaeology.

This is not new, it was being talked about in the early part of the internet in the 1990's, but useful to revisit in some ways given the implications of it. A fringe-thinking scientist claims that a nuclear war occurred 4,000 years ago and that humans were genetically engineered by aliens to believe in deities. A fringe theory is an idea or a viewpoint that differs significantly from the accepted scholarship of the time within its field. Why is the scientist described as fringe thinking? I would call it observational thinking, the fringe element are all the scholars, scientists and archeologists delivering information that is heavily redacted, filtered and in some parts destroyed, all to fit into a biblical narrative.

Billy Carson, a conspiracy theorist, shared these claims during a recent appearance on Joe Rogan's podcast. Notice the labeling again, not described as a guest but a conspiracy theorist, which steers the thoughts of many people who are mind memed against any alternative narratives. In the mind memed, the word conspiracy theorist means wacko or nut job and so stifling the narrative down to a few people who would believe it. Hence the term fringe thinking is then introduced. Carson suggested that some skeletons at the Mohenjo-Daro archaeological site in Pakistan, exhibit unusually high levels of radiation. In a video posted on YouTube, Carson, who graduated from MIT, stated, The buildings at the Mohenjo-Daro site turned to glass, the sand turned to glass and the bodies are still lying in the street right now, referring to the ruins believed to be the largest civilization of its time. The region was inhabited by the Harappan civilization, which surpassed other early societies in size, such as Egypt, Mesopotamia and China. The Harappan's were a very advanced civilization, that the scholars are trying to convince people was connected to Dravidians. Me thinks they doth proclaim too much, the likelihood is, this was another ancient Rus site. Given the advancements they had, plus runes and writing the scholars say is not decipherable, that is what we are dealing with and their official fairy tales. Perhaps that is why it was destroyed? Carson further claimed that this society, considered the most advanced of its time, was even more sophisticated than current academic circles acknowledge. There's bodies that are sitting on the edge of steps next to their own buildings that they lived in, and the building has turned to glass, he asserted. He went on to claim that the people of this region were killed by 3,000°F weapons fire, similar to a nuclear fallout. Carson dismissed the idea that the civilization ended due to an asteroid or meteor impact, like the 1908 event in Russia's Krasnoyarsk Krai or Tunguska. Their bones would have been splattered apart and broken up into pieces, he argued. They don't have any evidence of any injury of any kind of attack or any cutting from swords or anything, he reiterated. Carson also mentioned an evil wind that blew over the city, as recorded in ancient Sumerian texts, to support his nuclear war theory. Ok the evil wind has been mentioned on this show some time back. This is a rolling weapon similar in nature to the Haboob weather phenomena, it rolls over the landscape and obliterates everything above ground like bricks, concrete or other building materials and turns them into sand and or glass. Glass remember is made out of liquid sand. What they also may be describing is, the fash weapon employed by the Koshey's.

He pointed to a megalithic structure in South Africa known as Adam's Calendar, claiming that carvings on this ruin depict a war waged by these alleged alien beings. Why is it alleged? Let us think it logic terms for a second. We the alleged hunter gatherers at that time had no nuclear power or weapons of that ilk, so by simple common sense, it means those weapons and power devices had to have come from somewhere else, meaning not of Midgard Earth. This is where the authorities have a major problem, of A: keeping the official narrative of we were all hunter gatherers out of Africa 2: Did they not mention the nuclear war in their story book called the bible, of Sodom and Gomorrah? The pillars of salt narrative, which maybe a pointer as to who did it, given we mentioned who the salt miners and merchants where in a previous show, mainly the Hebrew merchants. 3. They are desperately trying to cover up the real story as it implicates those who have overlayed and rewritten our story, again it is the Jewish/Hebrew race. Carson's theory parallels David Icke's ideas, suggesting that aliens have been on Earth since the beginning of time, manipulating humans into subservience before enslaving them to mine gold. According to Carson, this gold was part of a larger plan for the aliens to repair their own atmosphere. Which is correct, one of the Draco worlds was dying due to them harvesting too much of the central planetary sun for weaponry. The volcanoes started to die and when volcanoes shut off, the planet itself dies. Another of his claims is, they inserted something called a Worship Gene, which was just discovered recently. Human beings have a gene inside of them that can be turned on and turned off, Carson claimed. It can be turned off in a laboratory setting, and it can also be turned off with a magnetic field around your head. I am not buying the magnetic field aspect, we have our own field called the aura or PSI field, that when maintained properly will avoid all of their tech nonsense. When it's off, you don't want to worship anything outside of yourself; you look inside, and when it's on, you look to get something from the outside. We have our own on and off button and don't need their external tech versions, all of which are corrupted. In my opinion the worship gene is mind memed into children's head by religious cults and their holy water baptism sigils and ritualistic ceremonies. Followed by intense mind control indoctrination. Yet another confirm of the FHSTOS series, that seems to be revealed in every show now.

Here is a bit of word magic on a topic we covered in the last THI mystery section, speaking of the tribal people and asking was the word Balkanize a reference to Ba'al, as in Ba'al Khan ize? The words are Tri which means three and tribal a reference to Native populations globally. We have spoken about the tribal people in many shows, of how it appears they were disciples of the fake gods on this planet. Also the fact that some of them where descendants of the jet black race running things on this planet since around 38BC. Remember it was one of these tribal groups who gave the planet over to the Draco 16500 years ago on the famous kangaroo skin. We have spoken about the Indian's being not from America, but Dravidia, now known as India, hence the term Indian. We mentioned about the Queen of England being from the negroid race, it should be remembered that Osiris was also black in some depictions, green in others. Why is Horus symbolized in a concrete mural next to the Mormon Temple building? Ba'al is said to mean the Lord, as Bel was used for Marduk among the Babylonians and Adonai for Yahweh among the Israelites, but the Israelites worshipped Marduk also. All one and the same. Ba'al = soul god the three father son and holy ghost. Then you have the acronym of IHS, Isis Horus and Set, all of which means Baal at some point was Set. The Gods of Egypt told the story of how Set fought every god and took their trinkets off of them and controlled everything. Trinkets are tools attributed to the various gods, like Thor's hammer, Michael's blue flame sword etc. Set was like Apophis in the Stargate series, determined to take over the leader Ra. Set also became associated with foreign gods during the New Kingdom, particularly in the delta. Set was identified by the Egyptians with the Hittite deity Teshub, who, like Set, was a storm god, and the Canaanite deity Baal, being worshipped together as Seth-Baal. Or Set was Ba'al, Ba'al being a title. Perhaps Ba'al means the soul god? As Ba means soul and then an apostrophe, plus Al meaning God. Which then reveals the Soul of god or perhaps he wanted to be known singularly as the sole god. One then has to ask is, is the term tribal a tribute to Ba'al? Like hallelujah is a tribute to Yahweh and Hail Mary is a tribute to Isis. Just when are we going to stop worshipping these fake gods? who never did a single thing for the benefit of the people. Whether they were Egyptian, House of Israel or their African and Indian origin brethren.

This is interesting, given scientists have spent years telling us water is only here on this planet, which is a statistical and chemical impossibility given the periodic table and life from the primordial soup as they call it. From a purely common sense approach of how hydrogen and helium starts the chemical mixing, then after mixing more atoms you come to number eight on the chart oxygen. Once two hydrogen atoms combine with one oxygen atom, then water is produced all as part of the act of creation. Hydrogen is one Oxygen is 8, all of which equals 9, coincidence? How can scientists think that that only happened in one small place in the Universe is beyond me. Water like all other chemicals is everywhere. Two teams of astronomers led by scientists at Caltech, have discovered the largest reservoir of water ever detected in the universe and it's 30 billion trillion miles away. Making you believe it is out of reach, just like traveling the stars, all of which is nonsense. The largest reservoir has been found in the cosmos, more specifically in a quasar, which is one of the brightest and most violent objects in the cosmos. The mass of water vapor is at least 140 trillion times more than all of the water in the world's oceans combined. Because the quasar is so far away, its light has taken 12 billion years to reach Earth. With the observations by the team revealing a time when the universe was just 1.6 billion years old. Utter rubbish, their times and distances are still attached to their official story of dates and times, all of which are completely wrong. Life in this Universe started 950B years ago and so the chemical dance had begun long before that. Matt Bradford, a scientist at NASA' Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL), said: The environment around this quasar is unique in that it's producing this huge mass of water. It's another demonstration that water is pervasive throughout the universe, even at the very earliest times. No shit Sherlock, yet NASA has been the one organization who have stifled the truth of the Cosmos and our role in it. A quasar is powered by a huge black hole that is consuming a surrounding disk of gas and dust; as it eats, the quasar spews out huge amounts of energy. Which means on the other side of the black hole is the white hole, what it is emitting is, stars and solar systems from another Universe into this one. The discovery of water was not such a surprise, seeing as astronomers expect water vapor to be present even in the early universe. However, water vapor is an important trace gas that reveals the nature of the quasar. It was not water vapor, it was water. We have to start thinking better, Source is the ultimate scientist, why would Source leave out the one thing in life we are told is for sustainable life to take hold, water. So water is an abundant chemical process that pervades everywhere around this and other Universes.

More fear from NASA in relation to our sun it seems. NASA has captured a dark plasma eruption on the sun that has a 60 percent chance of causing blackouts on Earth this week. The approximately 36,000 degrees-Fahrenheit (F) cold solar flare is approximately one quarter of the temperature of the sun's warm solar flares, which average 144,000 degrees-F and are much better understood by scientists. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) issued an alert Monday warning that this dark plasma pulse could lead to 'power grid fluctuations.' The flare has the potential to disrupt radios, aviation communication and satellite operations when it makes impact by at least Friday. Is the cold flare suggestive of a cold plasma being ejected? Because the sun is cold fusion not hot? Did you notice the two figures for the cold and warm flares? Both are a 9, funny that. It is a strange world we live in when websites are asking to prove if you are human or not. If only there was an option to answer back, are you human operating this computer or a bot? But the number of times reports now comes up with the word human as a definition, is of deeper interest to me. If we are all the same, why would you reference the term human so much? What it reveals is, there are some here who are not human, otherwise you wouldn't have to differentiate so much. The term human rights makes no sense if we are all human, does it? It is our rights, not human rights as again that is suggestive there are other forms of life here. The same would apply to the department called human resources, would it not? Who or what else has rights or resources, if you have to define a department by the word human? Perhaps the authorities would like to describe to the people, as to why they differentiate departments by the term human? Plus where are the other departments that are not human?

The story book of life, do we really understand it? Do we know who wrote it? In our own lives there is a number of books on the shelf of life, that describes our life and all its machinations. But guess what? You never wrote, produced or directed those books or even the movie that followed the book. Why have you allowed others to write your own story? But what do you mean people will say. Let's take a few examples of life, physical and sexual abuse as a child. The event happened yes, but why is that in your book on your shelf? Those events or traumas in your life where created by someone else, yet you own that book for the rest of your life, even though you never wrote the chapter or the book. In essence, you have become the book for someone else, because someone else wrote your story. Victim/victimhood programming done externally, but far more internally, makes not only a movie from that book, but several sequels as well. So, now your life and book is being operated by, dictated by and delivered by someone else. Yet many people cry for sovereignty or freedom, yet how can you have either, when your life is full books on the shelf written and produced by others? I was abused when I was a child is a valid statement to make as a child, but where is the adult version of you? Stuck on a dusty shelf filled with books created by other people writing your story and your life. Victims will be triggered by that line, because they wish to carry on the sympathy emotionality of it all. They wish to go through life repeating the same chapter of a book, that was written for them. Because then they don't have to deal with it or take responsibility for it. Where is your book of life? Where are your chapters? Do you have your own story? Or have you not recognized your own input into your life and the dance with others within your life? Life and its ills is then as always someone else fault isn't it? But where is you? Where is the director and producer in you? Why are you acting like an extra in someone else's movie and or book? I will ask again, where is your book of life? Have you defined your life based upon your experiences as a child? The answer to that question for most people is an emphatic yes. There will always be disappointments in life, they should last no longer than a few weeks. Why? Because you have to get on with writing the next chapter of your story, not wallow in the past, but embrace the future. Perhaps I will remind you all again with a repeated meme, what are you going to create and what are you going to manifest. What that means is, you have to stop playing the victim card, woe is me, my life is shit because of this person or that person, or because of this and that experience from many decades ago. It's absurd the levels we go to with that type of thinking, as that denies you your future. Your life book is never stuck on a shelf, you carry it with you. Why? Because it is the never ending story.

ENDING PIECE:

There are plenty of deep ponderings within tonight's show interspersed in every section now. What used to be just in the mystery section has now converged into all other sections, mirroring life outside of THI. We are now entering an important phase of time and space and members will have to prepare themselves for all possibilities. I know many of you just took a gulp at that line, as that is the natural reaction of jumping straight into the fear program. But you have been taught more than anyone else, you understand the bigger picture more than most and have been trained into in a way of greater spirituality. You have been empowered to open your throat chakras, empowered to not stay in the lower three chakras, encouraged to dance within the 3 top chakras and then given a path out of the mind virus and into the heart. At this point in time, you should all be ready for all potential outcomes, if not, just what have you been doing these past 8 years? You have had the greatest opportunity ever with not just the knowledge, but you were given the clues of how to understand the knowledge, all of which leads to the path of wisdom. Klaus Schwab spoke of the great re-SET, did you fear that or embrace it? If they wish to re-SET in their image, where is your reset of your image? Or do you just accept your fate? Fate late 14c., one's lot or destiny; predetermined course of life; also one's guiding spirit. But those three contracts are based upon not external influences, but the internal influence that you have and carry. Most people will accept the first two, one's lot or destiny and the predetermined course of life. Both of which means you accepted their contract of how your life should be. The third option or the triality is one's guiding spirit, which is you and your input. Whereby you determine your fate and path in life, not others. Like the last piece said, where is your story book of life? The first two are based in limitation, laziness and inferiority complex that resides in the Alpha and Beta models pre-determined for you by think tanks. The latter resides in the Sigma model, designed, created and manifested by you. Have you understood what a think tank is? Or just accepted the word they gave to you? Think-tank 1959 as research institute which was first referenced is to Center for Behavioral Sciences, Palo Alto, California, which is the Silicon Valley clowns. It had been colloquial for the brain since 1905. So because you don't use your brain enough, they think for you. A tank is also a body of water, but so is a human. A tank is also a weapon, a weapon they use on your brain, also your vessel because it is a water tank. It was also an old term for a similar notion was thinking shop, yes and we are the consumers, being consumed. Perhaps our version that derives from think-tank is thinken meaning: The sense of say to oneself mentally. Thinken was in Old English þencan, it meant to imagine, conceive in the mind; consider, meditate, remember; intend, wish, desire. The past tense þohte, past participle geþoht, probably originally to cause to appear to oneself. Which means to manifest. The first two examples of fate are based in fear, the latter in love of the self and the responsibility of the self. The first two means you lack personal responsibility, the latter is you have accepted it. An earlier version of fate meant to destroy, which is what you do to yourself unless you select your own fate and path. The Spanish of fate is called parca, it means death personified; hence the Grim Reaper. Another interpretation of the word is a warning of what unfolds if one doesn't chart their own destiny and fate. That is decreed by fate and also fraught with fate, which is the meaning of an expanded version of fate, fatal. Fatal when split fat(e)al, could mean the fate of the god, is death, as that is what they have decreed and you by implied consent, consent or silence have allowed others to determine your fate, which is fat-al. So which do you choose? all will say the latter, but if you are not prepared by now, you clearly haven't selected the latter you have chosen to have your fate pre-determined by others. Choosing is one thing, working at it and staying on that path is another. To manifest a better life and fate, you have to dedicate part of your life to accommodate it. It cannot be dabbled at, it cannot have low levels of commitment, it cannot be put to one side whilst you chase shekels or the material distractions of life, it cannot be done in ego either. Your fate, your life, your happiness is all determined by you. In life they say you reap what you sow, what are you sowing in and of your life is your greatest current pondering. But if you don't work at your life or protect it, in comes the Grim Reaper to harvest you and determine your fate, your story and your book of life.
