This is Part 3 of our series The true horrors of the world, that covers the seedy world of child molestation, rape, torture, mutilation and finally killing for snuff movies. For those not familiar with the word, a snuff movie is a filmed ritual event where the child is killed for the entertainment and sexual highs by mostly the EL-ites.

A harrowing story to hear and also read, but we can't keep ignoring the uncomfortable truths. We can't keep ignoring the plight of children either and we as adults must take a collective responsibility to end these atrocities and bring to justice what the author described as monsters. Eight million children go missing every year on this planet for a range of reasons, yet barely is there a murmur in the mainstream media of this great loss. To put it into perspective is greater than the population of 130 countries around the world. It is greater than the population of all states in America bar 12. A staggering statistic yet completely ignored, despite an FBI document revealing 8-900K of them go missing each year in America alone. 18 Government agencies paid staggering amounts each year, yet none can stop this crime against humanity? As we have found out in this series, they don't wish to stop it, in fact they are actively involved in it. Once again we thank Joachim Hapogian for the courage to write this story in a book.

Many victims' testimony independently corroborated others' accounts, describing a lawlessly violent underworld involving torture and murder, including child pornography. Also snuff film production at various locations throughout Belgium and beyond. As well as trafficked to sadomasochistic sex orgies and black mass rituals, secretly held at certain private clubs and castles, servicing well-known princes, counts, top politicians, judges, police, wealthy bankers and rich businessmen. Some victims described elite human hunting parties where for pure sport, traumatized children were raped and slaughtered in cold blood, demonically profitable and nourishingly good for another fertile harvest of coveted adrenalized blood. Hunting parties are one of the practices in Bohemian Grove, where these EL-ites run around the grounds in the nude and chase children also naked to kill them for sport. The boys would have their penises cut off as a demented trophy kill. One eyewitness account among many: I was taken to a hunting party in Belgium close to Brussels where I saw two boys and a girl ages 14 to 16, hunted and killed by global elites. The human hunting party was heavily guarded by the Netherlands Royal Guards. I was told that King Albert of Belgium was present. All very reminiscent of the Hunger Games series, except the participants wore clothes. That series was a piss take on people, forcing them into doing horrible things for food including killing their fellow competitors, all for the entertainment of the rich ruling class. Yet stupidly the series became popular by the people, oblivious they were telling us what they are up to. It is staggeringly idiotic that people cannot see through the illusion of it all, it is not theater, it is real life, our lives.

In league with the controlled, complicit mainstream media, by the spring of 1997 the Establishment launched ruthless character assassinations against Regina and any witnesses bearing such disturbing evidence. In order to discredit and dismiss the mountain of proof piling up, even resorting to labelling the parents of murdered daughters still seeking justice as deranged. Detective Aime Bille, a colleague of investigator De Baets, stated that the state discrediting Regina Louf's evidence brought these investigations to a halt, meaning that the truth may never be discovered. Additionally, each of the witnesses alluded to being trafficked and sold as underage children for abuse, torture and even murder by members of the elite network. Much to the Establishment's dismay, their testimony is on public record. The assertions, evidential findings and credibility of all witnesses including police detectives relieved from the case, were all insidiously attacked and criminally defamed. With the glaring truth of yet another viciously executed cover-up and gross perversion of justice committed by yet another European national government so blatantly in-our-face obvious, as is Standard Operating Procedure in every pedophilia scandal to date on the planet. Multiple witnesses, in this case a whopping twenty to thirty of them scheduled to provide further damaging testimony, also wound up suspiciously suicided and murdered to protect the guilty Luciferian death cult. 20-30 murdered for knowing the truth and revealing it? This has to change radically on this planet for us to move forward as an advanced species.

At one point in April 1998, while at a provincial courthouse hearing, an unhandcuffed prisoner Marc Dutroux grabbed a careless police officer's gun, hijacked a passing car outside and actually escaped for several hours before being apprehended in a muddy field headed toward the Ardennes. This episode of Belgium's Keystone cop show prompted impromptu resignations of the nation's disgraced interior and justice ministers. As if that folly wasn't bad enough, on March 18, 2004, during his trial, a key to handcuffs was discovered inside Dutroux's jail cell, apparently smuggled inside a salt bag. This prompted fair enough accusations that prison authorities may have actually been attempting to facilitate his second escape. In 1999 three journalists, Douglas De Coninck, Annemie Bulté and Marie-Jeanne Van Heeswyck, two from De Morgen and one from Journal du Mardi, co-wrote the extremely revealing book published in Dutch and French language called Les Dossiers X or The X-Files, exposing the extensive criminal cover-up perpetrated by the criminal Belgian judicial-political system, based on an exhaustive, meticulously compiled dossier of Belgium's X Files. It included specifically the sworn testimonies of a total of ten victims and eyewitnesses, police reports, the 1997 parliamentary commission, interviews and media accounts depicting an extensive pedophile ring involving top figures in politics, the judiciary and law enforcement. Just as the government attacked the victim-witnesses, the lead magistrate and the lead detective, it also tried imposing with a 500,000-franc fine for revealing prosecution secrets on the three journalist-authors of the X-Files. This exposé definitively blows wide open, the vile VIP pedophilia network operating in Belgium and Europe among the elite class protected for decades right up to this very day. Initially individuals in both law enforcement and the press were receptive to obtaining key eyewitness testimony offered by victims X1 through X9, starting with Regina Louf as X1 who was 27-years old at the time of Dutroux's 1996 arrest. After Judge Connerotte helped facilitate two abducted girls released from Dutroux's dungeon, publicly appealing for other witnesses, a friend of Regina's convinced her to contact police based on her traumatic four-year experience as a former captive sex slave in the underground Belgium pedo-network. It forced Regina to relive her painful past trauma that she had tried to forget.

In the early 1980s at age 12 her abusive mother sold her to a pimp who took her to sex parties where older, established men would regularly rape and torture her and other young girls while secretly filming the violent debauchery. Regina recalled: It was highly organized. Big business. Blackmail. There was a lot of money involved. This is one of the reasons why I came up with the Full Disclaimer for Full Disclosure program, unless of course you interfered with children. But we have to get to the bottom of this whole sordid landscape and find out who was really involved in it, who was the perpetrators of it and who and how many were blackmailed into this deeply evil plot. Only then can steps be taken to stop this ever happening again. Regina named top politicians, judges, bankers, everything she knew to be true, she bravely gave to the police, describing two men who were regulars, one she called “Mich,” Michel Nihoul, the other a young man in his 20s – Marc Dutroux. She said Nihoul was a very cruel man, he abused children in a very sadistic way. Dutroux was a boy who brought drugs, cocaine to these parties, he brought some girls, watched girls. At these events Nihoul was a sort of party beast while Dutroux was more on the side. Because Regina Louf’s testimony was crucial to prosecuting the case against Dutroux and Nihoul and potentially other VIP pedo-ring members, since she was able to establish their same criminal behavior ten years earlier that they’d been charged with, for that very reason alone. But once the nation’s power elite caught wind of such damaging testimony, everything radically changed. Right after removal of the honest judge and honest police investigative team working to seek real justice in the case, Regina Louf’s original testimony was then falsified by corrupt, order following police, twisted and fed to the press to vilify her as a deceitful loony case. Treading the same familiar ground as British and American scandals, the cover-up phase of the Belgium pedophile case routinely re-victimized Regina and dozens of other victims and witnesses by a heartless criminal government bent on burying so much filth. All whilst weaponizing a malicious smear campaign by the press to rip all truth-tellers to shreds, silenced by public ridicule, simply ignored or worse yet, suicided.

As part of their tag team takedown, corrupt police leaked Regina’s name to the equally corrupt press readily lined up on the wrong side of history again. The government owned TV station RTBF began pumping out propaganda that Dutroux was an isolated pervert kidnapping girls for himself, that there was never a larger network and that Nihoul was innocent and Regina Louf was a pathological liar. Just shameful behavior and those editors, publishers and news readers should have been held accountable as well. People may say that is not fair, but herein lies the problem, no one takes responsibility for anything these days. The same applies to doctors and nurses with the Covid jabs, it is their responsibility to know what exactly they are giving to the patients, otherwise that is a dereliction of duty to the patients. These media covered up child sexual abuse, torture and death and in my mind that makes them responsible. The station’s current affairs program did a hatchet job, attacking Regina’s character, essentially calling her a demented fantasist, plaguing her poor aging parents by conjuring up false memories of sexual abuse. Meanwhile, the current affairs program was well aware that the parents had sold their 12-year old daughter to a pimp into slavery, giving him a key to their home and free access to pimping their child and that the pimp had even admitted his sexual abuse. Yet the government television station never once approached the pedophile, nor was he ever arrested for his years of physical and sexual assaults and criminal array of child sexual exploitation crimes. From Regina’s 1998 book Silence is for Perpetrators: Only very few reporters are still listening to me, listen to my cry for help. They are not allowed to publish or broadcast. They all tell me that they are stonewalled by their bosses. The aggression of some of the magazines, newspapers and TV programs is frightening. This is not normal anymore; this is a war in which the victims have become disposable waste. I agree with her 100%, this is far from normal, both in terms of the actions against Regina and then having so-called adults calling her a liar and denigrate her to cover up criminal pedophiles.

In late January 2002, over half a decade since Dutroux's arrest with still no trial, The Guardian lamented: The Dutroux affair is a scar on Belgium's national conscience which grows deeper each year. There is no other single event, bar the Second World War, which has had such a traumatic and damaging effect to the country's self-image. The courageous, sexually abused Belgian survivor Regina Louf felt compelled to tell her story, regardless of consequence or risk, out of her committed sense of duty and loyalty to not let the horrific story endured by so many of her victimized peers, coldly murdered as young fatalities, chewed up and spit out by Belgium's pedo-death machine. Since the evil ones silenced them, and God allowed her to somehow manage to survive another day, long enough at 16 to fall in love, escape the nightmare, marry, raise four children and make the best of an insanely unfair, rotten beginning in life. She was determined to get the word out to hopefully save other girls from becoming trafficked sex slave victims of an unpunishable elite class of predatory degenerate killers, knowing the pedo-network in Europe had only grown and strengthened as time passed since her own personal enslavement from age 12 to 16 during the early to mid-1980s. The brutal cruelty, madness and crippling trauma displayed by Europe's ruling class, though less formal, closely paralleled trauma-based CIA mind control induced sexual slavery. Like MK Ultra sex slave beta victims, numerous abused children in Belgium like Regina suffer Dissociative Identity Disorder as a debilitating yet human survival coping mechanism. I am pleased that Joachim brought into the fold the MK Ultra aspect, perhaps I will go deeper into that in another show.

Regina Louf has bravely spoken before the UN Committee on Human Rights in Geneva and the published 2002 English version of her story and righteous cause, entitled Silence, You Kill Children! which is available online. As a former therapist of many victims of pedophilia, I highly recommend her book, not only to learn about the still flourishing international crime cabal's pedophilia web, but to gain insight and understanding into the lifelong struggle every child sexual abuse victim is forced to endure. The unbelievable horror inflicted on her and others during their earliest adolescent years by the sickest sub humans on earth, posing as pillars of our society is heinous and despicable. Regina is an incredibly strong, heroic individual and role model, who has had the guts and conviction to stand up to the vilest, vilest power and still triumph in dignity as mother, wife and dedicated kennel and animal shelter owner. I agree with that statement, I want you all to put yourself in the shoes of Regina for a few seconds. How would you feel undergoing those evil attacks? Then labeled a liar on top of it? Then sold out by the very institutions supposedly set up to prevent this sort of thing? It is completely life wrecking and yet where or who could she turn to? No one or very few it seems, insult to injury doesn't even begin to cover it. What should come to your thoughts is, she went inward and forward and put the past behind her, this is the benefit of the inner work we speak of. With the right thought patterns, determination, courage and will, you can overcome almost anything with letting go of the past. It's not easy, but Regina proves it is doable. She should be seen as an inspiration to all women, most who never thankfully go near this level of evil abuse.

In the end, it took the Belgium government eight excruciatingly painful years before Dutroux was finally convicted for his multiple crimes, kidnapping and raping six girls aged 8 to 19, murdering four of them and committing an additional homicide against former accomplice Bernard Weinstein. Why did it take so long? The official bullshit explanation claimed that hysterical conspiracy theories, this CIA invention is always used as a convenient excuse, compelled police to aimlessly search down dead-end rabbit holes for pedo-networks never determined to exist, such egregious lies. All leads and testimony implicating a major pedo-operation were conspicuously ignored, viciously attacked or insidiously silenced, too often by method of assassination. It took the corrupt pedo-enabling system eight long years to purposefully distance itself, in order to ensure that during the pretrial interim, enough lies insisting that Dutroux had acted alone to finally be passively accepted by a certain percentage of the public. Yet another reenacted installment of the infamous Nazi propagandist Joseph Goebbels' called the big lie. With mainstream media and government shouting and showering repeated lies for eight straight years, by 2004, the Belgium Establishment figured it was finally safe to proceed with its shameful show trial. Whilst portraying Dutroux as the sole criminal mastermind, again a tactic of the intelligence agencies, defying reams of suppressed contradictory evidence, that relegated his mere minor role in the elite's pervasive pedophile-torture-blood sacrifice operation. In its near decade long obstruction of justice and criminal cover-up, the Brussels government also ran roughshod in violation of all international human rights laws, affording the accused Dutroux, his wife and accomplice the right to a fair trial, all the while sitting in prison without trial year after year. Independent of the initial Dutroux investigation by Connerotte, Bourlet and De Baets in 1996 and early 1997, just before the state's rampant cover-up blocked all further official outlets revealing the truth, insider Jacqueline Smolders on her deathbed in March 1997 wanted to get what she knew off her conscience before meeting her maker. She delivered more disgusting revelations of elite sex clubs exploiting children dating back to the 1960s. The Schaarbeek police received her detailed account of Le Stanley club owned by Marcel Hofmans, an IBM employee in Brussels. Fellow executives from IBM and Union Carbide along with the usual suspects from royalty, politics and finances also were members. Sex with children, dogs and the making of pornography, essentially all the same degenerate elements described by Regina and the X-File witnesses were present on Le Stanley's second floor that closed around 1971 or 1972. By then there were a number of similar "ballets roses" venues in nightclubs like Nihoul's favorite Dolo. Jacqueline Smolders stated that she remembers a young African-Belgian college girl she believed was to become Michel Nihoul's attorney, Virginie Baranyanka, working behind the bar counter at the club. That had a warning system installed, so that the illicit activities on the second floor would have early warning that the Gendarmerie showed up. Decades later attorney Virginie Baranyanka would be instrumental in removing the honest Judge Connerotte from the Dutroux-Nihoul investigation. All kept in House you see, yet the public refuse to believe this goes on. Well if it is a private club no one knows about and all the members of the club turn up in various roles, then it is fairly easy to cover this illicit activities up.

Jacqueline Smolders also maintained that the father of murderer Patrick Derochette infamous for killing little 9-year old Moroccan Belgian girl Loubna Benaissa was a Le Stanley club member. So already connecting tentacles to the elite's Belgium and beyond, pedophilia network are once again established. The deathbed confession also included another club member that flew a private plane to Switzerland to pick up child porn videos in 1969. But on his return trip, the plane crashed over the Belgian province of Namur, south of Brussels. Hofmans' connections were so powerful that by that evening, he safely had in hand his cache of porn videos. Hofmans' sex club business didn't end with Le Stanley. Because Hofmans' influence over enabling police forces was limited, he closed Le Stanley and opened up other clubs in safer protected zones like Etterbeek. By the early 1990s, he had several more secret clubs, one called La Piscene. This is why more people need to come forward and reveal all the places and people involved. A SETCa labor union and Socialist Party worker named Mary Porsant gave testimony of her experiences during 1993 and 1994, when the SETCa national chairman offered her more money to accompany him and a friend, that introduced them to an elite swing club owned by former defense minister Guy Coeme, one of a dozen Socialist Party politicians caught accepting bribes in the Agusta scandal. But the club they most often patronized was Hofmans' La Piscine, where Mary Porsant eventually ended up employed and where the nation's #1 child sex organizer Michel Nihoul also frequented. Mary was exposed to the kinky perversions of high society dancing the pink ballet waltz.

Her police testimony: In the half year I worked at La Piscine I did not see any pedophile activity. But I did hear about the bizarre preferences of so called higher ups and that there were possibilities to organize orgies with children. A certain Eric and Nina asked me to approach those higher ups who came to us at La Piscine and left their phone numbers with offers of special evenings. Especially Nottebaert a smalltime socialist politician who liked S&M, but also quite a few ministers turned out to be very interested in those kind of evenings. At the union and the Socialist Party I learned a lot about their sexual preferences. Deputy Prime Minister Elio di Rupo, for example, who had a relationship with Guy Spitaels' son both were independently accused of pedophilia. Elio di Rupo the deputy prime minister took his pedo-turn as Belgium's prime minister as well, the third to allegedly engage in illicit sex crimes with minors. Parliament member Alexandra Cohen said of di Rupo: In November 1996, shortly after the White March, it was revealed that the second-highest politician in the country, Vice Premier Elio Di Rupo, is a promiscuous homosexual with a preference for adolescent boys. Di Rupo, a prominent leader of the Belgian Socialist Party, did not deny that his sex life consists of a series of one-night stands with young men, often prostitutes that he or his chauffeur pick up from the streets. Prior to Di Rupo becoming deputy and then the third known child abusing prime minister, he was the Socialist Party minister president of Walloon. His regional replacement was the previous mayor of Charleroi, Jean-Claude Van Cauwenberghe, also identified by multiple sources as yet another pedophile. Embroiled in an unrelated scandal, after five years in 2005 he was forced to resign. The folly is that people vote for these perverted clowns, even still in Belgium, Holland and Britain, despite knowing many of them are involved in criminal activity. At this point no one in those countries should be voting. They should have arranged their own candidates and parties and shut those clowns down by now. Yet the problem is, the people will not take responsibility for things, hence it all continues unchecked, unaddressed and completely ignored. That has to stop and the Blueprint will cover that lack of responsibility by us all.

Meanwhile, Marcel Hofmans opened a branch of the CIA linked Indian guru Rajneesh's cult, whose Oregon ashram is notorious, at his La Piscine club headquarters. The CIA is known to be behind not only new age cult movements like the Jonestown tragedy and Rajneesh's sex cult, but the CIA and its global intelligence community partners, i.e., Mossad, MI5/6, BOB) invariably are always involved in coordinating and protecting child sex abuse and the worldwide pedophilia trafficking network. Yes our own show has covered of how the CIA sets up cults for many differing purposes, the most common is to lure people into a trap. Amazing how they have lasted this long in this country, after being found out as to committing atrocity after atrocity, all with impunity. Hofmans moved the sex tantric cult to an Antwerp address later raided by police, where they found boxes and boxes of photos of naked dead children in sick poses belonging to Eric Matheussen. Mary Porsant's police statement about a certain Eric, begs the question is this Matheussen that same Eric? The Flemish VTM television network snuck into Dutroux's prison, with a broadcast journalist posing as a politician's chauffeur to interview the murderer in January 2002.

The Guardian covered the event quoting Dutroux: A network with all kinds of criminal activities really does exist, I maintained regular contacts with the people who made up this network, but the authorities don't want to look into it. Then on the eve of his 8-year delayed 2004 trial, Marc Dutroux wrote a letter to the same VTM network, reiterating the same message that he was part of a much wider pedophile network linked to Belgian law enforcement. Essentially he fingered his co-defendant, Brussels nightclub owner, attorney, businessman and career criminal Michel Nihoul, as the central figure mastermind running Belgium's criminal blackmail operation. Dutroux's ex-wife, Michele Martin, had this to say in August 1996 about Nihoul in her police statement (PV 2.557): I have heard Marc personally telling Lelievre that he should bring a girl for Michel Nihoul. If I haven't mentioned that before, that is because I'm afraid of that gang, I mean Nihoul, Marc Dutroux and others in Brussels. I mean well-placed individuals who Nihoul knew. The connections of Nihoul made me fear for my children and myself. I was afraid, because Jean-Michel Nihoul, Marc Dutroux and Michel Lelievre were part of a gang that was involved in all kinds of business, like drugs, pills, girls and forged papers, for which Nihoul would later indeed be convicted of, along with human trafficking. Over time I became more and more convinced that Marc Dutroux and Jean-Michel Nihoul did things that couldn't stand the light of day and which I was not supposed to know about. It was crime boss Nihoul, who all along was clearly in charge running the elite Belgian pedophile web with a homicidal iron fist. Dutroux's other accomplice, Michel Levlievree, also left no doubt in his August 1996 police testimony: I would like to reveal other things about Jean Michel Nihoul, but I don't want that these testimonies are taken up in the dossier. As I said, I fear for my life and those around me. I remind you that Nihoul told me the following: if you cross me, I will destroy you. With those words he made it known to me that he would kill me or have me killed. [PV 100.241] Because the Belgian legal system protected Nihoul and his pedo-network, just as Ghislaine Maxwell is being protected while her partner's hand got slapped, it's analogous to Nihoul's situation with his co-criminal women – Anne Bouty and Marleen Cokiere.

Though in March 2004 Nihoul the kingpin was tried as Dutroux's third accomplice, subsequently convicted and jailed for just under three years on simply drug and human trafficking charges, he got away with murder and running an evil child sex trafficking network. After the jury arrived at its 7-5 split decision over Nihoul's guilt as part of the Dutroux gang, instead of the reverse, the three judges defied rule of law to overturn the jury's vote on kidnapping charges. All of which granted Nihoul a free pass on three decades of child rape, conspiracy, and homicide as mafia crime boss overlord running Belgium's barely affected international VIP pedophile network. Defying mountains of so much suppressed evidence, the Establishment flagrantly ensured that Michel Nihoul was neither linked to the wider elite's pedo-cabal, nor severely consequence for his decades of evil. Meanwhile, hundreds, if not thousands in this child hurting, killing machine have been free to continue. Based largely on 20-year old Sabine Dardenne's trial testimony alone, describing how for 80 days as a 12-year old she was repeatedly raped, kept by Dutroux alone in her underground dungeon cage, or chained at the neck to a bed naked in a room as Dutroux's private little sex slave victim. Because her experience did not include abuse from an elite network of powerful pedophiles like so many others, unlike the experiences of the network's X-victim-witnesses whose testimony never made even made it into the 2004 courtroom in Arlon, all by design, the whitewashed cover-up was secured.

A June 23, 2004, Telegraph article reporting the trial outcome stated: The vivid testimony of Dutroux's chief surviving victim, Sabine Dardenne, seemed to back up the official theory of a lone predator. Hence, history was once again rewritten by the Luciferian deceivers' final say. Thus, pedo-ringleader Nihoul got off with a mere slap of the hand, five-years knocked down to under three and out of jail. Under three years for those types of crimes when it should have been 20+ and some would argue for life. All while all of his high-end clients, the powerful pedophiles, that for decades, rape, torture and murder children at will, remain free, grotesquely shielded by their truth defying, engineered state cover-up and protector. Meanwhile, way back in 1990, longtime Belgian politician Hugo Coveliers (1985 to 2011), first a Representative then Senator, stated in a Humo Magazine article, that examining magistrate Jean-Marie Schlicker confirmed that a pedophile blackmail dossier existed, consisting of right wing fascist politicians exposed in incriminating videos, photos and testimonies raping and torturing children that was in police possession. But it was such a volatile hot potato that Judge Schlicker, tasked with investigating the 28 seemingly random brutal killings in Belgium supermarkets from 1982 to 1985, known as the Brabant Killers or the Nijvel Gang to Belgian Dutch speakers, cowardly refused to even elaborate about the dossier after acknowledging he had access to the alarming video evidence. Bottom line, law enforcement has held explicit proof that a widespread Belgian pedophilia network was in existence, long before small fry Marc Dutroux's 1996 arrest, and that it involves top powerful figures in politics, royalty, police, judiciary and business.

So back in 1990, a half dozen years ahead of Dutroux's arrest, the cat had already been publicly let out of the bag in a mainstream media publication, and no matter how hard or long the Establishment subsequently tried lying and denying its way out of the sleazy depths of its criminal exposure, the bottom line proof remains overwhelmingly undeniable and totally irrefutable. Elite child raping murderers get away with it once again just as they always do, until we citizens of the world end this child holocaust. So between the above dossier, the X-File Dossier and multiple victim-witness testimonies, proof of crimes has been firmly established. With that bottom line out of the way, it's time to look into the accused, the powerful guilty, child rapists and psychopathic murderers on public record, who as Bilderbergers, Le Cercle, Opus Dei and Freemasons are still protected to this day by the state. Yet are still running the world, so far simply living out their unencumbered lives above the law. With the purpose of this book dedicated to ending this egregious blight, the rest of this chapter will also be devoted to examining those dozens of fallen victims as casualties of war, simply for knowing too much as cabal liability. A few of the victims' alleged killers from the pedophile elite will be unveiled. As the researcher who has named the names of accused famous sex offenders, Joel van der Reijden has conceded that, normally naming the accused before ever being tried in a court of law under the legal principle that one is assumed innocent until proven guilty, he rightfully justifies naming the accused because justice has never been served but only subversively perverted and obstructed for decades. Considering these sick bastards have gotten away with serial rape, torture and murder for as long as they have, and will most likely all go to their graves totally unpunished, naming and shaming them is the least we should do.

A slew of individuals, knowing incriminating information about the guilty, have been suicided victims in Belgium's biggest scandal in history. As in every pedophilia scandal, it's always the same old sad ending when it comes to so many important witnesses. The longstanding pattern is whenever someone is about to testify in court or talk to the police, they wind up dead, eliminated, silenced, assassinated, take your pick, but always the same silencing outcome. This Belgian case brought dozens of mysterious, untimely deaths all sharing one thing in common, those knowing too much intent on sharing information were violently cut down at the last minute. Another sobering, if not incriminating commonality is mostly all of these suddenly dead witnesses, had made prior contact with Belgium's Gendarmerie or the court system shortly before their suspicious end, suggesting that agents within the government played an active role in their tragic fate and most probable murder. In addition, according to the publication Le Monde, even more incriminating is the fact that: The willful deficiency of the legal services to deal with these disappearances and abrupt, untimely deaths, and the almost complete silence of the media on these deceased witnesses, says a lot about their complicity. It says that the state regularly engages in murderous democide to subvert and prevent justice. With the death toll count standing at least three dozen suspicious deaths, a rundown of some of the more obvious cases follows.

Among the first to go is a ballsy wench named Miss Crockaert, who openly admitted to co-organizing the child sex orgies, aka pink ballets, within Belgium's high society of the 1970s. With mafia boss Michel Nihoul the pink ballet ringleader, others prone to having loose lips, didn't get much chance to sink ships. Retribution came relatively early in 1980 to Crockaert when the child orgy organizer conveniently became a traffic accident fatality. Gendarmerie IT specialist Luc Vanden Daele on March 13, 1981 was very much a likely murder victim. Against his superiors' wishes, Luc delved into doing his own investigation of the corrupt National Bureau for Drugs (NBD) and apparently came up with some high-profile names, like the former PM then current defense minister Paul Vanden Boeynants, and then made the mistake of boldly telling his colleagues who the culprits were actually behind the nation's drug trafficking. And that's all she wrote. Even the Gendarmerie opted not to inquire about who shot him in his neighborhood, letting the medical examiner bogusly call it a suicide. But the NBD wasn't done with its cloak and dagger skullduggery that year, in October two assigned police investigators, an adjutant and lieutenant colonel, officially probing the NBD affair had failed assassination attempts on their lives as well. This is the system works, yet too few follow the leads it seems as there has been many high-profile cases that involved numerous suspicious deaths, like the Enron case and 9/11. Clinton and Bush trails are also prevalent within these operations.

In 1982, which ushered in Belgium's next reign of terror lasting three plus years, the Brabant/Nijvel killing gang racking up 28 deaths and 40 injured. Three of the victims in September and October were very likely targeted since they were sex club owners and fellow organizers of the pink ballet, rumored to possess child sex tapes of VIPs in pedophilic action. All three were members of CEPIC, the organization run by accused Prime Minister Paul Vanden Boeynants, Count Benoit Bonvoisin and pedophilia and incest accused Belgium's Gendarmerie Commandant General Fernand Beaurer. CEPIC was a fascist ultra-rightwing faction within the Social Christian Party, fashioning itself a political movement from 1972 to 1982, laying the criminal groundwork for the soft coup of the 1980s when a political crime machine called the nebula commandeered Belgium. They possessed a direct link to Israel's Mossad, covertly promoting lawlessness through major international pedophilia-arms-drugs-money laundering operations, through their sexual blackmail child sex trafficking network. Any known holders of film or photos depicting top leaders of the nation viciously sodomizing, torturing and murdering children became obvious highest priority assassination targets, should they ever even think about blackmail. This would also readily explain why during those seemingly random shooting sprees, innocent victims were also killed and little or no money was ever taken, acting as the convenient cover to highly organized, systematic targeted assassination. There was trust funds available for these types of transactions, until they were returned to the Trust to stop further Trust funds being used in that manner.

Just listen to this next list of devious practices to stifle the truth. All to create a fear factor and cajole people into believing the lie. Former bar and brothel owner Jean-Pol Taminiau probably spoke too loudly when in April 1995, two months before the 8-year-olds were kidnapped, it became Taminiau's turn to disappear a-la mafia style. After having leased garage space opposite Dutroux's, shortly prior to his earthly exit, Taminiau said he had the lowdown on Marc Dutroux. A year later his foot was fished out of the canal, eaten by cabal sharks, the rest of his body is still missing. Taminiau's former girlfriend, Nadege Renard, who likely knew too much, leading up to the Dutroux-Nihoul trial, was also killed off in a March 2001 traffic accident. Two weeks after the 8-year-old abductees Julie and Melissa went missing, in early July 1995 their parents received a phone call from an insurance broker who informed them that his son, a young man named Francois Reyskens recently encountered the two little girls. Melissa Russo's mother contacted the Seraing gendarmerie and set up an appointment for July 26. Two hours before Francois Reyskens was scheduled to reveal what he knew to the authorities, he suddenly got run over by a fast-moving train. The Grace-Holland gendarmerie adjutant, Guy Geubels, was scheduled to brief the Belgian state TV station RTBF on the disappearance of Julie and Melissa. Guy was among the first contacts the parents made with police and about the only one who spoke openly, of a possible pedophile ring. But before the press conference, on August 25, 1995, thirty days after Francois ran into his train, Guy is said to have blown his brains out with his own service revolver, or so the story goes. The girls' parents believe he was murdered. Less than two and a half months after Guy's death, scrap metal merchant Bruno Tagliaferro, a Dutroux acquaintance, after working on Dutroux's Citroen used to abduct the 8-year olds, was certain he'd found evidence that the pedophile was up to no good and planned to report it to the police. But he never made it that far as his abrupt demise was promptly ruled a heart attack. Among the first police officers to arrive when Bruno died, was none other than Dutroux's favorite judicial inspector Georges Zicot in deep collusion with Dutroux's stolen car trade. Bruno's wife Fabienne Jaupart felt certain he was killed and had tests run on his body that determined she was right, his death resulted from cyanide poisoning. Though the pathologist claimed the cyanide was naturally caused, the level was measured way too high to have occurred naturally. Once Magistrate Jean-Marc Connerotte realized Bruno's death was the result of foul play, recognizing his wife Fabienne's life was also in jeopardy, he granted her police protection. But once his successor Langlois took over, he suspended it. In December 1996 Fabienne's son discovered her lifeless body in a still smoldering bed with pungent odor of methanol still burning, her death falsely ruled a suicide. On February 21, 1996 police officer Simon Poncelot was working the overnight shift alone at his precinct. The protocol was never to let anyone in unless known. But Simon had been assigned investigation of the international stolen car trade that Nihoul and Detroux and their dirty copper friends were actively engaged, and strong speculation arose that he had also uncovered their trade in trafficked children as well. As is standard, the cameras didn't happen to be working the night of the homicide, just like Jeffrey Epstein's prison bloc in August 2019.

Simon's father is retired attorney general Guy Poncelot. In response to Jean Nicolas' indictment of the Belgium government cover-up in his 1999 book Pedophile Dossier, Judge Poncelot voiced his opinion: Judge Guy Poncelot called the thesis of the book brilliant and convincing. He said that certain political and judicial authorities, with the help of the state radio and television and much of the press, had deliberately played down disturbing evidence uncovered in the Dutroux investigation. Bar-restaurant operator Michel Piro was planning a dinner to divulge to his invited guests the parents of the 8-year-old victims, that in late 1995 their little girls were on loan at a seedy bar where pedophiles hang. Amidst death threats from armed thugs, prior to his planned event, parked in a motorway stop while his wife went to relieve herself, Piro was shot at close range in the head. The investigative officer was a colleague of Zicot and Piro's wife who was allegedly framed and sentenced to 15 years in prison. A couple months later in February 1997, the next bizarrely suspicious death occurs. Filmmaker Jean-Marc Houdmont contacted police to provide information to the investigator of a recently reopened missing persons case since the Dutroux scandal exploded, and on his way to the police station he ended up in a fatal collision ruled suicide. Jean-Marc was the next-door neighbor of a missing girl, 12-year-old Elisabeth Brichet, who disappeared in 1989. A relative of Houdmont's wife had been assigned to process Dutroux and his accomplice Bernard Weinstein's bogus insurance claim, Houdmont wife's stepfather lived in the Congo when young Dutroux and his father lived there, and the names of Dutroux's accomplices Nihoul, Lelievre and another accomplice were all listed in Elisabeth's Brichet's police file. Turns out the 12-year-old Elisabeth's perpetrator was yet another convicted serial child rapist killer dubbed "the Ogre of the Ardennes" – Frenchman Michel Fourniret. This serial killer whacked 6 girls and a woman and regularly abducted and sold girls that he didn't murder, into the same pedo-network, just like Dutroux. And also just like Dutroux, he had his prior conviction back in France before relocating to the Ardennes Forest of Belgium in 1991. One final just like you know who, before winding up behind prison bars, this serial child abductor-rapist in search of prepubescent virgins carried on his extended rampage in the Ardennes for a full dozen years prior to his apprehension in 2003, for bungling his final abduction attempt of a 13-year-old girl. Belgium authorities lied when claiming they knew nothing of his seedy criminal past, because tons of evidence show police were again paid to look the other way. Corrupt Charleroi police officer Jacques Fagnart was well aware of Fourniret's Belgian crimes while running in the same corrupt circles with fellow Charleroi Judicial Police Inspector Georges Zicot and their mutual involvement in Dutroux's criminal auto theft international trade. These assholes on both sides of the law never work alone, they work together as two criminal peas in the same pedo-pod. See how the dirty system seems to always operate for the benefit of criminals and never the victims?

In any event, back to Jean-Marc Houdmont, less than an hour before his untimely death, he'd expressed remorse over the phone to the police investigator for apparently sitting on information about his murdered neighbor's disappearance 8 years earlier, and then in transit to deliver his long-awaited revelation to law enforcement, his sudden fatal collision hitting a wall. Adding up all these coincidences together as a trail of highly suspicious deaths involving Dutroux and Fourniret, maybe Houdmont's accident wasn't so coincidental after all. Then a week after Houdmont's violent fate, next comes a fatal heart attack killing Father Joseph Toussaint, Dutroux's prison chaplain and the father confessor of not just Dutroux, but ex-wife Michele Martin, and Jean-Marc Houdmont's companion Monique Cherton, a small but deadly world. Father Toussaint was planning to speak on Dutroux's behalf at his next parole board that's been delayed because of Coronavirus to at least 2021. Just two days after Houdmont's crash and burn, Christian Coenraets was found dead in a Brussels suburb. Coenraets was a pedophile who knew Bernard Weinstein well. The day before his scheduled questioning by police about Weinstein and what he knew of the Dutroux case, he somehow managed to escape in transit to a court hearing. But a month later on March 7, 1997, his body was discovered, or more aptly suicided. To the average person this is truly surreal, but take the sur out and you are left with real and reality. That the major criminals on this planet are not the street corner hoodlum, but the el-ites themselves and the so-called stars of TV. It all resembles a Hollywood style script, but what if the Hollywood scripts are not fiction, but documentaries. The next month in April 1997, Jose Steppe contacted a journalist, stating he has important information on Dutroux and friends, including an explosive videotape featuring Dutroux and other publicly known figures raping girls. Two days prior to meeting with the gendarmerie and journalist, the asthmatic dies still wearing his oxygen mask and Rohypnol, Dutroux's favorite rape drug, at the bottom of his inhaler, of course authorities ruled that no foul play was involved. Virginie Pinon, who drew a highly disturbing sketch depicting an abused child, her mother testifying at Dutroux's trial, stated that her then deceased daughter at 13-years of age was almost abducted by Dutroux. Virginie died of cystic fibrosis on July 2, 1997, only two years after the Dutroux incident.

In 1986 Nihoul made a call to Lt. Col. Guido Torrez, head of Neufchateau district gendarmerie, extending the same protection for crime boss Nihoul to one of his business partners, a criminal named Juan Borges having close Italian mafia connections. Borges traded in gold, counterfeit currency, fake art, illegal weapons, drugs and human trafficking. Brigitte Jenart, Borges' girlfriend of many years also happened to be Nihoul's dentist. Though she apparently knew little of her boyfriend's underworld life of crime, Brigitte overheard a conversation Nihoul allegedly had with a crooked politician, and also learned that Nihoul's protected partner-in-crime Anne Bouty in 1996 placed another order for more police protection for Borges, who at one point was having an affair with Bouty. The dentist ended up testifying what she knew at the 1997 parliamentary commission. Brigitte reported Bouty and Nihoul for trafficking in infants from Africa. Less than a year later she was found dead from an apparent overdose of alcohol and sedatives. With no autopsy conducted, the "OD" may well have been arranged.

On April 7, 1998, just two days after Brigitte's death, another sad case arrived in Anna Konjevoda. She had contacted Judge Connerotte in late 1996 to provide information on Nihoul and Dutroux's trafficking operation in Eastern Europe. Connerotte was removed and unfortunately Anna was never called to be a witness. A year and a half later her body was discovered floating in a river after having been assaulted and choked to death. Working with sexually exploited child victims, social worker Gina Pardaens-Bernaer was targeted with death threats. On the day before she was scheduled to give a statement to police in November 1998, her car crashed into a bridge pillar, killing her without an autopsy or investigation. Just as the Zandvoort child porn scandal was breaking in July 1998, Gina had joined the NGO Morkhoven, Marcel Vervloesem's anti-child abuse organization that helped bust the biggest child porn scandal of the last century. It was Gina who worked on the case of the abducted 12-year-old German boy Manuel Schadwald, believed to have been abducted at a seedy bar brothel in Berlin and trafficked to Amsterdam for pedophilia and child pornography. Speculation arose over his own father having ties to German secret service may have sold him into the pedo-web. It was Gina who gathered much of this information that ultimately helped break the Vandvoort scandal. But along with Marcel Vervloesem, she too was targeted with death threats and harassment. The night she was murdered, she called Morkhoven president Jan Boeykens and said: With what I have found, either Belgium explodes, or I am murdered. A former girlfriend of accomplice Michel Lelievre, Sandra Claeys claimed that she overheard Dutroux and Lelievre talking about a way of making a lot of money. Probably her kiss of death, she is alleged to have committed suicide on November 4, 1999, while both Lelievre and Dutroux were in jail awaiting trial. Highly doubtful she missed her ex so much she couldn't cope without him.

By January 1997 the only police inspector that victim-witness Nathalie W. trusted, Theo Vandyck, died of a sudden stroke. The replacement officers in February intimidated, taunted and destabilized Nathalie, suffering from Dissociative Identity Disorder based on her years of abuse in the pedo-network. The police abuse caused her to withdraw from providing further testimony. When the fragile 32-year-old victim managed to secure a job in 1998, sadistic officer Philippe Pourbaix actually showed up at her workplace to further harass her and undermine her employment, resulting in her losing her job. Mainstream Belgian media describe Jean-Jacques Feront as both a pedophile and con man who allegedly concocted a scheme for early prison release, based on false claims of having information about the abducted 8-year-old Melissa Russo. Yet other accounts portray Feront as a pedophile hunter, trying to earnestly aid the police investigation that might lead to the arrests of both prominent German child porn peddler Klaus Bahr as well as Dutroux, Nihoul and others in the Belgian pedophile ring. Feront maintained that prior to prison in response to Bahr's interest in selling him indecent child photos and videos, he had seen a photo of Melissa Russo sitting on a green couch. After both Brussels judicial police and then Neufchateau magistrate Connerotte were convinced that Feront was a reliable informant, once Jacques Langlois took over the case in October 1996, all further working with Feront ceased. Feront was eventually released from prison in December 2000 but within just two and a half months, on March 1, 2001 he suffered two suspicious heart attacks at 56 and was dead. Just three months earlier, German porn king Klaus Bahr who was about to provide testimony on Julie and Melissa's June 1995 disappearance, also died abruptly in a traffic accident in November 2000.

One by one, everyone with important information to disclose about the network methodically gets bumped off. Dozens die by covert assassination in every pedophilia scandal. A truly staggering list that is barely believable, yet it happens with alarming regularity. A common thing people have said to me, the control system is not possible on the scale you report it, as it would involve too many people to keep it secret. Which is a fair comment, but this last section blows that reasoning out of the water. We have radically under estimated their operations, their levels of evil and the depths they will go to, all to avoid the truth. People losing their lives because they believed in and wanted to tell the truth, cruelly shut down and worse, eliminated altogether. The world is not only a lunatic asylum, but a cesspit of evil.

As the state systematically eliminated evidence and witnesses, stonewalling the trial indefinitely, growing pressures were brought to bear on honest agents still working within this corrosive pedo-shielding justice system, led by cabal tools Anne Thily and Jacques Langlois. This abomination of justice took its toll on honest prosecutors like Hubert Massa who at home in July 1999, is said to have quietly retired to his office and without a suicide note, blew his brains out, leaving a stunned, grieving family behind. Though the Dutroux case's chief prosecuting attorney grew highly frustrated and unhappy with the deliberate, unethical stalling tactics and confided in a colleague a sense of feeling trapped, no one saw his death coming, not even his family. Grinding out an already 3-year-old case, aggressively pushing a flagrantly false narrative, with still another half decade grind to go before trial, morale was running exceedingly low in the prosecutors' office. Since their new handpicked supervisor arrived on the scene, the consensus of Liege magistrates: Nothing has been the same since the appointment of Anne Thily. she embodies only authority. Strangely enough, less than 24-hours after meeting with the brand new Justice Minister Verwilghen, who assured Massa and four attorney generals that all light will be shed on Belgium's pervasive corruption, Massa chose to go dark. The criminal injustice of the justice system apparently was meting out a punishing death toll on the minority of still honest prosecutors left. Massa had also been saddled with the 1991 unsolved murder case in Liege of onetime Belgium deputy prime minister and Socialist Party leader Andre Cools, with tentacles linked to the mired Dutroux case. In fact, Massa's colleague, Michel Bourlet first worked together with sacked Magistrate Jean-Marc Connerotte in the Cools assassination. But prior to them solving that case in 1994, no doubt due to the embedded corruption, they were yanked off that high profile case as well. The pattern of pedo-murder web in Belgium running far too deep to allow the truth to ever come out was already well in place for many years. Arrests in the Dutroux case apparently provided new leads in the previously cold 1991 Cools case. Additionally, a red motorcycle that was reportedly used in the assassination of Cools suspiciously appeared parked years later outside Marc Dutroux's garage. Also, the senior Charleroi police inspector Georges Zicot, recently arrested in the Dutroux investigation, was believed to have furnished names of Cools suspects. Information that has come to light since the 1991 murder was then reexamined by the Dutroux team of investigators. But far too many connecting dots have been systematically covered up.

British Tory politician Stephen Milligan and Belgian politician Andre Cools were most likely murdered for the same reason, perceived threats to exposing huge illegal arms shipping deals with Iraq and Iran during their bloody 8-year war in the 1980s (the Rothschild way, financing both sides). Cools had uncovered the massive international arms-drug smuggling-money laundering operation involving not only top Belgium government officials, but also the Reagan-George Bush senior administrations and Thatcher government dating back to the 1980s and Iran Contra. In 1994 the story broke of major kickbacks in the late 1980s, especially among Socialist Party politicians from Belgium's French speaking Wallonia region, hitting the country just ahead of the nationwide child sex-murder scandal. One of those bribed politicians became the prime suspect in the Socialist Party leader Andre Cool's 1991 death, former regional minister Alain Van der Biest. While his legal fate was pondered more than a decade after murdering Cools, Van der Biest allegedly opted to take his own life in 2002. Other politicians in both Flanders and Wallonia were also linked to the corruption scandal from a French arms company, as well as the infamous Italian helicopter manufacturer Agusta, just another tip of the iceberg scandal, which led to the resignation and 3-year probation of Belgian NATO Secretary General Willy Claes. While allowing a few of the lower hanging rot subject to conviction and probation with no jail time, puppet master controllers running this globalized cabal mafia machine never hesitate to kill their way out of emerging scandals, as their most reliable go-to method for silencing all would-be threats. Many of the same suspects in the Dutroux-Nihoul pedo-club were also implicated in the Cools killing. Alleged child raping European Court Judge Melchior Wathelet, responsible for Dutroux's 1992 early prison release, has also been accused of covering up both the Dutroux sex scandal and the Cools murder scandal. Moreover, no surprise that the majority of these gangsters were also affiliated with the Grand Masonic Lodge of France.

Yes the Freemasons who are often left out of the conspiracy name and shaming, but they are just as deep into it as all the rest. Remember many of the cops in various countries are Freemason's as well, all about protecting the brotherhood you see with that group. Even if it involves murder, pedophilia, child trafficking or other heinous crimes. Freemasonry is a dark and Satanic cult, that too often goes under the radar. Remember it was the Freemason's who designed Washington DC.

Société Générale de Belgique is a major holding company steeped in the arms industry in Belgium, the US and Britain, with ownership claims of 25 to 50% of Belgium's total manufacturing sector. Société Générale's director-governor was Baron Benoit Bonvoisin, part of the pedo-elite trio that included Belgian PM Paul Vanden Boeynant and Viscount Étienne Davignon, all linked to illegal arms, illegal banking, illegal child trafficking, child rape, torture and murder. Bonvoisin was the treasurer of CEPIC mentioned earlier. De Bonvoisin is pejoratively nicknamed the Black Baron, for alleged connections to the Nijvel Gang, CCC and was involved with the Gladio group, as well as the financing of fascist and militant groups. With a historically corrupt political system bolstered by both NATO and EU headquartered in Brussels, and a strong Italian mafia presence in southern Belgium, as the central crossroads of Europe, Belgium has become Western Europe's magnet as both a host and transit sex trafficking nation, attracting multiple organized crime activity, trafficking of arms, children and drugs worldwide. In case you haven't noticed yet, the high profile seedy Luciferian element connected directly to pedophile network crime boss Michel Nihoul, has been the pedo-club-hub super scum, consisting of card-carrying Bilderberg, Le Cercle and Opus Dei VIPs – former Belgian Prime Minister Paul Vanden Boeynants (1909-2001), head of Société Générale financier Baron Benoit de Bonvoisin and Bilderberg head and EU VP Commissioner Count Étienne Davignon, notoriously known for their intelligence linked, fascist, ultra-right wing extremism, graphically illustrated by their stay-behind Gladio strategy of tension terrorist operations connected also to the deadly Nijvel Gang. This criminal trio are/were the core kingpins in Belgium's European Institute of Management (EIM) run by Opus Dei, as well as regular aficionados, along with such royals as deceased King Baudouin and Belgium's current King Albert II, at Nihoul's pink ballet orgies, always kinkily active front row participants in the cruel and sadistic torture and bloody sacrifice of trafficked children, all named as prime perpetrators by most of the X-File witnesses.

King Albert's apparently been cited as a frequent human hunting party guest as well. Australian mind control sex slave survivor-activist-author and ITNJ witness Fiona Barnett wrote an article on pedophilesdownunder.com website in February 2016: Hunting, raping and killing children for sport is a common feature of elite pedophile gatherings. Alleged attendees at European pedophile hunts include King Albert of Belgium, Dutch Crown Prince Alfrink Bernhard, Prince Johan Friso of Holland and his wife Mabel Wisse Smit. As long as we're on a laundry list of accused royal hunting pedos, aside from Cercle de Wallonia member Kattenhof Castle owner Patrick de Caters, a few other Wallonia Cercle members accused of child sex crimes include Bilderberger King himself Etienne Davignon, Prince Philippe de Chimay another identified royal hunter, Count Jean-Pierre de Launoit the vice-Président Cercle de Lorraine, former Prime Minister Elio Di Rupo and businessman Aldo Vastapane. Upper crust Belgium is infested. X3, the oldest of the victim-witnesses, provided her testimony to police on June 2, 1997 involving an incident taking place in the early 1960s. At an aristocratic family manor where she was trafficked to, she and other children were tortured and additionally traumatized by a boy's bloody murder with a Belgian prime minister and both current and future Belgian kings in attendance: The children were taken to a tower made of natural stone and with a wooden door. An underground corridor left from the turret toward the cellars, without light and going downward. In the cellars there were cells where the children were locked up, awaiting their turn. Just like Epstein island. There were also some cells for the Doberman dogs. The passageway gave way to a room of spectacle. In the tower: dead children's bodies in various stages of decomposition, sometimes dismembered and/or missing body parts and carcasses of dogs. Spectators: always the same but difficult to identify, about fifty of them. She recognized the regent Charles, King Baudouin and King Albert, and two others that she calls property developer Charly who was De Pauw and Polo who was Paul Vanden Boeynants. She thinks to have recognized future NATO Secretary General Willy Claes and doctor Vanden Eynde. The dogs listen to dog trainers Ralf and Walter, the addicted dogs are excited. Spectacles of the orgies, contains putting to death children and dogs. The spectacle room has a strong odor of excrements of dogs and dogs can roam free in the garden. Gilles around 12 years old was castrated by Polo the future PM. The other children have to drink the blood; girls are slashed with razor blades. The lips of the vagina of X3 have partially been cut and were given to the dogs to eat. A girl's large vulva was cut into slices and fed to the dogs. These sick fucks are our planetary controllers, folks.

Through sponsorship and training backed by a majority of US alphabet agencies, among them the CIA, DIA and DEA, along with NATO, Gendarmerie's BOB branch and Wackenhut private security, the European Institute of Management launched its stay-behind Gladio operation in what amounted to a partial Belgian coup throughout the 1970s and 1980s. Destroying victimized children as their sexual blackmail meal ticket to gain top down control over government, finance, business, judiciary and law enforcement. And we all know by now who controls them industries, the Jewish EL-ites. Keep in mind with child sex scandals breaking out all over the world throughout the 1980s into the 1990s and beyond, most already covered in previous chapters, the pedo-crime cabal never looks back in its quest for increasing centralized global power and control. This ongoing NWO transnational operation is today's bloodline controlled mafia cabal-in action. Yet the way the public treat and react to these public figures is astounding, all held in high esteem. It is mass Stockholm Syndrome as these beings take the piss out of us all, whilst using our children as playthings in the worst sadistic nature. What is unknown to most people is, they do rituals of death sex, torture via MK Ultra on their own children in the programs, all to de-humanize them. De-humanize is to remove the humanity aspect out of the children, so they retain their other bodies, whether reptilian, insect or grey.

Witness X1, Regina Louf, lost her virginity at age 4 to the man who would own her as her pimp during the first quarter century of her life. At only 10 years old, while living with her sadistic grandmother pimping her out to older men, Regina became pregnant. Sexual development in chronically abused prepubescent girls is abnormally earlier than the non-abused population. Let the following episode sink in, understanding that the earth is controlled by nonhuman Luciferian soulless monsters who have no conscience at all. Direct from her police testimony, Regina recounted her first child's birth experience at 10 years old: When the contractions started her grandmother made a phone call. The Lippens brothers, Vanden Boeynants and the assistant police commissioner of Knokke arrived. Baron De Bonvoisin and Michel Vander Elst arrived thereafter, Vander Elst puts a knife on her throat while Bonvoisin rapes her. She was forced to masturbate while Vander Elst makes a number of photos. Lippens then rapes her with a razor blade. When the child exited de Bonvoisin beat her. Directly after X1 gave birth she was raped and sodomized. Her daughter disappeared six weeks later. She only saw her daughter at the ASCO factory again. Regina just briefly saw her newborn daughter one more time before her baby was murdered six weeks later, in front of her at the exact moment that a knife held in Regina's vagina was extracted. The ASCO arms factory was eventually converted to aerospace parts, but in the 1980s it also served as a snuff factory where abuse, torture and murder were typically filmed as highly marketable child pornography.

ASCO owner Roger Boas, another member of the pedophile ring, was a close associate of Prime Minister Vanden Boeynants. It was about this same time in 1979 when Paul Vanden Boeynants as prime minister a second time around, recruited his business associate Roger Boas and their pal Baron Bonvoisin and the baron's Société Générale into sponsoring the scandalous Euro systems affair. A billion-dollar boondoggle project to construct two major hospital complexes in Jeddah and Mecca, Saudi Arabia for the NATO trained Saudi National Guard. Was that to place more children in for the Saudi royals and their ilk? Even their future king Albert got involved, ostensibly heading this extravagant Belgian business delegation to wine and dine his fellow royals from the House of Saud. Boas' mistress, Madam Fortunato Tuna Israel who spoke Arabic, brought in her blond Belgian girls to entice the Saudi princes into signing the big contract. But so much in bribes and sexual favors ran up such an enormous party bill, that when word got out of the millions wasted in such decadence and corruption, the deal fell through. It backfired on Prince Albert, tainting his regal image in humiliation, caught in such deep sleaze, shamelessly carousing with young girls alongside sex crazed Saudi royals.

Then came the Brabant Killings from 1982 to 1985, 28 dead and 40 injured in seemingly random attacks. The murdering gang was linked to the Pink Ballets, the elite sex orgies with underage children held at exclusive clubs, villas and castles throughout Belgium. The Belgian royals were often spotted at these disgusting soirees, especially when children were present. As always with security services involved, secret sex tapes of the debauchery featuring Belgium's upstanding leaders were circulating at an exorbitant cost, both literally and criminally. As alluded to earlier, a couple shot and killed in one of the Brabant Killings was alleged to have been in possession of a copy. Speculation emerged that the shooting sprees weren't so random after all. At the height of the scandal, one of the high flying wives caught regularly attending these affairs without her husband, a psychiatrist Dr. Pinon, who collected what became known as the Pinon File used as evidence in filing his divorce. Then it was learned that a minor committed suicide over this cocaine saturated sexual abuse and another young girl died in a car crash after an out of control night of sex and drugs. Though it may sound like a bad movie script, serving underage kids to the decadent elite in Belgium is well documented. Word getting out about these orgies made those attending them extremely nervous. A French language magazine editor interviewed a key witness in the pink ballet scandal, introduced by Dr. Pinon. The witness supplied eight pages' worth of damaging dirt from the sex orgies, complete with dozens of names of well-known people, places and dates, and relevant information on the two recent minors' deaths. The witness said top political and military figures as well as royals all knew of the sexcapades, because they too were regular attendees at these scandalous affairs. Of course the prime minister Boeynants and future king Prince Albert had lots to lose as did the entire criminal Establishment, should proof ever go public that they were mixed up in such egregious criminal activity.

Linked to the Bush Iran Contra scandal, ASCO's Jewish owner Roger Boas and PM turned Defense Minister Boeynants were friends of Israel. Mossad blackmail has a nasty way of turning virtually all world leaders into friends of the Greater Israel Project. ASCO got caught in the illegal arms deal with Iran in the 1980s. Then Defense Minister Boeynants awarded a no bid contract to ASCO in exchange for very generous kickbacks from his friend, while they were busily sodomizing and murdering little girls in their snuff factory. One of Boas's directors, Louis Sik saw how sick these Luciferians were and tried to make a public stink about it. Louis Sik found out about the sexual blackmail operation, reporting that he saw a compromising photo of Prince Albert with a girl appearing about 14-years old. Boas attempted to nail Sik on embezzlement charges but failed, while Boas in turn was hit with tax fraud. Boeynants attempted to circumvent his own fiscal fraud, corruption and sex crime charges by attempting to fake his own pathetic one-month kidnapping with his ultra-friendly abductors Michel Van Elst and Patrick Haemers. The French magazine editor Jean-Claude Garot who thought he'd grabbed the biggest scoop of the century exposing the scandalous pink ballets dancers, ignored warnings to not publish and then had his entire Pour Magazine office burned to the ground. Needless to say, no published interview, no exposé and the bad guys violently won again.

The closest thing to a detailed and accurate rendering of the degenerate crime cabal in Belgium, is Joel van der Reijden's series of articles that name over a hundred accused VIP perverts and likely tell as much of the full story as we're going to get any time soon. Boeynants' successor as prime minister in April 1979 was yet another heavy hitter Wilfried Martens (1936-2013), who other than 9 months in 1981, for over the next dozen years remained in Belgium's top office until March 1992. Both Regina Louf and X2, a policewoman, testified that Martens also participated in rape and torture events at ASCO. Regina's police report stated: This person Wilfried Martens was brought into the network without knowing what he got himself involved with. Appeared uncomfortable and seemed to be pressured. PM Martens was likely a go along to get along, thoroughly compromised sexual blackmail victim. That said, he's still a criminal, especially since he was the leader of his nation for so many years. Obviously he was not one to make waves by stepping up with moral courage to do the right thing. But then prime ministers and presidents are mere puppets in the planetary pecking order. During the last decade and a half since Belgium's biggest pedo-scandal has died down, other than the occasional bid for prison release, no news has been forthcoming for years. In other words, the pedo-Establishment's clampdown cover-up continues. Dutroux's next parole hearing that may or may not be in 2021. Last October, the Dutroux sentencing court ordered a psychiatric report due by May 11, 2020 to determine Dutroux's fitness for possible release as early as 2021. But due to the Coronavirus outbreak, the decision has been postponed. If the court finds 63-year old Dutroux no longer a threat to reoffend, undoubtedly it will generate enormous opposition and condemnation from an outraged public. As is so often the case, one evil fuck got scapegoated, paying for all the sins of a criminal elite class that lives out unencumbered, privileged lives going to their graves with total impunity. Their karmic due still awaits.

Meanwhile, ex-wife Michelle Martin who divorced Dutroux in 2002, was convicted in 2004 for her part in the scandal and received a 30-year sentence. But after serving 16 years in prison since 1996, Martin was released in 2012. Michel Lelievre, the accomplice Dutroux didn't murder, who in 2004 was also convicted of kidnapping charges, incurred a 25-year prison sentence. Acquitted at the trial of rape and murder charges, Lelievre completed 23 years of his quarter century prison term and was paroled in September 2019. It's important to bear in mind that at the exact same time as this pedophilia web was breaking in Belgium, proliferating pedophile rings were also being exposed in Britain, Latvia, Mexico, Russia, Netherlands, Italy, France and the United States. Recall from Chapter 12 the Finders scandal had international CIA implications and Chapter 13's Nebraska to the White House Franklin saga had directly involved the Reagan-Bush regime making national headlines, while Chapter 14's Jeffrey Epstein-Maxwell-Mossad-Mega Group Operation was just revving up off the radar at that time. Also significant, going down on the same day in September 1998 was the worldwide bust of the Wonderland Club, producing multiple child porn arrests across 22 US states and 11 nations including Australia, Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Italy, Britain, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Portugal. Followed a year later by Operations Avalanche in the US and Ore in UK, all part of the much larger interconnected global network that is still thriving to this day. The San Jose Mercury reported the tip of the iceberg was expanding: The ring actually extends into 47 countries. Most people would not believe something so large spanning 47 countries could not be pulled of, this 3 part series proves it can and continues whilst the public adore these monsters.

The onset of the internet age and dark web opened up the global pandemic pathway to the booming child porn-pedo-trafficking trade, reaching unprecedented heights or more apt demonic lows, rivaling only illicit drugs as the world's fastest growing, most profitable and largest organized crime industry currently ravaging the planet. This highly disturbing phenomenon could never have occurred without the global slavemasters' direct involvement, operating throughout humanity's entire existence on earth dating back the last quarter million years. There's nothing new about child rape and blood sacrifice, other than it reaching its present monumental, off-the-charts scale as the human blight and scourge of all ages. The less-than-human parasites feeding off kids must end. The complete non-accountability and impunity of powerful abusers among the Belgian aristocracy, government and judiciary, participating in both the nation's pedophilia network and its over-the-top cover-up, in 1996 caused a destabilizing national crisis fomenting a most acute distrust in the country's political and criminal justice system. And with such colossal global corruption and systemic crime around the world mounting with each passing decade ever since, imposing a crisis in confidence in its representative governmental bodies to operate in the citizens' best interest, capped in 2020 reaching an unprecedented disaster level with this year's so called Covid-19 pandemic. The rest was written in 2020-21 as the looming Covid crisis began to unfold.

Besieged by never-ending lies spewing out daily, designed to manipulate panic and confusion amongst the global masses to robotically do as they're told, stand down in indefinite lockdown imprisonment mode inside their homes, is willfully intended to cause total collapse of the world economy and hundreds of millions of lost jobs, the death of millions of small to mid-size businesses and incomes, guaranteeing an impending hell-on-earth to be paid and suffered in our near future. The exposed mafia pedo cabal is fighting back with a vengeance. Cooped up like good little docile robots behind our four prison walls is only feeding a growing anxiety, desperation and despair, culminating decades of smoldering-soon-to-be-incendiary panic and rage. Rendering the global population worried sick, not so much from succumbing to the unleashed, hyped up manmade bioweapon. As the growing fear and dread currently gripping the planet over the prospective inability to feed their families, amidst the cabal engineered massive food supply chain chokehold, far beyond any insipid toilet paper shortage early on. Skyrocketing hyperinflation and unaffordable survival costs bound to come sooner than later, is what is most feared with so many people out of jobs and lost income, causing potential mass starvation for millions. As the criminal elite's perfect storm unleashes its eugenics depopulation agenda planned for a century, with the scheming globalist executioners brazenly dialing up one crisis after the next. With Bill Gates having bought the WHO, his own multimedia platform, and for decades not-so-secretly financing both the virus and the vaccine, using the Third World population as his guinea pigs. He is now insisting on draconian mandatory vaccination and globalist New World Order control, Bill Gates has become public enemy #1, the public face of impending death, doom and gloom.

By design, the Western population is so exclusively dependent on monopolized centralized corporate food store conglomerates, or corporate fast food venues, rather than relying on local agriculture and farmers as a direct food source, current farmers and ranchers are in crisis mode, unable to even move their products to market during the global lockdown. As of 2010 Americans spend more money eating out than on their at home grocery bought food. With the obliteration of the restaurant industry stuck in prolonged strict lockdown, food suppliers have no market. The falling domino chain's in effect and where it ends up, remains an unanswerable question at this point. Inevitably though, an impending food supply chain shutdown appears eminent on the horizon in the US and beyond. Critical foodstuff shortages are extremely likely, potentially worldwide, that could prove catastrophic for billions on the earth in the coming months, especially as the global economy tanks. Add to this precarious and dire mix last century's startling fact, that death resulting from democide amounted to six times the death toll caused by all the 20th century wars combined, including the two biggest in history, and the future outlook for humans on this planet appears very bleak and alarming. Democide refers to the intentional killing of an unarmed or disarmed person by government agents, acting in their authoritative capacity and pursuant to government policy or high command. Given this fact combined with today's growing contempt for how so many governments have mishandled this deliberately engineered crisis, as soon as people are confronted with empty grocery store shelves and hungry mouths to feed at home, a long festering, seething rage will instantly spill over into open rebellion and bloody violence on the streets.

Finally forced to face a bitter red pill realization that their government is not their friend after all, nor ever really was, the global populace will invariably reach breaking point, triggering worldwide revolt and mass upheaval the likes of which have never been seen before. It's then that the controllers' 5G high speed internet tower on your block and thousands of Elon Musk's strategically placed satellites above us, can easily be amped up for high speed fast fry of ground zero human targets on a massive genocidal scale. Next stop is neighboring Netherlands that breeds just as deep an intertwined pedophilia cesspool as Belgium. But before this unthinkable dystopian tragedy of all tragedies strikes us all dead, the sodomizing psychopathic rulers pulling all the levers that for centuries have been poking, prodding, torturing, poisoning and exterminating humanity as their caged beast are about to meet their own karmic reckoning. Those who still cherish life in the name of God will not go down easily.

Summing up as this was the final piece of covering Joachim's work, but how do you summarize that cesspit of evil? Before that I wish to thank Joachim and the few others who had the courage to step up and forward and be the voice of the children. But many more people need to develop the courage now to eliminate this scourge upon the planet. It is just not acceptable or adult to say, I don't want to hear about this, you and they at least had the option to say that, but the children didn't did they? We will never advance as a species until we learn to protect the children at all costs. That is not the remit of the few, that is the remit of us all.

I have said in previous shows that no organization operates on behalf of we the people, in over view it is a staggering claim. But in these three shows we have seen the full and stark evidence of that staggering claim, being a harsh and sobering reality. Where Royals, Secret societies, politicians, police, judges, commissioners, intelligence agencies, militaries, governments, tv stars, child protection, social services, hospitals, churches, schools are all involved in it. Others were complicit in the cover up as well, none more so than the criminal mainstream media. They are supposed to report news, not cover up heinous criminal acts.

Summing up, if this leaves you in despair, you are not thinking right. If you are thinking this is a modern day problem and things are getting worse on this planet, you are not thinking right. This has gone on millions of years universally, tens of thousands here, but most of it was kept hidden, now it is being exposed. Being brought into the light and the one thing these evil monsters don't like is, the light. And so by exposing it, it ultimately reduces the events and the numbers of children who are suffering. That is the right way of thinking about it. Plus you are forgetting, it is we that have the power, not them. So, we don't have any so-called support from the authorities, well boo hoo, newsflash, we never have, like never. So that is nothing new, it is only new, if you dance in a complete illusion bubble world devoid of facts and reality.

The same applies to religion, no one is coming to save you or I, it was always us all along. And remember the churches role in this heinous act as well, people of god my ass, just Satan's army in a dress. In case you didn't know they hold these same ceremonies below the Vatican. Below the main floor is a darkened room with pentagram in a circle, with a sacrifice altar in the middle, replete with red and black robed priests waiting to sacrifice children, it is their entertainment. For those new, an altar means a sacrifice table.

Yet again the anti-humanity group play a heavy role in this, why? Because they have zero value of human life, zero respect for anybody bar themselves. I am glad Joachim made the reference to the off world creatures and programs involved in this, because they and their brethren the anti-humanity group are one and the same. They are not us, they are nothing like us, except their devious cheating, stealing and Cosmic level genetics manipulations. Because underneath their fake skin suit lies demons, reptiles, Satanic demiurges of pure unadulterated evil. Yes they came in the form of the enemy, yes they made some men and women in their image, using subterfuge, dark malevolent hive minded mindsets to initiate unimaginable horrors for their own twisted and evil pleasures. Describing them as Dark Forces just doesn't cover it, in fact words cannot describe the levels of evil these entities stoop to.

Here are the harsh facts of our current reality:

A: We have no help or support from authorities

B: A comatose public wish to play can't see and can't hear games.

C: We have currently no direct help from above or below the planet.

D: We are now in a phase of winner takes all.

If that reality leaves you helpless or dispirited, then snap the fuck out of it. We are supposed to be the Guardian's not cowering mice.

I get that trying to talk to people about this subject brings in rolled eyes, cries of I don't want to hear about that, particularly from women. That is them exhibiting a criminal neglect and negating their responsibility and guardian ship. These shows should hit every woman square in the heart center, but instead we get a refusal to even hear about it. That has a much deeper connotations, in relation to the planetary mother. How can a mother abandon her children? Do mother's and indeed father's really grasp the responsibility they have to the children? There are many who do, but scandalously there are many who don't. Remember earlier one mother sold her daughter into this satanic cult, it just beggars belief that a mother can stoop that low.

Here is what we do have or need to develop quickly.

A: A backbone aligned with courage

B. We are the creators of reality, what are you going to create?

C: The Cosmos and the Universe helps those who are in service to others.

D: We are the crown of creation and are envied by most other Universe and Multiverse races.

E: We have a duty and moral obligation to protect those who cannot defend themselves.

F: F because we should give a fuck and eliminate this evil amongst us.

They have run amok on this planet because too few cared, too few bothered their asses, too few spoke out, that has to change going forward. But the ones who did speak out got killed some will cry, yes that is correct, but it's not an excuse to ignore it. The Santies spoke of the bloodless sacrifices of being in service to others, that applies heavily to this scenario. As I would sooner die defending the children, people and the planet this lifetime, than being labeled a service to self only coward, defending myself only. It is that cowardice that got us into this mess to begin with, it cannot be replicated at this juncture in the "time-space" end event. Remember this is only one lifetime, in service to others it is just a mere blink of an eye. One lifetime in a million or more lifetimes, that has to be the thinking of the all going forward. We fight and survive or we fight and we die, both are operating in valor, truth, honor and integrity. Cowering is how humanity arrived at this point, cowering prolongs the tyranny, the death and the destruction. The children are the flower of life, that has to be protected at all costs. We cannot have a new blueprint for humanity, whilst ignoring the plight of the children, it's sacrosanct. The objective for us all now is to A: remove the alien entities B: save as many people as possible and C: save the planet for future and better more pure lives for the next generations. Devoid of these dark Koshey or Kosher Satanic off spawn of evil. Final word for this show comes from Regina herself, Silence is for Perpetrators. Each and everyone should recognize that statement and plea for us all to speak up and loud on behalf of the children.
