

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2024-11-07

The Agenda:

At our most recent Blueprint Action Group Meeting on October 31st, we discussed the following agenda items: There will be no meeting on November 28th due to peoples' schedules, travel, and the fact that some will observe American Thanksgiving. Work also continues in the background. The sending out of an automatic welcome letter has been deployed on the BE forum and the BP website – there are 3 different letters going out, depending on contact type/location and these welcome letters include information on how to navigate the BP sites. The new Admin of the Be Forum will respond to questions if someone has an issue. Smart phones can now display the LinkTree link; it is now included in the menu and you can find it by clicking the hamburger sign (three lines) in the top right corner. Also, the BP website has all other websites listed now: THI show, The Peoples Club, TPC, the Be Forum, Law and Organic Living. Think Different Press was suggested as the new name for an all-media webpage location that would help seed and spread the Blueprint and primarily contain the interviews with Thomas that are beginning to add up now. The Media Team will draw up a proposal to add content and discuss its vision further with the Web Team as a next step. It was discussed that the YouTHInk Different website could be successfully reconfigured to a teaching curriculum site, especially now that the Book Team is ready to publish a booklet for parents and has other materials in the wings. A moderator was needed to supervise what was intended to be a user-driven site and would also be useful for the curriculum site; a member took up the task of collaborating with one designer of the YouTHInk Different site to draw up a proposal for a plan. The Research Team is busily reorganizing itself and spreadsheet management tasks are currently being transitioned to a new volunteer. We thank him for stepping forward to continue the overall flow.

Book Team:

The From His Story to Our Story Volume 5 has been sent for review, correction, and approval. The Bulgarian translator is working on From His Story to Our Story Volume 3. The Parents and Teachers Guide has been formatted for PDF and digital, with covers. The first draft of the Shadow Work booklet has been sent for review and additions, and the team is asking others to contribute a description of their personal practices to round out the booklet. Just send it to Allison in the forum or on MeWe.

Research Team:

There was no meeting of the Research Team on October 20th to report about. As a follow up to names mentioned in the October 3rd THI Show, the following people and organizations have been sent the Blueprint PDF:

Moms Against Fluoridation: They are an all-volunteer team fighting for water that is not drugged with a very toxic chemical slurry, that is now known to cause significant health impacts throughout the human body, which range from the brain and bones to the thyroid gland, inflammation, mottled teeth and more. As mentioned in the THI October 3rd Show, there was a lawsuit filed in US District Court for the Northern District of California at San Francisco in 2017 by various non-profits, including Moms Against Fluoridation. The courts dug deep into the science and ruled against the EPA.

From the Ruling and Order on September 24th, 2024: Plaintiffs have proven, by a preponderance of the evidence, that water fluoridation at the level of 0.7 mg/L, the prescribed optimal level of fluoridation in the United States presents an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment, without consideration of costs or other non-risk factors, including an unreasonable risk to a potentially exposed or susceptible subpopulation under the conditions of use. The Court thus orders the Administrator to initiate rulemaking pursuant to Subsection 6(a) of TSCA. The lawsuit has implications for citizens in all 50 states.

Moms Against Fluoridation proudly posted on the heading of their website: Breaking: WE WON THE LAWSUIT! And stated the following: Moms everywhere expect that the US government had done safety clinical trials on artificial fluoridation before they would add it to the public drinking water. They did not. Families and citizens across America expect that if a chemical is intentionally added for an alleged drug effect to the drinking water for all to drink, that it would have been rigorously tested on the young, the old, the diabetic, pregnant women and people with different genetic backgrounds. It was not. No rigorous safety trials were ever done. This is their mission: To end the addition of fluoridation chemicals to our public water in the United States of America through the education of moms, families and citizens everywhere, and to take action against government agencies when they are not protecting our children and all of our citizens. This antiquated practice of communities buying and adding a drug to the water should be halted. Water should be water, and as close to just water as possible. Civilized societies should never drug the populace with anything whether it were to be effective and safe or not. Fluoride happens to be neither. There are more battles to win.

Food and Water Watch: Works locally to make a difference by mobilizing regular people at all levels, i.e. local, state, and federal. It helps to build political power to move bold and uncompromised solutions to the most pressing food, water, and climate problems of our time to win the fights others are afraid to take on. Fights over banning fracking, shutting down factory farms, to make sure communities across the country have access to clean water. They've fought against greedy corporations and reckless government agencies and won time after time. They fight and win in the courts, in the halls of Congress, and on the ground in every state. Corporations may have the money, but they believe people have the power to make real change. They work to protect people's health, communities, and democracy from the growing destructive power of the most powerful economic interests. With more than 2 million supporters, Food & Water Watch fights for sustainable food, clean water, and a livable climate for all of us. They protect people from the corporations and other destructive economic interests that put profit ahead of everything else. They feel lucky to recruit and fight alongside people like you who care so deeply about the planet we share, and together. They developed bold solutions. They built a powerful ground operation. They organize hundreds of thousands of people united across the country. Their goals are clear, their focus is urgent with the battle cry of: We will save our climate, our food, and our water.

Stuart Cooper: Is Executive Director of the advocacy group Fluoride Action Network aka FAN. Since its creation in 2000, it has grown to become the global leader in education and advocacy dedicated to reducing the adverse effects associated with fluoride and water fluoridation. For more than two decades, FAN has been making a meaningful impact on fluoride policy and public awareness of fluoride's toxicity. It is dedicated to protecting public health by ending water fluoridation and other involuntary exposures to fluoride. They achieve these goals by educating the public, decision makers, and the media. The group is supporting volunteers in communities affected by fluoridation and is holding government health and regulatory agencies accountable. They are committed to the principles of environmental justice and are drawing special attention to subpopulations which are disproportionately harmed by fluoride, including low-income populations and communities of color.

Joy Warren: Is the National Coordinator for Fluoride Free Alliance UK. Their mission statements are We are fighting for life giving water and We do not need drinking water fluoridation! The group believes the upcoming Public Consultation for rolling out Fluoridation in the North-East of England must be opposed. On their website you will find out why, and how to make a successful response to the Consultation. They believe everyone should have freedom of choice on what they put in their bodies. Mass medication of artificial fluoride is not needed in the UK, fighting for clean, life giving water is vital. In an article Environmental Concerns: Fluoride as a freshwater stressor Joy states that it is calculated that about 2% of fluoridated drinking water and water containing natural fluoride is drunk by UK consumers. The remainder is lost in leaks, evaporated by industrial processes or incorporated into manufactured food. Joy has a Bachelor of Science with Honors in Environmental Science.

Jonathan Allen-Walker: He is the November 2020 founding publisher of the online news site The Exposé UK. A simple search finds it labelled as a British conspiracist website developed by a welder from Scunthorpe in Lincolnshire and that Twitter suspended its main account twice as being Covid denialists and anti-vaxxers. Johnathan says he created it due to a lack of alternatives to the lying mainstream media, and a lack of alternatives which report only the facts. He goes on to say that: Other alternative media sites are happy to publish articles backed up with zero or questionable evidence. Whereas the mainstream media simply refuse to publish the truth or publish half-truths, spun in a way to suit the narrative of the very authorities which are funding them through advertising fees for publishing propaganda. They are proud to say that The Exposé-news.com is run by extremely ordinary, hardworking people who are sick and tired of the fearmongering, lies and propaganda perpetuated by the mainstream media. They felt it was their duty to bring you the facts that the mainstream refuse to, and now they are. They believe their work speaks for itself.

Lewis Herms: Is the driving force behind transformative initiatives such as Screw Big Gov, Freedom in Action, The Truth Tour, Remember Your Oath, The Unity Tour and the thought-provoking platform, Screw Big Gov News, Views & Conspiracies. He's on video during the so called insurrection steering protestors away from entering the Capital with the help of the popular J6'er the Qanon Shaman, Jacob Chansley. He's been harassed and stalked by the FBI and even lost a 2.5-million-dollar business because he chose to fight for our freedom! Screw Big Gov is fiercely committed to dismantling the Globalist Cabal. Lewis states that; In a true freedom loving society, big pharma, big food, educators, politicians and corporations must prioritize We the People above all else! God has already won this battle, but it's up to us to do the work and reap the harvest! Lewis's groundbreaking film, 20/20 Vision, ignited a firestorm of awakening, shattering illusions and encouraging viewers to question the status quo. His follow-up, Watch the Water, exposed the health risks associated with deuterium in water, sending shockwaves worldwide. His latest documentary, Cages, is a call to action, exposing the harrowing reality of human trafficking and shedding light on the resilience of the human spirit. Freedom in Action serves as a digital fortress against censorship, preserving banned content and empowering patriots globally. The Unity Tour, Lewis's latest endeavor, is a powerful blend of unity and activism. Traveling to fifty cities in thirty-three days, he unites patriots, truth-seekers, and influencers from all walks of life. Together, they stand against the forces of tyranny to end new world control, illegal immigration, trafficking, and election manipulation. Their motto is United, we can end this! Together, we hold the power!

Bruce Poppy: Is host of Unpopular Viewpoint on Rumble. He is passionate about being part of our modern-day renegade revolution and fighting for disclosure of truth that will lead to justice. He feels that history repeats itself, and though we are small in number, we hold a great passion for truth, honesty, and freedom.

Jim DeSana: Currently serves as a Michigan State Representative from Ash Township, MI. He is a member on the House Higher Education Committee. His re-election campaign slogan is Join a movement to take back Michigan from the radical left. He runs a family farm, where they raise sheep and cattle, and worked for 36 years as a sales representative in the fastener industry. Jim's father, James DeSana Sr., represented Monroe County and the downriver area in the state Senate from 1976 to 1986.

Mark DeNicola: Is sole owner, videographer, and editor of full service social media consulting and production company of Beam-Beam Productions, Inc. with over 24 million readers. He has created an online course called The Anxiety Toolbox that is packed with everything he found helpful in conquering his own battle with severe panic and anxiety. While the online article may be a slowly dying medium thanks in large part to our seemingly ever-shrinking attention spans, he's had over 400 articles published by online publications like Thought Catalog and Collective Evolution amassing over 20 million reads on his content there. In addition to his work as an actor, he has created over 50 video blogs all set on making personal development content for those who actually want to change. He offers a free E-book titled '5 Simple Daily Hacks For A Genuinely Happier Life' and a guided meditation to help with anxiety. His first book will soon be released titled 8 Brutally Honest Truths You Need To Hear If You Want To Get Your Life Together.

Joe Martino: Is a podcaster, life coach, and founder of the Collective Evolution online media brand. He states, Virtually every aspect of our society is crumbling or transitioning, media, technology, consciousness, economies, education, relationships and more. Old ways of looking at and understanding our world are no longer relevant, and new ways encourage us to look more deeply at why our world is the way it is, and what about us creates it to be this way. The questions of who we are, why we are here, and what future we truly want to create, are on the table for us to re-approach. We at TPC, THI, the Blueprint solutions, and our commonsense approaches have already answered them, but the Collective Evolution titled their core principles as Interconnectedness, Interbeing, Thrivability, Humans Are Naturally Good, Change Starts Within, Good Sensemaking is Fundamental, Embracing Complexity, and Collaborative Stewardship.

Off Grid with Doug and Stacy: Doug and Stacy have lived on 11 acres for the last 15 years after selling everything to pay cash for the land. They built a log cabin with minimal building skills in 90 days with wood from the forest. They now grow 90% of their own food, live 100% off rainwater with no public utilities and have developed a closed loop system where they need zero inputs to feed and take care of themselves. They have over two-million students on social media attending their online university. There are many videos on their website for home, health and nutrition, growing and harvesting real food anywhere and plants for medicine. And still more on how to buy land and start your homestead or off grid journey. They offer courses on complete beekeeping, fermenting, navigating the store for food and supplies for a small monthly fee. Their passion is to blend old ways with a modern twist so people like you can be more self-reliant, live an intentional life, and be a healthier you. By joining their posse ya'll get tips on living off grid, raising farm animals, homesteading, rainwater catchment, raised bed gardening, cooking from scratch on a wood cookstove, herbal remedies, DIY projects, about a composting toilet, foraging, good old healthy living, and managing your woodlot of firewood processing and sawmill. You might even learn to ride a horse or handle one pulling a buggy.

Larry Elder: Is a former attorney and currently host of The Larry Elder Show podcast and YouTube channel airing from the South-Central Los Angeles, California area. He tries to inspire, inform, and persuade his audience to uphold the timeless American values of personal responsibility and public accountability. His nationally broadcast radio show from 1995 to 2008 was considered conservative political commentary. He feels that America is in decline, but this decline is not inevitable. It is a choice made by detached and cynical politicians. As a California resident, I've seen firsthand how decades of Democrat rule have turned the Golden State, for many, into an unaffordable dystopia. I won't let them do the same to America. Believing that We've Got a Country to Save, he advocated for policies that revive and strengthen the nation when announcing his candidacy for the 2024 presidential election on April 20, 2023. He suspended it on October 26, 2023. He is a New York Times best-selling author and award-winning documentary filmmaker.

Media Team:

Primary discussions centered on the need for more clarity of direction and more feedback as the team members respond both to current events unfolding in the world and to the shifting needs and priorities of the wider THI and Blueprint community. The notion of buying the services of a "Build your followers" company has been rejected as the followers they offer are too diverse and many would not be ready for THI and Blueprint information. Other housekeeping issues have been discussed and will be implemented to make the team's efforts easier and the flow more seamless. The proposal of a Media tab for the THI website was discussed, and the team's consensus decided for inclusion in the discussions in the broader multi-team meeting.

5x5 Team:

The new initiative underway for outreach to Disaster Relief Organizations goes forward with new contact names being included with every weekly 5x5 assignment. We upload BP links for Disaster Relief, Country Solutions, and Essential Services too and, when possible, attach and send the three solutions as a booklet that the Media Team provided. The 5x5 Team is increasing its Facebook and TikTok presence with two members taking up more duties or first-time duties. Two other people are alternating taking memes off the MeWe Media Team and putting them on the MeWe 5x5 Team page in the files section for those posters needing them. This activity, just as editing of memes, is still served best within MeWe pages. Although it was suggested that we follow a PodCast Network and Community Group, at first look it is difficult to see that those participating are aligned with us and would be Blueprint-oriented. Instead, we favor the action step of the Media and Web Teams pursuing development of a central Media Page/ Press Page/ online Press Kit at thi-show.com as suggested in the last Action Group meeting. Various teams and individuals can then begin in a central location, as can the public, and share the latest interviews and new developments into the diaspora of all social media platforms and it can happen in more synced fashion.

Thomas mentioned BRICS in the last show somewhere in the sections where we get our directives (new and medical sections, primarily) and he pointed out in particular the importance of making sure that they understand who India really represents. This mention brought up the question of a 5x5 BRICS initiative and the question was raised how do we define or derive the THI position on BRICS and/or India's role in BRICS? It is a fertile area for the discussion of many different Blueprint topics on social media. In other business, we decided to focus on Sonia Poulton's live shows on YouTube, participate, and come back next meeting on what kind of impact we are making. She is an excellent contributor on the pedophilia issue.

Merchandise Team:

The BP Merchandise group is happy to give their first sales report. We exceeded our own expectations. The first three plain hoodies for printing the logo on were ordered on July 11th, 2024. As of October 11th, we successfully sold 34 items: 17 hoodies, 13 regular t-shirts, 1 V-neck t-shirt, 2 tank tops and 1 mug. Our heartfelt gratitude and thank you to all those first buyers! A gentle reminder to please share pictures of yourselves on MeWe or the Be. forum wearing the tees or hoodies to help us sell more. We still have 5 XL hoodies in stock: 1 white, 2 mellow B and 2 navy blue. Please send a direct message to Sue Calannio on MeWe to arrange purchasing any of them. They are available for sale in the states only for $50.60. which includes shipping. Unfortunately, we are unable to ship to or take any payments from outside the US. Once all the hoodies are sold, we will be sending a profit check to The Peoples Club with a detailed financial report. That report will be posted on the Be. forum and shared in the annual year-end report show.

The garment printing merchant we were using has decided to open a restaurant instead and is not interested in selling us the printing equipment. We see this bump-in-the-road as an opportunity to transition to a member-owned and operated business where any cost-saving can be passed on to our members. The research has begun and is looking promising. It is important to advise all members that the logo is copyrighted. You absolutely must get official permission to use it. We are working to find a volunteer in Europe to start production somewhere there. We are unable to export anything.

Special report from all the teams:

We are proud to announce the completion of another THI project: the What Is series. Starting with the Blueprint show episode 3 on August 3rd, 2023, Thomas presented a number of powerful What Is pieces covering a wide range of topics related to life on this planet, spiritual development, relationships and various programs, as well as being human and a guardian of Midgard. These What Is pieces are packaged with the usual THI common sense and critical thinking, as well as Thomas's unique style of delivering the truth of our reality and the challenges we face. And so these pieces are full of wisdom, shattering of illusions and the usual THI sprinkling of triggers.

We would like to thank all who were involved in making this project possible. Thank you to the women who helped with image selection so that these pieces have powerful visual representations to do them justice, so thank you Rochelle, Allison, Kayoko, Truss and Brigid. Thank you also to Kevin, Todd and Marnie for their input. Last but not least, thank you to Aris, Dave and Ovi for their artistic and technical contribution.

This project was reminiscent of the building of the Blueprint website with its powerful content and visuals. We are sure that the What Is series will be well received just like the Blueprint website was and that it will have the same big impact on our members and listeners, and on the whole world and humanity. All that is required is for us all to embrace, integrate and live the simplicity of wisdom contained in this What Is series as our own HUMAN blueprint. So without further ado you can access the What Is series at thi-show.com/what-is.

In Overview: To be or not to be:

After the last show that covered the Cat piece, with its connections to Ra and the female line, or feline. As always, these deeper female exposes get a lot of reaction and can be very triggering for both the male and the female within THI and I expect outside the perimeters of our chat and groups. Thomas has covered extensively the Divine feminine, Divine Masculine, Sigma and many aspects within all of these topics. These highlight not only the need for correction from both lines, but they also contain the corrections that change us. Those corrections are the traits we cannot seem to overcome. But much of the correction is needed from the female in order to restore the balance within the two sexes, hence why the female appears to come up more. Not to blame, but to aid and teach, that is the difference.

So, after some discussion with the women and comments from the men, and to bring a better objective overview on this topic, let us change species for a moment and take a bird's eye view of it. We can carry on pointing fingers, blaming each other which is another of their programs or we can rise above the chatter and add the seven points of light that Thomas talks about, in fact we could throw in the 45/55 rule here and the graphic equalizer too. But let's just go neutral for the purpose of this topic, and throw in a few ponderings in an overview mode. When anyone falls from grace, there can be many reasons why it happens, but underneath all those reasons there leaves behind an indelible mark or stain, some can be seen by the observer because the observer is much like the over viewer and is not entangled in the inside of another, so if you like Thomas is the over viewer, the higher perspective. But much of the stains or marks remain unseen, and it is the unseen that therefore holds the biggest reign over us. The unseen refers to the damage that was left behind and in the main because we do not take enough time to observe ourselves, we fail to address the main problems. Even when it is pointed out to us, we throw our own behaviors back on to someone else and call them triggers. It is only when we come to the realization that programs have played a huge part in the fall of the divine aspects of both male and female and stop looking outward and go inward, that some corrections can be done from this perspective, the more compassionate approach.

As the female is the carer and nurturer, there lies a bigger proportion of balancing on the female, hence why this topic is mentioned, not to blame, but to highlight our individual role in the restoration of the female line. Its importance will have a tremendous affect not only on the female and the male, but the planet, for all planets are in the main female. And as many planetary mothers have abandoned their roles and their planets, this affects us as the inhabitants of these planets. That frequency is no longer the stronghold that emanates in our environment. So, our caring and nurturing side is directly affected, and women not only birth the men, they rear the men, so this is the reason why it is so important to forget the sexes and who did what, but to see what needs correction and come together to support each other in the restoration of both lines. The abandonment can directly affect the frequency we can achieve and learn to hold here on this planet, which has many implications for future generations to come. All higher levels are higher frequencies in the main so we must consider this, and work to become a higher frequency that is needed here. This negates the stronghold of control the dark forces wreaked on us.

Two things stood out more while pondering on this and neither of them have to do with sex, one was the trust issues that are rampant on this planet in both sexes, and second was the guardian aspects we need to embrace. Trust in humanity as a whole is at an all-time low, the signs are staring us in the face. The lack of unity being the biggest one as we cannot come together with no trust in the other, and the other is the lack of support that needs to exist for things to be put back on a better path. How can we learn to trust each other when we have never addressed our own lack of trust? so let us explore trust for a moment. What creates it and what destroys it.

The definition of Trust: A firm belief in the reliability, truth, ability, or strength of someone or something; relations have to be built on trust, they have been able to win the trust of the others. So, if we are to base our interactions and relationships on anything, we must have a firm foundation of trust in the person, this applies to both sides of the coin. We tend to come to an inner standing born from judgement of the behaviors of the other party, that they are truthful and reliable, so from the beginning we have walked into this relationship with an expectation that this person holds those values. So, trust stems from the behaviors or actions of another person, seems perfectly reasonable to assume this. But if we are creating a union or a communion, do we look at our own behaviors and have we taken enough time to go into the underlying mistrust we hold as we enter these relationships? Have we looked at who and what we are in terms of demonstrating a better version of ourselves? and then how can we maintain that if the underlying mistrust has not been cleared out.

In the male and female relationship, one may have more trust than the other, they may also be more open to experiencing and journeying in a new way. The other partner may want a new relationship, but past experience has taught them that love hurts. So, they judge everything from past experience instead of being open to allowing the new relationship to unfold and discover the things that need working on together. They hold confirmation bias from the past and as we have come to understand if we haven't addressed it, then we will see it happen again and again. So, what has this got to do with correcting the divine feminine? well in overview it means that the male maybe the one holding the bias, and that keeps affirming for him that all women are bad and not to be trusted. Or the opposite the women may be the one with the lack of trust, so no corrections can or will be made because we have not changed our mindset. If we take the sex of the person out of it, the same problem exists in both sexes, so therefore this is a problem that needs to be addressed on a higher level, rather than stating that just one sex has more issues than the other one. It is a global issue, that at this important juncture when things are so volatile, lack of trust has the greatest potential to block any success in birthing a new way forward. Let us have a look at a small sample from the Santies of Perun, and what they tell us about trust.

There are three lines using the word trust in the Santies of Perun:

For each who came from The Dark World or his offspring born on Midgard or another Earth, thinks only about idle life, exploiting other's work and trustfulness of Human Children.

[126] By deceit and ruse, and unrighteous lie, Aliens obtain trust of people.

Having earned trust of people by flattery, they stirred up people against each other. This way were born wars in those Worlds.

Does this suggest that we were a more trusting race of people until the interference from the dark world came upon us? Does this signify that lack of trust is the true creators of war, internal or external? Is this reflective of how deep the layers go, and why we struggle to return to a more open-hearted race of people? Are our shadows that deep? Why do we choose to remember the pain instead of the joy of the union? This all points to lack of mentality, lack of trust, lack of innerstanding, lack of correction, lack of ability to change or become flexible. Rigid thinking is a sign of a closed heart, for the open heart has no lack of anything. The mind has taken over and tainted the relationship before it began. In other words where was the love?

We cannot at this point, not look at these issues, as that will only ensure the past remains and the behaviors and the actions will keep playing out. Are we not so wrapped up in being defined as man or woman, that we forgot our true obligation as the Human? The higher universal man is what we have declared ourselves to be in the guardian's piece, not the Sumerian Anunnaki term serpent, or the Sanskrit version which means dragon. We declared to operate in the first person, what is the first person? First person is the highest form of person when they possess the competent mind of a natural living man or woman. So let us again take the sexes out of it and become the first person. The sovereign man/women emerge from this.

A few lines from the Guardians piece : Even when political structures change, the underlying ideas have not changed in over 1,000 years. It does not matter how much change occurs at the political level; until individuals change from the inside and develop better ideas, nothing will change. Ideas are thought forms, their thought forms have made man in their image, meaning we have not learned to create, and control thought forms that override theirs. This is the pathway to changing everything, as unity is the redemption of humanity. So, the internal has to change otherwise all will remain exactly the same on the external. Another important line that Thomas speaks often and has become one of my favourite meme's. We did not come here to play their game; we came to change it. The blame game is their game, how much of it do you project everyday? And if you keep singing from the same hymn sheet you will keep repeating the same song. The song we need to sing now is one of freedom, the redemption song, let us return man to the original image, that it is embedded in the Santies, the Vedas and the higher laws. If all learning comes from thought forms in motion, then we must emerge ourselves in the words and the actions of those words and learn to correct our wrong actions, and then be it.

You cannot comprehend love without trust, as you will never experience love, because you will not trust that it is love in the first place. Forgiveness is a key component within love, if you have not forgiven you, then have not let go and therefore all will show up in the present or the future. That image of the original man cannot emerge if you do not trust yourself and love yourself enough to create it. Thi'ers must be the luckiest people on this planet in my opinion, for we know these teachings, we are one step ahead of their game. Thomas trusted us enough to be able to not only hear them, but to be them. He sees in us what we have failed to see in ourselves, great potential. Let us all embrace that trust bestowed upon us and pay it forward now in abundance. Some might say there is no instruction manual for this, well I disagree, THI gave us all those instructions with a loving a kind heart, speaking words of wisdom every week to us. Those words are the key to igniting your own sword, so we need to use those words wisely, otherwise we will repeat their history, and inevitably we will die by our own swords. So, in essence the question remains, now that you know the key to becoming the Higher Universal Man or woman, will you choose to be or not to be.

NEWS:

This part of the show tonight highlights our Blueprint, THI shows and the FHSTOS section as well, all now permeating through the media and also the corridors of power. Finally people are starting to see the real issues and programs and are beginning to discuss them.

Maybe the election wasn't written in the stars after all. The point is, no matter who won the election, the people themselves lost. One side will be cheering that they "won" the election, but they fail to recognize they lost as well. If you were stupid enough to vote, you lost as well. So, all I am seeing is the people who are losing and consenting to losing every 4 years. Will Trump work for and by the people? Why would he change the habit of a lifetime? He always looks after himself first. Ego and arrogance became his remit in his first stint as a fake President, after losing an election to a man well past his sell by date, most people would say, I just can't cut it anymore, not Trump though. Bought and paid for by the Jewish junta, he will increase spending to Israel, increase putting soldiers in harm's way and increase the threats to our own shores, all to dance to the Jewish junta. I fail to see how that is being American or making America great again, except MAGA has a different meaning.

As a reminder from 2022. Remember the Great Reset, Set being the operative word, and Trump's role in it? Perhaps this piece will make you ponder. Set is the son of Geb, the Earth, and Nut, the Sky; his siblings are Osiris, Isis, and Nephthys. He married Nephthys and fathered Anubis and in some accounts, he had relationships with the foreign goddesses Anat and Astarte. From these relationships is said to be born a crocodile deity called Maga. Or perhaps it is Marduk, Anu, Geb and Astarte. Trump will of course suck up to Israel as it is they who largely funded him, it's funny the State Department doesn't declare that as election interfering. The only reason Harris was pushed forward, is because of the other Jewish faction that her husband or handler Douglas Emhoff is involved in. Will Trump give the Israelis Lebanon this time, after handing part of Syria over to them in his last jaunt? What happens next is anybody's guess, the anonymous people whether Q or otherwise will celebrate until reality hits them. And the pick anybody but Trump crew will wail in their beers and pizzas, as the tailgating party of non- life must go on. Except it doesn't. America is still in an unrepairable mess and too few have the critical thinking skills to A: see the problem and B: fix the problem.

This is quite frankly is hilarious and how to deal with rogue corporations. A Russian court has fined Google two undecillion roubles - a two followed by 36 zeroes, for restricting Russian state media channels on YouTube. In dollar terms that means the tech giant has been told to pay $20,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000. 20 followed by 33 zeroes, hilarious. I bet go ogles eyes are really go -ogling at those figures. Despite being one of the world's wealthiest companies, that is considerably more than the $2 trillion Google is worth. In fact, it is far greater than the world's total GDP, which is estimated by the International Monetary Fund to be $110 trillion. Which is interesting as it was $123T 6 years ago, it shows you the level of stagnation, that 6 years later despite a massive increase in prices, that the amount spent has gone down $13T. Personally I think the global gdp is much lower than $110T, given there is only $40-60T in circulation. The fine has reached such a gargantuan level because it is rapidly increasing all the time. Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov admitted he cannot even pronounce this number but urged Google management to pay attention.

Russia media outlet RBC reports the fine on Google relates to the restriction of content of 17 Russian media channels on YouTube. While this started in 2020, it escalated after Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine two years later, no it was a rescue mission not an invasion. That saw most Western companies pull out of Russia, with doing business there also tightly restricted by sanctions. Russian media outlets were also banned in Europe prompting retaliatory measures from Moscow. In 2022, Google's local subsidiary was declared bankrupt and the company has stopped offering its commercial services in Russia, such as advertising. However, its products are not completely banned in the country. This development is the latest escalation between Russia and the US tech giant. In May 2021, Russia's media regulator Roskomnadzor accused Google of restricting YouTube access to Russian media outlets, including RT and Sputnik, and supporting illegal protest activity. Then, in July 2022, Russia fined Google 21.1bn rouble $340m for failing to restrict access to what it called prohibited material about the war in Ukraine and other content. There is virtually no press freedom in Russia, with independent news outlets and freedom of expression severely curtailed said the BBC. There is no press freedom anywhere, all of it is controlled none more so than the BBC itself. Ran by think tanks, Jewish oligarchs and MI5/6 with a healthy input from the Fabian Society.

The Jewish president in Argentina is wielding their axes for anyone not following the Zionist/Fascist regime, just as we warned. Argentina's president, Javier Milei, has sacked his foreign minister, Diana Mondino, after the country voted in favor of lifting the US economic embargo on Cuba at the United Nations. Argentina was one of 187 countries that supported the non-binding UN resolution on Wednesday. Only the US and Israel voted to oppose the resolution. It was the first time since Milei's arrival in office, that Argentina has not aligned itself with the US and Israeli governments. Mondino has been replaced by the ambassador to Washington, Gerardo Werthein. It will come as no surprise that Gerardo Werthein is Jewish, an Argentine ambassador to Washington was Jewish and now the foreign minister is Jewish. Following the move, President Milei's office said Argentina was categorically opposed to the Cuban dictatorship. Argentina being another traditional white country is now under a Jewish coup. Operation Condor done by the CIA and the P2 Lodge lives on it seems.

From Argentina's Jewish coup to Mexico's. Mexico's foreign policy is headed toward greater radicalization. The clues have been clear. Newly inaugurated President Claudia Sheinbaum has restricted the diplomatic work of the U.S. ambassador, humiliated the King of Spain and appointed a new secretary of Foreign Affairs known for his disturbing positions on Russia, Iran and Cuba. Well I never, again THI forecasted this just like we did with the Argentine coup. One wonders what the Argentinians and Mexicans were thinking employing a nonnative leader and in particular Jewish. Ignoring the obvious antisemitic tropes, not one Jewish leader in any country or organization is running it properly, for the benefit of the people, without agendas and the departments under their jurisdiction are in complete disarray. On that fact alone, why would anyone appoint these people? In 2022, Mexico opposed expelling Russia from the United Nations Human Rights Council after the invasion of Ukraine. Mexico will abstain from supporting the draft resolution suspending Russia from its rights as a member of the Human Rights Council said Ambassador Juan Ramon de la Fuente, who now is Mexico's foreign minister. Vladimir Putin was also invited to Sheinbaum's presidential inauguration, he declined to attend. Mexico has turned a blind eye toward Iran. We urge the United States to lift the unilateral sanctions against Iran, especially those that apply extraterritorially or to third states said de la Fuente at the U.N. Security Council in 2022. Mexico also abstained from condemning Iran's brutal repression against women during a vote to expel it from the U.N. Commission on the Status of Women. Mexico's alignment with the Cuban regime is serious and shameful. Mexico could be a relevant voice in defense of democracy, but it prefers to continue supporting a dictatorship that has been in power for 65 years and holds more than 1,100 political prisoners. It has dared to declare that the U.S. must end its embargo and repair the damage over Cuba, according to a statement made by de la Fuente in 2022. So anyone talking common sense with a Jewish leader is fired, applied in Argentina and now Mexico. Those two countries are going to be run into the ground like all other countries taken over by the Jewish.

Yet more firings by the Jewish, becoming a popular theme, is this a sign that things are not going too well for them? The Defense Minister of Israel, Yair Golan, has been fired by Bibi Netanyahu. In tweets made by Yair Golan himself, him being the current chairman of the Democratic Party in Israel, he tweets : I call on all Heads of Universities and all Heads of Colleges: Suspend studies. I call on all Heads of Economy: Stop work. I call on all Heads of the Security Forces: Raise a cry, even now while you are in uniform. I call on all citizens of Israel: Take to the streets. Netanyahu is destroying Israel and only we can save it. Israelis need to heed that call and shut down their country until peace leaders can be found, otherwise it is going to cost them their lives, all of them.

All is not well in another country following another firing of a minister. Germany's governing coalition is in crisis after Chancellor Olaf Scholz fired a key minister and said he would call a vote of confidence in his government early next year. Scholz said he had no trust in Finance Minister Christian Lindner, who leads a rival party that has been part of the coalition along with Scholz's Social Democrats and the Greens. The move means Scholz's government no longer has a majority in parliament. The confidence vote could lead to early elections by March. The so-called "traffic light" coalition led by the chancellor has ruled Germany since 2021. But the internal tensions had been bubbling up for weeks before exploding into the open on Wednesday night. Scholz harshly criticized his former finance minister, saying he had betrayed my confidence and accusing him of putting the interests of his party base over those of the country. The crisis inside the coalition plunged Europe's largest economy into political chaos, hours after Trump's election triggered deep uncertainty about the future of the continent's economy and security. So Germany is also struggling, following the UK/US/Israel axis. When will they learn?

The great monetary black hole is now being discussed more and more, something we at THI warned about near a decade ago. The IMF's Fiscal Monitor recent report featured a warning that public debt levels are set to reach $100 trillion this year, driven by China and the US. Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva, in a speech on Thursday, stressed how that mountain of borrowing is weighing on the world. Our forecasts point to an unforgiving combination of low growth and high debt and a difficult future, she said. Governments must work to reduce debt and rebuild buffers for the next shock, which will surely come, and maybe sooner than we expect. Is that a heads up of a planned global event again? Some finance ministers may get further reminders even before the week is over. UK Chancellor of the Exchequer Rachel Reeves has already faced an IMF warning of the risk of a market backlash if debt doesn't stabilize. The UK tax office is taking a tougher approach to clawing back debts, insolvency specialists say, a bid to squeeze £5 billion ($6.5 billion) in extra revenue. When will they realize it is all finished and we need a brand new model? These experts like Jamie Dimon do not have a clue. Countries like the UK and America have not spent the people's money wisely, have not invested an ounce in the infrastructure of the respected countries, deleted their manufacturing bases and so have nothing left to sell, which see more rise in buying, all of which equals more debt. How so called experts cannot see that is mindboggling. The greatest question of all time in relation to the money program is, just who is the debt owed to? If it is the Fed and the Crown, the simple solution is, delete them both and have a national bank that is transparent, fair and devoid of fraud and corruption. If you delete the Fed and the Crown, you delete the debt as well, then we can start again with a monetary policy beneficial for the people, not elite greedy shekel clowns. The Blueprint covers these aspects, the planning of it can be revealed when the clowns step down.

MEDICAL NEWS:

Here is an alarming piece and has deeper meanings as to why this group are allowed to remain autonomous. We have ascertained that the vaccines have caused autism, but how bad is it? Californian Autism rates: From 1 in 10K in 1980 to 1 in 22 in 2024. Is it linked to vaccines? Well researchers have suggested strongly that it is. Has there been a difference in the number of vaccines since 1980? Vaccines before the age of 6. 1980 there was 6 vaccines. 2024 there is 36 vaccines. Proposals for 2030, 72 vaccines. Is there further evidence to support that vaccines are the problem? Yes there is. As Tech giant Steve Kirsch privately funded a study, that miraculously discovered unvaccinated Amish peoples had no confirmed Covid deaths and their unvaccinated children don't get autism. There are zero Amish children suffering from cancer, diabetes or autism, why is that?

It further reveals: The current population of Amish folks in America is quickly approaching 400,000, with the largest concentrations of 90,000 in Pennsylvania and 82,000 in Ohio. Amish have settled in as many as 32 US states, and have an average of 7 kids per family, so the population is growing rapidly. Whilst I am glad the Amish children have no diseases, one must ponder the question of; why are just they and the Jews that have immunity from authoritative systems? How is that trait allowed and or treating all as equals?

In a brand new, comprehensive study presented by Steve Kirsch to the Pennsylvania State Senate, it was calculated that for Amish children, who are strictly 100 percent not vaccinated, typical chronic conditions barely exist, if any at all. These chronic conditions, also called preventable diseases and disorders, that many vaccinated children and swaths of Americans suffer from, include auto-immune disease, heart disease, diabetes, asthma, ADHD, arthritis, cancer, and of course autism (think ASD and Asperger's Syndrome). Maybe scaring people off vaccines is a good thing, for all those pro-jab-fanatics who think every natural health advocate is a conspiracy theorist, who spreads disease and disorder by talking about dirty vaccines, vaccine injuries and vaccine-induced deaths. During testimony, expert health advocates shared why there's never been any reports published regarding the health of Amish children in general? Saying, after decades of studying the Amish, there's no report because the report would be devastating to the narrative. It would show that the CDC has been harming the public for decades and saying nothing plus burying all the data. Dr. Peter McCullough, a top cardiologist in America, with mountains of peer-reviewed, published work, testified before the U.S. Senate and before legislatures throughout the U.S., regarding dangers of vaccines, including the Covid-19 gene-mutating jabs. Speaking of the pandemic, the Amish did not lock down, they did not put on bacteria-breeding masks, and they most certainly did not vaccinate for the Wuhan Lab Flu. They ignored every single CDC and Fauci-propagandized mandate and protocol, including the deadly clot shots, because they knew better than to get injected with millions of toxic, sticky spike proteins and graphite nanoparticles. Nobody wants to talk about this, except natural health advocates. If you post anything about it on social media, you immediately get banned, blacklisted and labeled misinformation or disinformation.

Why is it so important to avoid vaccines like the plague? Just take a look at all the insane ingredients used in vaccines, including preservatives, emulsifiers, adjuvants, genetically modified bacteria, mutated viruses and sterility-causing chemicals. This is all listed right out in the open. No human should ever have any of this injected into their blood and muscle tissue, bypassing the normal defensive shields of the body, including the skin, lungs and digestive tract. These toxic, sometimes lethal ingredients include mercury (high doses in the multi-dose flu jab), human blood (albumin from abortions), deadly pig viruses called circovirus (in Rotateq Rotavirus jabs), eagle blood, dog blood, infected green monkey kidney cells, sucralose, monosodium glutamate (MSG), cow blood, chicken blood, eggs, dairy, antibiotics, peanut oil (yes, residuals remain, hence all the deathly peanut allergies), latex (from the stoppers on the needles and vials that the needles penetrate), aluminum and much more. Yet still stupid people line up to take them. At this point those people deserve all they get; it is called consequences of actions. You cannot feel sorry for them at this point, remember these were the same people labeling those who didn't get jabbed as conspiracy theorists and also murderers. They cannot plead ignorance at this point either, they are just hellbent upon destroying themselves and all of those around them. The city of light virtual reality world can't come soon enough for me, and these people who blight humanity should disappear into it for many lifetimes and allow those of us based in reality and sovereignty to operate in a better way. And leave those of us that are alive and kicking to our own devices.

Here is an interesting debate that has a distinctly THI flow to it. Many people know the feeling of being in the zone: As they're fully immersed in a task, the background noise of the world fades and they may not notice time passing. Gymnasts may enter this all-consuming mental state as they're refining a floor routine, an artist might find the zone when adding delicate brushstrokes to a painting and a writer might enter it as they're crafting the climax of a chapter. This state, known in psychology as a flow state, is pursued by those who want to be more productive and creative in an enjoyable way. Which means those not in the flow are not productive or creative as they operate in chaos. This then expands to those around them and you end up with one giant mess. The classic example of this is governments, zero flow, zero thinking, zero structure and why I kept saying in our own groups, stick to the structure and the flow. It is ultimately all about the focus, focusing only on the one task until you actually learn how to multi-task. What happens in the brain during this state, however, has been under debate for more than four decades. Now, in research published in the journal Neuropsychologia, scientists may have settled the debate.

They conducted a new brain-scan study that has finally revealed which regions of the brain are activated in the midst of a creative flow state. Their findings contradict one popular theory of flow while supporting another, and they seem to reveal the key ingredients needed to get in the zone. Two brain networks have historically been studied during tasks that could unlock flow. One is the default mode network (DMN), a circuit of connected brain areas associated with daydreaming, whose activity spikes when people are not engaged in a specific task. The second is the executive control network (ECN), which supports complex cognitive processes, like problem-solving, and tunes out distractions. Maybe daydreaming is not wasted time that the authoritative figures have told us? Maybe that is honing your focusing and understanding skills, to be able to bring into 3d a flow and structure. Those in chaos can never tune out distractions, as life is a scatter gun approach to everything, leading to more chaos and issues.

Both networks can act independently, but they've also been shown to display certain levels of connectivity and to interact dynamically, especially during the creative process. Researchers have proposed two main theories for how the flow state affects the brain. The first posits it's a state of hyperfocus in which ECN activity increases and guides the DMN to maintain focus on a task, to help generate relevant ideas, according to Dmitri van der Linden, a professor of work and organizational psychology at Erasmus University Rotterdam who was not involved in the new study. It has been hypothesized that during flow, which is characterized by an intense task focus, DMN activity is relatively low. DMN activity is linked to creative production though, which is needed to generate ideas and improvise, he noted. With that in mind, this first hypothesis implies that both the ECN and the DMN are active and play off each other during flow, respectively contributing attention and creativity. The alternative theory of flow, however, says that the expertise a person gains in a task through practice, forges its own neural processing network that does not require ECN supervision or DMN involvement. That is like muscle memory, it is also like meditation as you ultimately don't need the solfeggio tones to relax, you are the relaxer. Perhaps psychologists would serve themselves better if they added a dimensional aspect layer to their thinking, instead of just 3d thinking with a 2d mindset. One of the great problems in life people have to learn to overcome is the lack of flow, the lack of structure, positive intention and heart set.

FHSTOS NEWS:

THI led the way with the white race fertility at damaging levels and a possible race extinction event. Not just in terms of low birth rates, but the mixing of the races then dilutes the white race further. That is not a racial issue, that is a society issue. For those new, all races on this planet were warned not to mix with the other races, it is a genetics problem, not a racist statement. Nobody denigrates the Jewish for their Jewish only program, which is the Lebensborn program in action, in case you all missed that point. They consider themselves the Master Race, again something thrown at the white race with the Lebensborn program. But now many European countries are beginning to be concerned, mainly for shekel purposes, but it does prove and highlight the problem we face.

The fertility rate in England and Wales has fallen to the lowest level since records began, according to government data. The average total fertility rate (TFR) - the average number of children born to a woman over her lifetime was 1.44 children per woman in 2023. It is the lowest value since records began in 1938, new figures from the Office for National Statistics (ONS) show. Some 591,072 live births were recorded, the lowest number since 1977. Figures for 2022 showed the average TFR had declined to 1.49 children per woman, down from 1.55 in 2021. Greg Ceely, head of population health monitoring at the ONS, said: Total fertility rates declined in 2023, a trend we have seen since 2010. Actually it goes back much further than that with their program driven immigration policies. Looking in more detail at fertility rates among women of different ages, the decline in fertility rates has been the most dramatic in the 20-24 and 25-29 age groups. This latest data follows analysis showing the UK's fertility rate is falling faster than any other G7 country. Research by thinktank the Centre for Progressive Policy (CPP) discovered the fertility rate has dropped by 18.8%. Women have increasingly had children at older ages, with only one in five women born in 1997 having a child before the age of 25, the lowest of any earlier generation. Not feeling ready, financial pressures and not finding the right partner are preventing millennials who want children from trying to have them, research found. The global total fertility rate was 2.3 children per woman in 2022, less than half the rate (5.3) in 1963, with most countries seeing a decline. The question then should have been posed by the analyzers, is how can the population double, when the birth rate declined around 60%?

The lowest fertility rate is in Taiwan, where women are having 1.09 children on average, closely followed by South Korea with a rate of 1.11 and Singapore at 1.17, according to CIA data. Why are the CIA recording birth rate data? What has that got to do with an Intelligence Agency? The answer is nothing, then perhaps our understanding of what the CIA is, is flawed. Ukraine, Hong Kong, Macau, Italy and Moldova are also seeing the lowest rates. Despite falling fertility rates, populations can still continue to grow for some time. This is because it takes time for population growth to reverse, and also because of factors such as immigration. But if there is mass migration, why is their populations declining? Again something that doesn't make sense, which means it is a program.

MYSTERY SECTION:

Scientists and scholars reports have made up a number of our show items throughout this year, as suddenly some of them are beginning to think and act differently. We have covered extensively about time, what it means, is it real, is it a control system and its varying roles in our lives. But scientists have been discussing it recently and came up with this report.

A new theory suggests that time might not be a fundamental aspect of our universe, but rather an illusion created by quantum entanglement. Quantum entanglement occurs when particles become interconnected in such a way that the state of one instantly influences the state of another, regardless of distance. That also applies to the people, you change others in your vicinity regardless of a connection with them or not. According to this theory, the perception of time emerges from the entanglement of objects with a reference clock. Consequently, without this entanglement, the universe would appear static and unchanging to an external observer. This idea challenges traditional views shaped by general relativity, where time is intertwined with the fabric of space and influenced by gravity. Is not gravity a product of magnetism? What are the main magnetic metals, nickel, cobalt, steel and our iron conundrum, symbolized by the Fe. The great pondering then is, are the fe-lines magnetic?

However, in the realm of quantum mechanics, time does not exhibit the same flexibility. Researchers argue that reconciling these two perspectives requires rethinking time's fundamental nature. That is pleasing to hear, because time makes no sense whatsoever, and neither is our understanding of it. Despite its intriguing implications, this theory faces challenges, including how to test these concepts empirically. As the understanding of quantum mechanics and its intersection with our macroscopic world evolves, this theory may provide new insights into the nature of reality and time itself. Or you could just observe nature and the cosmos, apply as above and so below, as within and as without, plus find the pattern and it always repeats and suddenly a whole new way of understanding everything would then unfold. Researchers Alessandro Coppo and colleagues have explored this idea, proposing that time might emerge from the quantum interactions at a fundamental level. Their findings, published in Physical Review A, suggest that our experience of time could be a byproduct of quantum processes rather than a fundamental aspect of reality. What is time and what is reality suddenly comes into view with that piece.

Recently we highlighted the day of October 7th and why this was a key date before 2023, as this list reveals. Events of October 7th: 3761 BC The epoch (origin) of the modern Hebrew calendar (Proleptic Julian calendar) 1492 Columbus arrived off the coast of the Americas. 1737 A cyclone causes 40-foot waves that are believed to have killed 300,000 in Calcutta, India 1763 George III of Great Britain issues the Proclamation of 1763, closing lands in North America north and west of the Alleghenies to white settlement. Settlement has different meanings, the placing of people, financial for the closing of debts or transactions. But settlement also means colonies. Colonies is a Roman term, company or body of people who migrate from their native country to cultivate and inhabit a new place while remaining subject to the mother country. This is particularly prevalent to America as the people of America still belong to the mother country, declared as the UK, but was actually The Crown. That still applies to this day.

This also applies to Jews, as no matter where they are, they are subservient to the Jewish religion and traditions. 1942 US and UK government announce establishment of United Nations 1950 US forces invade North Korea by crossing 38th parallel 1950 Walter Bedell Smith replaces Roscoe H Hillenkoetter as 4th CIA head 1950 William H Jackson becomes deputy director of CIA 1951 David Ben-Gurion forms 3rd Israeli Government. 1954 Pope Pius publishes encyclical Ad Sinarum gentem. 1963 JFK signs ratification for nuclear test ban treaty 1996 Rupert Murdoch launches Fox News 2001 US invasion of Afghanistan begins with an air assault and covert ground operations 2024 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine awarded to Victor Ambros and Gary Ruvkun for the discovery of microRNA and its role in post-transcriptional gene regulation. Both are Jewish.

Other events of key significance: In the 700's the Jewish Franks took over the country of France and named it after themselves China was taken over in the 1000's by the Kaifeng Jews Mongolia and Genghis Khan (Cohen) went on a rampage in the 1200's against the white race. 1215 The Jewish Jerusalem knights order forced King John of the UK to hand over all land and it's people to the nobility via the Magna Carta 1492 The Sephardic Jews went on a murderous campaign against inhabitants of the Americas and took over the countries. 1544 The Jewish House of Orange took over the countries of the Netherlands, United Kingdom, Ireland, Luxembourg, Belgium, France, Germany, Orange and Nassau. 1914 The Jewish Bolsheviks and the Jewish NKVD stormtroopers took over Russia and murders 10's of millions. 1945 The same Jewish Bolsheviks now called the SS stormed Germany and murdered millions not only in Germany, but millions more due to the war expanding. 1948 Israel took over the country of Palestine via a murderous and genocidal spree 2023 Israel is taking over Palestine and Lebanon from another murderous spree. As you can see, October the 7th is important only to the Jewish. What is important to the rest of us is, we have to be aware every October 7th to avoid being the next victims of genocide.

The phrase "crossing the Rubicon" has survived to refer to any individual or group committing itself to a risky or revolutionary course of action, similar to the modern phrase passing the point of no return. That passage has many meanings on many levels.

A reminder from a past THI show. The TPC and its memes are the creational foundation, it is you and I who build the walls before the roof goes on. Too much of your lives occurs on the external, too much of your lives deals with the effect not the cause. Too many fingers point away from us and not enough at us. Finding a pattern as it always repeats, is a key component of life and as a news reporter. But our task is different, as we are not waiters in a restaurant nor are, we NATO, no action talk only. The key for us is, to create our patterns that are designed to not to repeat their failures.
